The Transported Asset Protection Association (TAPA) is a groundbreaking network that brings together international suppliers, distribution companies, freight carriers, law enforcement agencies and other investors with a shared goal of reducing global supply chains failures.

Trucking Security Requirements (TSR) security practitioners in the high-tech industry have been developed to tackle the complexity of high-tech goods and materials being shipped by road The TSR sets the minimum appropriate safety standards for items moving across the supply chain and the procedures to be used to enforce those standards.

With years of dedication, hard work, perseverance and gratified clients, FET Logistics is honored to be certified with Level 3 TSR by The Transported Asset Protection Association (TAPA)

Good Distribution Practices (GDP) is a professional program devoted to drugs for pharmacy and distribution centers. Internationally accepted guidelines on pharmaceutical GDP allow pharmaceutical producers to conform their practices to the criteria.

FET Logistics delivers standard that deserve your trust. We consider it a must to control our part of the supply chain. Together with our GDP certified fleet, we are committed to ensuring the integrity of your pharmaceuticals throughout the journey. After all, patients' safety is what matters when transporting high value and time and temperature sensitive shipments.
