

Young Enterprise at Little Ilford

Year 6 primary students need fear no more about the transition to secondary school thanks to a helpful book produced by students from Little Ilford School.

The Switch, was the proposal by a group of Year 10 students as their entry for the East London Young Enterprise competition.

"We realised that it would be great if there was a book written from the students' perspective, rather than an adults' perspective, to help primary children to get through their big transition into secondary school" explained the students.

The Little Ilford Young Enterprise team were put through a gruelling process of writing a company report, trading to business professionals and presenting, alongside competitor schools, to various judges from city professions.

The hard work paid off for the Little Ilford team when they were awarded with the Best Presenter Award and Social Impact Award.

The work doesn't stop there for these students, who are now busy distributing the book to local primary schools and are looking for a publisher to help them sell their book commercially.

Winsor joins the Children's Centre

Winsor Primary School and the Beckton and Royal Docks Children's Centre launched their partnership with an official opening at Winsor Primary School on Monday, 20 March 2017.

Since January, the Children's Centre has been offering three outreach sessions for parents and carers of children under five at Winsor, including music, movement and baby explorers.

The Beckton and Royal Docks Children's Centre said: "We are very pleased to be working in partnership with Winsor School to deliver a range of services for children under 5 and their families within the Beckton & Royal Docks area."

The sessions have proved very popular for local families. One parent said: "It's brilliant and convenient for parents living on this side of Beckton and it is so important to have those links with the school before children start."

Winsor Head teacher James Dawson said: "We are absolutely delighted to be working in partnership with Beckton and Royal Docks Children's Centre."

Curwen International Week

With over 100 languages spoken at Curwen Primary School and pupils with heritage from over 50 different countries around the world, the school is indicative of a microcosm of Newham.

In March, Curwen celebrated their incredible diversity in International Week. Celebrations began with a Citizenship Assembly, which mirrors the British Citizenship Ceremony, and this year focused on what it takes to become a Great Linguist at Curwen. Each class elected an individual 'Great Linguist' through a voting process. Special Guests, Councillors Hanif Abdulmuhit and Joy Laguda, spoke to the pupils about the importance of being able to speak different languages in a multicultural city.

It was then the turn of school parents, who had prepared traditional dishes in either savoury or sweet categories. The winner in the savoury category was Japanese Sushi and Japanese rice cake with cherry blossom won in the sweet category.

On Wednesday was the Mini World Experience where the whole school from Nursery to Year 6 becomes 'The World'. Each class group focuses on a country and visit one another. Travellers are given a feast of multi-sensory experiences and parents are invited to attend along with their children.

On Friday the main hall and heart space became a catwalk for a Fashion Show of traditional clothing celebrating the heritage of Curwen's pupils and staff.

International Week ended with Carnival, a kaleidoscope of colours, percussive sounds and creative movement, displayed by each year group. Pupils learned about what Carnival means and choreographed a performance. The performance was judged and the winners this year were Year 2 and their representation of India. As part of the Curwen Cares community initiative, this year's Carnival was attended by local senior residents.

Paul Harris, the Executive Head Teacher of Curwen Primary School said: "It was a fantastic week. There is much for us all to learn from this and value as part of living in modern Britain. This is what makes Curwen, Curwen."

Swasthi Mahabeer, one of the organisers of International Week, said: "International Week reminds us of who we are and where we come from."

Ranelagh's Afternoon Tea

On Friday, 17 March 2017 'Child of the Term' winners at Ranelagh Primary School were treated to a delightful tea party, hosted by the DLR.

The pupils felt that they were attending an afternoon tea fit for the Queen as they entered the Radisson Blu Edwardian Hotel in Canary Wharf.

The guests feasted on tarts and cakes and were delighted by face-painting and the entertainment on show.

To close the event, each pupil received an Easter egg to take home.

Bar Modelling across KS1 and KS2 - (Cohort 3)

The London North East Maths Hub is pleased to offer this very popular course on Bar Modelling once again. Delegates will learn how to develop a whole school approach to mathematical problem-solving using the bar model as the basis for enabling pupils to tackle problems.

One of the key learning principles behind the success of Singapore maths is the bar model. Bar modelling is used to support pupils with visualising mathematical concepts when solving problems. Using bar models, children can access some highly complex problems with relative ease.

Beginning with handling actual objects, children learn how to translate information into visual models which can then be manipulated to solve problems. Through the use of bar models, children can understand almost any concept in maths, including multiplication, division, ratio, proportion and even algebra.

The Trainer:

Jack Corson is a primary maths Specialist Leader of Education and the maths leader at Nelson Primary school where he is leading the implementation of Singapore maths across the whole school. He is an NCETM Professional Development Accredited Lead and is currently coordinating an action research programme in collaboration with the UCL Institute of Education and several primary and secondary schools across East London.

Delegates will:

- Understand the underpinning principles of bar modelling
- Understand the importance of part-whole relationships when solving mathematical problems
- Understand the different types of bar models
- Know how to introduce bar modelling to each year group
- Have a clear understanding of the progression in bar modelling strategies through years 1-6
- Leave with a bank of resources and strategies to use across KS1 and KS2

Everyday maths through everyday provision

Children are born naturally mathematical, so why is it sometimes so difficult to observe children being mathematical? Why do so many of us think we are 'bad' at maths and how does this subconsciously affect the provision, experiences and opportunities we provide for young children who are starting their mathematical learning journey?

Delegates will have opportunities to:

- Explore how maths can be promoted through continuous provision inside and outside in the enabling EYFS environment.
- Consider the vital role of the adult in supporting mathematical learning and talk.
- Think reflectively about the mathematical opportunities offered to children in their care and ways to enhance and improve it further.
- Consider and challenge the negative attitudes sometimes perceived about mathematics and consider how this affects young children and the provision offered.

Target audience:

EYFS teachers.

Trainer:

Elaine is the founding member of "Keeping Early Years Unique", a social media group, committed to promoting the very best, child centred, early years practice. She began her career over 20 years ago as a Nursery Nurse before moving into teaching. Elaine is currently teaching at Friars Primary School and Nursery in Shoeburyness, Essex as EYFS and Year One Leader. She has led significant changes in her role over the past three years, and the school is now becoming recognized locally and also nationally for its child centred, play based approach. Elaine has also worked as an EYFS adviser at Southend-On-Sea LA, where her particular focus was raising the profile of maths. She now works as a freelance Early Years consultant and specialises in delivering training, workshops and keynote speeches focusing on mathematical development. She is the co-author of the popular Everyday Maths Through Everyday Provision and The Building Blocks Of Maths (both published by Routledge). Elaine is passionate about the power of play to make maths real, exciting, inspiring and accessible for children and the adults that support them.

Supporting Young People in the Secondary Education Setting

Facilitator: Catherine Munns

- Lead Training and Development Co-ordinator and Counsellor, Brentwood Catholic Children's Society (BCCS)
- Team Leader, Child and Adolescent Mental Health Service (CAMHS) (2008-2015)

Catherine studied at the Tavistock Clinic and has a Post-Graduate Diploma in children's mental health. She is also a fully qualified Counsellor with extensive experience of working with children, adolescents and families. During her role as Team Leader at CAMHS, Catherine began to deliver training to schools.

Co-Facilitator: Louise Picton

Counsellor and Clinical Supervisor at the Brentwood Catholic Children's Society (BCCS), Louise has worked in schools for 16 years in an educational and therapeutic capacity.

Schools are increasingly challenged with understanding the complexity of children and young people's emotional health and wellbeing. In addition to supporting pupils' emotional health and wellbeing, schools are also tasked with the responsibility of promoting academic achievement.

This half-day Workshop is aimed at all Secondary School staff with a view to empowering you "to be part of the response". The focus of this workshop will be on:

(a) Identifying and understanding the unconscious processes children and young people engage us in, and the ways in which we can respond; and

(b) Promoting healthy staffing bodies by supporting staff to understand the complex unconscious processes which we can become engaged, and immersed, in.

Helping staff to navigate, and 'tune in' to, the subtleties of challenging and de-skilling interactions with young people will undoubtedly result in the young person responding more positively to their teacher; their setting; and this will translate into their ability to learn. I hope that the additional upshot of understanding such interactions will be that your staff will feel calmer, self-aware, upskilled, and in a better position to help.

Feedback from recent workshops run by Catherine Munns:

'Excellent course. Highly recommended to other colleagues who work within schools or other child-centred professions.'

'This is one of the best training courses I've attended in the last three years.'

'Catherine was very tuned into how we were feeling and gave excellent targeted support for us.'

'Well put together ... I felt very confident in Catherine's knowledge and ability.'

"Schools need to have a clear awareness of the extent and nature of mental health problems in children and young people and of their responsibility to be part of the response, not least because these problems do not go away. Half of lifetime mental illness starts by the age of 14."

Newham's Language, Communication and Interaction Service is a well-established and highly effective inclusion support service, which works with children and young people with autism, social communication difficulties and specific language disorder, and in close partnership with their schools and families, across EYs, primary and secondary mainstream settings.

This is an opportunity for an outstanding specialist Early Years teacher to join our dynamic multi-professional team of teachers, speech and language therapists and SEN practitioners, to help shape the future of inclusion for children and young people with autism in Newham.

We are looking for someone who can:

Take a lead responsibility for co-ordinating, developing and implementing the delivery of specialist support and training to early years settings and families of children aged 0 – 4 years with autism
Ensure the team works effectively with nursery heads, setting staff, families and other agencies, to promote the development, inclusion and achievement of young children with autism
Line manage staff within the team responsible for delivering the Early Years service

You will be:

An experienced, enthusiastic and creative teacher with experience of autism in the Early Years, SEN and disability, and inclusion
Confident about planning and delivering training to a high standard, to a range of audiences
Able to challenge, motivate and inspire teachers, TAs, parents/carers and other professionals
A good communicator, skilled in managing staff and building relationships with colleagues and families

We can offer you:

The opportunity to work within a dedicated specialist team of professionals.
Working in partnership with exciting, inspiring and culturally diverse communities of children and their families.
Welcoming inclusive schools and early year's settings, with high expectations and aspirations for all children.

Clear structures for support, supervision, appraisal and professional development.
A well- resourced service base with training, meeting and office facilities.

Newham is vibrant inner city borough in the heart of East London with a young, friendly and cosmopolitan community. It is recognised by OFSTED as one of the fastest improving authorities, with rising academic standards, and a established record of inclusion and commitment to equal opportunities.

We welcome and encourage a visit to the team to find out more about our work. To arrange a visit or to discuss this post further please contact:

REQUIRED AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

North Beckton Primary School is a multi-cultural primary school that provides education for children within its local area and has additional resourcing for pupils with Profound and Multiple Learning Difficulties (PMLD)

We are looking for a talented and ambitious member of staff, who is dedicated to helping our pupils to reach their full potential. The right candidate needs to be an innovative practitioner who has previous experience of the role within a primary or special needs setting.

We are looking for a SENCO with at least three years teaching experience to join our inclusion team and work closely with the Inclusion Manager. If this sounds like you, we would like to invite you to meet our amazing pupils and staff.

This post consists of teaching pupils with complex needs and other mainstream groups such as speech and language, lego, life skills and many more.

You must:

Be committed to raising standards for all pupils

Have a knowledge of how to support pupils with complex needs and their families

Demonstrate experience of liaising with relevant outside agencies

Have an excellent record of classroom practice and high expectations of all pupils

Lead by example and inspire, motivate, challenge and support an enthusiastic team of support staff

Have the ability to lead, manage and work as part of a team

Have proven experience of analysis and the use of data to monitor the impact of intervention

Have a commitment to and successful experience of developing the achievement and progress of all pupils

Hold the National Award for SENCO ( desirable)

We can offer:

Strong leadership and support
Committed staff, pupils and governing body

A warm, friendly and caring working environment

Exceptional opportunities for professional development in an inclusive school

Please see the attached job description for full details of the role.
