o'r dydd hwn ymlaen;

An exceptional location for weddings, civil partnerships and receptions....

The story of Aberglasney's history spans many centuries and yet the origins of the Mansion House remain shrouded in mystery. This beautiful building now offers a number of elegant adjoining rooms in which to be married, including the impressive main hall and our award winning indoor garden the 'Ninfarium.' With the exception of the 'Ninfarium' all of the Mansion House's ground floor rooms are also available for drinks receptions, wedding breakfasts and evening parties.

er gwell, er gwaeth,

The ultimate wedding package....

Named by the Royal Horticultural Society as one of Britain's top formal gardens, a marquee situated on one of our manicured lawns offers a truly memorable setting for larger receptions. We work with the best marquee providers who are able to offer luxury interiors that are fully heated with enough space inside for a champagne reception, dining and dancing. Create an enchanting atmosphere which will amaze your guests and make your wedding simply unforgettable.

i'th garu a'th ymgeleddu,

Ever by each other's side:

And often, by the murm, ring rill,

Hears the thrush, while all is still,

Within the groves of Grongar Hill.

John Dyer 1699 - 1757

“The decision to hold my daughter's wedding at Aberglasney was inspired. Not only is the location of the house spectacular but the glorious gardens provided tranquillity and peace for our guests to enjoy meeting one another. The views from Aberglasney of the Towy Valley are very special but nothing compares with Grongar Hill and its poetic presence, overlooking and protecting this very lovely part of Carmarthenshire.”
