To Whom It May Concern:

We had the opportunity to work with Williams-Brown Construction Group over the last one and half years. For a number of years, we had been planning and considering remodeling the offices to keep up with the growth of the practice. However, previous experiences had been very disruptive to clinic flow as well as the need for a clean environment given the nature of the medical practice.

We engaged Williams-Brown to redesign and construct both the Pensacola and Fort Walton offices a year and a half ago. They engaged very well with all the stakeholders including the architect, my office staff, the doctors to create and execute a plan. Relative to our previous experiences and our expectations, Williams-Brown did an outstanding job. The employees and the patients were amazed how well the construction was executed without disrupting the clinic flow. The staging of the construction was such that if it was going to impact areas of clinical care, they performed it after-hours or on the weekends.

We could not have asked for a better completion of the project in either office. The design has allowed us to deliver more efficient and higher quality of care. The Williams-Brown team is always available well after the completion of the project to assist with any follow-up issues that needed to be addressed. We would strongly recommend this group, especially in the medical arena. We plan on using Williams-Brown for all our future needs.

Sincerely,

Sunil Gupta, M.D.
