COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

5-day: Students begin the week by steam bending ash to make arm/bow/crest/rockers. Next, the spindles are shaved by hand from green ash using hand tools. Strategies for turning sets of legs are demonstrated before shaping the seat with adze, travisher, spokehave, rasp and other tools. Holes are drilled at compound angles and the chair is assembled. Alternative finishing strategies are discussed and the course finishes are around 4.00 pm on Friday.

2-day: Students turn their own legs and carve the seat with hand tools on Saturday; and then assemble the stool and apply a simple finish on Sunday.

James Mursell is a full-time Windsor chair maker and teacher. He set up The Windsor Workshop in 2004 to offer chair making courses. He also makes and sells specialist chair making tools, has written for many woodworking magazines and has written a book - Windsor Chairmaking.

He was a tutor at West Dean College for 12 years. His workshop is based on his farm, with views across the fields to the South Downs, just 4 miles away.

COURSE DATES 2019

WHAT CAN I MAKE?

Stool

2-DAYS: Over a weekend you can make an attractive and comfortable 4-legged stool. Being the same height as a normal chair, it will be useful anywhere in the house. This course is a great introduction to Windsor chair making and students gain experience in many techniques such as turning, shaping, drilling and finishing.

5-DAYS: If you are coming to the Windsor Workshop for your first 5-day course, you have a choice of 5 chairs: Classic; , Rocker, Low-back, Ergo and Continuous-arm.

Making these traditional and modern designs involves all the fundamental chair making techniques and includes the use of green wood. Most of the work is done with hand tools using traditional techniques that were developed in the 18th century. Great emphasis is put on creating an elegant, attractive and comfortable chair.

Returning students can make a different armchair, the Full-English double bow, or the settee. Other options exist and these can be seen during the first course.
