COMSCENTRE
SIP

WHAT IS COMSCENTRE SIP?

SIP (Session Initiation Protocol) is signalling for voice over data networks.

Comscentre SIP is available over any private network connection and connects directly to your voice equipment.

There is no change for telephone users. Network mangers will benefit from cost savings, greater control and more redundancy and flexibility.

HOW IT WORKS

Comscentre SIP works the same as your legacy ISDN and PSTN services. Comscentre will work with you to connect SIP to your old or new equipment.

WHO NEEDS SIP?

Businesses with multiple branches where voice communications are vital, will benefit from SIP.

ONE TOUCH COMMUNICATIONS

Using the One Touch Control® portal you can see the status of your SIP and data services. One Touch Control® also gives you powerful control over your SIP redundancy and failover options.

On the fly you can determine where voice calls are sent if a branch office goes down. You can even pre-load a detailed template to direct calls to another branch or individual mobile numbers.
