The Pied Bull

IN THE MAKING SINCE 1535

Situated within the walls of the historic Roman city of Chester, The Pied Bull is a city centre inn with the warm feel of a country pub. As the oldest coaching house in Chester, the building dates back to the 11th Century. Today the interior reflects it's distinctive heritage & even houses an original handmade staircase dating from the 15th Century. Boasting a 31 bedroom hotel, a restaurant & bar and a beer terrace, we also have the only operating brewery within the walls of Chester.

The Pied Bull has something for everyone - locals & tourists alike.

A Building Beaming with History

The Pied Bull Chester is a city centre inn with the warm feel of a country pub, located within the walls of the historic Roman city of Chester. As the oldest coaching house in Chester the building dates back to the 11th Century.

Today the interior reflects its distinctive heritage & even houses an original handmade staircase dating from the 15th Century.

The Pied Bull history has grown over recent years with the purchase of the Brewers Cottage on King Street and the expansion into Folliott House - built in 1778 by the merchant W H Folliott.

Not only are we a pub serving delicious freshly prepared food and a city centre hotel we are also proud to have the only micro-brewery within the City Walls of Chester. Since opening The Pied Bull Brewery in the cellar in April 2011 we have produced award winning beers including Matador Champion beer of Cheshire 2012 & Black Bull Champion beer of the North West 2015.

Whether you're after some delicious food, award winning beer or a place to stay that's full of character, The Pied Bull has something for everyone - locals & tourists alike.
