Connecting Employers and Job Seekers for remote working and home working

The screenshot displays the 'remote employment' website interface. At the top, the logo 'remote employment' is visible. Below it, a navigation bar includes 'Home', 'My Profile', 'Candidates', 'Recruiters', 'Freelancers', 'Home Business', 'Awards', 'News', 'Blog', and 'Contact Us'. The 'My Profile' tab is highlighted with a red arrow. The main content area is divided into two sections: 'Candidate Login / Sign-Up' and 'Job Search'. The 'Candidate Login / Sign-Up' section contains a 'SIGN-UP' form with fields for First Name, Last Name, Email, Password, and Phone Number, and a 'REGISTER' button. It also includes a 'LOGIN' section with fields for Email Address and Password. The 'Job Search' section features a 'Job Search' form with fields for Keywords, Location, Sector, and Salary, and a 'Search' button. Below the search form is a 'Tool Box' with links to 'Edit Account Details', 'Job Requirements', 'Communication Centre', 'Saved Searches', and 'Log Out'. The 'My Profile' section shows a welcome message for 'Paola Wynne' and a 'Job Search' section with a 'Shortlist' of job listings. A red arrow points to the 'My Profile' tab in the navigation bar.

Market Yourself

Candidates By Email

Our clients are able to see your full profile, whichever you have chosen in your 'My Profile' so please ensure this is up to date and give the best summary of yourself so our clients want to contact YOU for their job.

Use this to 'sell' yourself as this is the first information an employer will read. If it is worded wisely to show your skills, an employer will click 'more' to see your details and this will lead to them making contact with you. Our research proves that an employer wants to 'see' and 'feel' your personality before they contact you, so show your enthusiasm and let your character shine through.

C-shots

You can also 'pitch' yourself to our list of employers and recruiters in our monthly C shots. To find out how to do this, please contact us.

Toolbox

We now supply a handy toolbox for editing account details, job requirements and saved searches. It also comes with a communication centre which shows all correspondence with recruiters.
