

Safeguarding and Child Protection at Rosebery School

Rosebery School's Child Protection and Safeguarding Policy can be read in full on the school's website.

In summary it states that the school has a legal duty to:

- safeguard and promote the welfare of children
- work together with other agencies to ensure that there are adequate arrangements within our school to identify, assess, and support those children who are suffering harm

The school will ensure that all staff who have access to children have been checked as to their suitability. This includes verification of their identity, qualifications, employment history and a satisfactory Enhanced DBS check (according to guidance). A single central record is kept for audit.

School staff will receive the statutory training on Child Protection and regular updates will be part of the school's programme of In Service Training (INSET)

The school will always try to share its intention to refer a child to Social Care with parents/carers unless to do so could put the child at greater risk of harm, or impede a criminal investigation. If in doubt, it will consult with an Assistant Team Manager at the Contact Centre Children's Team on this point.

The school strives to ensure a caring, safe and positive environment within the school. Students' fears and worries will be taken seriously if they report concerns to staff.

The school liaises and works together with all other support services and those agencies involved in the safeguarding of children. The school will notify Social Care as soon as there is a significant concern, or seek their advice if in doubt.

Staff are not responsible for identifying abuse, simply for reporting concerns. Parents should be assured that acting on a concern does not mean that staff either believe or do not believe the student. Seeking advice or referring a concern is not a judgement on parenting or a signal that abuse has occurred. All staff are aware that they can never promise confidentiality to a student, particularly with regard to information which might compromise the child's safety or wellbeing

The school provides numerous opportunities across the curriculum, particularly in PSHCE, for students to develop the skills and attitudes they need to stay safe from harm and know to whom they should turn if they need help.

All visitors to the school, including parents, are required to report to Reception, sign in and collect a visitor's badge before they go anywhere else on the school site. (This does not include attendance at school functions such as Parents' Evenings.)

Parents are not permitted to drive on to the school site to drop off or pick up students at the beginning/end of the school day unless there are medical/mobility issues.
