Message from the Chairman

Greetings to all USAWC graduates and friends of the Foundation,

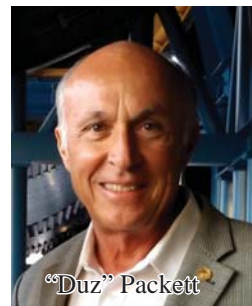

Our Board of Trustees had a wonderful Spring meeting in Huntsville, Alabama, March 17-19, 2015. We were welcomed to the Huntsville/Redstone community by GEN Dennis L. Via, RES '99, CG of Army Materiel Command (AMC), our senior graduate in that area. He and his wife Linda joined us and 187 graduates and friends of the College for our Alumni Dinner at the U.S. Space and Rocket Center, the largest gathering we've had outside Washington, DC. LTG (Ret) Dennis L. Benchoff, RES '83 and one of our Trustees, was a former DCG of AMC so it was a very special reunion for him and his wife Barbara to be back with so many AMC friends.

GEN and Mrs. Via and LTG (Ret) and Mrs. Benchoff.

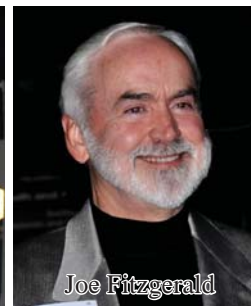

We also owe special thanks to our Huntsville Trustee and his wife, MG (Ret) "Duz" and Ululani Packett, USAWCF '93, COL (Ret) Ron Ouellette, RES '93, & former FAC, and Mr. Joe Fitzgerald, NSS '04, Civilian Aide to the SECARMY for Northern Alabama, for helping us plan every step of the way. Ms. Kris McBride, President of the Redstone-Huntsville Chapter of AUSA, and Dr. Deborah Barnhart of the Space and Rocket Center made that beautiful venue possible for us. Dr. Lance Betros, Provost of the U.S. Army War College, traveled from Carlisle to represent the Commandant for a great update on College academics and activities. A big thanks to all who attended.

"Duz" Packett

Our last day in Huntsville was spent at Redstone Arsenal seeing how USAWC graduates and Fellows are serving. This helps Trustees see how leaders use their senior education to face complex challenges of national security every day. For example, Mr. John B. Nerger, RES '94, and other graduates on the AMC Staff, provided invaluable information on supporting forces worldwide. COL D. Brian Byers, RES '14, Deputy Director of the Aviation and Missile Research Development and Engineering Command (AMRDEC), provided a "hands on" look at the Prototype Integration Center and the Software Engineering Directorate. There were many other organizations with great USAWC graduates, but we simply could not visit them all.

COMMANDANT
U.S. ARMY WAR COLLEGE

From MG Bill Rapp, 50th Commandant

May 1, 2015

What an important time to be at the U.S. Army War College! Developing both strategic leaders and ideas has never been so vital to our Army and I am pleased to report that the faculty, staff, and students of all USAWC entities are making an impact on both missions. We are closing in on the National Security Seminar week and the graduations of both Classes of 2015. Warmer weather and completions of both comprehensive oral exams and the Strategy Research Papers have brought smiles and a renewed bounce in the step of our resident class students!

My priorities for the past eleven months have centered largely on ensuring that the development of both leaders and ideas are equally valued and impactful on our Army and nation. Our efforts to connect the intellectual energy and creative thinking of the Army War College to the needs of the Army and Joint Force are timely and relevant. You can be justifiably proud of your team at Carlisle Barracks!

I firmly believe that we are the gold standard for strategic leader education and development. During one week in March, over 1100 students were concurrently studying to be more effective in their evolving strategic roles. In addition to the on-going Resident, Distance, and Fellows programs, two general officer courses and the Basic Strategic Art Program course were in session. Each course is a positive opportunity to impact on the Chief of Staff's number one priority of leader development! Kudos to Dr. Richard Lacquement and his team in the School of Strategic Landpower as well as COL Matt Dawson and his team at the Center for Strategic Leadership and Development (CSLD) for their hard work and effectiveness. In a capability that only we have, Dr. Tom Williams and his team have set the standard for developing leader self-awareness and resiliency.

COL Doug Mastriano's leadership of the USAWC-wide Russia Studies Project and the recent release of a thought-provoking monograph by Lenny Wong and Steve Gerras are but two pieces of recently published scholarship that demonstrate your Army War College is making a difference. Ideas matter and our quality of thought coupled with a willingness to examine sensitive strategic issues are assisting positive change. Over the past six months, Dr. Doug Lovelace and his team at the Strategic Studies Institute and USAWC Press have published over 45 pieces of scholarship and expanded available on-line content. I encourage every member of the alumni to visit, download, and use these resources. Our premier faculty, such as Dr. Tami Biddle, recently published in highly-respected external venues, such as the Royal United Services Institute Journal. Getting our ideas out to a wider audience and being part of the important discussions on strategy throughout the Army, think tank world, and academia is how we continue to make a difference.

Developing strategic leaders and ideas invaluable to the Army and the nation is also a focus of the Army Heritage and Education Center (AHEC) and the Peacekeeping and Stability Operations Institute (PKSOI). What gems we have in both of those organizations! COL Rick Harney and his AHEC team are simultaneously remarkable ambassadors for the Army and preservers and distributors of history. You may not know it, but AHEC hosts over 170,000 visitors a year! With a quiet profile and significant importance, COL Dan Pinnell and his PKSOI team research, build, coordinate, and document how the Joint Force and even the United Nations does the vital work of peacekeeping, stability operations, and humanitarian relief. The historians at AHEC and staff of PKSOI continue to not only develop important ideas, but teach and influence strategic leaders and participate actively in conferences and war games here at CSLD and abroad.

I am humbled to be part of this team and the mission here. In addition to the great work that goes into producing leaders and ideas, I am also proud that Carlisle Barracks is a great place to live, work, and raise a family. LTC Kim Peebles and the Garrison team do amazing work each day to make that a reality.

At a recent community information forum, several of the family members of students expressed to me their sentiments that Carlisle Barracks is the single friendliest community in which they have ever been stationed. I could not agree more! Developing strategic leaders and ideas is vital work and your Army War College remains engaged every day in shaping the future strategic environment. STRENGTH AND WISDOM!

ARMY STRONG! Williams

International Fellows Hall of Fame

Since our Fall 2014 magazine, four International Fellows have been welcomed into the USAWC International Fellows Hall of Fame, including the first female International Fellow (IF) at USAWC and the first Distance Education Program inductee. Each enjoyed reunions with seminar-mates, sponsors, faculty members, and other friends and colleagues. Each expressed appreciation for the role of the College in helping frame and tackle strategic issues at the international level, and for the productive partnerships that have endured. There are now 56 in the USAWC IF Hall of Fame.

Congratulations to all!

Major General Kristin Lund, Norway, Class of 2007, inducted on February 17, 2015.

Maj Gen Lund with Seminar 4-mates, BG and Mrs. Paul M. Nakasone and Ruth Nelson, widow of COL Peter S. Nelson, who died unexpectedly in 2010.

Maj Gen Lund with IF Office staff, Mr. Albert Cobb, Mr. Kevin Bremer, COL John Burbank, Director, and Mr. Emilio Montanez.

Major General Almantas Leika, Lithuania, Class of 2006 (DDE), inducted on March 17, 2015.

As part of the celebration of the USAWC “birthday,” with its legacy of educating and developing strategic leaders beginning 113 years ago, four outstanding Army War College grads were honored December 8, 2014 for their continued service after retirement. MG William E. Rapp, 50th Commandant, hosted the ceremony and emphasized that service does not end when you take off the uniform. He noted that these four exceptional officers took their talents and energies to new levels after their military service, dedicating themselves to multiple communities and making our nation better for their efforts.

The Outstanding Alumni Program began in 1996 as a way to recognize graduates who contributed in some substantial way after their retirement from government service through community or volunteer service. The Army War College Foundation is proud to sponsor this program.

School of Strategic Landpower – Dean’s Message

The faculty, staff and students of the School of Strategic Landpower continue to bring light and energy to mastering national security expertise. This worthy endeavor extends beyond the seminar room to our many ongoing efforts that contribute directly to professional practice.

The Resident Education Program (REP) Class of 2015 is nearing graduation and the welcome notices have gone out to the REP Class of 2016. We are completing the last of the distance-delivered courses for each of the two Distance Education Program (DEP) year groups 2015 and 2016, ramping up for their two summer resident courses and getting ready for DEP Class of 2017 orientation...that’s right...the class of 2017.

As an integral part of our mission, teams of students and faculty have been engaged in research, writing, wargames, and outreach on topics such as: the Army’s new Pacific Pathways exercise program; US and NATO response to Russian provocations in Eastern Europe; ongoing challenges in Afghanistan, Iraq and the Middle East more broadly; Army futures (in conjunction with the Army Capabilities Integration Center); and military-to-military engagement with a delegation from the Peoples Republic of China (PRC) Peoples Liberation Army (for which we are anticipating a reciprocal trip to the PRC by a USAWC delegation in the coming months). Theory and practice indeed....

The REP oral comprehensive exams have been a resounding success yet again. These has proven to be a powerful and positive event that helps crystalize the key elements of our curriculum in the minds of our students and allows the faculty a clear sense of how well each student has achieved the learning objectives set for them at the beginning of the year. The professional discourse the exams have nurtured has been just what we’ve hoped for.

The New York City National Security Staff Ride (NSSR) took place 11-14 March this year. We moved the trip to the Spring using the logic that has governed our similar NSSR to Washington DC (which is still in the spring). That is, we waited to conduct the staff ride until after the students had completed the core curriculum. Hence, our students had the benefit of that intellectual seasoning as context when engaging with the more than 120 small-group hosts in diplomatic (United Nations, international missions), informational (media, advertising), economic (business and financial organizations), government (NYC, FEMA), and other organizations. As influential as the curriculum is in conveying key concepts and information to our students, the staff rides add invaluable elements of practical experience and perspective.

Resident students participated in all core elements of the two-day Annual Strategy Conference sponsored by the Strategic Studies Institute (SSI) this year, taking advantage of the presence of the powerful array of speakers that SSI brings to our doorstep. Army Leader Day took place the day prior to the Strategy Conference to provide an enhanced framework to students as they approached the conference after having just engaged with Army Staff Principals.

We are putting the final touches on the REP core curriculum for AY16, to include the new “Introduction to Strategic Studies” (ISS) course that will lead off the academic year. The course will begin the REP year with an overview of the major themes of the curriculum and then require the students to apply them to a major interdisciplinary, team-taught, historical case study—the 1990-91 Persian Gulf War. This experience will kick off the year at the strategic level where the case should provide us a strong ‘hook’ for key themes to be developed in more depth over the rest of the academic year.

For our alumni and others beyond Carlisle Barracks who are interested, we are working to improve the information readily available on the internet such as our faculty directory and many of our course directives.

The professionalism and excellence that make profound national security contributions seamless is not an accident. It only happens with a lot of hard work by a team of professionals providing strong leadership and exercising initiative. The excellence of our faculty is the key to our ability to convey the expert knowledge embedded in our curriculum and to guide our students in understanding how the knowledge applies to real-world practice. The support we receive from the Foundation is an integral part of our success.

Thank you.

Strength and Wisdom!

Dr. (COL, Ret) Richard A. Lacquement, Jr., RES '09, Dean, School of Strategic Landpower

MG Odin Johannessen, IF Norway, RES '11, returned to USAWC to speak to the Regional Studies Program-Europe students on December 12, 2014. He is serving as the Assistant Chief of Staff for Operations in the Norwegian Defense Staff.

USAWC Fellows host and assist senior Army and defense leaders at their hosting institutions as a matter of routine. LTC(P) Guillaume “Will” Beaupere, USAWCF '15, S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore, hosted BG Bryan P. Fenton, USAWCF '10, DCG (Operations), 25th ID, as part of the Pacific Pathways Program.

GEN Mark A. Welsh III, Chief of Staff of the U.S. Air Force, spoke to the entire resident class and also separately to USAF officers when he visited USAWC on March 31, 2015.

The battle of Gettysburg resulted in one known civilian casualty, Jennie Wade, who was accidentally killed while working in her sister's kitchen on the third day of the battle. By contrast, civilians comprise the vast majority of casualties in modern conflicts, in many cases deliberately targeted. They are frequently victims of violent acts and other effects of conflict including disease, starvation, and dehydration.

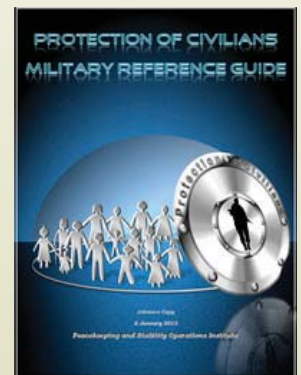

The U.S. Army War College's Peacekeeping and Stability Operations Institute (PKSOI) is one of the world's premier institutions on the protection of civilians (PoC). This topic encompasses a range of issues including mass atrocity prevention and response, the mitigation of civilian casualties during conflict, and conflict-related sexual violence. It refers to efforts to protect civilians from physical violence, secure their rights to access essential services and resources, and contribute to a secure, stable, and just environment for civilians over the long-term. PoC is a moral, political, legal, and strategic priority for all military operations. Communities on the ground and around the world expect uniformed personnel to protect the population; failure to do so jeopardizes the credibility and legitimacy of the operation and can undermine other objectives. Civilian protection is a multidimensional challenge requiring an understanding of the unique situation, operations that directly protect civilians, and shaping activities to ensure that a protective environment can endure.

The protection of civilians is a prominent task in most contemporary United Nations (UN) peacekeeping missions and is an important consideration in most military operations, especially those related to stability and counterinsurgency. It is a critical focus area for many international organizations such as the UN and the International Committee of the Red Cross, non-governmental organizations, and U.S. government agencies including the Departments of Defense and State.

PKSOI's initial foray in this topic was a collaborative project with Harvard Kennedy School's Carr Center for Human Rights Policy, which produced the "Mass Atrocity Response Operations (MARO) Military Planning Handbook." This publication, intended for U.S. military commanders and staffs, was subsequently reflected in official joint and military service doctrine on MARO. PKSOI subsequently collaborated with the State Department and the Office of the Secretary of Defense to produce a policy-level guide regarding mass atrocity prevention and response. PKSOI has also subsequently published a "Protection of Civilians Military Reference Guide" which is intended for multi-national militaries and is currently developing joint, Army, and NATO doctrine on the protection of civilians. It has also been involved in developing related UN materials.

In the past two years, PKSOI has conducted numerous visits to other countries to provide training on the protection of civilians, including a recent tabletop exercise for the UN Mission in South Sudan (UNMISS). It regularly participates in conferences regarding the protection of civilians, mass atrocity prevention and response, and the Responsibility to Protect (R2P) which is an increasingly important topic in global affairs. PKSOI's expertise on these subjects is frequently requested by the National Security Staff, the Departments of State and Defense, prominent research institutions, and others. It has provided instruction at many academic institutions including Harvard, Stanford, Georgetown, and others. PKSOI recently hosted an AFRICOM conference on conflict-related sexual violence which produced a scenario-based training package on the subject.

With the expansion of conflict in Syria, Iraq, Libya, Nigeria, South Sudan, and elsewhere, civilians continue to be at risk. PKSOI's efforts contribute to U.S. and international endeavors to ameliorate these risks.

U.S. Army War College Fellows Update

Texas A&M hosted the 60th annual Student Conference on National Affairs (SCONA) February 17-21, 2015, convening 120 undergraduate student participants from colleges around the U.S. Guest Speakers included CJCS GEN Martin E. Dempsey and GEN (Retired) Mike Hayden. The USAWC assisted in the execution of SCONA in a variety of ways. A CSLD team, led by COL Marty Clausen, RES '12, administered an International Strategic Crisis Negotiation Exercise (ISCNE) for 50 students, with assistance from USAWC Fellows from both Texas A&M University and the University of Texas. The Fellows stayed on to help facilitate a second phase in which the 120 attendees broke into 11 roundtables to craft strategy and policy proposals.

L-R: COL Phil Brooks, Texas A&M, COL Blake Alexander, Texas A&M, COL Theesa Walsb, University of Texas, GEN Dempsey, LTC Richard Wholey, University of Texas, and LTC Brian Pfarr, Texas A&M.

Nineteen USAWC Fellows participated on a voluntary basis alongside their resident class peers during the March 10-14 NSSR in NYC. They were integrated into small groups and benefitted from the learning opportunities provided by the College. The Fellows came from university settings and government agencies, predominately from Washington, D.C., Boston, and NYC, but as far away as Texas.

Last October, MG William Rapp, RES '04 & 50th Commandant, visited with faculty and senior administrators at the Boston-area universities where USAWC Fellows serve: Harvard, MIT, and Tufts Universities, and also engaged with the Fellows themselves in separate sessions. This photo was taken after MG Rapp met with the USAWC Fellows at the Kennedy School of Government.

These USAWC Fellows attended the March 13th presentation by the Jordanian Ambassador to the UN at the Wyndham New Yorker Hotel. L-R: CH (COL) Ken Godfrey (Institute of World Politics), LTC(P) Fred Crist (MIT), and his spouse Angela, COL John Henderson (MIT), LTC(P) Dabe Branch (NSA), COL Ed Chamberlayne (Institute of World Politics), COL Wendy Daknis (Dept. of Justice), LTC(P) Tom Duncan (George Mason University), LTC Heather Kness (Dept. of Veteran's Affairs), and her spouse Lenny, COL Claes Levenhaupt (Office of the Dir. of National Intelligence), and his spouse Joanne, and Prof. Phil Evans, Fellows Coordinator.

Dr. John Nagl (retired Army officer and respected scholar and author) participated in a public speaking engagement on "Modern War in Theory and Practice" at Duke's Sanford School of Public Policy on January 27, 2015. The next day, he participated in a discussion with the UNC and Duke Fellows, a great opportunity to discuss the Fellows' research topics and current Army challenges.

U.S. Army War College Fellows Update

COL Christopher V. Wynder, the first USAWC Fellow at the University of Louisville, met with university President Dr. James Ramsey. In a 45-day period, apart from his academic load, Wynder also engaged with key leaders at the 2015 Kentucky Lions Club Mid-Year Leadership Conference, at the UofL MBA Executive Management Seminar, at the Veterans Coalition of Louisville (VCAL) Executive Meeting, with the Assistant Superintendent of Schools for the Jefferson County Public Schools, with the Director of the UofL Delphi Center Professional Development Services, and at a Leadership Forum at Florida A&M University.

In addition to the USAWC Fellows, the College provides guidance and administrative support for the CSA Senior Army Fellows, senior Colonels placed in positions where they can serve as effective ambassadors of the Army and provide linkage back to the senior Army leadership. Shown here are 4 of the 11 Colonels who serve as senior Fellows, as they met with former Under Secretary of Defense for Policy Michelle Flournoy in Washington, D.C.: COL Chris Forbes (Washington Institute for Near East Policy), Ms. Flournoy, COL John Evans (The Brookings Institution), COL Doug Cardinale (Center for Strategic and International Studies), and COL Angelia Farnell (Henry L. Stimson Center).

CSLD Update

CSLD CENTER for STRATEGIC LEADERSHIP & DEVELOPMENT
U.S. Army War College

It was a privilege to replace COL (Ret) Doug Campbell, RES '87, when he retired and to continue the great work of CSLD across its diverse mission. Here are some of the recent CSLD team efforts.

Based on the success of Senior Leader Seminars, CSLD developed and piloted the Executive Leader Course (ELC) to provide strategic context and broadening for nominative Command Sergeants Major. The pilot was successful and the program should soon be an Army Program-of-Record.

Congressman Tim Walz spoke to the Executive Leader Course students in Washington, D.C.

The Basic Strategic Art Program (BSAP) added a student examination of future Army end strength in their newly created Army Strategic Planning Exercise, blending fiscal reality with strategic requirements. The BSAP team also continues to help coordinate and execute the Strategic Broadening Program (SBP), supporting the Army Leader Development Strategy for senior NCOs and mid-grade commissioned and warrant officers.

The International Strategic Crisis Negotiation Exercise (ISCNE) continues as a unique, valuable program to demonstrate the importance of civilian-military partnerships and build relations. Partners this year included prominent universities such as the LBJ School of Public Affairs, as well as think-tanks like the Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS).

The CSLD team also continues to innovate and contribute to key institutional and operating force initiatives. The Futures elective was expanded to a two-elective period and tied to Army Futures work, allowing students to help develop the Army of 2035-2040, as well as lead groups for Unified Quest, the Army's Deep Future Wargame. CSLD supports USAWC Communities of Interest for Futures, Cyber, Homeland Defense/Security, and Strategy Education, working to support and inform broad military and civilian audiences, as well as inform USAWC curriculum and research. They not only align USAWC experts and action, they include leaders in academic, military, and other organizations -- with plans for conferences, seminars, and study.

We also continued to execute future-focused wargames, teaming within the USAWC and with other institutions, academia, and think-tanks to conduct them. We recently focused on China, NATO, and Human Elements, where the findings expanded knowledge and informed leaders across a wide spectrum. The Center's new Wargaming, Exercise, and Simulation Support Division is proving to be a great investment, having already developed an automated application to support ISCNEs. Their tool reduced facilitator manpower requirements by half and offers a user-friendly interface for scheduling and communications that has other applications for the College.

Finally, the Concepts and Doctrine Division teamed with the U.S. Army Heritage and Education Center, AWC Foundation, and the USAWC to conduct a "Drawdown" conference. Academics and subject matter experts presented historical reviews of the Army's lessons learned through past drawdowns. They also continued their great concept, doctrine, force-structure, and Army headquarters assessment work.

In closing, the Center's support and technical teams deserve special mention, working with USAWC teammates and inside Collins Hall to handle a lot of events, many simultaneously. As always, these are simply some highlights. Welcome your input...v/r...One Team.

RES Class 1994 Reunion

The 20th reunion for the Class of 1994 at Carlisle Barracks was an outstanding and enjoyable gathering for all. Classmates traveled from as far away as Hawaii (Glen and Gail Sakagawa) and as close as down the road from the back gate (Don and Kathy Kirk). Except for some slight physical “fair wear and tear,” classmates remain as spirited as we remembered. For classmates unable to attend and who have not been back to the Barracks for some time, the “landscape” has changed considerably. For example, the Officer’s Club, kept active and very much alive by our class, became the Letort View Community Center (LVCC) shortly after our departure from Carlisle.

Our first afternoon BBQ Social, planned for the Pavilion behind the LVCC, was moved inside due to inclement weather -- a great decision which enabled us to mingle longer that evening in a more comfortable environment. And true to form, classmates rose to the occasion for a fabulous time rekindling friendships and, in ‘94 tradition, partied until closing time. It brought back memories of great times spent at our social gatherings at the O’ Club!

We kicked off Friday morning with an academically focused “Then and Now” briefing by the Dean, Dr. Richard Lacquement, RES ’09, and a welcome from the Commandant, MG Bill Rapp, RES ’04. The bus windshield tour with added historic overviews of the Barracks by Jim McNally was an eye opener for many. The beloved Smurf Village “mansions” were replaced with all new student quarters which are definitely a step up in “student housing.”

Young Hall looks the same from the outside but inside the renovations and remodeling doubled the living space. There is enough room for a tenant to actually hold a party without guests standing elbow to elbow. There is even a small housing area across the road where our avid class golfers gathered for regular exercise. During the course of telling old stories, we discovered some classmates actually exercised on the golf course twice a day--now how was that possible with such a heavy demanding academic load?

After lunch, we took a nostalgic tour of Root Hall (seminar rooms have changed somewhat), visited the Alumni Gift Shop, and gathered for a reunion photo shown with this article. We held a short Memorial Service including TAPS in the Bliss Hall Foyer for our known deceased classmates: COL Steve P. Ankley; Mr. Thomas (Tom) J. Burton; MG John R. (Russ) Groves; COL J. Benjamin (Ben) Hall; COL Anita W. McMiller; COL Daniel (Dan) A. Merritt; LTC Robert (Bob) E. Morris; MG Jean A. Romney; COL Thomas (Tom) E. White; and Mr. Augustine (Gus) W. Wise.

Friday afternoon concluded with a tour of the Army Heritage and Education Center (AHEC), built about 1/2 mile from the back gate and opened in 2003. It is quite a complex with the Army Heritage Museum (outstanding exhibits), Visitor and Education Center, a one-mile long Army Heritage Trail, the Army Heritage Center Foundation, and the Military History Institute which resided in Upton Hall during our academic year. This site is definitely worth revisiting to spend more time appreciating what the Center has to offer.

The Friday evening Reunion Dinner at the LVCC was outstanding -- mixing, exchanging “tall tales” and partying on. During the dinner, someone in the crowd suggested our next reunion be held in 3 years, not 5. A hand vote confirmed the decision and Mike Gonzales graciously accepted the task of assembling an up-to-date list of classmate contact information--not an easy task by any means. Please assist by sending your contact information to Mike at: michael.r.gonzales@3-towers-consulting.com.

How else to wrap up a reunion but to have a Gettysburg Battlefield Staff Ride complete with tour guide (superbly executed by a recently retired faculty member--COL Greg Cantwell, RES '07 & FAC). Although optional, we did fill a bus. Rumor has it that a golf course exercise session was held concurrently with the Staff Ride to carry on another side of a class tradition.

Thank you to those classmates and spouses who attended to make the 20th a memorable occasion. To those unable to attend, make the 2017 reunion a destination event. We also thank COL (Ret) Ruth Collins and her AWC Foundation/Alumni Staff, USAWC, and Garrison support groups that helped with our reunion. Well done!

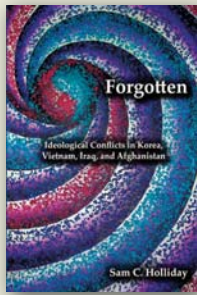

by COL (Ret) Ken Jaccard, Class President

Books by Grads and Faculty

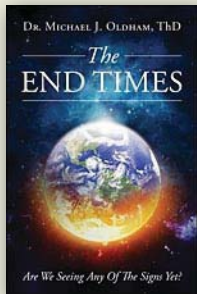

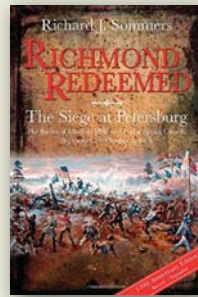

Forgotten: Ideological Conflicts in Korea, Vietnam, Iraq, and Afghanistan by COL (Ret) Sam C. Holliday, RES '67. This book vividly preserves the reality of what took place in Korea and Vietnam and the lessons that should have been learned. It takes you on a trip into the intensity of life close to death, with glimpses of the sublime, strange, and selfless that those who were there can never forget. Through reconstructing and retracing the path of the 29th and 35th Infantry Regiments, Forgotten illustrates why combat camaraderie is the key to success in battle, recognizes the nobility and heroism of those fighters who protect all that we have and cherish, and explains some of the lessons that should have been learned, but were forgotten. The courage, skill, fear, and luck displayed in both the defeats and successes of combat are often ignored or distorted as the media reacts to massive firepower, political arguments, inhumanity, and myths. This book serves as a step on the path of correction.

Richmond Redeemed: The Siege at Petersburg by Dr. Richard J. Sommers, Retired USAWC Historian.

Sommers' 1981 masterpiece has been revised in this Sesquicentennial edition. The original (and long out of print) award-winning edition conveyed an epic narrative of crucial military operations, focusing on Grant's Fifth Offensive (Sept 29-Oct 2, 1864), primarily the Battles of Chaffin's Bluff and Poplar Spring Church. It chronicles opportunities gained and lost, courageous attack and desperate defense, and incredible bravery by Union and Confederate soldiers from 28 states, Maine to Texas. It offers rich analysis of the generalship of Ulysses S. Grant, Robert E. Lee, and their senior subordinates, Benjamin Butler, George G. Meade, Richard S. Ewell, and A. P. Hill. Sommers gained new perspectives and insights over the last 33 years teaching U.S. and allied Armed Forces at USAWC, consulting with fellow Civil War scholars, and addressing audiences across the nation. This edition is modeled for a new generation of readers, Civil War buffs, and scholars, all of whom will benefit from exploring how Richmond was redeemed 150 years ago.

The End Times: Are We Seeing Any Of The Signs Yet? by COL (Ret) Michael J. Oldham, ThD, DCS '86. Most people are interested in what the future holds. They want to know if the world will end some day and if so, when will that happen? Christians and Jews have studied the Old Testament prophets and agree on many of the end times' predictions. Christians have studied the New Testament prophecies and believe that Jesus Christ will return one day to rule the world in peace, and there are many books written about the events leading up to this. Both Testaments predict events that will occur during the end times. Students and scholars alike research to find answers to questions about the end times: What is prophecy? Who were the prophets? How can we believe their prophecies? What are the signs of the end times? What do the terms Pre-Trib, Mid-Trib, and Post-Trib mean? When will the War of Gog and Magog occur? Are world events aligning themselves with the predictions? This book addresses these and many other questions.

Transitions: A Field Guide for Military Professionals and Veterans Seeking Leadership Positions in the Business World by COL (Ret)

Robert R. Ulin, DCS '86. More than one million servicemembers will leave the military and transition into civilian life over the next several years, according to a recent GAO report. Ulin knows that it's hard to make a smooth transition to civilian employment. Geared for veterans age 45 to 55, he wrote this to help you prepare for the job search, sell your skills at interviews, adjust to a culture where leadership is persuasive instead of directive, and leverage your talents to climb the corporate ladder. You'll also get a variety of tools in the appendices, including a transition self-assessment, a transition task list, a job-hunting process for the military mind, and a transition checklist. As a veteran, you know you can see tasks through to completion and exhibit strong leadership skills and professionalism, but it's not always easy to translate these skills. Take the first step in becoming your own commander, and get an action plan to successfully navigate transitions.

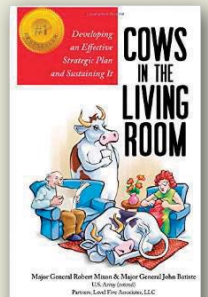

Highland Brigadier by COL (Ret) Abbott A. Brayton, DCS '87. This sequel to Brayton's historical novel Outpost Scotland details many activities of Scotland's North Highland District from June 1941 through August 1942. Newly promoted Acting Brigadier David McKenna slowly gains control of his new responsibilities when he is selected to participate in a Defense Ministry study of possible options for a raid into France. The study soon evolves into the disastrous Dieppe Raid of August 1942 in which McKenna plays a small and unexpected role. Brayton's analysis challenges the Official History justifications for that raid and suggests an underlying strategic objective which sacrificed thousands of Canadian troops to a larger political goal.

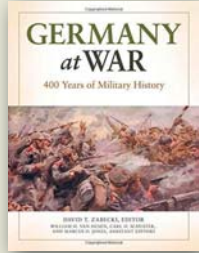

A Field Guide to Gettysburg: Experiencing the Battlefield through Its History, Places, and People by Dr. Carol A. Reardon, former FAC, and COL (Ret) Wm. T. 'Tom' Vossler, RES '89 & former FAC. In this lively guide to the Gettysburg battlefield, Carol Reardon and Tom Vossler invite readers to participate in a tour of this hallowed ground. Ideal for carrying on trips through the park as well as for the armchair historian, this book includes comprehensive maps and deft descriptions of the action that situate visitors in time and place. Crisp narratives introduce key figures and events, and eye-opening vignettes help readers more fully comprehend the import of what happened and why. A wide variety of contemporary and postwar source materials offer colorful stories and present interesting interpretations that have shaped--or reshaped--our understanding of Gettysburg today.

Cows in the Living Room: Developing an Effective Strategic Plan and Sustaining It by MG (Ret) John Batiste, RES '94 and MG (Ret) Robert Nixon. This book contains the proven techniques of these two retired Major Generals of Level Five Associates to develop a clear mission, vision/intent, and values-based strategic plan that your teammates will understand and adopt. This book focuses on building a workable strategy to change your company for good, giving you the right strategic framework. Once adopted, you will see how to identify a plan for nurturing and growing your team throughout all seasons, keeping your business healthy to grow and prosper. You and your team will be much happier, working in a company that knows how to build a professional organization that anticipates and manages change for the better.

Germany at War: 400 Years of Military History by MG (Ret) David T. Zabecki, PhD, DCS '95. Despite having the best military forces in the world, some of the most advanced weapons, and unparalleled tactical proficiency, Germany still lost both World Wars. This landmark, four-volume encyclopedia explores how and why that happened, examining Germany as a military power from the start of the Thirty Years' War in 1618 to the present day. Coverage includes the Federal Republic of Germany, its predecessor states, and the kingdoms and principalities that combined to form Imperial Germany in 1871. The Seven Years' War is discussed, as are the Napoleonic Wars, the Wars of German Unification (including the Franco-Prussian War), WWI, WWII, and the Cold War. In all, more than 1,000 entries illuminate battles, organizations, leaders, armies, weapons, and other aspects of war and military life. This work will enable those interested in military history to better understand the sociopolitical history of Germany, the complex role conflict has played throughout its history, and why Germany continues to be an important player.

Why We Lost: A General's Inside Account of the Iraq and Afghanistan Wars by LTG (Ret) Daniel P. Bolger, PhD, RES '98. Over a 35-year career, Bolger rose through the Infantry, commanding in both theaters of the U.S. campaigns in Iraq and Afghanistan. He participated in meetings with top-level military and civilian players, where strategy was made and managed. At the same time, he regularly carried a rifle alongside rank-and-file soldiers in combat actions. Now, as a witness to all levels of military command, Bolger offers a unique assessment of these wars, from 9/11 to the final withdrawal from the region. Writing with hard-won experience and unflinching honesty, Bolger makes the firm case that in Iraq and in Afghanistan, we lost when we didn't have to. Senior officers did not always offer sound options. Army leaders were not always effective at communicating the limits of military power. Intelligence was garbled. Key decision makers were blinded by spreadsheets or theories. And, at the root of our failure, we never really understood our enemy. Bolger wants the criticisms that he levies at himself and his colleagues to be the basis for serious and forceful corrective action.

UnBreakable: Forging a Marriage of Contentment and Delight by Tim Miltenberger and CH (LTC) Charles M. Causey, DDE '14. This is a unique and powerful resource for couples who want to repair, strengthen, and shock-proof their marriages. The authors bring a remarkable and dynamic combination of experience; both Miltenberger and Causey have served in the military, are actively involved as leaders in the church, and are married with young families of their own. Their approach has already helped hundreds of military couples who live in perhaps the most challenging marriage context today. The authors are passionate about their work with our nation's most-stressed marriages, and they are eager to share this resource with chaplains, counselors, and pastors everywhere.

U.S. Army Heritage and Education Center Update

Among the USAHEC's services provided to patrons is the U.S. Army Military History Institute's (MHI) Oral History Program. Instituted in 1970 by Army Chief of Staff General William Westmoreland, the Senior Officer Oral History Program (SOOHP) focus is on former Army Chiefs of Staff, Vice Chiefs, Combatant Commanders, and principal staff officers, i.e. G-3, G-4, etc. Being biographical in nature, the SOOHP investigates the officer's career from life prior to entering the military to the present, exploring how life experiences shaped their career.

Recently, MHI expanded its reach into deployed commander experiences to include Iraq and Afghanistan, as well as position interviews focused on a specific position held by the interviewee, e.g. BG (Ret) Stanley Cherrie, RES '85, as G-3 for VII Corps during the first Gulf War.

Base questions are outlined by the Center of Military History in addition to being gleaned from the interviewee's official biographical summary and supplemented by questions solicited from those who served with the individual. Currently, interviews are conducted by the MHI Chief, Oral History Branch, and selected USAWC faculty.

A sampling of SOOHP interviews include:

- GEN William C. Westmoreland, FAC '50-'52
- GEN Dennis J. Reimer, RES '79
- GEN Gordon R. Sullivan, RES '78
- GEN John M.D. Shalikashvili, RES '78
- GEN William W. Hartzog, RES '81
- GEN Frederick J. Kroesen, Jr., RES '62
- GEN Robert M. Shoemaker, RES '67
- GEN George A. Joulwan, RES '78
- LTG Henry E. Emerson, RES '65

Also per Army Regulation 870-5, MHI is tasked with the Division Commander Lessons Learned Program, or DCLL. Established to assist incoming division commanders, the program initiates contact with the outgoing commander several months prior to change of command. This program is focused on exploring lessons learned in areas ranging from training, to resources, to repair parts to maintain a garrison, among others, giving the commander a "read ahead" on what to expect upon assuming command. Unlike SOOHP interviews, the DCLL oral histories are viewed only by incumbent division commanders and are not open to the general public.

A display honoring General Bradley at the USAHEC. GEN Bradley was a 1934 graduate of USAWC.

Ms. Gloria J. Ricks, NSS '12, Hearst Media, presented a "swagger stick" with the seal of the Malaysian Armed Forces on it to MG Bill Rapp, RES '04, Commandant, at the conclusion of a Senior Leader Staff Ride on April 29, 2015. She presented this to the College on behalf of the family of COL (Ret) Clarence A. (Willie) Langford, RES '53, who died in 2007. COL Langford was a survivor of Pearl Harbor and veteran of the Pacific Theater. It appears the riding crop was gifted to him by the Malaysian Armed Forces during his time as the Defense Attaché at the American Embassy in Kuala Lumpur around 1966. The College will display this in Root Hall.

26th Annual U.S. Army War College Strategy Conference

Building on last year's immensely successful event, "Balancing the Joint Force to meet Future Security Challenges," the 26th Annual Strategy Conference was held at Carlisle Barracks April 7-9, 2015. USAWC partnered this year with the Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Policy to develop an ambitious three-day program of substantive discussions centered on a single foundational question. Namely, in light of anticipated security conditions and defense demands, what are the most relevant first principles for the next decade's defense strategy and planning? The conference attacked this question from a variety of functional and regional perspectives, featuring a mix of veteran policymakers and military officers, as well as academics and noted defense and security experts.

Keynote Address — "International Security and Future Defense Strategy"
Speaker: The Honorable Robert O. Work, Deputy Secretary of Defense.

"A Prisoner's Dilemma? The Ten Year Defense Outlook" Panelists — Dr. Richard D. Hooker, Jr., Director, INSS; Dr. Kori Schake, Research Fellow, Hoover Institution; Dr. Janine Davidson, Senior Fellow for Defense Policy, Council on Foreign Relations; Dr. Michael Meese, Chief Operating Officer and Secretary, American Armed Forces Mutual Aid Association; Dr. Frank Jones, Professor, USAWC Department of National Security Studies.

This year's topic emerged from clear recognition that the Department of Defense (DoD) is in the midst of an historic transformation of its priorities, missions, and capabilities. Moving from 14 years of persistent war abroad, DoD wrestles with new challenges and new opportunities.

Uncertainty defines the decision space for senior leadership, yet leaders still face unavoidable near- to mid-term choices that will inevitably shape the Department's long-term focus. Among these choices are identifying and prioritizing for analysis major trends in international security, mapping DoD's internal and external challenges, defining the nature and impact of emerging security competitors, and recognizing potential sources of disruptive surprise.

"Synchronizing Strategic Forecasting and Defense Strategy Development"
Speaker: Dr. Gregory Treverton, Chairman, National Intelligence Council.

In addition to our substantial partnership with the Office of the Secretary of Defense, each of our constituent panels had a major partner as well. They included the Center for Strategic and International Studies, National Defense University's Institute for National Strategic Studies, the Center for Naval Analyses, the Atlantic Council, DoD's Near East South Asia Center for Strategic Studies, and the National Intelligence Council.

Noontime Lunch Elective "Homeland Security in the Post-9/11 World"
Panelist: Prof. Bert B. Tussing, DDE '03, and Director, Homeland Defense and Security Issues, USAWC Center for Strategic Leadership and Development.

The event included four major policy-level discussions with senior officials, eight expert panels, and five noontime breakout sessions. Our kick-off keynote speaker was the Deputy Secretary of Defense and, in succession thereafter, we heard from the Chairman of the National Intelligence Council; the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Strategy, Plans, and Capabilities; and a senior civilian representative of the UK Ministry of Defense. All eight panel discussions were issue focused. They included topics such as macro trends effecting DoD decision-making, the ten-year US/allied defense outlook, security competition in the Asia-Pacific region, hybrid state-based threats, Middle East political disorder, strategic surprise, and, finally, first principles and risk. In addition, for the first time in conference history, the event included a student panel on defense risk management as well. Our five breakout sessions covered various functional and regional challenges including challenges in cyberspace and electro-magnetic spectrum, new defense technologies, public health and climate change, homeland security, and African and Latin American security challenges.

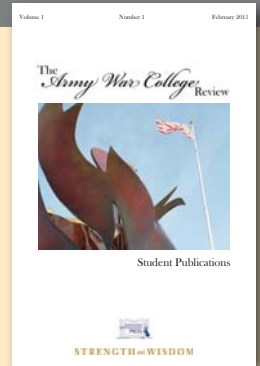

“Strategic Planning Priorities Through 2025” Banquet Speaker: The Honorable Robert Scher, Assistant Secretary of Defense for Strategy, Plans, and Capabilities. Mr. Nate Freier, SSI, (right) facilitated the evening’s events.

A number of invaluable insights are certain to emerge from the event. We are in the process of analyzing conference content to arrive at key conclusions and insights for DoD senior leadership. These insights will be published in early June as a “Memorandum for the Secretary of Defense.”

A full description of the conference agenda can be found at: <http://www.strategicstudiesinstitute.army.mil/conf/agenda.cfm> and videos from most of the proceedings will be posted at the same SSI site.

Check out the new Army War College Review

The Army War College Review is a newly initiated refereed publication of student work produced under the purview of the Strategic Studies Institute and the USAWC. An electronic quarterly, it connects student intellectual work with professionals invested in U.S. national security, Landpower, strategic leadership, global security studies, and the advancement of the profession of arms.

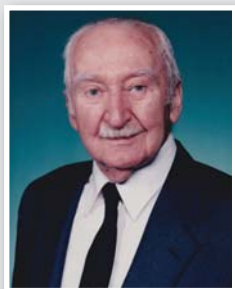

Research articles are selected from among award-winning student papers evaluated by the USAWC Distinguished Academic Chairs as exemplars of student writing or research at the professional graduate level.

Insight articles are written primarily by USAWC Fellows, studying off-site at prestigious institutions. The Student Awards Competition is open to all enrolled Resident Students, Distance Education Students, and USAWC Fellows. The AWC Review is published February, May, August, and November and is available at:

Ceremony in Memory of Dr. Harold C. Deutsch, USAWC FAC '74-'85

On February 23, 2015, COL (Ret) Donald G. Patton, RES '85 & former FAC, presented to the College a framed Michael Gnatek print “Patton at Bastogne” from the Dr. Harold C. Deutsch WWII History Round Table, Edina, Minnesota. The print honors the memory of Dr. “Hal” Deutsch, long-time faculty member at USAWC, who died in 1995. Dr. Deutsch had risen to be Chair of the History Department and Professor Emeritus at the University of Minnesota. He influenced hundreds of students and faculty members throughout his many years of scholarship with USAWC, also holding the Harold K. Johnson Chair of History for at least one year.

Dr. Lance Betros, USAWC Provost, accepts the print “Patton at Bastogne” from COL (Ret) Donald G. Patton, RES '85, representing the Dr. Harold C. Deutsch WWII History Round Table. Dr. Betros praised the contributions of Dr. Deutsch in bringing a higher level of history education to the USAWC curriculum.

100-year ANZAC Day Commemoration

Australia, New Zealand, Turkey, and the United Kingdom were represented by USAWC International Fellows at an ANZAC Day centennial commemoration with their academic colleagues and community friends and families on the steps of the Army War College academic building, Root Hall, at dawn on April 24, 2015.

Australian and New Zealand Army Corps' (ANZAC) actions at Gallipoli in 1915 in the battles to capture Constantinople (now Istanbul) in WWI have inspired an annual commemoration at dawn across those countries, Turkey, and wherever Australian or New Zealand military personnel can gather colleagues in remembrance. The ANZAC story is remarkable. "In nine months, about 58,000 allied soldiers – including 29,000 British and Irish soldiers and 11,000 Australians and New Zealanders lost their lives during the operation to take the Gallipoli peninsula; a further 87,000 Ottoman Turkish troops died fiercely defending their homeland, and at least 300,000 more on both sides were seriously wounded," according to The Guardian's ANZAC Day coverage, April 23, 2015.

The Army War College commemoration included a small assembly in the traditions of a century: the hymn "Abide with me," a prayer, wreath laying, The Ode, The Last Post bugle call, and a moment of silence.

Note: Story and photos courtesy of the USAWC PAO.

Col Christopher Parsons, IF New Zealand, and Col Simon Stuart, IF Australia, RES '15, lay a wreath in remembrance of ANZAC Day. ANZAC Day is a reminder of what and who was lost, and of what was gained, according to them and fellow participants Col Taskin Heken, IF Turkey, and Col Marcus Evans, IF U.K., also RES '15.

COL (Ret) James W. 'Jim' Shufelt, RES '01 & FAC, rendered honors with a bugle made in London in 1916 and carried by a former member of a New Zealand Territorial Army regiment on the Western Front in WWI. That man's grandson, Paul Barton of central Pennsylvania, loaned the bugle for the event, recounting that his grandfather played it every Remembrance Day until his death in the early 1970s.

Col (Ret) James L. Fowler, USMC, DCS '79

COL (Ret) James L. Fowler, USMC, DCS '79, died on January 20, 2015 of heart failure at the age of 84. He was very accomplished on many levels, but he will be long remembered for being a founder of what would become the celebrated Marine Corps Marathon. In the mid-1970s, he developed the proposal for the marathon, noting that marathons have military roots, and would be the kind of event the public would identify with the image of the Marines. With the shadows of Vietnam weighing, he advocated that a marathon could restore the military's image, serve as a recruiting tool for the Corps, and give Marines a chance to qualify for the Boston Marathon. The inaugural event drew 1,175 runners, and we all know how popular and successful it is today. Event officials will limit the 2015 race field to 30,000 participants.

COL Fowler graduated in 1952 from Dartmouth College and received a commission in the Marine Corps Reserve. He served in the Korean War as a rifle platoon leader before pursuing a civilian career initially with the CIA and later at a family furniture business in New York. He remained in the reserve, with periods of active duty, until his 1982 retirement.

Fowler received a law degree from Georgetown University in 1958, a Masters of Business Administration degree from the University of Virginia in 1960, a Masters of Laws degree from Georgetown in 1961, a Masters in Business from Columbia Business School in 1973 and a Masters in History from Georgetown in 1979. A man of many active hobbies, COL Fowler was also a passionate mountaineer, pilot, and skydiver.

COL (Ret) Shirley R. Heinze, RES '69

COL (Ret) Shirley R. Heinze died February 14, 2015 in Houston, TX at the age of 90. She was one of the first two women to attend USAWC. The story in Bettie Morden's book WAC '45-'78, was that the law signed in late '67 had just been changed allowing women to compete for Colonel (O-6) and above, but the Senior Service College board selecting for Academic Year '68-69 had not chosen any women. The Chief of Staff of the Army at the time is reported to have returned the list and asked the board to select one or two qualified women. Shirley Heinze and Frances (Ginny) Chaffin (now Gannon) were selected and both graduated in the Class of 1969.

It is easy for some to take for granted that women now have opportunities to excel in the military. COL Heinze did not come from a military family, but wanted to serve. She entered the U.S. Army in 1951 after graduating from Rice University, and had her student officer training in the Women's Army Corps (WAC) at Ft. Lee, Virginia. In her own words, she described her "pioneer" status this way:

Career Highlights of Colonel Shirley R(owell) Heinze

Native of Houston, Texas...Graduate of Reagan High School, Class of 1941; of Rice Institute, Class of 1944 (graduated in 1945). Twenty years later, under the Army's auspices obtained an MBA degree from Indiana University, graduating with honors.

Entered the Army as a second lieutenant in September 1951. Retired as a colonel thirty years later, end August 1981.

Became somewhat of a "pioneer" for women in the Army:

---Among the few women officers selected to establish a woman officer recruiting program in 1955...wrote the regulations later adopted by Department of the Army.

---The first woman to be assigned to ROTC duty...assigned as Assistant Professor of Military Science & Tactics at Cornell University. (Aug 1956- Sep 1959)

---One of the first two women officers to be assigned to the US Army Vietnam. Most significant achievement was the basic study, design and implementation of the special combat:soldier promotion system adopted by Department of the Army. Also: the establishment of the first WAC Detachment in USARV. (June 1966-Aug 1967)

---One of the first two women to attend the Army War College. Class of 1969.

---Last Chief of the Women's Army Corps Branch, Officer Personnel Directorate. Held the position twice, the last time initiating and completing the integration of women officers into the other branches of the Army, an action which eased (and assured) the elimination of the Women's Army Corps as a separate branch of the Army. (Jun 1972-Sep 1974)

---As Commander, US WAC Center & School, achieved greater emphasis on physical preparedness of enlisted and officers undergoing initial training at Fort McClellan; established the first mandatory weapons training and qualification program for women; assisted the US Military Academy at West Point in the development of programs and plans to facilitate enrollment of women into the Academy. (Sep 1974-June 1976)

---First woman officer to be assigned as Chief of Staff of a "major" Army command...the US Army Recruiting Command. (Jun 1976-Oct 1978)

---First woman to command a Sector of the DOD Military Entrance Processing Command...the envy of male and female peers for being able to have TWO O6-level commands! (As with all Army officers, my two company commands and two O6 commands brought my greatest pleasures and challenges.) (Oct 1978-Sug 1981)

COL Heinze was an incredibly competent officer, a woman of integrity, and a very gracious person. Being a graduate of the Army War College was a source of great pride for her.

Thanks to COL (Ret) Patricia A. Jernigan, RES '84, for helping with this special tribute.

BG (Ret) Frank E. Blazey, Jr., RES '63 is 90 years old and is still in his 100+ year old house, manages to travel, has five great grandchildren, and is active with local organizations.

BG (Ret) James A. Munson, RES '64 is age 90, lives alone in his own house, is still reasonably healthy, mobile, comfortable, closely monitored by family and friends, and always open to visits by old Army friends.

MG (Ret) Clyde W. Spence, Jr., RES '68 sends regards to the staff and faculty and members of the Class of '68 from Williamsburg. He has good memories of his days at USAWC with the Institute of Advanced Studies and the great '68 class.

LTG (Ret) David E. Grange, Jr., RES '70 was inducted in May 2013 into Pennsylvania's Department of Military and Veterans Affairs' Hall of Fame. He was recognized for his 41 years of service and his work with the National Guard's 28th Infantry Division. In May 2014, he received the AUSA First Region's Mary G. Roebing Distinguished Service Award. He is shown here with former Pennsylvania Adjutant General, MG Wesley E. Craig, DCS '93 & former AWCF Trustee.

MG (Ret) Carl H. McNair, Jr., RES '71 & USAWC Outstanding Alum, was recognized January 16, 2015 as a Living Legend of Aviation, the first Army Aviator to be inducted. He is pictured with John Travolta, the "Official Ambassador of Aviation."

COL (Ret) James R. Woodall, RES '72 retired in 1982 after five years as PMS and Commandant of Cadets at Texas A&M University. His second career was in financial services and he retired again in 2005. Since that time, he has spent his time traveling, watching Aggie sports, and writing. His second book, 12 Texas Aggie War Heroes, will be released in late 2015. Jim and his wife Gloria reside in College Station, Texas.

COL (Ret) Charles R. Johnson, RES '74 was named New York's Veteran of the Year during a ceremony in the New York State Military Museum. AUSA and Friends of the Military Museum selected Johnson as New York's Distinguished Veteran of 2014.

COL Ihor Vladimirovich Hordiichuk (aka Igor Godiyichuk), IF Ukraine, RES '09, was severely injured on August 29, 2014 after an intense period of hostilities trying to regain control of an observation point from Russian forces in Eastern Ukraine. That day, artillery and mortar fire suddenly opened and an explosion occurred at the back of the vehicle where Ihor was travelling, causing it to burst into flames. Under such dense enemy fire, Ihor's troops could not get to him initially, and he suffered severe injuries including head injuries and major blood loss. Russian paratroopers captured him and several soldiers, and since he was unconscious and considered near death, he was cast aside. Two days later, a Red Cross vehicle took him to Dnipropetrovsk Regional Clinical Hospital, where he remained in an intensive care neurosurgical department where the Ukrainian neurosurgeons saved him. For his actions and heroism, Ihor received the following awards from the Ukrainian Ministry of Defense:

- Title of Hero of Ukraine with Golden Star decoration bestowed on October 21, 2014, for rare courage and valor demonstrated in support of defense of sovereignty and territorial integrity of Ukraine, loyalty to military oath
- Order of Bohdan Khmelnytskyi of the 3rd degree bestowed on September 8, 2014, for personal courage and valor to support sovereignty and territorial integrity of Ukraine

COL Hordiichuk and his wife, Tatiana being visited by BRIG Don Roach, IF Australia, RES 09, and his wife Sue.

A few months ago, Ihor was moved to Walter Reed Bethesda for continued treatment. He was visited by COL John Burbank and Mr. Kevin Bremer from the IF Office in March 2015. His wife, Tatiana, has been with him constantly and is extremely grateful to the U.S. for all it has done for them. It has been a very difficult time, not only due to Ihor's horrific experiences, but also for all that has been lost in their homeland during the fighting. Ihor wishes to thank all of his 2009 classmates and friends of USAWC who have sent him well wishes and visited him.

ATTENTION to all Graduates

Due to the decision by the Army to stand-down the Army Knowledge Online (AKO) email systems as of June 30, 2015, we are requesting that you provide an updated email address to us as soon as possible. This can be your DoD Enterprise email address, a business email address, or your personal email address. From time to time, we use email to communicate important information regarding graduates and events connected to the Army War College such as the class plaque dedications, reunions, and deaths of classmates, or we may need to reach you if a friend or classmate is looking for you. We also need a good email address for you to transmit your password to our online alumni directory if you do not already have it. We take care not to flood you with superfluous messages and we never give out our email address lists to third parties. We want to make sure that we have a good email address for you. Please send a message to us at alumni@usawc.org from the email account you would like us to use with your full name (if it cannot be determined from the email address itself) and the subject line "Updated Email Address." Thank you so much!

Air, National, Eisenhower, and Army War Colleges compete in Jim Thorpe Sports Days 2015

Opening ceremony was very cold, but spirited. The student athletes were the focus of attention as they paraded Indian Field, named for the sports programs of the Carlisle Indian Industrial School, which produced famous athletes to include but not limited to Olympic decathlete Jim Thorpe.

Bill Gollnick, a member of the Oneida Tribe of Wisconsin Indians, offered unique memories that tied today's athletes to the athletes of a century and more ago at the Carlisle Indian School. Gollnick's grandfather and father-in-law both attended the Carlisle Indian School, which operated at Carlisle from 1879 - 1918; his grandfather was a runner. He described that Native Americans naturally have mixed feelings about the Indian School, but he said they appreciated what the students/future leaders were doing and were going to do. He asked them to think as they compete about all the Native Americans who participated on Indian Field and how it must have resonated for them that they had the ability to engage in team sports.

Air War College took the Commandant's Trophy this year and National War College took second place, with the Army War College third. Thanks to all who made the games competitive and enjoyable, and special thanks to the Jim Thorpe Sports Day Committee at USAWC.
