Classic yacht painting
High volume heating

It was critical that consistent temperature was maintained within a purpose-built dry dock whilst a prestige classic yacht was repainted. RVT Rentavent used indirect oil fired heaters sited externally to consistently provide over 1500kw of heat into the building.

Naval Ship Construction
Dust extraction

A shipyard was experiencing issues with excessive and potentially explosive dust whilst sanding fibreglass surfaces during modification works on specialist naval vessels. RVT Rentavent installed a high volume ATEX approved extraction unit with sufficient filtration to completely remove the fine dust.

Superyacht Respray
Fume control

Whilst a major superyacht was resprayed within an encapsulated structure, RVT Rentavent ensured a safe working environment was maintained for operatives inside by extracting paint fumes through fine carbon filtration.

We put more in so you get more out

RVT Rentavent provides temporary air quality and environmental solutions that control dust, fumes, noise, stale air, heat and moisture in the most critical working environments.

We know that what we provide our customers with is just as important as what we take away – our sector-specific knowledge and expertise, our innovative approach to problem solving, unrivalled levels of service and a proven track record on world-class projects all combine to make us a true 'centre of excellence'

Your service from enquiry to site survey and delivery was exceptionally professional and the machinery was fantastic for our situation. We look forward to working with you again.
