ZARA

Diamond Wedding and Eternity Rings

COO Jewellers is an award-winning family business with a showroom in Hatton Garden, London's famous jewellery quarter and Martels Wedding Village near Stansted Airport in Essex. We specialise in engagement, wedding and eternity rings.

Our Zara Collection is stylishly designed to catch the eye with a sparkle of diamonds.

Every ring is made to order, not mass produced. You choose the style and the precious metal – 9ct or 18ct white gold, yellow gold, rose gold; platinum or palladium.

Simply place your order on our website or if you live near a COO showroom make an appointment to see the whole ZARA collection without any obligation. If you are unsure of your finger size, don't worry, we'll send you a free ring sizer to give us a good indication of your finger size and then our jewellers will craft your ring.

You can pick your ring up from us in Hatton Garden or at any other COO showroom. Alternatively we'll be happy to deliver it via a fully insured courier. COO rings are shipped worldwide.

To help you easily make your choice of ring we have published guide prices which were correct at the time we produced this e-brochure. The current 'live' price will be displayed on our web site www.coojewellers.com/zaradownloads. The prices in this brochure are for near colourless H colour SI clarity diamonds. You can upgrade to colourless F VS clarity diamonds on our web site.

And don't worry, if it's not a perfect fit we'll adjust it free of charge. You also have our 30 day no quibble refund policy.

Please go to www.coojewellers.com/returnspolicy for details.

Zara No.5

A soft court band with brilliant cut diamonds, half grain set.

A subtle and refined Wedding or Eternity gently curved band with beautiful round (brilliant cut) diamonds held in place by small grains of precious metal (grain set). This style of diamond wedding ring has made a huge impact in the world of weddings in such a small period of time.

The brilliant cut diamond is the most popular type of diamond cut available today. Modern diamond cutting techniques ensure the natural fire and brilliance is maximised, reflecting the most light. Diamonds set around half of the ring, diamond weight is based on size M.

THE CHARACTERISTICS OF A DIAMOND

No two diamonds are exactly the same. To help jewellers define each individual diamond's beauty, the following qualities are assessed. It's the combinations of the following 4C's that determines the diamond's value.

Cut

Each diamond is cut from the natural rough stone with the view to maximising the brilliance and sparkle once polished.

Colour

Many diamonds have a subtle yellow tone. The closer the diamond is to being colourless, the rarer and more valuable it is. Colour grading is described by using letters: the letters D to H being colourless/near colourless ranges. Beyond this colour range diamonds are less bright and take on a yellow tone.

Clarity

Diamonds can have identifying characteristics such as minerals or fractures, known as inclusions. The fewer inclusions, the more perfect and expensive the diamond.

SI = Slightly Included – small inclusions may be visible but probably not.

VS = Very Small inclusions – these will be eye clean diamonds.

Carat

A measure of the diamond's weight and a reflection of its size. One carat is equal to 100 points and can be presented as a fraction eg. 50 points = ½ carat.

As a standard quality we set near colourless H SI clarity diamonds to make sure every ring really sparkles, however; you can upgrade to colourless F VS clarity diamonds at the point of order. We do not use low value I grade (visually included) diamonds as the inclusions are too obvious and in our opinion are undesirable.

A GUIDE TO RING SETTINGS

At COO we try not to use jargon, so here are some explanations so you can better understand our diamond setting styles.

Channel Setting

The diamonds are held by two parallel precious metal edges, with no metal between the stones.

Grain/Claw Setting

Grain setting is used to describe diamonds that are set very close together and are only separated by tiny precious metal prongs (claw) or beads (grain).

U Claw Setting

The U claw is a modern innovative design. The claws are formed from a scalloped U shape with the top of the claw gently rounded over the diamond offering a unique look and secure setting for your diamonds.
