Welcome from the NTDA National Chairman

It gives me great pleasure, in my second year as National Chairman, to welcome you to the 2019 NTDA UK Tyre and Automotive Aftercare Directory.

I can honestly say, that it is difficult for me to comprehend how quickly two years has flown by and how fascinating and rewarding holding the chairmanship of our wonderful Association has been.

As usual, 2018 proved to be yet another busy year for the Association and I commend to you the Annual Report on pages 8 and 10, which provides a more in-depth insight into the key campaigns, areas of activity and general workings of the NTDA.

2019 represents a major milestone in the history of the NTDA as we will be celebrating our 90th Annual Dinner, kindly sponsored by Land Tyre Service, and preparing for our 90th year of representing the tyre and automotive aftercare sector. I am delighted to say, that already more than 150 guests have booked for the event, details of which can be found on the inside back cover. Needless to say, my fellow Executive Officers and I are very much looking forward to the dinner and the 5th Tyre Industry Conference, sponsored by Maritime Cargo Services, which will be held on the same day.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the supplier members that have advertised this year. Many of you have supported the Directory since its inception in 1989 and some are advertising for the first time and we are extremely grateful for your generous support.

Many thanks, also, to the many editorial and other contributors who enable us to produce our flagship publication which, after 30 years, still remains the most comprehensive directory and source of information in our industry.

I would like to close by saying that I have very much enjoyed my two years as National Chairman of the NTDA, it really has been an honour to serve you, our members.

I can now rest in the knowledge that next year you will be in the capable hands of yet another dedicated and enthusiastic tyre industry professional our current Vice National Chairman Martin O'Brien of Kingsway Tyres who will be installed as my successor in May 2019.

Best Wishes for 2019,
Prashant Chopra, NTDA National Chairman

NTDA ANNUAL REPORT

MEMBERSHIP NETWORKING ACTIVITY

One of the highlights in the social calendar this year was the NTDA Tyre Industry Golf Day. More than 70 golfers from the tyre and automotive aftercare market attended at the sun-baked Mere Golf Resort & Spa in June and braved the heat to contest for a plethora of trophies which proudly carry the names of many NTDA Founding Fathers and Past Presidents.

The event was organised by the NTDA and three of its Honorary Life Members; Martin Rowlands, John Tarbox and George Forbes, and attracted members and guests from all sectors of the tyre industry and automotive aftercare market and from right across the UK and Ireland. It also raised £2,225 for the Wheelwright's Charity thanks to a raffle with prizes donated by Bridgestone UK Ltd, Cooper Tire & Rubber Company Europe Ltd, Continental Tyre Group Ltd, Hankook Tyre UK Ltd and Pirelli Tyre Ltd, leading freight forwarding and logistics company Maritime Cargo Services and the Mere Golf Resort & Spa. In 2019 the Golf Day will be held at Rudding Park, Hotel, Spa and Golf Resort, Harrogate (see directory page 162 for further details).

The regions were generally very active during the year, with the Central, South East & Central South, North West & North Wales and Northern Ireland Regions all meeting on a regular basis and benefiting from an excellent array of guest speakers from the Association's Aftermarket Supplier membership. In November the Northern Ireland Ladies Night at Slieve Donard, which attracted more than 120 guests, and North West & North Wales Winter 'Rubber' Ball in Blackpool, which attracted over 130 guests, proved to be fantastic 'end of year' social networking events bringing together tyre manufacturers, wholesalers, distributors and the associated aftermarket.

MEMBERSHIP GROWTH

The Association continued to thrive and welcomed many new companies in to membership during 2018, including: Banner Batteries (GB) Ltd, Compiler, DG International, ECOBAT, GiPA UK, Giti Tire (UK) Ltd, GTG Training, Hamilton Motor Engineering, Hella Ltd, Schaeffler (UK) Ltd, Tyre Bay Group Ltd, Tyrenet UK Ltd, Silkmoth, Smart Garage Solutions, Smartfit Auto Centre Ltd, Town's-End Garage Ltd (Shetland), Transport Training Services (NI) Ltd and Westgate Tyres.

REACT AND TYRE TECHNICIAN PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT SCHEMES

Keiran Smith of Lodge Tyre becomes the 5000th Commercial Tyre Technician to receive his REACT Licence and Certificate

Since the NTDA issued the 5000th Roadside Emergency Action Concerning Technicians (REACT) licence to Commercial Tyre Technician Keiran Smith of Lodge Tyre Company in September, the scheme has continued to go from strength to strength with a further 200 technicians achieving their licences over the last three months.

REACT licensed Commercial Tyre Technicians can be found across all four countries of the United Kingdom, and as a result of a recent agreement with the Irish Tyre Industry Association, now in the Republic of Ireland.

In October 2018, the UK's three largest breakdown organisations joined forces to call for enhanced motorway safety rules to protect recovery patrols and other road users. The RAC, AA and Green Flag wrote to Jesse Norman MP, road safety minister, calling for the introduction of a 'slow down, move over' rule when drivers pass a broken-down vehicle, or a recovery vehicle with flashing amber beacons. The call followed several serious incidents involving vehicle recovery staff – including the death of an RAC roadside technician.

In November, inspired by this call to action, the NTDA became a stakeholder of the Slow Down or Move Over UK group. The group's vision, is to build a culture of awareness for all road users so when they are presented with a temporary hazard on the road

Help to bring awareness of the dangers of breaking down at the roadside and support the people risking their lives every day working on the UK road network:

The NTDA Tyre Technician Professional Development Scheme (TTPDS) also performed well with a total of 335 licences issued to both commercial and retail tyre technicians in 2018.

LOBBYING AND PUBLIC AFFAIRS

In January, The Association had a genuine victory! As one of the first trade associations to oppose the Government proposal to change the testing frequency of the MOT from 3-1-1 to 4-1-1. After almost three years of lobbying, the NTDA together with its sister bodies within the AALG, very much welcomed the announcement that after careful consideration, the Government had decided NOT to proceed with the proposed frequency changes on the grounds of safety concerns.

Then, in February, the European Commission published IMPLEMENTING REGULATION (EU) 2018 163 making imports of new and re-treaded tyres for buses or trucks originating in China subject to registration for potential duties. In May, it then introduced REGULATION (EU) 2018 683 imposing a provisional anti-dumping duty on such tyres.

As a UK based Association with broad membership, this situation was difficult to manage to say the least. Of course, the NTDA supports the proximity principle and manufacturing, distribution and re-use of tyres within the UK, BUT UK manufacturing has declined to such an extent that no new truck tyres are manufactured in the UK and there is now a significant reliance on Chinese imports.

In addition to organising several meetings between members and the Department for International Trade, the Minister and responding to various consultation requests, the NTDA worked tirelessly throughout the year to advise members, educate the European Commission, UK Government and trade bodies such as the Road Haulage Association, Freight Transport Association and Confederation of Passenger Transport, of the serious short-term impact such actions and duties can have on product availability and cost. Now that the final duty structure has been finalised and as the market continues to stabilise, it is now hoped that the UK based re-treaders can ramp up their operations to supply against demand, and that new tyre manufacturers and importers build new relationships that ensure we keep Britain moving!

Throughout the year, the NTDA has been working very closely with the Tyre Recovery Association (TRA) to raise awareness of the Responsible Recycler Scheme and support the TRA in its consultation activity with SEPA, DEFRA and the Environment Agency. This 'coming together' has led to three representatives of the TRA being co-opted onto the NTDA Executive Council.

The NTDA finished its affairs activity in 2018 by taking action against a part worn tyre dealer in Cheshire and a mobile tyre fitter in Romford. The first action led to the successful removal of dozens of adverts for part worn tyres that were being advertised as 'repaired to the NTDA standard' from online trading site eBay. The second action led to a company falsely claiming to be a member of the NTDA, and displaying the NTDA collective mark logo on its website and vehicles, being reported to Trading Standards for a breach of the Consumer Protection from Unfair Trading Regulations 2008. This company was also reported to Google, Facebook and the Association publicly disassociated itself from the company via all major tyre trade media outlets.

CHARITABLE ACTIVITY

The Association continued with its charitable activity and over the last three years, at the aforementioned social networking events, the Annual Dinner and as a result of direct fundraising by individual members, over £50,000 has been raised by the NTDA and its members for the Wheelwrights' Charity with much of that money having already been presented to WheelPower, the national charity for wheelchair sport. Other charities that have benefitted are Marie Currie, Macmillan Cancer Support and the Rosemere Cancer Foundation.

NTDA TYRE INDUSTRY CONFERENCE, 89th ANNUAL DINNER AND TYRE INDUSTRY AWARDS

The fourth NTDA Tyre Industry Conference sponsored by DG International was held, once again, at the DoubleTree by Hilton Milton Keynes. It was a major success, attracting well over two hundred delegates who enjoyed a packed conference schedule and excellent supplier exhibition. The Conference was followed by the spectacular 89th Annual Dinner, sponsored by Land Tyre Service, and the Tyre Industry Awards Ceremony sponsored by Sailun Tyres, hosted by the wonderfully wacky TV Presenter Mark Durden-Smith (pictured below with the NTDA Executive Officers).

NTDA TYRE INDUSTRY AWARDS 2018

Paul Binks presented with National Chairman's Award for Outstanding Contribution

At the 2018 Annual Dinner and Tyre Industry Awards, the Association honoured Paul Binks, Divisional Director for People Development for Kwik Fit GB for his outstanding contribution to the tyre industry. The award was presented to Paul by Brett Emerson, Hankook Tyre UK Sales Director and NTDA National Chairman Prashant Chopra.

Paul received the award for both his role as leader of the People Development Division where his extensive knowledge of apprenticeships recently led Kwik Fit through a very successful OFSTED inspection, where all aspects of its programme were graded as outstanding, and for his leadership of the Trailblazer Apprenticeship Standards projects for Specialist Tyre Operatives and Autocare Technicians. His company delivers over 18,000 training days a year through its industry leading training schemes, covering everything from the apprenticeship programmes to management and leadership training.

NTDA Chief Executive Stefan Hay commented: "In recent times, ably assisted by many of the training and development professionals in our sector, Paul has been at the forefront in leading the development of the Trailblazer Apprentice Standards for both Specialist Tyre Operative and Autocare Technician. We believe it is safe to say, that without Paul's dedication and commitment, we would have lost the ability to offer apprenticeships in the sector, which would have been a disaster."

On presenting the award, Brett Emerson commented: "Until now, our industry wasn't somewhere sought after by school leavers. Paul is doing an excellent job of transforming the way younger people look at our industry, and making it a viable route to take after leaving school. I would like to again congratulate Paul for being named as the winner of the 2018 National Chairman's Award for Outstanding Contribution."

REACT Commercial Tyre Technician of the Year Award

There was an outright winner of the REACT Commercial Tyre Technician of the Year Award in 2018, namely Krzysztof Radzki of Universal Tyre and Autocentres. In January 2018, Universal Tyre and Autocentres purchased the business of TyreWORK and three of its depots; Heathrow, Gatwick and Aylesford.

Krzysztof joined the Heathrow depot of TyreWORK in June 2014 as a complete novice, coming from the hotel industry where he had learnt the importance of excellent customer service and personal presentation.

Krzysztof set about learning the art of tyre fitting under the supervision of the then TyreWORK management and in 2015 was deemed ready to undergo his REACT training.

On successfully obtaining his REACT licence, Krzysztof was entered on to the company's rota for breakdown coverage, helping to cover all aspects of roadside breakdowns both in and out of normal working hours. Krzysztof now looks after the Heathrow Airport accounts, managing well over 1000+ vehicles and a turnover of more than £1.1 million. Whilst most of his days are now spent airside, Krzysztof also continues to help service out of hours breakdowns.

Commenting on Krzysztof, Universal's Health & Safety, Quality and Training Manager, Mark Carpenter said: "Krzysztof has an excellent attitude to his work and is incredibly focused on working safely at all times. His van is exceptionally well maintained and tidy and in my 40 years in the industry I have met very few technicians with the same commitment to their role and drive to constantly improve."

Aftermarket Supplier of the Year Award

On announcing DM Supplies as the winner, awards host Mark Durden-Smith said: "The judges highlighted that the many exceptional testimonials supporting the DM Supplies entry, together with a long history of winning the Northern Ireland Regional version of this award, further enhanced an already winning entry from a highly respected supplier company."

In a very personal and heart-felt thank you Stephen Nixon said: "My wife Katrina and I are so delighted not only to have been nominated, but to have won the award is fantastic. A massive thank you to Stefan and the NTDA team for a superb night which I will certainly be at next year!"

The winning streak continued for DM Supplies, when in November 2018, it also won the NTDA Northern Ireland Aftermarket Supplier of the Year Award for the 5th consecutive year, further cementing its position as one of the leading supplier members of the Association.

Industry Marketing Campaign of the Year Award

On announcing Protyre as the winner of the award, awards host Mark Durden-Smith said: "The judges were impressed with this one and said that the Micheldever Protyre entry showed a well evidenced and high-profile campaign across multi-channels designed to raise awareness of tyre safety with very engaging and relevant messages and we applaud Micheldever Protyre for its continued partnership with, and support of, the tyre safety consumer charity TyreSafe."

Protyre is one of the fastest growing chains of fast-fit and mechanical garages in the UK selling over 2.2 million tyres per annum. It currently has 150 garages and circa 1900 staff. Offering tyres, MOTs, servicing, brakes, exhausts etc. Protyre plans to continue growing the number of outlets it runs and build a highly recognisable brand, whilst at the same time continuing with its tireless efforts to promote greater tyre safety awareness and understanding of the dangers of unsafe part worn tyres.

Staff Training & Development Initiative of the Year Award

Winning the staff training and development award recognised Bridgestone's six-figure investment in its commercial and consumer tyre technician training centre at Mira.

Bridgestone's training and development managers Paul Turner and Phil Thirsk were also cited as influential factors behind the company's training provision, pioneering the REACT Licence to Work Safely at the Roadside training course and offering numerous packages of bespoke support to suit each individual Bridgestone customer.

Bridgestone's Managing Director (North Europe) Robin Shaw said: "Winning these two NTDA awards, (see also page 26 for second award details), means the world to us as a team. They endorse a great deal of hard work that we've carried out across the business over the past 12 months. The NTDA Awards represent an industry benchmark for excellence and we are thrilled that the judges have acknowledged the giant strides we've made in 2018."

Truck and Agricultural Tyre Supplier of the Year Award

Kirkby Tyres Ltd has been a consistent winner at the Tyre Industry Awards since 2015, having won the Truck and Agricultural Tyre Supplier award in 2015, 2016 and now 2018 and the Tyre Wholesaler of the Year Award in 2017. According to awards host Mark Durden-Smith, the judges said; "This was another outstanding submission, showing a progressive company that has developed great industry partnerships, it is extremely supportive of the NTDA - specifically its lobbying activity, is active in the community, is charitable and is clearly valued by both customers and employees."

Kirkby has over sixty years' experience and knowledge of tyre and wheel wholesaling and distribution. Now with warehousing facilities in Liverpool (UK) and Dublin (Ireland) it offers a free next day delivery service, nationwide.

Its 'winning' philosophy is to stock large quantities of high quality On- and Off-Highway tyres and wheels to cover every possible application from wheelbarrow through to giant earthmover tyres and to supply the original equipment (OE) and replacement markets at competitive prices, all supported by a highly trained and motivated workforce.

Tyre Wholesaler of the Year Award

Stapleton's has 80 years' experience as one of the UK's largest distributors of passenger car, 4x4 and van tyres. Employing over 1,000 people at eleven strategic locations across the UK, the company is a national leader in tyre warehousing and distribution for the specialist tyre retail trade and the car dealership sector.

Despite being the UK's largest distributor, Stapleton's values of excellent quality products, local friendly service and customer-centric culture remain as prominent today as over the previous 80 years. The customers' needs continue to be the central focus with a strong desire to provide a total retail solution.

Awards host Mark Durden-Smith said: "The judges said that the Stapleton's entry showed an exceptional company, of true industry pedigree, with outstanding internal quality control, excellent processes and supplier and customer relationships."

NTDA TYRE INDUSTRY AWARDS 2018

Tyre Manufacturer of the Year Award

On presenting the award, awards host Mark Durden-Smith said: "The judges said that this entry was another high-quality submission that went above and beyond to demonstrate why Bridgestone should win and reclaim its crown as the NTDA Tyre Manufacturer of the Year in 2018."

Bridgestone's 18-month tyre debris study in partnership with Highways England, featuring more than 1,000 samples taken from roadsides, was also seen as a key campaign which helped secure the Tyre Manufacturer of the Year award, along with its multiple solutions for commercial fleets.

In the last 12 months the company has introduced the Turanza T005 and A005 products, in addition to its ongoing interactive events with Daley Thompson and his fellow ambassadors as part of the "Chase Your Dream, No Matter What" campaign.

Stefan Hay NTDA Chief Executive said: "What an amazing result for Bridgestone. Once again, two exceptional awards entries and two wins. It is fantastic to see Bridgestone rewarded for its outstanding commitment to training and development, especially in support of our hard-working commercial tyre technicians. Then receiving, and of course not for the first time, the accolade of Tyre Manufacturer of the Year again is further endorsement of the hard work the Bridgestone team is doing to lead by example in the UK tyre industry!"

THE FINALISTS:

NTDA TYRE INDUSTRY AWARDS 2018

National Apprentice Tyre Technician of the Year Award

The final in this award in 2018 was contested by two outstanding young apprentices from Kwik Fit.

Of the 2018 winner Brynley the independent panel of judges said: "We were impressed with the fact that Brynley's excellent performance had attracted a number of unsolicited letters praising the service he had provided and that he had particularly impressed regular users. Finally, his 'standout' performance on the relaunch day at Newport was commendable and demonstrated that he is a worthy winner of this year's award."

Supporting testimonials showed that Brynley has a really 'can do' attitude and has progressed through the apprenticeship ahead of schedule and having just completed his apprenticeship is now an apprentice improver. Brynley has become a valued member of the team and loves to get stuck in to any task he is asked to carry out.

Of finalist Ryan, who was also awarded an Outstanding Achievement award by the NTDA, the judges said:

"We were impressed with the determination that Ryan showed in order to complete his apprenticeship early whilst at the same time dealing with extremely difficult health challenges."

NTDA TYRE INDUSTRY AWARDS 2018

Product Innovation of the Year Award

This award, newly introduced in 2018, was to recognise a new product that had been launched specifically in the UK tyre fitting and automotive aftercare market in the last 12 months and which had, since that time, demonstrably met exceptionally high quality and reliability standards. The product had to be either tyre or tyre aftercare related, (e.g. actual tyres, tyre repair, tyre fitting, tyre checking equipment etc.), or in common use in the tyre fitting and automotive aftercare market, (e.g. wheel alignment, pneumatic lifting equipment etc).

The finalists all entered very interesting submissions, providing excellent samples of the diversity of products now needed in the tyre sector.

Of the winning submission from Rema Tip Top the judges said: "The EXPEL air filtration device shows true innovation and we believe it offers genuine tangible benefits to the technicians working in the tyre distribution trade."

THE FINALISTS:

NTDA TYRE INDUSTRY AWARDS 2018

Tyre Retailer of the Year Awards

This award replaced the Tyre Retail Centre of the Year Award in 2018. There are now three sub-categories for this award: Small Tyre Retailer of the Year (one centre), Medium Tyre Retailer of the Year (up to 25 centres) and Large Tyre Retailer of the Year (large regional and national operations with nationwide centre coverage including franchise networks). There was a winner in each of these categories and the three winners were then entered into the grand final to determine the OVERALL Tyre Retailer of the Year Award 2018.

And the 2018 winners were...

Small Tyre Retailer of the Year Award Winner: Westgate Tyres, Morecombe

The judges determined that there was one standout company and outright winner in this category: Westgate Tyres of Morecombe.

The judges said: "Westgate is obviously very industrious and desperately trying to do things a little bit different to attract more customers. It doesn't have the same structure or organisation as the large companies to do the same level of marketing and communication. However, it is an incredibly dynamic family business with a phenomenal passion for the tyre industry. It has to be highly complimented for achieving the terrific results that it does with its innovative approach and is, without doubt, a very worthy winner of this award."

Medium Tyre Retailer of the Year Award Winner: Universal Tyre and Autocentres

The judges said: "It was very difficult to separate the two entries as the standard was incredibly high, demonstrating the excellence of two of the NTDA's leading members, but in the end Universal's 'Community comes first!' initiatives showing its community engagement and corporate social responsibility won us over."

Large Tyre Retailer of the Year Winner:
STS Tyre Pros

The judges said: "Clearly STS Tyre Pros is a highly professional tyre retailer. Its 'supporting talent' training and development programme is multi-award winning and second to none. The multiple initiatives under the 'Heart of the Community' banner, are also worthy of great praise and its dedication and involvement with the NTDA at National, Regional and Local levels and across the most senior of management is second to none. We also liked the consistency in corporate branding demonstrated in the photographic evidence of branches, showing an impressive presence across the UK."

Overall Tyre Retailer of the Year Award Winner:

Commenting on the double win Simon Crowe said: "It was an honour to represent STS Tyre Pros at the NTDA Tyre Industry Awards and to pick up two awards was a proud moment. STS Tyre Pros is a great brand with a team of dedicated people striving to be the best within the industry."

THE FINALISTS:

- HiQ Tyres and Autocare
- Merityre Specialists Ltd
- Pro Tyre
- STS Tyre Pros
- Universal Tyre and Autocentres
- Westgate Tyres

AUTOMOTIVE AFTERMARKET LIAISON GROUP

The Automotive Aftermarket Liaison Group (AALG) is a coalition of Trade Associations in the automotive aftermarket arena. The AALG members work together to stabilise the industry and deliver a unified quality level of service through our individual associations for the benefit of businesses and consumers. Our associations represent Independent garages, parts manufacturers, parts wholesalers and distributors, tyre retailers, engine remanufacturers, tool and equipment manufacturers, and, therefore, directly touch every business and almost every individual who owns a vehicle. Meeting regularly but informally to discuss matters of common interest, the members increase the effectiveness of their activities and often find means of achieving a common end without costly duplication of effort.

OUR OBJECTIVES:

Broadly the objectives of the group are:

- Agree a coordinated lobbying position directly to government affecting the aftermarket
- Facilitate the exchange of information between associations/groups on subjects affecting their members
- Provide a forum for discussion with third parties whose activities affect the independent aftermarket
- Address issues on which collaborative action on behalf of the independent aftermarket would be more successful than individual uncoordinated action by each association/group
- Share research carried out on future threats affecting the sector.

AALG GROUP MEMBERS:

BRITISH BATTERY INDUSTRY FEDERATION

The British Battery Industry Federation represents the automotive and industrial battery industry in the UK. The membership includes automotive and industrial battery manufacturers, importers, distributors, agents and suppliers, and other battery related companies. It works to enhance relations between industry and government departments and agencies. With members across the UK supplying the major percentage of the UK battery market the BBIF seeks to develop solutions of common concern in areas like legislation, environmental, renewable energy and e-mobility.

GARAGE EQUIPMENT ASSOCIATION

GEA members come from all sectors of the market, and all share a common interest in the long term future and standards of the garage equipment industry. As one of the industry's longest standing independent associations, the GEA strives to find new ways to support members and to ensure their views are heard. This includes representing members at UK and EU Government, maintaining their own Code of Practice and participating on BSI/CEN working parties to influence discussions on new Standards for equipment.

INDEPENDENT AUTOMOTIVE AFTERMARKET FEDERATION

Formed in 1930, the IAAF's main function is to promote and secure the future of the independent automotive aftermarket to the benefit of our members and the sector. The federation's aim is to promote all aspects of the aftermarket and support every part of a member's business and provide beneficial services. It is the only trade association that lobbies on behalf of the independent automotive sector specifically on parts.

NATIONAL TYRE DISTRIBUTORS ASSOCIATION

Founded in 1930, the NTDA is a strongly proactive trade association representing and promoting the interests of the tyre wholesale, distribution and retail sectors of the automotive aftermarket industry together with a growing automotive aftercare supplier membership group. Every business sector needs strong professional representation and the NTDA fulfils this responsibility on behalf of independent tyre and fast fit retailers throughout the UK in a complex, highly competitive and ever-changing operating environment. Members range from the largest national groups with hundreds of depots, to the smallest local family run business. The NTDA protects its members' interests through its influence with regulatory bodies, Government departments, standard setting bodies and other opinion formers that establish industry best practice both in the UK and in Europe. It is consulted whenever new regulations or legislation are being considered and lobbies to ensure that members' views and concerns are satisfactorily addressed and that the overall regulatory system remains practicable and affordable.

AUTOMECHANIKA BIRMINGHAM GEARS UP TO 2019

Garage Quarter returns alongside new initiatives

Automechanika Birmingham is set to return to the NEC from 4 to 6 June 2019, with leading suppliers signed up to exhibit.

Following hot on the heels of the 2018 event, the 2019 event has widespread support from across the UK automotive industry. It will be the last time the event runs before going biennial, alternating with Automechanika Frankfurt.

Leading suppliers committed to the 2019 event include: Schaeffler, ZF, DENSO, Delphi Technologies, Valeo, Bosch, Hella, Bilstein Group, MANN + HUMMEL, NGK and Yuasa.

New initiatives for Automechanika Birmingham 2019 include Bodyshop Demo Hub, Garage of the Year Awards and:

- New Product Innovation Showcase
- UK Aftermarket Power 250
- Bodyshop Zone and Training Hub
- Visitor Highway

This is all in addition to the hugely popular Garage

Quarter and the automotive industry's largest seminar programme, comprising hands on practical demos and technical advice and information.

Key industry associations supporting the event will include NTDA, promoting the interests of the tyre wholesale, distribution and retail sectors of the automotive aftercare market.

The event featured 500 exhibitors from 26 countries covering a floor space of 9400 square metres. More than 120 companies exhibited at Automechanika Birmingham for the first time including: AA Garage Guide, Snap-On, Ceramex, GSF Car Parts and Würth Electronics.

Immediate post-event feedback highlighted a "quality" visitor in attendance and this, coupled with an increased ratio of visitors to exhibitors, meant the event delivered an excellent opportunity for the automotive industry to come together, network and do business.

Reflecting the vibrancy of the independent automotive aftermarket, the new for 2018 "Garage Quarter" was a major highlight with independent garages flocking to see the very latest products and services from more than 130 suppliers, as well as a Garage Social area, for visitors to network and meet similar minded businesses.

The Workshop Training Hub attracted a large audience throughout the event, where visitors heard a number of wide-ranging presentations, discussions on the current state of the automotive industry and, live demonstrations on new product technology.

It was also the setting of the much-anticipated Garage of the Year awards final. The winner, Hillclimb Garage of High Wycombe, took to the stage to collect the award and a £1000 cash prize.

With new product launches dominating the Aftermarket hall, along with announcements of key distribution agreements signed between companies, the event offered more than 70 hours of seminars, hosting industry experts who delivered sessions covering daily workplace challenges, industry developments and advanced technology.

With innovation proving to be the 'buzzword' for 2018's show, it will become the leading theme for the 2019 event.

Following extensive Automechanika research, "new technology and innovation" were key reasons to attend the event for independent garages, motor factors, retailers and bodyshops and so Automechanika is looking to build on this by highlighting all innovation from within the automotive industry.

Jack Halliday, Event Director of Automechanika Birmingham, explains: "The level of innovation carried out by companies and individuals every day is hugely underestimated and so Automechanika Birmingham 2019 will address this head-on."

"Whether it is the Garage of the Year awards or the introduction of a new product or service, innovation extends to all practices in the automotive sector and we will look at everything including innovative products, parts distribution, vehicle repair, tyres and technology to name but a few."

Visitors to the event will continue to benefit from the hugely successful Garage Quarter, the facilitated meetings programme and SMMT events. This, alongside industry focussed seminars, networking opportunities and the opportunity to launch new products, makes Automechanika Birmingham a must for automotive companies.

Halliday adds: "As the event will go biennial from 2019, we're already experiencing a high demand from companies wanting to exhibit to ensure they see the market before 2021."

Few spaces remain for companies to sign up to exhibit as Automechanika looks to deliver on its pledge of providing the perfect ratio of visitors to exhibitors.

AUTOPROMOTEC: A NEW LAYOUT FOR 2019

Autopromotec is the most specialised international exhibition of automotive equipment and aftermarket products. The continuous increase in the exhibitor figures in the last decades is the result of Autopromotec's unique position as a highly specialized event able to match manufacturers with distributors and professional users for the entire automotive industry. The show is a platform for cutting edge technologies, new products and market opportunities. The event's focus on high quality and specialization attracts the most qualified exhibitors, making Autopromotec the best way to keep pace with the technological and professional growth of the automotive aftermarket industry.

Autopromotec's role as a major exhibition for the industry and an event with the ability to delineate current and future trends of repair on a global level, has been validated by the last few editions. Autopromotec 2017 posted record numbers in terms of total exhibitors (1,599, +4.5% compared to the 2015 edition) and industry professionals (113,616, +9% compared to 2015). There were also impressive data on the edition's international participation, in witness of the exhibition's increasing global dimension: in 2017, 43% of the exhibitors were from abroad (representing 53 countries), as well as 23,807 professionals.

A NEW LAYOUT

The new Autopromotec 2019 exhibition map offers better organised spaces featuring areas dedicated to the different product sectors through which visitors can easily navigate, following pathways specific to their professional interests, an element that has made the event very successful over the years. The new map covers a total area of 162,000 m², expanded by 4,000 m² compared to 2017, and uniformly covers the exhibition area, offering exhibitors larger spaces and, at the same time, making it possible to open the doors to more companies.

Following an even more user-friendly itinerary through the various sectors of the automotive after-sales market, at Autopromotec 2019 visitors can explore the latest innovations and trends that drive the aftermarket sector: technologies linked to the world of automotive service, the technical skills necessary to keep up with the times, networked cars, the new needs of future mobility, changes that concern body repair shops, and the latest developments in the tyre and car wash businesses.

The area dedicated to tyre service equipment, vehicle lifts and workshop equipment will be moved to a bigger space, finding a new home in Halls 19, 14 and part of 22. In Halls 15, 20 and 22 visitors will be able to find manufacturers and dealers of new/retreaded tyres, wheels and rims, and related accessories and services. The tyre industry is one of those where technological research is leading to the development of intelligent tyres, able to talk with the vehicle's software, alerting drivers of any anomalies and communicating directly with the workshop thanks to remote diagnostics: Autopromotec 2019 will also feature a space dedicated to this evolution.

INNOVATION AND GLOBAL OUTLOOK

As usual, Autopromotec visitors will have an opportunity to find out and test new products, keep abreast of international market trends, and enhance their businesses with new ideas or suggestions. One unique opportunity to do that is AutopromtecEDU, a series of meetings where internationally renowned experts will discuss cutting edge topics related to aftermarket, economics and new market opportunities.

Moreover, Autopromotec 2019 will have a major focus on international markets and will host delegations of international buyers from strategic countries. Over the last year, the organizers have been boosting the international promotion also thanks to partnerships and agreements with institutional bodies that will result in involving more and more foreign delegations.

TYRES ALWAYS AT THE FOREFRONT

The main tyre manufacturers worldwide will all be present at Autopromotec 2019, showcasing the best products available in the market in terms of quality, research and innovation. The sector has a special role in Autopromotec, representing its historic heart: the show was launched (back in 1965) as the Exhibition of Tyre Retreading Equipment, and nowadays the range on offer encompasses everything to do with wheels and tires for all kinds of vehicles.

Many tyre equipment manufacturers represent an established presence amongst Autopromotec's exhibitors. Italy has the highest concentration of garage equipment manufacturers, and most of them are worldwide leaders in their own sectors, selling up to 80% of their production abroad: for visitors, it is a unique chance to meet with the key players of this industrial excellence.

Autopromotec is a must-see for professional manufacturers and operators interested in enhancing their global network, finding new business opportunities, and acquiring key strategic insight through expert analysis and in-depth discussions on the most important topics of the aftermarket sector.

BRITISH TYRE MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION

The British Tyre Manufacturers' Association (BTMA) supports and promotes the interests of its members; tyre manufacturers supplying the UK market from factories in Europe. BTMA engages actively with Government Ministers, officials and enforcement agencies to progress issues ranging from road safety to the environment and from international competitiveness to employee health and safety. BTMA also lobbies for fair competition between UK, European and international manufacturers.

BTMA actively co-operates with other UK tyre industry trade associations through the Tyre Industry Federation and is an affiliate member of the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders. BTMA guidance is widely respected for being fact-based and commercially neutral. It is a member of the British Standards Institution and is active in setting standards for the Industry in the UK and internationally.

In 2018 members of the Retread Manufacturers' Association agreed unanimously to amalgamate with BTMA to create a stronger united voice for retreading in the UK. BTMA is actively campaigning to establish truck tyre retreading as a major strand in the tyre industry's strategy to improve resource efficiency and reduce the environmental impact of road transport. (See page 42 for retreading member's list).

BTMA is also a strong supporter of TyreSafe.

In co-operation with the European Tyre and Rubber Manufacturers Association (ETRMA) BTMA is active in shaping the future regulatory environment to provide a level playing field for all players. This includes not only the drafting of new Regulations but also their effective communication to the Industry. Implementation and fair enforcement complete the processes necessary to achieve the goal of creating a fair and equitable market place for all.

BTMA works in close collaboration with the European Tyre and Rim Technical Organisation (ETRTO) to provide authoritative guidance on the optimal use of tyres to maximise safety, performance and longevity.

The BTMA Chief Executive is Graham Willson (gwillson@btmauk.com). For more information see the BTMA website: www.btmauk.com

THE IMPORTED TYRE MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION

The Imported Tyre Manufacturers' Association has represented the interests of some of Europe's most successful tyre brands for over 40 years. On behalf of its members, ITMA keeps a close watch on the many technical rules, regulations and other legislations which affects the tyre industry, in Europe today.

ITMA's principal objectives are as follows:

- To provide a professional forum for the discussion of matters of common interest, both technical and commercial
- To disseminate and collect information of mutual public interest
- To collectively organise trade and governmental contacts beneficial to its members' businesses at EU and national levels
- To seek to promote and advance the interests of a healthy and successful tyre industry
- To support and help develop the work of Britain's Tyre Industry Federation.

TYRE RECOVERY ASSOCIATION

OUR MISSION: To provide an externally audited, legally compliant tyre collection and recovery service which offers security, protection and peace of mind for all those who generate waste tyres across the United Kingdom.

A cornerstone of the TRA is its Responsible Recycler Scheme which is endorsed by the Tyre Industry Federation and all its constituent members. All TRA members are fully accredited by the Scheme, which guarantees that all tyres collected, recycled or reprocessed by them are disposed of or reused in an environmentally friendly and legally compliant manner.

Scheme members are subject to regular spot audits and are subject to the Scheme Charter. Used tyres collected, handled or reprocessed by scheme members are tracked throughout the disposal chain so delivering full traceability and accountability. Assurance of 'best practice' at every stage in the process.

TYRESAFE – RAISING TYRE SAFETY AWARENESS TO NEW LEVELS

TyreSafe was formed in 2006 and achieved charity status in 2016 (Registered Charity Number 1168354 (England & Wales). As an independent, not-for-profit body, TyreSafe campaigns in line with current legislation, and in 2009, was awarded the Prince Michael International Road Safety Award in recognition of its achievements in raising awareness about the dangers associated with driving on defective and worn tyres.

In 2018, TyreSafe has continued to grow the influence and reach of the tyre safety message. The number of official supporters, partnering organisations and motorists engaging with the charity's advice and guidance have all increased, and these will no doubt bring further opportunities in 2019. It's also been another record-breaking year for the reach of message with over 180 million opportunities to see or hear via traditional and broadcast media.

CHAMPIONING TYRE SAFETY AWARENESS

Data from the Department for Transport's Reported Road Casualties Great Britain (RRCGB) report shows a 47% decrease in fatalities and serious injuries caused by tyre-related incidents since the inception of TyreSafe in 2006. However, there is no room for complacency and no evidence that the number of tyre-related incidents which do not result in fatalities or injury is decreasing. Tyre safety awareness depends on the activity of all stakeholders, and TyreSafe once again thanks all those involved in supporting the charity's objectives.

PARTNERSHIPS

TyreSafe welcomes support from any organisation or business with an interest in raising awareness about tyre safety. TyreSafe has over 130 official supporters including tyre, car and van manufacturers, tyre retailers, insurers, fleet operators, dealer groups and equipment suppliers. TyreSafe is further supported by many other agencies, charities and organisations including the National Roads Policing Intelligence Forum, NFCC, Highways England, Trading Standards, the British Horse Society, Road Safety GB, the Camping and Caravanning Club and local councils. For further information on how TyreSafe can support your organisation's tyre safety campaign, community engagement or Duty of Care requirements, please contact theteam@tyresafe.org

SUMMER CAMPAIGN

This year TyreSafe took a vintage approach to a serious issue. There are more tyre-related incidents in the summer months than any other time of year. July peaks with 11.1%, followed by June (10.1%) and August (10%). Between them they clock up a third of all tyre-related incidents, which gave TyreSafe a sound reason for headlining a season as a key campaign for the very first time.

TyreSafe produced its first ever book Adventures in Tyre Safety which featured some jolly nice chaps and ladies getting into a spot of bother with their tyres and included a guide to summer motoring. Alongside this, infographics and a new video were created and the campaign took to the road during July and August.

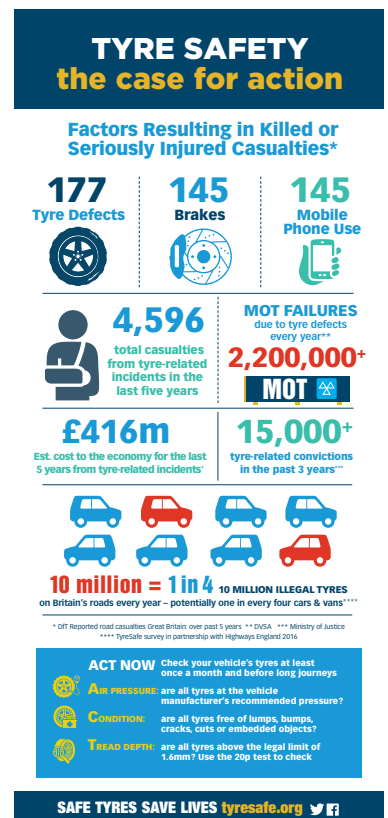

TYRE SAFETY MONTH

Tyre Safety Month remains the central campaign of the year for TyreSafe. With more supporters joining this year and more requests for campaign leaflets and posters than ever before, Tyre Safety Month also has an important focus for supporters up and down the country and across the industry and beyond. From tyre manufacturers, to car makers; tyre retailers to police and fire services; independent outlets to national chains; TyreSafe supporters campaigned locally and on social media to ask the motoring public to Tune into Tyre Safety and Get into the Groove.

This October's campaign revisited ACT (Air, Condition and Tread), using familiar messages in a new, eye-catching campaign. The emphasis was on drivers checking their tyres every month. Using engaging musical themes, TyreSafe reached out to the motoring public to remind them that their tyres should be checked every month and not just in October.

The campaign highlighted that drivers shouldn't be complacent about tyre safety as more than half are driving on poorly maintained or defective tyres, with 57% of tyres underinflated and 27% already illegal when they are replaced.

As with each of its previous campaigns, TyreSafe produced a full set of dedicated materials for 2018's Tyre Safety Month, including posters, leaflets, digital banners and a popstastic animation. Supporters did not disappoint in their phenomenal response to the campaign, both at the briefing and during the subsequent months as they ordered collateral and prepared for their part in the campaign.

MOTORBIKE

With over 1.1 million licensed motorcycles in England alone, motorcycles are over-represented in the tyre-related casualty data. They are up to three times more likely to be involved in an accident than cars while 29% of motorcycle MoT failures are attributed to defective tyres. In addition, 60% of motorcycle tyres sold are Z or higher, so according to British Standards, cannot be repaired. Using the slogan 'Don't chance it, Change it', TyreSafe recruited Isle of Man TT legend John McGuinness to support the campaign. John helped make a video and answered questions about motorbike tyre safety. To further support the campaign, TyreSafe produced a new quick guide to motorcycle tyre safety, as well as a refreshing its comprehensive A5 reference guide.

HOME SAFELY 3

Following Tyre Safety Month, TyreSafe launched the third phase in its Home Safely awareness campaign, this time aimed at parent chauffeurs taking their children to swimming, music lessons, drama, dance, football, karate and the innumerable other activities they enjoy. By the time their child is 20, they are likely to have spent over 3,000 hours driving them around - that's 125 days non-stop motoring.

Sharing the fact that parents can clock up over 30 miles a week, driving their children to different clubs and hobbies or 1,500 miles a year, almost the same as driving from Land's End to John O'Groats and back, was the focus of a new video and poster campaign. The emphasis was that it's not just the parents clocking up the miles, it's their tyres too.

With the message You might be up for driving them there – but are your tyres? the posters, leaflets and animation advised how drivers can carry out general tyre maintenance themselves.

The unhidden dangers of part worn tyres 2018 has seen TyreSafe build even further on its high-profile campaign to raise awareness of the dangers of illegally sold and non-compliant part worn tyres.

The close and continued relationship with Trading Standards across the country came into sharp focus earlier this year. With Police Scotland, Trading Standards, the Scottish Environment Protection Agency and BBC Scotland, TyreSafe carried out an investigation in South Lanarkshire to determine the frequency of illegal and non-compliant part worn tyre sales. During the raid of one establishment, 23 tyres were seized with a range of potentially lethal defects, including one tyre with an embedded socket in the tread, another with a 80mm nail and many others with severe internal damage. The investigation appeared on BBC News sites, on BBC Scotland television news, and was shared across TyreSafe's social media.

Investigations by TyreSafe during Tyre Safety Month this October revealed a shocking 99% of part worn tyre retailers were selling illegal and dangerous tyres. In total, 18 investigations were carried out across England and Scotland involving 68 part worn traders, all bar one of whom were supplying tyres which contravened the legislation governing their sale. Even more concerning, of the 129 tyres inspected, 75% were unsafe.

TyreSafe has been working in partnership with Trading Standards for many years to investigate part worn traders, but during Tyre Safety Month a range of enforcement agencies also participated. These included numerous police forces and fire services, the Environment Agency, the Department for Work and Pensions and the Health and Safety Executive.

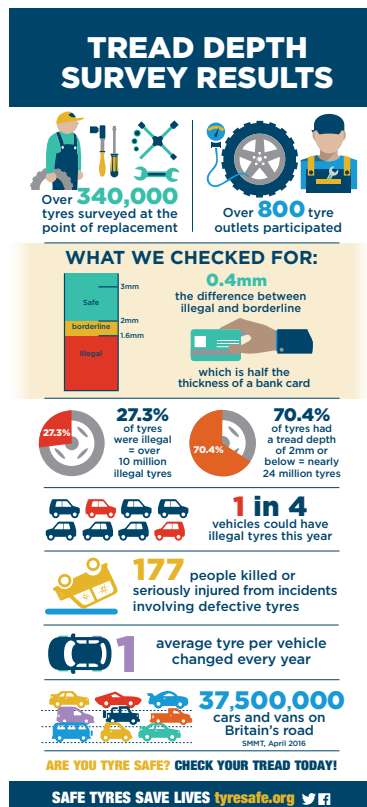

In a week of activity in the North East, a multi-agency team led by officers from Cleveland and Durham Specialist Operations Unit visited 29 businesses, none of which complied with the regulations.

These dreadful findings support TyreSafe's advice for motorists to think again before buying part worns as there is no guarantee the tyres being sold to them are safe. Investigations also highlight a concerning levels of incompetence among traders.

The findings of these investigations were portrayed in Fit & Hope, a TyreSafe video revealing the hidden dangers of buying part worn for motorists. The impactful video highlighted the frightening but all too commonplace safety issues part worn tyres may have when they are sold to unsuspecting drivers. Even though there are clear regulations surrounding the sale of part worn tyres, TyreSafe and Trading Standards' investigations consistently uncover an alarming number with poor puncture repairs, internal damage and even nails in them. All the tyres featured in Fit & Hope were bought from part worn retailers or seized during TyreSafe and Trading Standards' joint investigations.

In 2019, TyreSafe will remain committed to campaigning to raise awareness of the dangers of buying part worn tyres.

Please visit the dedicated part worn website www.partworn-tyres.co.uk or contact the TyreSafe team if you would like to support the campaign.

Accelerating behavioural change in tyre safety

In 2018, TyreSafe has continued to grow the influence of the tyre safety message but is well aware there is still a huge amount to be done.

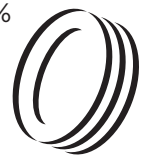

The work with multiple-agencies, particularly Trading Standards and police forces, on the issues associated with the retail of part worn has been a key part of this year's activity. During Tyre Safety Month alone, TyreSafe was involved in the investigation of 68 retailers, 99% of which were trading without complying with the regulations. Shockingly, 75% of the tyres inspected were unsafe. However, 2018 was far from exclusively about part worns.

The summer campaign was launched to make motorists aware that there are, in fact, more tyre-related incidents on Britain's roads between June and August than at any other time of the year. With a musical theme of Tune Into Tyre

Safety running through Tyre Safety Month and campaigns targeting drivers of teenagers and riders of motorcycles, TyreSafe continues to be the UK's voice on all aspects of tyre safety.

AUTOMOTIVE MEGATRENDS: SHAPING THE FUTURE OF THE TYRE MARKET

Following his fascinating presentation at the 2018 NTDA Tyre Industry Conference, we catch up with Quentin Le Hetet of GiPA UK the leading international automotive industry research organisation.

In 2018 there wasn't a week that went by without news coming out about a new merger/a new competitor/a new technology which would have long term impact on the automotive industry. These announcements have made it an exciting time to be working within the automotive industry, and by extension, the tyre industry.

At GiPA we define and collate these announcements together as part of wider trends which will have a major impact on the automotive industry in the future. We call them megatrends.

This article focuses on four automotive megatrends, ranked from having an immediate ongoing affect to the tyre industry to a longer-term potential impact, analysing and explaining how each one in turn will affect industry stakeholders.

CONSOLIDATION

GiPA estimates there to be around 1,500 fast-fit/tyre dealers which are members of a network (containing over 10 branches, serving passenger cars) across the UK.

The number of fast-fit/tyre dealers part of a network is not a story of consolidation by itself. It's only when one looks at the companies running these networks does it become clear.

67% of these 1,500 points of sale are represented by five different networks, run by two different businesses (see fig. 1).

Both of these companies are either involved with, or have stakes in, tyre brands too. Being involved in the manufacture of tyres, as well as their wholesale, and fitment via these networks, allows these businesses to cast out a wider net over the UK tyre market.

Fig. 1, Fast-fit / tyre dealer network ownership in the UK

In recent years, the UK distribution of automotive parts and accessories have undergone a similar consolidation, with three key players being actively growing their networks of motor factors via organic and external growth; Alliance Automotive Group, Euro Car Parts, and The Parts Alliance.

In France we recently have seen Feu Vert and First Stop joining the international buying group Nexus, meaning Nexus now has its first tyre focused members, bridging the gap between the previously separate tyre distribution and part and accessory distribution networks.

Would it be untoward for the UK focused part distribution businesses to follow a similar strategy?

VEHICLE MANUFACTURERS EXPANDING THEIR REACH

75% of the car parc is 3 years old or older in the UK. Cars up to 3 years of age is the segment of focus of vehicle manufacturer franchised dealer networks, but once a car reaches years of age the franchised dealer's attractiveness decreases very quickly as drivers become more likely to opt for alternative repairers.

Vehicle manufacturers looking to grow their business in the 4 years and older bracket have had to implement alternative strategies. One of these strategies has to introduce a 'second line' of parts, ones which are not genuine, the price and quality are adapted for older vehicles.

This tactic has become more common amongst vehicle manufacturers, and we can see it now happening across the UK and Europe at different levels of maturity. Ford's Omnicraft range, Volkswagen Group's FourPlus range, Renault Motrio, and PSA's Euro Repair, all existing in Europe, are all products of this new strategy.

In the UK one of the more dynamic in this strategy is Euro Repair, which offers over 10,000 parts references via its 100+ strong member workshop network. The network is only 18 months old in the UK, and they plan on having 650 members by 2021.

Impressive, yes, but most notably Euro Repair introduced, during the 2017 Equipauto show, in Paris, its own brand of tyre called 'Reliance'.

In the UK, a quarter of workshop entries are motivated by a need to change tyres on the vehicle, and franchised dealers account for just 6% of these entries. Changing tyres are usually the first time that a driver goes to a workshop that isn't that of their brand's franchise.

Via these new 'second line' parts brands, and via their own non-franchise branded networks, vehicle manufacturers are looking to open up a way to tap into the older car market, where they currently have little market share, which includes targeting tyres too.

MARKET PLACES

New internet and digital solutions have changed the consumption habits of consumers. These new avenues have allowed new business strategies to emerge, one being Online to Offline (O2O).

Simply put, O2O is a strategy through which a business which is based in the offline space seeks to bring in custom via the online space, transforming an online audience into offline business.

When it comes to the maintenance of the car the best example of applying O2O strategy can be seen in China, with the new cooperation concept created by Alibaba (an online marketplace), Jingu (a garage comparison website), and Carzone (a parts distributor).

Alone, each of these companies operate within their own spheres, but together they provide all the components needed to operate a comprehensive O2O strategy. Simplified down, a driver needing a car repair or parts can search for them on Alibaba, which markets parts distributed by Carzone, and then choose a garage in which to fit them on purchasing a repair/part, with Jingu providing the driver with garages who can fit the part. Each partner adds their own value to the process, together creating a simple to use all-in-one repair booking interface.

How could this affect the old business model? For one, garages would become less client facing and rely more on their online reputation; the focus will be less their handling of the customer and more providing a reliable service.

This is a good opportunity for workshops which thrive on positive reviews and word of mouth, but the new digital marketplace could also open the need of a more marketing focused workshop, one which is tech savvy enough to make the most out of these websites.

But what about the UK? We already have many similar players to those in this example; Amazon and eBay are well established online market places; the Alliance Automotive Group, Euro Car Parts, or The Parts Alliance could distribute the parts; and a website like WhoCanFixMyCar could provide its garage ecosystem.

It is only a matter of time before service providers such as these combine forces to provide an all in one stop shop.

THE FUTURE CAR

The role of the car is changing, at least in urban areas. As more alternative means of transport arrive, and governments look to crackdown on central city driving, the argument for requiring a car in the city is slowly diminishing.

It is not difficult to imagine fewer cars being driven around the cities of the future for these reasons, but also because people in urban might not own cars anymore. The 'Cars As A Service' (CAAS) concept is picking up steam in larger urban areas, with many drivers opting to rent a car when they need it instead of purchasing a car fully.

These changes to the urban transport landscape would have a direct impact on the tyre industry. They would instigate a contraction of the size of the car parc (and fewer cars on the road mean fewer potential tyre workshop entries), but also the relationship between tyre changers and car owners; with CAAS the owner is no longer the end user, but rather the owner of large fleets of vehicles.

This would impact tyre maintenance providers, with the power shifting to larger service providers which can deal with larger fleet management, rather than smaller tyre changers whose focus is regular one-off repairs. Businesses would suddenly require a dedicated team to win contracts, with many unable to rely on general public bookings.

Along with the future changes in car ownership, we also have the connected car to look forward to. Many cars already have ongoing checks onboard, telling the driver when they need to go for a service or have an oil change, and usually at the franchised dealer.

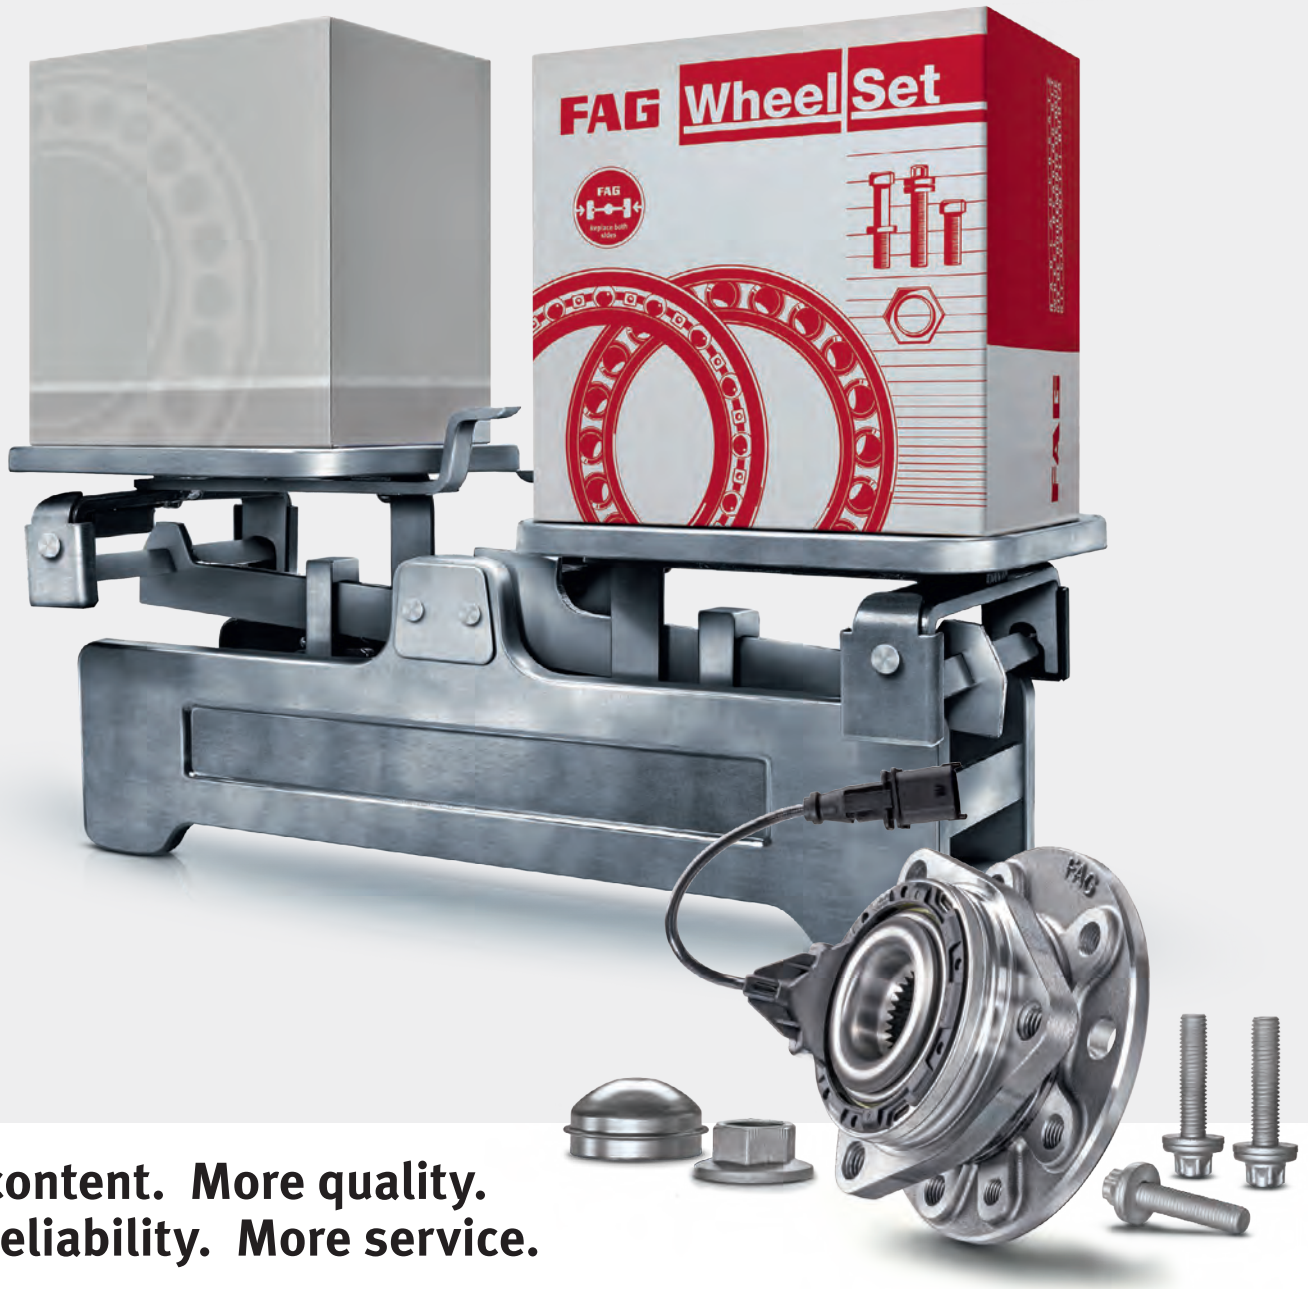

But what if the car can scan itself more comprehensively, down to checking the tread on the tyre of the vehicle? This could definitely support the NTDA's actions towards raising awareness about tyre tread limits and illegal part worn tyre selling.

THE SUCCESSFUL WORKSHOP – GETTING IT RIGHT FOR CUSTOMERS AND EMPLOYEES

Following his well-received presentation at the 2018 Tyre Industry Conference, Andy Savva, the Garage Inspector, highlights why having a clear vision is the key to success.

Who are these people and what do they want from us? What is the right kind of customer and where do we find them? What do we do with them if we are fortunate enough or persistent enough to develop the skills necessary to bring them to our door? Why are we so preoccupied with the wants, needs and expectations of our clients? Aren't there plenty of customers and potential customers out there?

As a garage owner, isn't the primary purpose to service, maintain and repair cars? Isn't doing it well – doing better than anyone else enough? If it isn't should it be? Why focus on customers anyway? If you've been in the automotive industry for a long time, there are probably many things that you take for granted. All the noises, chaos, things that can go wrong and diagnostic challenges are familiar to you. This is an environment that you know and understand. This is not true for your customers.

Many customers show up at your door expecting less than a positive, courteous, transparent experience. Why? Most customers are not comfortable in the garage environment, usually because they've had a previous experience in which they walked away feeling like they didn't get all the answers, the repair wasn't properly carried out, they felt that they were treated poorly, or they felt like they were taken advantage of. Our industry doesn't have the best reputation among consumers. In general service customers act the way they do out of fear, anxiety, preconceived expectations or previous experiences. Remember in most cases when a customer hands over their car to you, it's probably one of the most expensive purchases they've made – something very personal to them. Their vehicle is then to be taken behind a wall into a loud, often dirty workshop and they are expected to sit and wait patiently!

That's why at Brunswick Garage we focused enormously on the customer experience, that first phone call, answering calls quickly, introducing ourselves by our first name, smiling on the phone, being attentive when listening, or when someone walked in, acknowledging them straight away even if we were dealing with other customers.

Offering refreshments, somewhere warm and clean and tidy to wait or be served. Having a place to park when customers arrived, being prepared for their visit, can we do what we promised we can do? Calling customers back when promised, updating them all the time through the repair process, making sure their invoice was always less than agreed, a pleasant surprise let me tell you! Taking the time to explain the repair or service and their invoice on collection. Offering to show them their old parts. Would they like to speak to the technician who worked on their vehicle? The vehicle ready before the given time previously agreed.

All the above were just a handful of processes, there were many more in our DNA, they were carried out every day every time! When our customers visited Brunswick Garage, we wanted to leave an unforgettable positive impression with them from the first seconds. It was our chance to be different from our competitors. We wanted them to know they and their vehicles were safe with us and when they left, we wanted them to feel they had the best ever experience in a garage! The WOW experience not the WO experience!

Now you will not succeed in your quest to provide this kind of experience unless you have a team that are continually well trained and given the infrastructure to excel in their day to day duties whatever role they have. One of the greatest challenges facing garage employers today is discovering and retaining good technicians, reception personal, as well as support staff such as administrators, valetors and drivers. As a previous serial garage owner, I know how difficult this can be in an ever-demanding sector which requires far more technical expertise and knowledge.

I realised early on in my business career, focusing on recruitment, selection and retention was the one of the most important steps towards building a successful business. I knew then and even more so now the importance of a continued training and development strategy, as a way of motivating, retaining staff. The implications of poor recruitment selection decisions for the business as a whole can be catastrophic and so often visiting garages up and down the country, I find people who are placed in positions without the necessary skill set for the job they are doing.

I ask myself why this is? Well the answer is garage proprietors are reluctant to pay a salary for the right person, so they end up recruiting people without the right skills and then asking them to fulfil jobs that they are just not capable of doing. You may ask me "What's the right salary?" Well my answer to that is very clear:

If you have identified the correct person with the right skill level and pedigree, why not ask them what they would like to be paid to work in your business. That's exactly what I did, it always caught people by surprise because they were never asked that before. They never knew what to reply back to me, so I used to ask them what their current salary was, and when they replied back £28,000, I'd say well we are in luck then because I'm prepared to offer you £34,000, is that okay with you? If only I could take a picture of the reactions; SHOCK! But a happy one.

If you are going to worry about £3000 or £4000 per year per employee or have salary cap for specific positions or any roles for that matter you will never attract the right person in an already under skilled sector. My attitude was find the right person and offer them a package they could never say no to.

Now it's all about salary when recruiting and retention (although very important), it's been able to demonstrate to potential candidates, you have created a workplace that attracts, retains and nourishes good people.

Providing an adequate staff room, lockers for their belongings, acknowledging good work, creating an environment for thinking and empowerment are minimum requirements added with logical consistent operating policies and procedures if you are to succeed. You also need to provide them with the correct tooling and equipment to carry out their duties.

How many of your employees really do understand or believe in your vision? Do you actually have one and if not why? The first step in leadership is to create a clear vision of the future, this will help reflect on your business and personal values, principles and your goals, ultimately your destination.

Where do you want to be in a year or two? In five? In ten? What will your business look like? What will it feel like when you are there? What will it be like to work there? And perhaps more importantly, what will it be like to do business with your garage from the customer's point of view?

Can you close your eyes and see a picture? If you don't know where you are going, any road will do! When I talk of vision, I am not referring to some blue-sky ideal that sounds great but bears little relevance to the practicalities of getting there. To have a realistic, practical vision in order to gain support from all your team you must be basing your foresight on a thorough understanding of where you are now, knowledge of the best practice in our industry, and the differences that lie between. Good luck!

THE ROAD TO CV WHEEL SAFETY

Over the last eight years, MWheels has presented in Brussel's European Quarter and lobbied at Westminster in a bid to improve CV wheel safety. Having changed European law and with wheels now classified as 'safety critical', there's a change in direction with the campaign's future emphasis on fleet education.

MWheels, based in Manchester and one of Europe's leading distributors of commercial vehicle wheels, has for over 35 years aimed to deliver best-in-class solutions to fleets across the continent.

Working in conjunction with both the OE and aftermarket customers, the company has operated in true partnership with truck, trailer, bus and coach operators to deliver the right wheels, technical expertise, value added services and training.

It is this depth of experience and industry knowledge that lead to an eight year wheel safety campaign, one which places the company in an ever better position to assist fleets moving forwards.

THE EUROPEAN JOURNEY

In March 2014, MWheels received the news that key aspects of the business's CV wheel safety campaign had been incorporated into European Union (EU) law through the new EU Roadworthiness Act, primarily EU Directives 2014/45/EU (Periodic testing) and 2014/47/EU (Roadside testing).

The new law stated 'compatibility between parts and components, such as between wheels and wheel hubs, should be treated as a critical safety item and should be checked during roadworthiness testing'.

Additional legislative text included several visual wheel inspection prerequisites and also that 'wheel size, technical design, compatibility or type not in accordance with the requirements [laid down by type-approval at first registration or first entry into service] and affecting road safety' will be classed as a major defect.

It also brought into context a number of minimum essential requirements that needed to be stipulated when purchasing wheels, which furthermore clarified the key roles to be played by fleet managers and product purchasers.

The EU Roadworthiness Act is now fully introduced having been applied by all EU Members, included the UK, since May 20, 2018.

THE UK PATH

Before the EU law change and in the intervening period up to the end of 2018, the business also lobbied the Department for Transport (DfT) which ultimately agreed to work with MWheels to address the company's concerns in relation to the Heavy Goods Vehicle Inspection Manual.

MWheels produced a short report which highlighted where it believed the new UK testing regime fell short in relation to the EU Directives, and also solutions to ensure the industry met the newly imposed minimum safety standards as required by Europe.

The company has also shared technical information and laboratory research findings on the life-shortening effects of non-circumferential hubs on CV wheels, which it wanted the DfT to use for an educational campaign with fleet operators who are not aware of the situation.

The upshot of the follow-on meeting in October 2018 threw the emphasis back onto MWheels to gather further evidence on what it believes to be the scale of the issue with problem wheels and non-circumferential hubs.

However with so much achieved at a legislative level the company has decided to follow a different path, which will foremost benefit operators but will ultimately ensure plenty of healthy ongoing correspondence with the DfT.

INSPECTIONS

When MWheels worked on its proposal for the DfT and its adherence to EU Directives, it looked at a number of possible options.

Ideas were put forwards which would improve operator safety through simple changes to a fleet's regular internal periodic inspection programme, whereby wheels would be removed annually to ensure both sides could be checked for any potential safety issues.

It would also tidy-up a legal loophole in the system whereby it would be ensured that each wheel had proof its load capacity was correct for its intended purpose.

THE PROVENANCE OF WHEELS

The business also made representation on the provenance of commercial vehicle wheels, ensuring that those wheels that enter the UK and European supply chain are completely fit-for-purpose.

As of today, any individual can buy a container of wheels from The Far East with no knowledge of their manufacturing process or any proof of performance. These are sold into the system at a low cost price where they remain until their end-of-life. They place management and fleets in a very dangerous position.

The project would have ensured that a minimum standard of wheels is produced whereby the sourcing of materials, testing and manufacture meets an agreed level and ensures full source and supply chain information for the operators.

MWheels has already built a technical library of all its products which we can be presented to fleets for their peace-of-mind.

EDUCATION

Throughout the CV wheel safety campaign, MWheels has found many supporters from large-to-small CV fleet operators, to service providers such as ATS Euromaster and Truckforce, to tyre manufacturers including Bridgestone and Michelin.

The key emphasis of these relationships has been to educate the management and operatives of each company on all the issues raised through campaign, but more pertinently to further improve overall knowledge of CV wheel safety and exactly what should be done to ensure best practice.

The educational aims have always centred on a number of core areas: in-depth knowledge of the wheel itself; fitting and general maintenance; wheel security; understanding of affiliated parts such as axles, nuts and threads.

While much of the MWheels' efforts have so far been to continue the legislative argument, the demand from the CV industry has become so strong that time and emphasis will now be allocated in this field.

The origins of the campaign always centred on ensuring fleets be safer and more profitable, and these original goals now have to be delivered.

THE JOURNEY TO COME

From hereon in, the future emphasis of MWheels safety campaign will be education. The issue of wheel safety is now a common discussion within fleets, and the business has the systems and people in place to help every operator achieve best practice.

As of today MWheels' White Paper is still available, and while certain sections have now been surpassed it still gives fleet operators a very good overview on immediate steps that can be incorporated both in terms of maintenance and purchasing.

The company has always strived to raise the profile of CV wheels as a safety critical item, whereby only fit-for-purpose wheels are sold into Europe which are then properly maintained and checked to ensure a greater degree of safety and operator profitability.

It's been a successful ride so far, but the journey has only just begun.

60 YEARS OF NANKANG TYRES

For 60 years, Nankang have been a unique tyre brand, pushing the industry to new levels with innovative and specialist products, known as a tuner tyre for the boy racers and wannabe drift kings of the world, offering a performance product at a cost effective price whilst also producing a vast range of products to suit most applications that perform, last and are wallet friendly.

60 YEARS OF PRODUCT KNOWLEDGE

Established in 1959, Nankang has a long history of tyre heritage. As the first tyre manufacturer in Taiwan, Nankang hold a long list of achievements such as: the first Taiwanese manufacturer to develop steel belted radial tyres; the first aircraft tyre developed for North American Aviation; the first Taiwanese tyre laboratory to be given TUV SUD accreditation; TUV SUD certification for ECO-2+ and AS-2+; IDIADA accreditation for the Nankang laboratory to name but a few.

Nankang had never seen the need for marketing activities in previous years as both factories were at full production capacity, with the introduction of so many new brands to the market, Nankang knew that times were changing. With the introduction of the new corporate logos, a fresh mentality was created, one to show users the heritage of the Nankang brand, why history is more important than a pretty label and expensive advertising.

With a comprehensive product range covering everything from Summer, Winter, All-Season, Motorsport, Commercial and 4x4/SUV, Nankang have a product for every fitment whilst also constantly striving to produce newer products to tackle modern day motoring.

The biggest changes have happened over the past 10 years with Nankang evolving in many ways, was the introduction of new products and a new brand mentality pushing the Nankang name into the spotlight.

MOTORSPORT

The creation of the road legal track tyre NS-2R guided Nankang into the world of motorsport and a different approach to the normal manufacturer motorsport procedure which allowed all approved Nankang dealers access to the track day market, previously unknown in the tyre industry. The NS-2R has proven to be one of the go to track day tyres in the market, offering performance and longevity whilst also being cost effective to allow users to put more money into track days than before.

This took Nankang into new territory and a new target was in sight – creating the fastest tyres in the market... Then came the AR-1, a more refined, faster, lap time eater offering maximum grip and consistency allowing the tyre to be used in sprinting and endurance events with huge success. The AR-1 is tyre of choice for the M3 Cup, 330 Challenge, Classic VW Cup as well as being a podium winning tyre in open tyre series such as CSCC New Millennium and 750MC Club Enduro. This is guiding Nankang further into the high end of motorsport, with the development of the SL-1 slick tyre in process, the bar for this tyre has been set high... it is looking to take the slick tyre market by storm.

TUV APPROVAL

Nankang has also evolved in many other ways with new road tyres such as the ECO-2+ and AS-2+ gaining TUV/SUD approval, an achievement that gives dealers and end users more confidence that the tyres are tested and approved beyond that of the majority in the tyre market. AS-2+, aimed at modern performance cars to provide "A" rated wet grip, dry performance and road comfort. In a great range of sizes covering modern European fitments from 16-22".

We've got you covered.

Only Nankang Tyres are available with a Road Hazard Lifetime Warranty.

Just another Nankang difference.

NANKANG
TYRES

JUST ANOTHER NANKANG DIFFERENCE

Nankang have always tried to think outside of the box, looking at marketing and sales campaigns from a manufacturer, retailer and consumer point of view, this unique perspective allows the brand to create an end user friendly campaign that also offers full dealer support. Campaigns such as the new 'ROAD HAZARD LIFETIME WARRANTY' are aimed towards the family user, a new direction for the brand which has always been involved in the aftermarket tuning side of the automotive world. The Nankang ROAD HAZARD LIFETIME WARRANTY offers dealers a real sales incentive, a 'no quibble' guarantee that covers all road use fitments with a puncture and pothole damage cover. This was created by looking at the marketplace and the 'warranty' programs already active and wanting to cut out the small print and exclusions to offer the end user something worthwhile. Nankang saw that a lot of the campaigns in place were not worth the paper they were written on, they were full of loopholes and exclusions, giving the dealer no reason to offer it. They knew what was needed.

This new direction is the start of a new chapter in the world of Nankang, one where the focus moves away from tuning and towards performance and safety with a great range of modern performance tyres.

LATEST PATTERNS

With EU tyre labelling being a main concern for tyre manufacturers, Nankang has pushed their R&D department hard to ensure the best possible labelling results, whilst also retaining the longevity of the products. The AS-2+ for example has A/B rated wet grip for ultimate fast road performance whilst the latest NA-1 offers B/C rated wet grip and also maintains mileage. The SP-9 SUV/CUV tyre brings a luxury feel to the range, with B rated EU wet grip and a tread pattern that would be at home in the city or down country lanes.

WINTER PERFORMANCE

With the cold seasons providing challenging driving year on year, the Nankang winter range offers protection against cold icy roads to ensure winter driving comfort. The latest pattern SV-3 has proven to be an ice queen, offering winter month performance and longevity to users.

As well as covering passenger car fitments, Nankang also produce winter tyres for commercial applications with the SL-6 which has been well received by the commercial market having helped many van drivers keep working through the cold winter months.

ALL-SEASON

On top of this, the introduction of a new All-Season range of car and commercial tyres has proven a great success. The latest AW-6 passenger car tyre boasts C rated efficiency and C rated wet grip across the range showing that the tyre is a true all weather performer.

The AW-8 All-Season commercial tyre has been proving its worth all year, securing a large van courier contract who have shown the AW-8 to have great performance and longevity, consistently covering over 40,000 miles on Mercedes Sprinters through summer months whilst providing peace of mind in the winter.

PRODUCT INNOVATION

With the number of tyre brands in the market, standing out as the best choice is a constant battle. Nankang have built relationships with some of the biggest and best companies in the world to bring new and exciting media to the user. The biggest to date is being chosen as the Official Tyre Partner for Fast and Furious Live, this was no small task. With a live action tour, navigating the globe over 5 years, they needed a reliable performance tyre but more importantly something that had not been seen in the market before. As the tour used 3D mapping to project a moving and interactive landscape onto the show floor, a normal tyre would not work as leaving black markings on the floor disrupted the display. Nankang were asked to create a grey compound tyre that left no markings on a grey floor whilst also retaining the performance of a tyre required to perform inch perfect stunts time after time.

THE FUTURE

With 60 years of knowledge behind them, what will Nankang's next steps be? With a company motto of 'Integrity, Pragmatism and Innovation' Nankang will keep pushing forward to develop new products, maintain a great size range and give users the driving pleasure they look for. Nankang Marketing and Motorsport manager Ben Lawson said: "Looking back at 60 years of Nankang gives us all great motivation and excitement for the future, we are proud of our roots and can see many opportunities for the future, one of our main priorities for 2019 is to strengthen our dealer network, give dealers an insight into our future and create new campaigns to push customers in their direction."

TYRES

HOW DO WE PERMANENTLY REDUCE THE NUMBER OF UNSAFE TYRES ON OUR ROADS?

In December 2016, Nokian Tyres first announced the launch of an innovative digital tyre checking service branded SnapScan. This first-of-its-kind service uses Sigmavision's TreadReader™ Drive Over ramps and patented 3D tyre measurement technology.

The SnapScan Service launch coincided with the announcement by Nokian Tyres plc of their minority investment in Sigmavision Ltd, an original equipment manufacturer with world-class expertise in laser sensor and camera imaging technology. Sigmavision's TreadReader™ tyre measurement products and technologies are manufactured at the company's UK headquarters and supplied globally through an international network of distributors.

Sigmavision customers include global tyre manufacturers with retail operations, international garage equipment suppliers, and aftermarket end users, including dealerships, independent workshops, fast fit networks and tyre retailers.

Speaking in 2016 about the new partnership between Sigmavision and Nokian, Dr Andrew Pryce, Sigmavision's Managing Director, commented "The opportunity to progress our 'Beyond the Workshop' strategy with Nokian Tyres plc is a significant step and we are also delighted to welcome Nokian Tyres as a shareholder in our business."

"The number of badly worn and illegal tyres in all markets is at an alarmingly high level and every year in the UK directly contributes to approximately 200 people killed or seriously injured on our roads. By raising the awareness of motorists as to the condition of their tyres with regular, free tyre checks, we now have a real opportunity to make a positive impact on these road safety statistics. We are looking forward to further rollouts with more tyre retailers in the coming months."

THE FREE TYRE CHECK BUSINESS MODEL

"Sigmavision's aim is to address the large number of badly worn and illegal tyres on the road," explains Sigmavision's MD, Andrew Pryce. "It's a problem caused by the motorists' lack of awareness as to the condition of their tyres."

Sigmavision's 'Beyond the Workshop' strategy presents a tyre check result to the motorist in an easy to understand way, using patented 3D tyre scan technology. The commercial appeal for the tyre service provider is then the ability to generate significant sales revenue from replacement tyres and tyre related services, such as wheel alignments.

The Sigmavision strategy deploys Drive Over ramps in public locations, such as car parks, supermarkets and petrol stations, so the public can interact frequently with Sigmavision's equipment and receive free tyre checks. Participating tyre retailers can then provide incentives to motorists via promotional campaigns and discount vouchers, in order to capture the sales opportunity.

Motorists can view the results of their free tyre check via an app

Nokian combined this approach with a digital retailing strategy. The solution is a web portal, which communicates the results of the tyre scans to prospective clients, who need replacement tyres or vehicle servicing.

In South Korea, Sigmavision's distribution partner is garage equipment supplier Cartools. When Cartools introduced the TreadReader Drive Over ramp to SpeedMate, a leading automotive repair and maintenance brand, an exciting tyre safety initiative emerged.

Keen to embrace innovative technologies to enhance customer service, SpeedMate has installed a TreadReader Drive Over ramp at a forecourt location, providing fuel station customers with a free tyre tread depth check. Vehicles drive over the ramp placed at the fuel pumps, and motorists can see the condition of their tyres on the display monitor as they refuel.

The tyre health check initiative at Speedmate locations in South Korea

Part of the SK Networks Automotive Division, the SpeedMate business encompasses tyre distribution, car maintenance and parts supply. Innovative business strategies see SpeedMate also using online and mobile channels to provide optimal car-life service to customers. SpeedMate has more than 700 shops nationwide at accessible locations such as SK petrol stations and E-marts.

MARKET SUCCESS FOR THE TYRE SAFETY INITIATIVE

As with the Speedmate forecourt initiative, SnapSkan helps drivers learn about their tyres' condition and its impact on their safety. The TreadReader tyre measurement technology measures the tread depth of the tyres using a drive-over ramp located at the entry or exit of a public parking garage.

Tyre tread depth and tyre wear are automatically scanned as vehicles pass over the ramp. Drivers can opt-in by SMS, or online, either before or after their tyres are scanned to obtain the free of charge digital report of their tyres' condition.

The report includes the measurements of tyre treads and a code that offers a discount on new tyres in selected stores. Locating the SnapSkan ramps in places that drivers frequently visit eliminates the need for a separate stop or a drive to a checking station. SnapSkan can measure the tyres on any passenger car and works with all tyre brands.

Approximately 200,000 cars were scanned in the period from June to August 2018. Out of all the cars scanned in the three months, up to 13% had a dangerously low tyre tread depth.

Up to 13% of drivers take chances with poor tyres

Tread depth is an essential component of a tyre's wet grip. The deeper the tread, the better it stores water from between the road and the tyre, thereby improving grip on the wet surface. A new tyre has a tread depth of about 8mm, and its aquaplaning resistance is greatly reduced once the tread is worn down to 4mm.

The poor condition of tyres also leads to longer braking distances: when tested, a tyre with a 7mm tread stopped the car after 25m, whereas a 2mm tread extended the braking distance to nearly 38m. The difference may be over two car lengths, which is a lot when you need to be able to stop suddenly to avoid collision.

A MISSED OPPORTUNITY FOR SEASONAL TYRES

SnapSkan's results also revealed that many drivers drive on winter tyres even in summer. From the cars measured between June and August, about 4% had winter tyres. Driving on winter tyres in the summer is dangerous as their properties are not optimised for summer conditions. As winter tyres are designed for snow and ice, their wet grip properties are considerably lower compared to summer tyres, which is particularly evident when braking on a wet surface. When tested at a speed of 80km/h, a Nordic non-studded winter tyre stopped after 39.2m, whereas the figure was just 25.4m with a good summer tyre.

EXPANSION PLANS FOR THE FREE TYRE CHECK STRATEGY

SnapSkan service points can now be found in parking garages in the largest Finnish residential areas as well as at tyre and car service chain Vianor's stores. Last spring the first service point outside of Finland was also opened in Oslo, Norway. 2019 will see the expansion of ramp installations across other European countries.

Since the launch of the programme in December 2016 the SnapSkan service has seen rapid adoption. Ville Nikkola, SnapSkan Program Manager at Nokian Tyres explains, "We have received a massive amount of positive customer feedback regarding SnapSkan. 80% of the people we interviewed said the service was effortless to use and would recommend it to others. An even more important figure is that 70% felt that the service improves road safety."

NEW FUNDING WILL FURTHER BOOST SIGMAVISION STRATEGY

The recently announced major financial investment in Sigmavision is set to accelerate the company's already rapid growth. The funding partner is a consortium led by Mercia Fund Managers. The investment represents a considerable opportunity for the global automotive aftermarket to benefit from Sigmavision's patented 3D tyre measurement technology.

Funds will be deployed to rapidly scale production capacity and to boost the commercialisation of Sigmavision's Beyond the Workshop strategy, taking free tyre checks to increasing numbers of motorists. Extensive data from Sigmavision's new TreadManager Service, reports that 10% of vehicles have at least one illegal tyre. A further 29% of scans reveal tyres at an advisory tread depth or below 3mm.

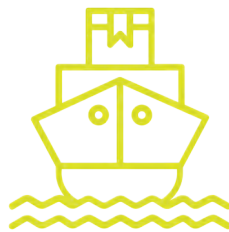

Sigmavision's Beyond the Workshop strategy encompasses a business model with new revenue opportunities for tyre manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers alike. The combination of patented 3D technology and digital retailing strategy brings motorists and tyre providers together in an unprecedented way. More than anything else, the Free Tyre Check strategy is the means to significantly and permanently reduce the number of unsafe or illegal tyres on vehicles on roads in the UK and around the world.

Absolute Alignment Ltd

7c Alexander Road, Farnborough, Hampshire, GU14 6BU
Tel: 01252 758413 Email: info@absolutealignment.co.uk
Website: www.absolutealignment.co.uk

Absolute Alignment supplies the latest in wheel alignment technology to workshops of all sizes. With the introduction of Advanced Driver Assistance Systems such as adaptive cruise control and lane-change alerts, vehicle alignment is a profitable market that old-fashioned 'laser' or optical aligners cannot benefit from. Our latest 3D and CCD equipment can check ADAS sensor alignment, often necessary after even simple jobs like a windscreen change or a minor shunt.

Absolute Alignment can supply the hardware and software to interface with their Techno and Bluetooth Pro ranges for a one-stop vehicle alignment centre. For more information and a free demonstration telephone 01252 758413 or see www.absolutealignment.co.uk

Our market leading TPMS programme has long been a cornerstone of our development but in 2017 we launched the award-winning Groove Glove to further establish our credentials in the tyre shop technology sector. Groove Glove has gone from strength to strength and in turn will lead us into 2019 and the launch of a ground-breaking drive over tyre scanning solution, TreadSpec 2.0. Powered from the same cloud-based platform as Groove Glove, TreadSpec 2.0 brings a labour free solution to gathering tyre tread data.

The appetite for this method of tyre inspection is strong, with over 2 million tyres currently being scanned weekly. More information on Groove Glove and the upcoming TreadSpec 2.0 can be found at www.autogem.co.uk/grooveglove. Alongside our technology offerings our well established and ever-growing portfolio of tools, consumables and exhaust fittings make Autogem a true one stop shop for tyre retailers and wholesalers looking to add that little extra to their own range.

Contact our friendly team to discuss any of our products or to book a demo with one of our representatives in 2019.

Murfitts Industries Limited is an innovative British company leading the way in the manufacture of high quality rubber granules from post-consumer tyres. Our products, which we export globally, are used in a huge variety of applications ranging from sports surfaces to carpet underlay. We have achieved a 100% recycling method for all the components in the tyres we use and we believe we are currently the only company in the world who can make this claim.

Company History

The company was formed in late 2001 as the intended implementation of the EC Landfill Directive and the End of Life Vehicle Directive meant that some 450,000 tonnes of tyres a year needed to find a home. Landfill was not an option.

The desire to give some form of environmental benefit coupled with these new legislative drivers opened up the opportunity for us to enter the tyre recycling field. Two years researching available technologies worldwide resulted in a bespoke built plant, giving us the versatility to produce a range of products from all types of tyres. We can now recycle 100% of all the elements which form part of that tyre including the rubber, steel and fibre.

We recycle 12 million tyres a year and work with many companies and sports associations around the world. We are also trusted by our tyre supplying clients to process their industry bi-product with the least impact possible to the environment, so helping them fulfil their own Corporate Social Responsibilities.

The Lodge Tyre Company Ltd was founded by George Edmund Lodge in August 1935, selling car tyres and accessories to what was then an emerging market. From these small beginnings the business has grown into one of the largest independent tyre service providers in the UK, servicing both the commercial and retail markets from our extensive depot network throughout the Midlands, North West, North East and East Anglia. With the acquisition of Kingsway Tyres in 2017 we now employ over 400 people and have a network of 38 depots. Our extensive service provision is conducted from a fleet of over two hundred and fifty fully equipped service vans, offering a complete tyre management service including mobile fleet support, 24 hour breakdown assistance and commercial wheel alignment.

To this day Lodge Tyre Company remains a family business with a commitment to develop all of our staff, and in recognition of this culture have achieved Investors in People Accreditation. Our promotion of training is evidenced by the high standard of qualifications that every tyre technician achieves during the course of their training and prior to entering service. In 2017 we were winners of the NTDA Truck and Agricultural Tyres Supplier of the Year Award honouring the commitment of our staff and in recognition of the levels of service they provide.

The History

Selecta Tyre Ltd commenced trading in 1973 when the late John Pashley, who had worked in the Tyre Industry for many years, set up on his own by purchasing the Kettering Montagu Street branch. Selecta Tyre Ltd remains an independent family-run business and John's son Simon took over the reins as Chairman and Joint Managing Director in 1991.

The logo was designed by the Company's founder, Mr John Pashley, who prior to working in the Tyre Industry, had trained as a draughtsman.

The Selecta Tyre Ltd branches are immediately recognisable by the Company's corporate styling in brilliant yellow and black, with the logo depicting a tyre, the letter 'S' for Selecta and a red lightning flash signifying 'lightning service'.

Originally a family business, Stapleton's was founded over 75 years ago. Through a combination of acquisition and organic growth Stapleton's is now the largest distributor of passenger car tyres in the UK. This honour is largely testament to the company's founding values of working hard for the customer and making things easy for them.

With a nationwide stock holding of 1.7 million tyres, Stapleton's range is as exhaustive as it is extensive with tyres for all price points from premium to budget, and with a delivery fleet of over 400 vehicles, customers benefit from same day, twice daily and three-times daily schedules, depending on location.

Further supporting customers' needs for flexibility and convenience, Stapleton's e-commerce platform ProfitLink allows 24-7 access to live stock availability and prices, a facility to order tyres and provisions to set retail markups, thus providing customers the opportunity to present active prices on the spot.

Understanding the needs of the fast moving, highly competitive market, Stapleton's is focussed on delivering an all-round tyre retail package that customers can rely upon. This pledge is supported by a team of highly experienced sales representatives, who combine the benefits of Stapleton's expansive national network with the offer of local knowledge and support.

Westgate Tyres first opened its doors in November 1997 and 21 years on we've come a long way from being a one-man band in the little bottom depot. With a team of seven fitters alongside Graham, Jane and their daughters Emma and Sophie, the Westgate Tyres 'family' has considerably grown meaning that we are now able to offer a whole range of garage services alongside tyres, brakes and exhausts from one site in Morecambe. Graham and Jane are the heart of the business, constantly striving to provide an honest, trustworthy service and support the local community keeping them safe on the roads. As an approved female friendly garage with a dedicated Ladies Day and three women playing a main part in the business, we're not your typical garage in the motor industry. 2017 and 2018 really highlighted this as we picked up a handful of awards:

- NTDA's Small Tyre Retailer of the Year 2018
- Foxy Lady of the Year 2017 - Jane
- TyreSafe Independent Garage of the Year 2017 + 2018
- Workshop Magazine's Fast Fit Centre of the Year 2017
- Auto Industry Repair Garage Marketing and Advertising Excellence 2018
- BIRA Silver Award for Independent Team of the Year

Tyre safety is always at the forefront of everything we do, especially for parents who have their priceless people on board. With dedicated Parent Car Safety Check days and different awareness schemes, we really do aim to support and advise all motorists.

Advice, information and guidance on anything to do with your car is always available from our team of fully trained and qualified fitters, for FREE, and if we can't help you, we will recommend a reliable source who can.

NTDA Tyre Industry Golf Day 2019

TUESDAY 25TH JUNE 2019, RUDDING PARK, HARROGATE

A privately-owned luxury hotel, Rudding Park has 90 bedrooms, a spa, two restaurants and a kitchen garden, private cinema, two golf courses and conference and events space. Set in 300 acres of landscaped gardens and woodland, Rudding Park is one of the most beautiful Harrogate hotels.

The Association has 'blocked' a number of rooms at Rudding Park. A special NTDA rate has been negotiated and all of the amenities are available to enjoy a comfortable night's sleep. A variety of other hotel options, for all budgets, are available close by. Accommodation must be booked directly and is not being co-ordinated by the NTDA.

The competition will be divided into different divisions and there will be special prizes for 'nearest the pin' and 'Longest Drive' which means that golfers of all abilities will be welcome. The event is open to Tyre Retailers, Wholesalers, Manufacturers, Suppliers and guests so it will present a great opportunity to meet with, and enjoy, the company of golfers from a wide cross section of the Automotive Aftercare Industry.

The cost of the entire golf day is £110 + VAT and includes bacon rolls and coffee on arrival, starter on the 1st tee and a three course evening meal and much more. Non-golfers are also most welcome to attend the evening dinner at £55 + VAT. A raffle in support of the NTDA's chosen charity The Wheelwrights' Charity 2020 Appeal will also take place and the Association would be most grateful for all prize donations. Small sponsorship options are also available.

To book player or dinner places for the 2019 NTDA Tyre Industry Golf Day please contact: NTDA Membership Secretary Alison Keitch on 01296 482128 or via email alisonkeitch@ntda.co.uk

90th ANNUAL DINNER & 5th Tyre Industry Awards Presentation

DATE & VENUE:

Thursday 3rd October 2019, International Convention Centre, Broad Street, Birmingham, B1 2EA

EVERYONE IS WELCOME:

On Thursday the 3rd October 2019, the NTDA will be holding its 90th Annual Dinner, sponsored by Land Tyre Service, together with the 5th Tyre Industry Awards, at the prestigious International Convention Centre (ICC) in Birmingham.

The ICC is less than a 2-minute walk from where once stood the majestic White Horse Hotel on Congreve Street where the Association held its first 'founding' annual dinner in 1930 and which is pictured on the right.

The last dinner the Association held at the ICC in 2015, attracted 620 guests from across the UK tyre and associated automotive aftercare market and already, many of the 2019 sponsorship packages have been taken. Once again, this will be the most prestigious gathering of the UK Tyre Industry and one that industry professionals should not miss.

DINNER PLACES:

Members at £135+VAT per person or £115+VAT per person for group bookings of 10 or more.

Non-members at £195+VAT per person or £175+VAT per person for group bookings of 10 or more.

This event is extremely popular, dinner places are limited and bookings operate on a first come, first served, basis. To avoid disappointment please contact Alison Keitch to get your booking form via email: alisonkeitch@ntda.co.uk or telephone: 01296 482128.

ACCOMMODATION:

In order to negotiate preferential room rates and to ensure guests are accommodated close to the venue and within their chosen budget, we have appointed an official accommodation agency to help you with your bookings, the details of which will be provided to you upon receipt of a completed booking form.

SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES:

A number of award and other sponsorship packages remain available. Confirmed 2019 sponsors already include: Automechanika Birmingham, Continental, Hankook, Jelf Beaumonts, Land Tyre Service, Maritime Cargo Services, Pirelli, Sailun Tyres, The Parts Alliance and The Worshipful Company of Wheelwrights. Please contact Stefan Hay for further details on sponsorships via email: stefanhay@ntda.co.uk or telephone 01296 482128.
