Fuller Smith & Turner PLC choose SharePoint 2010 for their Health & Safety System

Pro-Sapien's HSE portal has been selected as Fuller's health & safety system across their breweries, pubs, hotels and inns.

Fuller's, brewer of premium brands such as London Pride have won a glittering array of awards including being named Champion Beer of Britain, at CAMRA's Great British Beer Festival, an unprecedented five times. From crisp blonde beers, through to full flavoured traditional ales and rich dark porters, Fuller's brew beers of the finest quality to suit every discerning palate. As well as the outstanding cask conditioned ales, Fuller's pride themselves on their venues providing food and great wines combining time-honoured British values with modern facilities.

With over 300 pubs, hotels and Inns within their portfolio, Fuller's required an HSEQ system that would maintain the highest standards of Health and Safety for both customers and staff alike. The system needed to be intuitive as well as providing flexibility, scalability and the reporting capabilities required by the business. Pro-Sapien's system integrated into the companies SharePoint intranet, making user adoption straight forward whilst taking advantage of a number of SharePoint's features such as Document Management and workflow.

Colin Simpson, Fuller's Group Systems Manager commented, "We were impressed with the Health & Safety Portal from the day we saw it. The team know their subject and it was clear that 'out of the box,' the system met all the key HSEQ functionality expected, furthermore the portal gives us far more flexibility in terms of configuration so we can amend the forms and the Management Information to meet the future needs of our business. If you are looking at HSE software, Pro-Sapien should be on your shortlist- for anyone using SharePoint, it's the obvious choice."

Murray Ferguson, Commercial Director of Pro-Sapien said: "By investing in Pro-Sapien's software, organisations like Fuller's see major productivity and compliance management benefits that enable greater transparency, all of which assist when meeting regulatory requirements and internal quality standards. This is vital in today's environment." Ferguson concluded: "Our Software not only provides all the forms and sites required to effectively manage the whole HSEQ process, the software ensures standardised processes making them more robust, more efficient and thus reduces costs and risk."
