International labour standards

The only tripartite U.N. agency, the ILO brings together governments, employers and workers of 187 member States (including the UK), to set labour standards, develop policies and devise programmes promoting decent work for all women and men.

International labour standards

Numerous ILO Conventions cover international labour standards including:

- Freedom of association and collective bargaining
- Forced labour
- Child labour
- Equality of opportunity and treatment Employment policy and security
- Wages
- Working time
- Occupational safety and health Social security and maternity protection
- Domestic, migrant workers and other categories of workers

Ethical labour standards codes

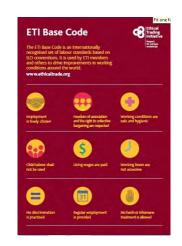

Ethical trading organisations have developed ethical labour standards codes, aligned to ILO Conventions:

- ETI Base Code
- GSCP Reference Code
- SA8000
- Brand/Retailer codes of conduct

Legal vs. ethical requirements

GSCP:

- In all instances, the international labour standard, national and/or local legislation or GSCP reference code requirement which affords the highest level of protection shall apply.
- The provisions of this reference code constitute minimum and not maximum standards

ETI and other codes have equivalent statements

Ethical auditing programmes

SMETA

- Aligned to the ETI Base Code + management systems, entitlement to work, sub-contracting and homeworking
- 2-pillar vs 4-pillar
- Non-compliances, observations and good examples
- Any auditor can deliver, any Brand can request

Fast Forward

DEBENHAMS

NEW LOOK

- Audits are commissioned by the FF Brands only and delivered only by FF trained auditors
- Compliance standards aligned to laws and ETI/GSCP codes
- Pre-audit training, audit and improvement process
- Management systems approach onus on site to prove compliance, not on the auditor to prove non-compliance
- Audit outcomes stranded into 'Under Review', 'Developing', 'Performing', 'Leading'

UK enforcement

- Immigration Act 2016 introduced legislation to improve the effectiveness of the enforcement of certain employment rights to prevent non-compliance and the exploitation of vulnerable workers:
 - New Director of Labour Market Enforcement
 - Extension of Gangmasters and Labour Abuse Authority's remit to deal with labour exploitation across the economy
- Means more intelligence sharing and increasing number of raids

Public-private collaboration

- Apparel and General Merchandise Public / Private Protocol -November 2017
 - We will work together to eradicate slavery and exploitation in the Apparel and General Merchandise supply chain in the UK by:
 - Raising awareness to prevent the exploitation of workers
 - Protecting vulnerable and exploited workers
 - Disrupting exploitative practices and bringing criminals to justice

Exercise

- Discuss in groups:
 - What is your experience of ethical and social compliance and audit programmes?
 - What are the key challenges that you face?
 - What support do you need?

Management systems

Embedding ethical and social compliance in your business

Importance of management systems

- Retailers expect to see that legal and ethical compliance is embedded in your business
- That means you (and your managers/supervisors/workers) understand the standards and there are systems to ensure these are met in your business
- External advice and consultancy is good if robust and helps to improve ongoing management within the business

Legal and international labour standards requirements

1. Eligibility to work

The Immigration, Asylum and Nationality Act 2006

- Employers may be liable for a civil penalty of up to £20,000 per illegal worker employed unless they have met the requirements to demonstrate a statutory excuse. (Section 15)
- There is a criminal offence of knowingly employing an illegal migrant worker (Section 21) with the potential of an unlimited fine and/or prison sentence.

The Immigration Act 2016

- Section 34 creates a new criminal offence of illegal working, punishable by imprisonment for up to six months and/or an unlimited fine. It will enable wages paid to illegal workers to be seized under the Proceeds of Crime Act 2002.
- Section 35 extends the existing criminal offence of knowingly employing an illegal worker to the situation where an employer has "reasonable cause to believe" that an individual is an illegal worker. Maximum sentence for this offence will increase from two to five years' imprisonment.

Establishing the statutory excuse

- You will only have the excuse if you conduct a 3 step process to check and copy specified original documents before the person starts working for you.
- You will not have an excuse if you knowingly employ an illegal migrant worker, regardless of any document checks you undertake.
- OBTAIN
- 2. CHECK
- 3. COPY

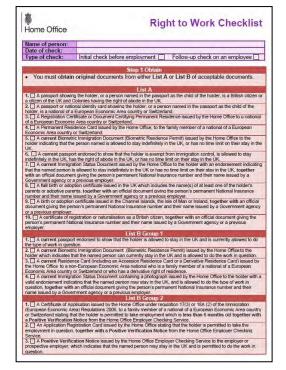

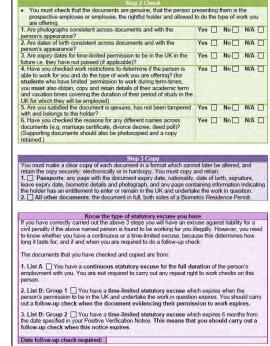

Use the Government checklist!

https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/right-to-work-checklist

Retaining ID Documents

- You should not keep a job applicant's original documents for longer than a day.
- If you deliberately take a person's passport or other original documents belonging to them, or retain these without their consent, then you may be guilty of an offence under the Theft Act 1968, or under section 25(5) of the Identity Cards Act 200
- Copies of the documents should be kept securely for the duration of the individual's employment and for a further two years after their employment has ceased.

Quiz!

- 1. What is the potential civil penalty per illegal worker employed if you have not met the requirements to demonstrate a statutory excuse?
- 2. How long should you keep copies of employees' right to work documents?
- 3. If your prospective employee keeps forgetting to bring in their ID documents can they commence employment?

2. National Minimum Wage

2,500 Leicester textile workers paid half the minimum wage

By I_Griffin | Posted: February 18, 2015

Comments (11)

More than 2,500 Leicester textile workers are paid just £3 per hour – well below the minimum wage - it has been claimed.

A new study has found the majority of the people employed in the city's garment sector earn less than half the legal hourly rate, which is £6.50 for those aged 21 or over.

These employees receive cash-in-hand and do not have employment contracts, meaning they can easily be exploited, according to research led by the University of Leicester.

The report said the majority of the employees were women, who suffered bullying, verbal abuse and threats in the workplace.

National Minimum Wage Law - Penalties

- HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC) officers have the right to carry out payment records checks at any time especially following a worker's complaint.
