WILD ATLANTIC WAY
SLÍ FHIÁIN AN ATLANTAIGH

As you look out over this breathtaking landscape, you could only be in Ireland. Where else would you find vibrant green fields divided by ancient stone walls; a dramatic coastline characterized by its jagged inlets and tiny islands, and a sky that changes every time you glance up at it. You'll find wonderful scenery no matter where you are on the island, but this particular view is the Iveragh Peninsula in County Kerry, a place where land and sea collide to stunning effect.

Day 1

Kylemore Abbey & Connemara National Park

---

The story of Kylemore – both Castle and Abbey– is a truly remarkable one. The twists of fate which its occupants experienced, from moments of romance and happiness, to sadness and courage have all combined to create a fascinating history spanning over 150 years.

Day 3

Galway Medieval City Tour & Spiddal Craft Village

---

The Mediaeval City Centre of Galway is a place the demands to be visited. Galway became a walled town with the Anglo Norman conquest in 1232.

Galway city is a swirl of enticing old pubs that hum with traditional music sessions throughout the year. Arty, bohemian Galway is renowned for its pleasures. Brightly painted pubs heave with live music, while cafes offer front-row seats for observing street performers, weekend parties run amok, lovers entwined and more. More importantly, there's an addictive vibe of culture, fun and frolic.

Enjoy Galway's 'Riverdance' Trad on the Prom.

Day 4

Cliffs of Moher & Doolin

Standing 214m (702 feet) at their highest point they stretch for 8 kilometres (5 miles) along the Atlantic coast of County Clare. From the Cliffs of Moher on a clear day one can see the Aran Islands and Galway Bay, as well as the Twelve Pins and the Maum Turk mountains in Connemara, Loop Head to the south and the Dingle Peninsula. O'Brien's Tower stands near the highest point and has served as a viewing point for visitors for hundreds of years.

Day 5

Dingle

---

Pushed out towards the bay by a modest set of mountains, Dingle is arguably one of the island's more charming towns. Eclectic little fashion and jewellery shops on Green Street give way to intimate and cosy pubs such as Ashes and Foxy John's. The latter is a DIY store with beer taps and, consequently, the only pub in the country where you can sink a pint and satisfy your hardware needs at the same sitting.

Dingle Distillery, Dingle, co. Kerry

Day 6

Killarney National Park

---

Killarney National Park consists of a staggering 26,000 acres of mountains, lakes, woods and waterfalls yours to discover. A network of tracks traverse the park taking in some of the most breathtaking scenery on earth. Sightings of the recently reintroduced White Tailed Sea Eagle or members of the only surviving herd of Native Red Deer are just some of the highlights that may lie in store for you as you explore the famous Lakes of Killarney.

We are all very proud of our vibrant “little” town and the incredibly beautiful surrounding countryside which makes Killarney a very special place indeed. Brim full of history, heritage, activities, and world class hospitality. Killarney is populated with enthusiastic and welcoming people, and this enthusiasm is reflected in many national and international awards.
