

RYA Junior Windsurfing Pathway to Success

If you are enjoying the challenge of windsurfing course-racing competition and wish to progress further, then you need to know the training, event and equipment options open to you, which will help you achieve your goal.

Using the chart below, identify which level of sailor you are currently, then make every effort to attend the training and events in the green box; if you can, also attend those listed in the orange box.

Always look ahead to the next level so you know what will be expected of you in the near future.

Still confused? If you require a greater explanation about any of the training, event or equipment options highlighted for your level of ability, then you need to speak with your RYA Zone High Performance Manager (HPM).
