

Leased Line

A slow, patchy Internet connection can prove costly to any business that uses email, Cloud telephony and browser-based applications on a daily basis. A dedicated leased line provides high speed, robust and reliable business Internet.

A common issue with a shared or 'contended' Internet connections is slower speeds at peak times. In contrast, a leased line provides a consistent, reliable high-speed service at all times. Leased lines also offer much faster upload speeds, which is important if your business uses online backup, file transfer and remote working.
