

Renaissance Golf Club Project

Project

The Renaissance Golf Club has announced a £7m investment in new course facilities, which includes the creation of an iconic 34,000sq/ft clubhouse over 4 floors and the extension of the golf course.

The Renaissance Club, which opened in 2008, has almost 200 domestic and international members from counties across Europe, Asia and the USA. The new investment and facilities at the club are expected to attract considerable new membership interest.

Key features include private dining, a wine cellar and tasting area, snug bar, international business centre alongside private gym and treatment rooms. The clubhouse will have a number of viewing areas and terraces overlooking the 9th hole, 18th green and 8th green and fairway. The upper floor will feature six luxury bedroom apartments to complement the existing 14 luxury suites in the club's existing upscale lodge accommodation.

Solution.

Due to the clientele, building construction and space restrictions the infrastructure was designed for performance, resilience, flexibility and future proofing. A Brand Rex Category 6 solution (300 outlets) with high density space saving patch frames was chosen to enable the following services to be installed by ACI Integrated Solutions.

Structured Cabling
Wireless Network
TV System

Integration of new/existing premium Sky offering (8 sports channels) and Freeview using digital modulators to 30 new displays within the new clubhouse building and to the 20 existing displays within members bedrooms within the existing lodge accommodation.

Jerry Sarvadi, managing director and joint owner of The Renaissance Club, commented on the developments "The Renaissance Club is establishing a unique blend of traditional historic East Lothian coastline links with modern luxury and amenities that promises an unparalleled golf experience."
