- Icebreakers

Why SafetySmart?

Since the introduction of The Health and Safety at Work Act 1974, Health and Safety is now part of our everyday working life and is sometimes frowned upon as 'Boring' see for yourself, put it to the test, ask five members of staff for an honest opinion, find out their views and see what they say!

Adults do enjoy learning when it is perceived as fun. SafetySmart inspires learning, bringing a non-threatening, playful, yet competitive learning environment. When played in teams people learn together, this promotes discussion, collaboration, and communication, in fact it does far more!

Many companies have long recognised the link between productivity and a fun work environment. The format of play can make the training environment more productive and pleasurable.

SafetySmart brings:

- Greater workplace morale
- Encourages teamwork
- Triggers creativity and innovation
- A new approach to solving problems
- Help promotes cooperation and communication
- Three-dimensional learning
- Positive reinforcement
- Critical thinking skills, creativity, teamwork, vastly improves communication skills

Decisions are made together as a team, so as a team we 'learn' from our mistakes and experiences, hence no individual is singled out, in turn this promotes "Effective Learning"

Our Objectives:

- Help sustain and support Health and Safety in the Work Place.
- Bring a new and pro-active approach to Health and Safety.

Our Aims:

- Promote behaviour that supports a positive Safety Culture
- Change concept and attitude towards Health and Safety, triggering thoughts and positive views.
- Remove barriers and open minds towards Health and Safety.
