INTRODUCTION

Here at MLA, our remit is simple. We aim to provide the best range of equipment we possibly can to assist the serving officer carrying out his or her duties.

We concentrate first and foremost on performance in the field. Our choice of materials and construction involves balancing the robust with the practical and comfortable – we know how important it is to have kit that won't let officers down.

That comes from our background and experience at the front line of policing. Not only are there former police officers on our team, we are also in regular contact with members of today's forces.

We believe that this special access to the demands of real-life police work gives us a unique perspective on the job in hand and the equipment needed to carry it out safely and properly.

Most of our products are made in the UK, with many being manufactured on our site in Yorkshire. The MLA range is one you can choose with absolute confidence knowing that it will always be fit for purpose.
