

Avoid inheritance tax with smart planning

INHERITANCE TAX is possibly the most hated tax of all - but how many of you have not even made your Will yet? And if you have, how tax-efficient is it? Do you want to give 40% of everything you own above the nil-rate band to the tax man? There are so many choices surrounding how to reduce or eliminate inheritance tax, is it not worth seeking professional advice? Do you have a Will? What about a Trust? Do you want to benefit from giving to a Charity which will attract 100% tax relief?

Act now before it's too late!

Most of us will have considered making a Will at some stage, yet it is easy to put off, often due to the 'will do later' attitude. Many people wrongly presume their nearest and dearest will automatically inherit what they leave behind. Without a Will the government decides who should inherit your possessions, property and money in accordance with the laws of intestacy.

Hadleys Wills can assist you in making a legally valid Will which ensures that your wishes are followed and that your family's future is safeguarded.

Or, you may be one of the many who already have a Will, but is it tax efficient? Did you get advice from a Chartered tax advisor?

We offer advice to help reduce or even eliminate inheritance tax, leaving your assets to be distributed only among those who you expressly wish to benefit.

At Hadleys Wills, we offer a comprehensive and professional Will writing and review service, which will suit your needs, including advice on how to make it tax efficient.
