

Virtual IT Director Overview

Why a growing business needs a Virtual IT Director?

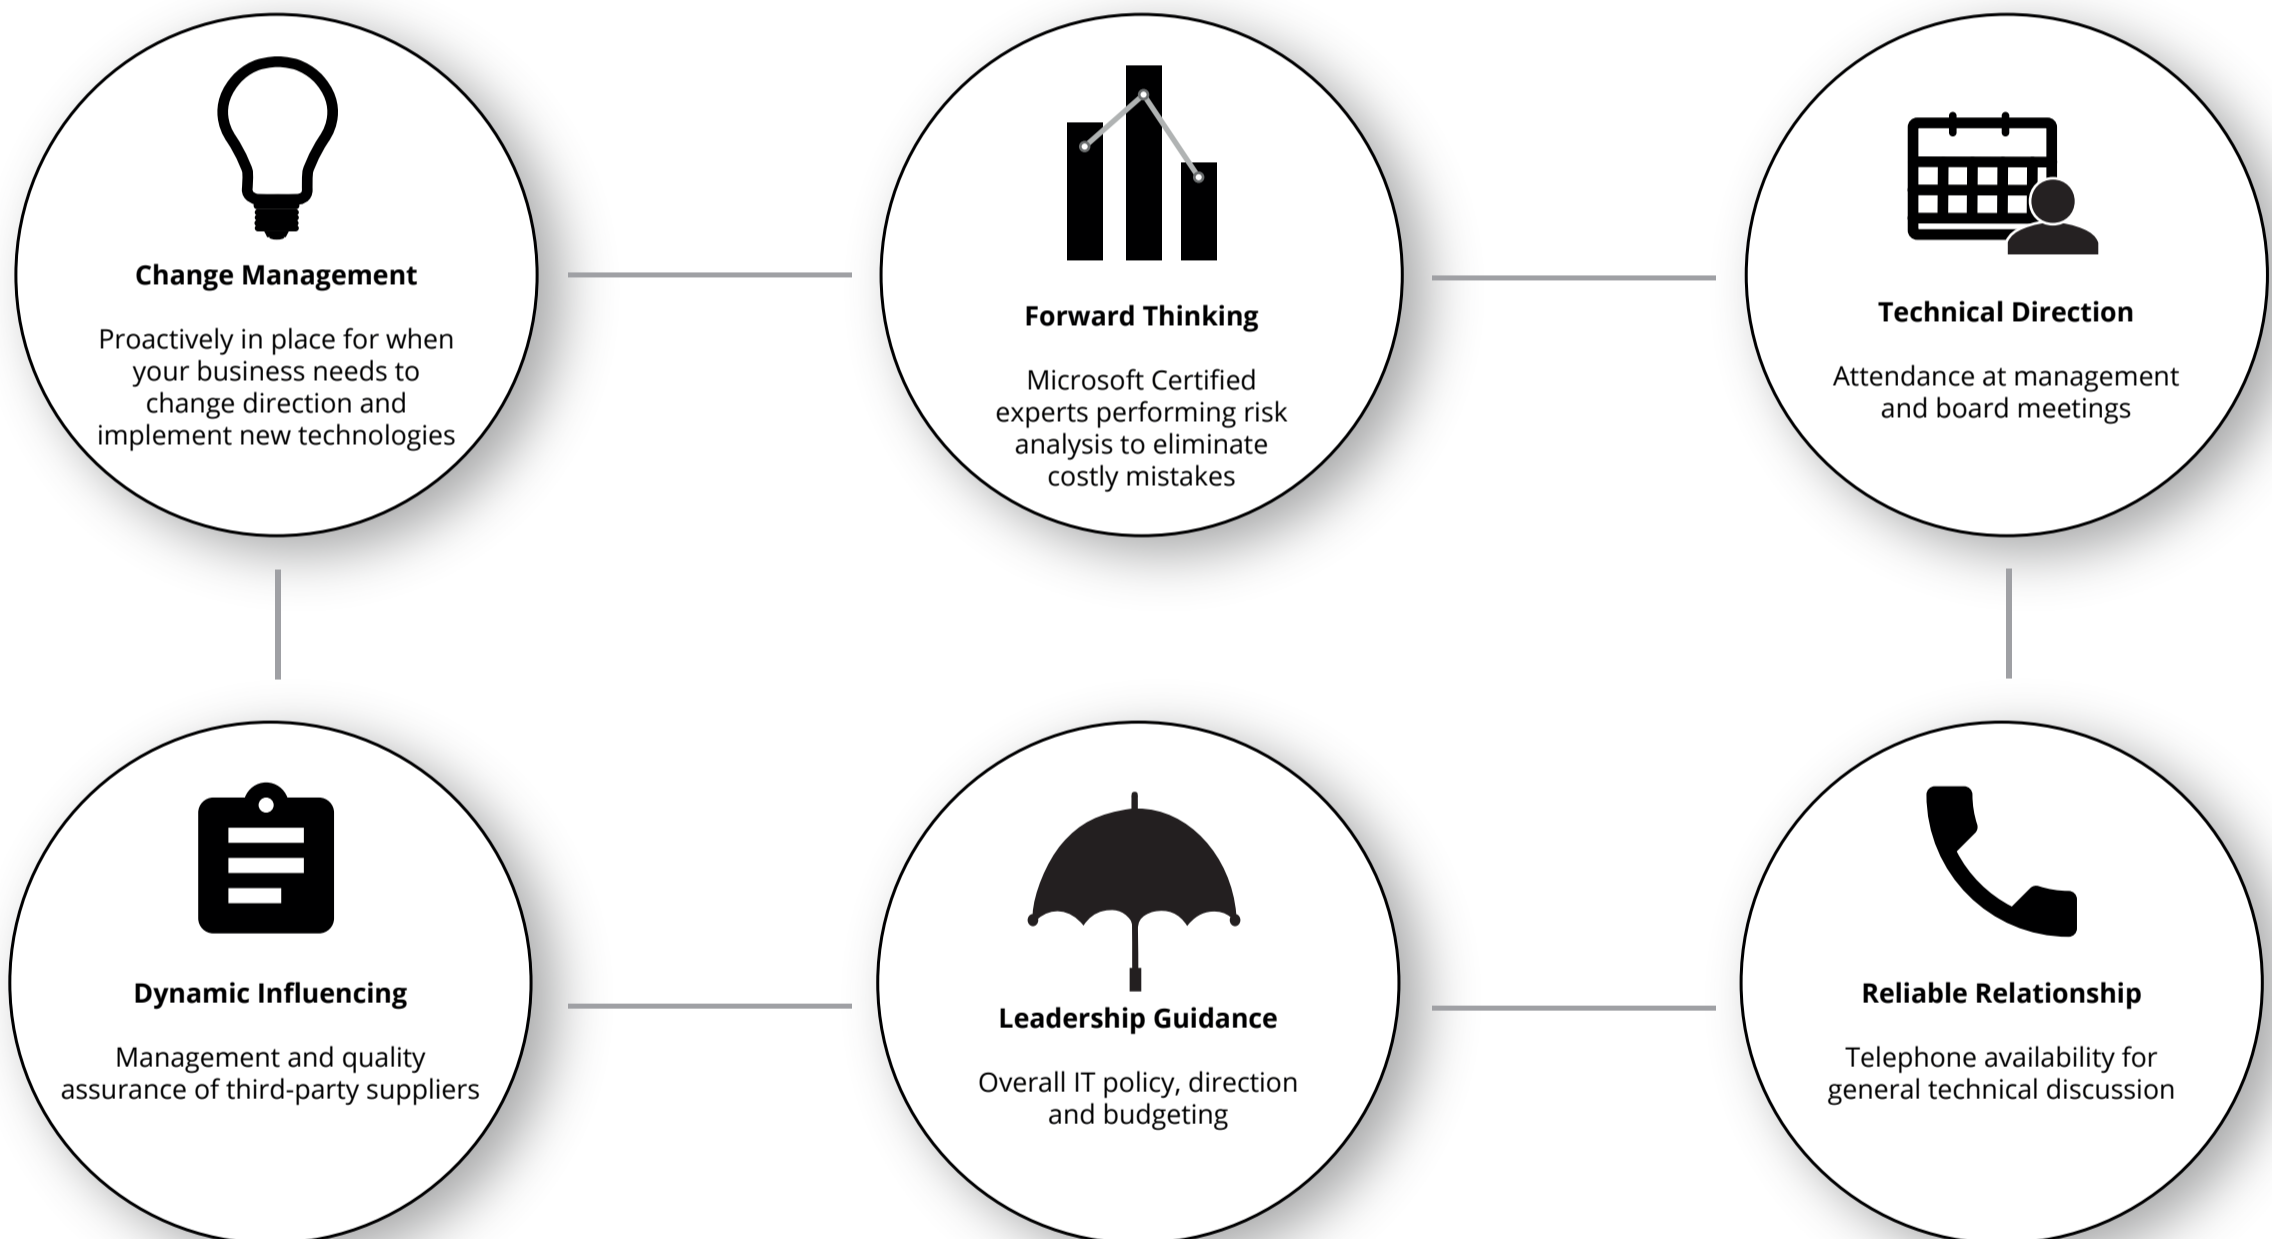

Typically, smaller companies do not have the benefit of a senior level representative with a portfolio of commercial, leadership and technology skills to drive IT. Primarily, this is often due to the cost of employing such an individual and the business requirements not necessitating a full-time position. At Peach Technologies we supply you with a Virtual IT Director (VID) as an ideal solution.

Whether you're an ambitious start-up, SME or commercial enterprise, our VID service will help. With proven skills across a wide range of sectors, we have the experience to design and implement the services, solutions and strategy to deliver a wide range of business goals.

Regular audit performance reports and asset registry

We review your IT and IT Security Policies whilst proactively implementing IT changes to bring your organisation in line with best practices.

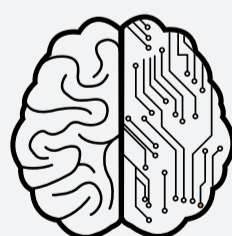

What we do

We will discuss visions for technology in your business and overall goals. We will then put in place a Virtual IT Director to develop, deliver and guide your IT strategy to its objectives.

Customers can expect to see:
