STRETCH ACADEMY

For your sustainable success in the market

The modular structure of our Stretch Academy provides the basis for success in the packaging trade.

The specific applied knowledge of your stretch film salespeople is key for sustainable sales success in this competitive market.

We can support you in this by allowing you to get to know the range of applications of our stretch films in detail. You can then use this knowledge as a decisive competitive advantage. Become a confident problem-solver for your customers, improve your image and your skills as an expert consultant.

Offer your customers added value by pointing out potential savings.

Benefit from all this and qualify for further projects.

Increase your revenue!

More knowledge – better consulting

The training topics mainly focus on practical application, supplemented by some basic theoretical knowledge.

Our training centre features the required appliances and films for use by the participants.

The participants can practice essential principles using practical application examples.

This way, the participants acquire the necessary confidence in handling stretch films on-site with customers, for sales and consultation discussions, for the processing of complaints and for film tests in order to optimise packaging.
