Fingers crossed you don't, but if you did ever find yourself with a medical problem, either inside an airport or in flight, you'll be in very safe hands.

Beauty and Cosmetics

One of our local beauty treatment customers is Manchester's premier specialist in laser tattoo and hair removal.

From dressings and wipes to Sterofreeze instant ice packs, all help minimise patient discomfort. We also supply many companies in other areas of the beauty industry, from sterile wipes for acupuncture to Sterocrepe bandages used for mud wrap treatments.

Dentistry

You may be surprised to know that Steroplast works closely with many dental practices – we offer a wide range of products that help with infection control, vital to the protection of patients and staff.

Our offering in this area is influenced by insights provided by Dr Ben Atkins, owner of Revive Dental Care and Trustee of the Oral Health Foundation Charity. Ben wrote an informative piece about infection control practices in dentistry, published in Dental Nursing (read it on our website), and we have worked closely with him to establish the most important products for practices.

GPs and Medical

We also supply to GP and Medical Centres. As these become more independent, and responsible for their own finances, they have to be certain they are using proven, hospital-quality products in their surgeries – without overspending on their budgets. This is where Steroplast can help. We can provide them with all their medical consumables and disposables, to infection control products, stethoscopes, blood pressure monitors and much much more – all of the very highest quality, and at the most competitive prices.

Offshore

Many large offshore companies take a full range of our medical and first-aid products. Due to the nature of their environment and the potentially dangerous working conditions, it's important that they are well prepared. From airway management, diagnostics, patient handling and emergency first aid equipment are all readily available to cover every eventuality.

Opticians

We are very proud to be the suppliers of a wide range of infection control products to some of the UK's largest optician groups. Our products are there to minimise the risk of infections, caused by the spread of germs, and bacteria.

By keeping their environment clean, through constant disinfection of surfaces, equipment and tools, the possibility of cross-contamination is virtually eradicated.

Location Medical and Events

This industry is serviced by companies who specialise in providing emergency medical cover for film and TV productions, and other large-scale events. These companies supply the medical staff and equipment required to comply with health and safety regulations, both on location and in the studio. To provide this service, they need to be fully equipped with ambulances which meet NHS specifications, advanced life support and paramedic equipment, and a full range of appropriate medicines and drugs. Many of these companies turn to Steroplast to help them meet their needs.
