SCENTS OF THE SEASON

Alesst (alesst.com) introduces The Five Seasons (above) by contemporary style icon Marcel Wanders. Brrr ($129) perfectly captures the mood of winter with tones of bergamot, lily of the valley, and musk. The Sparkling Cassis Classic Candle (from $42), a holiday debut from Nest Fragrances (nestfragrances.com), evokes a festive cocktail of pink Champagne, crème de cassis, and wild fig. Cochine (cochine.com) released a rich, smoky Cedar & Vietnamese Oud candle ($65). LAFCO (lafco.com) launched a holiday candle collection in shimmering hand-blown glass: Winter Balsam (from $17) smells like a snowy forest; White Snowdrop (from $42) is a tone poem of velvety citrus, cedar wood, amber, and musk.

While its new Beverly Hills boutique opened in September, The House of Creed's sixth-generation Master Perfumer Olivier Creed simultaneously introduced a new fragrance. Floralie is a nod to the impeccable client experience at retail partner Netman Marcus. The fresh floral scent includes notes of Bulgarian rose, lilac, amber, and cedarwood, and pays homage to the ritual omnipresence of lush flowers on the selling floor of the original department store in Dallas. $415/2.5 oz; creedboutique.com

In collaboration with Maris Collective, Faena Bazaar—the next chapter of the Faena District Miami Beach—opens in December. Another reason to visit Paris. Luxury fragrance brand Byredo opened a flagship (below) on rue Saint-Honoré and introduced a peppery perfume with an end-of-the-world, dark-yet-hopeful scent called Eleventh Hour. $165/50 ml; byredo.com

RH (formerly known as Restoration Hardware) is having a moment. September brought New York City's historic Meatpacking District a modern, glass-and-steel structure comprising six levels and 90,000 interior and exterior square feet of design. The glass-encased, park-like Rooftop Restaurant overlooks downtown Manhattan and the Hudson River. In California, RH Yountville arrived in October, offering inspiration, design services (above), a farm-focused restaurant (dine in the glamorous glow of Rococo chandeliers ... outdoors), and a two-story wine vault. restorationhardware.com

In September, Milan's gallery-garden-restaurant concept 10 Corso Como opened an outpost in New York's historic Fulton Market. Founder Carla Sozzani wants to encourage "slow shopping": Stroll with friends, buy a winter coat, have a good lunch. 10corsocomo.com

Inspired by hygge and the concept of coziness and comfort, London-based interior designer Elnaz Namaki launches Luuna, her first-ever furniture collection. Dyed shearling covers many of the sofas (below), armchairs, and benches. elnaznamaki.com
