ATTWOOLLS CAMPING EQUIPMENT CHECKLIST

Here is a basic starting list, but it is by no means exhaustive and you can add items to personalise it!

Firstly, there is no list which is suitable for all campers. You need to think about what kind of camper you will be - minimalist, backpacker, car-camper, or a "take the kitchen sink" camper!

Weight will dictate some of your choices - for instance it would be impractical for a backpacker to carry a flock airbed and pump, and a better choice would be a roll-mat or better still, a self-inflating mattress, which is more comfortable than a mat alone.

LED torches are very good - much brighter and the batteries last longer. Or, it may be more practical for you to use a rechargeable lantern, if you can plug it into mains or the cigarette lighter socket in your car to recharge.

You can manage without electric hook up in a tent - your gas stove can boil your kettle, and there are some good strip-lights which will connect to your car battery with no danger of draining the power. You can normally find a camp site shop which will freeze ice packs for you for an ordinary cool box. If however you decide that camping is for you and you want to spend the extra, then there are powered camping coolers and fridges, plus electric lights which you can buy.
