

YOUR IT PARTNERS FOR PROFESSIONAL SERVICES

Very few professional service firms are identical. Nonetheless, companies in this sector do have one thing in common: the need for a top IT service. But what does that look like?

Accountants, solicitors, will writers and other professional services all rely on effective communication with clients, fluid workflow management and robust cybersecurity measures. Linten Technologies understand the challenges professional service providers face, and can tailor our IT solutions to your specific needs and goals.

Communications

Reliable IT and telecoms are critical to effective communication and client relationship management. When these systems fail, it can impact your operations and reputation.

Linten offer services designed specifically to enhance your communications, with solutions such as hosted emails, VoIP, managed broadband and more. In doing so, we ensure your clients are never left hanging on the telephone.

Workflow Management

The way we work is changing. Technology can help you and your team take a more flexible approach to workflow management, if you know how.

From virtual desktops to advanced diary management, we provide secure, convenient solutions that streamline your workflow and enable you to stay connected to the office wherever you are in the world.

Security

You're likely to have a database packed full of client information. As soon as this data is logged, you have a responsibility to keep it completely safe and secure.

That's where Linten come in. We provide advanced security solutions that put your data under lock and key and prevent it from falling into the wrong hands, as well as backup to give you a robust disaster recovery plan.

Support

We know that time is money in the professional services industry. Every minute wasted on problems with technology is ultimately money down the drain for your organisation.

Not only do we provide a rapid response for any issues that occur with your systems; we also take a proactive approach to IT support, ensuring you always have the best tools at your disposal to avoid these problems in the first place.

Linten take the time to understand your sector and all the challenges within it. To discover how we can help you harness technology, get in touch with our team on 0161 503 5050 today.
