Who we are

The Natural Choice...

JRC specialise in sourcing & delivering slates from around the globe. Being a highly experienced and established name within the roofing industry, you can be certain of reliability and quality.

...for Natural Slate

Natural slate is a hard wearing attractive, natural product which is an excellent choice for roofing. A well fitted slate roof will usually outlive the rest of a building, giving clear advantages over alternative materials such as manmade tiles.

Manufacturing Excellence

With our slates being sourced from some of the most illustrious quarries, you can be sure of the quality of the slates we provide. This applies to the products themselves as well as the processes and the skilled workmanship involved, giving you the perfect finishing touch to your build.

From the quarry through to installation, we ensure that the slates we provide get to you in the best condition through our trusted network of contacts. This gives great results which can be passed on to the customer, increasing reputations and delivering results.

As a well-established name within the roofing industry, we can reliably supply quality roofing slate across the UK

Our Brands - Venta

Delivery to the site was simple and our roofer found the Venta tiles very easy to work with. More importantly our client loved the finished roof.”

Working Partner

As specialist suppliers of slate roofing to merchants, we can assist you on all aspects of your slate roofing build. Whether it's deciding which slates to use, calculating the amount needed or answering any other questions regarding slate roofing, we can help.

We have a true passion for slate as a beautiful, natural roofing covering. Its superb performance, paired with its low environmental impact, make slate tiles an excellent choice for virtually any modern application.

From small orders to large-scale requirements, JRC Slate has the ability to source and distribute the ideal amount of product to suit your project. Sourcing slate from the UK and Spain also greatly reduces our carbon footprint compared to imports from China and other distant countries.

JRC's team has a network of contacts throughout the roofing industry. This wealth of knowledge enables us to understand the pressures contractors and other tradespeople experience.

We know that lead times and deliveries are important to your clients and the timely completion of your projects. As such, we're on hand to provide specialist technical support from initial enquiry through to final shipment.

We can help you with a range of information which can aid you and your clients. From information on environmental impact through to working out the quantity of slate needed, we can help. The technical area on our website includes data on:

- CAD drawings and designs
- CE & Certifications
- Specifications & Guarantees
- Testing requirements
- Carbon emission information
- Low pitch roofing solutions
- COSHH information for slates
- Technical standards
- Natural slate benefits
- Terminology information

Being experts in our field, we can provide all the technical help and information for your natural slate requirements.

Quality Control

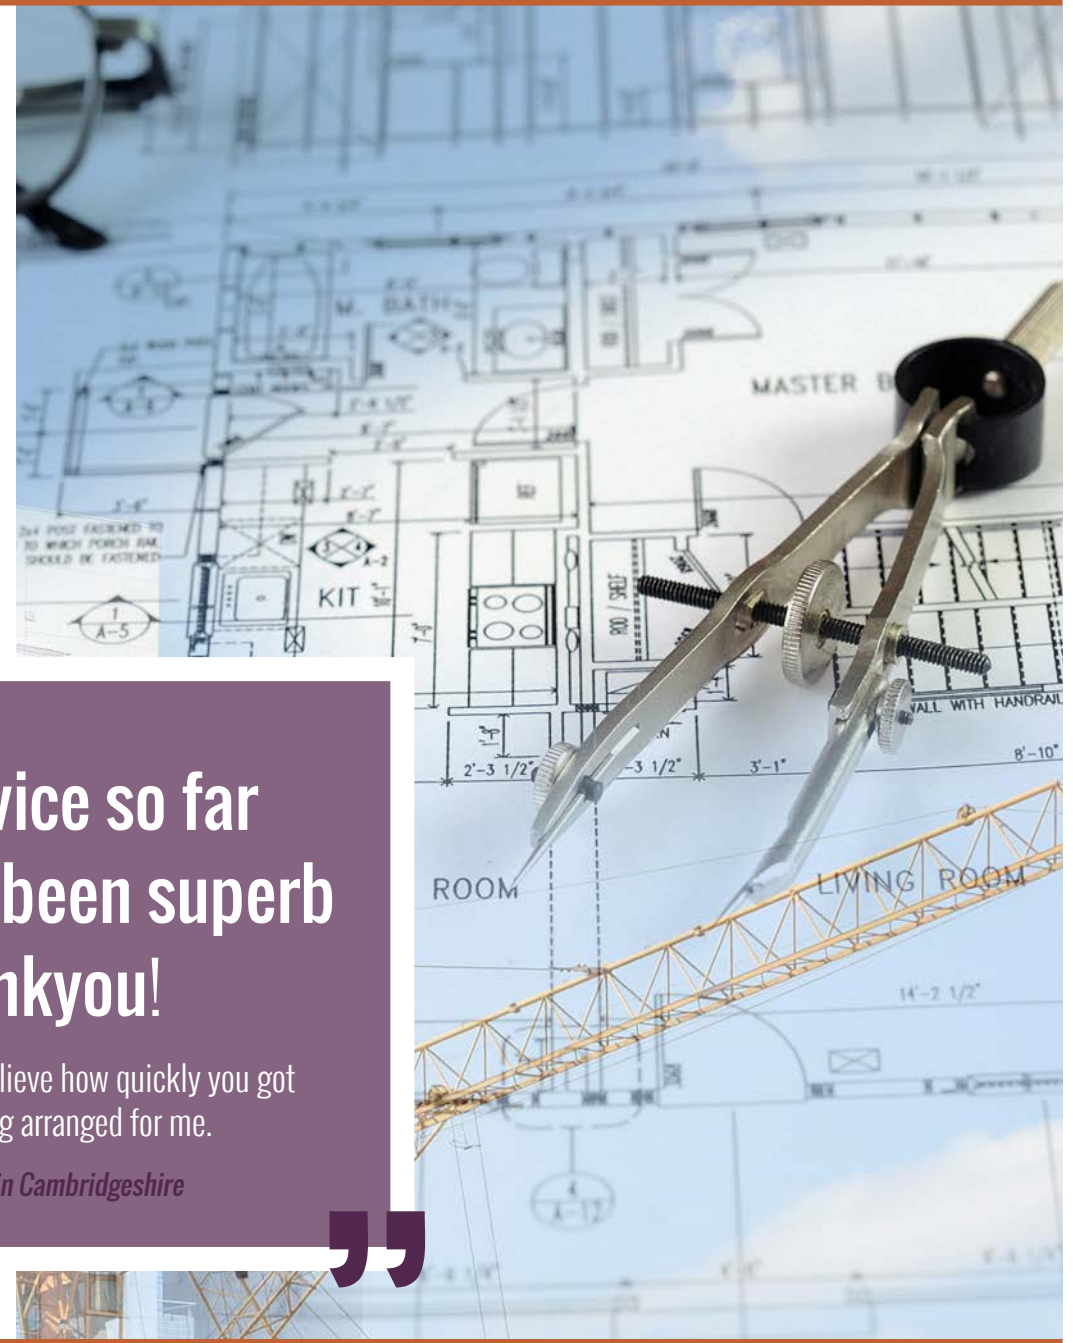

We always ensure that the slates we source meet all applicable standards - often going above and beyond these specifications, giving great results and peace of mind. All of our slates are covered by a quarry backed guarantee and are subject to our terms and conditions of sale. The quarries we source our slates from are amongst the most prestigious in the world, with highly skilled and experienced workers creating the finest products.

Water Resistance & Performance

Weather resistance is an incredibly important factor for roofing in the UK, with many Northern and Westerly areas needing increased protection. Thermal performance is an important factor too, with economic and environmental factors encouraging efficiency. Quality slates from JRC can help on both these counts and give substantial performance improvements compared to alternative roofing materials.

Service & Delivery

We take our customer service and delivery standards very seriously. Each order is always fulfilled to the best of our ability and the JRC team treats each client with the respect they deserve. When it comes to the delivery of product, we also try to be as flexible and spend as little time on-site as possible. This way, our deliveries won't disrupt the project's progress and roofing work can continue without delay.

“ Service so far has been superb Thankyou! I can't believe how quickly you got everything arranged for me. ”
Company in Cambridgeshire

When working with slates, strict standards and procedures must be adhered to, ensuring that the end result is of the best quality and that constructs meet safety regulations.

Benefits

Natural slate has a wide range of benefits over natural and man-made products. Alternative products deteriorate much quicker than slate and are inferior in almost every way. The main benefits of choosing natural slate for your roofing material include:

- Aesthetically pleasing finish
- Incredible longevity and durability
- Minimal maintenance costs when professionally fitted
- Increased home value
- Natural resistance to fire and weather
- Low environmental impact

These are just a few advantages to using natural slates. For more information on the benefits and specifications, feel free to visit our website or get in touch with us.
