Low Total Cost of Ownership and Fast ROI

One of the biggest concerns associated with cloud CRM is the long-term total cost of ownership (TCO). A landmark TCO study conducted by the Yankee Group on hosted CRM systems versus on-premise solutions for SMEs concluded that on-premise CRM solutions were considerably more expensive over the course of a five-year period than cloud-based alternatives.

The Yankee Report found these key advantages for cloud-based CRM solutions:

- Faster implementation and ramp-up time to productive use of applications
- Lower upfront and ongoing costs
- No additional IT infrastructure for servers, networks, storage and IT resources to support them
- No additional IT application support staff
- Guaranteed service-level agreements (SLAs)
- Vendors provide an enterprise-class infrastructure with appropriate servers, networking and storage systems; plus, they are responsible for frequent upgrade application with each new version release, regular customer data backups and required restores, as well as meeting the latest security and compliance requirements.

Maximizer CRM Live takes very little time to deploy and update, has the core features and functionality businesses needs to grow and be more productive and, most importantly, generate a healthy ROI – at a low total cost over the long term. Maximizer CRM customers reap big benefits by building deep customer relationships that lead to more sales.
