

NO ONE IN THE UK SHOULD NEED A FOOD BANK.

Last year, food banks in the Trussell Trust network distributed 1.6 million emergency food parcels to people in crisis.

This isn't right.

The Trussell Trust supports a nationwide network of food banks to provide emergency food and support to people locked in poverty. But we also campaign for change so that in the future, food banks aren't needed.

You can help by getting involved with our work - whether it's a tweet, a food donation, or a fundraising event. Find out more at www.trusselltrust.org/get-involved.
