Battier's Journey

Battier Arrives

Battier was specially bred to become a Canine Companions assistance dog. She was born in the home of a volunteer breeder caretaker and nurtured with her five siblings until they were 8 weeks old.

“The effort and science put into breeding is obvious from the start. You can see how smart the puppies are. Even at such an early age the dogs are eager to learn things.”

— Kelley, volunteer breeder caretaker

Battier Socializes

For the next year and a half, Battier was raised by a volunteer puppy raiser who provided a safe home, took her to obedience classes, served up a healthy diet, provided socialization opportunities and gave lots of love.

“We went on so many adventures during our year and a half together, but I knew her journey was just beginning.”

— Laura, volunteer puppy raiser

Battier Excels

Battier arrived back at Canine Companions and began training with professional instructors.

“Battier was always ready and willing to work. Her favorite command was ‘tug.’ She would do it and wiggle her tail the whole time.”

— Maria, Canine Companions apprentice instructor

Battier Serves

Battier graduated as a service dog and now provides greater independence to a person with a disability.

“There are never enough words to express how much Canine Companions service dogs have changed my life and how much they mean to me. These dogs truly create life-changing experiences.”

— Nancy, four-time Canine Companions graduate

A SERVICE DOG IS MORE THAN A VEST™

40 years of enhancing lives and still growing...

As a supporter of Canine Companions for Independence, you have been and continue to be an essential part of a national organization that is the first, largest and leading provider of highly trained assistance dogs for people with physical, cognitive and developmental disabilities. Because of you, we have been able to help those we serve at no cost to them. Your commitment to Canine Companions has enabled us to reach and serve more people than ever before.

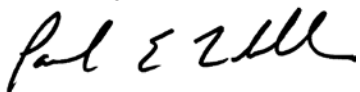

Let us reflect on some of the milestones we've achieved together in 2015:

- A record 309 exceptional dogs were partnered with individuals and facilities serving client groups with special needs nationwide.
- We celebrated the opening of our sixth training center in Texas and added a new region — the first in over 25 years. This also marked the first time that Canine Companions has partnered with a major health care organization. With much gratitude to our friends at Baylor Scott & White Health, we are thrilled to be able to serve more Texas residents and thereby increase our capacity nationwide — together.
- We unveiled the Canine Early Development Center to offer additional professional support to our volunteer breeder caretakers to help get our litters of puppies off to a great start.
- Placements of PTSD service dogs and our work with the Department of Veteran Affairs accelerated.
- It was an active year for advocacy and outreach.

Find details of these and other accomplishments in this report, as well as a glimpse into what your support is making possible in 2016 and beyond. Helping more people in our traditional programs and in new, expanded ways to meet the growing and evolving needs of our applicants is certainly exciting!

As we continue to increase the number and types of placements we make, as we discover new roles for our amazing dogs, and as we broaden our education and advocacy efforts on behalf of those who can benefit from partnership with a Canine Companions dog, we continue to rely on your generous support. Please consider helping us in our expansion efforts.

Sincerely,

Paul Mundell

40 Years and Growing...

With a record-breaking 309 placements in 2015 and nearly 5,000 dogs placed since 1975, Canine Companions continues to expand services to help meet the high demand for our highly trained assistance dogs.

Baylor Scott & White Health (BSWH) was a major contributor to the growth we achieved in 2015. Thanks to over three years of hard work and service-oriented partnership, BSWH helped us complete the first phase of construction for the sixth Canine Companions training center. The new center now includes a training center, six fully accessible dormitories, 24 kennels, a grooming spa and veterinary clinic. After phase two of funding and construction is completed, the new Texas training center will provide Canine Companions with the full capacity to place 60 additional teams each year.

Additionally, BSWH has furthered the expansion of Canine Companions' services by raising funds, increasing awareness, recruiting puppy raisers and significant funding toward the new national breeding program's Canine Early Development Center. This is the first partnership of its kind and we are thankful to be able to help more individuals together.

With over 2,000 teams active currently, Canine Companions is committed to providing quality service to ensure success between our graduates and their assistance dogs for the life of the partnership. To help identify specific impacts Canine Companions assistance dogs have in the lives of people with disabilities, we conducted a survey in 2015. Data collected will help evaluate the needs of our graduates and areas for improvement.

Exceptional Dogs for Exceptional People®

Lizzy and Skilled Companion Kavi

cci.org/skilledcompanions

"Lizzy has Down syndrome, so she always had obstacles," explains Camilla, Lizzy's mom. "But she was able to attend regular school through third grade. She played sports and was in the school play."

That all changed after Lizzy fell off a horse. "She became really ornery and was disruptive during class. She didn't want to play sports and became withdrawn," explains Camilla. "For over a year, I took her to various doctors and I told them something was wrong. Liz wasn't her usual self in so many ways, but the doctors kept telling me she was fine."

It wasn't until Lizzy passed out and was taken to the emergency room, that doctors finally discovered she had broken her neck. It took two surgeries to fuse her first and second cervical vertebrae.

"After the second surgery she had to wear a cervical halo head brace, 24/7 for six months," says Camilla. "It was a difficult and long six months. Liz was dependent on someone to assist her with everything. She became withdrawn and her friendships slowly slipped away."

Then Lizzy received Skilled Companion Kavi, a beautiful Golden Retriever. "Getting her an assistance dog has brought the old Lizzy back!" says Camilla. "Kavi has given her a sense of independence, self-esteem and confidence. I didn't expect all of the benefits! Liz has blossomed and she is the happy, delightful girl I remember before she broke her neck."

Michelle and Hearing Dog Marguerite

cci.org/hearingdogs

Hearing Dog Marguerite could not have come into Michelle's life at a better time. Michelle had just lost her husband to a heart attack two months prior to receiving an invitation to Team Training at Canine Companions to receive a hearing dog.

"Marguerite really helped turn my life around," says Michelle. "I was able to start sleeping again and I didn't miss my neighbors coming by the house to check on me or bring me food."

In fact, it was Michelle's late husband who had initially discovered Canine Companions while he was on a business trip. "He traveled a lot for work. On one trip, he met a Canine Companions hearing dog at the airport," says Michelle. "He learned how a hearing dog could help me when I was by myself. It's a little scary being by yourself when you can't hear."

Michelle's late husband also helped her extensively through the application process, because at the time Michelle was doing her residency and working 100 hours a week to become an oncologist.

"After everything that happened, I didn't even remember I was on the waiting list for a hearing dog until I received my invitation to Team Training," admits Michelle. "My husband had told Canine Companions that a hearing dog would help me when he wasn't around." His words proved to be very true.

Marguerite is older now, but she still loves to go to work with Michelle. "Marguerite has been working in oncology as long as I have!" laughs Michelle. "The trainers did such a good job matching me with Marguerite. She is up for anything! Marguerite absolutely changed my life."

Bruce and Service Dog Takoda

cci.org/servicedogs

“The moment I hit the water, I knew something was wrong. I remember thinking, ‘I just killed myself,’” explained Bruce when recounting the events of his injury that left him paralyzed from the neck down. It was the summer of 1973 and Bruce was 18 years old. He spent the next 13 months in hospitals with eight code blues and one coma. His doctors originally told him he had only 10 to 12 years to live.

Bruce was always a competitive person and quickly realized that he was stronger than the doctors ever thought. But he needed more than just being at home with TV and occasional visits from friends.

In 1988, Bruce’s sister learned about Canine Companions for Independence at a festival. She immediately thought of Bruce and the possibilities a dog might provide for him to further increase his independence. Bruce applied and received his first service dog, Guide, later that year.

“In the beginning I did not realize all the benefits of having such a loyal and giving partner,” remembers Bruce.

Now matched with his third service dog, Takoda, Bruce says, “I couldn’t have found a better partner or friend.” Takoda helps Bruce by picking things up off the floor, pulling items out of his way, or calling for help. “Takoda has given me a sense of security that I didn’t have prior.”

Sarah and Facility Dog Mabel

cci.org/facilitydogs

“Over 80% of the kids we serve are victims of child abuse or neglect,” says Facility Dog Mabel’s handler, Sarah, who is the founder of the Phoenix Center in Texas. “Mabel has had countless, powerful interactions with the kids we serve. She is happiest when she is working. Mabel naturally wants to connect and be with the kids as much as possible. She is a special girl.”

The Phoenix Center provides mental health care for children and families in need. Much of the support Mabel provides occurs during therapy sessions, whether she is providing pressure and sensory input, or encouraging communication and providing comfort.

One child Mabel has helped is an 11-year-old who is on the autism spectrum. “We’ve had Mabel do a modified command, ‘crash,’ which gave Mabel permission to lay and put her full weight across the boy’s lap, when he was upset and unregulated. This created sensory input, and weighted pressure, which helped calm and ground him,” explains Sarah. “His breathing changed and he even said, ‘Mabel is so peaceful and relaxing. I feel so much better and calm.’”

Already in her short time at the Phoenix Center, Mabel has become a favorite among clients, staff and is even a little bit of a celebrity in their small town. Sarah and Mabel graduated together as part of the first Team Training to take place at the new Canine Companions Baylor, Scott & White Health Kinkeade Campus in Irving, Texas. The new training center opened in October 2015. “She has been an invaluable member of the team,” says Sarah.

One Team. Two Heroes.™

Gnome is a Labrador Retriever with an important mission: He makes everyday life easier for a combat-injured veteran. Like all Canine Companions assistance dogs, Gnome was matched with Marine Corps veteran Justin at no cost to Justin, thanks to the support of donors like you.

“We were deployed to Afghanistan,” Justin recalls. “It was a regular day and we were doing a normal mission. I stepped on a pressure plate IED (Improvised Explosive Device). I lost both legs just above the knee and multiple fingers on both hands.”

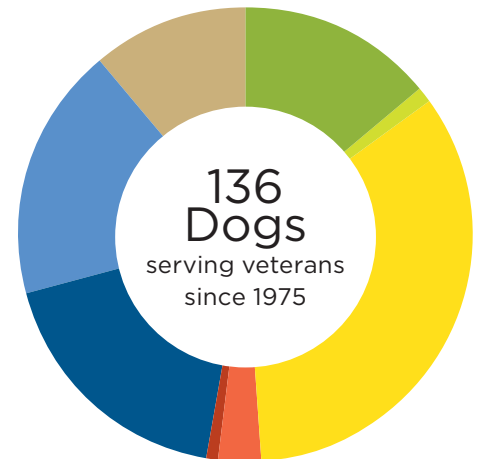

It has been several years since Justin was injured. He spent 13 weeks in the hospital following his injury and he was on a ventilator for 19 days. Last year Justin had surgery on his hand and he hopes it will be his last.

“I haven’t let my injuries slow me down,” says Justin. “I still try to do everything I did before. There’s nothing I can do to change the past. It’s not going to bring my legs back. I’m not going to sit around and mope about it. That’s what Gnome is for — to help me move on and strive to do my best.”

Justin’s rapid recovery and positive attitude are remarkable. Still, he struggles. “It’s hard to balance,” he explains. “These knees (on my prosthetic legs) don’t bend and I have to spread my legs really far to reach the floor. My wrists are really bad. I have arthritis, so putting any pressure down on them is super killer on me. Having Gnome to pick things up saves me a whole lot of pain.”

Gnome provides emotional benefits as well. “When I feel stressed out, I just look at him and start petting him and he makes me feel better,” says Justin. “He’s my best friend.”

Veteran Branches

Veterans with PTSD

We continue to advocate in support of veterans with disabilities in Washington, D.C. and through The Canine Companions Veterans Initiative™

In 2015 we were thrilled to have placed the first group of service dogs for veterans with PTSD as a contractor with the Department of Veteran Affairs and their ongoing study. Through this study, which seeks to evaluate the therapeutic effectiveness of service dogs for veterans with PTSD, Canine Companions hopes the VA will recognize the value service dogs provide to those with PTSD.

Loyal Support

Veterinarian Russ Gurevitch, DVM is considered by many to be as loyal and committed as the dogs he treats. “Russ is willing to do anything for Canine Companions. He does great work and sometimes sings opera during surgery,” laughs Canine Companions Breeding Program Veterinarian Ruth Daniels, DVM. “His skills and knowledge have been invaluable. He is always there to offer his professional advice or a second opinion.”

Russ is a veterinary surgeon, owner and chief of staff of Veterinary Referral Surgical Service in California. Russ has been donating his time and resources to support Canine Companions since 1978; almost the span of our entire 40 year history.

Russ originally got involved as a donor and by volunteering his services. Then he served on the breeding committee and helped with consultations. His involvement grew over the years and he joined the National Board of Directors in 1991.

“The expansion of Canine Companions in the last few years has been astonishing. Obviously in terms of the number of graduates, but also in our efficiency,” says Russ. “We have become more effective than ever in selecting our breeder dogs thanks to Dr. Daniels on the genetics side and CEO Paul Mundell on the research side. It has cut down on a lot of the work I do, because we have few eye, hip and elbow issues.”

Canine Companions continues to advance the health and nutrition of our dogs, and supporters like Russ make that possible. “I work part time now, but because I love what I do, retirement isn’t a consideration,” says Russ. “I could do more surgeries for Canine Companions, but there isn’t much for me to do, since most of the dogs are so healthy!”

In addition to serving on the National Board of Directors, Russ is a member of Canine Companions’ research committee, helping evaluate and select research projects to advance our services as the premier assistance dog organization. He and his wife Terry are also members of the Monthly Miracle Maker program.

Gold Award Puppy Raising

“At first her dad and I were like ‘Yeah right, we’re going to raise a puppy and then give it away,’” explains Teresa, Kelly’s mom. “If not for Kelly encouraging us to approve puppy raising as her project to earn the Girl Scout Gold Award, we would have never done this. It was the best thing we have ever done.”

The Ludovice family returned Nicola III to Canine Companions last year for professional training after loving, socializing and training her for a year and a half.

“What we saw the day we turned her in; it was such an inspiration to attend the graduation and matriculation ceremony,” says Teresa. “Attending the ceremony was the perfect way for a puppy raiser to see what it is going to be like if the puppy you raised graduates. How can you not let that puppy go when you know their potential to help someone?”

“I have disabilities myself,” explains Kelly. “I have a developmental delay and I tend to freak out when it is really loud. I learn at a slower rate than other kids my age, but we were even able to adjust Nicola’s training a bit to work with my disability.”

Kelly’s favorite part of puppy raising was taking Nicola out in public and seeing people’s reactions. She also enjoyed giving presentations about Canine Companions. “It was my passion for assistance dogs that got me through the public speaking. It is something I love to talk about,” says Kelly. “I really like to inform people that Canine Companions gives the dogs for free to people with disabilities and they do a really great job of matching the dogs with the right people.”

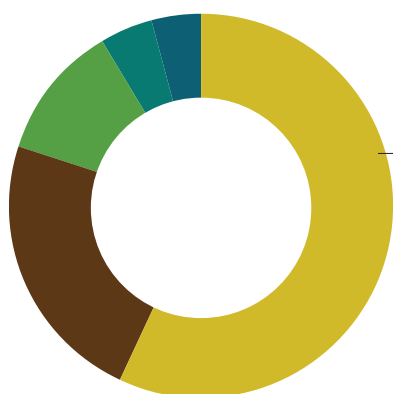

“Kelly had to show leadership to earn her award,” says Teresa. “So she did presentations for six different groups. I was so impressed that an 18-year-old could do public speaking like this in front of kids of all ages and adults. Puppy raising was such a great family experience.”

The Ludovice family said they’d love to raise another puppy if Nicola graduates, but if she doesn’t make it they will keep her as a pet. “So it is a win, win. If she makes it, she gets to do what she was born to do. But if she doesn’t make it, we’ll love to have her as our pet. Maybe she’ll have a change of career; there are lots of nursing homes around here that would love to see her visit,” says Teresa.

Fraudulent Service Dogs

2015 marked an active year for advocacy and outreach on behalf of our graduates and all assistance dog users. Canine Companions graduates told us about their experience with fraudulent, questionable or uncontrolled dogs. The feedback helped us realize how much abuse of public access, which is granted by the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and similar laws, has grown. We will continue to work with and educate our legislators and public officials in 2016 to ensure that all assistance dog users can enjoy the full benefits that working dogs can provide. Canine Early Development Center

Allowing us to better meet the growing demand for our exceptional dogs, the Canine Early Development Center was opened at our headquarters in Santa Rosa, California. This center aims to support our breeder caretakers by offering a state of the art facility, expertly trained staff and around-the-clock care to assist with the birthing and care of the future generation of our working dogs. Since opening in late 2015, we have welcomed 16 litters to date at the center and look forward to many more happy moms and snuggly puppies. The center will enable Canine Companions to better assist our devoted volunteer breeder caretakers and was funded in part by Baylor Scott & White Health.

PUPPY RAISERS

The contributions of over 1,800 volunteer puppy raisers across the country are foundational to our ability to provide Canine Companions assistance dogs and services at no cost to recipients.
