BDS was founded in 2009 by a chartered civil and structural engineer called Jamie Burgess on the basis of:

“Structural designs made simple”

Many of these designs are sustainable and stood the test of time on these principals.

This versatile practice design many structures. Support is given throughout every stage from inception through to transferability of ownership and well beyond construction.

BDS offers modern designs which are tailored to each client’s requirements.

The director is well known throughout Yorkshire for providing quality and cost effective design with his twenty years experience within the industry.

We resource every project with our: supply chain and fully trained staff.
