ENHANCED HYGIENE AND INFECTION CONTROL

Anti-bacterial activity

- According to ISO 22196, selected Gerflor floor coverings inhibits the growth of bacteria (E.coli - S.aureus - MRSA).

Anti-bacterial Handrails

- Research has shown that 75-90% of all hospital acquired infections are passed on by hand borne transmission. The majority of contamination collects at the junctions between handrail profiles and their finishing accessories. To avoid contamination, SPM handrails are fitted with a bactericidal joint.

Seamless construction

- Gerflor floor coverings and wall protection panels are welded together to provide perfect air tightness for greater hygiene.
- Hot welded for a perfect watertightness.

Full coving system for a better hygiene

- The coving system makes it easier to clean inside angles and edges. It gives a waterproof connection wall/floor covering.

Patrick Michael Associates Analysis

"Patrick Michael Associates (a Life Cycle Cost consultancy), has carried out a comprehensive analysis on flooring products in the healthcare sector. It shows the preferred choice should always be the one which produces the lowest whole life cost. Previously the capital cost was seen as the key driver but now the emphasis is on the long term costs of owning the asset. This emphasizes the fact that Gerflor floors are the preferred choice thanks to their patented surface treatments which guarantee very low maintenance."
