As part of a larger project we were looking for a partner to support us with staff portraits. It was crucial for us to identify someone who not only grasped our vision but would also assist us in taking it to the next level. Ginger Camel were referred to us and straight after the initial meeting it was clear that we had identified the partner we were seeking. The time taken to understand our requirements and scope the project was an unique experience for us all by itself. The ease with which our requests were accommodated during scoping and on the day of shoot is unparalleled. The project was successfully completed on all counts and we have engaged them for other ongoing projects.

CHRIS JAMES

Ooredoo Group

Working with Ginger Camel has been picture perfect. From the moment I made my initial contact to the delivery of the final product, the personalized service has been outstanding. On the day of the shoot the photographer was very professional. He was open to our suggestions as well as constantly looking for the best situation to take the right shot. Most importantly, the pictures were perfect. The photos gave us a professional and friendly feel. We look forward to working with Ginger Camel again.

Finding the right partner is crucial for any advertising company. Ginger Camel is one of those partners. They add value to any project shared, and definitely take it to the next level by allocating the right resources and tools. We have worked with Ginger Camel since the beginning of our own operation in Doha and they are simply the best partner we could wish for to bring our ideas to life. With the right people and the right attitude, you'd always expect an amazing collaboration, a big sum of flexibility and definitely a great deal of valuable input – and that's exactly what Ginger Camel provides. In a nutshell, a great team of passionate and talented people!

MICHAEL HABRE

Leo Burnett Doha

I have worked with Ginger Camel on a number of projects, including the ICC WCF 8th World Chambers Congress, a bi-annual event organized by ICC World Chambers Federation in different parts of the world and hosted by Qatar Chamber in April 2013. The 3 day-event was attended by influential business leaders and a global community of more 12.000 chambers of commerce from over 100 countries. From day one Ginger Camel team showed professionalism and flexibility on this extremely challenging project. They produced an appealing TV commercial and documented with photography and video all the congress sessions and social events. The standard of their work was very high always putting in extra time and effort to ensure a deadline was achieved. I would recommend Ginger Camel not only because they have a talented team, but also because they have a strong ability to understand brands and provide solutions to their needs.
