AWARD CATEGORIES

The Employer Award

This award seeks to acknowledge and celebrate an exceptional employer who is committed to their employees delivering an excellent service to their customers, people with learning disabilities or people with autism and their families. Employers should be able to provide considerable acumen and entrepreneurial flair whilst at the same time having a sustained track record of delivering high quality care and managing change improvement.

Employer of People with a Disability Award

This award will be presented to an organisation who employs and supports a person with learning disability or autism. We are looking for a business or charity that demonstrates true values of respect, equality and accessibility for their employees who have a learning disability and/or autism. The employer does not have to be a social care provider.

The Newcomer Award

This award seeks to acknowledge and celebrate the achievements of a new member of staff who has started work in the care sector in the last 12 months. The individual can be someone who is new to the sector or returning after at least two years away.

The Support Worker Award

This award recognises the crucial role of the support worker in providing high quality support for people with a learning disability and/or autism. Evidence of commitment to person centred approaches, supporting people with dignity and respect alongside dedication, team working and good humour will be important features for the judges. This category is open to personal assistants, carers and support workers.

The Manager Award

Managers set the tone and the culture of a service. The award will celebrate a manager who has demonstrated a high level of expertise, exceptional skills in leadership and management, great support for colleagues and a positive commitment to person centred support. A manager who shows vision in developing high quality services and supporting staff to meet the ever changing needs of the people they support.

The Learning Disability Nurse Award

This award acknowledges the important role that specialist nurses have in promoting the emotional, physical and psychological health of the people who they support. At a time when there is growing evidence that people who have a learning disability experience discrimination, bullying, hate crime and poor access to services in general terms as well as healthcare the role of specialist professionals has never been more important.

The Making a Difference Award

We are looking for the provider or person, who has promoted inclusion and community cohesion through their work or role in the community – particularly where this has helped make a positive change happen in people's lives. This person or team may have a learning disability or be working in the field of learning disability. We are looking for an outstanding person who works creatively and passionately to ensure people with a learning disability have equal access and involvement in their community.

The Trainer Award

This award will acknowledge the importance of trainers in ensuring that staff are equipped with the skills and knowledge needed to provide really good support. We are looking for a person who has shown incredible enthusiasm and determination in identifying and meeting the training needs of staff and an ability to enthuse and energise a team. We welcome nominations from organisations/teams that are run by people with a learning disability and/or family carers.

The Award for Outstanding Contribution

This award will be presented to an individual who the judges think has made a long-term outstanding contribution to the lives of people with a learning disability and/or autism. Nominations are welcomed from across the health and social care sector.

The Supported Housing Award

This award will be given to a housing provider, RSL or a housing and information advice organisation that works with people with a learning disability and people with autism. The award seeks to celebrate innovative approaches and good practice to deliver a range of housing options.

The Breaking Down Barriers Award

We like it when we can see good access and easy read, as it helps to include all and encourages everyone to communicate more clearly and get around more easily. The award will celebrate an individual or organisation who have worked to make sure people get clear information and are able to contribute their views and experiences.

The Sporting Chance Award

Sport is an area where people with disabilities can be seen as achievers and winners, and participation in sport or physical activities can improve people's health and wellbeing. We are looking for a person or team who have worked creatively to develop sporting activities in which people with learning disabilities and/or autism can choose to participate and enjoy.

The Supporting Older People with Learning Disabilities Award

Let's celebrate excellence in supporting older people with a learning disability or autism. The judges are looking for evidence from providers and individuals who are positive about older people, provide excellent person centred support, promoting independence, dignity and respect.

The Great Autism Practice Award

The overriding goal of good autism practice is to enhance quality of life for individuals, families and supporters by making reasonable adjustments or providing support developing strategies to increase happiness and wellbeing in people with autism. This award will be presented to a team or individual who demonstrate evidence of good practice in their services and support to people with autism.

The People's Award

This award will be presented to an individual or team of people with autism or a learning disability. We want to celebrate individuals or organisations who offer exceptional encouragement and support for individuals with learning disabilities and/or autism in providing support services and/or personal development and inclusion.

The Positive Behaviour Support Award

The overriding goal of positive behaviour support is to enhance quality of life for individuals and their support providers. This award will be presented to a team, or individual who demonstrate evidence of best practice in their services. The judges are looking for outcome based approaches that blend values about the rights of people with disabilities with evidence based practice about how behaviour change occurs.

The Supporting People with Profound and Multiple Learning Disabilities Award

Many people with profound and multiple learning disabilities face disproportionate challenges in life. But with person-centred, collaborative and creative support, people with PMLD can lead a full, healthy and active life and be active citizens in their community. This award celebrates innovative and inspiring practice that achieves positive outcomes for people with PMLD. The judges are looking for evidence from social care providers/education centres, teams/individuals who are having a profound impact on the lives of people with PMLD.
