

Get on top of your printing costs and improve productivity with Canon's uniFLOW for SMB

uniFLOW

Added efficiency and control for print environments whatever the size of your business

uniFLOW for SMB is a simple yet scalable solution, especially designed for small businesses, that enables you to maximise the value of your multifunctional print devices. Powerful capabilities allow you to track and manage print and copy costs, improve staff efficiency and protect your vital information, so you can focus on growing your business. Canon puts enterprise class technology, traditionally for large organisations, at your fingertips.

52% of workers using smartphones can't print from their devices, but want to.

Source: IDC, 2011

Up to 30% of printing costs can be saved by actively managing output.

Source: Gartner, 2009

Manage and reduce costs

Canon's uniFLOW for SMB provides detailed tracking and cost analysis of all network print and copy activity, helping you identify how devices are being used, and where savings can be made.

Colour printing has many business benefits but how can you provide access to colour without costs spiralling out of control? uniFLOW for SMB can help you understand who's printing in colour, what they're printing, how often and how much it's costing you. As an added layer of control, you can also regulate who can print in colour based on their departmental functions.

To allocate the cost of print and copy to both internal and external customers quickly and accurately, uniFLOW for SMB can allocate these costs to departments or cost centres, and allow you to charge jobs back if necessary.

Protect vital information and improve efficiency

How many times have you seen confidential documents left unattended in printer output trays?

uniFLOW for SMB allows documents to be printed only when the user authenticates themselves at the device. This not only protects your information, it also cuts paper wastage. And for added convenience, documents can be collected at any Canon device on the network.

Mobile Printing

Are your staff demanding print support from their mobile devices? Do you want to offer them access to your printing facilities without compromising network security? Now you can with uniFLOW for SMB.

Staff can print regardless of whether they are sending print jobs from their desktop PCs, laptops, Cloud-based system or smartphones, whilst enabling you to retain full cost control and information security. Registered users can simply walk to any multifunctional print device to release their print jobs, either via the device interface itself or directly from their smartphones.

The logo for uniFLOW, with 'uni' in grey and 'FLOW' in red, and a graphic of four squares above the 'i'.

To find out more about how Canon solutions can help improve your print productivity contact us today.

