1. Introduction

1.1 Purpose

This book was written by a concerned American who wanted to inform his private employer or prospective employer about the laws relating to federal and state income taxation. The intention is to educate, not to persecute or threaten either private employees or employers, and to create a good-faith, informed, trusting environment for both employers and employees to learn about what the Internal Revenue Code and the Constitution really require. Most employers we have encountered are quite surprised by the truth about the Internal Revenue Code and our Constitution, in fact. We have also created this book to keep the focus on the most important and relevant facts and law, and to eliminate the fear and superstition that comes from ignorance about the law. We want employers and employees bargaining from a position of strength and knowledge, rather than fear and ignorance.

We will try very hard in this book to focus on law, education, answers, and solutions rather than blame. This book ends in Section 21.4 with a list of possible withholding options. Forms that implement each one of these options are then found in Appendix A. Hopefully, there is something in the book that will satisfy everyone without the need to force anyone to do anything they don't want to do, violate any law, or perjure themselves on a government form.

Those employers in receipt of this document who wish to challenge its conclusions are encouraged to do so by rebutting the evidence found in Appendix B, the Test for Federal Tax Professionals, Form #03.009, and to send the rebutted version signed under penalty of perjury to the author and to the worker who gave it to you. The authors have yet to receive even one rebuttal, because there is simply no way to refute the truth, but he welcomes feedback and rebuttal so that this book can be improved over time. You can contact the author at:

The basis of good-faith dealings we want to establish with this book is full disclosure of relevant law, facts, and judicial precedent and complete accountability on both sides of the debate. Consequently, private employers, after having received this book, should respond to the worker who gave it to them officially and in a signed writing. Neither emails nor private meetings nor voice communications are adequate manifestations of intent, but only a signed statement or letter are adequate manifestation of the reaction to this document by the private employer. Everything should be out in the open and documented or there will be a tendency to encourage bad faith and underhanded tactics. No communication should be concealed or avoided and all parties should be equally accountable for what they say and do in the process of arriving at a mutually beneficial and equitable payroll tax withholding arrangement that is completely consistent with the laws on taxation. Any attempt to conceal, to refuse to do things in a signed writing, or to refuse to communicate or answer questions about any decisions made shall be interpreted as willful violation of the law by either party.

If termination of employment or termination of intent to hire a prospective worker should occur by a private employer because of the receipt of this document, then a good body of evidence will then be available to demonstrate the basis for the wrongful termination. Termination of a worker or prospective worker based on failure to implement voluntary withholding the way the private employer demands or failure to disclose a social security number is not adequate grounds for termination and in fact is a violation of civil rights and other laws that we will discuss.

If you as either a private employee or private employer find that this book is more information than you have time or interest to handle in your busy daily life, then may we recommend a considerably condensed free synopsis of this information found below:

Federal Tax Withholding, Form #04.102
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

We kindly ask all of our readers to resist the temptation to try to contact us to obtain legal advice or help in stopping withholding. Our About Us page (<http://famguardian.org/aboutus.htm>) Section 12, Item 23 says that we aren't allowed to get involved in giving legal advice or helping people start or stop withholding. Our main goal in this publication is to educate you about what the law requires to make it easier for you to follow the law and to prevent others from violating it. This document is not advertising and we don't offer any services, nor are we a business. If you want to be free and sovereign,

1 then you are going to have to learn how to run your own life, make your own choices, and educate yourself. That approach,
2 in fact, is precisely how and why this book was written in the first place. Sovereignty begins with personal responsibility.

3 1.2 Abbreviated Path to Freedom

4 IMPORTANT NOTE: Knowledge and preparation are the best defense you can have from unlawful enforcement actions
5 by the government. Please ensure that you execute as many of the following steps to achieving sovereignty as you can prior
6 to stopping withholding in order to provide the best protection possible for your rights and liberties. These steps will help to 7 remove you and your property from government jurisdiction and minimize risk exposure:

- 8 1. Read everything in this book at least once and try your best to understand it.
- 9 2. Go over the questions in Appendix B so that you know why the answer is “Admit” to every question. You are going to 10 use this document to confront those who are violating the law, so you better understand it.
- 11 3. Read chapters 3 through 5 of our free Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 book. It will give you the excellent background
12 you need to read and understand the law for yourselves without the need of an attorney or expert, and show you what the 13 law says about your rights and responsibilities. Nearly all the problems and violations of law appearing in this book are 14 a direct result of the fact that no one reads or understands the law anymore and you are going to have to be different if 15 you want to avoid all of the consequences of this ignorance related slavery.
- 16 4. Read and send in the following two documents to the government to correct your citizenship and “taxpayer” status and 17 restore your sovereignty:
 - 18 4.1. Resignation of Compelled Social Security Trustee, Form #06.002
19 <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
 - 20 4.2. Legal Notice of Change in Domicile/Citizenship Records and Divorce from the United States, Form #10.001
21 <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
- 22 5. Cancel your old passport and get a new passport without a Socialist Security Number using the following procedure:
23

|---|
| Getting a USA Passport as a “State National” , Form #10.013 https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm |
|---|
- 24 6. If you are a registered voter, you must UNREGISTER and then REREGISTER using the following form as an attachment
25 in order to correct your citizenship and domicile records with the government:

| |
|--|
| Voter Registration Attachment , Form #06.003 http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm |
|--|
- 27 7. Close all your financial accounts that have federal numbers and reopen them as a non-resident non-person without an 28 identifying number. See Section 7 of the following article:

| |
|--|
| About IRS Form W-8BEN , Form #04.202 https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm |
|--|
- 30 8. Resubmit all the withholding paperwork at your job according to the instructions in this book WITHOUT a federal 31 identifying number. Provide a copy of SSA Form 521 to your private employer with the number removed proving that 32 you quit the system if you previously gave them a federal identifying number. Warn them that any use of that number 33 constitutes FRAUD beyond that point for which you will file a criminal complaint.

34 After achieving the above steps, do the following to maintain and protect the sovereignty you established above:

- 35 1. Turn off the TV and dedicate yourself to learning how to stay free and sovereign by reading the free materials in the 36 Liberty University at the address below. The price of liberty is eternal vigilance and the main reason people get hurt is 37 because of their own ignorance. Education is the ONLY thing they can’t take away from you in the end:
38 <http://sedm.org/LibertyU/LibertyU.htm>
- 39 2. Whenever asked to sign any kind of government form, ensure you attach the appropriate attachments found in section 4
40 of the Liberty University in order to avoid being connected to any government franchises that might destroy your rights:
41 <http://sedm.org/LibertyU/LibertyU.htm>
- 42 3. Whenever anyone tries to allege that any federal law imposes any kind of “duty” upon you, DEMAND that they produce 43 either the statute and the implementing regulation published in the Federal Register OR proof that you are a federal instrumentality exempt from the requirement for implementing regulations published in the Federal Register as required by the following:

| |
| Federal Enforcement Authority Within States of the Union , Form #05.032 http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm |

4. If called upon to respond to a tax collection or other government enforcement action, ensure that you carefully avoid all of the flawed arguments documented in the pamphlet below or you may be penalized or sanctioned for entertaining “frivolous” arguments:

Flawed Tax Arguments to Avoid, Form #08.004

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

5. When asked for an identifying number, use the information found in the following pamphlet to respond to such requests:

About SSNs and TINs on Government Forms and Correspondence, Form #05.012

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

The steps above are also summarized in greater detail in the following helpful resource below:

1.3 Resources for Further Reading and Research

If you would like to study the subjects covered in this free book in further detail, may we recommend the following additional authoritative sources, and also welcome you to rebut any part of this book after you have read it and studied the subject carefully yourself just as we have:

1. The “Trade or Business” Scam, Family Guardian Fellowship- Describes the Heart of the IRS fraud.
<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Remedies/TradeOrBusinessScam.htm>
2. Government Instituted Slavery Using Franchises, Form #05.030- Excellent pamphlet that describes how franchises work generally, of which the income tax is a subset as an excise tax upon the “trade or business” franchise. Also describes all the legal consequences of participating in franchises upon one’s standing in court.
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
3. Non-Resident Non-Person Position, Form #05.020- Memorandum of law that describes in detail the approach to federal income taxes of this website.
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
4. Federal Tax Withholding, Form #04.102- Free abbreviated version of this pamphlet. Give this to busy management types at your private employer who don’t have time to read this whole book.
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
5. Tax Withholding and Reporting: What the Law Says, Form #04.103- Concise summary of the laws on tax withholding and reporting. Hand this to your private employer payroll department to educate them quickly.

1.4 Definition: Private Employer

Throughout this document, we define the term “private employer” to mean the following:

1. Domiciled or resident in a constitutional state of the Union.
2. Not doing business within nor physically located within the “United States” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10) and 4 U.S.C. §110(d).
3. Not engaged in federal franchises, including a “trade or business” as defined 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26).
4. Not a statutory “employer”, meaning the U.S. government corporation.
5. Has no statutory “employees” per 5 U.S.C. §2105(a) or 26 U.S.C. §3401(d).
6. If compelled to obtain a government identifying number, completed the status block of Form SS-4 as “Other” and indicated “non-resident non-person nontaxpayer”.

2. Overview of the Income Taxation Process

This section provides basic background on how the income tax described in Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle A functions. This will help you fit the explanation contained in this memorandum into the overall taxation process. Below is a summary of the taxation process:

1. The purpose for establishing governments is mainly to protect private property. The Declaration of Independence affirms this:

*“We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed,
[Declaration of Independence, 1776]

2. Government protects private rights by keeping “public [government] property” and “private property” separate and never allowing them to be joined together. This is the heart of the separation of powers doctrine: separation of what is private from what is public with the goal of protecting mainly what is private. See:

Government Conspiracy to Destroy the Separation of Powers, Form #05.023
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

3. All property BEGINS as private property. The only way to lawfully change it to public property is through the exercise of your unalienable constitutional right to contract. All franchises qualify as a type of contract, and therefore, franchises are one of many methods to lawfully convert PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property. The exercise of the right to contract, in turn, is an act of consent that eliminates any possibility of a legal remedy of the donor against the donee:

He who consents cannot receive an injury. 2 Bouv. Inst. n. 2279, 2327, 4 T. R. 657; Shelf. on mar. & Div. 449.*

*Consensus tollit errorem.
Consent removes or obviates a mistake. Co. Litt. 126.*

*Melius est omnia mala pati quam malo consentire.
It is better to suffer every wrong or ill, than to consent to it. 3 Co. Inst. 23.*

*Nemo videtur fraudare eos qui sciunt, et consentiunt.
One cannot complain of having been deceived when he knew the fact and gave his consent. Dig. 50, 17, 145.”*
[Bouvier’s Maxims of Law (1856);
SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviereMaxims.htm>]

4. In law, all rights are “property”.

1 Property. That which is peculiar or proper to any person; that which belongs exclusively to one. In the strict legal
2 sense, an aggregate of rights which are guaranteed and protected by the government. Fulton Light, Heat &
3 Power Co. v. State, 65 Misc.Rep. 263, 121 N.Y.S. 536. The term is said to extend to every species of valuable
4 right and interest. More specifically, ownership; the unrestricted and exclusive right to a thing; the right to
5 dispose of a thing in every legal way, to possess it, to use it, and to exclude every one else from interfering with
6 it. That dominion or indefinite right of use or disposition which one may lawfully exercise over particular things
7 or subjects. The exclusive right of possessing, enjoying, and disposing of a thing. The highest right a man can
8 have to anything; being used to refer to that right which one has to lands or tenements, goods or chattels, which 9 no way depends on another man's courtesy.

10 The word is also commonly used to denote everything which is the subject of ownership, corporeal or incorporeal,
11 tangible or intangible, visible or invisible, real or personal, everything that has an exchangeable value or which
12 goes to make up wealth or estate. It extends to every species of valuable right and interest, and includes real
13 and personal property, easements, franchises, and incorporeal hereditaments, and includes every invasion of
15 P.2d. 250, 252, 254.

16 Property embraces everything which is or may be the subject of ownership, whether a legal ownership, or whether
17 beneficial, or a private ownership. Davis v. Davis. TexCiv-App., 495 S.W.2d. 607. 611. Term includes not only
18 ownership and possession but also the right of use and enjoyment for lawful purposes. Hoffmann v. Kinealy, Mo.,
19 389 S.W.2d. 745, 752.

20 Property, within constitutional protection, denotes group of rights inhering in citizen's relation to physical
21 thing, as right to possess, use and dispose of it. Cereghino v. State By and Through State Highway Commission,
22 230 Or. 439, 370 P.2d. 694, 697.
23 [Black's Law Dictionary, Fifth Edition, p. 1095]

24 By protecting your constitutional rights, the government is protecting your PRIVATE property. Your rights are private
25 property because they came from God, not from the government. Only what the government creates can become public
26 property. An example is corporations, which are a public franchise that makes officers of the corporation into public
27 officers.

- 28 5. The process of taxation is the process of converting “private property” into a “public use” and a “public purpose”. Below
29 are definitions of these terms for your enlightenment.

30 Public use. Eminent domain. The constitutional and statutory basis for taking property by eminent domain. For
31 condemnation purposes, “public use” is one which confers some benefit or advantage to the public; it is not
32 confined to actual use by public. It is measured in terms of right of public to use proposed facilities for which
33 condemnation is sought and, as long as public has right of use, whether exercised by one or many members of
34 public, a “public advantage” or “public benefit” accrues sufficient to constitute a public use. Montana Power
35 Co. v. Bokma, Mont., 457 P.2d. 769, 772, 773.

36 Public use, in constitutional provisions restricting the exercise of the right to take property in virtue of eminent
37 domain, means a use concerning the whole community distinguished from particular individuals. But each and
38 every member of society need not be equally interested in such use, or be personally and directly affected by it;
39 if the object is to satisfy a great public want or exigency, that is sufficient. Ringe Co. v. Los Angeles County, 262
40 U.S. 700, 43 S.Ct. 689, 692, 67 L.Ed. 1186. The term may be said to mean public usefulness, utility, or advantage,
41 or what is productive of general benefit. It may be limited to the inhabitants of a small or restricted locality, but
42 must be in common, and not for a particular individual. The use must be a needful one for the public, which
43 cannot be surrendered without obvious general loss and inconvenience. A “public use” for which land may be
44 taken defies absolute definition for it changes with varying conditions of society, new appliances in the sciences,
45 changing conceptions of scope and functions of government, and other differing circumstances brought about by
46 an increase in population and new modes of communication and transportation. Katz v. Brandon, 156 Conn.
47 521, 245 A.2d. 579, 586.

48 See also Condemnation; Eminent domain.
49 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1232]

50
51 “Public purpose. In the law of taxation, eminent domain, etc., this is a term of classification to distinguish the
52 objects for which, according to settled usage, the government is to provide, from those which, by the like usage,
53 are left to private interest, inclination, or liberality. The constitutional requirement that the purpose of any tax,
54 police regulation, or particular exertion of the power of eminent domain shall be the convenience, safety, or
55 welfare of the entire community and not the welfare of a specific individual or class of persons [such as, for
56 instance, federal benefit recipients as individuals]. “Public purpose” that will justify expenditure of public
57 money generally means such an activity as will serve as benefit to community as a body and which at same time
59 789, 794 .

1 The term is synonymous with governmental purpose. As employed to denote the objects for which taxes may be
2 levied, it has no relation to the urgency of the public need or to the extent of the public benefit which is to follow;
3 the essential requisite being that a public service or use shall affect the inhabitants as a community, and not
4 merely as individuals. A public purpose or public business has for its objective the promotion of the public
5 health, safety, morals, general welfare, security, prosperity, and contentment of all the inhabitants or residents
6 within a given political division, as, for example, a state, the sovereign powers of which are exercised to promote
7 such public purpose or public business.”
8 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1231, Emphasis added]

- 9 6. The federal government has no power of eminent domain within states of the Union. This means that they cannot 10 lawfully convert private property to a public use or a public purpose within the exclusive jurisdiction of states of the 11 Union:

12 “The United States have no constitutional capacity to exercise municipal jurisdiction, sovereignty, or eminent
13 domain, within the limits of a State or elsewhere, except in cases where it is delegated, and the court
14 denies the faculty of the Federal Government to add to its powers by treaty
15 or compact.”
16 [Dred Scott v. Sandford, 60 U.S. 393, 508-509 (1856)]

- 17 7. The Fifth Amendment prohibits converting private property to a public use or a public purpose without just compensation
18 if the owner does not consent, and this prohibition applies to the Federal government as well as states of the Union. It
19 was made applicable to states of the Union by the Fourteenth Amendment in 1868.

20 Fifth Amendment - Rights of Persons

21 No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or
22 indictment of a Grand Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual
23 service in time of War or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in
24 jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be
25 deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public
26 use, without just compensation.
27 [United States Constitution, Fifth Amendment]

28 If the conversion of private property to public property is done without the express consent of the party affected by the 29 conversion and without compensation, then the following violations have occurred:

- 30 7.1. Violation of the Fifth Amendment “takings clause” above.
31 7.2. “Conversion” in violation of 18 U.S.C. §654.
32 7.3. Theft.

- 33 8. Because taxation involves converting private property to a public use, public purpose, and public office, then it involves 34 eminent domain if the owner of the property did not expressly consent to the taking:

35 Eminent domain. The power to take private property for public use by the state, municipalities, and private
36 persons or corporations authorized to exercise functions of public character. Housing Authority of Cherokee
37 National of Oklahoma v. Langley, Okl., 555 P.2d. 1025, 1028. Fifth Amendment, U.S. Constitution.

38 In the United States, the power of eminent domain is founded in both the federal (Fifth Amend.) and state
39 constitutions. However, the Constitution limits the power to taking for a public purpose and prohibits the
40 exercise of the power of eminent domain without just compensation to the owners of the property which is
41 taken. The process of exercising the power of eminent domain is commonly referred to as “condemnation”
42 or, “expropriation”.

43 The right of eminent domain is the right of the state, through its regular organization, to reassert, either
44 temporarily or permanently, its dominion over any portion of the soil of the state on account of public exigency
45 and for the public good. Thus, in time of war or insurrection, the proper authorities may possess and hold any
46 part of the territory of the state for the common safety; and in time of peace the legislature may authorize the
47 appropriation of the same to public purposes, such as the opening of roads, construction of defenses, or providing
48 channels for trade or travel. Eminent domain is the highest and most exact idea of property remaining in the
49 government, or in the aggregate body of the people in their sovereign capacity. It gives a right to resume the
50 possession of the property in the manner directed by the constitution and the laws of the state, whenever the public
51 interest requires it.

52 See also Adequate compensation; Condemnation; Constructive taking; Damages; Expropriation; Fair market
53 value; Just compensation; Larger parcel; Public use; Take.
54 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Fifth Edition, p. 470]

- 1 9. The Fifth Amendment requires that any taking of private property without the consent of the owner must involve
 2 compensation. The Constitution must be consistent with itself. The taxation clauses found in Article 1, Section 8,
 3 Clauses 1 and 3 cannot conflict with the Fifth Amendment. The Fifth Amendment contains no exception to the
 4 requirement for just compensation upon conversion of private property to a public use, even in the case of taxation. This
 5 is why all taxes must be indirect excise taxes against people who provide their consent by applying for a license to engage
 6 in the taxed activity: The application for the license constitutes constructive consent to donate the fruits of the activity
 7 to a public use, public purpose, and public office.
 8 10. There are only ONE condition in which the conversion of private property to public property does NOT require
 9 compensation, which is when the owner donates the private property to a public use, public purpose, or public office.
 10 To wit:

11 *"Men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, -'life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness;'
 12 and to 'secure,' not grant or create, these rights, governments are instituted. That property [or income] which a
 13 man has honestly acquired he retains full control of, subject to these limitations: First, that he shall not use it
 14 to his neighbor's injury, and that does not mean that he must use it for his neighbor's benefit [e.g. SOCIAL
 15 SECURITY, Medicare, and every other public "benefit"]; second, that if he devotes it to a public use, he gives
 16 to the public a right to control that use; and third, that whenever the public needs require, the public may take
 17 it upon payment of due compensation."*
 18 [Budd v. People of State of New York, 143 U.S. 517 (1892)]

19 The above rules are summarized below:

20 Table 1: Rules for converting private property to a public use or a public office

|---|---|---|
| 2 | He may not use the property to injure the equal rights of his neighbor. For instance, when you murder someone, the government can take your liberty and labor from you by putting you in jail or your life from you by instituting the death penalty against you. Both your life and your labor are "property". Therefore, the basis for the "taking" was violation of the equal rights of a fellow sovereign "neighbor". | No |
| 3 | He cannot be compelled or required to use it to "benefit" his neighbor. That means he cannot be compelled to donate the property to any franchise that would "benefit" his neighbor such as Social Security, Medicare, etc. | Yes |
| 4 | If he donates it to a public use, he gives the public the right to control that use. | Yes |
| 5 | Whenever the public needs require, the public may take it without his consent upon payment of due compensation. E.g. "eminent domain". | No |

- 21 11. The following two methods are the ONLY methods involving consent of the owner that may be LAWFULLY employed
 22 to convert PRIVATE property into PUBLIC property. Anything else is unlawful and THEFT:
 23 11.1. DIRECT CONVERSION: Owner donates the property by conveying title or possession to the government.¹
 24 11.2. INDIRECT CONVERSION: Owner assumes a PUBLIC status as a PUBLIC officer in the HOLDING of title to
 25 the property.² All such statuses and the rights that attach to it are creations and property of the government, the use
 26 of which is a privilege. The status and all PUBLIC RIGHTS that attach to it conveys a "benefit" for which the 27 status user must pay an excise tax. The tax acts as a rental or use fee for the status, which is government property.

² An example of a PUBLIC status is statutory "taxpayer" (public office called "trade or business"), statutory "citizen", statutory "driver" (vehicle), statutory voter (registered voters are public officers).

- 1 12. You and ONLY you can authorize your private property to be donated to a public use, public purpose, and public office.
2 No third party can lawfully convert or donate your private property to a public use, public purpose, or public office
3 without your knowledge and express consent. If they do, they are guilty of theft and conversion, and especially if they
4 are acting in a quasi-governmental capacity as a “withholding agent” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(16).
5 12.1. A withholding agent cannot file an information return connecting your earnings to a “trade or business” without
6 you actually occupying a “public office” in the government BEFORE you filled out any tax form.
7 12.2. A withholding agent cannot file IRS Form W-2 against your earnings if you didn’t sign an IRS Form W-4 contract
8 and thereby consent to donate your private property to a public office in the U.S. government and therefore a “public 9 use”.
10 12.3. That donation process is accomplished by your own voluntary self-assessment and ONLY by that method. Before
11 such a self-assessment, you are a “nontaxpayer” and a private person. After the assessment, you become a 12 “taxpayer” and a public officer in the government engaged in the “trade or business” franchise.
13 12.4. In order to have an income tax liability, you must complete, sign, and “file” an income tax return and thereby assess
14 yourself:

15 “Our system of taxation is based upon voluntary assessment and payment, not distraint.”
16 [Flora v. U.S., 362 U.S. 145 (1960)]

17 By assessing yourself, you implicitly give your consent to allow the public the right to control that use of the formerly
18 PRIVATE property donated to a public use.

- 19 12.5. IRS Forms W-2 and W-4 are identified as Tax Class 5: Estate and Gift Taxes. Payroll withholdings are GIFTS, 20 not taxes.

21 TITLE 31 > SUBTITLE 1 > CHAPTER 3 > SUBCHAPTER II > § 321
22 § 321. General authority of the Secretary

23 (d)

24 (1) The Secretary of the Treasury may accept, hold, administer, and use gifts and bequests of property, both real
25 and personal, for the purpose of aiding or facilitating the work of the Department of the Treasury. Gifts and 26 bequests of money and the proceeds from sales of other property received as gifts or bequests shall be deposited
27 in the Treasury in a separate fund and shall be disbursed on order of the Secretary of the Treasury. Property
28 accepted under this paragraph, and the proceeds thereof, shall be used as nearly as possible in accordance with 29 the terms of the gift or bequest.

30 (2) For purposes of the Federal income, estate, and gift taxes, property accepted under paragraph (1) shall be
31 considered as a gift or bequest to or for the use of the United States.

32 They don't become “taxes” and assessments until you attach the IRS Form W-2 “gift statement” to an assessment
33 called a IRS Form 1040 and create a liability with your own self-assessment signature. IRS has no delegated
34 authority to convert a “gift” into a “tax”. That is why when you file the IRS Form 1040, you must attach the W-2
35 gift statement. See:

Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 5.6.8
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 36 12.6. The IRS cannot execute a lawful assessment without your knowledge and express consent because if they didn't 37 have your consent, then it would be criminal conversion and theft. That is why every time they do an assessment,
38 they have to call you into their office and present it to you to procure your consent in what is called an 39 “examination”. If you make it clear that you don't consent and hand them the following, they have to delete the 40 assessment because it's only a proposal. See:

Why the Government Can't Lawfully Assess Human Beings With an Income Tax Liability Without Their Consent,
Form #05.011
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

41 There is no way other than the above to lawfully create an income tax liability without violating the Fifth Amendment
42 takings clause. If you assess yourself, you consent to become a “public officer” and thereby donate the fruits of your 43 labor as such officer to a public use and a public purpose.

- 44 13. The IRS won't admit this, but this in fact is how the de facto unlawful system currently functions:

45 13.1. You can't unilaterally “elect” yourself into a “public office”, even if you do consent.

46 13.2. No IRS form nor any provision in the Internal Revenue Code CREATES any new public offices in the government.

- 1 13.3. The I.R.C. only taxes EXISTING public offices lawfully exercised ONLY in the District of Columbia and in all
 2 places expressly authorized pursuant to 4 U.S.C. §72.
- 3 14. Information returns are being abused in effect as “federal election” forms.
- 4 14.1. Third parties in effect are nominating private persons into public offices in the government without their knowledge,
 5 without their consent, and without compensation. Thus, information returns are being used to impose the 6 obligations of a public office upon people without compensation and thereby impose slavery in violation of the 7 Thirteenth Amendment.
- 8 14.2. Anyone who files a false information return connecting a person to the “trade or business”/“public office” franchise
 9 who in fact does not ALREADY lawfully occupy a public office in the U.S. government is guilty of impersonating
 10 a public officer in criminal violation of 18 U.S.C. §912.
- 11 15. The IRS Form W-4 cannot and does not create an office in the U.S. government, but allows EXISTING public officers
 12 to elect to connect their private earnings to a public use, a public office, and a public purpose. The IRS abuses this form
 13 to unlawfully create public offices, and this abuse of the I.R.C. is the heart of the tax fraud: They are making a system
 14 that only applies to EXISTING public offices lawfully exercised in order to:
- 15 15.1. Unlawfully create new public offices in places where they are not authorized to exist.
- 16 15.2. Destroy the separation of powers between what is public and what is private.
- 17 15.3. Institute eminent domain over private labor using false third party reports. Omission in preventing such fraud
 18 accomplishes involuntary servitude in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment, 42 U.S.C. §1994, and 18 U.S.C.
 19 §1581.
- 20 15.4. Destroy the separation of powers between the federal and state governments. Any state employee who participates 21 in the federal income tax is serving in TWO offices, which is a violation of most state constitutions.
- 22 15.5. Enslave innocent people to go to work for them without compensation, without recourse, and in violation of the 23 thirteenth amendment prohibition against involuntary servitude. That prohibition, incidentally, applies
 24 EVERYWHERE, including on federal territory.
- 25 16. The right to control the use of private property donated to a public use to procure the benefits of a franchise is enforced
 26 through the Internal Revenue Code, which is the equivalent of the employment agreement for franchisees called 27 “taxpayers”.

28 The above criteria explains why:

- 29 1. You cannot be subject to either employment tax withholding or employment tax reporting without voluntarily signing
 30 an IRS Form W-4.

- 26 3. The revenue laws may not be cited or enforced against a person who is not a “taxpayer”:

27 “The revenue laws are a code or system in regulation of tax assessment and collection. They relate to taxpayers,
28 and not to nontaxpayers. The latter are without their scope. No procedure is prescribed for nontaxpayers, and no
29 attempt is made to annul any of their rights and remedies in due course of law. With them Congress does not
30 assume to deal, and they are neither of the subject nor of the object of the revenue laws...”
31 [Long v. Rasmussen, 281 F. 236 (1922)]

32 “Revenue Laws relate to taxpayers [officers, employees, instrumentalities, and elected officials of the Federal
33 Government] and not to non-taxpayers [American Citizens/American Nationals not subject to the exclusive
34 jurisdiction of the Federal Government and who did not volunteer to participate in the federal “trade or business”

36 is made to annul any of their Rights or Remedies in due course of law.”
37 [Economy Plumbing & Heating v. U.S., 470 F.2d. 585 (1972)]

38 “And by statutory definition, ‘taxpayer’ includes any person, trust or estate subject to a tax imposed by the revenue
39 act. ...Since the statutory definition of ‘taxpayer’ is exclusive, the federal courts do not have the power to create 40 nonstatutory taxpayers for the purpose of applying the provisions of the Revenue Acts...”
41 [C.I.R. v. Trustees of L. Inv. Ass’n, 100 F.2d. 18 (1939)]

42 All of the above requirements have in common that violating them would result in the equivalent of exercising eminent 43 domain over the private property of the private person without their consent and without just compensation, which the U.S.
44 Supreme Court said violates the Fifth Amendment takings clause:

45 To lay, with one hand, the power of the government on the property of the citizen, and with the other to bestow
46 it upon favored individuals to aid private enterprises and build up private fortunes, is none the less a robbery
47 because it is done under the forms of law and is called taxation. This is not legislation. It is a decree under 48 legislative forms.

49 Nor is it taxation. ‘A tax,’ says Webster’s Dictionary, ‘is a rate or sum of money assessed on the person or
50 property of a citizen by government for the use of the nation or State.’ ‘Taxes are burdens or charges imposed
51 by the Legislature upon persons or property to raise money for public purposes.’ Cooley, Const. Lim., 479.

1 Coulter, J., in Northern Liberties v. St. John's Church, 13 Pa.St. 104 says, very forcibly, 'I think the common
2 mind has everywhere taken in the understanding that taxes are a public imposition, levied by authority of the
3 government for the purposes of carrying on the government in all its machinery and operations—that they are
4 imposed for a public purpose.' See, also Pray v. Northern Liberties, 31 Pa.St. 69; Matter of Mayor of N.Y., 11

7 [Loan Association v. Topeka, 20 Wall. 655 (1874)]

8 As a consequence of the above considerations, any government officer or employee who does any of the following is 9 unlawfully converting private property to a public use without the consent of the owner and without consideration:

- 10 1. Assuming or "presuming" you are a "taxpayer" without producing evidence that you consented to become one. In our 11 system of jurisprudence, a person must be presumed innocent until proven guilty with court admissible evidence.
12 Presumptions are NOT evidence. That means they must be presumed to be a "nontaxpayer" until they are proven with 13 admissible evidence to be a "taxpayer". See:

Presumption: Chief Weapon for Unlawfully Enlarging Federal Jurisdiction, Form #05.017
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 14 2. Performing a tax assessment or re-assessment if you haven't first voluntarily assessed yourself by filing a tax return.
15 See:

Why the Government Can't Lawfully Assess Human Beings With an Income Tax Liability Without Their Consent,
Form #05.011
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 16 3. Citing provisions of the franchise agreement against those who never consented to participate. This is an abuse of law
17 for political purposes and an attempt to exploit the innocent and the ignorant. The legislature cannot delegate authority
18 to the Executive Branch to convert innocent persons called "nontaxpayers" into franchisees called "taxpayers" without 19 producing evidence of consent to become "taxpayers".

20 "In Calder v. Bull, which was here in 1798, Mr. Justice Chase said, that there were acts which the Federal and
21 State legislatures could not do without exceeding their authority, and among them he mentioned a law which
22 punished a citizen for an innocent act; a law that destroyed or impaired the lawful private [labor] contracts [and
23 labor compensation, e.g. earnings from employment through compelled W-4 withholding] of citizens; a law that
24 made a man judge in his own case; and a law that took the property from A [the worker], and gave it to B [the
25 government or another citizen, such as through social welfare programs]. 'It is against all reason and justice,'
26 he added, 'for a people to intrust a legislature with such powers, and therefore it cannot be presumed that they
27 have done it. They may command what is right and prohibit what is wrong; but they cannot change innocence
28 into guilt, or punish innocence as a crime, or violate the right of an antecedent lawful private [employment]
29 contract [by compelling W-4 withholding, for instance], or the right of private property. To maintain that a
30 Federal or State legislature possesses such powers [of THEFT!] if they had not been expressly restrained,
31 would, in my opinion, be a political heresy altogether inadmissible in all free republican governments.' 3 Dall.
32 388."
33 [Sinking Fund Cases, 99 U.S. 700 (1878)]

- 34 4. Relying on third party information returns that are unsigned as evidence supporting the conclusion that you are a
35 "taxpayer". These forms include IRS Forms W-2, 1042-S, 1098, and 1099 and they are NOT signed and are inadmissible
36 as evidence under Federal Rule of Evidence 802 because not signed under penalty of perjury. Furthermore, the submitters
37 of these forms seldom have personal knowledge that you are in fact and in deed engaged in a "trade or business" as 38 required by 26 U.S.C. §6041(a). Most people don't know, for instance, that a "trade or business" includes ONLY "the 39 functions of a public office".

40 3. Nature of the Income Tax

41 3.1 Proof that IRC Subtitles A and C is an excise tax and franchise tax upon activities in connection with a 42 "trade or business" and public office

43 The Internal Revenue Code, Subtitles A and C is an excise tax or franchise tax upon activities in connection with a statutory 44 franchise called a "public office". All franchises are contracts or agreements that only acquire the force of law with the 45 consent of BOTH the GRANTOR and the GRANTEE.

1 “It is generally conceded that a franchise is the subject of a contract between the grantor and the grantee, and
2 that it does in fact constitute a contract when the requisite element of a consideration is present.³ Conversely, a
3 franchise granted without consideration is not a contract binding upon the state, franchisee, or pseudo-
4 franchisee.⁴ “
5 [36 American Jurisprudence 2d, Franchises, §6: As a Contract (1999)]

6 Furthermore, the U.S. Supreme Court has held that the national government CANNOT expand its powers within a
7 constitutional state of the Union by using any kind of contract or compact or agreement:

8 “The United States have no constitutional capacity to exercise municipal jurisdiction, sovereignty, or eminent
9 domain, within the limits of a State or elsewhere, except in cases where it is delegated, and the court
10 denies the faculty of the Federal Government to add to its powers by treaty
11 or compact.”

14 “Thus, Congress having power to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States, and
15 with the Indian tribes, may, without doubt, provide for granting coasting licenses, licenses to pilots, licenses to
16 trade with the Indians, and any other licenses necessary or proper for the exercise of that great and extensive
17 power; and the same observation is applicable to every other power of Congress, to the exercise of which the 18 granting of licenses may be incident. All such licenses confer authority, and give rights to the licensee.

19 But very different considerations apply to the internal commerce or domestic trade of the States. Over this
20 commerce and trade Congress has no power of regulation nor any direct control. This power belongs
21 exclusively to the States. No interference by Congress with the business of citizens transacted within a State is
22 warranted by the Constitution, except such as is strictly incidental to the exercise of powers clearly granted to
23 the legislature. The power to authorize a business within a State is plainly repugnant to the exclusive power of
24 the State over the same subject. It is true that the power of Congress to tax is a very extensive power. It is given
25 in the Constitution, with only one exception and only two qualifications. Congress cannot tax exports, and it must
26 impose direct taxes by the rule of apportionment, and indirect taxes by the rule of uniformity. Thus limited, and
27 thus only, it reaches every subject, and may be exercised at discretion. But, it reaches only existing subjects.
28 Congress cannot authorize a trade or business within a State in order to tax it.”
29 [License Tax Cases, 72 U.S. 462, 18 L.Ed. 497, 5 Wall. 462, 2 A.F.T.R. 2224 (1866)]

30 Notice the language in the last quote above:

31 “Congress cannot authorize a trade or business within a State in order to tax it.”
32 [License Tax Cases, 72 U.S. 462, 18 L.Ed. 497, 5 Wall. 462, 2 A.F.T.R. 2224 (1866)]

33 By “authorize” they mean “license”. That’s what the above case was about. And WHAT “license” are they talking about?
34 In next section we prove that license is, in fact, the Social Security Number or Taxpayer Identification Number”.

35 And guess what? The ONLY thing they can tax under I.R.C. Subtitles A and C of the Internal Revenue Code is a “trade or 36 business”, which they define as “the functions of a public office”. The implication of the above is that a taxable “trade or 37 business” CANNOT lawfully be offered in a state of the Union. That, in fact, is why the geographical definitions of “State”
38 and “United States” found in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10) and 4 U.S.C. §110(d) limit themselves to federal territory
39 not within any state. That is also why there are no internal revenue districts within any state of the Union and 26 U.S.C.
40 §7601 limits IRS Enforcement to “Internal Revenue Districts”. If this limit on the jurisdiction of the national government is

1 violated, then in effect we have an unconstitutional “INVASION” in violation of Article 4, Section 4 of the U.S. Constitution.
2 That “invasion” is a commercial invasion intended to “worship” mammon and filthy lucre:

3 United States Constitution
4 Section 4. Obligations of United States to States

5 The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a Republican Form of Government, and shall

8 [SOURCE: <http://law.justia.com/constitution/us/article-4/28-republication-form-of-government.html>]

9 To prove the foregoing, we’ll start off with a definition of “trade or business”:

10 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\)

11 “The term ‘trade or business’ includes [is limited to] the performance of the functions of a public office.”

12 The definition of “privilege”, which is also called a “public right” and a “franchise” in the legal field is very revealing about 13 what privileges ATTACH to:

14 privilege \ 'priv-lij, 'pri-və- \ noun

15 [Middle English, from Anglo-French, from Latin privilegium law for or against a private person, from privus
16 private + leg-, lex law] 12th century: a right or immunity granted as a peculiar benefit, advantage, or favor:
17 prerogative especially: such a right or immunity attached specifically to a position or an office
18 [Mish, F. C. (2003). Preface. Merriam-Websters collegiate dictionary. (Eleventh ed.). Springfield, MA: Merriam-
19 Webster, Inc.]

20
21 privilege verb transitive

22 -leged; -leging 14th century

23 1: to grant a privilege to

24 2: to accord a higher value or superior position to (privilege one mode of discourse over another)

25 [Mish, F. C. (2003). Preface. Merriam-Websters collegiate dictionary. (Eleventh ed.). Springfield, MA: Merriam-
26 Webster, Inc.]

27 Notice that “privileges” and therefore “public rights” and “franchises” always attach to an OFFICE. In the government that 28 office is called a “public office”. What office is that? It’s called a STATUTORY “citizen”, “resident”, “person”, or 29 “taxpayer”. The definition of “person” even confirms this!

31 § 6671. Rules for application of assessable penalties

32 (b) Person defined

33 The term “person”, as used in this subchapter, includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a member or
34 employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in 35 respect of which the violation occurs.

38 § 7343. Definition of term “person”

39 The term “person” as used in this chapter includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a member or
40 employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect
41 of which the violation occurs.

1 We know that the IRS likes to point to the word “includes” in the above definitions of “trade or business” and “person” and
2 state that it is an “expansive” definition that does not exclude the common meaning of the term. We must remember, however,
3 that there is an important principle of statutory construction which states that anything not mentioned in a law, statute, code,
4 or regulation is “excluded by implication”, which means that all things not connected to a “public office” are excluded from
5 the definition of “trade or business” by implication:

6 “When a statute includes an explicit definition, we must follow that definition, even if it varies from that term’s
7 ordinary meaning. Meese v. Keene, 481 U.S. 465, 484-485 (1987) (“It is axiomatic that the statutory definition
8 of the term excludes unstated meanings of that term”); Colautti v. Franklin, 439 U.S. at 392-393, n. 10 (“As a
9 rule, `a definition which declares what a term “means” . . . excludes any meaning that is not stated(“); Western
10 Union Telegraph Co. v. Lenroot, 323 U.S. 490, 502 (1945); Fox v. Standard Oil Co. of N.J., 294 U.S. 87, 95-96
11 (1935) (Cardozo, J.); see also 2A N. Singer, Sutherland on Statutes and Statutory Construction § 47.07, p. 152,
12 and n. 10 (5th ed. 1992) (collecting cases). That is to say, the statute, read “as a whole,” post at 998 [530 U.S.
13 943] (THOMAS, J., dissenting), leads the reader to a definition. That definition does not include the Attorney
14 General’s restriction -- “the child up to the head.” Its words, “substantial portion,” indicate the contrary.”
15 [Stenberg v. Carhart, 530 U.S. 914 (2000)]

16 “Expressio unius est exclusio alterius. A maxim of statutory interpretation meaning that the expression of one
17 thing is the exclusion of another. Burgin v. Forbes, 293 Ky. 456, 169 S.W.2d. 321, 325; Newblock v. Bowles,
18 170 Okl. 487, 40 P.2d. 1097, 1100. Mention of one thing implies exclusion of another. When certain persons or
19 things are specified in a law, contract, or will, an intention to exclude all others from its operation may be
20 inferred. Under this maxim, if statute specifies one exception to a general rule or assumes to specify the effects
21 of a certain provision, other exceptions or effects are excluded.”
22 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 581]

23 Therefore, the definition of the term “trade or business”, says what it means and means what it says. The Supreme Court has
24 held many times that words used in a law or statute are to be given their ordinary and plain meaning and are to be restricted
25 to the clear language found in the code itself. If you would like an exhaustive analysis of the meaning of the word “includes”
26 within the Internal Revenue Code, please refer to the free pamphlet available on the internet at:

Legal Deception, Propaganda, and Fraud, Form #05.014
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

27 Judges and even government administrators are NOT legislators and cannot by fiat or presumption add ANYTHING they
28 want to the definition of statutory terms. If they do, they are violating the separation of powers and conducting a commercial
29 invasion of the states in violation of Article 4, Section 4 of the United States Constitution. Furthermore, according to the creator
30 of our three branch system of government, there is NO FREEDOM AT ALL and liberty is IMPOSSIBLE when the executive
31 and LEGISLATIVE functions are united under a single person:

32 “When the legislative and executive powers are united in the same person, or in the same body of magistrates,
33 there can be no liberty; because apprehensions may arise, lest the same monarch or senate should enact
34 tyrannical laws, to execute them in a tyrannical manner.

35 Again, there is no liberty, if the judiciary power be not separated from the legislative and executive. Were it
36 joined with the legislative, the life and liberty of the subject would be exposed to arbitrary control; for the judge
37 would be then the legislator. Were it joined to the executive power, the judge might behave with violence and 38 oppression [sound familiar?].

39 There would be an end of everything, were the same man or the same body, whether of the nobles or of the 40 people, to exercise those three powers, that of enacting laws, that of executing the public resolutions, and of 41 trying the causes of individuals.”

43 In what a situation must the poor subject be in those republics! The same body of magistrates are possessed,
44 as executors of the laws, of the whole power they have given themselves in quality of legislators. They may
45 plunder the state by their general determinations; and as they have likewise the judiciary power in their hands,
46 every private citizen may be ruined by their particular decisions.”

47 [The Spirit of Laws, Charles de Montesquieu, 1758, Book XI, Section 6;

49 The only time in the I.R.C. where the term “trade or business” can mean anything other than what it is defined above to mean
50 is in places where there a regional definition that overrides the general or default definition found in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26)

1 above. Below is the only example of that within the I.R.C., which is intended to be used only in the context of “self
2 employment”:

3 26 U.S.C. §1402 Definitions

4 (c) Trade or business

5 *The term “trade or business”, when used with reference to self-employment income or net earnings from self-
6 employment, shall have the same meaning as when used in section 162 (relating to trade or business expenses),
7 except that such term shall not include -*

8 *(1) the performance of the functions of a public office, other than the functions of a public office of a State or a
9 political subdivision thereof with respect to fees received in any period in which the functions are performed in a
10 position compensated solely on a fee basis and in which such functions are not covered under an agreement
11 entered into by such State and the Commissioner of Social Security pursuant to section 218 of the Social Security
12 Act;*

13 (2) the performance of service by an individual as an employee, other than -

14 (A) service described in section 3121(b)(14)(B) performed by an individual who has attained the age of 18,

15 (B) service described in section 3121(b)(16),

16 *(C) service described in section 3121(b)(11), (12), or (15) performed in the United States (as defined in section
17 3121(e)(2)) by a citizen of the United States, except service which constitutes “employment” under section 18 3121(y),*

19 (D) service described in paragraph (4) of this subsection,

20 *(E) service performed by an individual as an employee of a State or a political subdivision thereof in a position
21 compensated solely on a fee basis with respect to fees received in any period in which such service is not covered
22 under an agreement entered into by such State and the Commissioner of Social Security pursuant to section 218
23 of the Social Security Act,*

24 (F) service described in section 3121(b) (20), and

25 (G) service described in section 3121(b)(8)(B);

26 (3) the performance of service by an individual as an employee or employee representative as defined in section 27 3231;

28 *(4) the performance of service by a duly ordained, commissioned, or licensed minister of a church in the exercise
29 of his ministry or by a member of a religious order in the exercise of duties required by such order;*

30 (5) the performance of service by an individual in the exercise of his profession as a Christian Science 31 practitioner; or

32 (6) the performance of service by an individual during the period for which an exemption under subsection (g) is 33 effective with respect to him. The provisions of paragraph (4) or (5) shall not apply to service (other than service 34 performed by a member of a religious order who has taken a vow of poverty as a member of such order) performed 35 by an individual unless an exemption under subsection (e) is effective with respect to him.

36 So we look up the definition in 26 U.S.C. §162 and here is what it says:

37 TITLE 26 > Subtitle A > CHAPTER 1 > Subchapter B
38 Part VI-Itemized deductions for Individuals and Corporations
39 Sec. 162. - Trade or business expenses

40 (a) In general

41 *There shall be allowed as a deduction all the ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred during the taxable
42 year in carrying on any trade or business, including –*

43 (1) a reasonable allowance for salaries or other compensation for personal services actually rendered;

1 So in other words, in the context of “self employment” ONLY, the term “trade or business” excludes public offices in the
2 District of Columbia and only includes those of federal territories and possessions, which are called “States” within the I.R.C.
3 This is because the default definition in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\) includes ALL public offices everywhere within federal
4 jurisdiction, whereas those public offices in the District of Columbia are specifically not mentioned by the above definition.
5 When the authors of U.S. Code in the Office of Law Revision Counsel of the House of Representatives wants to confuse and
6 mislead the American people, they will write the code in such a way as to use a double-negative, whereby they define what
7 the new definition of “trade or business” excludes, and then don’t include public offices in the District of Columbia but
8 include all other types of political offices under federal jurisdiction. Therefore, for self employment context ONLY, “trade
9 or business” has a different meaning than the default definition in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\) and has been overridden to exclude
10 public offices in the District of Columbia but include all other types of public offices otherwise within federal jurisdiction.

11 3.2 Social Security Numbers (SSNs) and Taxpayer Identification Numbers (TINs) are what the FTC calls a 12 “franchise mark”

13 The Federal Trade Commission (F.T.C.) has defined a commercial franchise as follows:

14 “. . . a commercial business arrangement is a “franchise” if it satisfies three definitional elements. Specifically,
15 the franchisor must:

- 16 (1) promise to provide a trademark or other commercial symbol;
17 (2) promise to exercise significant control or provide significant assistance in the operation of the business; and
18 (3) require a minimum payment of at least $500 during the first six months of operations.”

21 In the context of the above document, the “Social Security Number” or “Taxpayer Identification Number” function essentially
22 as what the F.T.C. calls a “franchise mark”. It behaves as what we call a “de facto license” to represent Caesar as a public
23 officer:

24 “A franchise entails the right to operate a business that is “identified or associated with the franchisor’s
25 trademark, or to offer, sell, or distribute goods, services, or commodities that are identified or associated with 26 the franchisor’s trademark.” The term “trademark” is intended to be read broadly to cover not only trademarks,
27 but any service mark, trade name, or other advertising or commercial symbol. This is generally referred to as the 28 “trademark” or “mark” element.

29 The franchisor [the government] need not own the mark itself, but at the very least must have the right to 30 license the use of the mark to others. Indeed, the right to use the franchisor’s mark in the operation of the 31 business - either by selling goods or performing services identified with the mark or by using the mark, in
32 whole or in part, in the business’ name - is an integral part of franchising. In fact, a supplier can avoid Rule
33 coverage of a particular distribution arrangement by expressly prohibiting the distributor from using its mark.”

36 This same SSN or TIN “ franchise mark” is what the Bible calls “the mark of the beast”. It defines “the Beast” as the 37 government or civil rulers:

38 “And I saw the beast, the kings of the earth, and their armies, gathered together to make war against Him who 39 sat on the horse and against His army.”

40 [Rev. 19:19, Bible, NKJV]

41 “He [the government BEAST] causes all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and slave, to receive a mark 42 on their right hand or on their foreheads, and that no one may buy or sell except one who has the mark or the 43 name of the beast, or the number of his name.

44 [Rev. 13:16-17, Bible, NKJV]

45 The “business” that is “operated” or “licensed” by THE BEAST in statutes is called a “trade or business” which is defined as 46 follows:

47 26 U.S.C. Sec. 7701\(a\)\(26\)

48 “The term ‘trade or business’ includes the performance of the functions of a public office.”

1 Those engaged in “the trade or business” franchise activity are officers of Caesar and have fired God as their civil protector.
2 By becoming said public officers or officers of Caesar, they have violated the FIRST COMMANDMENT of the Ten
3 Commandments, because they are “serving other gods”, and the pagan god they serve is a man:

4 “You shall have no other gods [including governments or civil rulers] before Me.

5 “You shall not make for yourself a carved image—any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in
6 the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth; you shall not bow down to them nor serve them. For I,
7 the LORD your God, am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children to the third and fourth
8 generations of those who hate Me, but showing mercy to thousands, to those who love Me and keep My
9 commandments.

10 [Exodus 20:3-6, Bible, NKJV]

11 By “bowing down” as indicated above, the Bible means that you cannot become UNEQUAL or especially INFERIOR to any 12 government or civil ruler under the civil law. In other words, you cannot surrender your equality and be civilly governed by 13 any government or civil ruler under the Roman system of jus civile, civil law, or civil “statutes”. That is not to say that you
14 are lawless or an “anarchist” by any means, because you are still accountable under criminal law, equity, and the common
15 law in any court. All civil statutory codes make the government superior and you inferior so you can’t consent to a domicile
16 and thereby become subject to it. The word “subjection” in the following means INFERIORITY:

17 “Protectio trahit subjectionem, subjectio projectionem.

18 Protection draws to it subjection, subjection, protection. Co. Litt. 65.”

19 [Bouvier’s Maxims of Law (1856);

20 SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouvierMaxims.htm>]

21 Below are ways one becomes subject to Caesar’s civil statutory “codes” and civil franchises as a “subject”, and thereby 22 surrenders their equality to engage in government idolatry:

- 23 1. Domicile by choice: Choosing domicile within a specific jurisdiction.
- 24 2. Domicile by operation of law. Also called domicile of necessity:
 - 25 2.1. Representing an entity that has a domicile within a specific jurisdiction even though not domiciled oneself in said
26 jurisdiction. For instance, representing a federal corporation as a public officer of said corporation, even though
27 domiciled outside the federal zone. The authority for this type of jurisdiction is, for instance, Federal Rule of 28 Civil Procedure 17(b).
 - 29 2.2. Becoming a dependent of someone else, and thereby assuming the same domicile as that of your care giver. For 30 instance, being a minor and dependent and having the same civil domicile as your parents. Another example is
31 becoming a government dependent and assuming the domicile of the government paying you the welfare check.
 - 32 2.3. Being committed to a prison as a prisoner, and thereby assuming the domicile of the government owning or 33 funding the prison.

34 Those who violate the First Commandment by doing any of the above become subject to the civil statutory franchises or 35 codes. They are thereby committing the following form of idolatry because they are nominating a King to be ABOVE them
36 rather than EQUAL to them under the common law:

37 *Then all the elders of Israel gathered together and came to Samuel at Ramah, and said to him, “Look, you are
38 old, and your sons do not walk in your ways. Now make us a king to judge us like all the nations [and be OVER 39 them]”.*

40 *But the thing displeased Samuel when they said, “Give us a king to judge us.” So Samuel prayed to the Lord.
41 And the Lord said to Samuel, “Heed the voice of the people in all that they say to you; for they have rejected
42 Me [God], that I should not reign over them. According to all the works which they have done since the day that
43 I brought them up out of Egypt, even to this day—with which they have forsaken Me and served other gods
44 [Kings, in this case]—so they are doing to you also [government becoming idolatry]. Now therefore, heed their
45 voice. However, you shall solemnly forewarn them, and show them the behavior of the king who will reign
46 over them.”*

47 *So Samuel told all the words of the LORD to the people who asked him for a king. And he said, “This will be the
48 behavior of the king who will reign over you: He will take [STEAL] your sons and appoint them for his own
49 chariots and to be his horsemen, and some will run before his chariots. He will appoint captains over his
50 thousands and captains over his fifties, will set some to plow his ground and reap his harvest, and some to
51 make his weapons of war and equipment for his chariots. He will take [STEAL] your daughters to be
52 perfumers, cooks, and bakers. And he will take [STEAL] the best of your fields, your vineyards, and your olive
53 groves, and give them to his servants. He will take [STEAL] a tenth of your grain and your vintage, and give*

1 it to his officers and servants. And he will take [STEAL] your male servants, your female servants, your finest
2 young men, and your donkeys, and put them to his work [as SLAVES]. He will take [STEAL] a tenth of your
3 sheep. And you will be his servants. And you will cry out in that day because of your king whom you have
4 chosen for yourselves, and the LORD will not hear you in that day.”

5 Nevertheless the people refused to obey the voice of Samuel; and they said, “No, but we will have a king over us,
6 that we also may be like all the nations, and that our king may judge us and go out before us and fight our battles.”
7 [1 Sam. 8:4-20, Bible, NKJV]

8 In support of this section, the following evidence is provided for use in court which PROVES that those who use SSNs or 9 TINs are considered to be and MUST, by law, be considered to be public officers:

- 10 1. The U.S. Supreme Court has held in the case of the State Action doctrine that those receiving government “benefits”
11 are to be regarded as state actors, meaning public officers.

12 “One great object of the Constitution is to permit citizens to structure their private relations as they choose
13 subject only to the constraints of statutory or decisional law. [500 U.S. 614, 620]

14 To implement these principles, courts must consider from time to time where the governmental sphere [e.g.
15 “public purpose” and “public office”] ends and the private sphere begins. Although the conduct of private
16 parties lies beyond the Constitution’s scope in most instances, governmental authority may dominate an activity
17 to such an extent that its participants must be deemed to act with the authority of the government and, as a
18 result, be subject to constitutional constraints. This is the jurisprudence of state action, which explores the
19 “essential dichotomy” between the private sphere and the public sphere, with all its attendant constitutional
20 obligations. Moose Lodge, supra, at 172. “

21 [. . .]

22 Given that the statutory authorization for the challenges exercised in this case is clear, the remainder of our state
23 action analysis centers around the second part of the Lugar test, whether a private litigant, in all fairness, must
24 be deemed a government actor in the use of peremptory challenges. Although we have recognized that this aspect
25 of the analysis is often a fact-bound inquiry, see Lugar, supra, 457 U.S. at 939, our cases disclose certain
26 principles of general application. Our precedents establish that, in determining whether a particular action or
27 course of conduct is governmental in character, it is relevant to examine the following: the extent to which the
28 actor relies on governmental assistance and benefits, see Tulsa Professional Collection Services, Inc. v. Pope,
29 485 U.S. 478 (1988); Burton v. Wilmington Parking Authority, 365 U.S. 715 (1961); whether the actor is
30 performing a traditional governmental function, see Terry v. Adams, 345 U.S. 461 (1953); Marsh v. Alabama,
31 326 U.S. 501 (1946); cf. San Francisco Arts & Athletics, Inc. v. United States Olympic [500 U.S. 614, 622]
32 Committee, 483 U.S. 522, 544 -545 (1987); and whether the injury caused is aggravated in a unique way by the
33 incidents of governmental authority, see Shelley v. Kraemer, 334 U.S. 1 (1948). Based on our application of these
34 three principles to the circumstances here, we hold that the exercise of peremptory challenges by the defendant
35 in the District Court was pursuant to a course of state action.
36 [Edmonson v. Leesville Concrete Company, 500 U.S. 614 (1991)]

- 37 2. The U.S. Supreme Court has held that government identifying numbers may be mandated against those seeking to 38 receive government “benefits”.

39 Appellees raise a constitutional challenge to two features of the statutory scheme here.^[41] They object to Congress’
40 requirement that a state AFDC plan “must . . . provide (A) that, as a condition of eligibility under the plan, each 41 applicant for or recipient of aid shall furnish to the State agency his social security account number.” 42 U. S. C.
42 § 602(a)(25) (emphasis added). They also object to Congress’ requirement that “such State agency shall utilize 43 such account numbers. . . in the administration of such plan.” Ibid. (emphasis added).^[51] We analyze each of these 44 contentions, turning to the latter contention first.

45 Our cases have long recognized a distinction between the freedom of individual belief, which is absolute, and 46 the freedom of individual conduct, which is not absolute. This case implicates only the latter concern. Roy
47 objects to the statutory requirement that state agencies “shall utilize” Social Security numbers not because it
48 places any restriction on what he may believe or what he may do, but because he believes the use of the number
49 may harm his daughter’s spirit.

50 Never to our knowledge has the Court interpreted the First Amendment to require the Government itself to 51 behave in ways that the individual believes will further his or her spiritual development or that of his or her
52 family. The Free Exercise Clause simply cannot be understood to require the Government to conduct its own
53 internal affairs in ways that comport with the religious beliefs of particular citizens. Just as the Government
54 may not insist that appellees engage in [476 U.S. 693, 700] any set form of religious observance, so appellees
55 may not demand that the Government join in their chosen religious practices by refraining from using a number
56 to identify their daughter. “[T]he Free Exercise Clause is written in terms of what the government cannot do to

1 the individual, not in terms of what the individual can extract from the government." Sherbert v. Verner, 374 U.S.
2 398, 412 (1963) (Douglas, J., concurring).

3 As a result, Roy may no more prevail on his religious objection to the Government's use of a Social Security
4 number for his daughter than he could on a sincere religious objection to the size or color of the Government's 5 filing cabinets. The Free Exercise Clause affords an individual protection from certain forms of governmental
6 compulsion; it does not afford an individual a right to dictate the conduct of the Government's internal 7 procedures.

10 FOOTNOTES:

11 [4] They also raise a statutory argument — that the Government's denial of benefits to them constitutes illegal

13 claims to be without merit.

15 in the AFDC program quoted in the text. See 7 U.S.C. §2025(e).

- 16 3. The U.S. Supreme Court has also held that no one can RECEIVE government payments without actually WORKING 17 for the government. Any abuse of the taxing power to redistribute wealth is unconstitutional.

18 To lay, with one hand, the power of the government on the property of the citizen, and with the other to bestow
19 it upon favored individuals to aid private enterprises and build up private fortunes, is none the less a robbery
20 because it is done under the forms of law and is called taxation. This is not legislation. It is a decree under
21 legislative forms.

22 Nor is it taxation. 'A tax,' says Webster's Dictionary, 'is a rate or sum of money assessed on the person or
23 property of a citizen by government for the use of the nation or State.' 'Taxes are burdens or charges imposed

26 mind has everywhere taken in the understanding that taxes are a public imposition, levied by authority of the
27 government for the purposes of carrying on the government in all its machinery and operations—that they are
28 imposed for a public purpose.' See, also Pray v. Northern Liberties, 31 Pa.St. 69; Matter of Mayor of N.Y., 11

38 TITLE 5 > PART I > CHAPTER 5 > SUBCHAPTER II > § 552a
39 §552a. Records maintained on individuals

40 (a) Definitions.— For purposes of this section—

41 (13) the term "Federal personnel" means officers and employees of the Government of the United States,
42 members of the uniformed services (including members of the Reserve Components), individuals entitled to 43 receive immediate or deferred retirement benefits under any retirement program of the Government of the 44 United States (including survivor benefits).

- 45 5. Those not subject to the Internal Revenue Code and a "foreign estate" are described as NOT engaged in a "trade or 46 business", meaning a public office.

48 § 7701. Definitions

1 (31) Foreign estate or trust

2 (A) Foreign estate The term “foreign estate” means an estate the income of which, from sources without the
3 United States which is not effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States,
4 is not includible in gross income under subtitle A.

5 (B) Foreign trust The term “foreign trust” means any trust other than a trust described in subparagraph (E) of 6 paragraph (30).

7 6. Those who work for the government or receive the “benefit” of any government civil statute are presumed to waive
8 ALL of their constitutional rights and cannot invoke ANY of them in court.

9 “The principle is invoked that one who accepts the benefit of a statute cannot be heard to question its 10 constitutionality. Great Falls Manufacturing Co. v. Attorney General, 124 U.S. 581, 8 S.Ct. 631, 31 L.Ed. 527;
11 Wall v. Parrot Silver & Copper Co., 244 U.S. 407, 37 S.Ct. 609, 61 L.Ed. 1229; St. Louis, etc., Co., v. George C.

14 6. The Court will not pass upon the constitutionality of a statute at the instance of one who has availed himself of 15 its benefits.⁵ Great Falls Mfg. Co. v. Attorney General, 124 U.S. 581, 8 S.Ct. 631, 31 L.Ed. 527; Wall v. Parrot
16 Silver & Copper Co., 244 U.S. 407, 411, 412, 37 S.Ct. 609, 61 L.Ed. 1229; St. Louis Malleable Casting Co. v.
17 Prendergast Construction Co., 260 U.S. 469, 43 S.Ct. 178, 67 L.Ed. 351.”
19

20 “It is not open to question that one who has acquired rights of property necessarily based upon a statute may not
21 attack that statute as unconstitutional, for he cannot both assail it and rely upon it in the same proceeding. *528
22 Hurley v. Commission of Fisheries, 257 U. S. 223, 225, 42 S.Ct. 83, 66 L.Ed. 206.”
23 [Frost v. Corporation Commission, 278 U.S. 515, 49 S.Ct. 235 (U.S., 1929)]

24 Based on the preceding overwhelming evidence, the inference and conclusion that Social Security Numbers are regarded and
25 treated as a de facto license to occupy a public office is inescapable. The taxation of the exercise of that office, in fact, is the 26 main object of the entire Internal Revenue Code Subtitles A and C. It is de facto, because those exercising said office do so 27 illegally and unconstitutionally in the vast majority of cases.

28 3.3 Government franchises generally

29 Government franchises and the excise taxes that implement them such as the “trade or business” franchise are commonly 30 called by any of the following names to disguise the nature of the transaction:

- 31 1. “public right”.
- 32 2. “publici juris”.
- 33 3. “privilege”.
- 34 4. “excise taxable privilege”.
- 35 5. “public office”.
- 36 6. “Congressionally created right”.

37 The U.S. Supreme Court confirmed that the income tax was an excise tax indirectly when they held the following:

38 “The distinction between public rights and private rights has not been definitively explained in our precedents.⁶
39 Nor is it necessary to do so in the present cases, for it suffices to observe that a matter of public rights must at a

⁶ Crowell v. Benson, 285 U.S. 22, 52 S.Ct. 285, 76 L.Ed. 598 (1932), attempted to catalog some of the matters that fall within the public-rights doctrine:

“Familiar illustrations of administrative agencies created for the determination of such matters are found in connection with the exercise of the congressional power as to interstate and foreign commerce, taxation, immigration, the public lands, public health, the facilities of the post office, pensions and payments to veterans.” Id., at 51, 52 S.Ct., at 292 (footnote omitted).

1 minimum arise "between the government and others." Ex parte Bakelite Corp., supra, at 451, 49 S.Ct., at 413.⁷
2 In contrast, "the liability of one individual to another under the law as defined," Crowell v. Benson, supra, at 51,
3 52 S.Ct., at 292, is a matter of private rights. Our precedents clearly establish that only controversies in the 4 former category may be removed from Art. III courts and delegated to legislative courts or administrative
5 *agencies for their determination. See Atlas Roofing Co. v. Occupational Safety and Health Review Comm'n,*
6 *430 U.S. 442, 450, n. 7, 97 S.Ct. 1261, 1266, n. 7, 51 L.Ed.2d. 464 (1977); Crowell v. Benson, supra, 285 U.S.,*
7 at 50-51, 52 S.Ct., at 292. See also Katz, Federal Legislative Courts, 43 Harv.L.Rev. 894, 917-918 (1930).FN24
8 Private-rights disputes, on the other hand, lie at the core of the historically recognized judicial power."

9 [. . .]

10 Although Crowell and Raddatz do not explicitly distinguish between rights created by Congress and other rights,
11 such a distinction underlies in part Crowell's and Raddatz's recognition of a critical difference between rights
12 created by federal statute and rights recognized by the Constitution. Moreover, such a distinction seems to us
13 to be necessary in light of the delicate accommodations required by the principle of separation of powers reflected 14 in Art. III. The constitutional system of checks and balances is designed to guard against "encroachment or 15 aggrandizement" by Congress at the expense of the other branches of government. Buckley v. Valeo, 424 U.S.,
16 at 122, 96 S.Ct., at 683. But when Congress creates a statutory right [a "privilege" in this case, such as a "trade 17 or business"], it clearly has the discretion, in defining that right, to create presumptions, or assign burdens of 18 proof, or prescribe remedies; it may also provide that persons seeking to vindicate that right must do so before
19 particularized tribunals created to perform the specialized adjudicative tasks related to that right.FN35 Such 20 provisions do, in a sense, affect the exercise of judicial power, but they are also incidental to Congress' power to 21 define the right that it has created. No comparable justification exists, however, when the right being adjudicated
22 is not of congressional creation. In such a situation, substantial inroads into functions that have traditionally 23 been performed by the Judiciary cannot be characterized merely as incidental extensions of Congress' power to 24 define rights that it has created. Rather, such inroads suggest unwarranted encroachments upon the judicial 25 power of the United States, which our Constitution reserves for Art. III courts.
26 [Northern Pipeline Const. Co. v. Marathon Pipe Line Co., 458 U.S. at 83-84, 102 S.Ct. 2858 (1983)]

27 To give you an example of the above phenomenon, the so-called "U.S. Tax Court" is identified in 26 U.S.C. §7441 as an 28 Article I court, and hence NOT an Article III court as described above. It is therefore what the U.S. Supreme Court identified
29 above as a "particularized" tribunal that officiates ONLY over "Congressionally created rights", which is a euphemism for 30 "privileges" incident to a franchise.

31 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 76 > Subchapter C > PART I > § 7441
32 § 7441. Status

33 There is hereby established, under article I of the Constitution of the United States, a court of record to be 34 known as the United States Tax Court. The members of the Tax Court shall be the chief judge and the judges of 35 the Tax Court.

36 Only "public rights" exercised by "public officers" may be officiated in the U.S. Tax Court, which is a "legislative franchise 37 court".

38 "franchise court. Hist. A privately held court that (usu.) exists by virtue of a royal grant [privilege], with 39 jurisdiction over a variety of matters, depending on the grant and whatever powers the court acquires over time.
40 In 1274, Edward I abolished many of these feudal courts by forcing the nobility to demonstrate by what authority
41 (quo warranto) they held court. If a lord could not produce a charter reflecting the franchise, the court was 42 abolished. - Also termed courts of the franchise.

43 Dispensing justice was profitable. Much revenue could come from the fees and dues, fines and amercements. This
44 explains the growth of the second class of feudal courts, the Franchise Courts. They too were private courts held
45 by feudal lords. Sometimes their claim to jurisdiction was based on old pre-Conquest grants ... But many of them
46 were, in reality, only wrongful usurpations of private jurisdiction by powerful lords. These were put down after 47 the famous Quo Warranto enquiry in the reign of Edward I." W.J.V. Windeyer, Lectures on Legal History 56-57
48 (2d ed. 1949)."
49 [Black's Law Dictionary, Seventh Edition, p. 668]

⁷ Congress cannot "withdraw from [Art. III] judicial cognizance any matter which, from its nature, is the subject of a suit at the common law, or in equity, or admiralty." Murray's Lessee v. Hoboken Land & Improvement Co., 18 How. 272, 284 (1856) (emphasis added). It is thus clear that the presence of the United States as a proper party to the proceeding is a necessary but not sufficient means of distinguishing "private rights" from "public rights." And it is also clear that even with respect to matters that arguably fall within the scope of the "public rights" doctrine, the presumption is in favor of Art. III courts. See Glidden Co. v. Zdanok, 370 U.S., at 548-549, and n. 21, 82 S.Ct., at 1471-1472, and n. 21 (opinion of Harlan, J.). See also Currie, The Federal Courts and the American Law Institute, Part I, 36 U.Chi.L.Rev. 1, 13-14, n. 67 (1968). Moreover, when Congress assigns these matters to administrative agencies, or to legislative courts, it has generally provided, and we have suggested that it may be required to provide, for Art. III judicial review. See Atlas Roofing Co. v. Occupational Safety and Health Review Comm'n, 430 U.S., at 455, n. 13, 97 S.Ct., at 1269, n. 13.

1 Below are the legal mechanisms involved as described by the Annotated U.S. Constitution:

2 The Public Rights Distinction

3 "That is, "public" rights are, strictly speaking, those in which the cause of action inheres in or lies against the 4 Federal Government in its sovereign capacity, the understanding since Murray's Lessee. However, to 5 accommodate Crowell v. Benson, Atlas Roofing, and similar cases, seemingly private causes of action between 6 private parties will also be deemed "public" rights, when Congress, acting for a valid legislative purpose
7 pursuant to its Article I powers, fashions a cause of action that is analogous to a common-law claim and so
8 closely integrates it into a public regulatory scheme that it becomes a matter appropriate for agency resolution
9 with limited involvement by the Article III judiciary. (82)"

10 [Footnote 82: Granfinanciera, S.A. v. Nordberg, 492 U.S. at 52-54. The Court reiterated that the Government
11 need not be a party as a prerequisite to a matter being of "public right." Id. at 54. Concurring, Justice Scalia
12 argued that public rights historically were and should remain only those matters to which the Federal
13 Government is a party. Id. at 65.]

16 So the U.S. Tax Court is really nothing more than an administrative binding arbitration board for federal statutory 17 "employees" and public officers in resolving disputes INTERNAL to the national government and among federal 18 instrumentalities, officers, bureaus, and agencies. All these entities are identified in 26 U.S.C. §6331(a) as the ONLY proper
19 subject of IRS enforcement activity, which the code calls "distrain". That, in fact, is why the INTERNAL Revenue Service
20 begins with the word "INTERNAL". The "private causes of action" they are referring to are the exercise of "private law",
21 which is a fancy term for contract law, where the franchise itself codified in Internal Revenue Code, Subtitles A through C is
22 the franchise contract. The U.S. Supreme Court called income taxes a "quasi contract", in fact.⁸

23 "Private law. That portion of the law which defines, regulates, enforces, and administers relationships among
24 individuals, associations, and corporations. As used in contradistinction to public law, the term means all that
25 part of the law which is administered between citizen and citizen, or which is concerned with the definition,
26 regulation, and enforcement of rights in cases where both the person in whom the right inheres and the person
27 upon whom the obligation is incident are private individuals. See also Private bill; Special law. Compare Public
28 Law."

29 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1196]

30 Private law such as the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitles A through C can only acquire the "force of law" through the consent
31 of BOTH parties to it. Contracts between private people are an example of private law. This is thoroughly established in:

Requirement for Consent, Form #05.003, Sections 8.8 through 9.6

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

32 3.4 Misunderstandings and propaganda about the income tax

33 Many people misrepresent the facts by claiming that the I.R.C. is not "law". It IS law, but NOT for everyone. If someone 34 shoves a signed contract in front of you and you manifest actions that indicate consent to the provisions of the contract, then
35 it's as good as if you signed it. This kind of consent is called "implied" consent or "tacit procurement". This kind of consent 36 is manifested in several forms, including:

- 37 1. Filling out "taxpayer" forms. ALL IRS forms are ONLY for consenting statutory "taxpayers".
- 38 1.1. IRS Mission Statement, Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 1.1.1.1 says that they can help ONLY
39 statutory "taxpayers" who consent to the franchise contract. That is the true meaning of the word "Service" in 40 their name. They are helping those who volunteer to "serve" uncle with their "donations". 31 U.S.C. §321(d), in 41 fact, identifies all income taxes as "donations". So whenever you see the word "tax", it REALLY means a
42 donation paid under the authority of the federal public officer kickback program disguised to LOOK like a lawful 43 constitutional tax.
- 44 1.2. If you want a nontaxpayer form, you will have to modify theirs to make one or make your own nontaxpayer form.
45 They don't help and even interfere with the rights of "nontaxpayers", which makes us wonder whether they can 46 even really be part of a government. REAL governments provide EQUAL protection to both "taxpayers" and ⁸ See Milwaukee v. White, 296 U.S. 268 (1935).

1 “nontaxpayers”, don’t discriminate, and are instituted to protect mainly PRIVATE rights, which means
2 constitutional rights of NONTAXPAYERS FIRST, before they can even take on the job of ALSO protecting
3 public rights of public officers. For a huge collection of “nontaxpayer forms”, see:

SEDM Forms and Publications Page
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 4 2. VOLUNTARILY signing and submitting an IRS Form W-4, which the treasury regulations identify as an “agreement”,
5 and hence contract. See 26 C.F.R. §31.3401(a)-3(a) and 26 C.F.R. §31.3402(p)-1. The upper left corner of the form
6 says “EMPLOYEE’S WITHHOLDING ALLOWANCE CERTIFICATE”:
 - 7 2.1. YOU are the one doing the “allowing”.
 - 8 2.2. What you are consenting to is to become a public officer engaged in the “trade or business”, “social insurance”
9 and SOCIALISM franchise. You are trading RIGHTS for statutory privileges by signing up.
 - 10 2.3. The IRS Form W-4 is therefore a request to become a Kelly girl on loan to a formerly private employer and to 11 send kickbacks to the mother corporation and your “parens patriae” that loans out your services as a public
12 officer.
- 13 3. Quoting any provision of the I.R.C. and thereby “purposefully availing” yourself of its “benefits” and thereby:
 - 14 3.1. Waiving sovereign immunity under 28 U.S.C. §1605(a)(2).
 - 15 3.2. Changing your status from a statutory “non-resident non-person” to that of a resident alien under 26 U.S.C.
16 §7701(b)(1)(A).
- 17 4. Claiming earned income credits under 26 U.S.C. §32, or “trade or business” deductions under 26 U.S.C. §162.
- 18 5. Petitioning U.S. Tax Court. Tax Court Rule 13(a) says that only “taxpayers” who are party to the contract can avail 19 themselves of the “benefits” of this brand of administrative rather than judicial remedy.
- 20 6. Using a “Taxpayer Identification Number”, which 26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1(b) says is only mandatory in the case of 21 those engaged in a “trade or business” and therefore a public office in the U.S. government.

22 The IRS, judges, and government prosecutors don’t want you to know this stuff and carefully hide the nature of the transaction
23 to keep you in the dark. They love what we call “mushrooms”, which are organisms that you keep in the dark and feed SHIT
24 to. The SHIT is:

- 25 1. Disinformation.
- 26 2. Deceptive publications that refuse to disclose accurate definitions of key words.
- 27 3. Words of art in their void for vagueness franchise “codes” that are private law.
- 28 4. Concealing of the real names of the IRS agents (they don’t use their REAL names)
- 29 5. False accusations to keep you on the defensive.
- 30 6. Filtering evidence from appearing in litigation to keep the jury from learning what is in this document and thereby
31 unjustly enrich themselves at your expense. This is naked thievery.

32 Your public dis-servants play these games to disguise the consensual nature of what they are doing and let you practically
33 convict and hang yourself. They sit back and watch by doing all the above, never once telling you that your consent is 34 required, or asking you whether you want to consent, or notifying you in their publications that they will protect your right
35 to NOT consent. We call this the “Rig and bait the trap and hide the consent game”. The trap is their own omission and the 36 legal ignorance they manufactured in you within the public/government school system that they use to HARVEST your labor
37 and property when you enter the work force. You live on a corporate farm and you are government livestock. See:

The REAL Matrix, Stefan Molyneux

38 Why do they need your consent? Because the Declaration of Independence says ALL JUST AUTHORITY of any civil 39 government derives from CONSENT of the governed, and they need that consent in a LOT of ways to govern. Another
40 reason is that he who consents cannot complain of an injury accomplished during tax enforcement and in some cases entirely
41 forfeits their right to sue in REAL, Constitutional court instead of fake U.S. Tax Court franchise court.

42 "These general rules are well settled:

43 (1) That the United States, when it creates rights in individuals against itself [a "public right", which is a 44 euphemism for a "franchise" to help the court disguise the nature of the transaction], is under no obligation to
45 provide a remedy through the courts, United States ex rel. Dunlap v. Black, 128 U.S. 40, 9 Sup.Ct. 12, 32 L.Ed.

(2) That where a statute creates a right and provides a special remedy, that remedy is exclusive. Wilder Manufacturing Co. v. Corn Products Co., 236 U.S. 165, 174, 175, 35 Sup.Ct. 398, 59 L.Ed. 520, Ann. Cas. 1916A, 118; Amson v. Murphy, 109 U.S. 238, 3 Sup.Ct. 184, 27 L.Ed. 920; Barnet v. National Bank, 98 U.S. 555, 558, 25 L.Ed. 212; Farmers' & Mechanics' National Bank v. Dearing, 91 U.S. 29, 35, 23 L.Ed. 196. Still the fact that the right and the remedy are thus intertwined might not, if the provision stood alone, require us to hold that the remedy expressly given excludes a right of review by the Court of Claims, where the decision of the special tribunal involved no disputed question of fact and the denial of compensation was rested wholly upon the construction of the act. See Medbury v. United States, 173 U.S. 492, 198, 19 Sup.Ct. 503, 43 L.Ed. 779; Parish v. MacVeagh, 214 U.S. 124, 29 Sup.Ct. 556, 53 L.Ed. 936; McLean v. United States, 226 U.S. 374, 33 Sup.Ct. 122, 57 L.Ed. 260; United States v. Laughlin (No. 200), 249 U.S. 440, 39 Sup.Ct. 340, 63 L.Ed. 696, decided April 14, 1919. [U.S. v. Babcock, 250 U.S. 328, 39 S.Ct. 464 (1919)]

It is otherwise an unconstitutional "bill of attainder" to institute IRS penalties against a person protected by the Constitution:

Volunt non fit injuria.
He who consents cannot receive an injury. 2 Bouv. Inst. n. 2279, 2327; 4 T. R. 657; Shelf. on mar. & Div. 449.

Consensus tollit errorem.
Consent removes or obviates a mistake. Co. Litt. 126.

Melius est omnia mala pati quam malo concentire.
It is better to suffer every wrong or ill, than to consent to it. 3 Co. Inst. 23.

Nemo videtur fraudare eos qui sciunt, et consentiunt.
One cannot complain of having been deceived when he knew the fact and gave his consent. Dig. 50, 17, 145.

SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouvierMaxims.htm>]

The important thing to remember, however, is that Congress is FORBIDDEN from creating franchises within states of the Union. Why? Because:

1. The Declaration of Independence, which is organic law, says our constitutional rights are "unalienable".
2. An "unalienable right" is one that you AREN'T ALLOWED BY LAW to consent to give away in relation to a real, de jure government! Such a right cannot lawfully be sold, bargained away, or transferred through any commercial process, INCLUDING A FRANCHISE. Hence, even if we consent, the forfeiture of such rights is unconstitutional, unauthorized, and a violation of the fiduciary duty to the public officer we surrender them to.

"Unalienable. Inalienable; incapable of being aliened, that is, sold and transferred."
[Black's Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, p. 1693]

3. The only place you can lawfully give up constitutional rights is where they physically do not exist, which is among those domiciled on AND physically present on federal territory not part of any state of the Union.

"Indeed, the practical interpretation put by Congress upon the Constitution has been long continued and uniform to the effect [182 U.S. 244, 279] that the Constitution is applicable to territories acquired by purchase or conquest, only when and so far as Congress shall so direct. Notwithstanding its duty to 'guarantee to every state in this Union a republican form of government' (art. 4, 4), by which we understand, according to the definition of Webster, 'a government in which the supreme power resides in the whole body of the people, and is exercised by representatives elected by them.' Congress did not hesitate, in the original organization of the territories of Louisiana, Florida, the Northwest Territory, and its subdivisions of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, and Wisconsin and still more recently in the case of Alaska, to establish a form of government bearing a much greater analogy to a British Crown colony than a republican state of America, and to vest the legislative power either in a governor and council, or a governor and judges, to be appointed by the President. It was not until they had attained a certain population that power was given them to organize a legislature by vote of the people. In all these cases, as well as in territories subsequently organized west of the Mississippi, Congress thought it necessary either to extend to Constitution and laws of the United States over them, or to declare that the inhabitants should be entitled to enjoy the right of trial by jury, of bail, and of the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus, as well as other privileges of the bill of rights."

1 4. All governments are created exclusively to protect PRIVATE RIGHTS. The way you protect them is to LEAVE
2 THEM ALONE and not burden their exercise in any way. A lawful de jure government cannot and does not protect
3 your rights by making a business out of destroying, regulating, and taxing their exercise, implement the business as a
4 franchise, and hide the nature of what they are doing as a franchise and an excise. This would cause and has caused the
5 money changers to take over the charitable public trust and “civic temple” and make it into a warehouse in violation
6 of the Constitutional trust indenture. This kind of money changing in fact, is the very reason that Jesus flipped tables
7 over in the temple out of anger: Turning the bride of Christ and God’s minister for justice into a WHORE. The nuns
8 are now pimped out and the church is open for business for all the statutory “taxpayer” Johns who walk in.

9 That is why the geographical definitions within the I.R.C. limit themselves to federal territory exclusively and include no part
10 of any state of the Union.

11 If you want an exhaustive analysis of how franchises such as the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitles A through C operate,

13 3.5 Public offices

14 A “public office” is a type of employment or agency within the federal government that is created by contract or agreement 15 that you must implicitly or explicitly consent to.

16 Public office

17 “Essential characteristics of a ‘public office’ are:

18 (1) Authority conferred by law,

19 (2) Fixed tenure of office, and

20 (3) Power to exercise some of the sovereign functions of government.

21 (4) Key element of such test is that “officer is carrying out a sovereign function’.

22 (5) Essential elements to establish public position as ‘public office’ are:

23 (a) Position must be created by Constitution, legislature, or through authority conferred by legislature.

24 (b) Portion of sovereign power of government must be delegated to position,

25 (c) Duties and powers must be defined, directly or implied, by legislature or through legislative authority.

26 (d) Duties must be performed independently without control of superior power other than law, and

27 (e) Position must have some permanency.”

28 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1230]

29 A person holding a “public office” has a fiduciary duty to the public as a “trustee” of the “public trust”:

30 “As expressed otherwise, the powers delegated to a public officer are held in trust for the people and are to be
31 exercised in behalf of the government or of all citizens who may need the intervention of the officer. 9
32 Furthermore, the view has been expressed that all public officers, within whatever branch and whatever level
33 of government, and whatever be their private vocations, are trustees of the people, and accordingly labor under
34 every disability and prohibition imposed by law upon trustees relative to the making of personal financial gain
35 from a discharge of their trusts. 10 That is, a public officer occupies a fiduciary relationship to the political 36 entity on whose behalf he or she serves. 11 and owes a fiduciary duty to the public. 12 It has been said that

9 State ex rel. Nagle v. Sullivan, 98 Mont. 425, 40 P.2d. 995, 99 A.L.R. 321; Jersey City v. Hague, 18 N.J. 584, 115 A.2d. 8.

10 Georgia Dep’t of Human Resources v. Sistrunk, 249 Ga. 543, 291 S.E.2d. 524. A public official is held in public trust. Madlener v. Finley (1st Dist), 161 Ill.App.3d. 796, 113 Ill.Dec. 712, 515 N.E.2d. 697, app gr 117 Ill.Dec. 226, 520 N.E.2d. 387 and revd on other grounds 128 Ill.2d. 147, 131 Ill.Dec. 145, 538 N.E.2d. 520.

11 Chicago Park Dist. v. Kenroy, Inc., 78 Ill.2d. 555, 37 Ill.Dec. 291, 402 N.E.2d. 181, appeal after remand (1st Dist) 107 Ill.App.3d. 222, 63 Ill.Dec. 134, 437 N.E.2d. 783.

12 United States v. Holzer (CA7 Ill), 816 F.2d. 304 and vacated, remanded on other grounds 484 U.S. 807, 98 L.Ed.2d. 18, 108 S.Ct. 53, on remand (CA7 Ill) 840 F.2d. 1343, cert den 486 U.S. 1035, 100 L.Ed.2d. 608, 108 S.Ct. 2022 and (criticized on other grounds by United States v. Osser (CA3 Pa) 864 F.2d. 1056) and (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in United States v. Little (CA5 Miss) 889 F.2d. 1367) and (among conflicting authorities on other grounds noted in United States v. Boylan (CA1 Mass), 898 F.2d. 230, 29 Fed.Rules.Evid.Serv. 1223).

1 the fiduciary responsibilities of a public officer cannot be less than those of a private individual. 13
2 Furthermore, it has been stated that any enterprise undertaken by the public official which tends to weaken public
3 confidence and undermine the sense of security for individual rights is against public policy.14”
4 [63C American Jurisprudence 2d, Public Officers and Employees, §247 (1999)]

5 If you aren't engaged in a "public office", then you can't be the proper subject of the income tax or truthfully or lawfully be
6 described as THE "person", "individual", "employee", "employer", "citizen", "resident", or "taxpayer" described anywhere
7 in the Internal Revenue Code UNLESS you volunteer by signing an agreement in some form. Yes, you could be described
8 by these terms in their ordinary English usage, but you would not fit the LEGAL meanings of these terms as they are defined
9 in the Internal Revenue Code unless you in fact and in deed engage in a "public office" within the United States government
10 through private contract or agreement that you consent to. Within this publication, we put quotes around words like those 11 above when we wish to refer to the legally defined meaning of a term and exclude the common or ordinary definition. In that 12 sense, the Internal Revenue Code constitutes:

13 1. Private law:

14 “Private law. That portion of the law which defines, regulates, enforces, and administers relationships among
15 individuals, associations, and corporations. As used in contradistinction to public law, the term means all that
16 part of the law which is administered between citizen and citizen, or which is concerned with the definition,
17 regulation, and enforcement of rights in cases where both the person in whom the right inheres and the person
18 upon whom the obligation is incident are private individuals. See also Private bill; Special law. Compare Public
19 Law.”
20 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1196]

21 2. Special law:

22 “special law. One relating to particular persons or things; one made for individual cases or for particular places
23 or districts; one operating upon a selected class, rather than upon the public generally. A private law. A law is
24 "special" when it is different from others of the same general kind or designed for a particular purpose, or limited
25 in range or confined to a prescribed field of action or operation. A "special law" relates to either particular
26 persons, places, or things or to persons, places, or things which, though not particularized, are separated by any
27 method of selection from the whole class to which the law might, but not such legislation, be applied. Utah Farm
28 Bureau Ins. Co. v. Utah Ins. Guaranty Ass'n, Utah, 564 P.2d. 751, 754. A special law applies only to an individual
29 or a number of individuals out of a single class similarly situated and affected, or to a special locality. Board of
30 County Com'rs of Lemhi County v. Swensen, Idaho, 80 Idaho 198, 327 P.2d. 361, 362. See also Private bill;
31 Private law. Compare General law; Public law.”
32 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, pp. 1397-1398]

33 3. What the courts call a "franchise", which is a "privilege" or benefit offered only to those who volunteer:

34 FRANCHISE. A special privilege conferred by government on individual or corporation, and which does not
35 belong to citizens of country generally of common right. Elliott v. City of Eugene, 135 Or. 108, 294 P. 358, 360.
36 In England it is defined to be a royal privilege in the hands of a subject.

37 A "franchise," as used by Blackstone in defining quo warranto, (3 Com. 262 [4th Am. Ed.] 322), had reference
38 to a royal privilege or branch of the king's prerogative subsisting in the hands of the subject, and must arise from
39 the king's grant, or be held by prescription, but today we understand a franchise to be some special privilege
40 conferred by government on an individual, natural or artificial, which is not enjoyed by its citizens in general.
41 State v. Fernandez, 106 Fla. 779, 143 So. 638, 639, 86 A.L.R. 240.

42 In this country a franchise is a privilege or immunity of a public nature, which cannot be legally exercised
43 without legislative grant. To be a corporation is a franchise. The various powers conferred on corporations are 44 franchises. The execution of a policy of insurance by an insurance company [e.g. Social Insurance/Socialist
45 Security], and the issuing a bank note by an incorporated bank [such as a Federal Reserve NOTE], are 46 franchises. People v. Utica Ins. Co., 15 Johns., N.Y., 387, 8 Am.Dec. 243. But it does not embrace the property
47 acquired by the exercise of the franchise. Bridgeport v. New York & N. H. R. Co., 36 Conn. 255, 4 Arn.Rep. 63.
48 Nor involve interest in land acquired by grantee. Whitbeck v. Funk, 140 Or. 70, 12 P.2d. 1019, 1020 In a popular
49 sense, the political rights of subjects and citizens are franchises, such as the right of suffrage. etc. Pierce v.
50 Emery, 32 N.H. 484; State v. Black Diamond Co., 97 Ohio.St. 24, 119 N.E. 195, 199, L.R.A.1918E, 352.

1 Elective Franchise. The right of suffrage: the right or privilege of voting in public elections.

2 Exclusive Franchise. See Exclusive Privilege or Franchise.

3 General and Special. The charter of a corporation is its "general" franchise, while a "special" franchise consists
4 in any rights granted by the public to use property for a public use but-with private profit. Lord v. Equitable Life
5 Assur. Soc., 194 N.Y. 212, 81 N.E. 443, 22 L.R.A.,N.S., 420.

6 Personal Franchise. A franchise of corporate existence, or one which authorizes the formation and existence of
7 a corporation, is sometimes called a "personal" franchise. as distinguished from a "property" franchise, which
8 authorizes a corporation so formed to apply its property to some particular enterprise or exercise some special
9 privilege in its employment, as, for example, to construct and operate a railroad. See Sandham v. Nye, 9 Misc.Rep.
10 541, 30 N.Y.S. 552.

11 Secondary Franchises. The franchise of corporate existence being sometimes called the "primary" franchise of a
12 corporation, its "secondary" franchises are the special and peculiar rights, privileges, or grants which it may,
13 receive under its charter or from a municipal corporation, such as the right to use the public streets, exact tolls,
14 collect fares, etc. State v. Topeka Water Co., 61 Kan. 547, 60 P. 337; Virginia Canon Toll Road Co. v. People,
15 22 Colo. 429, 45 P. 398 37 L.R.A. 711. The franchises of a corporation are divisible into (1) corporate or general
16 franchises; and (2) "special or secondary franchises. The former is the franchise to exist as a corporation, while
17 the latter are certain rights and privileges conferred upon existing corporations. Gulf Refining Co. v. Cleveland
18 Trust Co., 166 Miss. 759, 108 So. 158, 160.

19 Special Franchisee. See Secondary Franchises, supra.
20 [Black's Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, pp. 786-787]

21 4. An "excise tax" or "privilege tax" upon privileges incident to federal contracts, employment, or agency.

22 "Excises are taxes laid upon the manufacture, sale or consumption of commodities within the country, upon
23 licenses to pursue certain occupations and upon corporate privileges...the requirement to pay such taxes
24 involves the exercise of [220 U.S. 107, 152] privileges, and the element of absolute and unavoidable demand
25 is lacking..

26 ...It is therefore well settled by the decisions of this court that when the sovereign authority has exercised the right
27 to tax a legitimate subject of taxation as an exercise of a franchise or privilege, it is no objection that the measure
28 of taxation is found in the income produced in part from property which of itself considered is nontaxable...

29 Conceding the power of Congress to tax the business activities of private corporations.. the tax must be measured 30 by some standard..."
31 [Flint v. Stone Tracy Co., 220 U.S. 107 (1911)]

32 The IRS itself admitted some of the above in a letter documented below:

Hoverdale Letter, SEDM Exhibit #09.023
<http://sedm.org/Exhibits/ExhibitIndex.htm>

33 3.6 Rules for administering the franchise

34 The rules for administering the "trade or business" franchise followed universally by the IRS and the courts are as follows:

35 1. The method of conveying consent to participate in the "trade or business" franchise is any one or more of the following:

36 1.1. Signing and submitting SSA Form SS-5, the Application for Social Security. See:

Resignation of Compelled Social Security Trustee, Family Guardian Fellowship
<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/Emancipation/SSTrustIndenture.pdf>

37 1.2. Signing and submitting IRS Form W-4, which is the WRONG form for persons NOT engaging in the franchise.
38 See:

Federal and State Tax Withholding Options for Private Employers, Family Guardian Fellowship
<http://famguardian.org/Publications/FedStateWHOptions/FedStateWHOptions.pdf>

39 1.3. Signing and submitting IRS Form 1040 and assessing yourself with a liability:

40 "... the government can collect the tax from a district court suitor by exercising its power of distraint... but we 41 cannot believe that compelling resort to this extraordinary procedure is either wise or in accord with 42 congressional intent. Our system of taxation is based upon VOLUNTARY ASSESSMENT AND PAYMENT, NOT

1 UPON DISTRAINT" [Footnote 43] If the government is forced to use these remedies(distrain) on a large scale,
2 it will affect adversely the taxpayers willingness to perform under our VOLUNTARY assessment system."
3 [Flora v. U.S., 362 U.S. 145, (1959)]

- 4 1.4. Failing or refusing to rebut false information returns that connect you to the franchise. 26 U.S.C. §6041(a) says
5 that information returns, such as IRS Forms W-2, 1042S, 1098, and 1099 may ONLY lawfully be filed against
6 those engaged in the "trade or business" franchise. If you don't rebut these when they are mailed to you, then your 7 failure to rebut is an admission that they are truthful. See:
8 1.4.1. Correcting Erroneous Information Returns, Form #04.001
9 <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
10 1.4.2. Correcting Erroneous IRS Form 1042's, Form #04.003:
11 <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
12 1.4.3. Correcting Erroneous IRS Form 1098's, Form #04.004:
13 <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
14 1.4.4. Correcting Erroneous IRS Form 1099's, Form #04.005:
15 <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
16 1.4.5. Correcting Erroneous IRS Form W-2's, Form #04.006:
17 <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
18 1.5. Failing to rebut the use of federal identifying numbers on government correspondence sent to you, which constitute 19 a "prima facie" license number to participate in "public rights" and franchises. See:

Wrong Party Notice, Form #07.105

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

20 2. Those who do NOT participate in the "trade or business" franchise:

- 21 2.1. Cannot legally withhold on their earnings. Anyone who withholds upon them against their will is committing 22 THEFT for which they are personally liable.
23 2.2. Do not earn "wages" as legally defined in 26 U.S.C. §3401, 26 C.F.R. §31.3401(a)-3, or 26 C.F.R. §31.3402(p)-1.
24 Therefore, any amount reported on an IRS Form W-2 MUST be ZERO, because it only reports "wages" as legally
25 defined and not as commonly understood or used.
26 2.3. Have their private rights protected by the Constitution but not by most federal law. Most federal law is "foreign"
27 in relation to them:

28 "The revenue laws are a code or system in regulation of tax assessment and collection. They relate to taxpayers,
29 and not to nontaxpayers. The latter are without their scope. No procedure is prescribed for nontaxpayers, and no
30 attempt is made to annul any of their rights and remedies in due course of law. With them Congress does not
31 assume to deal, and they are neither of the subject nor of the object of the revenue laws..."
32 [Long v. Rasmussen, 281 F. 236 (1922)]

33 "Revenue Laws relate to taxpayers [instrumentalities, officers, employees, and elected officials of the Federal
34 Government] and not to non-taxpayers [American Citizens/American Nationals not subject to the exclusive
35 jurisdiction of the Federal Government]. The latter are without their scope. No procedures are prescribed for 36 non-taxpayers and no attempt is made to annul any of their Rights or Remedies in due course of law."
37 [Economy Plumbing & Heating v. U.S., 470 F.2d. 585 (1972)]

- 38 2.4. May not cite any provision of the franchise agreements codified in the I.R.C. and the Social Security Act because 39 they are "foreign law" in relation to them and their estate is a "foreign estate" pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(31)
41 2.5. If they cite any provision of the franchise agreements, imply their voluntary consent to be bound by them, which is 42 all that is needed to enforce these provisions of "private law"/"contract law" against them.
43 2.6. Are called the following in the context of federal law:

44 2.6.1. "nontaxpayers". See:

Who are "Taxpayers" and Who Needs a "Taxpayer Identification Number"?, Form #05.013

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

45 2.6.2. "non-resident non-persons" if not occupying a public office.

46 2.6.3. "nonresident aliens not engaged in a 'trade or business'" and defined in 26 C.F.R. §1.871-1(b)(1)(i) if 47 occupying a public office. See:

Non-Resident Non-Person Position, Form #05.020

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

48 2.6.4. "transient foreigners"

49 2.6.5. "stateless persons" in relation to the federal courts.

2.6.6. American Citizens or “citizens of the United States OF AMERICA”. See 1 Stat. 477, in which the U.S. Congress identifies those domiciled in states of the Union as both “American Citizens” and “citizens of the United States OF AMERICA”

3. Those who participate in the “trade or business” franchise:

3.1. Earn “wages” as legally defined in 26 U.S.C. §3401 because they signed a voluntary W-4 “agreement” consenting to call such earnings “wages” pursuant to 26 C.F.R. §31.3401(a)-3, or 26 C.F.R. §31.3402(p)-1. Therefore, any amount reported on an IRS Form W-2 MUST include all earnings subject to the W-4 “agreement”.

3.2. If they are individuals, are called the following in the context of federal law:

3.2.1. “taxpayers”

3.2.2. “public officers”

3.2.3. “employees”

3.2.4. “employers”

3.2.5. “citizens” or “citizens of the United States” as defined in 8 U.S.C. §1401 and 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c)-1, where “United States” means either the federal zone or the U.S. government.

3.2.6. “residents of the United States” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(b\)\(1\)\(A\), , where “United States” means either the federal zone or the U.S. government.

3.3. If they are federal territories and possessions:

3.3.1. Must enter an Agreement on Coordination of Tax Administration (ACTA) agreement with the Secretary of the Treasury pursuant to:

3.3.1.1. 26 U.S.C. §6361 through 6365 (which are now repealed)

3.3.1.2. 26 C.F.R. §301.6361-1 through 301.6361-5

3.3.2. Are called “States” within federal law, which are territories and possessions of the United States pursuant to 4 U.S.C. §110\(d\). See also the following for further examples in state law:

*California Revenue and Taxation Code
Division 2: Other Taxes
Part 10: Personal Income Tax*

17018. "State" includes the District of Columbia, and the possessions of the United States.

*California Revenue and Taxation Code
Division 2: Other Taxes
Part 1: Sales and Use Taxes*

6017. "In this State" or "in the State" means within the exterior limits of the State of California and includes all territory within these limits owned by or ceded to the United States of America.

3.4. If they are states of the Union, may not lawfully participate in the federal tax system because they do not fit the definition of “State” found in 4 U.S.C. §110(d). See:

State Income Taxes, Form #05.031
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

3.5. May have any provision of the franchise agreements codified in the Internal Revenue Code or the Social Security Act cited against them in court. See:

Why You Shouldn't Cite Federal Statutes as Authority for Protecting Your Rights, Family Guardian Fellowship
<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Discrimination/CivilRights/DontCiteFederalLaw.htm>

3.6. Become “trustees” of the “public trust” as well as officers of the federal corporation identified in 28 U.S.C. §3002\(15\)\(A\).

3.7. Are acting in a representative capacity on behalf of the federal government pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17\(b\) as “officers of a federal corporation”.

4. All franchises and “public rights” RECOGNIZE AND EXTEND but cannot lawfully CREATE NEW federal agency and “public office” to one extent or another, and it is this agency that is the subject of most federal legislation. Nearly all laws passed by Congress pertain only to their own territory, possessions, offices, employees, and franchises. You must therefore become part of the government for them to lawfully regulate the exercise of the franchise.

“The restrictions that the Constitution places upon the government in its capacity as lawmaker, i.e., as the regulator of private conduct, are not the same as the restrictions that it places upon the government in its capacity as employer. We have recognized this in many contexts, with respect to many different constitutional guarantees. Private citizens perhaps cannot be prevented from wearing long hair, but policemen can. Kelley v. Johnson, 425 U.S. 238, 247 (1976). Private citizens cannot have their property searched without probable cause, but in many

1 circumstances government employees can. O'Connor v. Ortega, 480 U.S. 709, 723 (1987) (plurality opinion); id.,
2 at 732 (SCALIA, J., concurring in judgment). Private citizens cannot be punished for refusing to provide the
3 government information that may incriminate them, but government employees can be dismissed when the
4 incriminating information that they refuse to provide relates to the performance of their job. Gardner v.
5 Broderick, [497 U.S. 62, 95] 392 U.S. 273, 277-278 (1968). With regard to freedom of speech in particular:
6 Private citizens cannot be punished for speech of merely private concern, but government employees can be fired
7 for that reason. Connick v. Myers, 461 U.S. 138, 147 (1983). Private citizens cannot be punished for partisan
8 political activity, but federal and state employees can be dismissed and otherwise punished for that reason. Public
9 Workers v. Mitchell, 330 U.S. 75, 101 (1947); Civil Service Comm'n v. Letter Carriers, 413 U.S. 548, 556 (1973);
10 Broadrick v. Oklahoma, 413 U.S. 601, 616-617 (1973)."
11 [Rutan v. Republican Party of Illinois, 497 U.S. 62 (1990)]

12 5. All privileged activities and franchises are usually licensed by the government and cause a surrender of constitutional
13 rights:

14 5.1. The application of the license causes a surrender of constitutional rights.

15 "And here a thought suggests itself. As the Meadors, subsequently to the passage of this act of July 20, 1868,
16 applied for and obtained from the government a license or permit to deal in manufactured tobacco, snuff and
17 cigars, I am inclined to be of the opinion that they are, by this their own voluntary act, precluded from assailing
18 the constitutionality of this law, or otherwise controverting it. For the granting of a license or permit-the yielding
19 of a particular privilege-and its acceptance by the Meadors, was a contract, in which it was implied that the 20 provisions of the statute which governed, or in any way affected their business, and all other statutes previously
21 passed, which were in pari materia with those provisions, should be recognized and obeyed by them. When the 22 Meadors sought and accepted the privilege, the law was before them. And can they now impugn its 23 constitutionality or refuse to obey its provisions and stipulations, and so exempt themselves from the 24 consequences of their own acts?"

25 [In re Meador, 1 Abb.U.S. 317, 16 F.Cas. 1294, D.C.Ga. (1869)]

26 5.2. Those participating in the "benefits" of the franchise have implicitly surrendered the right to challenge any 27 encroachments against their "private rights" or "constitutional rights" that result from said participation:

28 The Court developed, for its own governance in the cases confessedly within its jurisdiction, a series of rules
29 under which it has avoided passing upon a large part of all the constitutional questions pressed upon it for 30 decision. They are:

31 [. . .]

32 6. The Court will not pass upon the constitutionality of a statute at the instance of one who has availed himself
33 of its benefits.^{FN7} Great Falls Mfg. Co. v. Attorney General, 124 U.S. 581, 8 S.Ct. 631, 31 L.Ed. 527; Wall v.
35 Co. v. Prendergast Construction Co., 260 U.S. 469, 43 S.Ct. 178, 67 L.Ed. 351.

36 FN7 Compare Electric Co. v. Dow, 166 U.S. 489, 17 S.Ct. 645, 41 L.Ed. 1088; Pierce v. Somerset Ry., 171 U.S.
37 641, 648, 19 S.Ct. 64, 43 L.Ed. 316; Leonard v. Vicksburg, etc., R. Co., 198 U.S. 416, 422, 25 S.Ct. 750, 49 L.Ed.
38 1108.

39 [Ashwander v. Tennessee Valley Authority, 297 U.S. 288, 56 S.Ct. 466 (1936)]

40 6. The Social Security Number is the "de facto" license number which is used to track and control all those who voluntarily
41 engage in public franchises and "public rights".

42 6.1. The number is "de facto" rather than "de jure" because Congress cannot lawfully license any trade or business,
43 including a "public office" in a state of the Union, by the admission of no less than the U.S. Supreme Court:

44 "Thus, Congress having power to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States, and
45 with the Indian tribes, may, without doubt, provide for granting licenses to pilots, licenses to
46 trade with the Indians, and any other licenses necessary or proper for the exercise of that great and extensive
47 power; and the same observation is applicable to every other power of Congress, to the exercise of which the
48 granting of licenses may be incident. All such licenses confer authority, and give rights to the licensee.

49 But very different considerations apply to the internal commerce or domestic trade of the States. Over this
50 commerce and trade Congress has no power of regulation nor any direct control. This power belongs
51 exclusively to the States. No interference by Congress with the business of citizens transacted within a State is
52 warranted by the Constitution, except such as is strictly incidental to the exercise of powers clearly granted to
53 the legislature. The power to authorize a business within a State is plainly repugnant to the exclusive power of
54 the State over the same subject. It is true that the power of Congress to tax is a very extensive power. It is given
55 in the Constitution, with only one exception and only two qualifications. Congress cannot tax exports, and it must
56 impose direct taxes by the rule of apportionment, and indirect taxes by the rule of uniformity. Thus limited, and

1 thus only, it reaches every subject, and may be exercised at discretion. But, it reaches only existing subjects.
2 Congress cannot authorize a trade or business within a State in order to tax it.
3 [License Tax Cases, 72 U.S. 462, 18 L.Ed. 497, 5 Wall. 462, 2 A.F.T.R. 2224 (1866)]

4 6.2. If you don't want to be in a "privileged" state and suffer the legal disabilities of accepting the privilege, then you
5 CANNOT have or use Social Security Numbers.

6 7. Use of a Social Security Number constitutes prima facie consent to engage in the franchise. Use of this number 7 constitutes prima facie evidence of implied consent because:

8 7.1. It is a crime to compel use or disclosure of Social Security Numbers. 42 U.S.C. §408.

9 7.2. You can withdraw from the franchise lawfully at anytime if you don't want to participate. See SSA Form 521.
10 See:

[Resignation of Compelled Social Security Trustee, Family Guardian Fellowship

11 7.3. If the government uses the SSN trustee licenses number to communicate with you and you don't object or correct
12 them, then you once again consented to their jurisdiction to administer the program. See:

http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm](http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm)

13 8. The Social Security Number is property of the government and NOT the person using it. 20 C.F.R. §422.103(d).

14 8.1. The Social Security card confirms this, which says: "Property of the Social Security Administration and must be 15 returned upon request.

16 8.2. Anything the Social Security Number is attached to becomes "private property" voluntarily donated to a "public 17 use" to procure the benefits of the "public right" or franchise. Only "public officers" on official business may have 18 public property in their possession such as the Social Security Number.

21 4. Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status Options

22 "Dolosus versatur generalibus. A deceiver deals in generals. 2 Co. 34."

23 "Fraus latet in generalibus. Fraud lies hid in general expressions."

24 Generale nihil certum implicat. A general expression implies nothing certain. 2 Co. 34.

25 Ubi quid generaliter conceditur, in est haec exceptio, si non aliquid sit contra jus fasque. Where a thing is 26 concealed generally, this exception arises, that there shall be nothing contrary to law and right. 10 Co. 78.
27 [Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856)]

28 "General expressions", and especially those relating to geographical terms, franchise statuses, or citizenship, are the biggest 29 source of FRAUD in courtrooms across the country. By "general expressions", we mean those which:

- 30 1. The speaker is either not accountable or REFUSES to be accountable for the accuracy or truthfulness or definition of 31 the word or expression.
- 32 2. Fail to recognize that there are multiple contexts in which the word could be used.
 - 33 2.1. CONSTITUTIONAL (States of the Union).
 - 34 2.2. STATUTORY (federal territory).
- 35 3. Are susceptible to two or more CONTEXTS or interpretations, one of which the government representative 36 interpreting the context stands to benefit from handsomely. Thus, "equivocation" is undertaken, in which they TELL
37 you they mean the CONSTITUTIONAL interpretation but after receiving your form or pleading, interpret it to mean
38 the STATUTORY context.

equivocation

EQUIVOCATION, n. Ambiguity of speech; the use of words or expressions that are susceptible of a double signification. Hypocrites are often guilty of equivocation, and by this means lose the confidence of their fellow men. Equivocation is incompatible with the Christian character and profession.*

[SOURCE: <http://1828.mshaffer.com/d/search/word,equivocation>]

Equivocation ("to call by the same name") is an informal logical fallacy. It is the misleading use of a term with more than one meaning or sense (by glossing over which meaning is intended at a particular time). It generally occurs with polysemic words (words with multiple meanings).

Albeit in common parlance it is used in a variety of contexts, when discussed as a fallacy, equivocation only occurs when the arguer makes a word or phrase employed in two (or more) different senses in an argument appear to have the same meaning throughout.

It is therefore distinct from (semantic) ambiguity, which means that the context doesn't make the meaning of the word or phrase clear, and amphiboly (or syntactical ambiguity), which refers to ambiguous sentence structure due to punctuation or syntax.

[Wikipedia topic: Equivocation, Downloaded 9/15/2015; SOURCE: <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Equivocation>]

4. PRESUME that all contexts are equivalent, meaning that CONSTITUTIONAL and STATUTORY are equivalent.
5. Fail to identify the specific context implied on the form.
6. Fail to provide an actionable definition for the term that is useful as evidence in court.
7. Government representatives actively interfere with or even penalize efforts by the applicant to define the context of the terms so that they can protect their right to make injurious presumptions about their meaning.
8. The Bible calls people who engage in equivocation or who try to create confusion "double minded". They are also equated with "hypocrites". Here is what God says about double minded people:

"I hate the double-minded, But I love Your law."
[Psalm 119:113, Bible, NKJV]

"Cleanse your hands, you sinners; and purify your hearts, you double-minded."
[James 4:8, Bible, NKJV]

Pictures really are worth a THOUSAND words. There is no better place we know of to use a picture to describe relationship than in the context of citizenship, domicile, and residency. Below is a table summarizing citizenship status v. Tax status. After that, we show a graphical diagram that makes the relationships perfectly clear. Finally, after the graphical diagram, we present a text summary for all the legal rules that govern transitioning between the various citizenship and domicile conditions described. The content of this entire section is available in a single convenient form that you can use at depositions, as attachments to government forms, and in legal proceedings. You can find this form at:

Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status Options, Form #10.003

4.1 The Four "United States"

It is very important to understand that there are THREE separate and distinct CONTEXTS in which the term "United States" can be used, and each has a mutually exclusive and different meaning. These three definitions of "United States" were described by the U.S. Supreme Court in Hooven and Allison v. Evatt, 324 U.S. 652 (1945):

Table 2: Geographical terms used throughout this page

| Term | # in diagrams | Meaning |
|------------------|----------------------|--|
| United States* | 1 | The country "United States" in the family of nations throughout the world. |
| United States | 2 | The "federal zone". |
| United States | 3 | Collective states of the Union mentioned throughout the Constitution. |

1 In addition to the above GEOGRAPHICAL context, there is also a legal, non-geographical context in which the term "United
2 States" can be used, which is the GOVERNMENT as a legal entity. Throughout this page and this website, we identify THIS
3 context as "United States*" or "United States⁴". The only types of "persons" within THIS context are public offices within
4 the national and not state government. It is THIS context in which "sources within the United States" is used for the purposes
5 of "income" and "gross income" within the Internal Revenue Code, as proven by:

Non-Resident Non-Person Position, Form #05.020, Sections 10 and 11
FORMS PAGE: <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
DIRECT LINK: <https://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/NonresidentNonPersonPosition.pdf>

6 The reason these contexts are not expressly distinguished in the statutes by the Legislative Branch or on government forms
7 crafted by the Executive Branch is that they are the KEY mechanism by which:

8 1. Federal jurisdiction is unlawfully enlarged by abusing presumption, which is a violation of due process of law. See:

Presumption: Chief Weapon for Unlawfully Enlarging Federal Jurisdiction, Form #05.017
FORMS PAGE: <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
DIRECT LINK: <http://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/Presumption.pdf>

9 2. The separation of powers between the states and the national government is destroyed, in violation of the legislative 10 intent of the Constitution. See:

Government Conspiracy to Destroy the Separation of Powers, Form #05.023
FORMS PAGE: <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
DIRECT LINK: <http://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/SeparationOfPowers.pdf>

11 3. A "society of law" is transformed into a "society of men" in violation of Marbury v. Madison, 5 U.S. 137 (1803):

12 "The government of the United States has been emphatically termed a government of laws, and not of men. It will
13 certainly cease to deserve this high appellation, if the laws furnish no remedy for the violation of a vested legal 14 right."
15 [Marbury v. Madison, 5 U.S. 137, 163 \(1803\)]

16 4. Exclusively PRIVATE rights are transformed into public rights in a process we call "invisible eminent domain using 17 presumption and words of art".

18 5. Judges are unconstitutionally delegated undue discretion and "arbitrary power" to unlawfully enlarge federal 19 jurisdiction. See:

Federal Jurisdiction, Form #05.018
FORMS PAGE: <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
DIRECT LINK: <http://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/FederalJurisdiction.pdf>

20 The way a corrupted Executive Branch or judge accomplish the above is to unconstitutionally:

21 1. PRESUME that ALL of the four contexts for "United States" are equivalent.

22 2. PRESUME that CONSTITUTIONAL citizens and STATUTORY citizens are EQUIVALENT under federal law. They
23 are NOT. A CONSTITUTIONAL citizen is a "non-resident " under federal civil law and NOT a STATUTORY
24 "national and citizen of the United States at birth" per 8 U.S.C. §1401. See:

Why You are a "national", "state national", and Constitutional but not Statutory Citizen, Form #05.006
FORMS PAGE: <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

25 3. PRESUME that "nationality" and "domicile" are equivalent. They are NOT. See:

Why Domicile and Becoming a "Taxpayer" Require Your Consent, Form #05.002
FORMS PAGE: <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

26 4. Use the word "citizenship" in place of "nationality" OR "domicile", and refuse to disclose WHICH of the two they
27 mean in EVERY context.

28 5. Confuse the POLITICAL/CONSTITUTIONAL meaning of words with the civil STATUTORY context. For instance,
29 asking on government forms whether you are a POLITICAL/CONSTITUTIONAL citizen and then FALSELY
30 PRESUMING that you are a STATUTORY citizen under 8 U.S.C. §1401.

1 6. Confuse the words "domicile" and "residence" or impute either to you without satisfying the burden of proving that
2 you EXPRESSLY CONSENTED to it and thereby illegally kidnap your civil legal identity against your will. One can
3 have only one "domicile" but many "residences" and BOTH require your consent. See:

6 8. PRESUME that STATUTORY diversity of citizenship under 28 U.S.C. §1332 and CONSTITUTIONAL diversity of 7 citizenship under Article III, Section 2 of the United States Constitution are equivalent.

8.1. STATUTORY and CONSTITUTIONAL diversity are NOT equal and in fact are mutually exclusive.

8.2. The STATUTORY definition of "State" in 28 U.S.C. §1332(e) is a federal territory. The definition of "State" in 9 the CONSTITUTION is a State of the Union and NOT federal territory.

8.3. They try to increase this confusion by dismissing diversity cases where only diversity of RESIDENCE (domicile)
12 is implied, instead insisting on "diversity of CITIZENSHIP" and yet REFUSING to define whether they mean
13 DOMICILE or NATIONALITY when the term "CITIZENSHIP" is invoked. See Lamm v. Bekins Van Lines,
14 Co, 139 F.Supp.2d. 1300, 1314 (M.D. Ala. 2001)("To invoke removal jurisdiction on the basis of diversity, a 15 notice of removal must distinctly and affirmatively allege each party's citizenship.", "[a]verments of residence are 16 wholly insufficient for purposes of removal.", "[a]lthough 'citizenship' and 'residence' may be interchangeable
17 terms in common parlance, the existence of citizenship cannot be inferred from allegations of residence alone.").

18 9. Refuse to allow the jury to read the definitions in the law and then give them a definition that is in conflict with the
19 statutory definition. This substitutes the JUDGES will for what the law expressly says and thereby substitutes PUBLIC
20 POLICY for the written law.

21 10. Publish deceptive government publications that are in deliberate conflict with what the statutes define "United States"
22 as and then tell the public that they CANNOT rely on the publication. The IRS does this with ALL of their publications
23 and it is FRAUD. See:

24 This kind of arbitrary discretion is PROHIBITED by the Constitution, as held by the U.S. Supreme Court:

25 "When we consider the nature and the theory of our institutions of government, the principles upon which they
26 *are supposed to rest, and review the history of their development, we are constrained to conclude that they do
27 not mean to leave room for the play and action of purely personal and arbitrary power.'
28 [Yick Wo v. Hopkins, 118 U.S. 356, 369, 6 S.Sup.Ct. 1064, 1071]

29 Thomas Jefferson, our most revered founding father, precisely predicted the above abuses when he said:

30 "It has long been my opinion, and I have never shrunk from its expression,... that the germ of dissolution of our
31 Federal Government is in the constitution of the Federal Judiciary--an irresponsible body (for impeachment is 32 *scarcely a scare-crow), working like gravity by night and by day, gaining a little today and a little tomorrow,
33 and advancing its noiseless step like a thief over the field of jurisdiction until all shall be usurped from the
34 States and the government be consolidated into one. To this I am opposed."
35 [Thomas Jefferson to Charles Hammond, 1821. ME 15:331]

36 "Contrary to all correct example, [the Federal judiciary] are in the habit of going out of the question before them,
37 *to throw an anchor ahead and grapple further hold for future advances of power. They are then in fact the corps
38 of sappers and miners, steadily working to undermine the independent rights of the States and to consolidate
39 all power in the hands of that government in which they have so important a freehold estate."
40 [Thomas Jefferson: Autobiography, 1821. ME 1:121]

41 "The judiciary of the United States is the subtle corps of sappers and miners constantly working under ground to
42 undermine the foundations of our confederated fabric. They are construing our Constitution from a co-ordination
43 *of a general and special government to a general and supreme one alone. This will lay all things at their feet,
44 and they are too well versed in English law to forget the maxim, 'boni iudicis est ampliari jurisdictionem.'"*
45 [Thomas Jefferson to Thomas Ritchie, 1820. ME 15:297]

1 "When all government, domestic and foreign, in little as in great things, shall be drawn to Washington as the
2 center of all power, it will render powerless the checks provided of one government on another and will become
3 as venal and oppressive as the government from which we separated."
4 [Thomas Jefferson to Charles Hammond, 1821. ME 15:332]

5 "What an augmentation of the field for jobbing, speculating, plundering, office-building ["trade or business"
6 scam] and office-hunting would be produced by an assumption [PRESUMPTION] of all the State powers into the
7 hands of the General Government!"
8 [Thomas Jefferson to Gideon Granger, 1800. ME 10:168]

26 4.2 Statutory v. Constitutional contexts

27 It is very important to understand that there are TWO separate, distinct, and mutually exclusive contexts in which 28 geographical "words of art" can be used at the federal or national level:

- 29 1. Constitutional.
- 30 2. Statutory.

31 The purpose of providing a statutory definition of a legal "term" is to supersede and not enlarge the ordinary, common law,
32 constitutional, or common meaning of a term. Geographical words of art include:

- 33 1. "State"
- 34 2. "United States"
- 35 3. "alien"
- 36 4. "citizen"
- 37 5. "resident"
- 38 6. "U.S. person"

39 The terms "State" and "United States" within the Constitution implies the constitutional states of the Union and excludes
40 federal territory, statutory "States" (federal territories), or the statutory "United States" (the collection of all federal territory).
41 This is an outcome of the separation of powers doctrine. See:

| |
| 42 Government Conspiracy to Destroy the Separation of Powers , Form #05.023 43 http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm |
|--|

44 The U.S. Constitution creates a public trust which is the delegation of authority order that the U.S. Government uses to
45 manage federal territory and property. That property includes franchises, such as the "trade or business" franchise. All
46 statutory civil law it creates can and does regulate only THAT property and not the constitutional States, which are foreign,
47 sovereign, and statutory "non-resident non-persons" (Form #05.020) for the purposes of federal legislative jurisdiction.

1 It is very important to realize the consequences of this constitutional separation of powers between the states and national
2 government. Some of these consequences include the following:

- 3 1. Statutory "States" as indicated in 4 U.S.C. §110\(d\) and "States" in nearly all federal statutes are in fact federal
4 territories and the definition does NOT include constitutional states of the Union.
- 5 2. The statutory "United States" defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(9\) and (a)(10) and 4 U.S.C. §110(d) includes federal 6 territory and excludes any land within the exclusive jurisdiction of a constitutional state of the Union.
- 7 3. Terms on government forms assume the statutory context and NOT the constitutional context.
- 8 4. Domicile is the origin of civil legislative jurisdiction over human beings. This jurisdiction is called "in personam 9 jurisdiction".
- 10 5. Since the separation of powers doctrine creates two separate jurisdictions that are legislatively "foreign" in relation to 11 each other, then there are TWO types of political communities, two types of "citizens", and two types of jurisdictions
12 exercised by the national government.

13 *"It is clear that Congress, as a legislative body, exercise two species of legislative power: the one, limited as to
14 its objects, but extending all over the Union: the other, an absolute, exclusive legislative power over the District
15 of Columbia. The preliminary inquiry in the case now before the Court, is, by virtue of which of these authorities
16 was the law in question passed?"*
17 [Cohens v. Virginia, 19 U.S. 264, 6 Wheat. 265, 5 L.Ed. 257 (1821)]

- 18 6. A human being domiciled in a Constitutional state and born or naturalized anywhere in the Union. These are:
19 6.1. A state national pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §1101\(a\)\(21\)
20 6.2. A statutory "non-resident non-person" if exclusively PRIVATE and not engaged in a public office.
21 6.3. A statutory "nonresident alien" (26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B)) in relation to the national government if they lawfully 22 serve in a public office.
- 23 7. You can be a statutory "nonresident alien" pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B) and a constitutional or Fourteenth 24 Amendment "Citizen" AT THE SAME TIME. Why? Because the Supreme Court ruled in Hooven and Allison v.
25 Evatt, 324 U.S. 652 (1945), that there are THREE different and mutually exclusive "United States", and therefore 26 THREE types of "citizens of the United States". Here is an example:

27 *"The 1st section of the 14th article [Fourteenth Amendment], to which our attention is more specifically invited, opens with a definition of 28 citizenship—not only citizenship of the United States[], but citizenship of the states. No such definition was previously found in the 29 Constitution, nor had any attempt been made to define it by act of Congress. It had been the occasion of much discussion in the courts, by the 30 executive departments and in the public journals. It had been said by eminent judges that no man was a citizen of the United States[]
31 except as he was a citizen of one of the states composing the Union. Those therefore, who had been born and resided always in the District
32 of Columbia or in the territories [STATUTORY citizens], though within the United States[], were not [CONSTITUTIONAL] citizens."
33 [Slaughter-House Cases, 83 U.S. (16 Wall.) 36, 21 L.Ed. 394 (1873)]

34 The "citizen of the United States" mentioned in the Fourteenth Amendment is a constitutional "citizen of the United 35 States", and the term "United States" in that context includes states of the Union and excludes federal territory. Hence,
36 you would NOT be a "citizen of the United States" within any federal statute, because all such statutes define "United 37 States" to mean federal territory and EXCLUDE states of the Union. For more details, see:

Why You are a "national", "state national", and Constitutional but not Statutory Citizen, Form #05.006
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 38 8. Your job, if you say you are a "citizen of the United States" or "U.S. citizen" on a government form (a VERY 39 DANGEROUS undertaking!) is to understand that all government forms presume the statutory and not constitutional
40 context, and to ensure that you define precisely WHICH one of the three "United States" you are a "citizen" of, and do
41 so in a way that excludes you from the civil jurisdiction of the national government because domiciled in a "foreign 42 state". Both foreign countries and states of the Union are legislatively "foreign" and therefore "foreign states" in 43 relation to the national government of the United States. The following form does that very carefully:

Affidavit of Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status, Form #02.001
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 44 9. Even the IRS says you CANNOT trust or rely on ANYTHING on any of their forms and publications. We cover this 45 in our Reasonable Belief About Income Tax Liability, Form #05.007. Hence, if you are compelled to fill out a
46 government form, you have an OBLIGATION to ensure that you define all "words of art" used on the form in such a
47 way that there is no room for presumption, no judicial or government discretion to "interpret" the form to their benefit,
48 and no injury to your rights or status by filling out the government form. This includes attaching the following forms
49 to all tax forms you submit:

- 50 9.1. Affidavit of Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status, Form #02.001

1 <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

2 9.2. Tax Form Attachment, Form #04.201

3 <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

4 We started off this document with maxims of law proving that "a deceiver deals in generals". Anyone who refuses to identify
5 the precise context, statutory or constitutional, for EVERY "term of art" they are using in the legal field ABSOLUTELY IS 6 A DECEIVER.

7 For further details on the TWO separate and distinct contexts for geographical terms, being CONSTITUTIONAL, and 8 STATUTORY, see:

Why You are a "national", "state national", and Constitutional but not Statutory Citizen, Form #05.006, Sections 4 and

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

9 4.3 Statutory v. Constitutional citizens

10 "When words lose their meaning [or their CONTEXT WHICH ESTABLISHES THEIR MEANING], people lose
11 their freedom."

12 [Confucius (551 BCE - 479 BCE) Chinese thinker and social philosopher]

13 Statutory citizenship is a legal status that designates a person's domicile while constitutional citizenship is a political status
14 that designates a person's nationality. Understanding the distinction between nationality and domicile is absolutely critical.

15 1. Nationality:

- 16 1.1. Is not necessarily consensual or discretionary. For instance, acquiring nationality by birth in a specific place was 17 not a matter of choice whereas acquiring it by naturalization is.
18 1.2. Is a political status.
19 1.3. Is defined by the Constitution, which is a political document.
20 1.4. Is synonymous with being a "national" within statutory law.
21 1.5. Is associated with a specific COUNTRY.
22 1.6. Is called a "political citizen" or a "citizen of the United States in a political sense" by the courts to distinguish it
23 from a STATUTORY citizen. See Powe v. United States, 109 F.2d. 147 (1940).

24 2. Domicile:

25 2.1. Always requires your consent and therefore is discretionary. See:

Why Domicile and Becoming a "Taxpayer" Require Your Consent, Form #05.002

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 26 2.2. Is a civil status.
27 2.3. Is not even addressed in the constitution.
28 2.4. Is defined by civil statutory law RATHER than the constitution.
29 2.5. Is in NO WAY connected with one's nationality.
30 2.6. Is usually connected with the word "person", "citizen", "resident", or "inhabitant" in statutory law.
31 2.7. Is associated with a specific COUNTY and a STATE rather than a COUNTRY.
32 2.8. Implies one is a "SUBJECT" of a SPECIFIC MUNICIPAL but not NATIONAL government.

33 Nationality and domicile, TOGETHER determine the political/CONSTITUTIONAL AND civil/STATUTORY status of a
34 human being respectively. These important distinctions are recognized in Black's Law Dictionary:

35 "nationality – That quality or character which arises from the fact of a person's belonging to a nation or state.
36 Nationality determines the political status of the individual, especially with reference to allegiance; while
37 domicile determines his civil [statutory] status. Nationality arises either by birth or by naturalization."
38 [Black's Law Dictionary (6th ed. 1990), p. 1025]

39 The U.S. Supreme Court also confirmed the above when they held the following. Note the key phrase "political jurisdiction",
40 which is NOT the same as legislative/statutory jurisdiction. One can have a political status of "citizen" under the constitution
41 while NOT being a "citizen" under federal statutory law because not domiciled on federal territory. To have the status of
42 "citizen" under federal statutory law, one must have a domicile on federal territory:

1 “This section contemplates two sources of citizenship, and two sources only, birth and naturalization. The
2 persons declared to be citizens are 'all persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the
3 jurisdiction thereof.' The evident meaning of these last words is, not merely subject in some respect or degree to
4 the jurisdiction of the United States, but completely subject to their [plural, not singular, meaning states of the
5 Union] political jurisdiction, and owing them [the state of the Union] direct and immediate
6 allegiance. And the words relate to the time of birth in the one case, as they do [169 U.S. 649, 725] to the time
7 of naturalization in the other. Persons not thus subject to the jurisdiction of the United States at the time of birth
8 cannot become so afterwards, except by being naturalized, either individually, as by proceedings under the
9 naturalization acts, or collectively, as by the force of a treaty by which foreign territory is acquired.”
10 U.S. v. Wong Kim Ark, [169 U.S. 649, 18 S.Ct. 456; 42 L.Ed. 890 (1898)]

11 “This right to protect persons having a domicile, though not native-born or naturalized citizens, rests on the firm
12 foundation of justice, and the claim to be protected is earned by considerations which the protecting power is not
13 at liberty to disregard. Such domiciled citizen pays the same price for his protection as native-born or naturalized
14 citizens pay for theirs. He is under the bonds of allegiance to the country of his residence, and, if he breaks
15 them, incurs the same penalties. He owes the same obedience to the civil laws. His property is, in the same
16 way and to the same extent as theirs, liable to contribute to the support of the Government. In nearly all respects,
17 his and their condition as to the duties and burdens of Government are undistinguishable.”
18 Fong Yue Ting v. United States, [149 U.S. 698 (1893)]

19 Notice in the last quote above that they referred to a foreign national born in another country as a “citizen”. THIS is the 20 REAL “citizen” (a domiciled foreign national) that judges and even tax withholding documents are really talking about, rather 21 than the “national” described in the constitution.

22 CONSTITUTIONAL “Citizens” or “citizens of the United States” in the Fourteenth Amendment rely on the 23 CONSTITUTIONAL context for the geographical term “United States”, which means states of the Union and EXCLUDES
24 federal territory.

25 “. . . the Supreme Court in the Insular Cases¹⁵ provides authoritative guidance on the territorial scope of the 26 term "the United States" in the Fourteenth Amendment. The Insular Cases were a series of Supreme Court
27 decisions that addressed challenges to duties on goods transported from Puerto Rico to the continental United 28 States. Puerto Rico, like the Philippines, had been recently ceded to the United States. The Court considered the 29 territorial scope of the term "the United States" in the Constitution and held that this term as used in the 30 uniformity clause of the Constitution was territorially limited to the states of the Union. U.S. Const. art. I, § 8
31 (“[A]ll Duties, Imposts and Excises shall be uniform throughout the United States.” (emphasis added)); see 32 Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244, 251, 21 S.Ct. 770, 773, 45 L.Ed. 1088 (1901) (“It can nowhere be inferred
33 that the territories were considered a part of the United States. The Constitution was created by the people of 34 the United States, as a union of States, to be governed solely by representatives of the States; ... In short, the 35 Constitution deals with States, their people, and their representatives.”); Rabang, 35 F.3d at 1452. Puerto Rico
36 was merely a territory "appurtenant and belonging to the United States, but not a part of the United States
37 within the revenue clauses of the Constitution." Downes, 182 U.S. at 287, 21 S.Ct. at 787.

38 The Court's conclusion in Downes was derived in part by analyzing the territorial scope of the Thirteenth and 39 Fourteenth Amendments. The Thirteenth Amendment prohibits slavery and involuntary servitude "within the 40 United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction." U.S. Const. amend. XIII, § 1 (emphasis added). The 41 Fourteenth Amendment states that persons "born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the 42 jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside." U.S. Const. amend 43 XIV, § 1 (emphasis added). The disjunctive "or" in the Thirteenth Amendment demonstrates that "there may 44 be places within the jurisdiction of the United States that are not part of the Union" to which the Thirteenth
45 Amendment would apply. Downes, 182 U.S. at 251, 21 S.Ct. at 773. Citizenship under the Fourteenth
46 Amendment, however, "is not extended to persons born in any place 'subject to [the United States']
47 jurisdiction,' " but is limited to persons born or naturalized in the states of the Union. Downes, 182 U.S. at 251, 48 21 S.Ct. at 773 (emphasis added); see also id. at 263, 21 S.Ct. at 777 (“In dealing with foreign sovereignties,
49 the term 'United States' has a broader meaning than when used in the Constitution, and includes all territories
50 subject to the jurisdiction of the Federal government, wherever located.”).¹⁶
51 [Valmonte v. I.N.S., 136 F.3d 914 (C.A.2, 1998)]

52 STATUTORY citizens under 8 U.S.C. §1401, on the other hand, rely on the STATUTORY context for the geographical term
53 “United States”, which means federal territory and EXCLUDES states of the Union:

Armstrong v. United States, 182 U.S. 243, 21 S.Ct. 827, 45 L.Ed. 1086 (1901); and Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244, 21 S.Ct. 770, 45 L.Ed. 1088 (1901).

Columbia. See Downes, 182 U.S. at 261, 21 S.Ct. at 777 (stating that the “mere cession of the District of Columbia” from portions of Virginia and Maryland did not “take [the District of Columbia] out of the United States or from under the aegis of the Constitution.”).

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701. [Internal Revenue Code]
Sec. 7701. – Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(9) United States

The term "United States" when used in a geographical sense includes only the States and the District of Columbia.

(10) State

The term "State" shall be construed to include the District of Columbia, where such construction is necessary to carry out provisions of this title.

TITLE 4 - FLAG AND SEAL, SEAT OF GOVERNMENT, AND THE STATES
CHAPTER 4 - THE STATES
Sec. 110. Same; definitions

(d) The term "State" includes any Territory or possession of the United States.

One CANNOT simultaneously be BOTH a CONSTITUTIONAL citizen AND a STATUTORY citizen at the same time, because the term "United States" has a different, mutually exclusive meaning in each specific context.

"The 1st section of the 14th article [Fourteenth Amendment], to which our attention is more specifically invited, opens with a definition of citizenship—not only citizenship of the United States[], but citizenship of the states. No such definition was previously found in the Constitution, nor had any attempt been made to define it by act of Congress. It had been the occasion of much discussion in the courts, by the executive departments and in the public journals. It had been said by eminent judges that no man was a citizen of the United States[] except as he was a citizen of one of the states composing the Union. Those therefore, who had been born and resided always in the District of Columbia or in the territories, though within the United States[*], were not citizens. Whether this proposition was sound or not had never been judicially decided." [Slaughter-House Cases, 83 U.S. (16 Wall.) 36, 21 L.Ed. 394 (1873)]

The Court today holds that the Citizenship Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment has no application to Bellei [an 8 U.S.C. §1401 STATUTORY citizen]. The Court first notes that Afroyim was essentially a case construing the Citizenship Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. Since the Citizenship Clause declares that: 'All persons born or naturalized in the United States * * * are citizens of the United States * * *,' the Court reasons that the protections against involuntary expatriation declared in Afroyim do not protect all American citizens, but only those 'born or naturalized in the United States.' Afroyim, the argument runs, was naturalized in this country so he was protected by the Citizenship Clause, but Bellei, since he acquired his American citizenship at birth in Italy as a foreignborn child of an American citizen, was neither born nor naturalized in the United States and, hence, falls outside the scope of the Fourteenth Amendment guarantees declared in Afroyim. One could hardly call this a generous reading of the great purposes the Fourteenth Amendment was adopted to bring about. While conceding that Bellei is an American citizen, the majority states: 'He simply is not a Fourteenth-Amendment-first-sentence citizen.' Therefore, the majority reasons, the congressional revocation of his citizenship is not barred by the Constitution. I cannot accept the Court's conclusion that the Fourteenth Amendment protects the citizenship of some Americans and not others. [. . .]

The Court today puts aside the Fourteenth Amendment as a standard by which to measure congressional action with respect to citizenship, and substitutes in its place the majority's own vague notions of 'fairness.' The majority takes a new step with the recurring theme that the test of constitutionality is the Court's own view of what is 'fair, reasonable, and right.' Despite the concession that Bellei was admittedly an American citizen, and despite the holding in Afroyim that the Fourteenth Amendment has put citizenship, once conferred, beyond the power of Congress to revoke, the majority today upholds the revocation of Bellei's citizenship on the ground that the congressional action was not 'irrational or arbitrary or unfair.' The majority applies the 'shock-the-conscience' test to uphold, rather than strike, a federal statute. It is a dangerous concept of constitutional law that allows the majority to conclude that, because it cannot say the statute is 'irrational or arbitrary or unfair,' the statute must be constitutional.

Since the Court this Term has already downgraded citizens receiving public welfare, Wyman v. James, 400 U.S. 309, 91 S.Ct. 381, 27 L.Ed.2d. 408 (1971), and citizens having the misfortune to be illegitimate, Labine v. Vincent,

1 401 U.S. 532, 91 S.Ct. 1917, 28 L.Ed.2d. 288, I suppose today's decision downgrading citizens born outside the
2 United States should have been expected. Once again, as in James and Labine, the Court's opinion makes evident
3 that its holding is contrary to earlier decisions. Concededly, petitioner was a citizen at birth, not by constitutional
4 right, but only through operation of a federal statute.
5 [Rogers v. Bellei, 401 U.S. 815 (1971)]

6 STATUTORY citizens are the ONLY type of "citizens" mentioned in the entire Internal Revenue Code, and therefore, the 7 income tax under Subtitles A and C does not apply to the states of the Union.

8 Title 26: Internal Revenue
9 PART 1—INCOME TAXES
10 Normal Taxes and Surtaxes
11 § 1.1-1 Income tax on individuals.

12 (c) Who is a citizen.

13 Every person ["person" as used in 26 U.S.C. §6671(b) and 26 U.S.C. §7343, which both collectively are officers
14 or employees of a corporation or a partnership with the United States government] born or naturalized in the 15 United States and subject to its jurisdiction is a citizen. For other rules governing the acquisition of citizenship,
16 see chapters 1 and 2 of title III of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1401–1459). For rules governing
17 loss of citizenship, see sections 349 to 357, inclusive, of such Act (8 U.S.C. 1481–1489), Schneider v. Rusk, (1964)
18 377 U.S. 163, and Rev.Rul. 70–506, C.B. 1970–2, 1. For rules pertaining to persons who are nationals but not
19 citizens at birth, e.g., a person born in American Samoa, see section 308 of such Act (8 U.S.C. 1408). For special
20 rules applicable to certain expatriates who have lost citizenship with a principal purpose of avoiding certain 21 taxes, see section 877. A foreigner who has filed his declaration of intention of becoming a citizen but who has 22 not yet been admitted to citizenship by a final order of a naturalization court is an alien.

23 [SOURCE: <http://law.justia.com/cfr/title26/26-1.0.1.1.0.1.2.html>]

24 If you look in 8 U.S.C. §§1401-1459,. the ONLY type of "citizen" is the one mentioned in 8 U.S.C. §1401, which is a human
25 born in a federal territory not part of a state of the Union. Anyone who claims a state citizen or CONSTITUTIONAL citizen
26 is also a STATUTORY "U.S. citizen" subject to the income tax is engaging in criminal identity theft as documented in the 27 following. They are also criminally impersonating a "U.S. citizen" in violation of 18 U.S.C. §911:

Government Identity Theft, Form #05.046
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

28 Domicile and NOT nationality is what imputes a status under the tax code and a liability for tax. Tax liability is a civil
29 liability that attaches to civil statutory law, which in turn attaches to the person through their choice of domicile. When you
30 CHOOSE a domicile, you elect or nominate a protector, which in turn gives rise to an obligation to pay for the civil protection
31 demanded. The method of providing that protection is the civil laws of the municipal (as in COUNTY) jurisdiction that you
32 chose a domicile within.

33 "domicile. A person's legal home. That place where a man has his true, fixed, and permanent home and principal
34 establishment, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning. Smith v. Smith, 206
35 Pa.Super. 310, 213 A.2d. 94. Generally, physical presence within a state and the intention to make it one's home
36 are the requisites of establishing a "domicile" therein. The permanent residence of a person or the place to which
37 he intends to return even though he may actually reside elsewhere. A person may have more than one residence
38 but only one domicile. The legal domicile of a person is important since it, rather than the actual residence,
39 often controls the jurisdiction of the taxing authorities and determines where a person may exercise the 40 privilege of voting and other legal rights and privileges."
41 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 485]

42 Later versions of Black's Law Dictionary attempt to cloud this important distinction between nationality and domicile in
43 order to unlawfully and unconstitutionally expand federal power into the states of the Union and to give federal judges
44 unnecessary and unwarranted discretion to kidnap people into their jurisdiction using false presumptions. They do this by 45 trying to make you believe that domicile and nationality are equivalent, when they are EMPHATICALLY NOT. Here is an
46 example:

47 "nationality – The relationship between a citizen of a nation and the nation itself, customarily involving
48 allegiance by the citizen and protection by the state; membership in a nation. This term is often used
49 synonymously with citizenship. "
50 [Black's Law Dictionary (8th ed. 2004)]

1 Federal courts regard the term “citizenship” as equivalent to domicile, meaning domicile on federal territory.

2 “The words “citizen” and citizenship,” however, usually include the idea of domicile, Delaware, L.&W.R.Co.
3 v. Petrowsky, C.C.A.N.Y., 250 F. 554, 557:”
4 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, p. 310]

5 Hence:

- 6 1. The term “citizenship” is being stealthily used by government officials as a magic word that allows them to hide their
7 presumptions about your status. Sometimes they use it to mean NATIONALITY, and sometimes they use it to mean
8 DOMICILE.
- 9 2. The use of the word “citizenship” should therefore be AVOIDED when dealing with the government because its 10 meaning is unclear and leaves too much discretion to judges and prosecutors.
- 11 3. When someone from any government uses the word “citizenship”, you should:
 - 12 3.1. Tell them NOT to use the word, and instead to use “nationality” or “domicile”.
 - 13 3.2. Ask them whether they mean “nationality” or “domicile”.
 - 14 3.3. Ask them WHICH political subdivision they imply a domicile within: federal territory or a constitutional state of 15 the Union.

16 A failure to either understand or apply the above concepts can literally mean the difference between being a government pet
17 in a legal cage called a franchise, and being a free and sovereign man or woman.

NOTES:

1. Domicile is a prerequisite to having any civil status per Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17. One therefore cannot be a statutory "alien" under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(3) without a domicile on federal territory. Without such a domicile, you are a transient foreigner and neither an "alien" nor a "nonresident alien". Instead, you are a "non-resident non-person".
2. "United States" is described in 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(38), (a)(36) and 8 C.F.R. §215.1(f) and includes only federal territory and possessions and excludes all Constitutional Union states. This is a product of the separation of powers doctrine that is the heart of the United States Constitution.
3. A "nonresident alien individual" who has made an election under 26 U.S.C. §6013(g) and (h) to be treated as a "resident alien" is treated as a "nonresident alien" for the purposes of withholding under I.R.C. Subtitle C but retains their status as a "resident alien" under I.R.C. Subtitle A. See 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3) for the definition of "individual", which means "alien".
4. A "non-person" is really just a transient foreigner who is not "purposefully availing themselves" of commerce within the legislative jurisdiction of the United States on federal territory under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 U.S.C. Part IV, Chapter 97. The real transition from a "NON-person" to an "individual" occurs when one:
 - 4.1. "Purposefully avails himself" of commerce on federal territory and thus waives sovereign immunity. Examples of such purposeful availment are the next three items.
 - 4.2. Lawfully and consensually occupying a public office in the U.S. government and thereby being an "officer and individual" as identified in 5 U.S.C. §2105(a). Otherwise, you are PRIVATE and therefore beyond the civil legislative jurisdiction of the national government.
 - 4.3. Voluntarily files an IRS Form 1040 as a citizen or resident abroad and takes the foreign tax deduction under 26 U.S.C. §911. This too is essentially an act of

- 1 "purposeful availment". Nonresidents are not mentioned in section 911. The upper left corner of the form identifies the filer as a "U.S. individual". You
2 cannot be an "U.S. individual" without ALSO being an "individual". All the "trade or business" deductions on the form presume the applicant is a public
3 officer, and therefore the "individual" on the form is REALLY a public officer in the government and would be committing FRAUD if he or she was NOT.
4 4.4. VOLUNTARILY fills out an IRS Form W-7 ITIN Application (IRS identifies the applicant as an "individual") AND only uses the assigned number in 5 connection with their compensation as an elected or appointed public officer. Using it in connection with PRIVATE earnings is FRAUD.
- 6 5. What turns a "non-resident NON-person" into a "nonresident alien individual" is meeting one or more of the following two criteria:
7 5.1. Residence/domicile in a foreign country under the residence article of an income tax treaty and 26 C.F.R. §301.7701(b)-7(a)(1).
8 5.2. Residence/domicile as an alien in Puerto Rico, Guam, the Commonwealth of Northern Mariana Islands, the U.S. Virgin Islands, or American Samoa as 9 determined under 26 C.F.R. §301.7701(b)-1(d).
- 10 6. All "taxpayers" are STATUTORY "aliens" or "nonresident aliens". The definition of "individual" found in 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3) does NOT include "citizens".
11 The only occasion where a "citizen" can also be an "individual" is when they are abroad under 26 U.S.C. §911 and interface to the I.R.C. under a tax treaty with a
12 foreign country as an alien pursuant to 26 C.F.R. §301.7701(b)-7(a)(1)

13 And when he had come into the house, Jesus anticipated him, saying, "What do you think, Simon? From whom do the kings [governments] of the earth [lawfully] take 14 customs or taxes, from their sons [citizens and subjects] or from strangers [aliens], which are synonymous with "residents" in the tax code, and exclude "citizens"?"

15 Peter said to Him, "From strangers [aliens]/"residents" ONLY. See 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(a)(2)(ii) and 26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1(d)(3)."

16 Jesus said to him, "Then the sons [of the King, Constitutional but not statutory "citizens" of the Republic, who are all sovereign "nationals" and "non-resident non-
17 persons" under federal law] are free [sovereign over their own person and labor. e.g. SOVEREIGN IMMUNITY]. "

(Not required to file if physically present in the “United States” because no statute requires it) | Citizen abroad 26 U.S.C. §911 (Meets presence test) | “non-resident” if born in a state of the Union 8 U.S.C. §1408 , 8 U.S.C. §1452 , and 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22)(B) if born in a possession. |
| Status if FOREIGN “national” pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21) | “Resident alien” 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A) | “Resident alien abroad” 26 U.S.C. §911 (Meets presence test) | “Nonresident alien individual” if a public officer in the U.S. government. 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3) for the definition of “individual”. “Non-resident NON-person” if NOT a public officer in the U.S. government |

4 NOTES:

- 5 1. “United States” is defined as federal territory within 26 U.S.C. §§7701(a)(9) and (a)(10), 7701(a)(39), and 7408(d), and 6 4 U.S.C. §110(d). It does not include any portion of a Constitutional state of the Union.
7 2. The “District of Columbia” is defined as a federal corporation but not a physical place, a “body politic”, or a de jure
8 “government” within the District of Columbia Act of 1871, 16 Stat. 419, 426, Sec. 34. See:

Corporatization and Privatization of the Government, Form #05.024
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>.

- 9 3. “nationals” of the United States of America who are domiciled outside of federal jurisdiction, either in a state of the 10 Union or a foreign country, are “nationals” under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21) but not STATUTORY 8 U.S.C. §1401

1 “citizens”. They also qualify as “nonresident aliens” under 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B) if and only if they are engaged in
2 a public office. See section 4.12.3 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 for details. If they are not serving in a public
3 office, they are “non-resident non-persons”.

4 4. Temporary domicile in the middle column on the right must meet the requirements of the “Presence test” documented in
5 IRS publications.

6 5. “FEDERAL ZONE”=District of Columbia and territories of the United States in the above table

7 6. The term “individual” as used on the IRS Form 1040 means an “alien” engaged in a “trade or business”. All “taxpayers”
8 are “aliens” engaged in a “trade or business”. This is confirmed by 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3), 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(a)(2)(ii),
9 and 5 U.S.C. §552a(a)(2). Statutory “U.S. citizens” as defined in 8 U.S.C. §1401 are not “individuals” unless temporarily
10 abroad pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §911 and subject to an income tax treaty with a foreign country. In that capacity, statutory 11 “U.S. citizens” interface to the I.R.C. as “aliens” rather than “U.S. citizens” through the tax treaty.

1 4.6 Meaning of Geographical “Words of Art”

2 Because the states of the Union and the federal government are “foreign” to each other for the purposes of legislative
 3 jurisdiction, then it also follows that the definitions of terms in the context of all state and federal statutes must be consistent
 4 with this fact. The table below was extracted from the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 4.8 if you would like to
 5 investigate further, and it clearly shows the restrictions placed upon definitions of terms within the various contexts that they
 6 are used within state and federal law:

7 Table 5: Meaning of geographical “words of art”

8 NOTES:

- 9 1. The term “Federal state” or “Federal ‘States’” as used above means a federal territory as defined in 4 U.S.C. §110\(d\) and 10 EXCLUDES states of the Union.
 11 2. The term “Union state” means a “State” mentioned in the United States Constitution, and this term EXCLUDES and is 12 mutually exclusive to a federal “State”.

3 NOTES:
4

- 1 1. Changing domicile from “foreign” on the left to “domestic” on the right can occur EITHER by:
2 1.1. Physically moving to the federal zone.
3 1.2. Being lawfully elected or appointed to political office, in which case the OFFICE/STATUS has a domicile on federal territory but the 4 OFFICER does not.
5 2. Statutes on the right are civil franchises granted by Congress. As such, they are public offices within the national government. Those not seeking 6 office should not claim any of these statuses.

4.8 Statutory Rules for Converting Between Various Domicile and Citizenship Options Within Federal Law

The rules depicted above are also described in text form using the list below, if you would like to investigate the above diagram further:

1. “non-resident non-person”: Those with no domicile on federal territory and who are born either in a foreign country, a state of the Union, or within the federal zone. Also called a “nonresident”, “stateless person”, or “transient foreigner”. They are exclusively PRIVATE and beyond the reach of the civil statutory law because:
 - 1.1. They are not a “person” or “individual” because not engaged in an elected or appointed office.
 - 1.2. They have not waived sovereign immunity under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 U.S.C. Part IV, Chapter 97.
 - 1.3. They have not “purposefully” or “consensually” availed themselves of commerce within the exclusive or general jurisdiction of the national government within federal territory.
 - 1.4. They waived the “benefit” of any and all licenses or permits in the context of a specific transaction or agreement.
 - 1.5. In the context of a specific business dealing, they have not invoked any statutory status under federal civil law that might connect them with a government franchise, such as “U.S. citizen”, “U.S. resident”, “person”, “individual”, “taxpayer”, etc.
 - 1.6. If they are demanded to produce an identifying number, they say they don’t consent and attach the following form to every application or withholding document:

2. “Aliens” or “alien individuals”: Those born in a foreign country and not within any state of the Union or within any federal territory.
 - 2.1. “Alien” is defined in 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(3) as a person who is neither a citizen nor a national.
 - 2.2. “Alien individual” is defined in 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3)(i).
 - 2.3. An alien is defined in 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(3) as a person who is neither a statutory “U.S. citizen” per 8 U.S.C. §1401 nor a “national of the United States” per 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22).
 - 2.4. An alien with no domicile in the “United States” is presumed to be a “nonresident alien” pursuant to 26 C.F.R. §1.871-4(b).
3. “Residents” or “resident aliens”: An “alien” or “alien individual” with a legal domicile on federal territory.
 - 3.1. “Resident aliens” are defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A).
 - 3.2. A “resident alien” is an alien as defined in 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(3) who has a legal domicile on federal territory that is no part of the exclusive jurisdiction of any state of the Union.
 - 3.3. An “alien” becomes a “resident alien” by filing IRS Form 1078 pursuant to 26 C.F.R. §1.871-4(c)(ii) and thereby electing to have a domicile on federal territory.
4. “Nonresident aliens”: Those with no domicile on federal territory and who are born either in a foreign country, a state of the Union, or within the federal zone. They serve in a public office in the national but not state government.
 - 4.1. Defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B).
 - 4.2. A “nonresident alien” is defined as a person who is neither a statutory “citizen” pursuant to 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c) nor a statutory “resident” pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A).
 - 4.3. A person who is a “non-citizen national” pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §1452 and 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22)(B) is a “nonresident alien”, but only if they are lawfully engaged in a public office of the national government.
5. “Nonresident alien individuals”: Those who are aliens and who do not have a domicile on federal territory.
 - 5.1. Status is indicated in block 3 of the IRS Form W-8BEN under the term “Individual”.
 - 5.2. Includes only nonresidents not domiciled on federal territory but serving in public offices of the national government. “person” and “individual” are synonymous with said office in 26 U.S.C. §6671(b) and 26 U.S.C. §7343.
6. Convertibility between “aliens”, “resident aliens”, and “nonresident aliens”, and “nonresident alien individuals”:
 - 6.1. A “nonresident alien” is not the legal equivalent of an “alien” in law nor is it a subset of “alien”.
 - 6.2. IRS Form W-8BEN, Block 3 has no block to check for those who are “non-resident non-persons” but not “nonresident aliens” or “nonresident alien individuals”. Thus, the submitter of this form who is a statutory “non-resident non-person” but not a “nonresident alien” or “nonresident alien individual” is effectively compelled to make an illegal and fraudulent election to become an alien and an “individual” if they do not add a block for “transient foreigner” or “Union State Citizen” to the form. See section 5.3 of the following:

| About IRS Form W-8BEN, Form #04.202 http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm |
|---|

- 6.3. 26 U.S.C. §6013(g) and (h) and 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(4)(B) authorize a “nonresident alien” who is married to a

1 statutory "U.S. citizen" as defined in 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c) to make an "election" to become a "resident alien".

2 6.4. It is unlawful for an unmarried "state national" pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21) to become a "resident alien".
3 This can only happen by either fraud or mistake.

4 6.5. An alien may overcome the presumption that he is a "nonresident alien" and change his status to that of a "resident
5 alien" by filing IRS Form 1078 pursuant to 26 C.F.R. §1.871-4(c)(ii) while he is in the "United States".

6 6.6. The term "residence" can only lawfully be used to describe the domicile of an "alien". Nowhere is this term used
7 to describe the domicile of a "state national" or a "nonresident alien". See 26 C.F.R. §1.871-2.

8 6.7. The only way a statutory "alien" under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(3) can become both a "state national" and a "nonresident
9 alien" at the same time is to be naturalized pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §1421 and to have a domicile in either a U.S.
10 possession or a state of the Union.

11 7. Sources of confusion on these issues:

12 7.1. One can be a "non-resident non-person" without being an "individual" or a "nonresident alien individual" under 13 the Internal Revenue Code. An example would be a human being born within the exclusive jurisdiction of a state
14 of the Union who is therefore a "state national" pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21) who does not participate in 15 Social Security or use a Taxpayer Identification Number.

16 7.2. The term "United States" is defined in the Internal Revenue Code at 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10).

17 7.3. The term "United States" for the purposes of citizenship is defined in 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(38).

18 7.4. Any "U.S. Person" as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30) who is not found in the "United States" (District of 19 Columbia pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10)) shall be treated as having an effective domicile within 20 the District of Columbia pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(39) and 26 U.S.C. §7408(d).

21 7.5. The term "United States" is equivalent for the purposes of statutory "citizens" pursuant to 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c) and 22 "citizens" as used in the Internal Revenue Code. See 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c).

23 7.6. The term "United States" as used in the Constitution of the United States is NOT equivalent to the statutory 24 definition of the term used in:

25 7.6.1. 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10).

26 7.6.2. 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(38).

27 The "United States" as used in the Constitution means the states of the Union and excludes federal territory, while 28 the term "United States" as used in federal statutory law means federal territory and excludes states of the Union.

29 7.7. A constitutional "citizen of the United States" as mentioned in the Fourteenth Amendment is NOT equivalent to a 30 statutory "national and citizen of the United States" as used in 8 U.S.C. §1401. See:

Why You are a "national", "state national", and Constitutional but not Statutory Citizen, Form #05.006
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

31 7.8. In the case of jurisdiction over CONSTITUTIONAL aliens only (meaning foreign NATIONALS), the term "United 32 States" implies all 50 states and the federal zone, and is not restricted only to the federal zone. See:

21 4.9 Effect of Federal Franchises and Offices Upon Your Citizenship and Standing in Court

22 Another important element of citizenship is that artificial entities like corporations are statutory but not Constitutional citizens
23 in the context of civil litigation.

24 "A corporation is a citizen, resident, or inhabitant of the state or country by or under the laws of which it was 25 created, and of that state or country only."

26 [19 Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Corporations, §886 (2003)]

28 "A corporation is not a citizen within the meaning of that provision of the Constitution, which declares that the 29 citizens of each State shall be entitled to all the privileges and immunities of citizens of the several States."

30 [Paul v. Virginia, 8 Wall (U.S.) 168, 19 L.Ed. 357 (1868)]

31 Likewise, all governments are "corporations" as well.

32 "Corporations are also of all grades, and made for varied objects; all governments are corporations, created by
33 usage and common consent, or grants and charters which create a body politic for prescribed purposes; but
34 whether they are private, local or general, in their objects, for the enjoyment of property, or the exercise of
35 power, they are all governed by the same rules of law, as to the construction and the obligation of the
36 instrument by which the incorporation is made. One universal rule of law protects persons and property. It is
37 a fundamental principle of the common law of England, that the term freemen of the kingdom, includes 'all
38 persons,' ecclesiastical and temporal, incorporate, politique or natural; it is a part of their magna charta (2 Inst.
39 4), and is incorporated into our institutions. The persons of the members of corporations are on the same footing
40 of protection as other persons, and their corporate property secured by the same laws which protect that of
41 individuals. 2 Inst. 46-7. 'No man shall be taken,' 'no man shall be disseised,' without due process of law, is a
42 principle taken from magna charta, infused into all our state constitutions, and is made inviolable by the federal 43 government, by the amendments to the constitution."

46 TITLE 28 - JUDICIARY AND JUDICIAL PROCEDURE

47 PART VI - PARTICULAR PROCEEDINGS

48 CHAPTER 176 - FEDERAL DEBT COLLECTION PROCEDURE

49 SUBCHAPTER A - DEFINITIONS AND GENERAL PROVISIONS

50 Sec. 3002. Definitions

51 (15) "United States" means -

52 (A) a Federal corporation;

53 (B) an agency, department, commission, board, or other entity of the United States; or 54 (C) an instrumentality of the United States.

56 "A federal corporation operating within a state is considered a domestic corporation rather than a foreign 57 corporation. The United States government is a foreign corporation with respect to a state."

58 [19 Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Corporations, §883 (2003)]

1 Those who are acting in a representative capacity on behalf of the national government as “public officers” therefore assume
2 the same status as their employer pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b). To wit:

3 IV. PARTIES > Rule 17.
4 Rule 17. Parties Plaintiff and Defendant; Capacity

5 (b) Capacity to Sue or be Sued.

6 Capacity to sue or be sued is determined as follows:

7 (1) for an individual who is not acting in a representative capacity, by the law of the individual's domicile;

8 (2) for a corporation [the “United States”, in this case, or its officers on official duty representing the

9 corporation], by the law under which it was organized; and

10 (3) for all other parties, by the law of the state where the court is located, except that:

11 (A) a partnership or other unincorporated association with no such capacity under that state's law may sue or
12 be sued in its common name to enforce a substantive right existing under the United States Constitution or
13 laws; and

14 (B) 28 U.S.C. §§ 754 and 959\(a\) govern the capacity of a receiver appointed by a United States court to sue
15 or be sued in a United States court.

16 [SOURCE: <http://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/Rule17.htm>]

17 Persons acting in the capacity as “public officers” of the national government are therefore acting as “officers of a 18 corporation” as described in 26 U.S.C. §6671\(b\) and 26 U.S.C. §7343 and become “persons” within the meaning of federal 19 statutory law.

20 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 68 > Subchapter B > PART I > § 6671
21 § 6671. Rules for application of assessable penalties

22 (b) Person defined

23 The term “person”, as used in this subchapter, includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a member
24 or employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect
25 of which the violation occurs.
26

27 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 75 > Subchapter D > § 7343
28 §7343. Definition of term “person”

29 The term “person” as used in this chapter includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a member or
30 employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect
31 of which the violation occurs.

32 Because all corporations are “citizens”, then “public officers” also take on the character of “U.S. citizens” in the capacity of 33 their official duties, regardless of what they are as private individuals. It is also interesting to note that IRS correspondence
34 very conspicuously warns the recipient right underneath the return address the following, confirming that they are 35 corresponding with a “public officer” and not a private individual:

36 “Penalty for private use §300.”

37 Note that all “taxpayers” are “public officers” of the national government, and they are referred to in the Internal Revenue
38 Code as “effectively connected with a trade or business”. The term “trade or business” is defined as “the functions of a public 39 office”:

40 26 U.S.C. Sec. 7701\(a\)\(26\)

41 “The term ‘trade or business’ includes the performance of the functions of a public office.”

5 The U.S. Supreme Court has also said it is “repugnant to the constitution” for the government to regulate private conduct.
6 The only way you can lawfully become subject to the government’s jurisdiction or the tax laws is to engage in “public
7 conduct” as a “public officer” of the national government.

8 “The power to “legislate generally upon” life, liberty, and property, as opposed to the “power to provide modes
9 of redress” against offensive state action, was “repugnant” to the Constitution. Id., at 15. See also United States

11 U.S. 127, 139 (1903). Although the specific holdings of these early cases might have been superseded or modified,
12 see, e.g., Heart of Atlanta Motel, Inc. v. United States, 379 U.S. 241 (1964); United States v. Guest, 383 U.S. 745
13 (1966), their treatment of Congress’ §5 power as corrective or preventive, not definitional, has not been
14 questioned.”
15 [City of Boerne v. Florez, Archbishop of San Antonio, 521 U.S. 507 (1997)]

16 Note also that ordinary “employees” are NOT “public officers”:

17 Treatise on the Law of Public Offices and Officers
18 Book 1: Of the Office and the Officer: How Officer Chosen and Qualified
19 Chapter I: Definitions and Divisions

20 §2 How Office Differs from Employment.-A public office differs in material particulars from a public employment,
21 for, as was said by Chief Justice MARSHALL, “although an office is an employment, it does not follow that every
22 employment is an office. A man may certainly be employed under a contract, express or implied, to perform a 23 service without becoming an officer.”

24 “We apprehend that the term ‘office,’” said the judges of the supreme court of Maine, “implies a delegation of a
25 portion of the sovereign power to, and the possession of it by, the person filling the office; and the exercise of 26 such power within legal limits constitutes the correct discharge of the duties of such office. The power thus 27 delegated and possessed may be a portion belonging sometimes to one of the three great departments and
28 sometimes to another; still it is a legal power which may be rightfully exercised, and in its effects it will bind the 29 rights of others and be subject to revision and correction only according to the standing laws of the state. An 30 employment merely has none of these distinguishing features. A public agent acts only on behalf of his principal,
31 the public, whose sanction is generally considered as necessary to give the acts performed the authority and
32 power of a public act or law. And if the act be such as not to require subsequent sanction, still it is only a species
33 of service performed under the public authority and for the public good, but not in the exercise of any standing
34 laws which are considered as roles of action and guardians of rights.”

35 “The officer is distinguished from the employee,” says Judge COOLEY, “in the greater importance, dignity and 36 independence of his position; in being required to take an official oath, and perhaps to give an official bond; in
37 the liability to be called to account as a public offender for misfeasance or non-feasance in office, and usually,
38 though not necessarily, in the tenure of his position. In particular cases, other distinctions will appear which are 39 not general.”

41 SOURCE: <http://books.google.com/books?id=g-I9AAAAIAAJ&printsec=titlepage>]

42 The ruse described in this section of making corporations into “citizens” and those who work for them into “public officers”
43 of the government and “taxpayers” started just after the Civil War. Congress has always been limited to taxing things that it
44 creates, which means it has never been able to tax anything but federal and not state corporations. The Supreme Court has 45 confirmed, for instance, that the income tax is and always has been a franchise or privilege tax upon profit of federal 46 corporations.

47 “Excises are taxes laid upon the manufacture, sale or consumption of commodities within the country, upon
48 licenses to pursue certain occupations and upon corporate privileges...the requirement to pay such taxes
49 involves the exercise of [220 U.S. 107, 152] privileges, and the element of absolute and unavoidable demand
50 is lacking...

51 ...It is therefore well settled by the decisions of this court that when the sovereign authority has exercised the right
52 to tax a legitimate subject of taxation as an exercise of a franchise or privilege, it is no objection that the measure
53 of taxation is found in the income produced in part from property which of itself considered is nontaxable...

5 "The Sixteenth Amendment declares that Congress shall have power to levy and collect taxes on income, "from 6 [271 U.S. 174] whatever source derived," without apportionment among the several states and without regard to
7 any census or enumeration. It was not the purpose or effect of that amendment to bring any new subject within
8 the taxing power. Congress already had power to tax all incomes. But taxes on incomes from some sources had
9 been held to be "direct taxes" within the meaning of the constitutional requirement as to apportionment. Art. 1, §

28 and not in any sense, a tax upon property or upon income merely as income. It was enacted in view of the

30 L.Ed. 1108, 15 Sup.Ct. Rep. 912, which held the income tax provisions of a previous law to be unconstitutional
31 because amounting in effect to a direct tax upon property within the meaning of the Constitution, and because 32 not apportioned in the manner required by that instrument."

34 To create and expand a national income tax, the federal government therefore had to make the municipal government of the 35 District of Columbia into a federal corporation in 1871 and then impose an income tax upon the officers of the corporation
36 ("public officers") by making all of their earnings from the office into "profit" and "gross income" subject to excise tax upon 37 the franchise they participate in. Below is the history of this transformation. You can find more in Great IRS Hoax, Form
38 #11.302, Chapter 6:

- 39 1. The first American Income Tax was passed in 1862. See:
12 Stat. 432.
<http://memory.loc.gov/cgi-bin/ampage?collId=llsl&fileName=012/llsl012.db&recNum=463>
- 40 2. The License Tax Cases was heard in 1866 by the Supreme Court, in which the Supreme Court said that Congress could 41 not license a trade or business in a state in order to tax it, referring to the civil war tax enacted in 1862. See:
License Tax Cases, 72 U.S. 462 (1866)
<http://case law.lp.findlaw.com/scripts/getcase.pl?navby=case&court=us&vol=72&page=462>
- 42 3. The Fourteenth Amendment was ratified in 1868. This Amendment uses the phrase "citizens of the United States" in 43 order to confuse it with statutory "citizens of the United States" domiciled on federal territory in the exclusive jurisdiction
44 of Congress.
- 45 4. The civil war income tax was repealed in 1871. See:
46 4.1. 17 Stat. 401
47 4.2. Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 6.8.20.
- 48 5. Congress incorporated the District of Columbia in 1871. The incorporation of the District of Columbia was done to 49 expand the income tax by taxing the government's own "public officers" as a federal corporation. See the following:
19 Stat. 419

FEDERAL STATUTORY CITIZENSHIP STATUSES

“The term ‘United States’ may be used in any one of several senses. 1) It may be merely the name of a sovereign occupying the position analogous to that of other sovereigns in the family of nations. 2) It may designate the territory over which the sovereignty of the United States extends, or 3) it may be the collective name of the states which are united by and under the Constitution.” [Numbering Added] [Hooven & Allison Co. v. Evatt, 324 U.S. 652 (1945)]

US¹-Context used in matters describing our sovereign country within the family of nations.

US²-Context used to designate the territory over which the Federal Government is exclusively sovereign.

US³-Context used regarding sovereign states of the Union united by and under the Constitution.

- ① 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21) “national”
- ② 8 U.S.C. §1401 “national & citizen of the United States² at birth”
- ③ 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22)-“national of the United States”
- ④ 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22)(A)-“citizen of the United States”
- ⑤ 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22)(B)-“person who, though not a citizen of the United States, owes permanent allegiance to the United States^{1”}
- ⑥ Federal Common law “national”. See Perkins v. Elg, 307 U.S. 325 (1939). NOT a “national of the United States” under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22) UNLESS all “United States” used there means the CONSTITUTIONAL “United States” and excludes federal territory AND “citizen” excludes 8 U.S.C. §1401 and 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c) “citizens”.

NOTES:

- "United States" is described in 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(38), (a)(36) and 8 C.F.R. §215.1(f) and includes only federal territory and possessions and excludes all Constitutional Union states. This is a product of the separation of powers doctrine that is the heart of the United States Constitution.
- E-Verify CANNOT be used by those who are a NOT lawfully engaged in a public office in the U.S. government at the time of making application. Its use is VOLUNTARY and cannot be compelled. Those who use it MUST have a Social Security Number or Taxpayer Identification Number and it is ILLEGAL to apply for, use, or disclose said number for those not lawfully engaged in a public office in the U.S. government at the time of application. 4.11.2 How to describe your citizenship on government forms²⁰

This section provides some pointers on how to describe your citizenship status on government forms in order to avoid being confused with a someone who has a domicile on federal territory and therefore no Constitutional rights. Below is a summary of how we recommend protecting yourself from the prejudicial presumptions of others about your citizenship status:

1. Keep in mind the following facts about all government forms:
 - 1.1. Government forms ALWAYS imply the LEGAL/STATUTORY rather than POLITICAL/CONSTITUTIONAL status of the party in the context of all franchises, including income taxes and social security.
 - 1.2. "Alien" on government forms always means a person born or naturalized in a foreign country.
 - 1.3. The Internal Revenue Code does NOT define the term "nonresident alien". The closest thing to a definition is that found in 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B), which defines what it ISN'T, but NOT what it IS. If you look on IRS Form W-8BEN, Block 3, you can see that there are many different types of entities that can be nonresident aliens, none of which are EXPRESSLY included in the definition at 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B). It is therefore IMPOSSIBLE to conclude based on any vague definition in the Internal Revenue Code that a specific person IS or IS NOT a "nonresident alien."
 - 1.4. On tax forms, the term "nonresident alien" is NOT a subset of the term "alien", but rather a SUPERSET. It includes both FOREIGN nationals domiciled in a foreign country and also persons in Constitutional states of the Union, both of whom must be engaged in a public office. A "national of the United States*", for instance, although NOT an "alien" under Title 8 of the U.S. Code, is a "non-resident non-person" under Title 26 of the U.S. Code if not engaged in a public office and a "nonresident alien" if engaged in a public office. Therefore, a "nonresident alien" is a "word of art" designed to confuse people, and the fact that uses the word "alien" doesn't mean it IS an "alien". This is covered in:

Flawed Tax Arguments to Avoid, Form #08.004, Section 8.7
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

2. Anyone who PRESUMES any of the following should promptly be DEMANDED to prove the presumption with legally admissible evidence from the law. ALL of these presumptions are FALSE and cannot be proven:
 - 2.1. That you can trust ANYTHING that either a government form OR a government employee says. The courts say not only that you CANNOT, but that you can be PENALIZED for doing so. See:

Reasonable Belief About Income Tax Liability, Form #05.007
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 2.2. That nationality and domicile are synonymous.
- 2.3. That "nonresident aliens" are a SUBSET of "aliens" within the Internal Revenue Code.
- 2.4. That the term "United States" has the SAME meaning in Title 8 of the U.S. Code as it has in Title 26.
- 2.5. That a Fourteenth Amendment "citizen of the United States" is equivalent to any of the following:
 - 2.5.1. 8 U.S.C. §1401 "national and citizen of the United States".
 - 2.5.2. 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1 "citizen".
 - 2.5.3. 26 U.S.C. §3121(e) "citizen of the United States".All of the above statuses have similar sounding names, but they rely on a DIFFERENT definition of "United States" from that found in the USA Constitution.
- 2.6. That you can be a statutory "taxpayer" or statutory "citizen" of any kind WITHOUT your consent. See:

Why Domicile and Becoming a "Taxpayer" Require Your Consent, Form #05.002
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

3. The safest way to describe oneself is to check "Other" for citizenship or add an "Other" box if the form doesn't have one and then do one of the following:
 - 3.1. Write in the "Other" box

"See attached mandatory Affidavit of Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status, Form #02.001"

and then attach the following completed form:

Affidavit of Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status, Form #02.001
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 3.2. If you don't want to include an attachment, add the following mandatory language to the form that you are a:

²⁰ Adapted from Why You are a "national", "state national", and Constitutional but not Statutory Citizen, Form #05.006, Section 14.1; <http://sedm.org>.

- 1 3.2.1. A “Citizen and national of _____(statename)”
- 2 3.2.2. NOT a statutory “national and citizen of the United States” or “U.S. citizen” per 8 U.S.C. §1401
- 3 3.2.3. A constitutional or Fourteenth Amendment Citizen.
- 4 3.2.4. A statutory alien per 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A) for the purposes of the federal income tax.
- 5 4. If the recipient of the form says they won’t accept attachments or won’t allow you to write explanatory information on
- 6 the form needed to prevent perjuring the form, then send them an update via certified mail AFTER they accept your
- 7 submission so that you have legal evidence that they tried to tamper with a federal witness and conspired to commit
- 8 perjury on the form.
- 9 5. For detailed instructions on how to fill out the Department of State Form I-9, See:
- I-9 Form Amended, Form #06.028
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
- 10 6. For detailed instructions on how to participate in E-Verify for the purposes of PRIVATE employment, see:
- About E-Verify, Form #04.107
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
- 11 7. To undo the damage you have done over the years to your status by incorrectly describing your status, send in the
- 12 following form and submit according to the instructions provided. This form says that all future government forms
- 13 submitted shall have this form included or attached by reference.
- Legal Notice of Change in Domicile/Citizenship Records and Divorce from the United States, Form #10.001
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
- 14 8. Quit using Taxpayer Identifying Numbers (TINs). 20 C.F.R. §422.104 says that only statutory “U.S. citizens” and
- 15 “permanent residents” can lawfully apply for Social Security Numbers, both of which share in common a domicile on
- 16 federal territory such as statutory “U.S. citizens” and “residents” (aliens), can lawfully use such a number. 26 C.F.R.
- 17 §301.6109-1(b) also indicates that “U.S. persons”, meaning persons with a domicile on federal territory, are required to
- 18 furnish such a number if they file tax forms. “Foreign persons” are also mentioned in 26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1(b), but
- 19 these parties also elect to have an effective domicile on federal territory and thereby become “persons” by engaging in
- 20 federal franchises. See:
- 21 8.1. Who are “Taxpayers” and Who Needs a “Taxpayer Identification Number”?, Form #05.013
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
- 22 8.2. Why It is Illegal for Me to Request or Use a “Taxpayer Identification Number”, Form #04.205-attach this form to
- 23 every government form that asks for a Social Security Number or Taxpayer Identification Number. Write in the
- 24 SSN/TIN Box (NONE: See attached form #04.205).
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
- 25 8.3. Resignation of Compelled Social Security Trustee, Form #06.002-use this form to quit Social Security lawfully.
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
- 26 27 28 29 9. If you are completing any kind of government form or application to any kind of financial institution other than a tax
- 30 form and you are asked for your citizenship status, TIN, or Social Security Number, attach the following form and prepare
- 31 according to the instructions provided:
- Affidavit of Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status, Form #02.001
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
- 32 10. If you are completing and submitting a government tax form, attach the following form and prepare according to the
- 33 instructions provided:
- Tax Form Attachment, Form #04.201
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
- 34 11. If you are submitting a voter registration, attach the following form and prepare according to the instructions provided:
- Voter Registration Attachment, Form #06.003
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
- 35 12. If you are applying for a USA passport, attach the following form and prepare according to the instructions provided:
- USA Passport Application Attachment, Form #06.007
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
- 36 13. If you are submitting a complaint, response, pleading, or motion to a federal court, you should attach the following form:
- Federal Pleading/Motion/Petition Attachment, Litigation Tool #01.002
<http://sedm.org/Litigation/LitIndex.htm>
- 37 14. Use as many of the free forms as you can from the page below. They are very well thought out to avoid traps set by the
- 38 predators who run the American government:
- SEDM Forms Page
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

1 15. When engaging in correspondence with anyone in the government, legal, or financial profession about your status that
2 occurs on other than a standard government form, use the following guidelines:

3 15.1. In the return address for the correspondence, place the phrase “(NOT A DOMICILE OR RESIDENCE)”.

4 15.2. Entirely avoid the use of the words “citizen”, “citizenship”, “resident”, “inhabitant”. Instead, prefer the term “non-
5 resident”, and “transient foreigner”.

6 15.3. Never describe yourself as an “individual” or “person”. 5 U.S.C. §552a(a)(2) says that this entity is a government
7 employee who is a statutory “U.S. citizen” or “resident” (alien). Instead, refer to yourself as a “transient foreigner”
8 and a “nonresident”. Some forms such as IRS Form W-8BEN Block 3 have no block for “transient foreigner” or 9 “non-resident NON-person”, in which case modify the form to add that option. See the following for details:

About IRS Form W-8BEN, Form #04.202

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

10 15.4. Entirely avoid the use of the phrase “United States”, because it has so many different and mutually exclusive
11 meanings in the U.S. code and state law. Instead, replace this phrase with the name of the state you either are 12 physically present within or with “USA” and then define that “USA” includes the states of the Union and excludes
13 federal territory. For instance, you could say “Citizen of California Republic” and then put an asterisk next to it
14 and at the bottom of the page explain the asterisk as follows:

15  NOT a citizen of the STATE of California, which is a corporate extension of the federal government, but instead
16 a sovereign Citizen of the California Republic*

17 California Revenue and Taxation Code, section 6017 defines “State of” as follows:

18 “6017. ‘In this State’ or ‘in the State’ means within the exterior limits of the State of California and includes 19 all territory within these limits owned by or ceded to the United States of America.”

20 15.5. Never use the word “residence”, “permanent address”, or “domicile” in connection with either the term “United 21 States”, or the name of the state you are in.

22 15.6. If someone else refers to you improperly, vociferously correct them so that they are prevented from making
23 presumptions that would injure your rights.

24 15.7. Avoid words that are undefined in statutes that relate to citizenship. Always use words that are statutorily defined
25 and if you can’t find the definition, define it yourself on the form or correspondence you are sending. Use of 26 undefined words encourages false presumptions that will eventually injure your rights and give judges and
27 administrators discretion that they undoubtedly will abuse to their benefit. There isn’t even a common definition
28 of “citizen of the United States” or “U.S. citizen” in the standard dictionary, then the definition of “U.S. citizen” in 29 all the state statutes and on all government forms is up to us! Therefore, once again, whenever you fill out any kind
30 of form that specifies either “U.S. citizen” or “citizen of the United States”, you should be very careful to clarify
31 that it means “national” under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21) or you will be “presumed” to be a federal citizen and a “citizen
32 of the United States” under 8 U.S.C. §1401, and this is one of the biggest injuries to your rights that you could 33 ever inflict. Watch out folks! Here is the definition we recommend that you use on any government form that uses
34 these terms that makes the meaning perfectly clear and unambiguous:

35 “U.S. citizen” or “citizen of the United States”: A “National” defined in either 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21)
36 who owes their permanent allegiance to the confederation of states called the “United States”. Someone who 37 was not born in the federal “United States” as defined in 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(38) and who is NOT a “citizen of 38 the United States” under 8 U.S.C. §1401.*

39 15.8. Refer them to this pamphlet if they have questions and tell them to do their homework.

40 16. Citizenship status in Social Security NUMIDENT record:

41 16.1. The NUMIDENT record derives from what was filled out on the SSA Form SS-5, block 5. See:

42 <http://www.ssa.gov/online/ss-5.pdf>

43 16.2. One’s citizenship status is encoded within the NUMIDENT record using the “CSP code” within the Numident
44 record. This code is called the “citizenship code” by the Social Security administration.

45 16.3. Like all government forms, the terms used on the SSA Form SS-5 use the STATUTORY context, not the 46 CONSTITUTIONAL context for all citizenship words. Hence, block 5 of the SSA Form SS-5 should be filled
47 out with “Other”, which means you are a non-resident. This is consistent with the definition of “individual”
48 found in 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3), which defines the term to include ONLY STATUTORY “aliens”.

49 16.4. Those who are not STATUTORY “nationals and citizens of the United States” at birth per 8 U.S.C. §1401 or 50 26 U.S.C. §3121(e), and 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c) have a “CSP code” of B in their NUMIDENT record, which
51 corresponds with a CSP code of “B”. The comment field of the NUMIDENT record should also be annotated

1 with the following to ensure that it is not changed during an audit because of confusion on the part of the SSA
2 employee:

3 “CSP Code B not designated in error-- applicant is an American national with a domicile and residence in a
4 foreign state for the purposes of the Social Security Act.”

5 16.5. The local SSA office cannot provide a copy of the NUMIDENT record. Only the central SSA headquarters can
6 provide it by submitting a Privacy Act request rather than a FOIA using the following resource:

20 4.12 How Human Beings Become “Individuals” and “Persons” Under the Revenue Statutes

21 It might surprise most people to learn that human beings most often are NEITHER “individuals” nor “persons” under ordinary 22 acts of Congress, and especially revenue acts. The reasons for this are many and include the following:

23 1. All civil statutes are law exclusively for government and not private humans:

24 Why Statutory Civil Law is Law for Government and Not Private Persons, Form #05.037
25 <https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

26 2. Civil statutes cannot impair PRIVATE property or PRIVATE rights.

27 “Under basic rules of construction, statutory laws enacted by legislative bodies cannot impair rights given under a 28 constitution. 194 B.R. at 925.”
29 [In re Young, 235 B.R. 666 (Bankr.M.D.Fla., 1999)]

30 3. Civil statutes are privileges and franchises created by the government which convert PRIVATE property to PUBLIC
31 property. They cannot lawfully convert PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property without the express consent of the 32 owner. See:

33 Separation Between Public and Private Course, Form #12.025
34 <https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

35 4. You have an inalienable PRIVATE right to choose your civil status, including “person”.

36 Your Exclusive Right to Declare or Establish Your Civil Status, Form #13.008
37 <https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

38 5. All civil statutes, including “person” or “individual” are a product of a VOLUNTARY choice of domicile protected by 39 the First Amendment right of freedom from compelled association. If you don’t volunteer and choose to be a
40 nonresident or transient foreigner, then you cannot be punished for that choice and cannot have a civil status. See:

41 Why Domicile and Becoming a “Taxpayer” Require Your Consent, Form #05.002
42 <https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

43 6. As the absolute owner of your private property, you have the absolute right of depriving any and all others,
44 INCLUDING governments, of the use or benefit of that property, including your body and all of your property. The 45 main method of exercising that control is to control the civil and legal status of the property, who protects it, and HOW 46 it is protected.

47 “As independent sovereignty, it is State's province and duty to forbid interference by another state or foreign power
48 with status of its own citizens. Roberts v Roberts (1947) 81 CA.2d. 871, 185 P.2d. 381”
49 [Black's Law Dictionary, 4th Ed., p 1300]

1 The following subsections will examine the above assertions and prove they are substantially true with evidence from a high
2 level. If you need further evidence, we recommend reading the documents referenced above.

3 4.12.1 How alien nonresidents visiting the geographical United States become statutory “individuals” whether
4 or not they consent

5 The U.S. Supreme Court defined how alien nonresidents visiting the United States become statutory “individuals” below:

6 The reasons for not allowing to other aliens exemption 'from the jurisdiction of the country in which they are
7 found' were stated as follows: 'When private individuals of one nation [states of the Unions are “nations” under
8 the law of nations] spread themselves through another as business or caprice may direct, mingling
9 indiscriminately with the inhabitants of that other, or when merchant vessels enter for the purposes of trade,
10 it would be obviously inconvenient and dangerous to society, and would subject the laws to continual
11 infraction, and the government to degradation, if such individuals or merchants did not owe temporary and
12 local allegiance, and were not amenable to the jurisdiction of the country. Nor can the foreign sovereign have
13 any motive for wishing such exemption. His subjects thus passing into foreign countries are not employed by him,
14 nor are they engaged in national pursuits. Consequently, there are powerful motives for not exempting persons
15 of this description from the jurisdiction of the country in which they are found, and no one motive for requiring
16 it. The implied license, therefore, under which they enter, can never be construed to grant such exemption.' 7
17 Cranch, 144.

18 In short, the judgment in the case of The Exchange declared, as incontrovertible principles, that the jurisdiction
19 of every nation within its own territory is exclusive and absolute, and is susceptible of no limitation not imposed
20 by the nation itself; that all exceptions to its full and absolute territorial jurisdiction must be traced up to its own
21 consent, express or implied; that upon its consent to cede, or to waive the exercise of, a part of its territorial
22 jurisdiction, rest the exemptions from that jurisdiction of foreign sovereigns or their armies entering its territory
23 with its permission, and of their foreign ministers and public ships of war; and that the implied license, under
24 which private individuals of another nation enter the territory and mingle indiscriminately with its inhabitants,
25 for purposes of business or pleasure, can never be construed to grant to them an exemption from the
26 jurisdiction of the country in which they are found. See, also, Carlisle v. U.S. (1872) 16 Wall. 147, 155; Radich
27 v. Hutchins (1877) 95 U.S. 210; Wildenhuss' Case (1887) 120 U.S. 1, 7 Sup.Ct. 385; Chae Chan Ping v. U.S.
29 [United States v. Wong Kim Ark, 169 U.S. 649, 18 S.Ct. 456, 42 L.Ed. 890 (1898)]

30 Therefore, alien nonresidents visiting or doing business within a country are presumed to be party to an “implied license”
31 while there. All licenses are franchises, and all give rise to a public civil franchise status. In the case of nonresident aliens,
32 that status is “individual” and it is a public office in the government, just like every other franchise status. We prove this in:

Government Instituted Slavery Using Franchises, Form #05.030
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

33 All “aliens” are presumed to be “nonresident aliens” but this may be overcome upon presentation of proof:

34 Title 26: Internal Revenue
35 PART 1—INCOME TAXES
36 nonresident alien individuals
37 § 1.871-4 Proof of residence of aliens.

38 (a) Rules of evidence. The following rules of evidence shall govern in determining whether or not an alien within
39 the United States has acquired residence therein for purposes of the income tax.

40 (b) Nonresidence presumed. An alien by reason of his alienage, is presumed to be a nonresident alien.

41 (c) Presumption rebutted—

42 (1) Departing alien.

43 In the case of an alien who presents himself for determination of tax liability before departure from the United
44 States, the presumption as to the alien's nonresidence may be overcome by proof--

45 Aliens, while physically in the United States, are presumed to be “resident” here, REGARDLESS OF THEIR CONSENT
46 or INTENT. “residence” is the word used to characterize an alien as being subject to the CIVIL and/or TAXING franchise 47 codes of the place he or she is in:

1 Title 26: Internal Revenue
2 PART 1—INCOME TAXES
3 nonresident alien individuals
4 §1.871-2 Determining residence of alien individuals.

5 (a) General.

6 The term nonresident alien individual means an individual whose residence is not within the United States, and
7 who is not a citizen of the United States. The term includes a nonresident alien fiduciary. For such purpose the 8 term fiduciary shall have the meaning assigned to it by section 7701(a)(6) and the regulations in part 301 of this
9 chapter (Regulations on Procedure and Administration). For presumption as to an alien's nonresidence, see 10 paragraph (b) of §1.871-4.

11 (b) Residence defined.

12 An alien actually present in the United States who is not a mere transient or sojourner is a resident of the
13 United States for purposes of the income tax. Whether he is a transient is determined by his intentions with
14 regard to the length and nature of his stay. A mere floating intention, indefinite as to time, to return to another
15 country is not sufficient to constitute him a transient. If he lives in the United States and has no definite
16 intention as to his stay, he is a resident. One who comes to the United States for a definite purpose which in its 17 nature may be promptly accomplished is a transient; but, if his purpose is of such a nature that an extended
18 stay may be necessary for its accomplishment, and to that end the alien makes his home temporarily in the 19 United States, he becomes a resident, though it may be his intention at all times to return to his domicile abroad
20 when the purpose for which he came has been consummated or abandoned. An alien whose stay in the United
21 States is limited to a definite period by the immigration laws is not a resident of the United States within the 22 meaning of this section, in the absence of exceptional circumstances.

23 Once aliens seek the privilege of permanent resident status, then they cease to be nonresident aliens and become “resident 24 aliens” under 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A):

25 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A) Resident alien

26 (b) Definition of resident alien and nonresident alien

27 (1) In general

28 For purposes of this title (other than subtitle B) -

29 (A) Resident alien

30 An alien individual shall be treated as a resident of the United States with respect to any calendar
31 year if (and only if) such individual meets the requirements of clause (i), (ii), or (iii):

32 (i) Lawfully admitted for permanent residence

33 Such individual is a lawful permanent resident of the United States at any time during such 34 calendar year.

35 (ii) Substantial presence test

36 Such individual meets the substantial presence test of paragraph (3).

37 (iii) First year election

38 Such individual makes the election provided in paragraph (4).

39
40 “Residents, as distinguished from citizens, are aliens who are permitted to take up a permanent abode in the
41 country. Being bound to the society by reason of their dwelling in it, they are subject to its laws so long as they
42 remain there, and, being protected by it, they must defend it, although they do not enjoy all the rights of citizens.
43 They have only certain privileges which the law, or custom, gives them. Permanent residents are those who
44 have been given the right of perpetual residence. They are a sort of citizen of a less privileged character, and
45 are subject to the society without enjoying all its advantages. Their children succeed to their status; for the right
46 of perpetual residence given them by the State passes to their children.”
47 [The Law of Nations, Vattel, Book 1, Chapter 19, Section 213, p. 87]

48 Therefore, once aliens apply for and receive “permanent resident” status, they get the same exemption from income taxation
49 as citizens and thereby CEASE to be civil “persons” under the Internal Revenue Code as described in the following sections.
50 In that sense, their “implied license” is revoked and they thereby cease to be civil “persons”. The license returns if they 51 abandon their “permanent resident” civil status:

52 Title 26: Internal Revenue
53 PART 1—INCOME TAXES
54 nonresident alien individuals
55 §1.871-5 Loss of residence by an alien.

1 An alien who has acquired residence in the United States retains his status as a resident until he abandons the
2 same and actually departs from the United States. An intention to change his residence does not change his status
3 as a resident alien to that of a nonresident alien. Thus, an alien who has acquired a residence in the United States
4 is taxable as a resident for the remainder of his stay in the United States.

5 We should also point out that:

- 6 1. There are literally BILLIONS of aliens throughout the world.
- 7 2. Unless and until an alien either physically sets foot within our country or conducts commerce or business with a 8 foreign state such as the United States, they:
 - 9 2.1. Would NOT be classified as civil STATUTORY “persons” or “individuals”, but rather “transient foreigners” or 10 “stateless persons”. Domicile in a place is MANDATORY in order for the civil statutes to be enforceable per 11 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17, and they have a foreign domicile while temporarily here.
 - 12 2.2. Would NOT be classified as “persons” under the Constitution. The constitution attaches to and protects LAND, 13 and not the status of people ON the land.
 - 14 2.3. Would NOT be classified as “persons” under the CRIMINAL law.
 - 15 2.4. Would NOT be classified as “persons” under the common law and equity.
- 16 3. If the alien then physically comes to the United States (federal zone or STATUTORY “United States”), then they:
 - 17 3.1. Would NOT become “persons” under the Constitution, because the constitution does not attach to federal 18 territory.
 - 19 3.2. Would become “persons” under the CRIMINAL laws of Congress, because the criminal law attaches to physical 20 territory.
 - 21 3.3. Would become “persons” under the common law and equity of the national government and not the states, 22 because common law attaches to physical land.
- 23 4. If the alien then physically moves to a constitutional state, then their status would change as follows:
 - 24 4.1. Would become “persons” under the Constitution, because the constitution attaches to land within constitutional 25 states.
 - 26 4.2. Would become “persons” under the CRIMINAL laws of states of the Union, because the criminal law attaches to 27 physical territory.
 - 28 4.3. Would cease to be “persons” under the CRIMINAL laws of Congress, because they are not on federal territory.
 - 29 4.4. Would become “persons” under the common law and equity of the state they visited and not the national 30 government, because common law attaches to physical land.
- 31 5. If the aliens are statutory “citizens” of their state of origin, they are “agents of the state” they came from. If they do not 32 consent to be statutory “citizens” and do not have a domicile in the state of their birth, then they are “non-residents” in 33 relation to their state of birth. The STATUTORY “citizen” is the agent of the state, not the human being filling the public
34 office of “citizen”.

35 "Under our own systems of polity, the term 'citizen', implying the same or similar relations to the government and
36 to society which appertain to the term, 'subject' in England, is familiar to all. Under either system, the term used
37 is designed to apply to man in his individual character and to his natural capacities -- to a being or agent
38 [PUBLIC OFFICER!] possessing social and political rights and sustaining social, political, and moral
39 obligations. It is in this acceptation only, therefore, that the term 'citizen', in the article of the Constitution,
40 can be received and understood. When distributing the judicial power, that article extends it to controversies
41 between 'citizens' of different states. This must mean the natural physical beings composing those separate 42 communities, and can by no violence of interpretation be made to signify artificial, incorporeal, theoretical,
43 and invisible creations. A corporation, therefore, being not a natural person, but a mere creature of the mind,
44 invisible and intangible, cannot be a citizen of a state, or of the United States, and cannot fall within the terms
45 or the power of the above mentioned article, and can therefore neither plead nor be impleaded in the courts of 46 the United States."

47 [Rundle v. Delaware & Raritan Canal Company, 55 U.S. 80, 99 (1852) from dissenting opinion by Justice Daniel]

- 48 6. When aliens are STATUTORY citizens of the country of their birth and origin who are doing business in the United 49 States as a “foreign state”, they are treated as AGENTS and OFFICERS of the country they are from, hence they are 50 “state actors”.

51 The Law of Nations, Book II: Of a Nation Considered in Her Relation to Other States

52 § 81. The property of the citizens is the property of the nation, with respect to foreign nations.

53 Even the property of the individuals is, in the aggregate, to be considered as the property of the nation, with
54 respect to other states. It, in some sort, really belongs to her, from the right she has over the property of her
55 citizens, because it constitutes a part of the sum total of her riches, and augments her power. She is interested in
56 that property by her obligation to protect all her members. In short, it cannot be otherwise, since nations act and

1 treat together as bodies in their quality of political societies, and are considered as so many moral persons. All
2 those who form a society, a nation being considered by foreign nations as constituting only one whole, one single
3 person, — all their wealth together can only be considered as the wealth of that same person. And this is to true,
4 that each political society may, if it pleases, establish within itself a community of goods, as Campanella did in
5 his republic of the sun. Others will not inquire what it does in this respect: its domestic regulations make no
6 change in its rights with respect to foreigners nor in the manner in which they ought to consider the aggregate of
7 its property, in what way soever it is possessed.

8 [The Law of Nations, Vattel, Book II, Section 81:]

9 SOURCE: http://famguardian.org/Publications/LawOfNations/vattel_02.htm#§ 81. The property of the citizens
10 is the property of the nation, with respect to foreign nations.

11 7. As agents of the state they were born within and are domiciled within while they are here, aliens visiting the United 12 States are part of a “foreign state” in relation to the United States.

13 These principles are a product of the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 U.S.C. Chapter 97:

14 Title 28 > Part IV > Chapter 97 > § 1605

15 28 U.S. Code § 1605 - General exceptions to the jurisdictional immunity of a foreign state

16 (a) A foreign state shall not be immune from the jurisdiction of courts of the United States or of the States in any
17 case—

18 (1) in which the foreign state has waived its immunity either explicitly or by implication, notwithstanding any 19 withdrawal of the waiver which the foreign state may purport to effect except in accordance with the terms of the 20 waiver;

21 (2) in which the action is based upon a commercial activity carried on in the United States by the foreign state;
22 or upon an act performed in the United States in connection with a commercial activity of the foreign state
23 elsewhere; or upon an act outside the territory of the United States in connection with a commercial activity of 24 the foreign state elsewhere and that act causes a direct effect in the United States;

25 (3) in which rights in property taken in violation of international law are in issue and that property or any
26 property exchanged for such property is present in the United States in connection with a commercial activity
27 carried on in the United States by the foreign state; or that property or any property exchanged for such 28 property is owned or operated by an agency or instrumentality of the foreign state and that agency or
29 instrumentality is engaged in a commercial activity in the United States;

30 (4) in which rights in property in the United States acquired by succession or gift or rights in immovable property
31 situated in the United States are in issue;

32 (5) not otherwise encompassed in paragraph (2) above, in which money damages are sought against a foreign
33 state for personal injury or death, or damage to or loss of property, occurring in the United States and caused by 34 the tortious act or omission of that foreign state or of any official or employee of that foreign state while acting 35 within the scope of his office or employment; except this paragraph shall not apply to—

36 (A) any claim based upon the exercise or performance or the failure to exercise or perform a discretionary 37 function regardless of whether the discretion be abused, or

38 (B) any claim arising out of malicious prosecution, abuse of process, libel, slander, misrepresentation, deceit, or 39 interference with contract rights; or

40 (6) in which the action is brought, either to enforce an agreement made by the foreign state with or for the benefit
41 of a private party to submit to arbitration all or any differences which have arisen or which may arise between
42 the parties with respect to a defined legal relationship, whether contractual or not, concerning a subject matter
43 capable of settlement by arbitration under the laws of the United States, or to confirm an award made pursuant 44 to such an agreement to arbitrate, if (A) the arbitration takes place or is intended to take place in the United
45 States, (B) the agreement or award is or may be governed by a treaty or other international agreement in force
46 for the United States calling for the recognition and enforcement of arbitral awards, (C) the underlying claim,
47 save for the agreement to arbitrate, could have been brought in a United States court under this section or section
48 1607, or (D) paragraph (1) of this subsection is otherwise applicable.

49 Lastly, we also wish to emphasize that those who are physically in the country they were born in are NOT under any such
50 “implied license” and therefore, unlike aliens, are not AUTOMATICALLY “individuals” or “persons” and cannot consent
51 to become “individuals” or “persons” under any revenue statute. These people would be called “nationals of the United

1 States OF AMERICA”. Their rights are UNALIENABLE and therefore they cannot lawfully consent to give them away
2 by agreeing to ANY civil status, including “person” or “individual”.

3 4.12.2 “U.S. Persons”

4 The statutory definition of “U.S. person” within the Internal Revenue Code is as follows:

5 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701.
6 Sec. 7701. - Definitions

7 (a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent
8 thereof—

9 (30) United States person

10 The term “United States[] person” means -

11 (A) a citizen or resident of the United States[],

12 (B) a domestic partnership,

13 (C) a domestic corporation,

14 (D) any estate (other than a foreign estate, within the meaning of paragraph (31)), and

15 (E) any trust if -

16 (i) a court within the United States[] is able to exercise primary supervision over the administration of the 17 trust, and

18 (ii) one or more United States[] persons have the authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust.
19

22 Sec. 7701. - Definitions

23 (a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent
24 thereof—

25 (9) United States

26 The term “United States[]” when used in a geographical sense includes only the States and the District of 27 Columbia.

29 [TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701. \[Internal Revenue Code\]](#)
30 Sec. 7701. - Definitions

31 (a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent
32 thereof—

33 (10) State

34 The term “State” shall be construed to include the District of Columbia, where such construction is necessary to 35 carry out provisions of this title.

36 NOTICE the following important fact: The definition of “person” in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1) does NOT include “U.S. person”, 37 and therefore indicating this status on a withholding form does not make you a STATUTORY “person” within the Internal 38 Revenue Code!

39 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > § 7701
40 § 7701. Definitions

41 (a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent
42 thereof—

43 (1) Person

44 The term “person” shall be construed to mean and include an individual, a trust, estate, partnership, association,
45 company or corporation.

1 There is some overlap between “U.S. Persons” and “persons” in the I.R.C., but only in the case of estates and trusts, and
2 partnerships. NOWHERE in the case of individuals is there overlap.

3 There is also no tax imposed directly on a U.S. Person anywhere in the internal revenue code. All taxes relating to humans
4 are imposed upon “persons” and “individuals” rather than “U.S. Persons”. Nowhere in the definition of “U.S. person” is
5 included “individuals”, and you must be an “individual” to be a “person” as a human being under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1).
6 Furthermore, nowhere are “citizens or residents of the United States” mentioned in the definition of “U.S. Person” defined to 7 be “individuals”. Hence, they can only be fictions of law and NOT humans. To be more precise, they are not only “fictions
8 of law” but public offices in the government. See:

Proof That There Is a “Straw Man”, Form #05.042
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

9 There is a natural tendency to PRESUME that a statutory “U.S. person” is a “person”, but in fact it is not. That tendency
10 begins with the use of “person” in the NAME “U.S. person”. However, the rules for interpreting the Internal Revenue Code
11 forbid such a presumption:

12 U.S. Code › Title 26 › Subtitle F › Chapter 80 › Subchapter A › § 7806
13 26 U.S. Code § 7806 - Construction of title

14 (b)Arrangement and classification

15 No inference, implication, or presumption of legislative construction shall be drawn or made by reason of the 16 location or grouping of any particular section or provision or portion of this title, nor shall any table of contents,
17 table of cross references, or similar outline, analysis, or descriptive matter relating to the contents of this title be 18 given any legal effect. The preceding sentence also applies to the sidenotes and ancillary tables contained in the 19 various prints of this Act before its enactment into law.

20 Portions of a specific section, such as 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30) is a “grouping” as referred to above. The following case also 21 affirms this concept:

22 “Factors of this type have led to the wise rule that the title of a statute and the heading of a section cannot limit
23 the plain meaning of the text. United States v. Fisher, 2 Cranch 358, 386; Cornell v. Coyne, 192 U.S. 418, 430;
24 Strathearn S.S. Co. v. Dillon, 252 U.S. 348, 354. For interpretative purposes, they are of use only when they shed
25 light on some ambiguous word or phrase. They are but tools available for the resolution of a doubt. But they 26 cannot undo or limit that which the text makes plain.”
27 [Railroad Trainmen v. B. & O.R. Co. 331 U.S. 519 (1947)]

28 Therefore, we must discern the meaning of “U.S. person” from what is included UNDER the heading, and not within the 29 heading “U.S. Person”. The following subsections will attempt to do this.

30 4.12.3 The Three Types of “Persons”

31 The meaning of “person” depends entirely upon the context in which it is used. There are three main contexts, defined by 32 the system of law in which they may be invoked:

- 33 1. CONSTITUTIONAL “person”: Means a human being and excludes artificial entities or corporations or even 34 governments.

35 “Citizens of the United States within the meaning of this Amendment must be natural and not artificial
36 persons; a corporate body is not a citizen of the United States.¹⁴

37 _____
38 14 Insurance Co. v. New Orleans, 13 Fed.Cas. 67 (C.C.D.La. 1870). Not being citizens of the United States,
39 corporations accordingly have been declared unable “to claim the protection of that clause of the Fourteenth
40 Amendment which secures the privileges and immunities of citizens of the United States against abridgment or
41 impairment by the law of a State.” Orient Ins. Co. v. Daggs, 172 U.S. 557, 561 (1869) . This conclusion was in
42 harmony with the earlier holding in Paul v. Virginia, 75 U.S. (8 Wall.) 168 (1869), to the effect that corporations
43 were not within the scope of the privileges and immunities clause of state citizenship set out in Article IV, Sect. 2.

- 5 2. STATUTORY “person”: Depends entirely upon the definition within the statutes and EXCLUDES 6 CONSTITUTIONAL “persons”. This would NOT INCLUDE STATUTORY “U.S. Persons”.
- 7 3. COMMON LAW “person”: A private human who is litigating in equity under the common law in defense of his 8 absolutely owned private property.

9 The above systems of law are described in:

Four Law Systems, Form #12.039
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

10 Which of the above statuses you have depends on the law system you voluntarily invoke when dealing with the government.
11 That law system determines what is called the “choice of law” in your interactions with the government. For more on “choice 12 of law” rules, see:

Federal Jurisdiction, Form #05.018, Section 3
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

13 If you invoke a specific choice of law in the action you file in court, and the judge or government changes it to one of the 14 others, then they are engaged in CRIMINAL IDENTITY THEFT:

Government Identity Theft, Form #05.046
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

15 Identity theft can also be attempted by the government by deceiving or confusing you with legal “words of art”:

Legal Deception, Propaganda, and Fraud, Form #05.014
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

16 4.12.4 Why a “U.S. Person” who is a “citizen” is NOT a statutory “person” or “individual” in the Internal 17 Revenue Code

18 The definition of person is found in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1) as follows:

20 §7701. Definitions

21 (a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent
22 thereof—

23 (1) Person

24 The term “person” shall be construed to mean and include an individual, a trust, estate, partnership, association,
25 company or corporation.

26 The term “individual” is then defined as:

27 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1 Requirement for the deduction and withholding of tax on payments to foreign persons.

28 (c) Definitions

29 (3) Individual.

30 (i) Alien individual.

1 The term alien individual means an individual who is not a citizen or a national of the United States. See Sec.
2 1.1-1(c).

4 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1T Requirement for the deduction and withholding of tax on payments to foreign persons.

5 (c) Definitions

6 (3) Individual.

7 (ii) Nonresident alien individual.

8 The term nonresident alien individual means persons described in section 7701(b)(1)(B), alien individuals who
9 are treated as nonresident aliens pursuant to § 301.7701\(b\)-7 of this chapter for purposes of computing their U.S.
10 tax liability, or an alien individual who is a resident of Puerto Rico, Guam, the Commonwealth of Northern
11 Mariana Islands, the U.S. Virgin Islands, or American Samoa as determined under § 301.7701\(b\)-1\(d\) of this
12 chapter. An alien individual who has made an election under section 6013(g) or (h) to be treated as a resident of 13 the United States is nevertheless treated as a nonresident alien individual for purposes of withholding under 14 chapter 3 of the Code and the regulations thereunder.

15 Did you also notice that the definitions were not qualified to only apply to a specific chapter or section? That means that they
16 apply generally throughout the Internal Revenue Code and implementing regulations. Therefore, we must conclude that the 17 REAL “individual” in the phrase “U.S. Individual Income Tax Return” (IRS Form 1040) that Congress and the IRS are 18 referring to can only mean “nonresident alien INDIVIDUALS” and “alien INDIVIDUALS”. That is why they don’t just 19 come out and say “U.S. Citizen Tax Return” on the 1040 form. If you aren’t a STATUTORY “individual”, then obviously 20 you are filing the WRONG form to file the 1040, which is a RESIDENT form for those DOMICILED on federal territory.
21 This is covered in the following:

22 Why It’s a Crime for a State Citizen to File a 1040 Income Tax Return, Form #08.021
23 <https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

24 Therefore, all STATUTORY “individuals” are STATUTORY “aliens”. Hence, the ONLY people under Title 26 of the U.S.
25 Code who are BOTH “persons” and “individuals” are ALIENS. Under the rules of statutory construction “citizens” of every 26 description are EXCLUDED from being STATUTORY “persons”.

27 “It is apparent that a constitutional prohibition cannot be transgressed indirectly by the creation of a statutory
28 presumption any more than it can be violated by direct enactment. The power to create presumptions is not a 29 means of escape from constitutional restrictions.”
30 [Bailey v. Alabama, 219 U.S. 219 (1911)]

31 *“Expressio unius est exclusio alterius. A maxim of statutory interpretation meaning that the expression of one

47 [Stenberg v. Carhart, 530 U.S. 914 (2000)]

Who might these STATUTORY “persons” be who are also “individuals”? They must meet all the following conditions simultaneously to be “taxpayers” and “persons”:

1. STATUTORY “U.S. citizens” or STATUTORY “U.S. residents” domiciled in the geographical “United States” under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10) and/or 4 U.S.C. §110(d).
2. Temporarily abroad on travel under 26 U.S.C. §911.
3. Availing themselves of a tax treaty benefit (franchises) and therefore liable to PAY for said “benefit”.
4. Interface to the Internal Revenue Code as “aliens” in relation to the foreign country they are physically in but not domiciled in at the time.
5. Called a “qualified individual” in 26 U.S.C. §911(d)(1).

Some older versions of the code call the confluence of conditions above a “nonresident citizen”. The above are confirmed by the words of Jesus Himself!

And when he had come into the house, Jesus anticipated him, saying, "What do you think, Simon? From whom do the kings [governments] of the earth [lawfully] take customs or taxes, from their sons [citizens and subjects] or from strangers [statutory "aliens", which are synonymous with "residents" in the tax code, and exclude "citizens"]?"

Peter said to Him, "From strangers [statutory "aliens"/"residents" ONLY. See 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(a)(2)(ii) and 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3)]."

Jesus said to him, "Then the sons [of the King, Constitutional but not statutory "citizens" of the Republic, who are all sovereign "nationals" and "non-resident non-persons"] are free [sovereign over their own person and labor. e.g. SOVEREIGN IMMUNITY]."
[Matt. 17:24-27, Bible, NKJV]

Note some other very important things that distinguish STATUTORY “U.S. Persons” from STATUTORY “persons”:

1. The term “U.S.” in the phrase “U.S. Person” as used in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30) is never defined anywhere in the Internal Revenue Code, and therefore does NOT mean the same as “United States” in its geographical sense as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10). It is a violation of due process to PRESUME that the two are equivalent.
2. The definition of “person” in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1) does not include statutory “citizens” or “residents”.
3. The definition of “U.S. person” in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30) does not include statutory “individuals”.
4. Nowhere in the code are “individuals” ever expressly defined to include statutory “citizens” or “residents”. Hence, under the rules of statutory construction, they are purposefully excluded.
5. Based on the previous items, there is no overlap between the definitions of “person” and “U.S. Person” in the case of human beings who are ALSO “citizens” or “residents”.
6. The only occasion when a human being can ALSO be a statutory “person” is when they are neither a “citizen” nor a “resident” and are a statutory “individual”.
7. The only “person” who is neither a statutory “citizen” nor a statutory “resident” and is ALSO an “individual” is a “nonresident alien individual”:

26 U.S.C. §7701\(b\)\(1\)\(B\) Nonresident alien

An individual is a nonresident alien if such individual is neither a citizen of the United States nor a resident of the United States (within the meaning of subparagraph (A)).

8. The previous item explains why nonresident aliens are the ONLY type of “individual” subject to tax withholding in 26 U.S.C. Subtitle A, Chapter 3, Subchapter A and who can earn taxable income under the I.R.C.: The only “individuals” listed are “nonresident aliens”:

26 U.S. Code Subchapter A - Nonresident Aliens and Foreign Corporations

§ 1441 - Withholding of tax on nonresident aliens

§ 1442 - Withholding of tax on foreign corporations

§ 1443 - Foreign tax-exempt organizations

§ 1445 - Withholding of tax on dispositions of United States real property interests

2 9. There is overlap between “U.S. Person” and “person” in the case of trusts, corporations, and estates, but NOT
3 “individuals”. All such entities are artificial and fictions of law. Even they can in some cases be “citizens” or 4 “residents” and therefore nontaxpayers:

5 "A corporation is a citizen, resident, or inhabitant of the state or country by or under the laws of which it was
6 created, and of that state or country only."
7 [19 Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Corporations, §886 (2003)]

8 10. Corporations can also be individuals instead of merely and only corporations:

9 At common law, a "corporation" was an "artificial perso[n] endowed with the legal capacity of perpetual
10 succession" consisting either of a single individual (termed a "corporation sole") or of a collection of several
11 individuals (a "corporation aggregate"). 3 H. Stephen, Commentaries on the Laws of England 166, 168 (1st Am.
12 ed. 1845). The sovereign was considered a corporation. See id., at 170; see also 1 W. Blackstone, Commentaries
13 467. Under the definitions supplied by contemporary law dictionaries, Territories would have been classified as* 14 "corporations" (and hence as "persons") at the time that 1983 was enacted and the Dictionary Act recodified.
15 See W. Anderson, A Dictionary of Law 261 (1893) ("All corporations were originally modeled upon a state or 16 nation"); 1 J. Bouvier, A Law Dictionary Adapted to the Constitution and Laws of the United States of America
17 318-319 (11th ed. 1866) ("In this extensive sense the United States may be termed a corporation"); Van Brocklin
18 v. Tennessee, 117 U.S. 151, 154 (1886) ("The United States is a . . . great corporation . . . ordained and 19 *established by the American people") (quoting United [495 U.S. 182, 202] *States v. Maurice, 26 F. Cas. 1211, 20 1216 (No. 15,747) (CC Va. 1823) (Marshall, C. J.); Cotton v. United States, 11 How. 229, 231 (1851) (United 21 States is "a corporation"). See generally Trustees of Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. 518, 561-562
22 (1819) (explaining history of term "corporation").
23 [Ngiraingas v. Sanchez, 495 U.S. 182 (1990)]

24 We have therefore come full circle in forcefully concluding that “persons” and “U.S. persons” are not equivalent and non-
25 overlapping in the case of “citizens” and “residents”, and that the only type of entity a human being can be if they are a
26 STATUTORY “citizen” or “resident” is a statutory “U.S. person” under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30) and NOT a statutory 27 “person” under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1).

28 None of the following could therefore TRUTHFULLY be said about a STATUTORY “U.S. Person” who are human beings
29 that are “citizens” or “residents”:

- 30 1. They are "individuals" as described in 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3)(i).
31 2. That they are a SUBSET of all “persons” in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1).
32 3. That they are ALSO statutory “persons” in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1).

33 Lastly, we wish to emphasize that it constitutes a CRIME and perjury for someone who is in fact and in deed a “citizen” to 34 misrepresent themselves as a STATUTORY “individual” (alien) by performing any of the following acts:

- 35 1. Declaring yourself to be a "payee" by submitting an IRS form W-8 or W-9 to an alleged "withholding agent" while 36 physically located in the statutory “United States” (federal zone) or in a state of the Union. All human being 37 "payees" are "persons" and therefore "individuals". "U.S. persons" who are not aliens are NOT "persons". Statutory 38 citizens or residents must be ABROAD to be a “payee” because only then can they be both “individuals” and 39 “qualified individuals” under 26 U.S.C. §911(d)(1).

45 (i) In general.

46 [. . .] "a payee is the person to whom a payment is made, regardless of whether such person is the beneficial 47 owner of the amount (as defined in paragraph (c)(6) of this section)."

1 2. Filing an IRS Form 1040. The form in the upper left corner says “U.S. Individual” and “citizens” are NOT
2 STATUTORY “individuals”. See:

3 3. To apply for or receive an “INDIVIDUAL Taxpayer Identification Number” using an IRS Form W-7. See:

4 The ONLY provision within the Internal Revenue Code that permits those who are STATUTORY “citizens” to claim the
5 status of either “individual” or “alien” is found in 26 U.S.C. §911(d)(1), in which the citizen is physically abroad in a foreign
6 country, in which case he or she is called a “qualified individual”.

8 26 U.S. Code § 911 - Citizens or residents of the United States living abroad

9 (d) DEFINITIONS AND SPECIAL RULES

10 For purposes of this section—

11 (I) QUALIFIED INDIVIDUAL

12 The term “qualified individual” means an individual whose tax home is in a foreign country and who is—

13 (A) a citizen of the United States and establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary that he has been a bona fide
14 resident of a foreign country or countries for an uninterrupted period which includes an entire taxable year, or

15 (B) a citizen or resident of the United States and who, during any period of 12 consecutive months, is present in 16 a foreign country or countries during at least 330 full days in such period.

17 The above provisions SUPERSEDE the definitions within 26 U.S.C. §7701 only within section 911 for the specific case of 18 citizens when abroad ONLY. Those who are not physically “abroad” or in a foreign country CANNOT truthfully claim to 19 be “individuals” and would be committing perjury under penalty of perjury if they signed any tax form, INCLUDING a 1040
20 form, identifying themselves as either an “individual” or a “U.S. individual” as it says in the upper left corner of the 1040
21 form. If this limitation of the income tax ALONE were observed, then most of the fraud and crime that plagues the system
22 would instantly cease to exist.

23 4.12.5 “U.S. Persons” who are ALSO “persons”

24 26 C.F.R. §1.1441(c)(8) identifies “U.S. Persons” who are also “persons” under the Internal Revenue Code:

25 (8) Person.

26 For purposes of the regulations under chapter 3 of the Code, the term person shall mean a person described in
27 section 7701(a)(1) and the regulations under that section and a U.S. branch to the extent treated as a U.S. person
28 under paragraph \(b\)\(2\)\(iv\) of this section. For purposes of the regulations under chapter 3 of the Code, the term
29 person does not include a wholly-owned entity that is disregarded for federal tax purposes under § 301.7701-
30 2\(c\)\(2\) of this chapter as an entity separate from its owner. See paragraph \(b\)\(2\)\(iii\) of this section for procedures
31 applicable to payments to such entities.
32 [26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(8)]

33 The ONLY way that a human being who is a “U.S. person” physically located within the statutory “United States” (federal 34 zone) or states of the Union can become a STATUTORY “person” is to:

- 35 1. Be treated wrongfully AS IF they are a “payee” by an ignorant “withholding agent” under 26 C.F.R. §1.1441.
- 36 2. Be falsely PRESUMED to be a statutory “individual” or statutory “person”. All such conclusive presumptions which 37 impair constitutional rights are unconstitutional and impermissible as we prove in the following:

Presumption: Chief Weapon for Unlawfully Enlarging Federal Jurisdiction, Form #05.017
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

All such presumption should be FORCEFULLY CHALLENGED. Anyone making such a presumption should be DEMANDED to satisfy their burden of proof and produce a statutory definition that expressly includes those who are either STATUTORY “citizens” or statutory “residents”. In the absence of such a presumption, you as the victim of such an unconstitutional presumption must be presumed to be innocent until proven guilty, which means a “non-person” and a “non-taxpayer” unless and until proven otherwise WITH COURT ADMISSIBLE EVIDENCE SIGNED UNDER PENALTY OF PERJURY BY THE MOVING PARTY, which is the withholding agent.

3. Volunteer to fill out an unmodified or not amended IRS Form W-8 or W-9. Both forms PRESUPPOSE that the submitter is a “payee” and therefore a “person” under 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(b)(2)(i). A withholding agent asserting usually falsely that you have to fill out this form MUST make a false presumption that you are a “person” but he CANNOT make that determination without forcing you to contract or associate in violation of law. ONLY YOU as the submitter can lawfully do that. If you say under penalty of perjury that you are NOT a statutory “person” or “individual”, then he has to take your word for it and NOT enforce the provisions of 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1 against you. If he refuses you this right, he is committing criminal witness tampering, since the form is signed under penalty of perjury and he compelling a specific type of testimony from you. See:

Your Exclusive Right to Declare or Establish Your Civil Status, Form #13.008
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

4. Fill out an IRS Form W-8. Block 1 for the name of the submitter calls the submitter an “individual”. You are NOT an “individual” since individuals are aliens as required by 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3). Only STATUTORY “U.S. citizens” abroad can be “individuals” and you aren’t abroad if you are either on federal territory or within a constitutional state.

The result of ALL of the above is CRIMINAL IDENTIFY THEFT at worst as described in Form #05.046, and impersonating a public officer called a “person” and “individual” at best in violation of 18 U.S.C. §912 as described in Form #05.008.

There is also much overlap between the definition of “person” and “U.S. person”. The main LACK of overlap occurs with “individuals”. The main reason for this difference in overlap is the fact that HUMAN BEINGS have constitutional rights while artificial entities DO NOT. Below is a table comparing the two, keeping in mind that the above regulation refers to the items listed that both say “Yes”, but not to “individuals”:

Table 7: Comparison of "person" to "U.S. Person"

| # | Type of entity | “person”? 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1) | “U.S. Person” 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30) |
|---|----------------|---|---|
| 1 | Individual | Yes | No (replaced with “citizen or resident of the United States”) |
| 2 | Trust | Yes | Yes |
| 3 | Estate | Yes | Yes |
| 4 | Partnership | Yes | Yes |
| 5 | Association | Yes | Not listed |
| 6 | Company | Yes | Not listed |
| 7 | Corporation | Yes (federal corporation domiciled on federal territory only) | Yes (all corporations, including state corporations) |

We believe that the “citizen or resident of the United States” listed in item 1 above and in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30)(A) is a territorial citizen or resident. Those domiciled in states of the Union would be NEITHER, and therefore would NOT be classified as “individuals”, even if they otherwise satisfied the definition of “individual” found in 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3). This results from the geographical definition of “United States” found in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10). Below is an example of why we believe this:

26 C.F.R. §31.3121\(e\)-1 State, United States, and citizen

(b)...The term 'citizen of the United States' includes a citizen of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands, and, effective January 1, 1961, a citizen of Guam or American Samoa.

4.13 Four withholding and reporting statuses compared

Albert Einstein is famous for saying:

1 "The essence of genius is simplicity".

2 This section tries to simplify most of what you need to know about withholding and reporting forms and statuses into the 3 shortest possible tabular list that we can think of.

4 First we will start off by comparing the four different withholding and reporting statuses in tabular form. For each, we will
5 compare the withholding, reporting, and SSN/TIN requirements and where those requirements appear in the code or 6 regulations. For details on how the statuses described relate, refer earlier to section 4.12.

7 Jesus summarized the withholding and reporting requirements in the holy bible, and he was ABSOLUTELY RIGHT! Here
8 is what He said they are:

9 And when he had come into the house, Jesus anticipated him, saying, "What do you think, Simon? From whom
10 do the kings [governments] of the earth [lawfully] take customs or taxes, from their sons [citizens and subjects]
11 or from strangers ["aliens"], which are synonymous with "residents" in the tax code, and exclude "citizens"]"?

12 *Peter said to Him, "From strangers ["aliens"]/"residents" ONLY. See 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1\(a\)\(2\)\(ii\) and 26 C.F.R. 13 *§1.1441-1(c)(3)]."

14 Jesus said to him, "Then the sons ["citizens"] of the Republic, who are all sovereign "nationals" and "non-resident
15 non-persons" under federal law] are free sovereign over their own person and labor. e.g. [SOVEREIGN
16 IMMUNITY]."
17 [Matt. 17:24-27, Bible, NKJV]

18 The table in the following pages PROVES He was absolutely right. To put it simply, the only people who don't have rights
19 are those whose rights are "alienated" because they are privileged "aliens" or what Jesus called "strangers". For details on 20 why all "aliens" are privileged and subject to taxation and regulation, see section 4.12.1 earlier.

Use an “INDIVIDUAL Taxpayer Identification Number (ITIN)”. 26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1(d)(3). | Only when abroad under 26 U.S.C. §911(d) | No |
| 10 | Statutory “person” under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1)? | Yes (because “employees” under 5 U.S.C. §2105(a) are “individuals”) | Yes, if you: 1. Check “individual” in block 3 of the Form W-8 or 2. Use an “INDIVIDUAL Taxpayer Identification Number (ITIN)”. 26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1(d)(3). | Yes: 1. “person” is defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1) to include “individuals” (aliens). 2. Statutory “citizens of the United States” under 8 U.S.C. §1401 or 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22)(A) become “individuals” only when abroad and accepting tax treaty benefits under 26 U.S.C. §911(d) | No |
| 11 | Citizenship status²⁴ | NA | 1. “Resident alien” 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A). 2. “alien” 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(3). | 1. “citizen or resident of the United States[]” 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30)(A) 2. “national and citizen of the United States[] at birth” 8 U.S.C. §1401 3. “citizen of the “united States[]” 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22)(A). | 1. Fourteenth Amendment CONSTITUTIONAL citizen. 2. “a person who, though not a citizen of the United States, owes permanent allegiance to the United States” 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22)(B). 3. “nationals but not citizens of the United States[] at birth” 8 U.S.C. §1408. |
| 12 | Domiciled on federal territory in the “United States” (federal zone)? | “Employee” office under 5 U.S.C. §2105(a) is domiciled in the District of Columbia under 4 U.S.C. §72 | 1. No. 2. If you apply for an “INDIVIDUAL Taxpayer Identification Number (ITIN)” and don’t define “individual” as “non-resident non-person nontaxpayer” and private, you will be PRESUMED to consent to represent the office of statutory “individual” which is domiciled on federal territory. | Yes. You can’t be a statutory “U.S. citizen” under 8 U.S.C. §1401 or statutory “U.S. resident” under 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A) without a domicile on federal territory. | No |
| 13 | Source of domicile on federal territory | Representing an office that is domiciled in the District of Columbia under 4 U.S.C. §72 and Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b) | | | Domiciled outside the federal zone and not subject. Not representing a federal office. |
| 14 | Earnings are STATUTORY “wages”? | Yes. See Note 16 below for statutory definition of “wages”. | No | No | No |
| 15 | Can “elect” to become a STATUTORY “individual”? | NA | Yes, by accepting tax treaty benefits when abroad. 26 C.F.R. §301.7701(b)-7. | Yes, by accepting tax treaty benefits when abroad. 26 U.S.C. §911(d) and 26 C.F.R. §301.7701(b)-7. | Yes, by accepting tax treaty benefits when abroad. 26 C.F.R. §301.7701(b)-7. |

NOTES:

1. All statutory “individuals” are aliens under 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3). They hid this deep in the regulations instead of the code, hoping you wouldn’t notice it. For more information on who are “persons” and “individuals” under the Internal Revenue Code, see section 4.12 earlier.

²⁴ For further details on citizenship, see: Why You are a “national”, “state national”, and Constitutional but not Statutory Citizen, Form #05.006; <https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>.

2. You CANNOT be a “nonresident alien” as a human being under 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B) WITHOUT also being a statutory “individual”, meaning an ALIEN under 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3).
 3. “Civil status” means any status under any civil statute, such as “individual”, “person”, “taxpayer”, “spouse”, “driver”, etc.
 4. One CANNOT have a civil status under the civil statutes of a place without EITHER:
 - 4.1. A consensual physical domicile in that geographical place.
 - 4.2. A consensual CONTRACT with the government of that place.
- For proof of the above, see: Why Domicile and Becoming a “Taxpayer” Require Your Consent, Form #05.002; <https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>. The U.S. Supreme Court has admitted as much:

“All the powers of the government [including ALL of its civil enforcement powers against the public] must be carried into operation by individual agency, either through the medium of public officers, or contracts made with [private] individuals.”
[Osborn v. Bank of U.S., 22 U.S. 738 (1824); From the headnotes and not the ruling itself]

5. Any attempt to associate or enforce a NON-CONSENSUAL civil status or obligation against a human being protected by the Constitution because physically situated in a Constitutional state is an act of criminal identity theft, as described in:

Government Identity Theft, Form #05.046
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

6. The civil status of “taxpayer” under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14) PRESUMES the party is also a statutory “person” under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1).
7. “Reportable payments” earned by “foreign persons” under 26 U.S.C. §3406 are those which satisfy ALL of the following requirements:
 - 7.1. Connected with a “trade or business” and public office under 26 U.S.C. §6041(a).
 - 7.2. Satisfy the requirements found in 26 U.S.C. §3406.
 - 7.3. Earned by a statutory “employee” under 26 C.F.R. §31.3401(c)-1, meaning an elected or appointed public officer of the United States government. Note that 26 U.S.C. §3406 is in Subtitle C, which is “employment taxes” and within 26 U.S.C. Chapter 24, which is “collection of income tax at source of wages”. Private humans don’t earn statutory “wages”.
8. Backup withholding under 26 U.S.C. §3406 is only applicable to “foreign persons” who are ALSO statutory “employees” and earning “trade or business” or public office earnings on “reportable payments”. It is NOT applicable to those who are ANY of the following:
 - 8.1. Not an elected or appointed public officer.
 - 8.2. Not engaged in a “trade or business” under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26) and therefore not receiving “reportable payments” under 26 U.S.C. §6041(a).
9. Payments supplied without documentation are presumed to be made to a “U.S. person” under 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(b)(3)(iii).
10. You are allowed to make your own Substitute W-9 per 26 C.F.R. §31.3406(h)-3(c)(2). The form must include the payees name, address, and TIN (if they have one). The form is still valid even if they DO NOT have an identifying number. See FORM 9 in section 25.9 later.
11. IRS hides the exempt status on the Form W-9 identified in 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(d)(1) and TD8734 \(62 F.R. 53391, SEDM Exhibit #09.038\).

“As a general matter, a withholding agent (whether U.S. or foreign) must ascertain whether the payee is a U.S. or a foreign person. If the payee is a U.S. person, the withholding provisions under chapter 3 of the Code do not apply; however, information reporting under chapter 61 of the Code may apply; further, if a TIN is not furnished in the manner required under section 3406, backup withholding may also apply. If the payee is a foreign person, however, the withholding provisions under chapter 3 of the Code apply instead. To the extent withholding is required under chapter 3 of the Code, or is excused based on documentation that must be provided, none of the information reporting provisions under chapter 61 of the Code apply, nor do the provisions under section 3406.”
[Treasury Decision 8734, 62 F.R. 53391, (October 14, 1997); SEDM Exhibit #09.038]

It appeared on the Form W-9 up to year 2011 and mysteriously disappeared from the form after that. It still applies, but invoking it is more complicated. You have to check “Other” on the current Form W-9 and cite 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(d)(1) and TD8734 \(62 F.R. 53391, SEDM Exhibit #09.038\) in the write-in block next to it.

- 1 12. Those who only want to learn the “code” and who are attorneys worried about being disbarred by a judge in cases against the government prefer the “U.S. person”
2 position, even in the case of state nationals. It’s a way of criminally bribing the judge to buy his favor and make the case easier for him, even though technically it
3 doesn’t apply to state nationals.
- 4 13. “U.S. person” should be avoided because of the following liabilities associated with such a status:
5 13.1. Must provide SSN/TIN pursuant to 26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1(b)(1).
6 13.2. Must report foreign bank accounts.
7 13.3. Subject to FATCA foreign account limitations because a “taxpayer”. See:
8 <https://www.irs.gov/businesses/corporations/foreign-account-tax-compliance-act-fatca>
- 9 14. The ONLY civil status you can have that carries NO OBLIGATION of any kind is that of a “non-resident non-person”. It is the most desirable but the most 10 difficult to explain and document to payors. The IRS is NEVER going to make it easy to document that you are “not subject” but not statutorily “exempt” and 11 therefore not a “taxpayer”. This is explained in section 19.8 later.
- 12 15. Form numbers such as "FORM XX" where "XX" is the number and which are listed above derive from: Federal and State Tax Withholding Options for Private
13 Employers, Form #09.001, Section 25
- 14 16. Statutory “wages” are defined in:

NOTES:

1. The term "wherever resident" used in 26 U.S.C. §1 means wherever the entity referred to has the CIVIL STATUS of "resident" as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1). It DOES NOT mean wherever the entity is physically located. The civil status "resident" and "resident alien", in turn, are synonymous. PRESUMING that "wherever resident" is a physical presence is an abuse of equivocation to engage in criminal identity theft of "nontaxpayers". See:

Flawed Tax Arguments to Avoid, Form #08.004, Section 8.20

<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

2. "United States" as used in the Internal Revenue Code is defined as follows:

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701. [Internal Revenue Code]
Sec. 7701. - Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(9) United States

The term "United States" when used in a geographical sense includes only the States and the District of Columbia.

(10) State

The term "State" shall be construed to include the District of Columbia, where such construction is necessary to carry out provisions of this title.

TITLE 4 - FLAG AND SEAL, SEAT OF GOVERNMENT, AND THE STATES
CHAPTER 4 - THE STATES
Sec. 110. Same; definitions

(d) The term "State" includes any Territory or possession of the United States.

1 3. Limitations on Geographical definitions:

2 3.1. It is a violation of the rules of statutory construction and interpretation and a violation of the separation of powers for any judge or government worker to ADD
3 anything to the above geographical definitions.

4 “Expressio unius est exclusio alterius. A maxim of statutory interpretation meaning that the expression of one thing is the exclusion of another. Burgin v. Forbes,
5 293 Ky. 456, 169 S.W.2d. 321, 325; Newblock v. Bowles, 170 Okl. 487, 40 P.2d. 1097, 1100. Mention of one thing implies exclusion of another. When certain persons
6 or things are specified in a law, contract, or will, an intention to exclude all others from its operation may be inferred. Under this maxim, if statute specifies one
7 exception to a general rule or assumes to specify the effects of a certain provision, other exceptions or effects are excluded.”
8 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 581]

9 “When a statute includes an explicit definition, we must follow that definition, even if it varies from that term’s ordinary meaning. Meese v. Keene, 481 U.S. 465, 484-
10 485 (1987) (“It is axiomatic that the statutory definition of the term excludes unstated meanings of that term”); Colautti v. Franklin, 439 U.S. at 392-393, n. 10 (“As a
11 rule, a definition which declares what a term “means” . . . excludes any meaning that is not stated”); Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Lenroot, 323 U.S. 490, 502 (1945);
12 Fox v. Standard Oil Co. of N.J., 294 U.S. 87, 95-96 (1935) (Cardozo, J.); see also 2A N. Singer, Sutherland on Statutes and Statutory Construction § 47.07, p. 152, and 13 n. 10 (5th ed. 1992) (collecting cases). That is to say, the statute, read “as a whole,” post at 998 [530 U.S. 943] (THOMAS, J., dissenting), leads the reader to a definition.

24 3.3. Here is what the designer of our three branch system of government said about allowing judges to become legislators in the process of ADDING things not in 25 the statutes to the meaning of any term used in the statutes:

26 “When the legislative and executive powers are united in the same person, or in the same body of magistrates, there can be no liberty; because apprehensions may
27 arise, lest the same monarch or senate should enact tyrannical laws, to execute them in a tyrannical manner.

28 Again, there is no liberty, if the judiciary power be not separated from the legislative and executive. Were it joined with the legislative, the life and liberty of the subject
29 would be exposed to arbitrary control; for the judge would be then the legislator. Were it joined to the executive power, the judge might behave with violence and
30 oppression [sound familiar?].

31 There would be an end of everything, were the same man or the same body, whether of the nobles or of the people, to exercise those three powers, that of enacting 32 laws, that of executing the public resolutions, and of trying the causes of individuals.”

33 [. . .]

34 In what a situation must the poor subject be in those republics! The same body of magistrates are possessed, as executors of the laws, of the whole power they have
35 given themselves in quality of legislators. They may plunder the state by their general determinations; and as they have likewise the judiciary power in their hands,
36 every private citizen may be ruined by their particular decisions.”

7 power; and the same observation is applicable to every other power of Congress, to the exercise of which the granting of licenses may be incident. All such licenses confer
8 authority, and give rights to the licensee.

9 *But very different considerations apply to the internal commerce or domestic trade of the States. Over this commerce and trade Congress has no power of regulation
10 nor any direct control. This power belongs exclusively to the States. No interference by Congress with the business of citizens transacted within a State is warranted
11 by the Constitution, except such as is strictly incidental to the exercise of powers clearly granted to the legislature. The power to authorize a business within a State is*
12 plainly repugnant to the exclusive power of the State over the same subject. It is true that the power of Congress to tax is a very extensive power. It is given in the 13 Constitution, with only one exception and only two qualifications. Congress cannot tax exports, and it must impose direct taxes by the rule of apportionment, and indirect
14 taxes by the rule of uniformity. Thus limited, and thus only, it reaches every subject, and may be exercised at discretion. But, it reaches only existing subjects. Congress
15 cannot authorize a trade or business within a State in order to tax it.”

11 9. You can’t simultaneously be a “taxpayer” who is “subject” to the Internal Revenue Code AND someone who is protected by the Constitution and especially the Bill
12 of Rights. The two conditions are MUTUALLY EXCLUSIVE. Below are the only documented techniques by which the protections of the Constitutions can be 13 forfeited:

14 9.1. Standing on a place not protected by the Constitution, such as federal territory or abroad.

15 9.2. Invoking the “benefits”, “privileges”, or “immunities” offered by any statute. The cite below is called the “Brandeis Rules”:

16 The Court developed, for its own governance in the cases confessedly within its jurisdiction, a series of rules under which it has avoided passing upon a large part of all

25 10. Constitutional protections such as the Bill of Rights attach to LAND, and NOT to the civil status of the people ON the land. The protections of the Bill of Rights
26 do not attach to you because you are a statutory “person”, “individual”, or “taxpayer”, but because of the PLACE YOU ARE STANDING at the time you receive 27 an injury from a transgressing government agent.

28 “It is locality that is determinative of the application of the Constitution, in such matters as judicial procedure, and not the status of the people who live in it.”
29 [Balzac v. Porto Rico, 258 U.S. 298 (1922)]

18 The “property” of the national government subject to income taxation is the OFFICES it creates and owns. That office is 19 legislatively created in 5 U.S.C. §2105. The creator of a thing is always the ABSOLUTE OWNER.²⁷ The income tax
20 therefore functions as a user fee for the use of that federal property. Uncle is in the property rental business! All franchises
21 are implemented with loans of government property with legal strings or conditions attached.

22 FRANCHISE. A special privilege conferred by government on individual or corporation, and which does not

24 In England it is defined to be a royal privilege in the hands of a subject.

25 A "franchise," as used by Blackstone in defining quo warranto, (3 Com. 262 [4th Am. Ed.] 322), had reference
26 to a royal privilege or branch of the king's prerogative subsisting in the hands of the subject, and must arise
27 from the king's grant, or be held by prescription, but today we understand a franchise to be some special

40 Elective Franchise. The right of suffrage: the right or privilege of voting in public elections.

41 Exclusive Franchise. See Exclusive Privilege or Franchise.

42 General and Special. The charter of a corporation is its "general" franchise, while a "special" franchise consists

45 Personal Franchise. A franchise of corporate existence, or one which authorizes the formation and existence of
46 a corporation, is sometimes called a "personal" franchise. as distinguished from a "property" franchise, which

2 privilege in its employment, as, for example, to construct and operate a railroad. See Sandham v. Nye, 9 Misc.Rep.
3 541, 30 N.Y.S. 552.

4 Secondary Franchises. The franchise of corporate existence being sometimes called the "primary" franchise of a
5 corporation, its "secondary" franchises are the special and peculiar rights, privileges, or grants which it may,
6 receive under its charter or from a municipal corporation, such as the right to use the public streets, exact tolls,
7 collect fares, etc. State v. Topeka Water Co., 61 Kan. 547, 60 P. 337; Virginia Canon Toll Road Co. v. People,
8 22 Colo. 429, 45 P. 398 37 L.R.A. 711. The franchises of a corporation are divisible into (1) corporate or general
9 franchises; and (2) "special or secondary franchises. The former is the franchise to exist as a corporation, while
10 the latter are certain rights and privileges conferred upon existing corporations. Gulf Refining Co. v. Cleveland

12 Special Franchisee. See Secondary Franchises, supra.
13 [Black's Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, pp. 786-787]

14 All franchises create or recognize an "office". In the case of the Internal Revenue Code, that office is called "person" or 15 "taxpayer".

16 privilege \ 'priv-lij, 'pri-və- \ noun

17 [Middle English, from Anglo-French, from Latin privilegium law for or against a private person, from privus

22 A "public officer" is merely someone in charge of THE PROPERTY of the grantor of the franchise:

23 "Public office. The right, authority, and duty created and conferred by law, by which for a given period, either

7 Anyone in receipt, custody, or control of government property MUST be a public officer under the control of the person who
8 lent it to them. It is a crime to use government property for PERSONAL gain.

9 The fact that the government continues to be the ABSOLUTE OWNER of the thing being loaned even after you receive it
10 and possess it means they can take it back ANY TIME THEY WANT without your consent or permission or punish you for 11 the misuse of the property. Below are the people subject to such punishment, ALL of whom are either officers of a federal 12 corporation or in partnership with the government:

A franchise represents the right and privilege of doing that which does not belong to citizens generally, irrespective of whether net profit accruing from the exercise of the right and privilege is retained by the franchise holder or is passed on to a state school or to political subdivisions of the state. Where all persons, including corporations, are prohibited from transacting a banking business unless authorized by law, the claim of a banking corporation to exercise the right to do a banking business is a claim to a franchise. The right of banking under such a restraining act is a privilege or immunity by grant of the legislature, and the exercise of the right is the assertion of a grant from the legislature to exercise that privilege, and consequently it is the usurpation of a franchise unless it can be shown that the privilege has been granted by the legislature. A franchise represents the right and privilege of doing that which does not belong to citizens generally, irrespective of whether net profit accruing from the exercise of the right and privilege is retained by the franchise holder or is passed on to a state school or to political subdivisions of the state. State ex rel. Williamson v. Garrison (Okla), 348 P.2d. 859.

Where all persons, including corporations, are prohibited from transacting a banking business unless authorized by law, the claim of a banking corporation to exercise the right to do a banking business is a claim to a franchise. The right of banking under such a restraining act is a privilege or immunity by grant of the legislature, and the exercise of the right is the assertion of a grant from the legislature to exercise that privilege, and consequently it is the usurpation of a franchise unless it can be shown that the privilege has been granted by the legislature. ³⁴ Young v. Morehead, 314 Ky. 4, 233 S.W.2d. 978, holding that a contract to sell and deliver gas to a city into its distribution system at its corporate limits was not a franchise within the meaning of a constitutional provision requiring municipalities to advertise the sale of franchises and sell them to the highest bidder.

A contract between a county and a private corporation to construct a water transmission line to supply water to a county park, and giving the corporation the power to distribute water on its own lands, does not constitute a franchise. Brandon v. County of Pinellas (Fla App), 141 So.2d. 278.

1 1. Definition of “person” for the purposes of “assessable penalties” within the Internal Revenue Code means an officer or
2 employee of a corporation or partnership within the federal United States:

3 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 68 > Subchapter B > PART I > Sec. 6671.
4 Sec. 6671. - Rules for application of assessable penalties

5 (b) Person defined

6 The term “person”, as used in this subchapter, includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a member or
7 employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect
8 of which the violation occurs

9 2. Definition of “person” for the purposes of “miscellaneous forfeiture and penalty provisions” of the Internal Revenue
10 Code means an officer or employer of a corporation or partnership within the federal United States:

11 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 75 > Subchapter D > Sec. 7343.
12 Sec. 7343. - Definition of term “person”

13 The term “person” as used in this chapter [Chapter 75] includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a 14 member or employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the 15 act in respect of which the violation occurs

16 Note that the government cannot regulate or tax contracts where all parties are PRIVATE. The ability to regulate or tax
17 PRIVATE property is repugnant to the Constitution. Therefore the only type of “partnership” they can be talking about in 18 the above definitions are partnerships between an otherwise PRIVATE party and the government.

19 Constitutional states of the Union are not “Territory or other Property” of the United States, and therefore are not property
20 LOANED or rented to the inhabitants therein.

33 subdivisions of the outlying dominion of the United States, and in this sense the term ‘territory’ is not a description
34 of a definite area of land but of a political unit governing and being governed as such. The question whether a

43 Therefore, federal income taxes within Constitutional states are limited to federal enclaves within the states of the Union.
44 They do not apply within areas subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Constitutional State:

23 Income taxation is based on domicile. See District of Columbia v. Murphy, 314 U.S. 441 (1941). As such, anyone domiciled
24 OUTSIDE the exclusive jurisdiction of the national government is a “nonresident” in respect to the income tax. They cannot 25 have a “civil status” such as “person” or “taxpayer” in relation to the civil statutory laws regulating these areas WITHOUT 26 one or more of the following circumstances:

- 27 1. A physical presence in that place. The status would be under the COMMON law.
28 2. CONSENSUALLY doing business in that place. The status would be under the common law.
29 3. A domicile in that place. This would be a status under the civil statutes of that place.
30 4. CONSENSUALLY representing an artificial entity (a legal fiction) that has a domicile in that place. This would be a
31 status under the civil statutes of that place.

32 Those who do not fit any of the above 4 classifications are statutory “non-resident non-persons” and cannot be subject to 33 federal income taxation. More on “civil status” can be found at:

3 4.16 Rebuttal of Those Who Fraudulently Challenge or Try to Expand the Statutory Definitions In This Document

4 The main purpose of law is to limit government power. The foundation of what it means to have a "society of law and not
5 men" is law that limits government powers. We cover this in Legal Deception, Propaganda, and Fraud, Form #05.014, Section
6 5. Government cannot have limited powers without DEFINITIONS in the written law that are limiting and which define and 7 declare ALL THINGS that are included and implicitly exclude all things not expressly identified. The rules of statutory
8 construction and interpretation recognize this critical function of law with the following maxims:

9 "Expressio unius est exclusio alterius. A maxim of statutory interpretation meaning that the expression of one
10 thing is the exclusion of another. Burgin v. Forbes, 293 Ky. 456, 169 S.W.2d. 321, 325; Newblock v. Bowles,
11 *170 Okl. 487, 40 P.2d. 1097, 1100. Mention of one thing implies exclusion of another. When certain persons or
12 things are specified in a law, contract, or will, an intention to exclude all others from its operation may be
13 inferred. Under this maxim, if statute specifies one exception to a general rule or assumes to specify the effects
14 of a certain provision, other exceptions or effects are excluded."
15 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 581]

1 "When a statute includes an explicit definition, we must follow that definition, even if it varies from that term's
2 ordinary meaning. Meese v. Keene, 481 U.S. 465, 484-485 (1987) ("It is axiomatic that the statutory definition
3 of the term excludes unstated meanings of that term"); Colautti v. Franklin, 439 U.S. at 392-393, n. 10 ("As a
4 rule, `a definition which declares what a term "means" . . . excludes any meaning that is not stated"); Western
5 Union Telegraph Co. v. Lenroot, 323 U.S. 490, 502 (1945); Fox v. Standard Oil Co. of N.J., 294 U.S. 87, 95-96
6 (1935) (Cardozo, J.); see also 2A N. Singer, Sutherland on Statutes and Statutory Construction § 47.07, p. 152,
7 and n. 10 (5th ed. 1992) (collecting cases). That is to say, the statute, read "as a whole," post at 998 [530 U.S.
8 943] (THOMAS, J., dissenting), leads the reader to a definition. That definition does not include the Attorney
9 General's restriction -- "the child up to the head." Its words, "substantial portion," indicate the contrary."
10 [Stenberg v. Carhart, 530 U.S. 914 (2000)]

11 The ability to define terms or ADD to the EXISTING statutory definition of terms is a LEGISLATIVE function that can 12 lawfully and constitutionally be exercised ONLY by the Legislative Branch of the government. The power to define or expand
13 the definition of statutory terms:

- 14 1. CANNOT lawfully be exercised by either a judge or a government prosecutor or the Internal Revenue Service.
15 2. CANNOT be exercised by making PRESUMPTIONS about what a term means or by enforcing the COMMON
16 meaning of the term that is already defined in a statute. See Presumption: Chief Weapon for Unlawfully Enlarging
17 Federal Jurisdiction, Form #05.017:

18 "It is apparent,' this court said in the Bailey Case (219 U.S. 239 , 31 S.Ct. 145, 151) 'that a constitutional 19 prohibition cannot be transgressed indirectly by the creation of a statutory presumption any more than it
20 can be violated by direct enactment. The power to create presumptions is not a means of escape from 21 constitutional restrictions."
22 [Heiner v. Donnan, 285 U.S. 312 (1932)]

23
24 A presumption is an assumption of fact that the law requires to be made from another fact or group of facts found
25 or otherwise established in the action. A presumption is not evidence. A presumption is either conclusive or 26 rebuttable. Every rebuttable presumption is either (a) a presumption affecting the burden of producing evidence
27 or (b) a presumption affecting the burden of proof. Calif.Evid.Code, §600.

28 In all civil actions and proceedings not otherwise provided for by Act of Congress or by the Federal Rules of 29 Evidence, a presumption imposes on the party against whom it is directed the burden of going forward with 30 evidence to rebut or meet the presumption, but does not shift to such party the burden of proof in the sense of the 31 risk of nonpersuasion, which remains throughout the trial upon the party on whom it was originally cast. Federal 32 Evidence Rule 301.

- 36 3. Unlawfully and unconstitutionally violates the separation of powers when it IS exercised by a judge or government 37 prosecutor. See Government Conspiracy to Destroy the Separation of Powers, Form #05.023.
38 4. Produces the following consequences when it IS exercised by a judge or government prosecutor or administrative 39 agency. The statement below was written by the man who DESIGNED our three branch system of government. He 40 also described in his design how it can be subverted, and corrupt government actors have implemented his 41 techniques for subversion to unlawfully and unconstitutionally expand their power:

42 "When the legislative and executive powers are united in the same person, or in the same body of magistrates,
43 there can be no liberty; because apprehensions may arise, lest the same monarch or senate should enact
44 tyrannical laws, to execute them in a tyrannical manner.

45 Again, there is no liberty, if the judiciary power be not separated from the legislative and executive. Were it
46 joined with the legislative, the life and liberty of the subject would be exposed to arbitrary control; for the judge
47 *would be then the legislator. Were it joined to the executive power, the judge might behave with violence and
48 oppression [sound familiar?].

49 There would be an end of everything, were the same man or the same body, whether of the nobles or of the
50 people, to exercise those three powers, that of enacting laws, that of executing the public resolutions, and of 51 trying the causes of individuals."

52 [. . .]

1 In what a situation must the poor subject be in those republics! The same body of magistrates are possessed
2 as executors of the laws, of the whole power they have given themselves in quality of legislators. They may
3 plunder the state by their general determinations; and as they have likewise the judiciary power in their hands,
4 every private citizen may be ruined by their particular decisions.

7 Any judge, prosecutor, or clerk in an administrative agency who tries to EXPAND or ADD to statutory definitions is violating
8 all the above. Likewise, anyone who tries to QUOTE a judicial opinion that adds to a statutory definition is violating the 9 separation of powers, usurping authority, and STEALING your property and rights. It is absolutely POINTLESS and an act
10 of ANARCHY, lawlessness, and a usurpation to try to add to statutory definitions.

11 The most prevalent means to UNLAWFULLY and UNCONSTITUTIONALLY add to statutory definitions is through the 12 abuse of the words "includes" or "including". That tactic is thoroughly described and rebutted in:

13 Government falsely accuses sovereignty advocates of practicing anarchy, but THEY, by trying to unlawfully expand statutory 14 definitions through either the abuse of the word "includes" or through PRESUMPTION, are the REAL anarchists. That 15 anarchy is described in Disclaimer, section 4 as follows:

16 SEDM Disclaimer

17 Section 4: Meaning of Words

18 The term "anarchy" implies any one or more of the following, and especially as regards so-called "governments".
19 An important goal of this site it to eliminate all such "anarchy":

- 20 1. Are superior in any way to the people they govern UNDER THE LAW.
- 21 2. Are not directly accountable to the people or the law. They prohibit the PEOPLE from criminally prosecuting
22 their own crimes, reserving the right to prosecute to their own fellow criminals. Who polices the police? THE
23 CRIMINALS.
- 24 3. Enact laws that exempt themselves. This is a violation of the Constitutional requirement for equal protection
25 and equal treatment and constitutes an unconstitutional Title of Nobility in violation of Article 1, Section 9,
26 Clause 8 of the United States Constitution.
- 27 4. Only enforce the law against others and NOT themselves, as a way to protect their own criminal activities by 28 persecuting dissidents. This is called "selective enforcement". In the legal field it is also called "professional
29 courtesy". Never kill the goose that lays the STOLEN golden eggs.
- 30 5. Break the laws with impunity. This happens most frequently when corrupt people in government engage in 31 "selective enforcement", whereby they refuse to prosecute or interfere with the prosecution of anyone in 32 government. The Department of Justice (D.O.J.) or the District Attorney are the most frequent perpetrators
33 of this type of crime.
- 34 6. Are able to choose which laws they want to be subject to, and thus refuse to enforce laws against themselves.
35 The most frequent method for this type of abuse is to assert sovereign, official, or judicial immunity as a defense
36 in order to protect the wrongdoers in government when they are acting outside their delegated authority, or 37 outside what the definitions in the statutes EXPRESSLY allow.
- 38 7. Impute to themselves more rights or methods of acquiring rights than the people themselves have. In other
39 words, who are the object of PAGAN IDOL WORSHIP because they possess "supernatural" powers. By 40 "supernatural", we mean that which is superior to the "natural", which is ordinary human beings.
- 41 8. Claim and protect their own sovereign immunity, but refuse to recognize the same EQUAL immunity of the 42 people from whom that power was delegated to begin with. Hypocrites.
- 43 9. Abuse sovereign immunity to exclude either the government or anyone working in the government from being 44 subject to the laws they pass to regulate everyone ELSE'S behavior. In other words, they can choose WHEN
45 they want to be a statutory "person" who is subject, and when they aren't. Anyone who has this kind of choice

1 will ALWAYS corruptly exclude themselves and include everyone else, and thereby enforce and implement an
2 unconstitutional "Title of Nobility" towards themselves. On this subject, the U.S. Supreme Court has held the 3 following:

4 "No man in this country [including legislators of the government as a legal person] is so
5 high that he is above the law. No officer of the law may set that law at defiance with 6 impunity. All the officers of the government, from the highest to the lowest, are creatures
7 of the law and are bound to obey it. It is the only supreme power in our system of 8 government, and every man who by accepting office participates in its functions is only the 9 more strongly bound to submit to that supremacy, and to observe the limitations which it
10 imposes upon the exercise of the authority which it gives," 106 U.S., at 220. "Shall it be 11 said... that the courts cannot give remedy when the Citizen has been deprived of his 12 property by force, his estate seized and converted to the use of the government without any 13 lawful authority, without any process of law, and without any compensation, because the 14 president has ordered it and his officers are in possession? If such be the law of this 15 country, it sanctions a tyranny which has no existence in the monarchies of Europe, nor in 16 any other government which has a just claim to well-regulated liberty and the protection
17 of personal rights," 106 U.S., at 220, 221.

18 [United States v. Lee, 106 U.S. 196, 1 S.Ct. 240 (1882)]

- 19 10. Have a monopoly on anything, INCLUDING "protection", and who turn that monopoly into a mechanism to 20 force EVERYONE illegally to be treated as uncompensated public officers in exchange for the "privilege" of 21 being able to even exist or earn a living to support oneself.
- 22 11. Can tax and spend any amount or percentage of the people's earnings over the OBJECTIONS of the people.
- 23 12. Can print, meaning illegally counterfeit, as much money as they want to fund their criminal enterprise, and 24 thus to be completely free from accountability to the people.
- 25 13. Deceive and/or lie to the public with impunity by telling you that you can't trust anything they say, but force
26 YOU to sign everything under penalty of perjury when you want to talk to them. 26 U.S.C. §6065.

2 5. Private v. Public

3 A very important subject is the division of legal authority between PUBLIC and PRIVATE rights. On this subject the U.S.
4 Supreme Court held:

5 "A private person cannot make constitutions or laws, nor can he with authority construe them, nor can he
6 administer or execute them."
7 [United States v. Harris, 106 U.S. 629, 1 S.Ct. 601, 27 L.Ed. 290 (1883)]

8 If you can't "execute" them, then you ALSO can't enforce them against ANYONE else. Some people might be tempted to 9 say that we all construe them against the private person daily, but in fact we can't do that WITHOUT being a public officer
10 WITHIN the government.

11 "The reason why States are "bodies politic and corporate" is simple: just as a corporation is an entity that can
12 act only through its agents. "[t]he State is a political corporate body, can act only through agents, and can
13 command only by laws." Poindexter v. Greenhow, supra, 114 U.S., at 288, 5 S.Ct. at 912-913. See also Black's
14 *Law Dictionary 159 (5th ed. 1979) ("Body politic or corporate": "A social compact by which the whole people
15 covenants with each citizen, and each citizen with the whole people, that all shall be governed by certain laws for 16 the common good"). As a "body politic and corporate," a State falls squarely within the Dictionary Act's
17 definition of a "person."
18 [Will v. Michigan Dept. of State Police, 491 U.S. 58, 109 S.Ct. 2304 (U.S.Mich.,1989)]

19 If we do enforce the law as a private nonresident human, we are criminally impersonating a public officer in violation of 18
20 U.S.C. §912. Other U.S. Supreme Court cites also confirm why this must be:

21 "All the powers of the government [including ALL of its civil enforcement powers against the public] must be
22 carried into operation by individual agency, either through the medium of public officers, or contracts made
23 with [private] individuals."
24 [Osborn v. Bank of U.S., 22 U.S. 738 (1824)]
25

26 "...we are of the opinion that there is a clear distinction in this particular between an [PRIVATE] individual
27 and a [PUBLIC] corporation, and that the latter has no right to refuse to submit its books and papers for an
28 examination at the suit of the state. The individual may stand upon his constitutional rights as a citizen. He is
29 entitled to carry on his private business in his own way. His power to contract is unlimited. He owes no duty to
30 the state or to his neighbors to divulge his business, or to open his doors to an investigation, so far as it may
31 tend to criminate him. He owes no such duty to the state, since he receives nothing therefrom, beyond the
32 protection of his life and property. His rights are such as existed by the law of the land long antecedent to the 33 organization of the state, and can only be taken from him by due process of law, and in accordance with the
34 Constitution. Among his rights are a refusal to incriminate himself, and the immunity of himself and his
35 property from arrest or seizure except under a warrant of the law. He owes nothing to the public so long as he
36 does not trespass upon their rights.

37 "Upon the other hand, the [PUBLIC] corporation is a creature of the state. It is presumed to be incorporated
38 for the benefit of the public. It receives certain special privileges and franchises, and holds them subject to the
39 laws of the state and the limitations of its charter. Its powers are limited by law. It can make no contract not
40 authorized by its charter. Its rights to [201 U.S. 43, 75] act as a corporation are only preserved to it so long
41 as it obeys the laws of its creation. There is a reserved right in the legislature to investigate its contracts and
42 find out whether it has exceeded its powers. It would be a strange anomaly to hold that a state, having chartered
43 a corporation to make use of certain franchises, could not, in the exercise of its sovereignty, inquire how these
44 franchises had been employed, and whether they had been abused, and demand the production of the corporate
45 books and papers for that purpose. The defense amounts to this: That an officer of a corporation which is charged
46 with a criminal violation of the statute, may plead the criminality of such corporation as a refusal to produce its
47 books. To state this proposition is to answer it. While an individual may lawfully refuse to answer incriminating
48 questions unless protected by an immunity statute, it does not follow that a corporation, vested with special
49 privileges and franchises, may refuse to show its hand when charged with an abuse of such privileges. "
50 [Hale v. Henkel, 201 U.S. 43 (1906)]

51 You MUST therefore be an agent of the government and therefore a PUBLIC officer in order to "make constitutions or laws
52 or administer, execute, or ENFORCE EITHER". Here is more proof:

1 “A defendant sued as a wrong-doer, who seeks to substitute the state in his place, or to justify by the authority of
2 the state, or to defend on the ground that the state has adopted his act and exonerated him, cannot rest on the
3 bare assertion of his defense. He is bound to establish it. The state is a political corporate body, can act only
4 through agents, and can command only by laws. It is necessary, therefore, for such a defendant, in order to
5 complete his defense, to produce a law of the state which constitutes his commission as its agent, and a warrant
6 for his act.”

7 [Poindexter v. Greenhow, 114 U.S. 270 (1885)]

8 By “act” above, they implicitly also include “enforce”. If you aren’t an agent of the state, they can’t enforce against you.
9 Examples of “agents” or “public officers” of the government include all the following:

- 10 1. “person” (26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1)).
- 11 2. “individual” (26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3)).
- 12 3. “taxpayer” (26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14)).
- 13 4. “withholding agent” (26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(16)).

14 “The government thus lays a tax, through the [GOVERNMENT] instrumentality [PUBLIC OFFICE] of the 15 company [a FEDERAL and not STATE corporation], upon the income of a non-resident alien over whom it
16 cannot justly exercise any control, nor upon whom it can justly lay any burden.”

17 [United States v. Erie R. Co., 106 U.S. 327 (1882)]

18 So how do you “OBEY” a law without “EXECUTING” it? We’ll give you a hint: It CAN’T BE DONE!

19 Likewise, if ONLY public officers can “administer, execute, or enforce” the law, then the following additional requirements
20 of the law are unavoidable and also implied:

- 21 1. Congress cannot impose DUTIES against private persons through the civil law. Otherwise the Thirteenth Amendment
22 would be violated and the party executing said duties would be criminally impersonating an agent or officer of the 23 government in violation of 18 U.S.C. §912.
- 24 2. Congress can only impose DUTIES upon public officers through the civil statutory law.
- 25 3. The civil statutory law is law for GOVERNMENT, and not PRIVATE persons. See:

[Why Statutory Civil Law is Law for Government and Not Private Persons, Form #05.037
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm](http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm)

- 26 4. Those who enforce any civil statutory duties against you are PRESUMING that you occupy a public office.
- 27 5. You cannot unilaterally “elect” yourself into a public office in the government by filling out a government form, even 28 if you consent to volunteer.
- 29 6. Even if you ARE a public officer, you can only execute the office in a place EXPRESSLY authorized by Congress per 30 4 U.S.C. §72, which means ONLY the District of Columbia and “not elsewhere”.

31 TITLE 4 > CHAPTER 3 > § 72
32 § 72. Public offices; at seat of Government

33 All offices attached to the seat of government shall be exercised in the District of Columbia, and not elsewhere,
34 except as otherwise expressly provided by law.

- 35 7. If you are “construing, administering, or executing” the laws, then you are doing so as a public officer and:
 - 36 7.1. You are bound and constrained in all your actions by the constitution like every OTHER public officer while on 37 official business interacting with PRIVATE humans.
 - 38 7.2. The Public Records exception to the Hearsay Exceptions Rule, Federal Rule of Evidence 803(8) applies.
39 EVERYTHING you produce in the process of “construing, administering, or executing” the laws is instantly
40 admissible and cannot be excluded from the record by any judge. If a judge interferes with the admission of such 41 evidence, he is:
 - 42 7.2.1. Interfering with the duties of a coordinate branch of the government in violation of the Separation of 43 Powers.
 - 44 7.2.2. Criminally obstructing justice.

5.1 Introduction

In order to fully understand and comprehend the nature of franchises, it is essential to thoroughly understand the distinctions between PUBLIC and PRIVATE property. The following subsections will deal with this important subject extensively. In the following subsections, we will establish the following facts:

1. There are TWO types of property:
 - 1.1. Public property. This type of property is protected by the CIVIL law.
 - 1.2. Private property. This type of property is protected by the COMMON law.
2. Specific legal rights attach to EACH of the two types of property. These “rights” in turn, are ALSO property as legally defined.

*Property. That which is peculiar or proper to any person; that which belongs exclusively to one. In the strict legal sense, an aggregate of rights which are guaranteed and protected by the government. Fulton Light, Heat & Power Co. v. State, 65 Misc.Rep. 263, 121 N.Y.S. 536. The term is said to extend to every species of valuable right and interest. More specifically, ownership; the unrestricted and exclusive right to a thing; the right to dispose of a thing in every legal way, to possess it, to use it, and to exclude everyone else from interfering with it. That dominion or indefinite right of use or disposition which one may lawfully exercise over particular things or subjects. The exclusive right of possessing, enjoying, and disposing of a thing. The highest right a man can have to anything; being used to refer to that right which one has to lands or tenements, goods or chattels, which no way depends on another man's courtesy.*

*The word is also commonly used to denote everything which is the subject of ownership, corporeal or incorporeal, tangible or intangible, visible or invisible, real or personal, everything that has an exchangeable value or which goes to make up wealth or estate. It extends to every species of valuable right and interest, and includes real and personal property, easements, franchises, and incorporeal hereditaments, and includes every invasion of one's property rights by actionable wrong. Labberton v. General Cas. Co. of America, 53 Wash.2d. 180, 332 P.2d. 250, 252, 254.*

[Black's Law Dictionary, Fifth Edition, p. 1095]

3. Human beings can simultaneously be in possession of BOTH PUBLIC and PRIVATE rights. This gives rise to TWO legal “persons”: PUBLIC and PRIVATE.
 - 3.1. The CIVIL law attaches to the PUBLIC person.
 - 3.2. The COMMON law and the Constitution attach to and protect the PRIVATE person.This is consistent with the following maxim of law.

Quando duo juro concurrunt in und personâ, aequum est ac si essent in diversis.

When two rights [public right v. private right] concur in one person, it is the same as if they were two separate persons. 4 Co. 118.

[Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856);

SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviereMaxims.htm>]

4. That the purpose of the Constitution and the establishment of government itself is to protect EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE rights.

*“We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure

1 these [EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE, God-given] rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their
2 just powers from the consent of the governed. -"
3 [Declaration of Independence, 1776]

4 The VERY FIRST step in protecting PRIVATE rights and PRIVATE property is to prevent such property from being
5 converted to PUBLIC property or PUBLIC rights without the consent of the owner. In other words, the VERY FIRST
6 step in protecting PRIVATE rights is to protect you from the GOVERNMENT'S OWN theft. Obviously, if a
7 government becomes corrupted and refuses to protect PRIVATE rights or recognize them, there is absolutely no reason
8 you can or should want to hire them to protect you from ANYONE ELSE.

- 9 5. The main method for protecting PRIVATE rights is to impose the following burden of proof and presumption upon 10 any entity or person claiming to be "government":

11 "All rights and property are PRESUMED to be EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE and beyond the control of government
12 or the CIVIL law unless and until the government meets the burden of proving, WITH EVIDENCE, on the record 13 of the proceeding that:

- 14 1. A SPECIFIC formerly PRIVATE owner consented IN WRITING to convert said property to PUBLIC property.
15 2. The owner was either abroad, domiciled on, or at least PRESENT on federal territory NOT protected by the 16 Constitution and therefore had the legal capacity to ALIENATE a Constitutional right or relieve a public
17 servant of the fiduciary obligation to respect and protect the right. Those physically present but not necessarily 18 domiciled in a constitutional but not statutory state protected by the constitution cannot lawfully alienate rights
19 to a real, de jure government, even WITH their consent.
20 3. If the government refuses to meet the above burden of proof, it shall be CONCLUSIVELY PRESUMED to be 21 operating in a PRIVATE, corporate capacity on an EQUAL footing with every other private corporation and 22 which is therefore NOT protected by official, judicial, or sovereign immunity.

- 23 6. That the ability to regulate EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE conduct is repugnant to the constitution and therefore such 24 conduct cannot lawfully become the subject of any civil statutory law.

25 "Under basic rules of construction, statutory laws enacted by legislative bodies cannot impair rights given under 26 a constitution. 194 B.R. at 925. "
27 [In re Young, 235 B.R. 666 (Bankr.M.D.Fla., 1999)]

- 28 7. That the terms "person", "persons", "individual", "individuals" as used within the civil statutory law by default imply
29 PUBLIC "persons" and therefore public offices within the government and not PRIVATE human beings. All such 30 offices are creations and franchises of the government and therefore property of the government subject to its exclusive 31 control.
- 32 8. That if the government wants to call you a statutory "person" or "individual" under the civil law, then:
33 8.1. You must volunteer or consent at some point to occupy a public office in the government while situated
34 physically in a place not protected by the USA Constitution and the Bill of Rights...namely, federal territory. In 35 some cases, that public office is also called a "citizen" or "resident".
36 8.2. If you don't volunteer, they are essentially exercising unconstitutional "eminent domain" over your PRIVATE 37 property. Keep in mind that rights protected by the Constitution are PRIVATE PROPERTY.
- 38 9. That there are VERY SPECIFIC and well defined rules for converting PRIVATE property into PUBLIC PROPERTY
39 and OFFICES, and that all such rules require your express consent except when a crime is involved.
- 40 10. That if a corrupted judge or public servant imposes upon you any civil statutory status, including that of "person" or 41 "individual" without PROVING with evidence that you consented to the status AND had the CAPACITY to lawfully 42 consent at the time you consented, they are:
43 10.1. Violating due process of law.
44 10.2. Imposing involuntary servitude.
45 10.3. STEALING property from you. We call this "theft by presumption".
46 10.4. Kidnapping your identity and moving it to federal territory.
47 10.5. Instituting eminent domain over EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE property.
- 48 11. That within the common law, the main mechanism for PREVENTING the conversion of PRIVATE property to 49 PUBLIC property through government franchises are the following maxims of law. These maxims of law MANDATE
50 that all governments must protect your right NOT to participate in franchises or be held accountable for the 51 consequences of receiving a "benefit" you did not consent to receive and/or regarded as an INJURY rather than a 52 "benefit":

1 Invito beneficium non datur.
2 No one is obliged to accept a benefit against his consent. Dig. 50, 17, 69. But if he does not dissent he will be
3 considered as assenting. Vide Assent.

4 Quilibet potest renunciare juri pro se inducto.
5 Any one may renounce a law introduced for his own benefit. To this rule there are some exceptions. See 1 Bouv.
6 Inst. n. 83.
7 [Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856),
8 SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviereMaxims.htm>]

9 For an example of how this phenomenon works in the case of the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitles A and C “trade or business”
10 franchise, see:

Why Your Government is Either a Thief or You are a “Public Officer” for Income Tax Purposes, Form #05.008
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

11 As an example of why an understanding of this subject is EXTREMELY important, consider the following dialog at an IRS
12 audit in which the FIRST question out of the mouth of the agent is ALWAYS “What is YOUR Social Security Number?”:

13
15 IRS AGENT: What is YOUR Social Security Number?

16
17 YOU: 20 C.F.R. §422.103(d) says SSNs belong to the government. The only way it could be MY number is if I am appearing 18 here today as a federal employee or officer on official business. If that is the case, no, I am here as a private human 19 being and not a government statutory “employee” in possession or use of “public property” such as a number.
20 Therefore, I don’t HAVE a Social Security Number. Furthermore, I am not lawfully eligible and never have been
21 eligible to participate in Social Security and any records you have to the contrary are FALSE and FRAUDULENT
22 and should be DESTROYED.

23
24 IRS AGENT: That’s ridiculous. Everyone HAS an SSN.

25
26 YOU: Well then EVERYONE is a STUPID whore for acting as a federal employee or agent without compensation THEY
27 and not YOU determine. The charge for my services to act as a federal “employee” or officer or trustee in possession
28 of public property such as an SSN is ALL the tax and penalty liability that might result PLUS $1,000 per hour. Will
29 you agree in writing pay the compensation I demand to act essentially as your federal coworker, because if you
30 don’t, then it’s not MY number?

31
32 IRS AGENT: It’s YOUR number, not the government’s.

33
34 YOU: Well why do the regulations at 20 C.F.R. §422.103(d) say it belongs to the Social Security Administration instead of 35 me? I am not appearing as a Social Security employee at this meeting and its unreasonable and prejudicial for you
36 to assume that I am. I am also not appearing here as “federal personnel” as defined in 5 U.S.C. §552a(a)(13). I
37 don’t even qualify for Social Security and never have, and what you are asking me to do by providing an INVALID
38 and knowingly FALSE number is to VIOLATE THE LAW and commit fraud by providing that which I am not 39 legally entitled to and thereby fraudulently procure the benefits of a federal franchise. Is that your intention?

40
41 IRS AGENT: Don’t play word games with me. It’s YOUR number.

42
43 YOU: Well good. Then if it’s MY number and MY property, then I have EXCLUSIVE control and use over it. That is what
44 the word “property” implies. That means I, and not you, may penalize people for abusing MY property. The penalty
45 for wrongful use or possession of MY property is all the tax and penalty liability that might result from using said
46 number for tax collection plus $1,000 per hour for educating you about your lawful duties because you obviously
47 don’t know what they are. If it’s MY property, then your job is to protect me from abuses of MY property. If you
48 can penalize me for misusing YOUR procedures and forms, which are YOUR property, then I am EQUALLY
49 entitled to penalize you for misusing MY property. Are you willing to sign an agreement in writing to pay for the 50 ABUSE of what you call MY property, because if you aren’t, you are depriving me of exclusive use and control
51 over MY property and depriving me of the equal right to prevent abuses of my property??

1 IRS AGENT: OK, well it's OUR number. Sorry for deceiving you. Can you give us OUR number that WE assigned to
2 you?

4 YOU: You DIDN'T assign it to ME as a private person, which is what I am appearing here today as. You can't lawfully
5 issue public property such as an SSN to a private person. That's criminal embezzlement. The only way it could
6 have been assigned to me is if I'm acting as a "public officer" or federal employee at this moment, and I am NOT.
7 I am here as a private person and not a public employee. Therefore, it couldn't have been lawfully issued to me.
8 Keep this up, and I'm going to file a criminal complaint with the U.S. Attorney for embezzlement in violation of 18
9 U.S.C. §641 and impersonating a public officer in violation of 18 U.S.C. §912. I'm not here as a public officer and 10 you are asking me to act like one without compensation and without legal authority. Where is the compensation
11 that I demand to act as a fiduciary and trustee over your STINKING number, which is public property? I remind
12 you that the very purpose why governments are created is to PROTECT and maintain the separation between "public 13 property" and "private property" in order to preserve my inalienable constitutional rights that you took an oath to 14 support and defend. Why do you continue to insist on co-mingling and confusing them in order to STEAL my labor,
15 property, and money without compensation in violation of the Fifth Amendment takings clause?
16

17 Usually, after the above interchange, the IRS agent will realize he is digging a DEEP hole for himself and will abruptly end 18 that sort of inquiry, and many times will also end his collection efforts.

19 5.2 What is "Property"?

20 Property is legally defined as follows:

21 *Property. That which is peculiar or proper to any person; that which belongs exclusively to one. In the strict
22 legal sense, an aggregate of rights which are guaranteed and protected by the government. *Fulton Light, Heat
23 & Power Co. v. State*, 65 Misc.Rep. 263, 121 N.Y.S. 536. The term is said to extend to every species of valuable
24 right and interest. More specifically, ownership; the unrestricted and exclusive right to a thing; the right to
25 dispose of a thing in every legal way, to possess it, to use it, and to exclude everyone else from interfering with it.
26 That dominion or indefinite right of use or disposition which one may lawfully exercise over particular things or
27 subjects. The exclusive right of possessing, enjoying, and disposing of a thing. The highest right a man can have
28 to anything; being used to refer to that right which one has to lands or tenements, goods or chattels, which no
29 way depends on another man's courtesy.*

30 *The word is also commonly used to denote everything which is the subject of ownership, corporeal or incorporeal,
31 tangible or intangible, visible or invisible, real or personal, everything that has an exchangeable value or which
32 goes to make up wealth or estate. It extends to every species of valuable right and interest, and includes real
33 and personal property, easements, franchises, and incorporeal hereditaments, and includes every invasion of
34 one's property rights by actionable wrong. Labberton v. General Cas. Co. of America, 53 Wash.2d. 180, 332
35 P.2d. 250, 252, 254.*

36 *Property embraces everything which is or may be the subject of ownership, whether a legal ownership, or whether
37 beneficial, or a private ownership. Davis v. Davis. TexCiv-App., 495 S.W.2d. 607, 611. Term includes not only
38 ownership and possession but also the right of use and enjoyment for lawful purposes. Hoffmann v. Kinealy, Mo.,
39 389 S.W.2d. 745, 752.*

40 *Property, within constitutional protection, denotes group of rights inhering in citizen's relation to physical thing,
41 as right to possess, use and dispose of it. Cereghino v. State By and Through State Highway Commission, 230
42 Or. 439, 370 P.2d. 694, 697.*

43 *Goodwill is property, Howell v. Bowden, TexCiv. App.. 368 S.W.2d. 842, &18; as is an insurance policy and
44 rights incident thereto, including a right to the proceeds, Harris v. Harris, 83 N.M. 441,493 P.2d. 407, 408.*

45 *Criminal code. "Property" means anything of value. including real estate, tangible and intangible personal
46 property, contract rights, choses-in-action and other interests in or claims to wealth, admission or transportation
47 tickets, captured or domestic animals, food and drink, electric or other power. Model Penal Code. Q 223.0. See
48 also Property of another, infra. Dusts. Under definition in Restatement, Second, Trusts, Q 2(c), it denotes interest
49 in things and not the things themselves.
50 [Black's Law Dictionary, Fifth Edition, p. 1095]*

51 Keep in mind the following critical facts about "property" as legally defined:

- 1 1. The essence of the “property” right, also called “ownership”, is the RIGHT TO EXCLUDE others from using or 2 benefitting from the use of the property.

3 “We have repeatedly held that, as to property reserved by its owner for private use, ‘the right to exclude [others
4 is] ‘one of the most essential sticks in the bundle of rights that are commonly characterized as property.’ ”
5 Loretto v. Teleprompter Manhattan CATV Corp., 458 U.S. 419, 433 (1982), quoting Kaiser Aetna v. United 6 States, 444 U.S. 164, 176 (1979). “

7 [Nollan v. California Coastal Comm’n, 483 U.S. 825 (1987)]

8
9 “In this case, we hold that the ‘right to exclude,’ so universally held to be a fundamental element of the 10 property right,^[11] falls within this category of interests that the Government cannot take without 11 compensation.”

12 [Kaiser Aetna v. United States, 444 U.S. 164 (1979)]

13 [11] See, e. g., United States v. Pueblo of San Ildefonso, 206 Ct.Cl. 649, 669-670, 513 F.2d. 1383, 1394 (1975);
14 United States v. Lutz, 295 F.2d. 736, 740 (CA5 1961). As stated by Mr. Justice Brandeis, “[a]n essential element
15 of individual property is the legal right to exclude others from enjoying it.” International News Service v.
16 Associated Press, 248 U.S. 215, 250 (1918) (dissenting opinion).

- 17 2. It’s NOT your property if you can’t exclude EVERYONE, including the GOVERNMENT from using, benefitting from 18 the use, or taxing the specific property.
19 3. All constitutional rights and statutory privileges are property.
20 4. Anything that conveys a right or privilege is property.
21 5. Contracts convey rights or privileges and are therefore property.
22 6. All franchises are contracts between the grantor and the grantee and therefore property.

23 5.3 “Public” v. “Private” property ownership

24 Next, we would like to compare the two types of property: Public v. Private. There are two types of ownership of “property”:
25 Absolute and Qualified. The following definition describes and compares these two types of ownership:

26 Ownership. Collection of rights to use and enjoy property, including right to transmit it to others. Trustees of 27 Phillips Exeter Academy v. Exeter, 92 N.H. 473, 33 A.2d. 665, 673. The complete dominion, title, or proprietary
28 right in a thing or claim. The entirety of the powers of use and disposal allowed by law.

29 The right of one or more persons to possess and use a thing to the exclusion of others. The right by which a thing
30 belongs to someone in particular, to the exclusion of all other persons. The exclusive right of possession, 31 enjoyment, and disposal; involving as an essential attribute the right to control, handle, and dispose.

32 Ownership of property is either absolute or qualified. The ownership of property is absolute when a single
33 person has the absolute dominion over it, and may use it or dispose of it according to his pleasure, subject only
34 to general laws. The ownership is qualified when it is shared with one or more persons, when the time of 35 enjoyment is deferred or limited, or when the use is restricted. Calif. Civil Code, §§678-680.

36 There may be ownership of all inanimate things which are capable of appropriation or of manual delivery; of all
37 domestic animals; of all obligations; of such products of labor or skill as the composition of an author, the 38 goodwill of a business, trademarks and signs, and of rights created or granted by statute. Calif. Civil Code, §655.

39 In connection with burglary, “ownership” means any possession which is rightful as against the burglar.

40 See also Equitable ownership; Exclusive ownership; Hold; Incident of ownership; Interest; Interval ownership;
41 Ostensible ownership; Owner; Possession; Title.
42 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1106]

43 Participation in franchises causes PRIVATE property to transmute into PUBLIC property. Below is a table comparing these 44 two great classes of property and the legal aspects of their status.

45 Table 10: Public v. Private Property

| # | Characteristic | Public | Private |
|----|---|--|---|
| 1 | Authority for ownership comes from | Grantor/ creator of franchise | God/natural law |
| 2 | Type of ownership | Qualified | Absolute |
| 3 | Law protecting ownership | Statutory franchises | Bill of Rights (First Ten Amendments to the U.S. Constitution) |
| 4 | Owner is | The public as LEGAL owner and the human being as EQUITABLE owner | A single person as LEGAL owner |
| 5 | Ownership is a | Privilege/franchise | Right |
| 6 | Courts protecting ownership | Franchise court (Article 4 of the USA Constitution) | Constitutional court |
| 7 | Subject to taxation? | Yes | No (you have the right EXCLUDE government from using or benefitting from it) |
| 8 | Title held by | Statutory citizen (Statutory citizens are public officers) | Constitutional citizen (Constitutional citizens are human beings and may NOT be public officers) |
| 9 | Character of YOUR/HUMAN title | Equitable | Legal |
| 10 | Conversion to opposite type of property by | 1. Removing government identifying number. 2. Donation. | 1. Associating with government identifying number. ³⁵ 2. Donation. 3. Eminent domain (with compensation). 4. THEFT (Internal Revenue Service). |

1 Private and Public property MUST, at all times, remain completely separate from each other. If in fact rights are
2 UNALIENABLE as declared in the Declaration of Independence, then you aren't allowed legally to consent to donate them
3 to any government. Hence, they must remain private. You can't delegate that authority to anyone else either, because you
4 can't delegate what you don't have:

5 "Derativa potestas non potest esse major primitiva.
6 The power which is derived cannot be greater than that from which it is derived."

7 "Nemo plus juris ad alienum transfere potest, quam ispe habent.
8 One cannot transfer to another a right which he has not. Dig. 50, 17, 54; 10 Pet. 161, 175."
9 [Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856);
10 SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviertsMaxims.htm>]

11 For a fascinating and powerful presentation showing why private and public are separate, how to keep them that way, and 12 how governments illegally try to convert PRIVATE to PUBLIC in order to STEAL from you, see:

Separation Between Public and Private Course, Form #12.025

13 5.4 The purpose and foundation of de jure government: Protection of EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE rights

14 The main purpose for which all governments are established is the protection of EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE rights and 15 property. This purpose is the foundation of all the just authority of any government as held by the Declaration of 16 Independence:

³⁵ See: About SSNs and TINs on Government Forms and Correspondence, Form #05.012.

1 "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator
2 *with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure
3 these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the
4 governed, -"
5 [Declaration of Independence, 1776]

6 The fiduciary duty that a public officer who works for the government has is founded upon the requirement to protect
7 PRIVATE property.

8 "As expressed otherwise, the powers delegated to a public officer are held in trust for the people and are to be
9 exercised in behalf of the government or of all citizens who may need the intervention of the officer. ³⁶
10 Furthermore, the view has been expressed that all public officers, within whatever branch and whatever level
11 of government, and whatever be their private vocations, are trustees of the people, and accordingly labor under
12 every disability and prohibition imposed by law upon trustees relative to the making of personal financial gain
13 from a discharge of their trusts. ³⁷ That is, a public officer occupies a fiduciary relationship to the political
14 entity on whose behalf he or she serves. ³⁸ and owes a fiduciary duty to the public. ³⁹ It has been said that the
15 fiduciary responsibilities of a public officer cannot be less than those of a private individual. ⁴⁰ Furthermore,
16 it has been stated that any enterprise undertaken by the public official which tends to weaken public confidence
17 and undermine the sense of security for individual rights is against public policy. ⁴¹"
18 [63C American Jurisprudence 2d, Public Officers and Employees, §247 (1999)]

19 The VERY FIRST step that any lawful de jure government must take in protecting PRIVATE property and PRIVATE rights
20 is to protect it from being converted to PUBLIC/GOVERNMENT property. After all: If the people you hire to protect you
21 won't even do the job of protecting you from THEM, why should you hire them to protect you from ANYONE ELSE?

22 The U.S. Supreme Court has also affirmed that the protection of PRIVATE rights and PRIVATE property is "the foundation
23 of the government" when it held the following. The case below was a challenge to the constitutionality of the first national 24 income tax, and the U.S. government rightfully lost that challenge:

25 "Here I close my opinion. I could not say less in view of questions of such gravity that they go down to the very
26 foundations of the government. If the provisions of the Constitution can be set aside by an act of Congress, where 27 is the course of usurpation to end?

28 The present assault upon capital [THEFT! and WEALTH TRANSFER by unconstitutional CONVERSION of 29 PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property] is but the beginning. It will be but the stepping stone to others larger
30 and more sweeping, until our political contest will become war of the poor against the rich; a war of growing 31 intensity and bitterness."
32 [Pollock v. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., 157 U.S. 429, 158 U.S. 601 (1895), hearing the case against the first
33 income tax passed by Congress that included people in states of the Union. They declared that first income tax
34 UNCONSTITUTIONAL, by the way]

35 In the above landmark case, the lawyer for the petitioner, Mr. Choate, even referred to the income tax as COMMUNISM, 36 and he was obviously right! Why? Because communism like socialism operates upon the following political premises:

- 37 1. All property is PUBLIC property and there IS no PRIVATE property.
38 2. The government owns and/or controls all property and said property is LOANED to the people.

- 1 3. The government and/or the collective has rights superior to those of the individual. There is and can be NO equality or 2 equal protection under the law without the right of PRIVATE property. In that sense, the government or the “state” is 3 a pagan idol with “supernatural powers” because human beings are “natural” and they are inferior to the collective.
 4 4. Control is synonymous with ownership. If the government CONTROLS the property but the citizen “owns” it, then:
 5 4.1. The REAL owner is the government.
 6 4.2. The ownership of the property is QUALIFIED rather than ABSOLUTE.
 7 4.3. The person holding the property is a mere CUSTODIAN over GOVERNMENT property and has EQUITABLE
 8 rather than LEGAL ownership. Hence, their name in combination with the Social Security Number constitutes a
 9 PUBLIC office synonymous with the government itself.
 10 5. Everyone in temporary use of said property is an officer and agent of the state. A “public officer”, after all, is someone 11 who is in charge of the PROPERTY of the public. It is otherwise a crime to use public property for a PRIVATE use or 12 benefit. That crime is called theft or conversion:

26 Look at some of the planks of the Communist Manifesto, Karl Marx and confirm the above for yourself:

- 27 1. Abolition of property in land and application of all rents of land to public purposes.
 28 2. A heavy progressive or graduated income tax.

32 The legal definition of “property” confirms that one who OWNS a thing has the EXCLUSIVE right to use and dispose of and 33 CONTROL the use of his or her or its property and ALL the fruits and “benefits” associated with the use of such property .
 34 The implication is that you as the PRIVATE owner have a right to EXCLUDE ALL OTHERS including all governments
 35 from using, benefitting from, or controlling your property. Governments, after all, are simply legal “persons” and the 36 constitution guarantees that ALL “persons” are equal. If your neighbor can’t benefit from your property without your consent,
 37 then neither can any so-called “government”.

5 [Black's Law Dictionary, Fifth Edition, p. 1095]

6 In a lawful de jure government under our constitution:

- 7 1. All "persons" are absolutely equal under the law. No government can have any more rights than a single human being,
8 no matter how many people make up that government. If your neighbor can't take your property without your consent,
9 then neither can the government. The only exception to this requirement of equality is that artificial persons do not 10 have constitutional rights, but only such "privileges" as statutory law grants them. See:

Requirement for Equal Protection and Equal Treatment, Form #05.033
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 11 2. All property is CONCLUSIVELY presumed to be EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE until the GOVERNMENT meets the 12 burden of proof on the record of the legal proceeding that you EXPRESSLY consented IN WRITING to donate the 13 property or use of the property to the PUBLIC:

14 *"Men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, - 'life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness;'
15 and to 'secure,' not grant or create, these rights, governments are instituted. That property [or income] which a
16 man has honestly acquired he retains full control of, subject to these limitations: First, that he shall not use it
17 to his neighbor's injury, and that does not mean that he must use it for his
18 neighbor's benefit [e.g. SOCIAL SECURITY, Medicare, and every other
19 public "benefit"]; second, that if he devotes it to a public use, he gives to the public a right to control
20 that use; and third, that whenever the public needs require, the public may take it upon payment of due
21 compensation."*
22 Budd v. People of State of New York, [143 U.S. 517 (1892)]

- 23 3. You have to knowingly and intentionally DONATE your PRIVATE property to a public use and a PUBLIC purpose
24 before the government can lawfully REGULATE its use. In other words, you have to at least SHARE your ownership
25 of otherwise private property with the government and become an EQUITABLE rather than ABSOLUTE owner of the 26 property before they can acquire the right to regulate its use or impose obligations or duties upon its original owner.
- 27 4. That donation ordinarily occurs by applying for and/or using a license in connection with the use of SPECIFIC 28 otherwise PRIVATE property.
- 29 5. The process of applying for or using a license and thereby converting PRIVATE into PUBLIC cannot be compelled. If 30 it is, the constitutional violation is called "eminent domain" without compensation or STEALING, in violation of the 31 Fifth Amendment takings clause.
- 32 6. You have a PUBLIC persona (office) and a PRIVATE persona (human) at all times.
- 33 6.1. That which you VOLUNTARILY attach a government license number to, such as a Social Security Number or 34 Taxpayer Identification Number, becomes PRIVATE property donated to a public use to procure the benefits of a
35 PUBLIC franchise. That property, in turn, is effectively OWNED by the government grantor of your public 36 persona and the public office it represents.
- 37 6.2. If you were compelled to use a government license number, such as an SSN or TIN, then a theft and taking 38 without compensation has occurred, because all property associated with such numbers was unlawfully converted
39 and STOLEN.
- 40 7. If the right to contract of the parties conducting any business transaction has any meaning at all, it implies the right to 41 EXCLUDE the government from participation in their relationship.
- 42 7.1. You can write the contract such that neither party may use or invoke a license number, or complain to a licensing
43 board, about the transaction, and thus the government is CONTRACTED OUT of the otherwise PRIVATE 44 relationship. Consequently, the transaction becomes EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE and government may not tax or 45 regulate or arbitrate the relationship in any way under the terms of the license franchise.
- 46 7.2. Every consumer of your services has a right to do business with those who are unlicensed. This right is a natural 47 consequence of the right to CONTRACT and NOT CONTRACT. The thing they are NOT contracting with is the 48 GOVERNMENT, and the thing they are not contracting FOR is STATUTORY/FRANCHISE "protection".
49 Therefore, even those who have applied for government license numbers are NOT obligated to use them in 50 connection with any specific transaction and may not have their licenses suspended or revoked for failure or 51 refusal to use them for a specific transaction.

- 1 8. If the government invades the commercial relationship between you and those you do business with by forcing either
2 party to use or invoke the license number or pursue remedies or “benefits” under the license, they are:
3 8.1. Interfering with your UNALIENABLE right to contract.
4 8.2. Compelling you to donate EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE property to a PUBLIC use.
5 8.3. Exercising unconstitutional eminent domain over your otherwise PRIVATE property.
6 8.4. Compelling you to accept a public “benefit”, where the “protection” afforded by the license is the “benefit”.

7 The above requirements of the USA Constitution are circumvented with nothing more than the simple PRESUMPTION,
8 usually on the part of the IRS and corrupted judges who want to STEAL from you, that the GOVERNMENT owns it and that 9 you have to prove that they CONSENTED to let you keep the fruits of it. They can’t and never have proven that they have 10 such a right, and all such presumptions are a violation of due process of law.

11 (1) [8:4993] Conclusive presumptions affecting protected interests:

12 A conclusive presumption may be defeated where its application would impair a party's constitutionally-protected
13 liberty or property interests. In such cases, conclusive presumptions have been held to violate a party's due
14 process and equal protection rights. [Vlandis v. Kline (1973) 412 U.S. 441, 449, 93 S.Ct. 2230, 2235; Cleveland
15 Bed. of Ed. v. LaFleur (1974) 414 U.S. 632, 639-640, 94 S.Ct. 1208, 1215-presumption under Illinois law that 16 unmarried fathers are unfit violates process]
17 [Federal Civil Trials and Evidence, Rutter Group, 2006, paragraph 8:4993, p. 8K-34]

18 In order to unconstitutionally and TREASONOUSLY circumvent the above limitation on their right to presume, corrupt
19 governments and government actors will play “word games” with citizenship and key definitions in the ENCRYPTED “code”
20 in order to KIDNAP your legal identity and place it OUTSIDE the above protections of the constitution by:

- 21 11. PRESUMING that you are a public officer and therefore, that everything held in your name is PUBLIC property of the 22 GOVERNMENT and not YOUR PRIVATE PROPERTY. See:

- 24 13. PRESUMING that because you did not rebut evidence connecting you to a public office, then you CONSENT to 25 occupy the office.

- 26 14. PRESUMING that ALL of the four contexts for "United States" are equivalent.

- 27 15. PRESUME that CONSTITUTIONAL citizens and STATUTORY citizens are EQUIVALENT under federal law. They
28 are NOT. A CONSTITUTIONAL citizen is a "non-resident " under federal civil law and NOT a STATUTORY
29 "national and citizen of the United States at birth" per 8 U.S.C. §1401. See the document below:

- 31 17. Using the word "citizenship" in place of "nationality" OR "domicile", and refusing to disclose WHICH of the two they 32 mean in EVERY context.

- 33 18. Confusing the POLITICAL/CONSTITUTIONAL meaning of words with the civil STATUTORY context. For 34 instance, asking on government forms whether you are a POLITICAL/CONSTITUTIONAL citizen and then
35 FALSELY PRESUMING that you are a STATUTORY citizen under 8 U.S.C. §1401.

- 36 19. Confusing the words "domicile" and "residence" or impute either to you without satisfying the burden of proving that
37 you EXPRESSLY CONSENTED to it and thereby illegally kidnap your civil legal identity against your will. One can
38 have only one "domicile" but many "residences" and BOTH require your consent. See:

1 20. Adding things or classes of things to the meaning of statutory terms that do not EXPRESSLY appear in their
2 definitions, in violation of the rules of statutory construction. See:

3 21. Refusing to allow the jury to read the definitions in the law and then give them a definition that is in conflict with the
4 statutory definition. This substitutes the JUDGES will for what the law expressly says and thereby substitutes PUBLIC
5 POLICY for the written law.

6 22. Publishing deceptive government publications that are in deliberate conflict with what the statutes define "United 7 States" as and then tell the public that they CANNOT rely on the publication. The IRS does this with ALL of their
8 publications and it is FRAUD. See:

9 This kind of arbitrary discretion is PROHIBITED by the Constitution, as held by the U.S. Supreme Court:

10 "When we consider the nature and the theory of our institutions of government, the principles upon which they
11 *are supposed to rest, and review the history of their development, we are constrained to conclude that they do
12 not mean to leave room for the play and action of purely personal and arbitrary power."
13 [Yick Wo v. Hopkins, 118 U.S. 356, 369, 6 S. Sup.Ct. 1064, 1071]

14 Thomas Jefferson, our most revered founding father, precisely predicted the above abuses when he astutely said:

15 "It has long been my opinion, and I have never shrunk from its expression,... that the germ of dissolution of our
16 Federal Government is in the constitution of the Federal Judiciary--an irresponsible body (for impeachment is 17 *scarcely a scare-crow), working like gravity by night and by day, gaining a little today and a little tomorrow,
18 and advancing its noiseless step like a thief over the field of jurisdiction until all shall be usurped from the
19 States and the government be consolidated into one. To this I am opposed."
20 [Thomas Jefferson to Charles Hammond, 1821. ME 15:331]

21 "Contrary to all correct example, [the Federal judiciary] are in the habit of going out of the question before them,
22 *to throw an anchor ahead and grapple further hold for future advances of power. They are then in fact the corps
23 of sappers and miners, steadily working to undermine the independent rights of the States and to consolidate
24 all power in the hands of that government in which they have so important a freehold estate."
25 [Thomas Jefferson: Autobiography, 1821. ME 1:121]

26 "The judiciary of the United States is the subtle corps of sappers and miners constantly working under ground to
27 undermine the foundations of our confederated fabric. They are construing our Constitution from a co-ordination
28 *of a general and special government to a general and supreme one alone. This will lay all things at their feet,
29 and they are too well versed in English law to forget the maxim, 'boni judicis est ampliari jurisdictionem.'"*
30 [Thomas Jefferson to Thomas Ritchie, 1820. ME 15:297]

31 *"When all government, domestic and foreign, in little as in great things, shall be drawn to Washington as the
32 center of all power, it will render powerless the checks provided of one government on another and will become
33 as venal and oppressive as the government from which we separated."
34 [Thomas Jefferson to Charles Hammond, 1821. ME 15:332]

35 *"What an augmentation of the field for jobbing, speculating, plundering, office-building ["trade or business"
36 scam] and office-hunting would be produced by an assumption [PRESUMPTION] of all the State powers into the*
37 hands of the General Government!"
38 [Thomas Jefferson to Gideon Granger, 1800. ME 10:168]

39 The key to preventing the unconstitutional abuse of presumption by the corrupted judiciary and IRS to STEAL from people
40 is to completely understand the content of the following memorandum of law and consistently apply it in every interaction
41 with the government:

Presumption: Chief Weapon for Unlawfully Enlarging Federal Jurisdiction, Form #05.017
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

42 It ought to be very obvious to the reader that:

- 1 1. The rules for converting PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property ought to be consistently, completely, clearly, and
- 2 unambiguously defined by every government officer you come in contact with, and ESPECIALLY in court. These
- 3 rules ought to be DEMANDED to be declared EVEN BEFORE you enter a plea in a criminal case.
- 4 2. If the government asserts any right over your PRIVATE property, they are PRESUMING they are the LEGAL owner
- 5 and relegating you to EQUITABLE ownership. This presumption should be forcefully challenged.
- 6 3. If they won't expressly define the rules, or try to cloud the rules for converting PRIVATE property to PUBLIC
- 7 property, then they are:
 - 8 3.1. Defeating the very purpose for which they were established as a "government". Hence, they are not a true
 - 9 "government" but a de facto private corporation PRETENDING to be a "government", which is a CRIME under
 - 10 18 U.S.C. §912.
 - 11 3.2. Exercising unconstitutional eminent domain over private property without the consent of the owner and without
 - 12 compensation.
 - 13 3.3. Trying to STEAL from you.
 - 14 3.4. Violating their fiduciary duty to the public.

15 5.5 The Right to be left alone

16 The purpose of the Constitution of the United States of America is to confer the "right to be left alone", which is the essence
17 of being sovereign:

18 "The makers of our Constitution undertook to secure conditions favorable to the pursuit of happiness. They
19 recognized the significance of man's spiritual nature, of his feelings and of his intellect. They knew that only a
20 part of the pain, pleasure and satisfactions of life are to be found in material things. They sought to protect
21 Americans in their beliefs, their thoughts, their emotions and their sensations. They conferred, as against the
22 Government, the right to be let alone - the most comprehensive of rights and the right most valued by civilized
23 men."
24 Olmstead v. United States, [277 U.S. 438, 478 (1928) (Brandeis, J., dissenting) ; see also Washington v. Harper,
25 494 U.S. 210 (1990)]

26 The legal definition of "justice" confirms that its purpose is to protect your right to be "left alone":

27 PAULSEN, ETHICS (Thilly's translation), chap. 9.

28 "Justice, as a moral habit, is that tendency of the will and mode of conduct which refrains from disturbing the
29 lives and interests of others, and, as far as possible, hinders such interference on the part of others. This virtue
30 springs from the individual's respect for his fellows as ends in themselves and as his co equals. The different
31 spheres of interests may be roughly classified as follows: body and life; the family, or the extended individual
32 life; property, or the totality of the instruments of action; honor, or the ideal existence; and finally freedom, or
33 the possibility of fashioning one's life as an end in itself. The law defends these different spheres, thus giving rise
34 to a corresponding number of spheres of rights, each being protected by a prohibition. . . . To violate the rights,
35 to interfere with the interests of others, is injustice. All injustice is ultimately directed against the life of the
36 neighbor; it is an open avowal that the latter is not an end in itself, having the same value as the individual's own
37 life. The general formula of the duty of justice may therefore be stated as follows: Do no wrong yourself, and
38 permit no wrong to be done, so far as lies in your power; or, expressed positively: Respect and protect the right."
39 [Readings on the History and System of the Common Law, Second Edition, Roscoe Pound, 1925, p. 2]

40 The Bible also states the foundation of justice by saying:

41 "Do not strive with [or try to regulate or control or enslave] a man without cause, if he has done you no harm."
42 [Prov. 3:30, Bible, NKJV]

43 And finally, Thomas Jefferson agreed with the above by defining "justice" as follows in his First Inaugural Address:

44 "With all [our] blessings, what more is necessary to make us a happy and a prosperous people? Still one thing
45 more, fellow citizens--a wise and frugal Government, which shall restrain men from injuring one another, shall
46 leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from
47 the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government, and this is necessary to close
48 the circle of our felicities."
49 [Thomas Jefferson: 1st Inaugural, 1801. ME 3:320]

50 Therefore, the word "injustice" means interference with the equal rights of others absent their consent and which constitutes 51 an injury NOT as any law defines it, but as the PERSON who is injured defines it. Under this conception of "justice", 52 anything done with your consent cannot be classified as "injustice" or an injury.

1 Those who are “private persons” fit in the category of people who must be left alone as a matter of law:

2 “There is a clear distinction in this particular case between an individual and a corporation, and that the latter
3 has no right to refuse to submit its books and papers for an examination at the suit of the State. The individual
4 *may stand upon his constitutional rights as a citizen. He is entitled to carry on his private business in his own
5 *way. His power to contract is unlimited. He owes no such duty to the State, since he receives nothing therefrom,
6 beyond the protection of his life and property. His rights are such as existed by the law of the land long
7 antecedent to the organization of the State, and can only be taken from him by due process of law, and in
8 accordance with the constitution. Among his rights are a refusal to incriminate himself, and the immunity of* 9 himself and his property from arrest or seizure except under a warrant of the law. He owes nothing to the public
10 so long as he does not trespass upon their rights.”

13 Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 5.14.10.2 (09-30-2004)
14 Payroll Deduction Agreements

15 2. Private employers, states, and political subdivisions are not required to enter into payroll deduction
16 agreements. Taxpayers should determine whether their employers will accept and process executed agreements
17 before agreements are submitted for approval or finalized.
18 [SOURCE: <http://sedm.org/Exhibits/EX05.043.pdf>]

19 The U.S. Supreme Court has also held that the ability to regulate what it calls “private conduct” is repugnant to the 20 constitution. It is the differentiation between PRIVATE rights and PUBLIC rights, in fact, that forms the basis for enforcing
21 your right to be left alone:

22 “The power to “legislate generally upon” life, liberty, and property, as opposed to the “power to provide modes
23 of redress” against offensive state action, was “repugnant” to the Constitution. Id., at 15. See also United States
24 v. Reese, 92 U.S. 214, 218 (1876); United States v. Harris, 106 U.S. 629, 639 (1883); James v. Bowman, 190 U.S.
25 127, 139 (1903). Although the specific holdings of these early cases might have been superseded or modified, see,
26 e.g., Heart of Atlanta Motel, Inc. v. United States, 379 U.S. 241 (1964); United States v. Guest, 383 U.S. 745
27 (1966), their treatment of Congress’ §5 power as corrective or preventive, not definitional, has not been
28 questioned.”
29 [City of Boerne v. Flores, Archbishop of San Antonio, 521 U.S. 507 (1997)]

30 Only by taking on a “public character” or engaging in “public conduct” rather than a “private” character may our actions
31 become the proper or lawful subject of federal or state legislation or regulation.

32 “One great object of the Constitution is to permit citizens to structure their private relations as they choose
33 subject only to the constraints of statutory or decisional law. [500 U.S. 614, 620]

34 To implement these principles, courts must consider from time to time where the governmental sphere [e.g.
35 “public purpose” and “public office”] ends and the private sphere begins. Although the conduct of private
36 parties lies beyond the Constitution’s scope in most instances, governmental authority may dominate an activity
37 to such an extent that its participants must be deemed to act with the authority of the government and, as a
38 result, be subject to constitutional constraints. This is the jurisprudence of state action, which explores the
39 “essential dichotomy” between the private sphere and the public sphere, with all its attendant constitutional
40 obligations. Moose Lodge, supra, at 172. “

41 [. . .]

42 Given that the statutory authorization for the challenges exercised in this case is clear, the remainder of our state
43 action analysis centers around the second part of the Lugar test, whether a private litigant, in all fairness, must
44 be deemed a government actor in the use of peremptory challenges. Although we have recognized that this aspect
45 of the analysis is often a fact-bound inquiry, see Lugar, supra, 457 U.S. at 939, our cases disclose certain
46 *principles of general application. Our precedents establish that, in determining whether a particular action or
47 course of conduct is governmental in character, it is relevant to examine the following: the extent to which the
48 actor relies on governmental assistance and benefits, see Tulsa Professional Collection Services, Inc. v. Pope,
49 485 U.S. 478 (1988); Burton v. Wilmington Parking Authority, 365 U.S. 715 (1961); whether the actor is
50 performing a traditional governmental function, see Terry v. Adams, 345 U.S. 461 (1953); Marsh v. Alabama,
51 326 U.S. 501 (1946); cf. San Francisco Arts & Athletics, Inc. v. United States Olympic [500 U.S. 614, 622]
52 Committee, 483 U.S. 522, 544 -545 (1987); and whether the injury caused is aggravated in a unique way by the
53 incidents of governmental authority, see Shelley v. Kraemer, 334 U.S. 1 (1948). Based on our application of these
54 three principles to the circumstances here, we hold that the exercise of peremptory challenges by the defendant
55 in the District Court was pursuant to a course of state action.
56 [Edmonson v. Leesville Concrete Company, 500 U.S. 614 (1991)]

1 The phrase “subject only to the constraints of statutory or decisional law” refers ONLY to statutes or court decisions that 2 pertain to licensed or privileged activities or franchises, all of which:

- 3 1. Cause the licensee or franchisee to represent a “public office” and work for the government.
- 4 2. Cause the licensee or franchisee to act in a representative capacity as an officer of the government, which is a federal 5 corporation and therefore he or she becomes an “officer or employee of a corporation” acting in a representative capacity.
6 See 26 U.S.C. §6671(b) and 26 U.S.C. §7434, which both define a “person” within the I.R.C. criminal and penalty
7 provisions as an officer or employee of a corporation.
- 8 3. Change the effective domicile of the “office” or “public office” of the licensee or franchisee to federal territory pursuant 9 to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b), 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(39), and 26 U.S.C. §7408(d).

10 IV. PARTIES > Rule 17.
11 \(b\) Capacity to Sue or be Sued.

12 Capacity to sue or be sued is determined as follows:

- 13 (1) for an individual who is not acting in a representative capacity, by the law of the individual's domicile;
- 14 (2) for a corporation [or the officers or “public officers” of the corporation], by the law under which it was 15 organized; and
- 16 (3) for all other parties, by the law of the state where the court is located, except that:
 - 17 (A) a partnership or other unincorporated association with no such capacity under that state's law may sue or
18 be sued in its common name to enforce a substantive right existing under the United States Constitution or
19 laws; and
 - 20 (B) 28 U.S.C. §§754 and 959(a) govern the capacity of a receiver appointed by a United States court to sue or 21 be sued in a United States court.

22 4. Create a “res” or “office” which is the subject of federal legislation and a “person” or “individual” within federal statutes.
23 For instance, the definition of “individual” within 5 U.S.C. §552(a)(2) reveals that it is a government employee with a
24 domicile in the statutory “United States”, which is federal territory. Notice that the statute below is in Title 5, which is
25 “Government Organization and Employees”, and that “citizens and residents of the United States” share in common a
26 legal domicile on federal territory. An “individual” is an officer of the government, and not a natural man or woman.
27 The office is the “individual”, and not the man or woman who fills it:

28 TITLE 5 > PART 1 > CHAPTER 5 > SUBCHAPTER II > § 552a
29 § 552a. Records maintained on individuals

30 (a) Definitions.— For purposes of this section—

31 (2) the term “individual” means a citizen of the United States or an alien lawfully admitted for permanent 32 residence;

33 If you don’t maintain a domicile on federal territory, which is called the “United States” in the U.S. Code, or you don’t work
34 for the government by participating in its franchises, then the government has NO AUTHORITY to even keep records on 35 you under the authority of the Privacy Act and you would be committing perjury under penalty of perjury to call yourself an 36 “individual” on a government form. Why? Because you are the sovereign and the sovereign is not the subject of the law,
37 but the author of the law!

38 “Since in common usage, the term person does not include the sovereign, statutes not employing the phrase are 39 ordinarily construed to exclude it.”
40 [United States v. Cooper Corporation, 312 U.S. 600 (1941)]

41 “There is no such thing as a power of inherent Sovereignty in the government of the United States. In this country
42 sovereignty resides in the People, and Congress can exercise no power which they have not, by their Constitution*
43 entrusted to it: All else is withheld.”
44 [Juilliard v. Greenman, 110 U.S. 421 (1884)]

45 “Sovereignty itself is, of course, not subject to law for it is the author and source of law;”
46 [Yick Wo v. Hopkins, 118 U.S. 356 (1886)]

47 “Under our form of government, the legislature is NOT supreme. It is only one of the organs of that ABSOLUTE
48 SOVEREIGNTY which resides in the whole body of the PEOPLE; like other bodies of the government, it can only
49 exercise such powers as have been delegated to it, and when it steps beyond that boundary, its acts.. are utterly 50 VOID.”

1 [Billings v. Hall, 7 CA. 1]

2 "In Europe, the executive is synonymous with the sovereign power of a state...where it is too commonly acquired
3 by force or fraud, or both...In America, however the case is widely different. Our government is founded upon
4 compact. Sovereignty was, and is, in the people.
5 [The Betsy, 3 Dall 6]

6 In summary, the only way the government can control you through civil law is to connect you to public conduct or a "public
7 office" within the government executed on federal territory. If they are asserting jurisdiction that you believe they don't 8 have, it is probably because:

- 9 1. You misrepresented your domicile as being on federal territory within the "United States" or the "State of ___" by 10 declaring yourself to be either a statutory "U.S. citizen" pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §1401 or a statutory "resident" (alien)
11 pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A). This made you subject to their laws and put you into a privileged state.
- 12 2. You filled out a government application for a franchise, which includes government benefits, professional licenses, 13 driver's licenses, marriage licenses, etc.
- 14 3. Someone else filed a document with the government which connected you to a franchise, even though you never 15 consented to participate in the franchise. For instance, IRS information returns such as W-2, 1042S, 1098, and 1099
16 presumptively connect you to a "trade or business" in the U.S. government pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §6041. A "trade or 17 business" is then defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26) as "the functions of a public office". The only way to prevent this 18 evidence from creating a liability under the franchise agreement provisions is to rebut it promptly. See:

Correcting Erroneous Information Returns, Form #04.001

19 5.6 The PUBLIC You (straw man) vs. the PRIVATE You (human)

20 It is extremely important to know the difference between PRIVATE and PUBLIC "persons", because we all have private and 21 public identities. This division of our identities is recognized in the following maxim of law:

22 Quando duo juro concurrunt in und personâ, aequum est ac si essent in diversis.
23 *When two rights [public right v. private right] concur in one person, it is the same as if they were two separate
24 persons. 4 Co. 118.
25 [Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856);
26 SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviersMaxims.htm>]

27 The U.S. Supreme Court also recognizes the division of PUBLIC v. PRIVATE:

28 "A private person cannot make constitutions or laws, nor can he with authority construe them, nor can he 29 administer or execute them."
30 [United States v. Harris, 106 U.S. 629, 1 S.Ct. 601, 27 L.Ed. 290 (1883)]

31 "All the powers of the government [including ALL of its civil enforcement powers against the public] must be
32 carried into operation by individual agency, either through the medium of public officers, or contracts made
33 with [private] individuals."
34 [Osborn v. Bank of U.S., 22 U.S. 738 (1824); In the headnotes. Not in the ruling]
35

36 "...we are of the opinion that there is a clear distinction in this particular between an [PRIVATE] individual
37 and a [PUBLIC] corporation, and that the latter has no right to refuse to submit its books and papers for an
38 examination at the suit of the state. The individual may stand upon his constitutional rights as a citizen. He is
39 entitled to carry on his private business in his own way. His power to contract is unlimited. He owes no duty to
40 the state or to his neighbors to divulge his business, or to open his doors to an investigation, so far as it may
41 tend to criminate him. He owes no such duty to the state, since he receives nothing therefrom, beyond the
42 protection of his life and property. His rights are such as existed by the law of the land long antecedent to the
43 organization of the state, and can only be taken from him by due process of law, and in accordance with the
44 Constitution. Among his rights are a refusal to incriminate himself, and the immunity of himself and his
45 property from arrest or seizure except under a warrant of the law. He owes nothing to the public so long as he
46 does not trespass upon their rights.

47 "Upon the other hand, the [PUBLIC] corporation is a creature of the state. It is presumed to be incorporated
48 for the benefit of the public. It receives certain special privileges and franchises, and holds them subject to the
49 laws of the state and the limitations of its charter. Its powers are limited by law. It can make no contract not
50 authorized by its charter. Its rights to [201 U.S. 43, 75] act as a corporation are only preserved to it so long
51 as it obeys the laws of its creation. There is a reserved right in the legislature to investigate its contracts and

1 find out whether it has exceeded its powers. It would be a strange anomaly to hold that a state, having chartered
2 a corporation to make use of certain franchises, could not, in the exercise of its sovereignty, inquire how these
3 franchises had been employed, and whether they had been abused, and demand the production of the corporate
4 books and papers for that purpose. The defense amounts to this: That an officer of a corporation which is charged
5 with a criminal violation of the statute, may plead the criminality of such corporation as a refusal to produce its
6 books. To state this proposition is to answer it. While an individual may lawfully refuse to answer incriminating
7 questions unless protected by an immunity statute, it does not follow that a corporation, vested with special
8 privileges and franchises, may refuse to show its hand when charged with an abuse of such privileges. "
9 [Hale v. Henkel, 201 U.S. 43 (1906)]

10 The next time you are in court as a PRIVATE person, here are some questions for the next jury, judge, or government
11 prosecutor trying to enforce a civil obligation upon you as a PRESUMED public officer called a "citizen", "resident",
12 "person", or "taxpayer":

- 13 1. How do you, a PRIVATE human, "OBEY" a law without "EXECUTING" it? We'll give you a hint: It CAN'T BE 14 DONE!
- 15 2. What "public office" or franchise does the government claim to have "created" and therefore have the right to control
16 in the context of my otherwise exclusively PRIVATE property and PRIVATE rights under the Constitution?
- 17 3. Who is the "customer" in the context of the IRS: The STATUTORY "taxpayer" public office or the PRIVATE human 18 filling the office?
- 19 4. Who gets to define what a "benefit" is in the context of "customers"? Isn't it the human volunteering to be surety for 20 the "taxpayer" office and not the government grantor of the public office franchise?
- 21 5. What if I as the human compelled to become surety for the office define that compulsion as an INJURY rather than a 22 BENEFIT? Does that "end the privilege" and the jurisdiction to tax and regulate?
- 23 6. Does the national government claim the right to create franchises within a constitutional state in order to tax them?
24 The Constitution says they CANNOT and that this is an "invasion" within the meaning of Article 4, Section 4 of the 25 Constitution:

26 *"Thus, Congress having power to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States, and
27 with the Indian tribes, may, without doubt, provide for granting coasting licenses, licenses to pilots, licenses to
28 trade with the Indians, and any other licenses necessary or proper for the exercise of that great and extensive
29 power; and the same observation is applicable to every other power of Congress, to the exercise of which the 30 granting of licenses may be incident. All such licenses confer authority, and give rights to the licensee.*

31 *But very different considerations apply to the internal commerce or domestic trade of the States. Over this
32 commerce and trade Congress has no power of regulation nor any direct control. This power belongs
33 exclusively to the States. No interference by Congress with the business of citizens transacted within a State
34 is warranted by the Constitution, except such as is strictly incidental to the exercise of powers clearly
35 granted to the legislature. The power to authorize a business within a State is plainly repugnant to the exclusive
36 power of the State over the same subject. It is true that the power of Congress to tax is a very extensive power. It
37 is given in the Constitution, with only one exception and only two qualifications. Congress cannot tax exports,
38 and it must impose direct taxes by the rule of apportionment, and indirect taxes by the rule of uniformity. Thus 39 limited, and thus only, it reaches every subject, and may be exercised at discretion. But, it reaches only existing 40 subjects. Congress cannot authorize a trade or business within a State in order to tax it."
41 [License Tax Cases, 72 U.S. 462, 18 L.Ed. 497, 5 Wall. 462, 2 A.F.T.R. 2224 (1866)]*

- 42 7. Isn't a judge compelling you to violate your religious beliefs by compelling you to serve in a public office or accept the 43 DUTES of the office? Isn't this a violation of the First Commandment NOT to serve "other gods", which can and does 44 mean civil rulers or governments?

45 *But the thing displeased Samuel when they said, "Give us a king to judge us." So Samuel prayed to the Lord.
46 And the Lord said to Samuel, "Heed the voice of the people in all that they say to you; for they have rejected
47 Me [God], that I should not reign over them. According to all the works which they have done since the day that
48 I brought them up out of Egypt, even to this day—with which they have forsaken Me and served other gods
49 [Kings, in this case]—so they are doing to you also [government becoming idolatry]. Now therefore, heed their
50 voice. However, you shall solemnly forewarn them, and show them the behavior of the king who will reign
51 over them."*
52 [1 Sam. 8:6-9, Bible, NKJV]

- 53 8. How can one UNILATERALLY ELECT themselves into public office by filling out a government form? The form
54 isn't even signed by anyone in the government, such as a tax form or social security application, and therefore couldn't
55 POSSIBLY be a valid contract anyway? Isn't this a FRAUD upon the United States and criminal bribery, using illegal
56 "withholdings" to bribe someone to TREAT you as a public officer? See 18 U.S.C. §211.

1 9. How can a judge enforce civil statutory law that only applies to public officers without requiring proof on the record
2 that you are CONSENSUALLY and LAWFULLY engaged in a public office? In other words, that you waived
3 sovereign immunity by entering into a contract with the government.

4 "It is true, that the person who accepts an office may be supposed to enter into a compact to be answerable to
5 the government, which he serves, for any violation of his duty; and, having taken the oath of office, he would
6 unquestionably be liable, in such case, to a prosecution for perjury in the Federal Courts. But because one
7 man, by his own act [CONSENT], renders himself amenable to a particular jurisdiction, shall another man,
8 who has not incurred a similar obligation, be implicated? If, in other words, it is sufficient to vest a jurisdiction
9 in this court, that a Federal Officer is concerned; if it is a sufficient proof of a case arising under a law of the
10 United States to affect other persons, that such officer is bound, by law, to discharge his duty with fidelity; a
11 source of jurisdiction is opened, which must inevitably overflow and destroy all the barriers between the judicial
12 authorities of the State and the general government. Anything which can prevent a Federal Officer from the
13 punctual, as well as from an impartial, performance of his duty; an assault and battery; or the recovery of a debt,
14 as well as the offer of a bribe, may be made a foundation of the jurisdiction of this court; and, considering the
15 constant disposition of power to extend the sphere of its influence, fictions will be resorted to, when real cases
16 cease to occur. A mere fiction, that the defendant is in the custody of the marshal, has rendered the jurisdiction
17 of the King's Bench universal in all personal actions."

20 10. Isn't this involuntary servitude in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment to serve in a public office if you DON'T 21 consent and they won't let you TALK about the ABSENCE of your consent?

22 11. Isn't it a violation of due process of law to PRESUME that you are public officer WITHOUT EVIDENCE on the 23 record from an unbiased witness who has no financial interest in the outcome?

24 "A presumption is an assumption of fact that the law requires to be made from another fact or group of facts
25 found or otherwise established in the action. A presumption is not evidence."

26 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1185]

27
28 "If any question of fact or liability be conclusively be presumed [rather than proven] against him, this is not
29 due process of law. [. . .] the presumption of innocence under which guilt must be proven by legally obtained
30 evidence and the verdict must be supported by the evidence presented; rights at the earliest stage of the criminal 31 process; and the guarantee that an individual will not be tried more than once for the same offence (double 32 jeopardy).

33 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 500]

34
35 "A presumption is neither evidence nor a substitute for evidence."⁴²

36 [American Jurisprudence 2d, Evidence, §181 (1999)]

37 12. If the judge won't enforce the requirement that the government as moving party has the burden of proving WITH 38 EVIDENCE that you were LAWFULLY "appointed or elected" to a public office, aren't you therefore PRESUMED to 39 be EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE and therefore beyond the reach of the civil statutory law?

40 13. Isn't the judge criminally obstructing justice to interfere with requiring evidence on the record that you lawfully
41 occupy a public office? See 18 U.S.C. §1503, whereby the judge is criminally "influencing" the PUBLIC you.

42 14. Isn't an unsupported presumption that prejudices a PRIVATE right a violation of the Constitution and doesn't the
43 rights that UNCONSTITUTIONAL presumption prejudicially conveys to the government constitute a taking of rights
44 without just compensation in violation of the Fifth Amendment Takings Clause?

45 15. Don't the rights that UNCONSTITUTIONAL presumptions prejudicially convey to the government constitute a taking 46 of rights without just compensation in violation of the Fifth Amendment Takings Clause?

47 16. By what authority does the judge impose federal civil law within a constitutional state of the Union because:

48 16.1. Constitutional states are legislatively but not constitutionally foreign jurisdiction.

49 16.2. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b) requires that those with a domicile outside of federal territory cannot be 50 sued under federal law.

51 16.3. The Rules of Decision Act, 28 U.S.C. §1652 dictates that state rather than federal law applies.

⁴² Levasseur v. Field (Me), 332 A.2d. 765; Hinds v. John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co., 155 Me 349, 155 A.2d. 721, 85 A.L.R.2d. 703 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Poitras v. R. E. Glidden Body Shop, Inc. (Me) 430 A.2d. 1113); Connizzo v. General American Life Ins. Co. (Mo App), 520 S.W.2d. 661.

1 16.4. National franchises and the PRIVATE law that implements them cannot be offered or enforced within
2 constitutional states per License Tax Cases, 72 U.S. 462, 18 L.Ed. 497, 5 Wall. 462, 2 A.F.T.R. 2224 (1866).

3 17. Even if we ARE lawfully serving in a public office, don't we have the right to:

4 17.1. Be off duty?

5 17.2. Choose WHEN we want to be off duty?

6 17.3. Choose WHAT financial transactions we want to connect to the office?

7 17.4. Be protected in NOT volunteering to connect a specific activity to the public office? Governments LIE by calling
8 something "voluntary" and yet refusing to protect those who do NOT consent to "volunteer", don't they?

9 17.5. Not be coerced to sign up for OTHER, unrelated public offices when we sign up for a single office? For instance,
10 do we have a right not become a FEDERAL officer when we sign up for a STATE "driver license" and "public
11 office" that ALSO requires us to have a Social Security Number to get the license, and therefore to ALSO 12 become a FEDERAL officer at the same time.

13 If the answer to all the above is NO, then there ARE no PRIVATE rights or PRIVATE property and there IS no
14 "government" because governments only protect PRIVATE rights and private property!

15 We'd love to hear a jury, judge, or prosecutor address this subject before they hall him away in a straight jacket to the nuthouse
16 because of a completely irrational and maybe even criminal answer.

17 The next time you end up in front of a judge or government attorney enforcing a civil statute against you, you might want to 18 insist on proof in the record during the process of challenging jurisdiction as a defendant or respondent:

19 1. WHICH of the two "persons" they are addressing or enforcing against.

20 2. How the two statuses, PUBLIC v. PRIVATE, became connected.

21 3. What specific act of EXPRESS consent connected the two. PRESUMPTION alone on the part of government can't. A
22 presumption that the two became connected WITHOUT consent is an unconstitutional eminent domain in violation of 23 the Fifth Amendment Takings Clause.

24 In a criminal trial, such a question would be called a "bill of particulars".

25 We can handle private and public affairs from the private, but we cannot handle private affairs from the public. The latter is 26 one of the biggest mistakes many people make when trying to handle their commercial and lawful (private) or legal (public)
27 affairs. Those who use PUBLIC property for PRIVATE gain in fact are STEALING and such stealing has always been a 28 crime.

29 In law, all rights attach to LAND, and all privileges attach to one's STATUS under voluntary civil franchises. An example
30 of privileged statuses include "taxpayer" (under the tax code), "person", "individual", "driver" (under the vehicle code),
31 "spouse" (under the family code). Rights are PRIVATE, PRIVILEGES are PUBLIC.

32 In our society, the PRIVATE "straw man" was created by the application for the birth certificate. It is a legal person under 33 contract law and under the Uniform Commercial Code (U.C.C.), with capacity to sue or be sued under the common law. It
34 is PRIVATE PROPERTY of the human being described in the birth certificate.

35 The PUBLIC officer "straw man" (e.g. statutory "taxpayer") was created by the SSA Form SS-5, Application for the Social 36 Security Card. It is a privileged STATUS under an unconstitutional national franchise of the de facto government. It is 37 PROPERTY of the national government. The PUBLIC "straw man" is thoroughly described in:

Proof that There Is a "Straw Man", Form #05.042

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

38 The PRIVATE "John Doe" is a statutory "non-resident non-person" not engaged in the "trade or business"/PUBLIC
39 OFFICER franchise in relation to the PUBLIC. He exists in the republic and is a free inhabitant under the Articles of 40 Confederation. He has inalienable rights and unlimited liabilities. Those unlimited liabilities are described in

The Unlimited Liability Universe

<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Spirituality/Articles/UnlimitedLiabilityUniverse.htm>

1 The PUBLIC "JOHN DOE" is a public office in the government corporation and statutory "U.S. citizen" per 8 U.S.C. §1401,
2 26 U.S.C. §3121(e), and 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c). He exists in the privileged socialist democracy. He has "benefits", franchises,
3 obligations, immunities, and limited liability.

4 In the PRIVATE, money is an ASSET and always in the form of something that has intrinsic value, i.e. gold or silver. Payment
5 for anything is in the form of commercial set off.

6 In the PUBLIC, money is a LIABILITY or debt and normally takes the form of a promissory note, i.e. a Federal Reserve
7 Note (FRN), a check, bond or note. Payment is in the form of discharge in the future.

8 The PRIVATE realm is the basis for all contract and commerce under the Uniform Commercial Code (U.C.C.). The PUBLIC
9 realm was created by the bankruptcy of the PRIVATE entity. Generally, creditors can operate from the PRIVATE. PUBLIC
10 entities are all debtors (or slaves). The exercise of the right to contract by the PRIVATE straw man makes human beings into 11 SURETY for the PUBLIC straw man.

12 Your judicious exercise of your right to contract and the requirement for consent that protects it is the main thing that keeps 13 the PUBLIC separate from the PRIVATE. See:

Requirement for Consent, Form #05.003
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

franchise granted without consideration is not a contract binding upon the state, franchisee, or pseudo-franchisee.⁴⁴ “
[36 American Jurisprudence 2d, Franchises, §6: As a Contract (1999)]

Franchises include Social Security, income taxation (“trade or business”/public office franchise), unemployment insurance, driver licensing (“driver” franchise), and marriage licensing (“spouse” franchise).

“You shall make no covenant [contract or franchise] with them [foreigners, pagans], nor with their [pagan government] gods [laws or judges]. They shall not dwell in your land [and you shall not dwell in theirs by becoming a “resident” or domiciliary in the process of contracting with them], lest they make you sin against Me [God]. For if you serve their [government] gods [under contract or agreement or franchise], it will surely be a snare to you.”
[Exodus 23:32-33, Bible, NKJV]

Governments become corrupt by:

1. Refusing to recognize the PRIVATE.
2. Undermining or interfering with the invocation of the common law in courts of justice.
3. Allowing false information returns to be abused to convert the PRIVATE into the PUBLIC without the consent of the owner.
4. Destroying or undermining remedies for the protection of PRIVATE rights.
5. Replacing CONSTITUTIONAL courts with LEGISLATIVE FRANCHISE courts.
6. Making judges into statutory franchisees such as “taxpayers”, through which they are compelled to have a conflict of interest that ultimately destroys or undermines all private rights. This is a crime and a civil offense in violation of 18 U.S.C. §208, 28 U.S.C. §144, and 28 U.S.C. §455.
7. Offering or enforcing government franchises to people not domiciled on federal territory. This breaks down the separation of powers and enforces franchise law extraterritorially.
8. Abusing “words of art” to blur or confuse the separation between the PUBLIC and the PRIVATE. (deception)
9. Removing the domicile prerequisite for participation in government franchises through policy and not law, thus converting them into essentially PRIVATE business ventures that operate entirely through the right to contract.
10. Abusing sovereign immunity to protect PRIVATE government business ventures, thus destroying competition and implementing a state-sponsored monopoly.
11. Refusing to criminally prosecute those who compel participation in government franchises.
12. Turning citizenship into a statutory franchise, and thus causing people who claim citizen status to unwittingly become PUBLIC officers.
13. Allowing presumption to be used as a substitute for evidence in any proceeding to enforce government franchises against an otherwise PRIVATE party. This violates due process of law, unfairly advantages the government, and imputes to the government supernatural powers as an object of religious worship.

Therefore, it is important to learn how to be EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE and a CREDITOR in all of our affairs. Freedom is possible in the PRIVATE; it is not even a valid fantasy in the realm of the PUBLIC.

Below is a summary:

Table 11: Public v. Private

| # | Characteristic | Private | Public |
|---|-----------------------------|---|--|
| 1 | Name | “John Doe” | “JOHN DOE” (idemsonans) |
| 2 | Created by | Birth certificate | Application for SS Card, Form SS-5 |
| 3 | Property of | Human being | Government |
| 4 | Protected by | Common law | Statutory franchises |
| 5 | Type of rights exercised | Private rights Constitutional rights | Public rights Statutory privileges |
| 6 | Rights/privileges attach to | LAND you stand on | Statutory STATUS under a voluntary civil franchise |

|----|---|---|---|
| 7 | Courts which protect or vindicate rights/privileges | Constitutional courts under Article III in the true Judicial Branch | Legislative administrative franchise courts under Articles 1 and IV in the Executive Branch. |
| 8 | Domiciled on | Private property | Public property/federal territory |
| 9 | Commercial standing | Creditor | Debtor |
| 10 | Money | Gold and silver | Promissory note (debt instrument) |
| 11 | Sovereign being worshipped/obeyed | God | Governments and political rulers (The Beast, Rev. 19:19). Paganism |
| 12 | Purpose of government | Protect PRIVATE rights | Expand revenues and control over the populace and consolidate all rights and sovereignty to itself |
| 13 | Government consists of | Body POLITIC (PRIVATE) and body CORPORATE (PUBLIC) | Body CORPORATE (PUBLIC) only . All those in the body POLITIC are converted into officers of the corporation by abusing franchises. |

1 5.7 The Ability to Regulate Private Rights and Private Conduct is Repugnant to the Constitution

2 The following cite establishes that private rights and private property are entirely beyond the control of the government:

3 When one becomes a member of society, he necessarily parts with some rights or privileges which, as an
4 individual not affected by his relations to others, he might retain. "A body politic," as aptly defined in the
5 preamble of the Constitution of Massachusetts, "is a social compact by which the whole people covenants with
6 each citizen, and each citizen with the whole people, that all shall be governed by certain laws for the common
7 good." This does not confer power upon the whole people to control rights which are purely and exclusively
8 private, Thorpe v. R. & B. Railroad Co., 27 Vt. 143; but it does authorize the establishment of laws requiring
9 each citizen to so conduct himself, and so use his own property, as not unnecessarily to injure another. This is
10 *the very essence of government, and 125*125 has found expression in the maxim sic utere tuo ut alienum non*
11 laedas. From this source come the police powers, which, as was said by Mr. Chief Justice Taney in the License
12 Cases, 5 How. 583, "are nothing more or less than the powers of government inherent in every sovereignty. . .
13 that is to say, . . . the power to govern men and things." Under these powers the government regulates the
14 conduct of its citizens one towards another, and the manner in which each shall use his own property, when such
15 regulation becomes necessary for the public good. In their exercise it has been customary in England from time
16 immemorial, and in this country from its first colonization, to regulate ferries, common carriers, hackmen, bakers,
17 millers, wharfingers, innkeepers, &c., and in so doing to fix a maximum of charge to be made for services
18 rendered, accommodations furnished, and articles sold. To this day, statutes are to be found in many of the States
19 upon some or all these subjects; and we think it has never yet been successfully contended that such legislation
20 came within any of the constitutional prohibitions against interference with private property. With the Fifth
21 Amendment in force, Congress, in 1820, conferred power upon the city of Washington "to regulate . . . the rates
22 of wharfage at private wharves, . . . the sweeping of chimneys, and to fix the rates of fees therefor, . . . and the
23 weight and quality of bread," 3 Stat. 587, sect. 7; and, in 1848, "to make all necessary regulations respecting
24 hackney carriages and the rates of fare of the same, and the rates of hauling by cartmen, wagoners, carmen, and
25 draymen, and the rates of commission of auctioneers," 9 id. 224, sect. 2.
26 [Munn v. Illinois, 94 U.S. 113 (1876),
27 SOURCE: http://scholar.google.com/scholar_case?case=6419197193322400931]

28 Notice that they say that the ONLY basis to regulate private rights is to prevent injury of one man to another by the use of 29 said property. They say that this authority is the origin of the "police powers" of the state. What they hide, however, is that
30 these same POLICE POWERS involve the CRIMINAL laws and EXCLUDE the CIVIL laws or even franchises. You can
31 TELL they are trying to hide something because around this subject they invoke the Latin language that is unknown to most 32 Americans to conceal the nature of what they are doing. Whenever anyone invokes Latin in a legal setting, a red flag ought 33 to go up because you KNOW they are trying to hide a KEY fact. Here is the Latin they invoked:

34 "sic utere tuo ut alienum non laedas"

35 The other phrase to notice in the Munn case above is the use of the word "social compact". A compact is legally defined as 36 a contract.

37 "Compact, n. An agreement or contract between persons, nations, or states. Commonly applied to working
38 agreements between and among states concerning matters of mutual concern. A contract between parties, which
39 creates obligations and rights capable of being enforced and contemplated as such between the parties, in their

1 distinct and independent characters. A mutual consent of parties concerned respecting some property or right
2 that is the object of the stipulation, or something that is to be done or forborne. See also Compact clause;
3 Confederacy; Interstate compact; Treaty."
4 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 281]

5 Therefore, one cannot exercise their First Amendment right to legally associate with or contract with a SOCIETY and thereby
6 become a party to the "social compact/contract" without ALSO becoming a STATUTORY "citizen". By statutory citizen,
7 we really mean a domiciliary of a SPECIFIC municipal jurisdiction, and not someone who was born or naturalized in that 8 place. Hence, by STATUTORY citizen we mean a person who:

- 9 1. Has voluntarily chosen a civil domicile within a specific municipal jurisdiction and thereby become a "citizen" or 10 "resident" of said jurisdiction. "citizens" or "residents" collectively are called "inhabitants".
- 11 2. Has indicated their choice of domicile on government forms in the block called "residence" or "permanent address".
- 12 3. CONSENTS to be protected by the regional civil laws of a SPECIFIC municipal government.

13 A CONSTITUTIONAL citizen, on the other hand, is someone who cannot consent to choose the place of their birth. These
14 people in federal statutes are called "non-residents". Neither BEING BORN nor being PHYSICALLY PRESENT in a place
15 is an express exercise of one's discretion or an act of CONSENT, and therefore cannot make one a government contractor
16 called a statutory "U.S. citizen". That is why birth or naturalization determines nationality but not their status under the 17 CIVIL laws. All civil jurisdiction is based on "consent of the governed", as the Declaration of Independence indicates. Those 18 who do NOT consent to the civil laws that implement the social compact of the municipal government they are 19 PHYSICALLY situated within are called "free inhabitants", "nonresidents", "transient foreigners", or "foreign sovereigns".
20 These "free inhabitants" are mentioned in the Articles of Confederation, which continue to this day and they are NOT the 21 same and mutually exclusive to a statutory "U.S. citizen". These "free inhabitants" instead are CIVILLY governed by the 22 common law RATHER than the civil law.

23 Police men are NOT allowed to involve themselves in CIVIL disputes and may ONLY intervene or arrest anyone when a
24 CRIME has been committed. They CANNOT arrest for an "infraction", which is a word designed to hide the fact that the 25 statute being enforced is a CIVIL or FRANCHISE statute not involving the CRIMINAL "police powers". Hence, civil 26 jurisdiction over PRIVATE rights is NOT authorized among those who HAVE such rights. Only those who know those 27 rights and claim and enforce them, not through attorneys but in their proper person, have such rights. Nor can those PRIVATE 28 rights lawfully be surrendered to a REAL, de jure government, even WITH consent, if they are, in fact UNALIENABLE as 29 the Declaration of Independence indicates.

30 "Unalienable. Inalienable; incapable of being aliened, that is, sold and transferred."
31 [Black's Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, p. 1693]

32 The only people who can consent to give away a right are those who HAVE no rights because domiciled on federal territory
33 not protected by the Constitution or the Bill of Rights:

34 "Indeed, the practical interpretation put by Congress upon the Constitution has been long continued and uniform
35 to the effect [182 U.S. 244, 279] that the Constitution is applicable to territories acquired by purchase or
36 conquest, only when and so far as Congress shall so direct. Notwithstanding its duty to 'guarantee to every
37 state in this Union a republican form of government' (art. 4, 4), by which we understand, according to the
38 definition of Webster, 'a government in which the supreme power resides in the whole body of the people, and
39 is exercised by representatives elected by them,' Congress did not hesitate, in the original organization of the
40 territories of Louisiana, Florida, the Northwest Territory, and its subdivisions of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan,
41 Illinois, and Wisconsin and still more recently in the case of Alaska, to establish a form of government bearing
42 a much greater analogy to a British Crown colony than a republican state of America, and to vest the legislative
43 power either in a governor and council, or a governor and judges, to be appointed by the President. It was not
44 until they had attained a certain population that power was given them to organize a legislature by vote of the
45 people. In all these cases, as well as in territories subsequently organized west of the Mississippi, Congress
46 thought it necessary either to extend to Constitution and laws of the United States over them, or to declare that
47 the inhabitants should be entitled to enjoy the right of jury, of bail, and of the privilege of the writ of
48 habeas corpus, as well as other privileges of the bill of rights."
49 [Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901)]

50 To apply these concepts, the police enforce the "vehicle code", but most of the vehicle code is a civil franchise that they may 51 NOT enforce without ABUSING the police powers of the state. In recognition of these concepts, the civil provisions of the 52 vehicle code are called "infractions" rather than "crimes". AND, before the civil provisions of the vehicle code may lawfully
53 be enforced against those using the public roadways, one must be a "resident" with a domicile not within the state, but on

1 federal territory where rights don't exist. All civil law attaches to SPECIFIC territory. That is why by applying for a driver's
2 license, most state vehicle codes require that the person must be a "resident" of the state, meaning a person with a domicile
3 within the statutory but not Constitutional "United States", meaning federal territory.

4 So what the vehicle codes in most states do is mix CRIMINAL and CIVIL and even PRIVATE franchise law all into one
5 title of code, call it the "Vehicle code", and make it extremely difficult for even the most law abiding "citizen" to distinguish
6 which provisions are CIVIL/FRANCHISES and which are CRIMINAL, because they want to put the police force to an
7 UNLAWFUL use enforcing CIVIL rather than CRIMINAL law. This has the practical effect of making the "CODE" not
8 only a deception, but void for vagueness on its face, because it fails to give reasonable notice to the public at large, WHICH 9 specific provisions pertain to EACH subset of the population. That in fact, is why they have to call it "the code", rather than 10 simply "law": Because the truth is encrypted and hidden in order to unlawfully expand their otherwise extremely limited
11 civil jurisdiction. The two subsets of the population who they want to confuse and mix together in order to undermine your 12 sovereignty are:

- 13 1. Those who consent to the "social compact" by choosing a domicile or residence within a specific municipal 14 jurisdiction. These people are identified by the following statutory terms:
 - 15 1.1. Individuals.
 - 16 1.2. Residents.
 - 17 1.3. Citizens.
 - 18 1.4. Inhabitants.
 - 19 1.5. PUBLIC officers serving as an instrumentality of the government.
- 20 2. Those who do NOT consent to the "social compact" and who therefore are called:
 - 21 2.1. Free inhabitants.
 - 22 2.2. Nonresidents.
 - 23 2.3. Transient foreigners.
 - 24 2.4. Sojourners.
 - 25 2.5. EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE human beings beyond the reach of the civil statutes implementing the social 26 compact.

27 So how can they reach those in constitutional states with the vehicle code who are neither domiciled on federal territory nor 28 representing a public office that is domiciled there? The way they get around the problem of only being able to enforce the 29 CIVIL provisions of the vehicle code against domiciliaries of the federal zone is to:

- 30 1. Force those who apply for driver licenses to misrepresent their status so they appear as either statutory citizens or 31 public officers on official business. This is done using the "permanent address" block and requiring a Social Security 32 Number to get a license.
- 33 2. Confuse CONSTITUTIONAL "citizens" with STATUTORY "citizens", to make them appear the same even though 34 they are NOT.
- 35 3. Arrest people domiciled in constitutional states for driving WITHOUT a license, even though technically these 36 provisions can only be enforceable against those who are acting as a public officer WHILE driving AND who are 37 STATUTORY but not CONSTITUTIONAL "citizens". This creates the false appearance that EVERYONE must have 38 a license, rather than only those domiciled on federal territory or representing an office domiciled there.

39 The act of "governing" WITHOUT consent therefore implies CRIMINAL governing, not CIVIL governing. To procure
40 CIVIL jurisdiction over a private right requires the CONSENT of the owner of the right. That is why the U.S. Supreme Court
41 states in Munn the following:

42 "When one becomes a member of society, he necessarily parts with some rights or privileges which, as an 43 individual not affected by his relations to others, he might retain."
44 [Munn v. Illinois, 94 U.S. 113 (1876),
45 SOURCE: http://scholar.google.com/scholar_case?case=6419197193322400931]

46 Therefore, if one DOES NOT consent to join a "society" as a statutory citizen, he RETAINS those SOVEREIGN rights that 47 would otherwise be lost through the enforcement of the civil law. Here is how the U.S. Supreme Court describes this 48 requirement of law:

1 "Men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights,- 'life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness:'
2 and to 'secure,' not grant or create, these rights, governments are instituted. That property [or income] which a
3 man has honestly acquired he retains full control of, subject to these limitations:

4 [1] First, that he shall not use it to his neighbor's injury, and that does not mean that he must 5 use it for his neighbor's benefit [e.g. SOCIAL SECURITY, Medicare, and 6 every other public "benefit"];

7 [2] second, that if he devotes it to a public use, he gives to the public a right to control that use; and

8 [3] third, that whenever the public needs require, the public may take it upon payment of due compensation."
9 [Budd v. People of State of New York, 143 U.S. 517 (1892)]

10 A PRIVATE right that is unalienable cannot be given away, even WITH consent. Hence, the only people that any government
11 may CIVILLY govern are those without unalienable rights, all of whom MUST therefore be domiciled on federal territory
12 where CONSTITUTIONAL rights do not exist. Obviously, Congress may by legislation IRREVOCABLY extend the 13 protections of the Constitution to federal territory, but all federal territory is presumed to not be within the protections of the 14 Constitution unless and until Congress permits it.

15 Notice that when they are talking about "regulating" conduct using CIVIL law, all of a sudden they mention "citizens" instead
16 of ALL PEOPLE. These "citizens" are those with a DOMICILE within federal territory not protected by the Constitution:

17 "Under these powers the government regulates the conduct of its citizens one towards another, and the manner
18 in which each shall use his own property, when such regulation becomes necessary for the public good."

19 All statutory "citizens" that they can regulate therefore must be WITHIN the government and be acting as public officers.
20 Otherwise, they would continue to be PRIVATE parties beyond the CIVIL control of any government. Hence, in a 21 Republican Form of Government where the People are sovereign:

- 22 1. The only "subjects" under the civil law are public officers in the government.
- 23 2. The government is counted as a STATUTORY "citizen" but not a CONSTITUTIONAL "citizen". All 24 CONSTITUTIONAL citizens are human beings and CANNOT be artificial entities. All STATUTORY citizens, on the 25 other hand, are artificial entities and franchises and NOT CONSTITUTIONAL citizens.

26 "A corporation [the U.S. government, and all those who represent it as public officers, is a federal corporation
27 per 28 U.S.C. §3002(15)(A)] is a citizen, resident, or inhabitant of the state or country by or under the laws of 28 which it was created, and of that state or country only."
29 [19 Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Corporations, §886 (2003)]

30

31 Citizens of the United States within the meaning of this Amendment must be natural and not artificial
32 persons; a corporate body is not a citizen of the United States.¹⁴

33 ¹⁴ Insurance Co. v. New Orleans, 13 Fed. Cas. 67 (C.C.D.La. 1870). Not being citizens of the United States,
34 corporations accordingly have been declared unable "to claim the protection of that clause of the Fourteenth

36 impairment by the law of a State." Orient Ins. Co. v. Daggs, 172 U.S. 557, 561 (1869) . This conclusion was in
37 harmony with the earlier holding in Paul v. Virginia, 75 U.S. (8 Wall.) 168 (1869), to the effect that corporations
38 were not within the scope of the privileges and immunities clause of state citizenship set out in Article IV, Sec. 2.

- 44 3. The only statutory "citizens" are public offices in the government.
- 45 4. By serving in a public office, one becomes the same type of "citizen" as the GOVERNMENT is.

1 These observations are consistent with the very word roots that form the word "republic". The following video says the word
2 origin comes from "res publica", which means a collection of PUBLIC rights shared by the public. You must therefore JOIN
3 "the public" and become a public officer before you can partake of said PUBLIC right.

Overview of America, SEDM Liberty University, Section 2.3
<http://sedm.org/LibertyU/LibertyU.htm>

4 This gives a WHOLE NEW MEANING to Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, in which he refers to American 5 government as:

6 "A government of the people, by the people, and for the people."

7 You gotta volunteer as an uncompensated public officer for the government to CIVILLY govern you. Hence, the only thing
8 they can CIVILLY GOVERN, is the GOVERNMENT! Pretty sneaky, huh? Here is a whole memorandum of law on this
9 subject proving such a conclusion:

Why Statutory Civil Law is Law for Government and Not Private Persons, Form #05.037
FORMS PAGE: <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
DIRECT LINK: <http://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/StatLawGovt.pdf>

10 The other important point we wish to emphasize is that those who are EXCLUSIVELY private and therefore beyond the 11 reach of the civil law are:

- 12 1. Free inhabitants.
- 13 2. Not a statutory "person" under the civil law or franchise statute in question.
- 14 3. Not "individuals" under the CIVIL law if they are human beings. All statutory "individuals", in fact, are identified as 15 "employees" under 5 U.S.C. §2105(a). This is the ONLY statute that describes HOW one becomes a statutory 16 "individual" that we have been able to find.
- 17 4. "foreign", a "transient foreigner", and sovereign in respect to government CIVIL but not CRIMINAL jurisdiction.
- 18 5. NOT "subject to" but also not necessarily statutorily "exempt" under the civil or franchise statute in question.

19 For a VERY interesting background on the subject of this section, we recommend reading the following case:

Mugler v. Kansas, 123 U.S. 623 (1887)

20 5.8 "Public" v. "Private" employment: You Will Be ILLEGALLY Treated as a Public Officer if you Apply for 21 or Receive Government "Benefits"

22 "All systems either of preference or of restraint, therefore, being thus completely taken away, the obvious and 23 simple system of natural liberty establishes itself of its own accord. Every man, as long as he does not violate the 24 laws of justice, is left perfectly free to pursue his own interest his own way, and to bring both his industry and
25 capital into competition with those of any other man or order of men. The sovereign is completely discharged
26 from a duty, in the attempting to perform which he must always be exposed to innumerable delusions, and for the 27 proper performance of which no human wisdom or knowledge could ever be sufficient: the duty of superintending 28 the industry of private people."

29 [Adam Smith, An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations (1776)]

30 The U.S. Supreme Court has held many times that the ONLY purpose for lawful, constitutional taxation is to collect revenues
31 to support ONLY the machinery and operations of the government and its "employees". This purpose, it calls a "public use"
32 or "public purpose":

33 "The power to tax is, therefore, the strongest, the most pervading of all powers of government, reaching directly
34 or indirectly to all classes of the people. It was said by Chief Justice Marshall, in the case of McCulloch v.
35 Md., 4 Wheat. 431, that the power to tax is the power to destroy. A striking instance of the truth of the proposition
36 is seen in the fact that the existing tax of ten per cent, imposed by the United States on the circulation of all other
37 *banks than the National Banks, drove out of existence every state bank of circulation within a year or two after 38 its passage. This power can be readily employed against one class of individuals and in favor of another, so as 39 to ruin the one class and give unlimited wealth and prosperity to the other, if there is no implied limitation of the 40 uses for which the power may be exercised.

1 To lay, with one hand, the power of the government on the property of the citizen, and with the other to bestow
2 it upon favored individuals to aid private enterprises and build up private fortunes, is none the less a robbery
3 because it is done under the forms of law and is called taxation. This is not legislation. It is a decree under
4 legislative forms.

5 Nor is it taxation. 'A tax,' says Webster's Dictionary, 'is a rate or sum of money assessed on the person or
6 property of a citizen by government for the use of the nation or State.' 'Taxes are burdens or charges imposed
7 by the Legislature upon persons or property to raise money for public purposes.' Cooley, Const. Lim., 479.

8 Coulter, J., in Northern Liberties v. St. John's Church, 13 Pa.St. 104 says, very forcibly, 'I think the common
9 mind has everywhere taken in the understanding that taxes are a public imposition, levied by authority of the
10 government for the purposes of carrying on the government in all its machinery and operations—that they are
11 imposed for a public purpose.' See, also Pray v. Northern Liberties, 31 Pa.St. 69; Matter of Mayor of N.Y., 11
12 Johns., 77; Camden v. Allen, 2 Dutch., 398; Sharpless v. Mayor, supra; Hanson v. Vernon, 27 Ia. 47; Whiting v.
13 Fond du Lac, supra."
14 [Loan Association v. Topeka, 20 Wall. 655 (1874)]

15
16 "A tax, in the general understanding of the term and as used in the constitution, signifies an exaction for the 17 support of the government. The word has never thought to connote the expropriation of money from one group
18 for the benefit of another."
19 [U.S. v. Butler, 297 U.S. 1 (1936)]

20 Black's Law Dictionary defines the word "public purpose" as follows:

21 "Public purpose. In the law of taxation, eminent domain, etc., this is a term of classification to distinguish the
22 objects for which, according to settled usage, the government is to provide, from those which, by the like usage,
23 are left to private interest, inclination, or liberality. The constitutional requirement that the purpose of any tax,
24 police regulation, or particular exertion of the power of eminent domain shall be the convenience, safety, or
25 welfare of the entire community and not the welfare of a specific individual or class of persons [such as, for
26 instance, federal benefit recipients as individuals]. "Public purpose" that will justify expenditure of public money
27 generally means such an activity as will serve as benefit to community as a body and which at same time is directly
28 related function of government. Pack v. Southwestern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 215 Tenn. 503, 387 S.W.2d. 789, 794.

29 The term is synonymous with governmental purpose. As employed to denote the objects for which taxes may be
30 levied, it has no relation to the urgency of the public need or to the extent of the public benefit which is to follow;
31 the essential requisite being that a public service or use shall affect the inhabitants as a community, and not
32 merely as individuals. A public purpose or public business has for its objective the promotion of the public
33 health, safety, morals, general welfare, security, prosperity, and contentment of all the inhabitants or residents
34 within a given political division, as, for example, a state, the sovereign powers of which are exercised to promote
35 such public purpose or public business."
36 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1231, Emphasis added]

37 A related word defined in Black's Law Dictionary is "public use":

38 Public use. Eminent domain. The constitutional and statutory basis for taking property by eminent domain. For
39 condemnation purposes, "public use" is one which confers some benefit or advantage to the public; it is not
40 confined to actual use by public. It is measured in terms of right of public to use proposed facilities for which
41 condemnation is sought and, as long as public has right of use, whether exercised by one or many members of
42 public, a "public advantage" or "public benefit" accrues sufficient to constitute a public use. Montana Power
43 Co. v. Bokma, Mont., 457 P.2d. 769, 772, 773.

44 Public use, in constitutional provisions restricting the exercise of the right to take property in virtue of eminent
45 domain, means a use concerning the whole community distinguished from particular individuals. But each and
46 every member of society need not be equally interested in such use, or be personally and directly affected by it;
47 if the object is to satisfy a great public want or exigency, that is sufficient. Ringe Co. v. Los Angeles County, 262
48 U.S. 700, 43 S.Ct. 689, 692, 67 L.Ed. 1186. The term may be said to mean public usefulness, utility, or advantage,
49 or what is productive of general benefit. It may be limited to the inhabitants of a small or restricted locality, but
50 must be in common, and not for a particular individual. The use must be a needful one for the public, which
51 cannot be surrendered without obvious general loss and inconvenience. A "public use" for which land may be
52 taken defies absolute definition for it changes with varying conditions of society, new appliances in the sciences,
53 changing conceptions of scope and functions of government, and other differing circumstances brought about by
54 an increase in population and new modes of communication and transportation. Katz v. Brandon, 156 Conn.
55 521, 245 A.2d. 579, 586.

56 See also Condemnation; Eminent domain.
57 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1232]

1 Black's Law Dictionary also defines the word "tax" as follows:

2 "Tax: A charge by the government on the income of an individual, corporation, or trust, as well as the value
3 of an estate or gift. The objective in assessing the tax is to generate revenue to be used for the needs of the public.

4 A pecuniary [relating to money] burden laid upon individuals or property to support the government, and is a
5 *payment exacted by legislative authority. In re Mytinger, D.C.Tex. 31 F.Supp. 977,978,979. Essential
6 characteristics of a tax are that it is NOT A VOLUNTARY
7 PAYMENT OR DONATION, BUT AN ENFORCED
8 CONTRIBUTION, EXACTED PURSUANT TO
9 LEGISLATIVE AUTHORITY. Michigan Employment Sec. Commission v. Patt, 4*
10 Mich.App. 228, 144 N.W.2d. 663, 665. ..."
11 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1457]

12 So in order to be legitimately called a "tax" or "taxation", the money we pay to the government must fit all of the following 13 criteria:

- 14 1. The money must be used ONLY for the support of government. It cannot go to a private person, or even to those who 15 THINK they are private but aren't.
- 16 2. The subject of the tax must be "liable", and responsible to pay for the support of government under the force of law.
- 17 3. The money must go toward a "public purpose" rather than a "private purpose".
- 18 4. The monies paid cannot be described as wealth transfer between two people or classes of PRIVATE people within 19 society.
- 20 5. The monies paid cannot aid one group of private individuals in society at the expense of another group, because this 21 violates the concept of equal protection of law for all citizens found in Fourteenth Amendment, Section 1.

22 If the monies demanded by government do not fit all of the above requirements, then they are being used for a "private"
23 purpose and cannot be called "taxes" or "taxation", according to the U.S. Supreme Court. Actions by the government to 24 enforce the payment of any monies that do not meet all the above requirements can therefore only be described as:

- 25 1. Theft and robbery by the government in the guise of "taxation"
- 26 2. Government by decree rather than by law
- 27 3. Extortion under the color of law in violation 18 U.S.C. §872.
- 28 4. Tyranny
- 29 5. Socialism
- 30 6. Mob rule and a tyranny by the "have-nots" against the "haves"
- 31 7. 18 U.S.C. §241: Conspiracy against rights. The IRS shares tax return information with states of the union, so that both 32 of them can conspire to deprive you of your property.
- 33 8. 18 U.S.C. §242: Deprivation of rights under the color of law. The Fifth Amendment says that people in states of the 34 Union cannot be deprived of their property without due process of law or a court hearing. Yet, the IRS tries to make it
35 appear like they have the authority to just STEAL these people's property for a fabricated tax debt that they aren't even 36 legally liable for.
- 37 9. 18 U.S.C. §247: Damage to religious property; obstruction of persons in the free exercise of religious beliefs
- 38 10. 18 U.S.C. §872: Extortion by officers or employees of the United States.
- 39 11. 18 U.S.C. §876: Mailing threatening communications. This includes all the threatening notices regarding levies, liens, 40 and idiotic IRS letters that refuse to justify why government thinks we are "liable".
- 41 12. 18 U.S.C. §880: Receiving the proceeds of extortion. Any money collected from Americans through illegal enforcement
42 actions and for which the contributors are not "liable" under the law is extorted money, and the IRS is in receipt of the 43 proceeds of illegal extortion.
- 44 13. 18 U.S.C. §1581: Peonage, obstructing enforcement. IRS is obstructing the proper administration of the Internal 45 Revenue Code and the Constitution, which require that they respect those who choose NOT to volunteer to participate
46 in the federal donation program identified under subtitle A of the I.R.C.
- 47 14. 18 U.S.C. §1583: Enticement into slavery. IRS tries to enlist "nontaxpayers" to rejoin the ranks of other peons who pay 48 taxes they aren't demonstrably liable for, which amount to slavery.
- 49 15. 18 U.S.C. §1589: Forced labor. Being forced to expend one's personal time responding to frivolous IRS notices and 50 pay taxes on my labor that I am not liable for.

1 The U.S. Supreme Court has further characterized all efforts to abuse the tax system in order to accomplish “wealth transfer”
 2 as “political heresy” that is a denial of republican principles that form the foundation of our Constitution, when it issued the 3 following strong words of rebuke. Incidentally, the case below also forms the backbone of reasons why the Internal Revenue
 4 Code can never be anything more than private law that only applies to those who volunteer into it:

5 “The Legislature may enjoin, permit, forbid, and punish; they may declare new crimes; and establish rules of
 6 conduct for all its citizens in future cases; they may command what is right, and prohibit what is wrong; but they
 7 [the government] cannot change innocence [a “nontaxpayer”] into guilt [a “taxpayer”]; or punish innocence
 8 as a crime [criminally prosecute a “nontaxpayer” for violation of the tax laws]; or violate the right of an
 9 antecedent lawful private contract; or the right of private property. To maintain that our Federal, or State,
 10 Legislature possesses such powers [of THEFT and FRAUD], if they had not been expressly restrained; would,
 11 389 in my opinion, be a political heresy, altogether inadmissible in our free republican governments.”*
 12 [Calder v. Bull, 3 U.S. 386 (1798)]

13 We also cannot assume or suppose that our government has the authority to make “gifts” of monies collected through its 14 taxation powers, and especially not when paid to private individuals or foreign countries because:

- 15 1. The Constitution DOES NOT authorize the government to “gift” money to anyone within states of the Union or in foreign 16 countries, and therefore, this is not a Constitutional use of public funds, nor does unauthorized expenditure of such funds
 17 produce a tangible public benefit, but rather an injury, by forcing those who do not approve of the gift to subsidize it and 18 yet not derive any personal benefit whatsoever for it.
- 19 2. The Supreme Court identifies such abuse of taxing powers as “robbery in the name of taxation” above.

20 Based on the foregoing analysis, we are then forced to divide the monies collected by the government through its taxing
 21 powers into only two distinct classes. We also emphasize that every tax collected and every expenditure originating from the 22 tax paid MUST fit into one of the two categories below:

23 Table 12: Two methods for taxation

| # | Characteristic | Public use/purpose | Private use/purpose |
|----|--|--|--|
| 1 | Authority for tax | U.S. Constitution | Legislative fiat, tyranny |
| 2 | Monies collected described by Supreme Court as | Legitimate taxation | “Robbery in the name of taxation” (see Loan Assoc. v. Topeka , above) |
| 3 | Money paid only to following parties | Federal “employees”, contractors, and agents | Private parties with no contractual relationship or agency with the government |
| 4 | Government that practices this form of taxation is | A righteous government | A THIEF |
| 5 | This type of expenditure of revenues collected is: | Constitutional | Unconstitutional |
| 6 | Lawful means of collection | Apportioned direct or indirect taxation | Voluntary donation (cannot be lawfully implemented as a “tax”) |
| 7 | Tax system based on this approach is | A lawful means of running a government | A charity and welfare state for private interests, thieves, and criminals |
| 8 | Government which identifies payment of such monies as mandatory and enforceable is | A righteous government | A lying, thieving government that is deceiving the people. |
| 9 | When enforced, this type of tax leads to | Limited government that sticks to its corporate charter, the Constitution | Socialism Communism Mafia protection racket Organized extortion |
| 10 | Lawful subjects of Constitutional, federal taxation | Taxes on imports into states of the Union coming from foreign countries. See Constitution, Article 1, Section 8, Clause 3 (external) taxation. | No subjects of lawful taxation. Whatever unconstitutional judicial fiat and a deceived electorate will tolerate is what will be imposed and enforced at the point of a gun |

| # | Characteristic | Public use/purpose | Private use/purpose |
|----|---------------------|---|--|
| 11 | Tax system based on | Private property VOLUNTARILY donated to a public use by its exclusive owner | All property owned by the state, which is FALSELY PRESUMED TO BE EVERYTHING. Tax becomes a means of “renting” what amounts to state property to private individuals for temporary use. |

The U.S. Supreme Court also helped to clarify how to distinguish the two above categories when it said:

“It is undoubtedly the duty of the legislature which imposes or authorizes municipalities to impose a tax to see that it is not to be used for purposes of private interest instead of a public use, and the courts can only be justified in interposing when a violation of this principle is clear and the [87 U.S. 665] reason for interference cogent. And in deciding whether, in the given case, the object for which the taxes are assessed falls upon the one side or the other of this line, they must be governed mainly by the course and usage of the government, the objects for which taxes have been customarily and by long course of legislation levied, what objects or purposes have been considered necessary to the support and for the proper use of the government, whether state or municipal. Whatever lawfully pertains to this and is sanctioned by time and the acquiescence of the people may well be held to belong to the public use, and proper for the maintenance of good government, though this may not be the only criterion of rightful taxation.”
[Loan Association v. Topeka, 20 Wall. 655 (1874)]

If we give our government the benefit of the doubt by “assuming” or “presuming” that it is operating lawfully and consistent with the model on the left above, then we have no choice but to conclude that everyone who lawfully receives any kind of federal payment MUST be either a federal “employee” or “federal contractor” on official duty, and that the compensation received must be directly connected to the performance of a sovereign or Constitutionally authorized function of government. Any other conclusion or characterization of a lawful tax other than this is irrational, inconsistent with the rulings of the U.S. Supreme Court on this subject, and an attempt to deceive the public about the role of limited Constitutional government based on Republican principles. This means that you cannot participate in any of the following federal social insurance programs WITHOUT being a federal “employee”, and if you refuse to identify yourself as a federal employee, then you are admitting that your government is a thief and a robber that is abusing its taxing powers:

1. Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code. I.R.C. (26 U.S.C.) sections 1, 32, and 162 all confer privileged financial benefits to the participant which constitute federal “employment” compensation.
2. Social Security.
3. Unemployment compensation.
4. Medicare.

An examination of the Privacy Act, 5 U.S.C. §552a\(a\)\(13\), in fact, identifies all those who participate in the above programs as “federal personnel”, which means federal “employees”. To wit:

TITLE 5 > PART 1 > CHAPTER 5 > SUBCHAPTER II > § 552a
§ 552a. Records maintained on individuals

(a) Definitions.— For purposes of this section—

(13) the term “Federal personnel” means officers and employees of the Government of the United States, members of the uniformed services (including members of the Reserve Components), individuals entitled to receive immediate or deferred retirement benefits under any retirement program of the Government of the United States (including survivor benefits).

The “individual” they are talking about above is further defined in 5 U.S.C. §552a\(a\)\(2\) as follows:

TITLE 5 > PART 1 > CHAPTER 5 > SUBCHAPTER II > § 552a
§ 552a. Records maintained on individuals

(a) Definitions.— For purposes of this section—

(2) the term “individual” means a citizen of the United States or an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence;

1 The “citizen of the United States” they are talking above is based on the STATUTORY rather than CONSTITUTIONAL
2 definition of the “United States”, which means it refers to “national and citizen of the United States at birth” under 8 U.S.C.
3 §1401 rather than a CONSTITUTIONAL or Fourteenth Amendment “Citizen” or “citizen of the United States respectively
4 born in and domiciled in states of the Union. We cover this in:

Why You are a “national”, “state national”, and Constitutional but not Statutory Citizen, Form #05.006
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

5 Also, note that both of the two preceding definitions are found within Title 5 of the U.S. Code, which is entitled “Government
6 Organization and Employees”. Therefore, it refers ONLY to government “employees” and excludes private employees.
7 There is no definition of the term “individual” anywhere in Title 26 (I.R.C.) of the U.S. Code or any other title that refers to 8 private natural humans, because Congress cannot legislate for them. Notice the use of the phrase “private business” in the 9 U.S. Supreme Court ruling below:

10 *“The individual may stand upon his constitutional rights as a citizen. He is entitled to carry on his private
11 business in his own way [unregulated by the government]. His power to contract is unlimited. He owes no duty
12 to the State or to his neighbor to divulge his business, or to open his doors to an investigation, so far as it may
13 tend to criminate him. He owes no such duty to the State, since he receives nothing therefrom, beyond the
14 protection of his life and property. His rights are such as existed by the law of the land long antecedent to the*
15 organization of the State, and can only be taken from him by due process of law, and in accordance with the
16 Constitution. Among his rights are a refusal to incriminate himself, and the immunity of himself and his property
17 *from arrest or seizure except under a warrant of the law. He owes nothing to the public [including so-called
18 “taxes” under Subtitle A of the I.R.C.] so long as he does not trespass upon their rights.”
19 [Hale v. Henkel, 201 U.S. 43, 74 (1906)]

20 The purpose of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights instead is to REMOVE authority of the Congress to legislate for private 21 persons and thereby protect their sovereignty and dignity. That is why the U.S. Supreme Court ruled the following:

22 “The makers of our Constitution undertook to secure conditions favorable to the pursuit of happiness. They
23 recognized the significance of man's spiritual nature, of his feelings and of his intellect. They knew that only a
24 part of the pain, pleasure and satisfactions of life are to be found in material things. They sought to protect
25 *Americans in their beliefs, their thoughts, their emotions and their sensations. They conferred, as against the

27 men.”
28 [Olmstead v. United States, 277 U.S. 438, 478 (1928) (Brandeis, J., dissenting); see also Washington v. Harper,
29 494 U.S. 210 (1990)]

30 QUESTIONS FOR DOUBTERS: If you aren’t a federal “employee” as a person participating in Social Security and the 31 Internal Revenue Code, then why are all of the Social Security Regulations located in Title 20 of the Code of Federal 32 Regulations under parts 400-499, entitled “Employee Benefits”? See for yourself:

33 http://law.justia.com/cfr/title20/20cfrv2_02.html

34 Another very important point to make here is that the purpose of nearly all federal law is to regulate “public conduct” rather 35 than “private conduct”. Congress must write laws to regulate and control every aspect of the behavior of its employees so
36 that they do not adversely affect the rights of private individuals like you, who they exist exclusively to serve and protect.
37 Most federal statutes, in fact, are exclusively for use by those working in government and simply do not apply to private 38 citizens in the conduct of their private lives. This fact is exhaustively proven with evidence in:

Why Statutory Civil Law is Law for Government and Not Private Persons, Form #05.037
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

39 Franchises of the National (not federal but national) government cannot apply to the private people at large because the 40 Thirteenth Amendment says that involuntary servitude has been abolished. If involuntary servitude is abolished, then they 41 can’t use, or in this case “abuse” the authority of law to impose ANY kind of duty against any private people except possibly 42 the responsibility to avoid hurting their neighbor and thereby depriving him of the equal rights he enjoys.

43 For the commandments, “You shall not commit adultery,” “You shall not murder,” “You shall not steal,” “You
44 shall not bear false witness,” “You shall not covet,” and if there is any other commandment, are all summed up
45 in this saying, namely, “You shall love your neighbor as yourself.”

1 Love does no harm to a neighbor; therefore love is the fulfillment of [the ONLY requirement of] the law [which
2 is to avoid hurting your neighbor and thereby love him].
3 [Romans 13:9-10, Bible, NKJV]
4

5 "Do not strive with a man without cause, if he has done you no harm."
6 [Prov. 3:30, Bible, NKJV]

7 Thomas Jefferson, our most revered founding father, summed up this singular duty of government to LEAVE PEOPLE
8 ALONE and only interfere or impose a "duty" using the authority of law when and only when they are hurting each other in 9 order to protect them and prevent the harm when he said.

10 "With all [our] blessings, what more is necessary to make us a happy and a prosperous people? Still one thing
11 more, fellow citizens--a wise and frugal Government, which shall restrain men from injuring one another, shall
12 leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from
13 the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government, and this is necessary to close the 14 circle of our felicities."
15 [Thomas Jefferson: 1st Inaugural, 1801. ME 3:320]

16 The U.S. Supreme Court confirmed this view, when it ruled:

17 "The power to "legislate generally upon" life, liberty, and property, as opposed to the "power to provide modes
18 of redress" against offensive state action, was "repugnant" to the Constitution. Id., at 15. See also United States
19 v. Reese, 92 U.S. 214, 218 (1876); United States v. Harris, 106 U.S. 629, 639 (1883); James v. Bowman, 190 U.S.
20 127, 139 (1903). Although the specific holdings of these early cases might have been superseded or modified, see,
21 e.g., Heart of Atlanta Motel, Inc. v. United States, 379 U.S. 241 (1964); United States v. Guest, 383 U.S. 745
22 (1966), their treatment of Congress' §5 power as corrective or preventive, not definitional, has not been
23 questioned."
24 [City of Boerne v. Flores, Archbishop of San Antonio, 521 U.S. 507 \(1997\)]

25 What the U.S. Supreme Court is saying above is that the government has no authority to tell you how to run your private life.
26 This is contrary to the whole idea of the Internal Revenue Code, whose main purpose is to monitor and control every aspect
27 of those who are subject to it. In fact, it has become the chief means for Congress to implement what we call "social 28 engineering". Just by the deductions they offer, people are incentivized into all kinds of crazy behaviors in pursuit of 29 reductions in a liability that they in fact do not even have. Therefore, the only reasonable thing to conclude is that Internal 30 Revenue Code, Subtitle A which would "appear" to regulate the private conduct of all human beings in states of the Union,
31 in fact:

- 32 1. Only applies to "public employees", "public offices", and federal instrumentalities in the official conduct of their 33 duties on behalf of the municipal corporation located in the District of Columbia, which 4 U.S.C. §72 makes the "seat 34 of government".
- 35 2. Does not CREATE any new public offices or instrumentalities within the national government, but only regulates the 36 exercise of EXISTING public offices lawfully created through Title 5 of the U.S. Code. The IRS abuses its forms to 37 unlawfully CREATE public offices within the federal government. In payroll terminology, this is called "creating 38 fictitious employees", and it is not only quite common, but highly illegal and can get private workers FIRED on the 39 spot if discovered.
- 40 3. Regulates PUBLIC and not PRIVATE conduct and therefore does not pertain to private human beings.
- 41 4. Constitutes a franchise and a "benefit" within the meaning of 5 U.S.C. §552a. Tax "refunds" and "deductions", in fact,
42 are the "benefit", and 26 U.S.C. §162 says that all those who take deductions MUST, in fact, be engaged in a public
43 office within the government, which is called a "trade or business":

44 TITLE 5 > PART I > CHAPTER 5 > SUBCHAPTER II > § 552a
45 § 552a. Records maintained on individuals

46 (a) Definitions.— For purposes of this section—

47 (12) the term "Federal benefit program" means any program administered or funded by the Federal 48 Government, or by any agent or State on behalf of the Federal Government, providing cash or in-kind
49 assistance in the form of payments, grants, loans, or loan guarantees to individuals: . . .

- 50 5. Has the job of concealing all the above facts in thousands of pages and hundreds of thousands of words so that the 51 average American is not aware of it. That is why they call it the "code" instead of simply "law": Because it is private

1 law you have to volunteer for and an “encryption” and concealment device for the truth. Now we know why former
2 Treasury Secretary Paul O’Neil called the Internal Revenue Code “9500 pages of gibberish” before he quit his job in
3 disgust and went on a campaign to criticize government.

4 The I.R.C. therefore essentially amounts to a part of the job responsibility and the “employment contract” of EXISTING
5 “public employees”, “public officers”, and federal instrumentalities. This was also confirmed by the House of 6 Representatives, who said that only those who take an oath of “public office” are subject to the requirements of the personal 7 income tax. See:

8 <http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Evidence/PublicOrPrivate-Tax-Return.pdf>

9 The total lack of authority of the government to regulate or tax private conduct explains why, for instance:

- 10 1. The vehicle code in your state cannot be enforced on PRIVATE property. It only applies on PUBLIC roads owned by 11 the government
- 12 2. The family court in your state cannot regulate the exercise of unlicensed and therefore PRIVATE CONTRACT
13 marriage. Marriage licenses are a franchise that make those applying into public officers. Family court is a franchise
14 court and the equivalent of binding arbitration that only applies to fellow statutory government “employees”.
- 15 3. City conduct ordinances such as those prohibiting drinking by underage minors only apply to institutions who are 16 licensed, and therefore PUBLIC institutions acting as public officers of the government.

17 Within the Internal Revenue Code, those legal “persons” who work for the government are identified as engaging in a “public
18 office”. A “public office” within the Internal Revenue Code is called a “trade or business”, which is defined below. We 19 emphasize that engaging in a privileged “trade or business” is the main excise taxable activity that in fact and in deed is what 20 REALLY makes a person a “taxpayer” subject to the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle A:

21 26 U.S.C. Sec. 7701\(a\)\(26\)

22 “The term ‘trade or business’ includes the performance of the functions of a public office.”

23 Below is the definition of “public office”:

24 Public office

25 “Essential characteristics of a ‘public office’ are:

- 26 (1) Authority conferred by law,
- 27 (2) Fixed tenure of office, and
- 28 (3) Power to exercise some of the sovereign functions of government.
- 29 (4) Key element of such test is that “officer is carrying out a sovereign function”.
- 30 (5) Essential elements to establish public position as ‘public office’ are:
 - 31 (a) Position must be created by Constitution, legislature, or through authority conferred by legislature.
 - 32 (b) Portion of sovereign power of government must be delegated to position,
 - 33 (c) Duties and powers must be defined, directly or implied, by legislature or through legislative authority.
 - 34 (d) Duties must be performed independently without control of superior power other than law, and
 - 35 (e) Position must have some permanency.”

36 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1230]

37 Those who are fulfilling the “functions of a public office” are under a legal, fiduciary duty as “trustees” of the “public trust”,
38 while working as “volunteers” for the “charitable trust” called the “United States Government Corporation”, which we 39 affectionately call “U.S. Inc.”:

40 *“As expressed otherwise, the powers delegated to a public officer are held in trust for the people and are to be
41 exercised in behalf of the government or of all citizens who may need the intervention of the officer.”*⁴⁵
42 Furthermore, the view has been expressed that all public officers, within whatever branch and whatever level
43 of government, and whatever be their private vocations, are trustees of the people, and accordingly labor under
44 every disability and prohibition imposed by law upon trustees relative to the making of personal financial gain

45 State ex rel. Nagle v. Sullivan, 98 Mont. 425, 40 P.2d. 995, 99 A.L.R. 321; Jersey City v. Hague, 18 N.J. 584, 115 A.2d. 8.

1 from a discharge of their trusts. ⁴⁶ That is, a public officer occupies a fiduciary relationship to the political
2 entity on whose behalf he or she serves. ⁴⁷ and owes a fiduciary duty to the public. ⁴⁸ It has been said that the
3 fiduciary responsibilities of a public officer cannot be less than those of a private individual. ⁴⁹ Furthermore,
4 it has been stated that any enterprise undertaken by the public official which tends to weaken public confidence
5 and undermine the sense of security for individual rights is against public policy.⁵⁰
6 [63C American Jurisprudence 2d, Public Officers and Employees, §247 (1999)]

7 “U.S. Inc.” is a federal corporation, as defined below:

8 “Corporations are also of all grades, and made for varied objects; all governments are corporations, created by
9 usage and common consent, or grants and charters which create a body politic for prescribed purposes; but
10 whether they are private, local or general, in their objects, for the enjoyment of property, or the exercise of
11 power, they are all governed by the same rules of law, as to the construction and the obligation of the 12 instrument by which the incorporation is made. One universal rule of law protects persons and property. It is
13 a fundamental principle of the common law of England, that the term freemen of the kingdom, includes 'all
14 persons,' ecclesiastical and temporal, incorporate, politique or natural; it is a part of their magna charta (2 Inst.
15 4), and is incorporated into our institutions. The persons of the members of corporations are on the same footing
16 of protection as other persons, and their corporate property secured by the same laws which protect that of
17 individuals. 2 Inst. 46-7. 'No man shall be taken,' 'no man shall be disseised,' without due process of law, is a
18 principle taken from magna charta, infused into all our state constitutions, and is made inviolable by the federal
19 government, by the amendments to the constitution.”

31 Those who are acting as “public officers” for “U.S. Inc.” have essentially donated their formerly private property to a “public

33 whom, do not wish to participate and who would quit if offered an informed choice to do so.

24 [Budd v. People of State of New York, 143 U.S. 517 (1892)]

25 The reason governments are created, according to the Declaration of Independence, is exclusively to protect PRIVATE rights.
26 The only thing MENTIONED in the Declaration, in fact, as the object of protection is HUMANS, not GOVERNMENTS.
27 Government did not CREATE these PRIVATE, UNALIENABLE rights and therefore, they do not OWN them. They can
28 only tax or regulate that which the CREATE, and the place they do the creating is in the definition section of franchise
29 agreements. See:

Hierarchy of Sovereignty: The Power to Create is the Power to Tax, Family Guardian Fellowship
<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Remedies/PowerToCreate.htm>

30 The VERY first step in protecting PRIVATE rights held exclusively by HUMANS is to prevent them from being converted
31 to PUBLIC rights or franchises without the EXPRESS written VOLUNTARY consent of those who have the legal capacity
32 to consent. Governments should not be using word games, equivocation, or other forms of legal treachery to compel the 33 conversion from PRIVATE to PUBLIC. If you would like to know the legal boundaries for this separation between PRIVATE 34 and PUBLIC and how it is illegally circumvented by covetous public servants, see:

Separation Between Public and Private Course, Form #12.025
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

35 Now some rules for how PUBLIC and PRIVATE must be kept separated or else the government has violated its fiduciary 36 duty to protect PRIVATE property. These rules derive from the above document:

- 37 1. The PRIVATE constitutional rights of human beings are UNALIENABLE according to the Declaration of 38 Independence.
 - 39 1.1. Hence, you aren't even allowed to give them away, even WITH your consent.
 - 40 1.2. The only place that consent can lawfully be given is on federal territory where private or constitutional or 41 unalienable rights DO NOT exist in the first place.
 - 42 1.3. The rights created by the consent can be enforced on federal territory not within a state of the Union. All law is 43 prima facie territorial. That is why all public offices are REQUIRED by 4 U.S.C. §72 to be exercised IN the 44 "District of Columbia" and "NOT elsewhere".
- 45 2. Statutory "persons" are PUBLIC fictions of law, agents, and/or offices created in civil statutes by government as a civil 46 franchise. All civil franchises are contracts between the government grantor and the participant. Hence PRIVATE 47 human beings whose rights are unalienable are UNABLE to consent to a franchise contract if standing on land protected by the Constitution and must do so on federal territory AT THE TIME consent is given.

3. A civil or statutory or legal "person", whether it be a natural person, a corporation, or a trust, may ADD to its duties or join specific franchises through consent. HOWEVER:
 - 3.1. Licensing and franchises may not be used to CREATE new public offices.
 - 3.2. If licensing or franchises are abused to create NEW public offices, then those who engage in said offices outside the place "expressly authorized" to do so by Congress are criminally impersonating a public officer in violation of 18 U.S.C. §912.
 - 3.3. A subset of those engaging in a "public office" are federal "employees", but the term "public office" or "trade or business" encompass more than just government "employees". Corporations, for instance, are public offices and instrumentalities of the government grantor.
4. In law, when a human being volunteers to accept the legal duties of a "public office", it therefore becomes a "trustee", an agent, and fiduciary (as defined in 26 U.S.C. §6903) acting on behalf of the federal government by the operation of private contract/franchise law. It becomes essentially a "franchisee" of the federal government carrying out the provisions of the franchise agreement, which is found in:
 - 4.1. Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle A , in the case of the federal income tax.
 - 4.2. The Social Security Act , which is found in Title 42 of the U.S. Code.

<http://sedm.org/LibertyU/LibertyU.htm>

The IRS Form 1042-S Instructions confirm that all those who use Social Security Numbers are engaged in the "trade or business" franchise:

Box 14. Recipient's U.S. Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN)

You must obtain and enter a U.S. taxpayer identification number (TIN) for:

- Any recipient whose income is effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States.

[/IRS Form 1042-S Instructions, p. 14\]](#)

Engaging in a "trade or business" therefore implies a "public office". All those who USE "Taxpayer Identification Numbers" are therefore treated, USUALLY ILLEGALLY IF THEY ARE OTHERWISE PRIVATE, as public officers in the national government. All property associated with the number then is treated effectively as "private property donated to a public use to procure the benefits of a government franchise". At that point, the person in control of said property is treated as a de facto manager and trustee over public property created by that donation process. That public property includes his/her formerly private time and services. The "employment agreement" for managing this newly, and in most cases ILLEGALLY created public property is the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle A and the Social Security Act found in Title 42 of the U.S. Code.

The Social Security Number is therefore the equivalent of a "de facto license number" to act as a "public officer" for the federal government, who is a fiduciary or trustee subject to the plenary legislative jurisdiction of the federal government pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(39\), 26 U.S.C. §7408\(c\), and Federal Rule of Civil Procedure Rule 17\(b\), regardless of where he might be found geographically, including within a state of the Union. The franchise agreement governs "choice of law" and where it's terms may be litigated, which is the District of Columbia, based on the agreement itself.

1 The invisible process of essentially consenting to become a public officer of the national and not state government is a
2 FRAUD because:

- 3 1. They don't protect your right to NOT volunteer.
- 4 2. They refuse to prosecute the fraud once discovered and respond with silence to criminal complaints directed at 5 stopping it. Remember: It is a maximum of law that such gross negligence is in essence and substance, FRAUD itself.
- 6 3. They don't recognize even the EXISTENCE of a "non-resident non-person", who is someone who DID NOT 7 volunteer. To do so would mean a surrender of their "plausible deniability" in front of a legally ignorant jury.
- 8 4. They call those who insist that the withholdings and/or reportings associated with the fraudulently created public office
9 "frivolous", and yet refuse to address the content of this section or to address specifically how your property was 10 LAWFULLY converted from PRIVATE to PUBLIC WITHOUT your consent. Even the taxation process requires, as 11 a bare minimum, CONSENT to become a public officer.

12 Now let's apply what we have learned to your employment situation. God said you cannot work for two companies at once.
13 You can only serve one company, and that company is the federal government if you are receiving federal benefits:

14 "No one can serve two masters [two employers, for instance]; for either he will hate the one and love the other, 15 or else he will be loyal to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon [government]."
16 [Luke 16:13, Bible, NKJV. Written by a tax collector]

17 Everything you make while working for your slave master, the federal government, is their property over which you are a 18 fiduciary and "public officer".

19 "THE" + "IRS" = "THEIRS"

20 A federal "public officer" has no rights in relation to their master, the federal government:

21 *"The restrictions that the Constitution places upon the government in its capacity as lawmaker, i.e., as the
22 regulator of private conduct, are not the same as the restrictions that it places upon the government in its capacity
23 as employer. We have recognized this in many contexts, with respect to many different constitutional guarantees.
24 Private citizens perhaps cannot be prevented from wearing long hair, but policemen can. Kelley v. Johnson, 425
25 U.S. 238, 247 (1976). Private citizens cannot have their property searched without probable cause, but in many
26 circumstances government employees can. O'Connor v. Ortega, 480 U.S. 709, 723 (1987) (plurality opinion); id.,
27 at 732 (SCALIA, J., concurring in judgment). Private citizens cannot be punished for refusing to provide the
28 government information that may incriminate them, but government employees can be dismissed when the
29 incriminating information that they refuse to provide relates to the performance of their job. Gardner v.
30 Broderick, [497 U.S. 62, 95] 392 U.S. 273, 277-278 (1968). With regard to freedom of speech in particular:
31 Private citizens cannot be punished for speech of merely private concern, but government employees can be fired
32 for that reason. Connick v. Myers, 461 U.S. 138, 147 (1983). Private citizens cannot be punished for partisan
33 political activity, but federal and state employees can be dismissed and otherwise punished for that reason. Public
34 Workers v. Mitchell, 330 U.S. 75, 101 (1947); Civil Service Comm'n v. Letter Carriers, 413 U.S. 548, 556 (1973);
35 Broadrick v. Oklahoma, 413 U.S. 601, 616-617 (1973)."*
36 [Rutan v. Republican Party of Illinois, 497 U.S. 62 (1990)]

37 Your existence and your earnings as a federal "public officer" and "trustee" and "fiduciary" are entirely subject to the whim
38 and pleasure of corrupted lawyers and politicians, and you must beg and grovel if you expect to retain anything:

39 "In the general course of human nature, A POWER OVER A MAN'S SUBSISTENCE AMOUNTS TO A POWER 40 OVER HIS WILL."
41 [Alexander Hamilton, Federalist Paper No. 79]

42 You will need an "exemption" from your new slave master specifically spelled out in law to justify anything you want to 43 keep while working on the federal plantation. The 1040 return is a profit and loss statement for a federal business corporation
44 called the "United States". You are in partnership with your slave master and they decide what scraps they want to throw to 45 you in your legal "cage" AFTER they figure out whatever is left in financing their favorite pork barrel project and paying off
46 interest on an ever-expanding and endless national debt. Do you really want to reward this type of irresponsibility and surety?

47 The W-4 therefore essentially is being deceptively and illegally MISUSED as a federal employment application. It is your 48 badge of dishonor and a tacit admission that you can't or won't trust God and yourself to provide for yourself. Instead, you
49 need a corrupted "protector" to steal money from your neighbor or counterfeit (print) it to help you pay your bills and run

1 your life. Furthermore, if your private employer forced you to fill out the W-4 against your will or instituted any duress to 2 get you to fill it out, such as threatening to fire or not hire you unless you fill it out, then he/she is:

- 3 1. Engaging in criminal identity theft. See:
4

| |
|--|
| Government Identity Theft , Form #05.046 http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm |
|--|

5 2. Acting as an employment recruiter for the federal government.
6 3. Recruiting you into federal slavery in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment, and 42 U.S.C. §1994.
7 4. Involved in a conspiracy to commit grand theft by stealing money from you to pay for services and protection you don't 8 want and don't need.
9 5. Involved in racketeering and extortion in violation of 18 U.S.C. §1951.
10 6. Involved in money laundering for the federal government, by sending in money stolen from you to them, in violation of 11 18 U.S.C. §1956.

11 The higher ups at the IRS probably know the above, and they certainly aren't going to tell private employers or their 12 underlings the truth, because they aren't going to look a gift horse in the mouth and don't want to surrender their defense of 13 "plausible deniability". They will NEVER tell a thief who is stealing for them that they are stealing, especially if they don't 14 have to assume liability for the consequences of the theft. No one who practices this kind of slavery, deceit, and evil can 15 rightly claim that they are loving their neighbor and once they know they are involved in such deceit, they have a duty to 16 correct it or become an "accessory after the fact" in violation of 18 U.S.C. §3. This form of deceit is also the sin most hated
17 by God in the Bible. Below is a famous Bible commentary on Prov. 11:1:

18 "As religion towards God is a branch of universal righteousness (he is not an honest man that is not devout), so
19 righteousness towards men is a branch of true religion, for he is not a godly man that is not honest, nor can he
20 *expect that his devotion should be accepted; for, 1. Nothing is more offensive to God than deceit in commerce.
21 A false balance is here put for all manner of unjust and fraudulent practices [of our public dis-servants] in
22 dealing with any person [within the public], which are all an abomination to the Lord, and render those
23 abominable [hated] to him that allow themselves in the use of such accursed arts of thriving. It is an affront
24 to justice, which God is the patron of, as well as a wrong to our neighbour, whom God is the protector of. Men
25 [in the IRS and the Congress] make light of such frauds, and think there is no sin in that which there is money
26 to be got by, and, while it passes undiscovered, they cannot blame themselves for it; a blot is no blot till it is hit,
27 Hos. 12:7, 8. But they are not the less an abomination to God, who will be the avenger of those that are 28 defrauded by their brethren. 2. Nothing is more pleasing to God than fair and honest dealing, nor more**
29 necessary to make us and our devotions acceptable to him: A just weight is his delight. He himself goes by a*
30 just weight, and holds the scale of judgment with an even hand, and therefore is pleased with those that are herein
31 followers of him. A balance cheats, under pretence of doing right most exactly, and therefore is the greater 32 abomination to God."
33 [Matthew Henry's Commentary on the Whole Bible; Henry, M., 1996, c1991, under Prov. 11:1]

34 The Bible also says that those who participate in this kind of "commerce" with the government are practicing harlotry and 35 idolatry. The Bible book of Revelation describes a woman called "Babylon the Great Harlot".

36 "And I saw a woman sitting on a scarlet beast which was full of names of blasphemy, having seven heads and ten
37 horns. The woman was arrayed in purple and scarlet, and adorned with gold and precious stones and pearls,
38 having in her hand a golden cup full of abominations and the filthiness of her fornication. And on her forehead a 39 name was written:

40 MYSTERY, BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS AND OF THE ABOMINATIONS OF THE 41 EARTH.

42 I saw the woman, drunk with the blood of the saints and with the blood of the martyrs of Jesus. And when I saw 43 her, I marveled with great amazement."
44 [Rev. 17:3-6, Bible, NKJV]

45 This despicable harlot is described below as the "woman who sits on many waters".

46 "Come, I will show you the judgment of the great harlot [Babylon the Great Harlot] who sits on many waters,
47 with whom the kings of the earth [politicians and rulers] committed fornication, and the inhabitants of the earth
48 were made drunk [indulged] with the wine of her fornication."
49 [Rev. 17:1-2, Bible, NKJV]

50 These waters are simply symbolic of a democracy controlled by mobs of atheistic people who are fornicating with the Beast
51 and who have made it their false, man-made god and idol:

1 “The waters which you saw, where the harlot sits, are peoples, multitudes, nations, and tongues.”
2 [Rev. 17:15, Bible, NKJV]

3 The Beast is then defined in Rev. 19:19 as “the kings of the earth”, which today would be our political rulers:

4 “And I saw the beast, the kings of the earth, and their armies, gathered together to make war against Him who
5 sat on the horse and against His army.”
6 [Rev. 19:19, Bible, NKJV]

7 Babylon the Great Harlot is “fornicating” with the government by engaging in commerce with it. Black’s Law Dictionary
8 defines “commerce” as “intercourse”:

9 “Commerce. ...Intercourse by way of trade and traffic between different peoples or states and the citizens or 10 inhabitants thereof, including not only the purchase, sale, and exchange of commodities, but also the 11 instrumentalities [governments] and agencies by which it is promoted and the means and appliances by which it 12 is carried on...”
13 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 269]

14 If you want your rights back people, you can’t pursue government employment in the context of your private job. If you do,
15 the Bible, not us, says you are a harlot and that you are CONDEMNED to hell!

16 And I heard another voice from heaven saying, “Come out of her, my people, lest you share in her sins, and lest
17 you receive of her plagues. For her sins have reached to heaven, and God has remembered her iniquities. Render
18 to her just as she rendered to you, and repay her double according to her works; in the cup which she has mixed,
19 mix double for her. In the measure that she glorified herself and lived luxuriously, in the same measure give her
20 torment and sorrow; for she says in her heart, ‘I sit as queen, and am no widow, and will not see sorrow.’
21 Therefore her plagues will come in one day—death and mourning and famine. And she will be utterly burned
22 with fire, for strong is the Lord God who judges her.
23 [Rev. 18:4-8, Bible, NKJV]

24 In summary, it ought to be very clear from reading this section then, that:

- 25 1. It is an abuse of the government’s taxing power, according to the U.S. Supreme Court, to pay public monies to private 26 persons or to use the government’s taxing power to transfer wealth between groups of private individuals.
- 27 2. Because of these straight jacket constraints of the use of “public funds” by the government, the government can only 28 lawfully make payments or pay “benefits” to persons who have contracted with them to render specific services that are 29 authorized by the Constitution to be rendered.
- 30 3. The government had to create an intermediary called the “straw man” that is a public office or agent within the 31 government and therefore part of the government that they could pay the “benefit” to in order to circumvent the 32 restrictions upon the government from abusing its powers to transfer wealth between private individuals. That “straw 33 man” is exhaustively described in :

Proof That There Is a “Straw Man”, Form #05.042
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 34 4. The straw man is a “public office” within the U.S. government. It is a creation of Congress and an agent and fiduciary
35 of the government subject to the statutory control of Congress. It is therefore a public entity and not a private entity
36 which the government can therefore lawfully pay public funds to without abusing its taxing powers.
- 37 5. Those who sign up for government contracts, benefits, franchises, or employment agree to become surety for the straw
38 man or public office and agree to act in a representative capacity on behalf of a federal corporation in the context of all 39 the duties of the office pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b).
- 40 6. Because the straw man is a public office, you can’t be compelled to occupy the office. You and not the government set
41 the compensation or amount of money you are willing to work for in order to consensually occupy the office. If you
42 don’t think the compensation is adequate, you have the right to refuse to occupy the office by refusing to connect your
43 assets to the office using the de facto license number for the office called the Taxpayer Identification Number.

44 If you would like to know more about why Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code only applies to federal instrumentalities
45 and payments to or from the federal government, we refer you to the free memorandum of law below:

Why Your Government is Either a Thief or You are a “Public Officer” for Income Tax Purposes, Form #05.008
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

1 5.9 “Political (PUBLIC) law” v. “civil (PRIVATE/COMMON) law”

2 Within our republican government, the founding fathers recognized three classes of law:

- 3 1. Criminal law. Protects both PUBLIC and PRIVATE rights.
- 4 2. Civil law. Protects exclusively PRIVATE rights. In effect, it implements ONLY the common law and does not
- 5 regulate the government at all.
- 6 3. Political law. Protects exclusively PUBLIC rights of public officers and offices within the government.

7 The above three types of law were identified in the following document upon which the founding fathers wrote the

8 constitution and based the design of our republican form of government:

The Spirit of Laws, Charles de Montesquieu, 1758
SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/SpiritOfLaws/sol.htm>

9 The Spirit of Laws book is where the founding fathers got the idea of separation of powers and three branches of government:

10 Executive, Legislative, and Judicial. Montesquieu defines “political law” and “political liberty” as follows:

11 1. A general Idea.

12 I make a distinction between the laws that establish political liberty, as it relates to the constitution, and those 13 by which it is established, as it relates to the citizen. The former shall be the subject of this book; the latter I shall 14 examine in the next.

15 [The Spirit of Laws, Charles de Montesquieu, 1758, Book XI, Section 1;
16 SOURCE: http://famguardian.org/Publications/SpiritOfLaws/sol_11.htm#001]

17 The Constitution in turn is a POLITICAL document which represents law EXCLUSIVELY for public officers within the 18 government. It does not obligate or abrogate any PRIVATE right. It defines what the courts call “public rights”, meaning

19 rights possessed and owned exclusively by the government ONLY.

20 “And the Constitution itself is in every real sense a law-the lawmakers being the people themselves, in whom
21 under our system all political power and sovereignty primarily resides, and through whom such power and
22 sovereignty primarily speaks. It is by that law, and not otherwise, that the legislative, executive, and judicial 23 agencies which it created exercise such political authority as they have been permitted to possess. The 24 Constitution speaks for itself in terms so plain that to misunderstand their import is not rationally possible.
25 ‘We the People of the United States,’ it says, ‘do ordain and establish this Constitution.’ Ordain and establish!
26 These are definite words of enactment, and without more would stamp what follows with the dignity and character
27 of law. The framers of the Constitution, however, were not content to let the matter rest here, but provided
28 explicitly-‘This Constitution, and the Laws of the United States which shall be made in Pursuance thereof; ...
29 shall be the supreme Law of the Land.’ (Const. art. 6, cl. 2.) The supremacy of the Constitution as law is thus 30 declared without qualification. That supremacy is absolute; the supremacy of a statute enacted by Congress is
31 not absolute but conditioned upon its being made in pursuance of the Constitution. And a judicial tribunal,
32 clothed by that instrument with complete judicial power, and, therefore, by the very nature of the power, required
33 to ascertain and apply the law to the facts in every case or proceeding properly brought for adjudication, must 34 apply the supreme law and reject the inferior stat- [298 U.S. 238, 297] ute whenever the two conflict. In the 35 discharge of that duty, the opinion of the lawmakers that a statute passed by them is valid must be given great 36 weight, Adkins v. Children’s Hospital, 261 U.S. 525, 544, 43 S.Ct. 394, 24 A.L.R. 1238; but their opinion, or the 37 court’s opinion, that the statute will prove greatly or generally beneficial is wholly irrelevant to the inquiry.
38 Schechter Poultry Corp. v. United States, 295 U.S. 495, 549, 550 S., 55 S.Ct. 837, 97 A.L.R. 947. “
39 [Carter v. Carter Coal Co., 298 U.S. 238 (1936)]

40 The vast majority of laws passed by Congress are what Montesquieu calls “political law” that is intended exclusively for the

41 government and not the private citizen. The authority for implementing such political law is Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2

42 of the United States Constitution. To wit:

43 United States Constitution
44 Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2

45 The Congress shall have Power to dispose of and make all needful Rules and Regulations respecting the 46 Territory or other Property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed
47 as to Prejudice any Claims of the United States, or of any particular State.

1 Tax franchise codes such as the Internal Revenue Code, for instance, are what Montesquieu calls “political law” exclusively
2 for the government or public officer and not the private (CONSTITUTIONAL) citizen. Why? Because:

- 3 1. The U.S. Supreme Court identified taxes as a “political matter”. “Political law”, “political questions”, and “political 4 matters” cannot be heard by true constitutional courts and may ONLY be heard in legislative franchise courts officiated
5 by the Executive and not Judicial branch:

6 *“Thus, the Court has frequently held that domicile or residence, more substantial than mere presence in transit
7 or sojourn, is an adequate basis for taxation, including income, property, and death taxes. Since the Fourteenth
8 Amendment makes one a citizen of the state wherein he resides, the fact of residence creates universally
9 reciprocal duties of protection by the state and of allegiance and support by the citizen. The latter obviously
10 includes a duty to pay taxes, and their nature and measure is largely a political matter. Of course, the situs of
11 property may tax it regardless of the citizenship, domicile, or residence of the owner, the most obvious illustration
12 being a tax on realty laid by the state in which the realty is located.”*

13 [Miller Brothers Co. v. Maryland, 347 U.S. 340 (1954)]

- 14 2. The U.S. Tax Court:

- 15 2.1. Is an Article I Court in the EXECUTIVE and not JUDICIAL branch, and hence, can only officiate over matters
16 INTERNAL to the government. See 26 U.S.C. §7441.
17 2.2. Is a POLITICAL court in the POLITICAL branch of the government. Namely, the Executive branch.
18 2.3. Is limited to the District of Columbia because all public offices are limited to serve there per 4 U.S.C. §72. It travels
19 all over the country, but this is done ILLEGALLY and in violation of the separation of powers.
20 3. The activity subject to excise taxation is limited exclusively to “public offices” in the government, which is what a “trade
21 or business” is statutorily defined as in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26).

22 26 U.S.C. Sec. 7701(a)(26)

23 “The term ‘trade or business’ includes the performance of the functions of a public office.”

24 In Book XXVI, Section 15 of the Spirit of Laws, Montesquieu says that POLITICAL laws should not be allowed to regulate 25 CIVIL conduct, meaning that POLITICAL laws limited exclusively to the government should not be enforced upon the 26 PRIVATE citizen or made to “appear” as though they are “civil law” that applies to everyone:

27 The Spirit of Laws, Book XXVI, Section 15

28 *15. That we should not regulate by the Principles of political Law those Things which depend on the Principles
29 of civil Law.*

30 As men have given up their natural independence to live under political laws, they have given up the natural 31 community of goods to live under civil laws.

32 *By the first, they acquired [PUBLIC] liberty; by the second, [PRIVATE] property. We should not decide by the 33 laws of [PUBLIC] liberty, which, as we have already said, is only the government of the community, what 34 ought to be decided by the laws concerning [PRIVATE] property. It is a paralogism to say that the good of the 35 individual should give way to that of the public; this can never take place, except when the government of the 36 community, or, in other words, the liberty of the subject is concerned; this does not affect such cases as relate
37 to private property, because the public good consists in every one's having his property, which was given him
38 by the civil laws, invariably preserved.*

39 *Cicero maintains that the Agrarian laws were unjust; because the community was established with no other view
40 than that every one might be able to preserve his property.*

41 *Let us, therefore, lay down a certain maxim, that whenever the public good happens to be the matter in question,
42 it is not for the advantage of the public to deprive an individual of his property, or even to retrench the least
43 part of it by a law, or a political regulation. In this case we should follow the rigour of the civil law, which is 44 the Palladium of [PRIVATE] property.*

45 Thus when the public has occasion for the estate of an individual, it ought never to act by the rigour of political 46 law; it is here that the civil law ought to triumph, which, with the eyes of a mother, regards every individual as 47 the whole community.

1 If the political magistrate would erect a public edifice, or make a new road, he must indemnify those who are
2 injured by it; the public is in this respect like an individual who treats with an individual. It is fully enough that
3 it can oblige a citizen to sell his inheritance, and that it can strip him of this great privilege which he holds from 4 the civil law, the not being forced to alienate his possessions.

5 After the nations which subverted the Roman empire had abused their very conquests, the spirit of liberty called
6 them back to that of equity. They exercised the most barbarous laws with moderation: and if any one should doubt
7 the truth of this, he need only read Beaumanoir's admirable work on jurisprudence, written in the twelfth century.

8 They mended the highways in his time as we do at present. He says, that when a highway could not be repaired,
9 they made a new one as near the old as possible; but indemnified the proprietors at the expense of those who
10 reaped any advantage from the road.⁴³ They determined at that time by the civil law; in our days, we determine 11 by the law of politics.

12 [The Spirit of Laws, Charles de Montesquieu, 1758, Book XXVI, Section 15;
13 SOURCE: http://famguardian.org/Publications/SpiritOfLaws/sol_11.htm#001]

14 What Montesquieu is implying is what we have been saying all along, and he said it in 1758, which was even before the 15 Declaration of Independence was written:

- 16 1. The purpose of establishing government is exclusively to protect PRIVATE rights.
17 2. PRIVATE rights are protected by the CIVIL law. The civil law, in turn is based in EQUITY rather than PRIVILEGE:

18 “Thus when the public has occasion for the estate of an individual, it ought never to act by the rigour of
19 political law: it is here that the civil law ought to triumph, which, with the eyes of a mother, regards every 20 individual as the whole community.”

- 21 3. PUBLIC or government rights are protected by the PUBLIC or POLITICAL or GOVERNMENT law and NOT the 22 CIVIL law.
23 4. The first and most important role of government is to prevent the POLITICAL or GOVERNMENT law from being 24 used or especially ABUSED as an excuse to confiscate or jeopardize PRIVATE property.

25 Unfortunately, it is precisely the above type of corruption that Montesquieu describes that is the foundation of the present de
26 facto government, tax system, and money system. ALL of them treat every human being as a PUBLIC officer against their 27 consent, and impose what he calls the “rigors of the political law” upon them, in what amounts to a THEFT and 28 CONFISCATION of otherwise PRIVATE property by enforcing PUBLIC law against PRIVATE people.

29 The implications of Montesquieu’s position are that the only areas where POLITICAL law and CIVIL law should therefore 30 overlap is in the exercise of the political rights to vote and serve on jury duty. Why? Because jurists are regarded as public
31 officers in 18 U.S.C. §201(a)(1):

32 TITLE 18 > PART I > CHAPTER 11 > § 201
33 § 201. Bribery of public officials and witnesses

34 (a) For the purpose of this section—

35 (1) the term “public official” means Member of Congress, Delegate, or Resident Commissioner, either before or 36 after such official has qualified, or an officer or employee or person acting for or on behalf of the United States,
37 or any department, agency or branch of Government thereof, including the District of Columbia, in any official
38 function, under or by authority of any such department, agency, or branch of Government, or a juror;

39 However, it has also repeatedly been held by the courts that poll taxes are unconstitutional. Hence, voters technically are 40 NOT to be regarded as public officers or franchisees for any purpose OTHER than their role as a voter. Recall that all
41 statutory “Taxpayers” are public officers in the government.

42 In the days since Montesquieu, the purpose and definition of what he has called the CIVIL law has since been purposefully
43 and maliciously corrupted so that it no longer protects exclusively PRIVATE rights or implements the COMMON law, but 44 rather protects mainly PUBLIC rights and POLITICAL officers in the government. In other words, society has become 45 corrupted by the following means that he warned would happen:

- 46 1. What Montesquieu calls CIVIL law has become the POLITICAL law.

2. There is not CIVIL (common) law anymore as he defines it, because the courts interfere with the enforcement of the common law and the protection of PRIVATE rights.
3. The purpose of government has transformed from protecting mainly PRIVATE rights using the common law to that of protecting PUBLIC rights using the STATUTE law, which in turn has become exclusively POLITICAL law.
4. All those who insist on remaining exclusively private cannot utilize any government service, because the present government forms refuse to recognize such a status or provide services to those with such status.
5. Everyone who wants to call themselves a “citizen” is no longer PRIVATE, but PUBLIC. “citizen” has become a public officer in the government rather than a private human being.
6. All “citizens” are STATUTORY rather than CONSTITUTIONAL in nature.
 - 6.1. There are no longer any CONSTITUTIONAL citizens because the courts refuse to recognize or protect them.
 - 6.2. People are forced to accept the duties of a statutory “citizen” and public officer to get any remedy at all in court or in any government agency.

The above transformations are documented in the following memorandum of law on our site:

De Facto Government Scam, Form #05.043

5.10 Lawful methods for converting PRIVATE property into PUBLIC property

Next, we must carefully consider all the rules by which EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE property is lawfully converted into PUBLIC property subject to government control or civil regulation. These rules are important, because the status of a particular type of property as either PRIVATE or PUBLIC determines whether either COMMON LAW or STATUTORY LAW apply respectively.

In general, only by either accepting physical property from the government or voluntarily applying for and claiming a status or right under a government franchise can one procure a PUBLIC status and be subject to STATUTORY civil law. If one wishes to be governed ONLY by the common law, then they must make their status very clear in every interaction with the government and on EVERY government form they fill out so as to avoid connecting them to any statutory franchise. Below is an example from a U.S. Department of Justice guide for prosecuting “sovereign citizens” that proves WHY this is the case:

“What evidence refutes a good faith defense will depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. It is often helpful to focus on evidence that shows the defendant knew the law but disregarded it or was simply defying it. For instance, evidence that the defendant received proper advice from a CPA or tax preparer, or that the defendant failed to consult legitimate sources about his or her understanding of the tax laws can be helpful. To refute claims that wages are not income, that the defendant did not understand the meaning of “wages,” or that the defendant is a state citizen but not a citizen of the United States, look for loan applications during the prosecution period. Tax defiers and sovereign citizens never seem to have a problem understanding the definition of income on a loan application. They also do not hesitate to check the “yes” box to the question “are you a U.S. citizen.” Any evidence that the defendant accepted Government benefits, such as unemployment, Medicare, social security, or the Alaska Permanent Fund Dividend will also be helpful to refute the defendant’s claims that he or she is not a citizen subject to federal laws.”

The bottom line is that if you accept a government benefit, they PRESUME the right to rape and pillage absolutely ANYTHING you own. Our Path to Freedom, Form #09.015 process, by the way, makes the use of the above OFFENSE by the government in prosecuting you IMPOSSIBLE. The exhaustive list of attachment forms we provide which define the terms on all government forms they could use as evidence to prove the above also defeat the above tactic by U.S. Attorneys. Also keep in mind that the above tactic is useful against the GOVERNMENT as an offensive weapon. If your property is private, you can loan it to THEM with FRANCHISE conditions found in Form #06.027. If they argue that you can’t do it to them, indirectly they are destroying the main source of THEIR jurisdiction as well. Let them shoot themselves in the foot in front of the jury!

Below is a detailed list of the rules for converting PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property:

1. The purpose for establishing governments is mainly to protect private property. The Declaration of Independence affirms this:

1 "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator
2 with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure
3 these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed,
4 -"
5 [Declaration of Independence, 1776]

- 6 2. Government protects private rights by keeping "public [government] property" and "private property" separate and never
7 allowing them to be joined together. This is the heart of the separation of powers doctrine: separation of what is private 8 from what is public with the goal of protecting mainly what is private. See:

Government Conspiracy to Destroy the Separation of Powers, Form #05.023
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 9 3. All property BEGINS as private property. The only way to lawfully change it to public property is through the exercise
10 of your unalienable constitutional right to contract. All franchises qualify as a type of contract, and therefore, franchises
11 are one of many methods to lawfully convert PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property. The exercise of the right to 12 contract, in turn, is an act of consent that eliminates any possibility of a legal remedy of the donor against the donee:

13 "Voluntati non fit injuria.
14 He who consents cannot receive an injury. 2 Bouv. Inst. n. 2279, 2327; 4 T. R. 657; Shelf. on mar. & Div. 449.

15 Consensus tollit errorem.
16 Consent removes or obviates a mistake. Co. Litt. 126.

17 Melius est omnia mala pati quam malo consentire.
18 It is better to suffer every wrong or ill, than to consent to it. 3 Co. Inst. 23.

19 Nemo videtur fraudare eos qui sciunt, et consentiunt.
20 One cannot complain of having been deceived when he knew the fact and gave his consent. Dig. 50, 17, 145."
21 [Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856);
22 SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviereMaxims.htm>]

- 23 4. In law, all rights are "property".

24 Property. That which is peculiar or proper to any person; that which belongs exclusively to one. In the strict legal
25 sense, an aggregate of rights which are guaranteed and protected by the government. Fulton Light, Heat &
26 Power Co. v. State, 65 Misc.Rep. 263, 121 N.Y.S. 536. The term is said to extend to every species of valuable
27 right and interest. More specifically, ownership; the unrestricted and exclusive right to a thing; the right to
28 dispose of a thing in every legal way, to possess it, to use it, and to exclude everyone else from interfering with it.
29 That dominion or indefinite right of use or disposition which one may lawfully exercise over particular things or
30 subjects. The exclusive right of possessing, enjoying, and disposing of a thing. The highest right a man can have
31 to anything; being used to refer to that right which one has to lands or tenements, goods or chattels, which no
32 way depends on another man's courtesy.

33 The word is also commonly used to denote everything which is the subject of ownership, corporeal or incorporeal,
34 tangible or intangible, visible or invisible, real or personal, everything that has an exchangeable value or which
35 goes to make up wealth or estate. It extends to every species of valuable right and interest, and includes real
36 and personal property, easements, franchises, and incorporeal hereditaments, and includes every invasion of
37 one's property rights by actionable wrong. Labberton v. General Cas. Co. of America, 53 Wash.2d. 180, 332
38 P.2d. 250, 252, 254.

39 Property embraces everything which is or may be the subject of ownership, whether a legal ownership, or whether
40 beneficial, or a private ownership. Davis v. Davis. TexCiv-App., 495 S.W.2d. 607. 611. Term includes not only
41 ownership and possession but also the right of use and enjoyment for lawful purposes. Hoffmann v. Kinealy, Mo.,
42 389 S.W.2d. 745, 752.

43 Property, within constitutional protection, denotes group of rights inhering in citizen's relation to physical
44 thing, as right to possess, use and dispose of it. Cereghino v. State By and Through State Highway Commission,
45 230 Or. 439, 370 P.2d. 694, 697.
46 [Black's Law Dictionary, Fifth Edition, p. 1095]

47 By protecting your constitutional rights, the government is protecting your PRIVATE property. Your rights are private
48 property because they came from God, not from the government. Only what the government creates can become public
49 property. An example is corporations, which are a public franchise that makes officers of the corporation into public
50 officers.

1 5. The process of taxation is the process of converting “private property” into a “public use” and a “public purpose”. Below
2 are definitions of these terms for your enlightenment.

3 Public use. Eminent domain. The constitutional and statutory basis for taking property by eminent domain. For
4 condemnation purposes, “public use” is one which confers some benefit or advantage to the public; it is not
5 confined to actual use by public. It is measured in terms of right of public to use proposed facilities for which
6 condemnation is sought and, as long as public has right of use, whether exercised by one or many members of 7 public, a “public advantage” or “public benefit” accrues sufficient to constitute a public use. Montana Power
8 Co. v. Bokma, Mont., 457 P.2d. 769, 772, 773.

9 Public use, in constitutional provisions restricting the exercise of the right to take property in virtue of eminent
10 domain, means a use concerning the whole community distinguished from particular individuals. But each and
11 every member of society need not be equally interested in such use, or be personally and directly affected by it;
12 if the object is to satisfy a great public want or exigency, that is sufficient. Ringe Co. v. Los Angeles County, 262
13 U.S. 700, 43 S.Ct. 689, 692, 67 L.Ed. 1186. The term may be said to mean public usefulness, utility, or advantage,
14 or what is productive of general benefit. It may be limited to the inhabitants of a small or restricted locality, but
15 must be in common, and not for a particular individual. The use must be a needful one for the public, which
16 cannot be surrendered without obvious general loss and inconvenience. A “public use” for which land may be
17 taken defies absolute definition for it changes with varying conditions of society, new appliances in the sciences,
18 changing conceptions of scope and functions of government, and other differing circumstances brought about by
19 an increase in population and new modes of communication and transportation. Katz v. Brandon, 156 Conn.
20 521, 245 A.2d. 579, 586.

21 See also Condemnation; Eminent domain.
22 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1232]

23
24 “Public purpose. In the law of taxation, eminent domain, etc., this is a term of classification to distinguish the
25 objects for which, according to settled usage, the government is to provide, from those which, by the like usage,
26 are left to private interest, inclination, or liberality. The constitutional requirement that the purpose of any tax,
27 police regulation, or particular exertion of the power of eminent domain shall be the convenience, safety, or
28 welfare of the entire community and not the welfare of a specific individual or class of persons [such as, for
29 instance, federal benefit recipients as individuals]. “Public purpose” that will justify expenditure of public
30 money generally means such an activity as will serve as benefit to community as a body and which at same time
31 is directly related function of government. Pack v. Southwestern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 215 Tenn. 503, 387 S.W.2d.
32 789, 794 .

33 The term is synonymous with governmental purpose. As employed to denote the objects for which taxes may be
34 levied, it has no relation to the urgency of the public need or to the extent of the public benefit which is to follow;
35 the essential requisite being that a public service or use shall affect the inhabitants as a community, and not
36 merely as individuals. A public purpose or public business has for its objective the promotion of the public
37 health, safety, morals, general welfare, security, prosperity, and contentment of all the inhabitants or residents
38 within a given political division, as, for example, a state, the sovereign powers of which are exercised to promote 39 such public purpose or public business.”
40 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1231, Emphasis added]

41 6. The federal government has no power of eminent domain within states of the Union. This means that they cannot 42 lawfully convert private property to a public use or a public purpose within the exclusive jurisdiction of states of the
43 Union:

44 “The United States have no constitutional capacity to exercise municipal jurisdiction, sovereignty, or eminent
45 domain, within the limits of a State or elsewhere, except in cases where it is delegated, and the court
46 denies the faculty of the Federal Government to add to its powers by treaty
47 or compact.”
48 [Dred Scott v. Sandford, 60 U.S. 393, 508-509 (1856)]

49 7. The Fifth Amendment prohibits converting private property to a public use or a public purpose without just compensation
50 if the owner does not consent, and this prohibition applies to the Federal government as well as states of the Union. It
51 was made applicable to states of the Union by the Fourteenth Amendment in 1868.

52 Fifth Amendment - Rights of Persons

53 No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or
54 indictment of a Grand Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual

1 service in time of War or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in
2 *jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be
3 deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public
4 use, without just compensation.
5 [United States Constitution, Fifth Amendment]

6 If the conversion of private property to public property is done without the express consent of the party affected by the
7 conversion and without compensation, then the following violations have occurred:

8 7.1. Violation of the Fifth Amendment “takings clause” above.

9 7.2. “Conversion” in violation of 18 U.S.C. §654.

10 7.3. Theft.

11 8. Because taxation involves converting private property to a public use, public purpose, and public office, then it involves
12 eminent domain if the owner of the property did not expressly consent to the taking:

13 Eminent domain. The power to take private property for public use by the state, municipalities, and private*
14 persons or corporations authorized to exercise functions of public character. Housing Authority of Cherokee
15 National of Oklahoma v. Langley, Okl., 555 P.2d. 1025, 1028. Fifth Amendment, U.S. Constitution.

16 In the United States, the power of eminent domain is founded in both the federal (Fifth Amend.) and state
17 *constitutions. However, the Constitution limits the power to taking for a public purpose and prohibits the
18 exercise of the power of eminent domain without just compensation to the owners of the property which is
19 taken. The process of exercising the power of eminent domain is commonly referred to as “condemnation”,
20 or, “expropriation”.

21 The right of eminent domain is the right of the state, through its regular organization, to reassert, either
22 temporarily or permanently, its dominion over any portion of the soil of the state on account of public exigency
23 and for the public good. Thus, in time of war or insurrection, the proper authorities may possess and hold any
24 part of the territory of the state for the common safety; and in time of peace the legislature may authorize the
25 appropriation of the same to public purposes, such as the opening of roads, construction of defenses, or providing
26 channels for trade or travel. Eminent domain is the highest and most exact idea of property remaining in the
27 government, or in the aggregate body of the people in their sovereign capacity. It gives a right to resume the
28 possession of the property in the manner directed by the constitution and the laws of the state, whenever the public
29 interest requires it.

30 See also Adequate compensation; Condemnation; Constructive taking; Damages; Expropriation; Fair market
31 value; Just compensation; Larger parcel; Public use; Take.
32 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Fifth Edition, p. 470]

33 9. The Fifth Amendment requires that any taking of private property without the consent of the owner must involve
34 compensation. The Constitution must be consistent with itself. The taxation clauses found in Article 1, Section 8,
35 Clauses 1 and 3 cannot conflict with the Fifth Amendment. The Fifth Amendment contains no exception to the
36 requirement for just compensation upon conversion of private property to a public use, even in the case of taxation. This
37 is why all taxes must be indirect excise taxes against people who provide their consent by applying for a license to engage
38 in the taxed activity: The application for the license constitutes constructive consent to donate the fruits of the activity
39 to a public use, public purpose, and public office.

40 10. There is only ONE condition in which the conversion of private property to public property does NOT require
41 compensation, which is when the owner donates the private property to a public use, public purpose, or public office.
42 To wit:

43 “Men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, -'life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness;’
44 *and to 'secure,' not grant or create, these rights, governments are instituted. That property [or income] which a
45 man has honestly acquired he retains full control of, subject to these limitations: First, that he shall not use it
46 to his neighbor's injury, and that does not mean that he must use it for his neighbor's benefit [e.g. SOCIAL
47 SECURITY, Medicare, and every other public “benefit”]; second, that if he devotes it to a public use, he gives
48 to the public a right to control that use; and third, that whenever the public needs require, the public may take
49 it upon payment of due compensation.”
50 [Budd v. People of State of New York, 143 U.S. 517 (1892)]

51 The above rules are summarized below:
52

Table 13: Rules for converting private property to a public use or a public office

|---|---|---|
| 1 | The owner of property justly acquired enjoys full and exclusive use and control over the property. This right includes the right to exclude government uses or ownership of said property. | Yes |
| 2 | He may not use the property to injure the equal rights of his neighbor. For instance, when you murder someone, the government can take your liberty and labor from you by putting you in jail or your life from you by instituting the death penalty against you. Both your life and your labor are “property”. Therefore, the basis for the “taking” was violation of the equal rights of a fellow sovereign “neighbor”. | No |
| 3 | He cannot be compelled or required to use it to “benefit” his neighbor. That means he cannot be compelled to donate the property to any franchise that would “benefit” his neighbor such as Social Security, Medicare, etc. | Yes |
| 4 | If he donates it to a public use, he gives the public the right to control that use. | Yes |
| 5 | Whenever the public needs require, the public may take it without his consent upon payment of due compensation. E.g. “eminent domain”. | No |

11. The following two methods are the ONLY methods involving consent of the owner that may be LAWFULLY employed to convert PRIVATE property into PUBLIC property. Anything else is unlawful and THEFT:

11.1. DIRECT CONVERSION: Owner donates the property by conveying title or possession to the government.⁵¹

11.2. INDIRECT CONVERSION: Owner assumes a PUBLIC status as a PUBLIC officer in the HOLDING of title to the property.⁵² All such statuses and the rights that attach to it are creations and property of the government, the use of which is a privilege. The status and all PUBLIC RIGHTS that attach to it conveys a “benefit” for which the status user must pay an excise tax. The tax acts as a rental or use fee for the status, which is government property.

12. You and ONLY you can authorize your private property to be donated to a public use, public purpose, and public office. No third party can lawfully convert or donate your private property to a public use, public purpose, or public office without your knowledge and express consent. If they do, they are guilty of theft and conversion, and especially if they are acting in a quasi-governmental capacity as a “withholding agent” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(16).

12.1. A withholding agent cannot file an information return connecting your earnings to a “trade or business” without you actually occupying a “public office” in the government BEFORE you filled out any tax form.

12.2. A withholding agent cannot file IRS Form W-2 against your earnings if you didn’t sign an IRS Form W-4 contract and thereby consent to donate your private property to a public office in the U.S. government and therefore a “public use”.

12.3. That donation process is accomplished by your own voluntary self-assessment and ONLY by that method. Before such a self-assessment, you are a “nontaxpayer” and a private person. After the assessment, you become a “taxpayer” and a public officer in the government engaged in the “trade or business” franchise.

12.4. In order to have an income tax liability, you must complete, sign, and “file” an income tax return and thereby assess yourself:

*“Our system of taxation is based upon voluntary assessment and payment, not distraint.”

By assessing yourself, you implicitly give your consent to allow the public the right to control that use of the formerly PRIVATE property donated to a public use.

⁵¹ An example of direct conversion would be the process of “registering” a vehicle with the Department of Motor Vehicles in your state. The act of registration constitutes consent by original ABSOLUTE owner to change the ownership of the property from ABSOLUTE to QUALIFIED and to convey legal title to the state and qualified title to himself.

⁵² An example of a PUBLIC status is statutory “taxpayer” (public office called “trade or business”), statutory “citizen”, statutory “driver” (vehicle), statutory voter (registered voters are public officers).

1 A THEFT of property has occurred on behalf of the government if it attempts to do any of the following:

- 2 1. Circumvents any of the above rules.
- 3 2. Blurs, confuses, or obfuscates the distinction between PRIVATE property and PUBLIC property.
- 4 3. Refuses to identify EXACTLY which of the mechanisms identified in item 10 above was employed in EACH specific 5 case where it:
 - 6 3.1. Asserts a right to regulate the use of private property.
 - 7 3.2. Asserts a right to convert the character of property from PRIVATE to PUBLIC.
 - 8 3.3. Asserts a right to TAX what you THOUGHT was PRIVATE property.

9 The next time someone from the government asserts a tax obligation, you might want to ask them the following very insightful
10 questions based on the content of this section:

- 11 1. Please describe at EXACTLY what point in the taxation process my earnings were LAWFULLY
12 converted from EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE to PUBLIC and thereby became SUBJECT to civil 13 statutory law and government jurisdiction. Check one or more. If none are checked, it shall 14 CONCLUSIVELY be PRESUMED that no tax is owed:
 - 15 a. ____ There is no private property. EVERYTHING belongs to us and we just “RENT”
16 it to you through taxes. Hence, we are NOT a “government” because there is not 17 private property to protect. Everything is PUBLIC property by default.
 - 18 b. ____ When I was born?
 - 19 c. ____ When I became a CONSTITUTIONAL citizen?
 - 20 d. ____ When I changed my domicile to a CONSTITUTIONAL and not STATUTORY 21 “State”.
 - 22 e. ____ When I indicated “U.S. citizen” or “U.S. resident” on a government form, and the 23 agent accepting it FALSELY PRESUMED that meant I was a STATUTORY “national 24 and citizen of the United States” per 8 U.S.C. §1401 rather than a CONSTITUTIONAL
25 “citizen of the United States”.
 - 26 f. ____ When I disclosed and used a Social Security Number or Taxpayer Identification
27 Number to my otherwise PRIVATE employer?
 - 28 g. ____ When I submitted my withholding documents, such as IRS Forms W-4 or W-8?
 - 29 h. ____ When the information return was filed against my otherwise PRIVATE earnings
30 that connected my otherwise PRIVATE earnings to a PUBLIC office in the national 31 government?
 - 32 i. ____ When I FAILED to rebut the false information return connecting my otherwise 33 PRIVATE earnings to a PUBLIC office in the national government?
 - 34 j. ____ When I filed a “taxpayer” form, such as IRS Forms 1040 or 1040NR?
 - 35 k. ____ When the IRS or state did an assessment under the authority of 26 U.S.C.
36 §6020(b).
 - 37 l. ____ When I failed to rebut a collection notice from the IRS?
 - 38 m. ____ When the IRS levied monies from my EXCLUSIVELY private account, which 39 must be held by a PUBLIC OFFICER per 26 U.S.C. §6331(a) before it can lawfully be 40 levied?
 - 41 n. ____ When the government decided they wanted to STEAL my money and simply 42 TOOK it, and were protected from the THEFT by a complicit United States Department
43 of Justice, who split the proceeds with them?
 - 44 o. ____ When I demonstrated legal ignorance of the law to the government sufficient to 45 overlook or not recognize that it is impossible to convert PRIVATE to PUBLIC without 46 my consent, as the Declaration of Independence requires.
- 47 2. How can the conversion from PRIVATE to PUBLIC occur without my consent and without 48 violating the Fifth Amendment Takings Clause?
- 49 3. If you won’t answer the previous questions, how the HELL am I supposed to receive 50 constitutionally mandated “reasonable notice” of the following:
 - 51 a. EXACTLY what property I exclusively own and therefore what property is NOT 52 subject to government taxation or regulation?
 - 53 b. EXACTLY what conduct is expected of me by the law?

4. EXACTLY where in your publications is the first question answered and why should I believe it if even you refuse to take responsibility for the accuracy of said publications?
5. EXACTLY where in the statutes and regulations is the first question answered?
6. How can you refuse to answer the above questions if your own mission statement says you are required to help people obey the law and comply with the law?

5.11 Unlawful methods abused by government to convert PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property

There are a LOT more ways to UNLAWFULLY convert PRIVATE property to PUBLIC property than there are ways to do it lawfully. This section will address the most prevalent methods abused by state actors so that you will immediately recognize them when you are victimized by them. For the purposes of this section CONTROL and OWNERSHIP are synonymous. Hence, if the TITLE of the property remains in your name but there is any aspect of control over the USE of said property that does not demonstrably injure others, then the property ceases to be absolutely owned and therefore is owned by the government.

Based on the previous section, there is ONLY one condition in which PRIVATE property can be converted to PUBLIC property without the consent of the owner, which is when it is used to INJURE the rights of others. Any other type of conversion is THEFT. The U.S. Supreme Court describes that process of illegally CONVERTING property from PRIVATE to PUBLIC as follows. Notice that they only reference the “citizen” as being the object of regulation, which implies that those who are “nonresidents” and “transient foreigners” are beyond the control of those governments in whose territory they have not chosen a civil domicile:

“The doctrine that each one must so use his own as not to injure his neighbor — sic utere tuo ut alienum non lædas — is the rule by which every member of society must possess and enjoy his property; and all legislation essential to secure this common and equal enjoyment is a legitimate exercise of State authority. Except in cases where property may be destroyed to arrest a conflagration or the ravages of pestilence, or be taken under the pressure of an immediate and overwhelming necessity to prevent a public calamity, the power of the State over the property of the citizen [NOT EVERYONE, but only those consent to become citizens by choosing a domicile] does not extend beyond such limits.”
[Munn v. Illinois, 94 U.S. 113 (1876)]

Below is a list of the more prevalent means abused by corrupt and covetous governments to illegally convert PRIVATE property to PUBLIC PROPERTY without the express consent of the owner. Many of these techniques are unrecognizable to the average American and therefore surreptitious, which is why they continue to be abused so regularly and chronically by public dis-servants:

1. Deceptively label statutory PRIVILEGES as RIGHTS.
2. Confuse STATUTORY citizenship with CONSTITUTIONAL citizenship.
3. Refuse to admit that the court you are litigating in is a FRANCHISE court that has no jurisdiction over non-franchisees or people who do not consent to the franchise.
4. Abuse the words “includes” and “including” to add anything they want to the definition of “person” or “individual” within the franchise. All such “persons” are public officers and not private human beings. See:

Legal Deception, Propaganda, and Fraud, Form #05.014
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

5. Refuse to impose the burden of proof upon the government to show that you EXPRESSLY CONSENTED to convert PRIVATE property into PUBLIC property BEFORE they can claim jurisdiction over it.
6. Silently PRESUME that the property in question is PUBLIC property connected with the “trade or business” (public office per 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26)) franchise and force you to prove that it ISN’T by CHALLENGING false information returns filed against it, such as IRS Forms W-2, 1098, 1099, and K-1. See:

Correcting Erroneous Information Returns, Form #04.001
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

7. Presume that the STATUTORY and CONSTITUTIONAL contexts for geographical words are the same. They are NOT, and in fact are mutually exclusive.
8. Presume that because you submitted an application for a franchise, that you:
 - 8.1. CONSENTED to the franchise and were not under duress.
 - 8.2. Were requesting a “benefit” and therefore agreed to the obligations associated with the “benefit”.

CALIFORNIA CIVIL CODE
 DIVISION 3. OBLIGATIONS

PART 2. CONTRACTS
CHAPTER 3. CONSENT
Section 1589

1589. A voluntary acceptance of the benefit of a transaction is equivalent to a consent to all the obligations arising from it, so far as the facts are known, or ought to be known, to the person accepting.

8.3. Agree to accept the obligations associated with the status described on the application, such as “taxpayer”, “driver”, “spouse”.

If you want to prevent the above, reserve all your rights on the application, indicate duress, and define all terms on the form as NOT connected with any government or statutory law.

9. PRESUME that the OWNER has a civil statutory status that he or she did not consent to, such as:

9.1. “spouse” under the family code of your state, which is a franchise.

9.2. “driver” under the vehicle code of your state, which is a franchise.

9.3. “taxpayer” under the tax code of your state, which is a franchise.

10. PRESUME in the case of physical PROPERTY that it was situated on federal territory to which the general and exclusive jurisdiction of the national government applies, even though it is not. This is primarily done by playing word games with geographical “words of art” such as “State” and “United States”.

11. Refuse to satisfy the burden of proving that the owner of the property expressly consented in a manner that he/she prescribed to change the status of either himself or the property over which they claim a public interest.

12. Judges will interfere with attempts to introduce evidence in the proceeding that challenges any of the above presumptions.

13. Unlawfully compel the use of Social Security Numbers or Taxpayer Identification Numbers in violation of 42 U.S.C. §408(a)(8) in connection with specific property as a precondition of rendering a usually essential service. It will be illegally compelled because:

13.1. The party against whom it was compelled was not a statutory “Taxpayer” or “person” or “individual” or to whom a duty to furnish said number lawfully applies.

13.2. The property was not located on territory subject to the territorial jurisdiction of that national government.

14. Use one franchise as a way to recruit franchisees under OTHER franchises that are completely unrelated. For instance, they will enact a vehicle code statute that allows for confiscation of REGISTERED vehicles only that are being operated by UNLICENSED drivers. That way, everyone who wants to protect their vehicle also indirectly has to ALSO become a statutory “driver” using the public road ways for commercial activity and thus subject to regulation by the state, even though they in fact ARE NOT intending to do so.

15. Issue a license and then refuse to recognize the authority and ability in court of those possessing said license to act in an EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE capacity. For instance:

15.1. They may have a contractor’s license but they are NOT allowed to operate as OTHER than a licensed contractor...OR are NOT allowed to operate in an exclusively PRIVATE capacity.

15.2. They may have a vehicle registration but are NOT allowed to remove it or NOT use it during times when they are NOT using the public roadways for hire, which is most of the time. In other words, the vehicle is the equivalent to “off duty” at some times. They allow police officers, who are PUBLIC officers, to be off duty, but not anyone who DOESN’T work for the government.

16. Issue or demand GOVERNMENT ID and then presume that the applicant is a statutory “resident” for ALL purposes, rather than JUST the specific reason the ID was issued. Since a “resident” is a public officer, in effect they are PRESUMING that you are a public officer 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, and that you HAVE to assume this capacity without pay or “benefit” and without the ability to quit. See:

Why Domicile and Becoming a “Taxpayer” Require Your Consent, Form #05.002, Section 13.6
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

What all of the above government abuses have in common is that they do one or more of the following:

1. Involve PRESUMPTIONS which violate due process of law and are therefore UNCONSTITUTIONAL. See:

Presumption: Chief Weapon for Unlawfully Enlarging Federal Jurisdiction, Form #05.017
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

2. Refuse to RECOGNIZE the existence of PRIVATE property or PRIVATE rights.

3. Violate the very purpose of establishing government to begin with, which is to PROTECT PRIVATE property by LEAVING IT ALONE and not regulating or benefitting from its use or abuse until AFTER it has been used to injure the equal rights of anyone OTHER than the original owner.

4. Violate the Unconstitutional Conditions Doctrine of the U.S. Supreme Court.

- 1 5. Needlessly interfere with the ownership or control of otherwise PRIVATE property.
- 2 6. Often act upon property BEFORE it is used to institute an injury, instead of AFTER. Whenever the law acts to
- 3 PREVENT future harm rather than CORRECT past harm, it requires the consent of the owner. The common law itself
- 4 only provides remedies for PAST harm and cannot act on future conduct, except in the case of injunctions where PAST
- 5 harm is already demonstrated.
- 6 7. Institute involuntary servitude against the owner in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment.
- 7 8. Represent an eminent domain over PRIVATE property in violation of the state constitution in most states.
- 8 9. Violate the takings clauses of the Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution.
- 9 10. Violate the maxim of law that the government has a duty to protect your right to NOT receive a “benefit” and NOT pay
- 10 for “benefits” that you don’t want or don’t need.

29 Below is how the U.S. Supreme Court characterizes efforts to violate the rules for converting PRIVATE property into

30 PUBLIC property listed above and thereby STEAL PRIVATE property. The text below the following line up to the end of

31 the section comes from the case indicated:

32 _____

33 Munn v. Illinois, 94 U.S. 113 (1876)

34 The question presented, therefore, is one of the greatest importance, — whether it is within the competency of a State to fix

35 the compensation which an individual may receive for the use of his own property in his private business, and for his services

36 in connection with it.

37 [. . .]

38 139*139 The validity of the legislation was, among other grounds, assailed in the State court as being in conflict with that

39 provision of the State Constitution which declares that no person shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property without due

40 process of law, and with that provision of the Fourteenth Amendment of the Federal Constitution which imposes a similar

41 restriction upon the action of the State. The State court held, in substance, that the constitutional provision was not violated

42 so long as the owner was not deprived of the title and possession of his property; and that it did not deny to the legislature the

43 power to make all needful rules and regulations respecting the use and enjoyment of the property, referring, in support of the

44 position, to instances of its action in prescribing the interest on money, in establishing and regulating public ferries and public

45 mills, and fixing the compensation in the shape of tolls, and in delegating power to municipal bodies to regulate the charges

46 of hackmen and draymen, and the weight and price of bread. In this court the legislation was also assailed on the same ground,

1 our jurisdiction arising upon the clause of the Fourteenth Amendment, ordaining that no State shall deprive any person of
2 life, liberty, or property without due process of law. But it would seem from its opinion that the court holds that property
3 loses something of its private character when employed in such a way as to be generally useful. The doctrine declared is that
4 property "becomes clothed with a public interest when used in a manner to make it of public consequence, and affect the
5 community at large;" and from such clothing the right of the legislature is deduced to control the use of the property, and to
6 determine the compensation which the owner may receive for it. When Sir Matthew Hale, and the sages of the law in his
7 day, spoke of property as affected by a public interest, and ceasing from that cause to be juris privati solely, that is,
8 ceasing to be held merely in private right, they referred to property dedicated by the owner to public uses, or to 9 property the use of which was granted by the government, or in connection with which special privileges were 10 conferred. Unless the property was thus dedicated, or some right bestowed by the government was held with the 11 property, either by specific grant or by prescription of so long a time as 140*140 to imply a grant originally, the 12 property was not affected by any public interest so as to be taken out of the category of property held in private right.
13 But it is not in any such sense that the terms "clothing property with a public interest" are used in this case. From the nature
14 of the business under consideration — the storage of grain — which, in any sense in which the words can be used, is a private
15 business, in which the public are interested only as they are interested in the storage of other products of the soil, or in articles
16 of manufacture, it is clear that the court intended to declare that, whenever one devotes his property to a business which is
17 useful to the public, — "affects the community at large," — the legislature can regulate the compensation which the owner
18 may receive for its use, and for his own services in connection with it. "When, therefore," says the court, "one devotes his
19 property to a use in which the public has an interest, he, in effect, grants to the public an interest in that use, and must submit
20 to be controlled by the public for the common good, to the extent of the interest he has thus created. He may withdraw his 21 grant by discontinuing the use; but, so long as he maintains the use, he must submit to the control." The building used by the 22 defendants was for the storage of grain: in such storage, says the court, the public has an interest; therefore the defendants,
23 by devoting the building to that storage, have granted the public an interest in that use, and must submit to have their 24 compensation regulated by the legislature.

25 If this be sound law, if there be no protection, either in the principles upon which our republican government is
26 founded, or in the prohibitions of the Constitution against such invasion of private rights, all property and all business
27 in the State are held at the mercy of a majority of its legislature. The public has no greater interest in the use of buildings
28 for the storage of grain than it has in the use of buildings for the residences of families, nor, indeed, anything like so great an
29 interest; and, according to the doctrine announced, the legislature may fix the rent of all tenements used for residences, without
30 reference to the cost of their erection. If the owner does not like the rates prescribed, he may cease renting his houses. He has 31 granted to the public, says the court, an interest in the use of the 141*141 buildings, and "he may withdraw his grant by 32 discontinuing the use; but, so long as he maintains the use, he must submit to the control." The public is interested in the 33 manufacture of cotton, woollen, and silken fabrics, in the construction of machinery, in the printing and publication of books
34 and periodicals, and in the making of utensils of every variety, useful and ornamental; indeed, there is hardly an enterprise
35 or business engaging the attention and labor of any considerable portion of the community, in which the public has
36 not an interest in the sense in which that term is used by the court in its opinion; and the doctrine which allows the
37 legislature to interfere with and regulate the charges which the owners of property thus employed shall make for its 38 use, that is, the rates at which all these different kinds of business shall be carried on, has never before been asserted,
39 so far as I am aware, by any judicial tribunal in the United States.

40 The doctrine of the State court, that no one is deprived of his property, within the meaning of the constitutional
41 inhibition, so long as he retains its title and possession, and the doctrine of this court, that, whenever one's property
42 is used in such a manner as to affect the community at large, it becomes by that fact clothed with a public interest,
43 and ceases to be juris privati only, appear to me to destroy, for all useful purposes, the efficacy of the constitutional
44 guaranty. All that is beneficial in property arises from its use, and the fruits of that use; and whatever deprives a
45 person of them deprives him of all that is desirable or valuable in the title and possession. If the constitutional guaranty
46 extends no further than to prevent a deprivation of title and possession, and allows a deprivation of use, and the fruits
47 of that use, it does not merit the encomiums it has received. Unless I have misread the history of the provision now
48 incorporated into all our State constitutions, and by the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments into our Federal Constitution, and
49 have misunderstood the interpretation it has received, it is not thus limited in its scope, and thus impotent for good. It has a
50 much more extended operation than either court, State, or Federal has given to it. The provision, it is to be observed,
51 places property under the same protection as life and liberty. Except by due process of law, no State can 142*142
52 deprive any person of either. The provision has been supposed to secure to every individual the essential conditions
53 for the pursuit of happiness; and for that reason has not been heretofore, and should never be, construed in any 54 narrow or restricted sense.

1 No State "shall deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law," says the Fourteenth Amendment
2 to the Constitution. By the term "life," as here used, something more is meant than mere animal existence. The inhibition
3 against its deprivation extends to all those limbs and faculties by which life is enjoyed. The provision equally prohibits the
4 mutilation of the body by the amputation of an arm or leg, or the putting out of an eye, or the destruction of any other organ
5 of the body through which the soul communicates with the outer world. The deprivation not only of life, but of whatever God
6 has given to everyone with life, for its growth and enjoyment, is prohibited by the provision in question, if its efficacy be not
7 frittered away by judicial decision.

8 By the term "liberty," as used in the provision, something more is meant than mere freedom from physical restraint or the
9 bounds of a prison. It means freedom to go where one may choose, and to act in such manner, not inconsistent with the equal
10 rights of others, as his judgment may dictate for the promotion of his happiness; that is, to pursue such callings and avocations
11 as may be most suitable to develop his capacities, and give to them their highest enjoyment.

12 The same liberal construction which is required for the protection of life and liberty, in all particulars in which life
13 and liberty are of any value, should be applied to the protection of private property. If the legislature of a State, under 14 pretence of providing for the public good, or for any other reason, can determine, against the consent of the owner,
15 the uses to which private property shall be devoted, or the prices which the owner shall receive for its uses, it can
16 deprive him of the property as completely as by a special act for its confiscation or destruction. If, for instance, the 17 owner is prohibited from using his building for the purposes for which it was designed, it is of little consequence that
18 he is permitted to retain the 143*143 title and possession; or, if he is compelled to take as compensation for its use less
19 than the expenses to which he is subjected by its ownership, he is, for all practical purposes, deprived of the property, 20 as effectually as if the legislature had ordered his forcible dispossession. If it be admitted that the legislature has any
21 control over the compensation, the extent of that compensation becomes a mere matter of legislative discretion. The
22 amount fixed will operate as a partial destruction of the value of the property, if it fall below the amount which the
23 owner would obtain by contract, and, practically, as a complete destruction, if it be less than the cost of retaining its 24 possession. There is, indeed, no protection of any value under the constitutional provision, which does not extend to 25 the use and income of the property, as well as to its title and possession.

26 This court has heretofore held in many instances that a constitutional provision intended for the protection of rights of private 27 property should be liberally construed. It has so held in the numerous cases where it has been called upon to give effect to 28 the provision prohibiting the States from legislation impairing the obligation of contracts; the provision being construed to
29 secure from direct attack not only the contract itself, but all the essential incidents which give it value and enable its owner
30 to enforce it. Thus, in Bronson v. Kinzie, reported in the 1st of Howard, it was held that an act of the legislature of Illinois,
31 giving to a mortgagor twelve months within which to redeem his mortgaged property from a judicial sale, and prohibiting its 32 sale for less than two-thirds of its appraised value, was void as applied to mortgages executed prior to its passage. It was 33 contended, in support of the act, that it affected only the remedy of the mortgagee, and did not impair the contract; but the 34 court replied that there was no substantial difference between a retrospective law declaring a particular contract to be
35 abrogated and void, and one which took away all remedy to enforce it, or encumbered the remedy with conditions that 36 rendered it useless or impracticable to pursue it. And, referring to the constitutional provision, the court said, speaking through 37 Mr. Chief Justice Taney, that

38 "it would be unjust to the memory of the distinguished men who framed it, to suppose that it was designed to 39 *protect a mere barren and 144*144 abstract right, without any practical operation upon the business of life. It*
40 was undoubtedly adopted as a part of the Constitution for a great and useful purpose. It was to maintain the 41 integrity of contracts, and to secure their faithful execution throughout this Union, by placing them under the 42 protection of the Constitution of the United States. And it would but Ill. become this court, under any 43 circumstances, to depart from the plain meaning of the words used, and to sanction a distinction between the 44 right and the remedy, which would render this provision illusive and nugatory, mere words of form, affording no
45 protection and producing no practical result."

46 And in Pumpelly v. Green Bay Company, 13 Wall. 177, the language of the court is equally emphatic. That case arose in 47 Wisconsin, the constitution of which declares, like the constitutions of nearly all the States, that private property shall not be
48 taken for public use without just compensation; and this court held that the flooding of one's land by a dam constructed across
49 a river under a law of the State was a taking within the prohibition, and required compensation to be made to the owner of 50 the land thus flooded. The court, speaking through Mr. Justice Miller, said: —

51 "It would be a very curious and unsatisfactory result, if, in construing a provision of constitutional law, always 52 understood to have been adopted for protection and security to the rights of the individual as against the 53 government, and which has received the commendation of jurists, statesmen, and commentators, as placing the

1 just principles of the common law on that subject beyond the power of ordinary legislation to change or control
2 them, it shall be held that, if the government refrains from the absolute conversion of real property to the uses of
3 the public, it can destroy its value entirely, can inflict irreparable and permanent injury to any extent, can, in 4 effect, subject it to total destruction without making any compensation, because, in the narrowest sense of the 5 word, it is not taken for the public use. Such a construction would pervert the constitutional provision into a
6 restriction on the rights of the citizen, as those rights stood at the common law, instead of the government, and
7 make it an authority for invasion of private right under the pretext of the public good, which had no warrant
8 in the laws or practices of our ancestors."

9 The views expressed in these citations, applied to this case, would render the constitutional provision invoked by the
10 defendants effectual to protect them in the uses, income, and revenues of their property, as well as in its title and
11 possession. The construction actually given by the State court and by this court makes the provision, in the language
12 of Taney, a protection to "a mere barren and abstract right, without any practical operation upon the business of 13 life," and renders it "illusive and nugatory, mere words of form, affording no protection and producing no practical
14 result."

15 The power of the State over the property of the citizen under the constitutional guaranty is well defined. The State may take 16 his property for public uses, upon just compensation being made therefor. It may take a portion of his property by way of 17 taxation for the support of the government. It may control the use and possession of his property, so far as may be necessary
18 for the protection of the rights of others, and to secure to them the equal use and enjoyment of their property. The doctrine
19 that each one must so use his own as not to injure his neighbor — sic utere tuo ut alienum non lædas — is the rule by 20 which every member of society must possess and enjoy his property; and all legislation essential to secure this common
21 and equal enjoyment is a legitimate exercise of State authority. Except in cases where property may be destroyed to
22 arrest a conflagration or the ravages of pestilence, or be taken under the pressure of an immediate and overwhelming
23 necessity to prevent a public calamity, the power of the State over the property of the citizen does not extend beyond
24 such limits.

25 It is true that the legislation which secures to all protection in their rights, and the equal use and enjoyment of their property,
26 embraces an almost infinite variety of subjects. Whatever affects the peace, good order, morals, and health of the community,
27 comes within its scope; and every one must use and enjoy his property subject to the restrictions which such legislation
28 imposes. What is termed the police power of the State, which, from the language often used respecting it, one would suppose
29 to be an undefined and irresponsible element in government, can only interfere with the conduct of individuals in their
30 intercourse with each other, and in the use of their property, so far 146*146 as may be required to secure these objects. The 31 compensation which the owners of property, not having any special rights or privileges from the government in
32 connection with it, may demand for its use, or for their own services in union with it, forms no element of consideration
33 in prescribing regulations for that purpose. If one construct a building in a city, the State, or the municipality exercising a
34 delegated power from the State, may require its walls to be of sufficient thickness for the uses intended; it may forbid the
35 employment of inflammable materials in its construction, so as not to endanger the safety of his neighbors; if designed as a
36 theatre, church, or public hall, it may prescribe ample means of egress, so as to afford facility for escape in case of accident;
37 it may forbid the storage in it of powder, nitro-glycerine, or other explosive material; it may require its occupants daily to
38 remove decayed vegetable and animal matter, which would otherwise accumulate and engender disease; it may exclude from
39 it all occupations and business calculated to disturb the neighborhood or infect the air. Indeed, there is no end of regulations
40 with respect to the use of property which may not be legitimately prescribed, having for their object the peace, good order,
41 safety, and health of the community, thus securing to all the equal enjoyment of their property; but in establishing these
42 regulations it is evident that compensation to the owner for the use of his property, or for his services in union with it, is not
43 a matter of any importance: whether it be one sum or another does not affect the regulation, either in respect to its utility or
44 mode of enforcement. One may go, in like manner, through the whole round of regulations authorized by legislation, State
45 or municipal, under what is termed the police power, and in no instance will he find that the compensation of the owner for
46 the use of his property has any influence in establishing them. It is only where some right or privilege is conferred by the
47 government or municipality upon the owner, which he can use in connection with his property, or by means of which
48 the use of his property is rendered more valuable to him, or he thereby enjoys an advantage over others, that the
49 compensation to be received by him becomes a legitimate matter of regulation. Subversion to the regulation of
50 compensation in such cases is an implied condition 147*147 of the grant, and the State, in exercising its power of 51 prescribing the compensation, only determines the conditions upon which its concession shall be enjoyed. When the 52 privilege ends, the power of regulation ceases.

53 Jurists and writers on public law find authority for the exercise of this police power of the State and the numerous regulations
54 which it prescribes in the doctrine already stated, that everyone must use and enjoy his property consistently with the rights
55 of others, and the equal use and enjoyment by them of their property. "The police power of the State," says the Supreme

1 Court of Vermont, "extends to the protection of the lives, limbs, health, comfort, and quiet of all persons, and the protection
2 of all property in the State. According to the maxim, sic utere tuo ut alienum non laedas, which, being of universal application,
3 it must, of course, be within the range of legislative action to define the mode and manner in which every one may so use his
4 own as not to injure others." Thorpe v. Rutland & Burlington Railroad Co., 27 Vt. 149. "We think it a settled principle
5 growing out of the nature of well-ordered civil society," says the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, "that every holder of 6 property, however absolute and unqualified may be his title, holds it under the implied liability that his use of it shall not be
7 injurious to the equal enjoyment of others having an equal right to the enjoyment of their property, nor injurious to the rights
8 of the community." Commonwealth v. Alger, 7 Cush. 84. In his Commentaries, after speaking of the protection afforded by 9 the Constitution to private property, Chancellor Kent says: —

10 "But though property be thus protected, it is still to be understood that the law-giver has the right to prescribe
11 the mode and manner of using it, so far as may be necessary to prevent the abuse of the right, to the injury or 12 annoyance of others, or of the public. The government may, by general regulations, interdict such uses of property
13 as would create nuisances and become dangerous to the lives, or health, or peace, or comfort of the citizens.
14 Unwholesome trades, slaughter-houses, operations offensive to the senses, the deposit of powder, the application
15 of steam-power to propel cars, the building with combustible materials, and the burial of the dead, may all be
16 *interdicted by law, in the-midst of dense masses of population, 148*148 on the general and rational principle*
17 that every person ought so to use his property as not to injure his neighbors, and that private interests must be 18 made subservient to the general interests of the community. 2 Kent, 340.

19 The Italics in these citations are mine. The citations show what I have already stated to be the case, that the regulations which 20 the State, in the exercise of its police power, authorizes with respect to the use of property are entirely independent of any 21 question of compensation for such use, or for the services of the owner in connection with it.

22 There is nothing in the character of the business of the defendants as warehousemen which called for the interference
23 complained of in this case. Their buildings are not nuisances; their occupation of receiving and storing grain infringes upon
24 no rights of others, disturbs no neighborhood, infects not the air, and in no respect prevents others from using and enjoying
25 their property as to them may seem best. The legislation in question is nothing less than a bold assertion of absolute
26 power by the State to control at its discretion the property and business of the citizen, and fix the compensation he
27 shall receive. The will of the legislature is made the condition upon which the owner shall receive the fruits of his 28 property and the just reward of his labor, industry, and enterprise. "That government," says Story, "can scarcely be
29 deemed to be free where the rights of property are left solely dependent upon the will of a legislative body without any
30 restraint. The fundamental maxims of a free government seem to require that the rights of personal liberty and private 31 property should be held sacred." Wilkeson v. Leland, 2 Pet. 657. The decision of the court in this case gives 32 unrestrained license to legislative will.

33 The several instances mentioned by counsel in the argument and by the court in its opinion, in which legislation has fixed the 34 compensation which parties may receive for the use of their property and services, do not militate against the views I have
35 expressed of the power of the State over the property of the citizen. They were mostly cases of public ferries, bridges, and 36 turnpikes, of wharfingers, hackmen, and draymen, and of interest on money. In all these cases, except that of interest on
37 money, which I shall presently notice there was some special 149*149 privilege granted by the State or municipality; and no
38 one, I suppose, has ever contended that the State had not a right to prescribe the conditions upon which such privilege should 39 be enjoyed. The State in such cases exercises no greater right than an individual may exercise over the use of his own
40 property when leased or loaned to others. The conditions upon which the privilege shall be enjoyed being stated or 41 implied in the legislation authorizing its grant, no right is, of course, impaired by their enforcement. The recipient of 42 the privilege, in effect, stipulates to comply with the conditions. It matters not how limited the privilege conferred, its
43 acceptance implies an assent to the regulation of its use and the compensation for it. The privilege which the hackman
44 and drayman have to the use of stands on the public streets, not allowed to the ordinary coachman or laborer with teams,
45 constitutes a sufficient warrant for the regulation of their fares. In the case of the warehousemen of Chicago, no right or
46 privilege is conferred by the government upon them; and hence no assent of theirs can be alleged to justify any interference
47 with their charges for the use of their property.

48 The quotations from the writings of Sir Matthew Hale, so far from supporting the positions of the court, do not recognize the
49 interference of the government, even to the extent which I have admitted to be legitimate. They state merely that the franchise
50 of a public ferry belongs to the king, and cannot be used by the subject except by license from him, or prescription time out
51 of mind; and that when the subject has a public wharf by license from the king, or from having dedicated his private wharf
52 to the public, as in the case of a street opened by him through his own land, he must allow the use of the wharf for reasonable
53 and moderate charges. Thus, in the first quotation which is taken from his treatise De Jure Maris, Hale says that the king has

1 "a right of franchise or privilege, that no man may set up a common ferry for all passengers without a prescription
2 time out of mind or a charter from the king. He may make a ferry for his own use or the use of his family, but not
3 for the common use of all the king's subjects passing that way; because it doth in consequent tend to a common
4 *charge, and is become a thing of public interest and use, and every man for his passage 150*150 pays a toll,*
5 which is a common charge, and every ferry ought to be under a public regulation, viz., that it give attendance at 6 due times, keep a boat in due order, and take but reasonable toll; for if he fail in these he is finable."

7 Of course, one who obtains a license from the king to establish a public ferry, at which "every man for his passage pays a
8 toll," must take it on condition that he charge only reasonable toll, and, indeed, subject to such regulations as the king may 9 prescribe.

10 In the second quotation, which is taken from his treatise De Portibus Maris, Hale says: —

11 "A man, for his own private advantage, may, in a port or town, set up a wharf or crane, and may take what rates
12 he and his customers can agree for cranage, wharfage, housellage, pesage; for he doth no more than is lawful
13 for any man to do, viz., makes the most of his own. If the king or subject have a public wharf, unto which all
14 persons that come to that port must come and unlade or lade their goods as for the purpose, because they are the
15 wharves only licensed by the king, or because there is no other wharf in that port, as it may fall out where a port
16 is newly erected, in that case there cannot be taken arbitrary and excessive duties for cranage, wharfage, pesage,
17 &c.; neither can they be enhanced to an immoderate rate, but the duties must be reasonable and moderate, though
18 settled by the king's license or charter. For now the wharf and crane and other conveniences are affected with a
19 public interest, and they cease to be juris privati only; as if a man set out a street in new building on his own land,
20 it is now no longer bare private interest, but is affected by the public interest."

21 The purport of which is, that if one have a public wharf, by license from the government or his own dedication, he must exact
22 only reasonable compensation for its use. By its dedication to public use, a wharf is as much brought under the common-law
23 rule of subjection to reasonable charges as it would be if originally established or licensed by the crown. All property
24 dedicated to public use by an individual owner, as in the case of land for a park or street, falls at once, by force of the 25 dedication, under the law governing property appropriated by the government for similar purposes.

26 I do not doubt the justice of the encomiums passed upon Sir 151*151 Matthew Hale as a learned jurist of his day; but I am
27 unable to perceive the pertinency of his observations upon public ferries and public wharves, found in his treatises on "The 28 Rights of the Sea" and on "The Ports of the Sea," to the questions presented by the warehousing law of Illinois, undertaking
29 to regulate the compensation received by the owners of private property, when that property is used for private purposes.

30 The principal authority cited in support of the ruling of the court is that of Alnutt v. Inglis, decided by the King's Bench, and
31 reported in 12 East. But that case, so far from sustaining the ruling, establishes, in my judgment, the doctrine that everyone
32 has a right to charge for his property, or for its use, whatever he pleases, unless he enjoys in connection with it some right or
33 privilege from the government not accorded to others; and even then it only decides what is above stated in the quotations
34 from Sir Matthew Hale, that he must submit, so long as he retains the right or privilege, to reasonable rates. In that case, the
35 London Dock Company, under certain acts of Parliament, possessed the exclusive right of receiving imported goods into
36 their warehouses before the duties were paid; and the question was whether the company was bound to receive them for a
37 reasonable reward, or whether it could arbitrarily fix its compensation. In deciding the case, the Chief Justice, Lord
38 Ellenborough, said: —

39 "There is no doubt that the general principle is favored, both in law and justice, that every man may fix what
40 price he pleases upon his own property, or the use of it; but if, for a particular purpose, the public have a right
41 to resort to his premises and make use of them, and he have a monopoly in them for that purpose, if he will take
42 the benefit of that monopoly, he must, as an equivalent, perform the duty attached to it on reasonable terms."

43 And, coming to the conclusion that the company's warehouses were invested with "the monopoly of a public privilege," he 44 held that by law the company must confine itself to take reasonable rates; and added, that if the crown should thereafter think
45 it advisable to extend the privilege more generally to other persons and places, so that the public would not be restrained from
46 exercising a choice of warehouses for the purpose, the company might be enfranchised from the restriction which 152*152
47 attached to a monopoly; but, so long as its warehouses were the only places which could be resorted to for that purpose, the 48 company was bound to let the trade have the use of them for a reasonable hire and reward. The other judges of the court
49 placed their concurrence in the decision upon the ground that the company possessed a legal monopoly of the business, having
50 the only warehouses where goods imported could be lawfully received without previous payment of the duties. From this 51 case it appears that it is only where some privilege in the bestowal of the government is enjoyed in connection with the 52 property, that it is affected with a public interest in any proper sense of the terms. It is the public privilege conferred with the 53 use of the property which creates the public interest in it.

1 In the case decided by the Supreme Court of Alabama, where a power granted to the city of Mobile to license bakers, and to
2 regulate the weight and price of bread, was sustained so far as regulating the weight of the bread was concerned, no question
3 was made as to the right to regulate the price. 3 Ala. 137. There is no doubt of the competency of the State to prescribe the
4 weight of a loaf of bread, as it may declare what weight shall constitute a pound or a ton. But I deny the power of any
5 legislature under our government to fix the price which one shall receive for his property of any kind. If the power can be
6 exercised as to one article, it may as to all articles, and the prices of everything, from a calico gown to a city mansion, may
7 be the subject of legislative direction.

8 Other instances of a similar character may, no doubt, be cited of attempted legislative interference with the rights of 9 property. The act of Congress of 1820, mentioned by the court, is one of them. There Congress undertook to confer upon
10 the city of Washington power to regulate the rates of wharfage at private wharves, and the fees for sweeping chimneys. Until 11 some authoritative adjudication is had upon these and similar provisions, I must adhere, notwithstanding the legislation, to 12 my opinion, that those who own property have the right to fix the compensation at which they will allow its use, and that
13 those who control services have a right to fix the compensation at which they will be rendered. The chimney-sweeps may, I
14 think, safely claim all the compensation which 153*153 they can obtain by bargain for their work. In the absence of any 15 contract for property or services, the law allows only a reasonable price or compensation; but what is a reasonable price in 16 any case will depend upon a variety of considerations, and is not a matter for legislative determination.

17 The practice of regulating by legislation the interest receivable for the use of money, when considered with reference
18 to its origin, is only the assertion of a right of the government to control the extent to which a privilege granted by it
19 may be exercised and enjoyed. By the ancient common law it was unlawful to take any money for the use of money; 20 all who did so were called usurers, a term of great reproach, and were exposed to the censure of the church; and if,
21 after the death of a person, it was discovered that he had been a usurer whilst living, his chattels were forfeited to the
22 king, and his lands escheated to the lord of the fee. No action could be maintained on any promise to pay for the use
23 of money, because of the unlawfulness of the contract. Whilst the common law thus condemned all usury, Parliament
24 interfered, and made it lawful to take a limited amount of interest. It was not upon the theory that the legislature
25 could arbitrarily fix the compensation which one could receive for the use of property, which, by the general law, was
26 the subject of hire for compensation, that Parliament acted, but in order to confer a privilege which the common law
27 denied. The reasons which L.Ed. to this legislation originally have long since ceased to exist; and if the legislation is 28 still persisted in, it is because a long acquiescence in the exercise of a power, especially when it was rightfully assumed
29 in the first instance, is generally received as sufficient evidence of its continued lawfulness. 10 Bac. Abr. 264.[*]

30 There were also recognized in England, by the ancient common law, certain privileges as belonging to the lord of the manor,
31 which grew out of the state of the country, the condition of the people, and the relation existing between him and 154*154
32 his tenants under the feudal system. Among these was the right of the lord to compel all the tenants within his manor to grind
33 their corn at his mill. No one, therefore, could set up a mill except by his license, or by the license of the crown, unless he 34 claimed the right by prescription, which presupposed a grant from the lord or crown, and, of course, with such license went
35 the right to regulate the tolls to be received. Woolrych on the Law of Waters, c. 6, of Mills. Hence originated the doctrine
36 which at one time obtained generally in this country, that there could be no mill to grind corn for the public, without a grant
37 or license from the public authorities. It is still, I believe, asserted in some States. This doctrine being recognized, all the rest
38 followed. The right to control the toll accompanied the right to control the establishment of the mill.

39 It requires no comment to point out the radical differences between the cases of public mills and interest on money, and that 40 of the warehouses in Chicago. No prerogative or privilege of the crown to establish warehouses was ever asserted at the 41 common law. The business of a warehouseman was, at common law, a private business and is so in its nature. It has
42 no special privileges connected with it, nor did the law ever extend to it any greater protection than it extended to all
43 other private business. No reason can be assigned to justify legislation interfering with the legitimate profits of that 44 business, that would not equally justify an intermeddling with the business of every man in the community, so soon,
45 at least, as his business became generally useful.

46 5.12 The public office is a “fiction of law”

47 The fictitious public office and “trade or business” to which all the government’s enforcement rights attach is called a “fiction
48 of law” by some judges. Here is the definition:

49 “Fiction of law. An assumption or supposition of law that something which is or may be false is true, or that a state of facts exists which
50 has never really taken place. An assumption [PRESUMPTION], for purposes of justice, of a fact that does not or may not exist. A rule
51 of law which assumes as true, and will not allow to be disproved, something which is false, but not impossible. Ryan v. Motor Credit Co.,

30 N.J.Eq. 531, 23 A.2d. 607, 621. These assumptions are of an innocent or even beneficial character, and are made for the advancement of the ends of justice. They secure this end chiefly by the extension of procedure from cases to which it is applicable to other cases to which it is not strictly applicable, the ground of inapplicability being some difference of an immaterial character. See also Legal fiction." [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 623]

The key elements of all fictions of law from the above are:

1. A PRESUMPTION of the existence or truth of an otherwise nonexistent thing.
2. The presumptions are of an INNOCENT or BENEFICIAL character.
3. The presumptions are made for the advancement of the ends of justice.
4. All of the above goals are satisfied against BOTH parties to the dispute, not just the government. Otherwise the constitutional requirement for equal protection and equal treatment has been transgressed.

The fictitious public office that forms the heart of the modern SCAM income tax clearly does not satisfy the elements for being a "fiction of law" because:

1. All presumptions that violate due process of law or result in an injury to EITHER party affected by the presumption are unconstitutional. See:

Presumption: Chief Weapon for Unlawfully Enlarging Federal Jurisdiction, Form #05.017
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

2. The presumption does not benefit BOTH parties to a dispute that involves it. It ONLY benefits the government at the expense of innocent nontaxpayers and EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE parties.
3. The presumption of the existence of the BOGUS office does NOT advance justice for BOTH parties to any dispute involving it. The legal definition of justice is the RIGHT TO BE LEFT ALONE. The presumption of the existence of the BOGUS office ensures that those who do not want to volunteer for the office but who are the subject of FALSE information returns are NEVER left alone and are continually harassed illegally by the IRS. Here is the legal definition of "justice" so you can see for yourself:

"PAULSEN, ETHICS (Thilly's translation), chap. 9.

Justice, as a moral habit, is that tendency of the will and mode of conduct which refrains from disturbing the lives and interests of others [INCLUDING us], and, as far as possible, hinders such interference on the part of others. This virtue springs from the individual's respect for his fellows as ends in themselves and as his co equals. The different spheres of interests may be roughly classified as follows: body and life; the family, or the extended individual life; property, or the totality of the instruments of action; honor, or the ideal existence; and finally freedom, or the possibility of fashioning one's life as an end in itself. The law defends these different spheres, thus giving rise to a corresponding number of spheres of rights, each being protected by a prohibition. . . . To violate the rights, to interfere with the interests of others, is injustice. All injustice is ultimately directed against the life of the neighbor; it is an open avowal that the latter is not an end in itself, having the same value as the individual's own life. The general formula of the duty of justice may therefore be stated as follows: Do no wrong yourself, and permit no wrong to be done, so far as lies in your power; or, expressed positively: Respect and protect the right."

[[Readings on the History and System of the Common Law, Second Edition, Roscoe Pound, 1925, p. 2\]](#)

Therefore it is clearly a CRUEL FRAUD for any judge to justify his PRESUMPTION of the existence of the BOGUS public office that is the subject of the excise tax by calling it a "fiction of law".

If you want to see an example of WHY this fiction of law was created as a way to usurp jurisdiction, read the following U.S. Supreme Court cite:

"It is true, that the person who accepts an office may be supposed to enter into a compact to be answerable to the government, which he serves, for any violation of his duty; and, having taken the oath of office, he would unquestionably be liable, in such case, to a prosecution for perjury in the Federal Courts. But because one man, by his own act, renders himself amenable to a particular jurisdiction, shall another man, who has not incurred a similar obligation, be implicated? If, in other words, it is sufficient to vest a jurisdiction in this court, that a Federal Officer is concerned; if it is a sufficient proof of a case arising under a law of the United States to affect other persons, that such officer is bound, by law, to discharge his duty with fidelity; a source of jurisdiction is opened, which must inevitably overflow and destroy all the barriers between the judicial authorities of the State and the general government. Anything which can prevent a Federal Officer from the punctual, as well as from an impartial, performance of his duty; an assault and battery; or the recovery of a debt, as well as the offer of a bribe, may be made a foundation of the jurisdiction of this court; and, considering the constant disposition of power to extend the sphere of its influence, fictions will be resorted to, when real cases cease to occur. A mere fiction, that the defendant is in the custody of the marshal, has rendered the jurisdiction of the King's Bench universal in all personal actions."

The reason for the controversy in the above case was that the bribe occurred on state land by a nonresident domiciled in the state, and therefore that federal law did not apply. In the above case, the court admitted that a "fiction" was resorted to usurp jurisdiction because no legal authority could be found. The fact that the defendant was in custody created the jurisdiction. It didn't exist before they KIDNAPPED him. Notice also that they mention an implied "compact" or contract related to the office being exercised, and that THAT compact was the source of their jurisdiction over the officer who was bribed. This is the SAME contract to which all those who engage in a statutory "trade or business" are party to.

5.13 "Public official" v. "Public office"

There is much confusion over what a "public office" is within the federal government, and its proper relationship to the term "public official". This confusion was very deliberately created and maintained by the government because they don't want you to know the following:

1. That the federal income tax described in Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle A is an excise tax or "privilege tax" upon a voluntary federal franchise called a "public office".
2. What constitutes such a "public office" so that you can avoid the franchise and "unvolunteer".

You can search every IRS publication as we have and you will NEVER see a definition of what a constitutes a "public office", because they don't want you to unvolunteer and become a "nontaxpayer". Therefore, you will have to read and study the law as we have to deduce the full extent of the deception before you can regain your sovereignty and liberty and "fire" the government and your covetous "public servants" as your protector.

Those engaged in a "public office", for instance, need not ALSO be described as "public officials". In fact, "public officials" are an elected or appointed subset of all "public offices". We must remember that the tax described in Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code is a tax upon a federal franchise called a "public office", and NOT upon "public officials". This is also confirmed by 26 U.S.C. §6331\(a\), which describes who the real audience for the income tax is:

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 64 > Subchapter D > PART II > § 6331
§6331. Levy and distraint

(a) Authority of Secretary

If any person liable to pay any tax neglects or refuses to pay the same within 10 days after notice and demand, it shall be lawful for the Secretary to collect such tax (and such further sum as shall be sufficient to cover the expenses of the levy) by levy upon all property and rights to property (except such property as is exempt under section 6334) belonging to such person or on which there is a lien provided in this chapter for the payment of such tax. Levy may be made upon the accrued salary or wages of any officer, employee, or elected official, of the United States, the District of Columbia, or any agency or instrumentality of the United States or the District of Columbia, by serving a notice of levy on the employer (as defined in section 3401(d)) of such officer, employee, or elected official. If the Secretary makes a finding that the collection of such tax is in jeopardy, notice and demand for immediate payment of such tax may be made by the Secretary and, upon failure or refusal to pay such tax, collection thereof by levy shall be lawful without regard to the 10-day period provided in this section.

Note the use of the word "agency or instrumentality". This is an admission that the tax is not JUST upon "employees" or "public officials", but upon all "public offices". Every instrumentality of the federal government, in fact, constitutes a "public office". We will therefore spend the rest of this section describing exactly what constitutes a "public office", and this description is extracted from section 10 of the following pamphlet:

The "Trade or Business" Scam, Form #05.001
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

The subject of exactly what constitutes a "public office" within the meaning described in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\) is not defined in any IRS publication we could find. The reason is quite clear: the "trade or business" scam is the Achilles heel of the IRS fraud and both the IRS and the Courts are loath to even talk about it because there is nothing they can defend themselves with other than unsubstantiated presumption created by the abuse of the word "includes" and certain key "words of art". Therefore, those who want to know how they could lawfully be classified as a "public office" will have to answer that question completely on their own, which is what we will attempt to do in this section.

1 We begin our search with a definition of “public office” from Black’s Dictionary:

2 Public office. The right, authority, and duty created and conferred by law, by which for a given period, either
3 fixed by law or enduring at the pleasure of the creating power, an individual is invested with some portion of the 4 sovereign functions of government for the benefit of the public. Walker v. Rich, 79 Cal.App. 139, 249 P. 56, 58.
5 An agency for the state, the duties of which involve in their performance the exercise of some portion of the 6 sovereign power, either great or small. Yaselli v. Goff, C.C.A., 12 F.2d. 396, 403, 56 A.L.R. 1239; Lacey v. State,
7 13 Ala.App. 212, 68 So. 706, 710; Curtin v. State, 61 Cal.App. 377, 214 P. 1030, 1035; Shelmadine v. City of

10 such time as de- notes duration and continuance, with Independent power to control the property of the public,
11 or with public functions to be exercised in the supposed interest of the people, the service to be compensated by 12 a stated yearly salary, and the occupant having a designation or title, the position so created is a public office.
13 State v. Brennan, 49 Ohio.St. 33, 29 N.E. 593.
14 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, p. 1235]

15 Black’s Law Dictionary Sixth Edition further clarifies the meaning of a “public office” below:

16 “Essential characteristics of a ‘public office’ are:
17 (1) Authority conferred by law,
18 (2) Fixed tenure of office, and
19 (3) Power to exercise some of the sovereign functions of government.
20
21 Key element of such test is that “officer is carrying out a sovereign function. Spring v. Constantino, 168 Conn.
22 563, 362 A.2d. 871, 875. Essential elements to establish public position as ‘public office’ are:
23 Position must be created by Constitution, legislature, or through authority conferred by legislature.
24 Portion of sovereign power of government must be delegated to position,
25 Duties and powers must be defined, directly or implied, by legislature or through legislative authority.
26 Duties must be performed independently without control of superior power other than law, and 27 Position must have some permanency.”
28 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1230]

29 American Jurisprudence Legal Encyclopedia further clarifies what a “public office” is as follows:

30 “As expressed otherwise, the powers delegated to a public officer are held in trust for the people and are to be
31 exercised in behalf of the government or of all citizens who may need the intervention of the officer.⁵³
32 Furthermore, the view has been expressed that all public officers, within whatever branch and whatever level
33 of government, and whatever be their private vocations, are trustees of the people, and accordingly labor under
34 every disability and prohibition imposed by law upon trustees relative to the making of personal financial gain
35 from a discharge of their trusts.⁵⁴ That is, a public officer occupies a fiduciary relationship to the political 36 entity on whose behalf he or she serves.⁵⁵ and owes a fiduciary duty to the public.⁵⁶ It has been said that the
37 fiduciary responsibilities of a public officer cannot be less than those of a private individual.⁵⁷ Furthermore,
38 it has been stated that any enterprise undertaken by the public official which tends to weaken public confidence
39 and undermine the sense of security for individual rights is against public policy.⁵⁸”
40 *[63C American Jurisprudence 2d, Public Officers and Employees, §247 (1999)]

41 Based on the foregoing, one cannot be a “public officer” if:

1. There is not a statute or constitutional authority that specifically creates the office. All “public offices” can only be created through legislative authority.
2. Their duties are not specifically and exactly enumerated in some Act of Congress.
3. They have a boss or immediate supervisor. All duties must be performed INDEPENDENTLY.
4. They have anyone but the law and the courts to immediately supervise their activities.
5. They are serving as a “public officer” in a location NOT specifically authorized by the law. The law must create the office and specify exactly where it is to be exercised. 4 U.S.C. §72 says ALL public offices of the federal and national government MUST be exercised ONLY in the District of Columbia and not elsewhere, except as expressly provided by law.
6. Their position does not carry with it some kind of fiduciary duty to the “public” which in turn is documented in and enforced by enacted law itself.
7. The beneficiary of their fiduciary duty is other than the “public”. Public service is a public trust, and the beneficiary of the trust is the public at large and not any one specific individual or group of individuals. See 5 C.F.R. §2635.101(b) and Executive Order 12731.

All public officers must take an oath. The oath, in fact, is what creates the fiduciary duty that attaches to the office. This is confirmed by the definition of "public official" in Black’s Law Dictionary:

A person who, upon being issued a commission, taking required oath, enters upon, for a fixed tenure, a position called an office where he or she exercises in his or her own right some of the attributes of sovereign he or she serves for benefit of public. Macy v. Heverin, 44 Md.App. 358, 408 A.2d. 1067, 1069. The holder of a public office though not all persons in public employment are public officials, because public official's position requires the exercise of some portion of the sovereign power, whether great or small. Town of Arlington v. Bds. of Conciliation and Arbitration, Mass., 352 N.E.2d. 914. [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1230]

The oath for United States federal and state officials was prescribed in the very first enactment of Congress on March 4, 1789 as follows:

*Statutes at Large, March 4, 1789
1 Stat. 23-24*

SEC. 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and [House of] Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the oath or affirmation required by the sixth article of the Constitution of the United States, shall be administered in the form following, to wit : " I, A, B. do solemnly swear or affirm (as the case may be) that I will support the Constitution of the United States." The said oath or affirmation shall be administered within three days after the passing of this act, by any one member of the Senate, to the President of the Senate, and by him to all the members and to the secretary; and by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, to all the members who have not taken a similar oath, by virtue of a particular resolution of the said House, and to the clerk: and in case of the absence of any member from the service of either House, at the time prescribed for taking the said oath or affirmation, the same shall be administered to such member, when he shall appear to take his seat.

SEC. 2. And he it further enacted, That at the first session of Congress after every general election of Representatives, the oath or affirmation aforesaid, shall be administered by any one member of the House of Representatives to the Speaker; and by him to all the members present, and to the clerk, previous to entering on any other business; and to the members who shall afterwards appear, previous to taking their seats. The President of the Senate for the time being, shall also administer the said oath or affirmation to each Senator who shall hereafter be elected, previous to his taking his seat: and in any future case of a President of the Senate, who shall not have taken the said oath or affirmation, the same shall be administered to him by any one of the members of the Senate.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted. That the members of the several State legislatures, at the next sessions of the said legislatures, respectively, and all executive and judicial officers of the several States, who have been heretofore chosen or appointed, or who shall be chosen or appointed before the first day of August next, and who shall then be in office, shall, within one month thereafter, take the same oath or affirmation, except where they shall have taken it before; which may be administered by any person authorized by the law of the State, in which such office shall be holden, to administer oaths. And the members of the several State legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers of the several States, who shall be chosen or appointed after the said first day of August, shall, before they proceed to execute the duties of their respective offices, take the foregoing oath or affirmation, which shall be administered by the person or persons, who by the law of the State shall be authorized to administer the oath of office; and the person or persons so administering the oath hereby required to be taken, shall cause a re- cord or certificate thereof to be made, in the same manner, as, by the law of the State, he or they shall be directed to record or certify the oath of office.

SEC. 4. And he it further enacted, That all officers appointed, or hereafter to be appointed under the authority of the United States, shall, before they act in their respective offices, take the same oath or affirmation, which shall be administered by the person or persons who shall be authorized by law to administer to such officers their respective oaths of office; and such

1 officers shall incur the same penalties in case of failure, as shall be imposed by law in case of failure in taking their respective
2 oaths of office.

3 SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That the secretary of the Senate, and the clerk of the House of Representatives for the
4 time being, shall, at the time of taking the oath or affirmation aforesaid, each take an oath or affirmation in the words
5 following, to wit : "I, A. B. secretary of the Senate, or clerk of the House of Representatives (as the case may be) of the 6 United States of America, do solemnly swear or affirm, that I will truly and faithfully discharge the duties of my said office,
7 to the best of my knowledge and abilities."

8 Based on the above, the following persons within the government are "public officers":

- 9 1. Federal Officers:
 - 10 1.1. The President of the United States.
 - 11 1.2. Members of the House of Representatives.
 - 12 1.3. Members of the Senate.
 - 13 1.4. All appointed by the President of the United States.
 - 14 1.5. The secretary of the Senate.
 - 15 1.6. The clerk of the House of Representatives.
 - 16 1.7. All district, circuit, and supreme court justices.
- 17 2. State Officers:
 - 18 2.1. The governor of the state.
 - 19 2.2. Members of the House of Representatives.
 - 20 2.3. Members of the Senate.
 - 21 2.4. All district, circuit, and supreme court justices of the state.

22 The "public offices" described in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26) within the definition of "trade or business" are ONLY public offices
23 located in the District of Columbia and not elsewhere. To wit:

24 TITLE 4 > CHAPTER 3 > § 72
25 § 72. Public offices; at seat of Government

26 All offices attached to the seat of government shall be exercised in the District of Columbia, and not elsewhere,
27 except as otherwise expressly provided by law.
28 [SOURCE: <http://law.cornell.edu/uscode/text/4/72>]

29 The only provision of any act of Congress that we have been able to find which authorizes "public offices" outside the District
30 of Columbia as expressly required by law above, is 48 U.S.C. §1612, which authorizes enforcement of the Internal Revenue
31 Code within the U.S. Virgin Islands. To wit:

32 TITLE 48 > CHAPTER 12 > SUBCHAPTER V > § 1612
33 § 1612. Jurisdiction of District Court

34 (a) Jurisdiction

35 The District Court of the Virgin Islands shall have the jurisdiction of a District Court of the United States,
36 including, but not limited to, the diversity jurisdiction provided for in section 1332 of title 28 and that of a
37 *bankruptcy court of the United States. The District Court of the Virgin Islands shall have exclusive jurisdiction
38 over all criminal and civil proceedings in the Virgin Islands with respect to the income tax laws applicable to
39 the Virgin Islands, regardless of the degree of the offense or of the amount involved, except the ancillary laws
40 relating to the income tax enacted by the legislature of the Virgin Islands. Any act or failure to act with respect*
41 to the income tax laws applicable to the Virgin Islands which would constitute a criminal offense described in 42 chapter 75 of subtitle F of title 26 shall constitute an offense against the government of the Virgin Islands and
43 may be prosecuted in the name of the government of the Virgin Islands by the appropriate officers thereof in the 44 District Court of the Virgin Islands without the request or the consent of the United States attorney for the Virgin
45 Islands, notwithstanding the provisions of section 1617 of this title.

46 There is NO PROVISION OF LAW which would similarly extend public offices or jurisdiction to enforce any provision of 47 the Internal Revenue Code to any place within the exclusive jurisdiction of any state of the Union, because Congress enjoys
48 NO LEGISLATIVE JURISDICTION THERE.

49 *"It is no longer open to question that the general government, unlike the states, Hammer v. Dagenhart, 247 U.S.
50 251, 275, 38 S.Ct. 529, 3 A.L.R. 649, Ann.Cas.1918E 724, possesses no inherent power in respect of the internal
51 affairs of the states; and emphatically not with regard to legislation."*

1 Carter v. Carter Coal Co., [298 U.S. 238, 56 S.Ct. 855 (1936)]

2 "The difficulties arising out of our dual form of government and the opportunities for differing opinions
3 concerning the relative rights of state and national governments are many; but for a very long time this court
4 has steadfastly adhered to the doctrine that the taxing power of Congress does not extend to the states or their
5 political subdivisions. The same basic reasoning which leads to that conclusion, we think, requires like limitation
6 upon the power which springs from the bankruptcy clause. United States v. Butler, supra."
7 [Ashton v. Cameron County Water Improvement District No. 1, 298 U.S. 513, 56 S.Ct. 892 (1936)]

8 By law then, no "public office" may therefore lawfully be exercised OUTSIDE the District of Columbia except as "expressly 9 provided by law", including privileged or licensed activities such as a "trade or business". This was also confirmed by the 10 U.S. Supreme Court in the License Tax Cases, when they said:

11 "Thus, Congress having power to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States, and
12 with the Indian tribes, may, without doubt, provide for granting coasting licenses, licenses to pilots, licenses to
13 trade with the Indians, and any other licenses necessary or proper for the exercise of that great and extensive
14 power; and the same observation is applicable to every other power of Congress, to the exercise of which the
15 granting of licenses may be incident. All such licenses confer authority, and give rights to the licensee.

16 But very different considerations apply to the internal commerce or domestic trade of the States. Over this
17 commerce and trade Congress has no power of regulation nor any direct control. This power belongs exclusively
18 to the States. No interference by Congress with the business of citizens transacted within a State is warranted
19 by the Constitution, except such as is strictly incidental to the exercise of powers clearly granted to the
20 legislature. The power to authorize a business within a State is plainly repugnant to the exclusive power of the 21 State over the same subject. It is true that the power of Congress to tax is a very extensive power. It is given in
22 the Constitution, with only one exception and only two qualifications. Congress cannot tax exports, and it must
23 impose direct taxes by the rule of apportionment, and indirect taxes by the rule of uniformity. Thus limited, and
24 thus only, it reaches every subject, and may be exercised at discretion. But, it reaches only existing subjects.

25 Congress cannot authorize a trade or business within a
26 State in order to tax it."

27 [License Tax Cases, 72 U.S. 462, 18 L.Ed. 497, 5 Wall. 462, 2 A.F.T.R. 2224 (1866)]

28 Since Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle A is a tax on "public offices", which is called a "trade or business", then the tax can 29 only apply to those domiciled within statutory "United States" (federal zone), wherever they are physically located to 30 include states of the Union, but only if they are serving under oath in their official capacity as "public officers".

31 "Thus, the Court has frequently held that domicile or residence, more substantial than mere presence in transit
32 or sojourn, is an adequate basis for taxation, including income, property, and death taxes. Since the Fourteenth
33 Amendment makes one a citizen of the state wherein he resides, the fact of residence creates universally
34 reciprocal duties of protection by the state and of allegiance and support by the citizen. The latter obviously
35 includes a duty to pay taxes, and their nature and measure is largely a political matter. Of course, the situs of
36 property may tax it regardless of the citizenship, domicile, or residence of the owner, the most obvious illustration
37 being a tax on realty laid by the state in which the realty is located."
38 Miller Brothers Co. v. Maryland, [347 U.S. 340 (1954)]

39 Another important point needs to be emphasized, which is that those working for the federal government, while on official
40 duty, are representing a federal corporation called the "United States", which is domiciled in the District of Columbia.

4 (2) for a corporation, by the law under which it was organized [laws of the District of Columbia]; and

5 (3) for all other parties, by the law of the state where the court is located, except that:

6 (A) a partnership or other unincorporated association with no such capacity under that state's law may sue or
7 be sued in its common name to enforce a substantive right existing under the United States Constitution
8 or laws; and

9 (B) 28 U.S.C. §§ 754 and 959(a) govern the capacity of a receiver appointed by a United States court to sue
10 or be sued in a United States court.

11 [SOURCE: <http://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/Rule17.htm>]

12 Government employees, including “public officers”, while on official duty representing the federal corporation called the 13 “United States”, maintain the character of the entity they represent and therefore have a legal domicile of the District of 14 Columbia within the context of their official duties. The Internal Revenue Code also reflects this fact in 26 U.S.C.
15 §7701(a)(39) and 26 U.S.C. §7408(d):

16 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > § 7701

31 *in, any United States judicial district, such citizen or resident shall be treated for purposes of this section as

33 Kidnapping and transporting the legal identity of a person domiciled outside the District of Columbia in a legislatively foreign 34 state, which includes states of the Union, is illegal pursuant to 18 U.S.C. §1201. Therefore, the only people who can be 35 legally and involuntarily “kidnapped” by the courts based on the above two provisions of statutory law are those who
36 individually consent through private contract to act as “public officials” in the execution of their official duties. The fiduciary
37 duty of these “public officials” is further defined in the I.R.C. as follows, and it is only by an oath of “public office” that this
38 fiduciary duty can lawfully be created:

39 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 68 > Subchapter B > PART 1 > § 6671
40 § 6671. Rules for application of assessable penalties

41 (b) Person defined

42 The term “person”, as used in this subchapter, includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a member or
43 *employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in 44 respect of which the violation occurs.

45
46 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 75 > Subchapter D > § 7343
47 §7343. Definition of term “person”

1 The term "person" as used in this chapter includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a member or
2 employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect
3 of which the violation occurs.

4 We remind our readers that there is no liability statute within Subtitle A of the I.R.C. that would create the duty documented
5 above, and therefore the ONLY way it can be created is by the oath of office of the "public officers" who are the subject of 6 the tax in question. This was thoroughly described in the following article:

There's No Statute Making Anyone Liable to Pay IRC Subtitle A Income Taxes
<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Articles/NoStatuteLiable.htm>

7 The existence of fiduciary duty of "public officers" is therefore the ONLY lawful method by which anyone can be prosecuted
8 for an "omission", which is a thing they didn't do that the law required them to do. It is otherwise illegal and unlawful to
9 prosecute anyone under either common law or statutory law for a FAILURE to do something, such as a FAILURE TO FILE
10 a tax return pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §7203. The duty to file a tax return comes NOT from a liability statute, but from the 11 following liability associated with "taxpayers", all of whom are "public officers" within the United States government. The 12 income tax is a franchise and you don't need liability statutes within the franchise agreement because all franchises are a
13 product of your consent:

14 I: DUTY TO ACCOUNT FOR PUBLIC FUNDS

15 § 909. In general.-

16 It is the duty of the public officer, like any other agent or trustee, although not declared by express statute, to
17 faithfully account for and pay over to the proper authorities all moneys which may come into his hands upon
18 the public account, and the performance of this duty may be' enforced by proper actions against the officer
19 himself, or against those who have become sureties for the faithful discharge of his duties.

22 In addition to the above, every attorney admitted to practice law in any state or federal court is described as an "officer of the 23 court", and therefore ALSO is a "public officer":

42 Executive Order 12731 and 5 C.F.R. §2635.101(a) furthermore both indicate that "public service is a public trust":

43 Executive Order 12731
44 "Part 1 -- PRINCIPLES OF ETHICAL CONDUCT

45 "Section 101. Principles of Ethical Conduct. To ensure that every citizen can have complete confidence in the
46 integrity of the Federal Government, each Federal employee shall respect and adhere to the fundamental 47 principles of ethical service as implemented in regulations promulgated under sections 201 and 301 of this order:

"(a) Public service is a public trust, requiring employees to place loyalty to the Constitution, the laws, and ethical principles above private gain.

TITLE 5--ADMINISTRATIVE PERSONNEL
CHAPTER XVI--OFFICE OF GOVERNMENT ETHICS
PART 2635--STANDARDS OF ETHICAL CONDUCT FOR EMPLOYEES OF THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH--
Table of Contents
Subpart A--General Provisions
Sec. 2635.101 Basic obligation of public service.

(a) Public service is a public trust.

Each employee has a responsibility to the United States Government and its citizens to place loyalty to the Constitution, laws and ethical principles above private gain. To ensure that every citizen can have complete confidence in the integrity of the Federal Government, each employee shall respect and adhere to the principles of ethical conduct set forth in this section, as well as the implementing standards contained in this part and in supplemental agency regulations.

The above provisions of law imply that everyone who works for the government is a “trustee” of “We the People”, who are the sovereigns they serve in the public. In law, EVERY “trustee” is a “fiduciary” of the Beneficiary of the trust within which he serves:

“TRUSTEE. The person appointed, or required by law, to execute a trust; one in whom an estate, interest, or power is vested, under an express or implied agreement [e.g. PRIVATE LAW or CONTRACT] to administer or exercise it for the benefit or to the use of another called the cestui que trust. Pioneer Mining Co. v. Tyberg, C.C.A.Alaska, 215 F. 501, 506, L.R.A.1915B, 442; Kaehn v. St. Paul Co-op. Ass’n, 156 Minn. 113, 194 N.W. 112; Catlett v. Hawthorne, 157 Va. 372, 161 S.E. 47, 48. Person who holds title to res and administers it for others’ benefit. Reinecke v. Smith, Ill., 53 S.Ct. 570, 289 US. 172, 77 L.Ed. 1109. In a strict sense, a “trustee” is one who holds the legal title to property for the benefit of another, while, in a broad sense, the term is sometimes applied to anyone standing in a fiduciary or confidential relation to another, such as agent, attorney, bailee, etc. State ex rel. Lee v. Sartorius, 344 Mo. 912, 130 S.W.2d. 547, 549, 550. “Trustee” is also used in a wide and perhaps inaccurate sense, to denote that a person has the duty of carrying out a transaction, in which he and another person are interested, in such manner as will be most for the benefit of the latter, and not in such a way that he himself might be tempted, for the sake of his personal advantage, to neglect the interests of the other. In this sense, directors of companies are said to be “trustees for the shareholders.” Sweet. [Black’s Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, p. 1684]

The fact that public service is a “public trust” was also confirmed by the U.S. Supreme Court, when it said:

“Whatever these Constitutions and laws validly determine to be property, it is the duty of the Federal Government, through the domain of jurisdiction merely Federal, to recognize to be property.

“And this principle follows from the structure of the respective Governments, State and Federal, and their reciprocal relations. They are different agents and trustees of the people of the several States, appointed with different powers and with distinct purposes, but whose acts, within the scope of their respective jurisdictions, are mutually obligatory.” [Dred Scott v. Sandford, 60 U.S. 393 (1856)]

An example of someone who is NOT a “public officer” is a federal “employee” on duty and who is not required to take an oath. Almost invariably, such “employees” have some kind of immediate supervisor who manages and oversees and evaluates his activities pursuant to the position description drafted for the position he fills. He may be a “trustee” and he may have a “fiduciary duty” to the public as a “public servant”, but he isn’t an “officer” or “public officer” unless and until he takes an oath of office prescribed by law. A federal “employee”, however, can become a “public office” by virtue of any one or more of the following purposes that we are aware of so far:

1. Be elected to political office.
2. Being appointed to political office by the President or the governor of a state of the Union.
3. Voluntarily engaging in a privileged, excise taxable activity called a “trade or business”, which effectively is an extension of the federal government and is defined as a “public office” in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\). A “trade or business” is a federal business franchise and partnership, in which you become a trustee and public official of the United States who has donated his private property temporarily to a “public use” for the purpose of procuring “privileged compensation” of a public office in the form of tax deductions under 26 U.S.C. §162, Earning income credits under 26 U.S.C. §32, and a graduated REDUCED rate of tax under 26 U.S.C. §1. Only those engaged in a “public office”/”trade or business” can avail themselves of any of these pecuniary government financial incentives.

4. Engaging in a privileged activity regulated by the federal government, such as:

- 4.1. Pursuing a license to practice law. All attorneys are officers of the court, and all courts are part of the government and therefore “public” entities.
- 4.2. Applying for and accepting FDIC insurance as an officer of a bank. See 31 C.F.R. §202.2, which makes those accepting FDIC federal insurance into agents of the federal government.
- 4.3. Becoming an officer of a corporation, and only within the context of the jurisdiction the corporation is registered in. The officers of a state-only registered corporation would be “public officers” only within the context of the specific state they registered in. They would have to make application for recognition as a federal corporation to also be “public officers” in the context of federal law.

A “public office” is not limited to a natural person. It can also extend to an entire entity such as a corporation. An example of an entity that is a “public office” in its entirety is a federally chartered bank, such as the original Bank of the United States described in Osborn v. United States, in which the U.S. Supreme Court identified the original and first Bank of the United States, a federally chartered bank corporation created by Congress, as a “public office”:

All the powers of the government must be carried into operation by individual agency, either through the medium of public officers, or contracts made with individuals. Can any public office be created, or does one exist, the performance of which may, with propriety, be assigned to this association [or trust], when incorporated? If such office exist, or can be created, then the company may be incorporated, that they may be appointed to execute such office. Is there any portion of the public business performed by individuals upon contracts, that this association could be employed to perform, with greater advantage and more safety to the public, than an individual contractor? If there be an employment of this nature, then may this company be incorporated to undertake it.

There is an employment of this nature. Nothing can be more essential to the fiscal concerns of the nation, than an agent of undoubted integrity and established credit, with whom the public moneys can, at all times, be safely deposited. Nothing can be of more importance to a government, than that there should be some capitalist in the country, who possesses the means of making advances of money to the government upon any exigency, and who is under a legal obligation to make such advances. For these purposes the association would be an agent peculiarly suitable and appropriate. [. . .]

The mere creation of a corporation, does not confer political power or political character. So this Court decided in Dartmouth College v. Woodward, already referred to. If I may be allowed to paraphrase the language of the Chief Justice, I would say, a bank incorporated, is no more a State instrument, than a natural person performing the same business would be. If, then, a natural person, engaged in the trade of banking, should contract with the government to receive the public money upon deposit, to transmit it from place to place, without charging for commission or difference of exchange, and to perform, when called upon, the duties of commissioner of loans, would not thereby become a public officer, how is it that this artificial being, created by law for the purpose of being employed by the government for the same purposes, should become a part of the civil government of the country? Is it because its existence, its capacities, its powers, are given by law? because the government has given it power to take and hold property in a particular form, and to employ that property for particular purposes, and in the disposition of it to use a particular name? because the government has sold it a privilege [22 U.S. 738, 774] for a large sum of money, and has bargained with it to do certain things; is it, therefore, a part of the very government with which the contract is made?

If the Bank be constituted a public office, by the connexion between it and the government, it cannot be the mere legal franchise in which the office is vested; the individual stockholders must be the officers. Their character is not merged in the charter. This is the strong point of the Mayor and Commonalty v. Wood, upon which this Court ground their decision in the Bank v. Deveaux, and from which they say, that cause could not be distinguished. Thus, aliens may become public officers, and public duties are confided to those who owe no allegiance to the government, and who are even beyond its territorial limits.

With the privileges and perquisites of office, all individuals holding offices, ought to be subject to the disabilities of office. But if the Bank be a public office, and the individual stockholders public officers, this principle does not have a fair and just operation. The disabilities of office do not attach to the stockholders; for we find them every where holding public offices, even in the national Legislature, from which, if they be public officers, they are excluded by the constitution in express terms.

If the Bank be a public institution of such character as to be justly assimilated to the mint and the post office, then its charter may be amended, altered, or even abolished, at the discretion of the National Legislature. All public offices are created [22 U.S. 738, 775] purely for public purposes, and may, at any time, be modified in such manner as the public interest may require. Public corporations partake of the same character. So it is distinctly adjudged in Dartmouth College v. Woodward. In this point, each Judge who delivered an opinion concurred. By one of the Judges it is said, that 'public corporations are generally esteemed such as exist for

1 public political purposes only, such as towns, cities, parishes and counties; and in many respects they are so,
2 although they involve some private interests; but, strictly speaking, public corporations are such only as are
3 founded by the government for public purposes, where the whole interest belongs also to the government. If,
4 therefore, the foundation be private, though under the charter of the government, the corporation is private,
5 however extensive the uses may be to which it is devoted, either by the bounty of the founder, or the nature and
6 objects of the institution. For instance, a bank, created by the government for its own uses, whose stock is
7 exclusively owned by the government, is, in the strictest sense, a public corporation. So, a hospital created and
8 endowed by the government for general charity. But a bank, whose stock is owned by private persons, is a
9 private corporation, although it is erected by the government, and its objects and operations partake of a public
10 nature. The same doctrine may be affirmed of insurance, canal, bridge, and turnpike companies. In all these 11 cases, the uses may, in a certain sense, be called public, but the corporations are private; as much [22 U.S. 738,
12 776] so, indeed, as if the franchises were vested in a single person.[. . .]

13 In what sense is it an instrument of the government? and in what character is it employed as such? Do the 14 government employ the faculty, the legal franchise, or do they employ the individuals upon whom it is conferred?
15 and what is the nature of that employment? does it resemble the post office, or the mint, or the custom house, or 16 the process of the federal Courts?

17 The post office is established by the general government. It is a public institution. The persons who perform its 18 duties are public officers. No individual has, or can acquire, any property in it. For all the services performed, a 19 compensation is paid out of the national treasury; and all the money received upon account of its operations, is 20 public property. Surely there is no similitude between this institution, and an association who trade upon their 21 own capital, for their own profit, and who have paid the government a million and a half of dollars for a legal
22 character and name, in which to conduct their trade.

23 Again: the business conducted through the agency of the post office, is not in its nature a private business. It is
24 of a public character, and the [22 U.S. 738, 786] charge of it is expressly conferred upon Congress by the 25 constitution. The business is created by law, and is annihilated when the law is repealed. But the trade of banking
26 is strictly a private concern. It exists and can be carried on without the aid of the national Legislature. Nay, it is 27 only under very special circumstances, that the national Legislature can so far interfere with it, as to facilitate its 28 operations.

29 The post office executes the various duties assigned to it, by means of subordinate agents. The mails are opened
30 and closed by persons invested with the character of public officers. But they are transported by individuals
31 employed for that purpose, in their individual character, which employment is created by and founded in contract.
32 To such contractors no official character is attached. These contractors supply horses, carriages, and whatever
33 else is necessary for the transportation of the mails, upon their own account. The whole is engaged in the public
34 service. The contractor, his horses, his carriage, his driver, are all in public employ. But this does not change
35 their character. All that was private property before the contract was made, and before they were engaged in 36 public employ, remain private property still. The horses and the carriages are liable to be taxed as other property,
37 for every purpose for which property of the same character is taxed in the place where they are employed. The 38 reason is plain: the contractor is employing his own means to promote his own private profit, and the tax collected
39 is from the individual, though assessed upon the [22 U.S. 738, 787] means he uses to perform the public service.
40 To tax the transportation of the mails, as such, would be taxing the operations of the government, which could
41 not be allowed. But to tax the means by which this transportation is effected, so far as those means are private
42 property, is allowable; because it abstracts nothing from the government; and because, the fact that an individual
43 employs his private means in the service of the government, attaches to them no immunity whatever.”
44 [Osborn v. Bank of U.S., 22 U.S. 738 (1824)]

45 The record of the House of Representatives after the enactment of the first income tax during the Civil War in 1862, confirmed
46 that the income tax was upon a “public office” and that even IRS agents, who are not “public officers” and who are not
47 required to take an oath, are therefore exempt from the requirements of the revenue acts in place at the time. Read the amazing
48 truth for yourself:

House of Representatives, Ex. Doc. 99, 1867
<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Evidence/PublicOrPrivate-Tax-Return.pdf>

49 Below is an excerpt from that report proving our point. The Secretary of the Treasury at the time is comparing the federal
50 tax liabilities of postal clerks to those of internal revenue clerks. At that time, the IRS was called the Bureau of Internal 51 Revenue, and it was established in 1862 as an emergency measure to fund the Civil War, which ended shortly thereafter, but 52 the bureau continued and expanded its operations illegally into the states over succeeding years:

53 House of Representatives, Ex. Doc. 99, 1867, pp. 1-2
54 39th Congress, 2d Session

55 Salary Tax Upon Clerks to Postmasters

1 Letter from the Secretary of the Treasury in answer to A resolution of the House of the 12th of February,
2 relative to salary tax upon clerks to postmasters, with the regulations of the department

3 Postmasters' clerks are appointed by postmasters, and take the oaths of office prescribed in the 2d section of 4 the act of July 2, 1862, and in the 2d section of the act of March 3, 1863.

5 Their salaries are not fixed in amount bylaw, but from time to time the Post master General fixes the amount,
6 allotted to each postmaster for clerk hire, under the authority conferred upon him by tile ninth section of the act
7 of June 5, 1836, and then the postmaster, as an agent for and in behalf of the United States, determines the salary
8 to be paid to each of his clerks. These salaries are paid by the postmasters, acting as disbursing agents, from 9 United States moneys advanced to them for this purpose, either directly from the Post Office Department in 10 pursuance of appropriations made by law, or from the accruing revenues of their offices, under the instructions
11 of the Postmaster General. The receipt of such clerks constitute vouchers in the accounts of the postmasters
12 acting as disbursing agents in the settlements made with them by the Sixth Auditor. In the foregoing transactions
13 the postmaster acts not as a principal, but as an agent of the United States, and the clerks are not in his private 14 employment, but in the public employment of the United States. Such being the facts, these clerks are subjected 15 to and required to account for and pay the salary tax, imposed by the one hundred and twenty-third section of 16 the internal revenue act of June 30, 1864, as amended by the ninth section of the internal revenue act of July 13,
17 1866, upon payments for services to persons in the civil employment or service of the United States.

18 Copies of the regulations under which such salary taxes are withheld and paid into the treasury to the credit of 19 internal revenue collection account are herewith transmitted, marked A, b, and C. Clerks to assessors of internal 20 revenue [IRS agents] are appointed by the assessors. Neither law nor regulations require them to take an oath
21 of office, because, as the law at present stands, they are not in the public service of the United States, through 22 the agency of the assessor, but are in the private service of the assessor, as a principal, who employs them.

23 The salaries of such clerks are neither fixed in amount by law, nor are they regulated by any officer of the Treasury
24 Department over the clerk hire of assessors is to prescribe a necessary and reasonable amount which shall not 25 be exceeded in reimbursing the assessors for this item of their expenses.

26 No money is advanced by the United States for the payment of such salaries, nor do the assessors perform the 27 duties of disbursing agents of the United States in paying their clerks. The entire amount allowed is paid directly
28 to the assessor, and he is not accountable to the United States for its payment to his clerks, for the reason that he 29 has paid them in advance, out of his own funds, and this is a reimbursement to him of such amount as the 30 department decides to be reasonable. No salary tax is therefore collected, or required by the Treasury
31 Department to be accounted for, or paid, on account of payments to the assessors' clerks, as the United States
32 pays no such clerks nor has them in its employ or service, and they do not come within the provisions of existing 33 laws imposing such a tax.

34 Perhaps no better illustration of the difference between the status of postmasters' clerks and that of assessors'
35 clerks can be given than the following: A postmaster became a defaulter, without paying his clerks,; his successor
36 received from the Postmaster General a new remittance for paying them; and if at any time, the clerks in a post
37 office do not receive their salaries, by reason of the death, resignation or removal of a postmaster, the new 38 appointee is authorized by the regulations of the Post Office Department to pay them out of the proceeds of the 39 office; and should there be no funds in his hands belonging to the department, a draft is issued to place money in 40 his hands for that purpose.

41 If an assessor had not paid his clerks, they would have no legal claim upon the treasury for their salaries. A 42 discrimination is made between postmasters' clerks and assessor's clerks to the extent and for the reasons
43 hereinbefore set forth.

44 I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant.

45 H. McCulloch, Secretary of the Treasury
46 [House of Representatives, Ex. Doc. 99, 1867, pp. 1-2]

47 Notice based on the above that revenue officers don't take an oath, so they don't have to pay the tax, while postal clerks take
48 an oath, so they do. Therefore, the oath that creates the "public office" is the method by which the government manufactures
49 "public officers", "taxpayers", and "sponsors" for its wasteful use or abuse of public monies.

50 If you would like to investigate the subject of "public offices" and "public officers" further, we highly recommend the follow

6. Employers

The following subsections will deal with the definition of status of being an “employer” under the Internal Revenue Code. In a generic sense:

1. Statutory “employers” are defined in 26 U.S.C. §3401(d) as follows:

TITLE 26 > Subtitle C > CHAPTER 24 > § 3401
§ 3401. Definitions

(d) Employer

For purposes of this chapter, the term “employer” means the person for whom an individual performs or performed any service, of whatever nature, as the employee of such person, except that—

(1) if the person for whom the individual performs or performed the services does not have control of the payment of the wages for such services, the term “employer” (except for purposes of subsection (a)) means the person having control of the payment of such wages, and

(2) in the case of a person paying wages on behalf of a nonresident alien individual, foreign partnership, or foreign corporation, not engaged in trade or business within the United States, the term “employer” (except for purposes of subsection (a)) means such person.

2. Statutory “employee” is defined in 26 C.F.R. §31.3401(c)-1 as an elected or appointed public officer of the national government.

26 C.F.R. § 31.3401\(c\)-1 Employee:

“...the term [employee] includes [is limited to] officers and employees, whether elected or appointed, of the United States, a [federal] State, Territory, Puerto Rico or any political subdivision, thereof, or the District of Columbia, or any agency or instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing. The term ‘employee’ also includes an officer of a corporation.”

3. NOWHERE in the entire Internal Revenue Code or Treasury Regulations is the term “employee” ever defined to include PRIVATE HUMANS who absolutely own their own labor and all of their private property. Therefore, by the rules of statutory construction, they are PURPOSEFULLY EXCLUDED:

*“Expressio unius est exclusio alterius. A maxim of statutory interpretation meaning that the expression of one thing is the exclusion of another. Burgin v. Forbes, 293 Ky. 456, 169 S.W.2d. 321, 325; Newblock v. Bowles, 170 Okl. 487, 40 P.2d. 1097, 1100. Mention of one thing implies exclusion of another. When certain persons or things are specified in a law, contract, or will, an intention to exclude all others from its operation may be inferred. Under this maxim, if statute specifies one exception to a general rule or assumes to specify the effects of a certain provision, other exceptions or effects are excluded.”
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 581]*

*“The United States Supreme Court cannot supply what Congress has studiously omitted in a statute.”
Federal Trade Com. v. Simplicity Pattern Co., [360 U.S. 55, p. 55, 475042/56451 (1959)]*

4. You cannot unilaterally “elect” yourself or your otherwise PRIVATE company into a public office by using any tax form, INCLUDING Form SS-4: Application for Employer Identification Number. The IRS is abusing these forms to unlawfully create public offices in criminal violation of 26 U.S.C. §911. All evidence of the existence of the “employer” public office, being the fruit of a crime, is not admissible as evidence in any proceeding establishing tax liability because it is what the U.S. Supreme Court calls “fruit of a poisonous tree”.

5. Therefore all STATUTORY “employers” in fact are instrumentalities of the national government and DO NOT include PRIVATE companies.

The above are confirmed by the following exhaustive proof:

Why Your Government is Either a Thief or You are a “Public Officer” for Income Tax Purposes, Form #05.008
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

1 The following subsections will elaborate further on the above overview.

2 6.1 Who are “Employers” under the Internal Revenue Code?

3 The Internal Revenue Code provisions under Subtitle C, Employment Taxes, is based on the Public Salary Tax Act of 1939.
4 That act only lawfully taxed “Public Salaries”, which is to say salaries of “public officers” of the United States Government
5 engaged in a “trade or business” only. Below is the definition of “employee” right from the code:

6 26 U.S.C. Sec. 3401\(c\) Employee

7 For purposes of this chapter, the term "employee" includes [is limited to] an officer, employee, or elected official
8 of the United States, a State, or any political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia, or any agency or
9 instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing. The term "employee" also includes an officer of a
10 corporation.

11 And below is the regulation that interprets the above section for clarification:

12 26 C.F.R. § 31.3401\(c\)-1 Employee:

13 "...the term [employee] includes[is limited to] officers and employees, whether elected or appointed, of the United
14 States, a [federal] State, Territory, Puerto Rico or any political subdivision, thereof, or the District of Columbia,
15 or any agency or instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing. The term 'employee' also includes an
16 officer of a corporation."

17 And the only definition of “employee” that we are aware of that has ever been published in the Federal Register reads as
18 follows:

19 8 Federal Register, Tuesday, September 7, 1943, §404.104, pg. 12267

20 Employee: "The term employee specifically includes officers and employees whether elected or appointed, of the
21 United States, a state, territory, or political subdivision thereof or the District of Columbia or any agency or
22 instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing."

23 “Employer” is then defined in the Internal Revenue Code as follows. Note that basically, an “employer” is anyone for whom 24 “employees” work, and we showed above that an “employee” in turn is only an elected or appointed officer of the United 25 States government. Therefore, the only “employers” are federal and “State” agencies!

26 TITLE 26 > Subtitle C > CHAPTER 24 > § 3401
27 § 3401. Definitions

28 (d) Employer

29 For purposes of this chapter, the term “employer” means the person for whom an individual performs or 30 performed any service, of whatever nature, as the employee of such person, except that—

31 (1) if the person for whom the individual performs or performed the services does not have control of the payment
32 of the wages for such services, the term “employer” (except for purposes of subsection (a)) means the person
33 having control of the payment of such wages, and

34 (2) in the case of a person paying wages on behalf of a nonresident alien individual, foreign partnership, or 35 foreign corporation, not engaged in trade or business within the United States, the term “employer” (except for 36 purposes of subsection (a)) means such person.

37 To confirm the above, IRS Publication 15, Circular E, Employer’s Tax Guide indicates on page 6 what the definition of 38 “employer” is. It only lists federal agencies and “States” as “employers”. You can view this pamphlet yourself at:

39 <http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/IRS/IRSPub15.pdf>

40 Remember that “States” in the Internal Revenue Code is limited to federal territory in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(10\) and 4 U.S.C.
41 §110(d). See:

<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/CitesByTopic/State.htm>

Private employers do not appear anywhere in the booklet. One of our readers did an FOIA request asking the IRS for the forms and publications that private employers should use. Guess what the response said:

"We have no documents responsive to your request."

Do you get it? The I.R.C. Subtitle A federal income tax and I.R.C. Subtitle C employment withholding taxes only apply to the federal government or territories of the United States, which are classified as "States" in federal statutes and "acts of Congress". Private employers aren't covered by the Internal Revenue Code, and the only reason that any of them think otherwise is because they never bothered to read the Internal Revenue Code or IRS Publication 15, Circular E for themselves and simply were reacting to alleged authority that the IRS in fact did not have.

Any way you slice it, Subtitle A income taxes are indirect excise taxes or taxes on "public officers" of the federal United States corporation who are in receipt of federal privileges. Even the U.S. Congress agrees with this conclusion in:

"Frequently Asked Questions Concerning the Federal Income Tax", Congressional Research Service Report 97-59A
<http://famguardian.org/PublishedAuthors/Govt/CRS/CRS-97-59A-rebuts.pdf>

When private employers apply for an Employer Identification Number (EIN), they in effect are volunteering (illegally and unconstitutionally) to act as a federal or "public" employer for the purposes of the Internal Revenue Code, and the government will treat them that way, even if there is no enacted positive law that authorized the IRS to do this. The perceived but not real financial "benefits" or "privileges" that private companies procure through this process of volunteering to become "public employers", which is their "employment" compensation, are reduced rate tax liability for a tax they didn't owe to begin with, including:

1. Graduated rate of tax under I.R.C. Section 1.
2. Earned income credit under I.R.C. Section 32.
3. Ability to take deductions under 26 U.S.C. §162.

We call the above "the slave discount". A free pamphlet is available that definitively proves that the main subject of Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code is federal "employees" below:

Why Your Government is Either a Thief or You are a "Public Officer" for Income Tax Purposes, Form #05.008
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

6.2 Private Employers Aren't Authorized by Law to Act as Federal "withholding agents"⁵⁹

IRS Publication 15, Circular E: Employer's Tax Guide indicates on page 6 what the definition of "employer" is. It only lists federal agencies and "States" as employers. See for yourself:

IRS Publication 15, Circular E: Employer's Tax Guide
<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/IRS/IRSPub15.pdf>

Remember that "States" in the Internal Revenue Code means territories and possessions of the United States as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(10\) and 4 U.S.C. §110\(d\). Private employers do not appear anywhere in the booklet. One of our readers did an FOIA request asking the IRS for the forms and publications that private employers should use. Guess what the response said:

"We have no documents responsive to your request."

Do you get it? The federal income tax and employment withholding taxes only apply to:

⁵⁹ Adapted from Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 5.4.13. See: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/GreatIRSHoax/GreatIRSHoax.htm>

- 1 1. Statutory “U.S. persons” with a domicile on federal territory, most of whom work for the federal government. These
- 2 people are described in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30) .
- 3 2. Territories of the United States, which are classified as “States” in federal statutes and “acts of Congress”.
- 4 3. Those engaged in a “trade or business” temporarily abroad as described in 26 U.S.C. §911.

5 States of the Union cannot and do not appear in the Internal Revenue Code Subtitle A and if they did, they would appear as
 6 “states” and not “States”. This is further confirmed by the regulations below, which prove that there are no “employers”
 7 outside the “United States”, which is defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10) and 4 U.S.C. §110(d) to expressly include
 8 federal territory and nowhere defined to include states of the Union within Subtitle A of the I.R.C.:

9 Title 26: Internal Revenue
 10 PART 31—EMPLOYMENT TAXES AND COLLECTION OF INCOME TAX AT SOURCE
 11 Subpart B—Federal Insurance Contributions Act \(Chapter 21, Internal Revenue Code of 1954\)
 12 General Provisions
 13 § 31.3121\(b\)-3 Employment; services performed after 1954.

14 (a) In general. Whether services performed after 1954 constitute employment is determined in accordance with 15 the provisions of section 3121(b).

16 (b) Services performed within the United States [federal territory].

17 Services performed after 1954 within the United States (see §31.3121(e)-1) by an employee for his employer,
 18 unless specifically excepted by section 3121(b), constitute employment. With respect to services performed within
 19 the United States, the place where the contract of service is entered into is immaterial. The citizenship or residence
 20 of the employee or of the employer also is immaterial except to the extent provided in any specific exception from
 21 employment. Thus, the employee and the employer may be citizens and residents of a foreign country and the 22 contract of service may be entered into in a foreign country, and yet, if the employee under such contract performs
 23 services within the United States, there may be to that extent employment.

24 (c) Services performed outside the United States—

25 (1) In general.

26 (2) Except as provided in paragraphs (c)(2) and (3) of this section, services performed outside the United 27 States (see §31.3121(e)-1) do not constitute employment.

28 Note from the above that services performed outside the statutory “United States” (federal territory) do not constitute 29 “employment”. This is also consistent with:

- 30 1. 26 U.S.C. §861(a)(3)(c)(ii), which says that “nonresident aliens” not engaged in a “trade or business” [public office in
- 31 the U.S. government], even if they work in the “United States”, do not earn taxable income. You will note that 4
- 32 U.S.C. §72 says that all public offices shall be exercised ONLY in the District of Columbia and not elsewhere.
- 33 2. 26 U.S.C. §3401(a)(6) says that services of a nonresident alien individual (a person domiciled in a state of the Union or
- 34 a foreign national, both engaged in a public office) do not constitute “wages” that can be included on an IRS Form W-
- 35 2.
- 36 3. 26 C.F.R. §1.872-2(f) says that earnings from outside the “United States” (federal zone) does not constitute “gross
- 37 income”.

38 Private employers aren’t covered by the Internal Revenue Code, and the only reason that any of them think otherwise is 39 because they never bothered to read the Internal Revenue Code or IRS Publication 15, Circular E for themselves and simply 40 were reacting to authority that the IRS in fact did not have.

41 The term “withholding agent” is defined as follows in the Internal Revenue Code:

42 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701.
 43 Sec. 7701. - Definitions

44 (a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent
 45 thereof—

46 (16) Withholding agent

The term "withholding agent" means any person required to deduct and withhold any tax under the provisions of section 1441, 1442, 1443, or 1461.

Now if you look up each of the above four statutes mentioned in the above definition, here is what you end up with:

Table 14: Statutes authorizing "withholding agents"

| 26 U.S.C./ I.R.C. section | Title of section | Object of tax |
|--------------------------------------|--|---|
| 1441 | Withholding of tax on nonresident aliens | Nonresident aliens |
| 1442 | Withholding of tax on foreign corporations | Foreign corporations |
| 1443 | Foreign tax-exempt organizations | Tax-exempt organizations |
| 1461 | Liability for withheld tax | Nonresident aliens and foreign corporations (see title of Chapter 3 of Subtitle A). |

So the question is: "Which one of the above are you as a person in a state of the Union who is working for a private, non-federal employer?". The answer is "non-resident non-person" if not engaged in a public office or "nonresident alien" if engaged in a public office. The trouble is, your private employer fits in the same category as you and is therefore outside of federal jurisdiction and not even subject to the Internal Revenue Code or to withholding. See paragraph (b) below:

Title 26
PART 31—EMPLOYMENT TAXES AND COLLECTION OF INCOME TAX AT SOURCE
Subpart E—Collection of Income Tax at Source
§ 31.3401\(a\)\(6\)-1 Remuneration for services of nonresident alien individuals.

(a) In general. All remuneration paid after December 31, 1966, for services performed by a nonresident alien individual, if such remuneration otherwise constitutes wages within the meaning of §31.3401(a)-1 and if such remuneration is effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States, is subject to withholding under section 3402 unless excepted from wages under this section. In regard to wages paid under this section after February 28, 1979, the term "nonresident alien individual" does not include a nonresident alien individual treated as a resident under section 6013 (g) or (h).

(b) Remuneration for services performed outside the United States. Remuneration paid to a nonresident alien individual (other than a resident of Puerto Rico) for services performed outside the United States is excepted from wages and hence is not subject to withholding.

Keep in mind that the I.R.C is "legislation" as described by the Supreme Court below:

"It is no longer open to question that the general government, unlike the states, Hammer v. Dagenhart, 247 U.S. 251, 275, 38 S.Ct. 529, 3 A.L.R. 649, Ann.Cas.1918E 724, possesses no inherent power in respect of the internal affairs of the states; and emphatically not with regard to legislation.
[Carter v. Carter Coal Co., 298 U.S. 238, 56 S.Ct. 855 (1936)]

A person can ONLY be designated as a withholding agent using IRS Form 2678, which you can view below:

<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/IRS/IRSForm2678.pdf>

Does your private employer have one of these signed forms on file? Chances are he doesn't, and he is withholding ILLEGALLY. That means he is STEALING.

So the question then becomes: "By what lawful authority does my private employer deduct and withhold "taxes" on my personal earnings from labor (not "wages", but "earnings") and where is he even defined as an 'employer' in the Internal Revenue Code?" We'll now answer that question.

The IRS' own Internal Revenue Manual (IRM) confirms the above, which says:

Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 5.14.10.2 (09-30-2004)
Payroll Deduction Agreements

1 2. Private employers, states, and political subdivisions are not required to enter into payroll deduction
2 agreements. Taxpayers should determine whether their employers will accept and process executed agreements
3 before agreements are submitted for approval or finalized.

4 [\[http://www.irs.gov/irm/part5/ch14s10.html\]](http://www.irs.gov/irm/part5/ch14s10.html)

5 They never bother to define what they mean above by “Private employers”, but what they really mean are those that are not
6 part of the federal government. The opposite of “private” is “public” in the legal field. A “public” employer is one who has
7 volunteered to work for the “public” for free as a “federal employer”. The Internal Revenue Code provisions under Subtitle
8 C, Employment Taxes, is based on the Public Salary Tax Act of 1939. That act only lawfully taxed “Public Salaries”, which 9 is to say salaries of those engaged in a “public office” (e.g. “trade or business” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26)) in the 10 United States Government only. Below is the definition of “employee” right from the code:

11 26 U.S.C. Sec. 3401\(c\) Employee

12 For purposes of this chapter, the term "employee" includes [is limited to] an officer, employee, or elected official
13 of the United States, a State, or any political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia, or any agency or
14 instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing. The term "employee" also includes an officer of a
15 corporation.

16 And below is the regulation that interprets the above section for clarification:

17 26 C.F.R. § 31.3401\(c\)-1 Employee:

18 "...the term [employee] includes[is limited to] officers and employees, whether elected or appointed, of the United
19 States, a [federal] State, Territory, Puerto Rico or any political subdivision, thereof, or the District of Columbia,
20 or any agency or instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing. The term 'employee' also includes an
21 officer of a corporation."

22 And the only definition of “employee” that we are aware of that has ever been published in the Federal Register reads as
23 follows:

24 8 Federal Register, Tuesday, September 7, 1943, §404.104, pg. 12267

25 Employee: "The term employee specifically includes officers and employees whether elected or appointed, of the
26 United States, a state, territory, or political subdivision thereof or the District of Columbia or any agency or
27 instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing."

28 Any way you slice it, Subtitle A income taxes are indirect excise taxes upon the “privileges” of “public office” within the 29 federal United States corporation as we will soon point out later in section 10. Keep in mind also that a “public office”
30 includes more than just an elected or appointed employment position. Any artificial entity can be a “public office”, including
31 a whole company, if it is owned or controlled or under contract with the federal government. Even the U.S. Congress agrees
32 with this conclusion in their “Frequently Asked Questions Concerning the Federal Income Tax”, Congressional Research
33 Service Report 97-59A. See:

34 <http://famguardian.org/PublishedAuthors/Govt/CRS/CRS-97-59A-rebuts.pdf>

35 In addition to all the above conclusions, even more important is the fact that Subtitle A income taxes only apply inside the 36 federal zone or to those with contracts, agency, or employment with the federal government when serving in a “public office”
37 authorized by an act of Congress pursuant to 4 U.S.C. §72 in the place they serve. This is thoroughly documented in sections
38 5.2 through 5.2.14 of our Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 book. This is a product of the fact that the federal government has
39 no police powers inside states of the Union and because the Sixteenth Amendment never delegated the authority to collect
40 direct, unapportioned taxes upon People within states of the Union. It authorizes collection of an unapportioned income tax
41 inside the federal zone or federal United States, but not within states of the Union. That is why states of the Union are treated
42 as “foreign states” and “foreign countries” with respect to the Internal Revenue Code, as you will find out in the next section.

43 Since in most cases, the company you work for is not a federal “public office” or instrumentality, then neither you nor that
44 company are the proper subject of either I.R.C. Subtitle A income taxes or Subtitle C employment taxes. But here is the 45 clincher: Either one of you can volunteer to be subject to and liable for these taxes under Subtitle C of the Internal Revenue
46 Code! You, who aren’t a “public officer” of the United States Government can volunteer to withhold these “donations” to

1 the federal government and once you volunteer by signing a contract/agreement called a W-4, your private employer, if he is
2 within the federal zone, becomes liable to pay them to Uncle Sam under 26 U.S.C. §1461 because if he doesn't, he has
3 defrauded the government. But if you don't decide to donate or withhold, your private employer isn't liable to do anything.
4 The only thing that any private employer is liable to do is to deduct and withhold WHEN YOU ASK them to, and to pay
5 monies deducted to the federal government under 26 U.S.C. §1461. Even then, though, he must maintain a legal domicile in 6 the federal zone or represent a corporation that does under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b) in order to be subject to
7 federal law. Businesses in states of the Union aren't within the jurisdiction of the Internal Revenue Code. As a matter of
8 fact, our research in section 5.6.8 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 reveals that the IRS classifies all employment taxes
9 deducted as gifts to the federal government, which is what Tax Class 5 is! How can a private employer domiciled within 10 states of the Union and outside of federal jurisdiction be held "liable" for not sending gifts to the federal government?
11 Furthermore, we will show in section 11 that it would be a serious violation of law for the IRS to coerce or force either you
12 or the business you work for to donate such gifts, because that would amount to solicitation of a bribe, which is just money
13 that is extorted without the authority of law.

14 Now let's look at whether private employers who are not part of the federal government and have no federal public officers
15 or instrumentalities doing business with them are allowed to withhold. The U.S. Supreme Court said that the labor of a 16 human being is "property" in a legal sense:

17 "Among these unalienable rights, as proclaimed in that great document [the Declaration of Independence] is the 18 right of men to pursue their happiness, by which is meant, the right any lawful business or vocation, in any manner
19 not inconsistent with the equal rights of others, which may increase their prosperity or develop their faculties, so
20 as to give them their highest enjoyment...It has been well said that, THE PROPERTY WHICH EVERY MAN HAS
21 IN HIS OWN LABOR, AS IT IS THE ORIGINAL FOUNDATION OF ALL OTHER PROPERTY SO IT IS THE 22 MOST SACRED AND INVIOABLE... to hinder his employing this strength and dexterity in what manner he 23 thinks proper without injury to his neighbor, is a plain violation of this most sacred property."
24 Butchers' Union Co. v. Crescent City Co., [111 U.S. 746 (1884), Concurring opinion of Justice Field]

25 Anyone who withholds on earnings from labor that are not connected with a voluntary, excise taxable activity is effecting
26 slavery, because they are literally STEALING property. This is confirmed by examining the withholding regulations at 26
27 C.F.R. §1.1441-2, which say that withholding may not be effected on the sale of "property":

28 Title 26: Internal Revenue
29 PART 1—INCOME TAXES
30 Withholding of Tax on Nonresident Aliens and Foreign Corporations and Tax-Free Covenant Bonds
31 § 1.1441-2 Amounts subject to withholding.

32 (b) Fixed or determinable annual or periodical income—(1) In general—(i) Definition. For purposes of chapter
33 3 of the Internal Revenue Code and the regulations thereunder, fixed or determinable annual or periodical income
34 includes all income included in gross income under section 61 (including original issue discount) except for the
35 items specified in paragraph (b)(2) of this section. Items of income that are excluded from gross income under a
36 provision of law without regard to the U.S. or foreign status of the owner of the income, such as interest excluded
37 from gross income under section 103(a) or qualified scholarship income under section 117, shall not be treated
38 as fixed or determinable annual or periodical income under chapter 3 of the Internal Revenue Code. Income 39 excluded from gross income under section 892 (income of foreign governments) or section 115 (income of a U.S.
40 possession) is fixed or determinable annual or periodical income since the exclusion from gross income under 41 those sections is dependent on the foreign status of the owner of the income. See §1.306-3(h) for treating income
42 from the disposition of section 306 stock as fixed or determinable annual or periodical income.

43 [. . .]

44 (2) Exceptions. For purposes of chapter 3 of the Code and the regulations thereunder, the items of income
45 described in this paragraph (b)(2) are not fixed or determinable annual or periodical income—

46 *(i) Gains derived from the sale of property (including market discount and option premiums), except for gains
47 described in paragraph (b)(3) or (c) of this section; and

48 (ii) Any other income that the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) may determine, in published guidance (see 49 §601.601(d)(2) of this chapter), is not fixed or determinable annual or periodical income.

50 Note that withholding is not authorized on gains derived from any kind of property other than that listed above, and since
51 labor isn't included in the list, then there can be no withholding on "labor". Next, we examine I.R.C. Section 61 to determine
52 whether "labor" is included in the definition of "gross income". We have highlighted and boldfaced and underlined the only 53 portion of that section that relates to "labor" of a human being:

Except as otherwise provided in this subtitle, gross income means all income from whatever source derived, including (but not limited to) the following items:

- (1) Compensation for services, including fees, commissions, fringe benefits, and similar items;
- (2) Gross income derived from business;
- (3) Gains derived from dealings in property;
- (4) Interest;
- (5) Rents;
- (6) Royalties;
- (7) Dividends;
- (8) Alimony and separate maintenance payments;
- (9) Annuities;
- (10) Income from life insurance and endowment contracts;
- (11) Pensions;
- (12) Income from discharge of indebtedness;
- (13) Distributive share of partnership gross income;
- (14) Income in respect of a decedent; and
- (15) Income from an interest in an estate or trust.

The above definition uses several tricky “words of art” to deceive the reader about withholding on “labor”, such as “compensation”, “services”, etc. These “words of art” are then defined in the Classification Act of 1923, 42 Stat. 1488 as follows:

1. “department”: “the term ‘department’ means an executive department of the United States Government, a governmental establishment in the executive branch of the United States Government which is not a part of an executive department, the municipal government of the District of Columbia, the Botanic garden, Library of Congress, Library Building and Grounds, Government Printing Office, and the Smithsonian Institution.”
2. “position”: “means a specific civilian office or employment, whether occupied or vacant, in a department other than the following: Offices or employments in the Postal Service; teachers, librarians, school attendance officers, and employees of the community center department under the Board of Education of the District of Columbia; officers and members of the Metropolitan police, the fire department of the District of Columbia, and the United States park police; and the commissioned personnel of the Coast Guard, the public Health Service, and the Coast and Geodetic Survey.”
3. “employee”: “means any person temporarily or permanently in a position.”
4. “service”: “means the broadest division of related offices and employments.”
5. “compensation”: “means any salary, wage, fee, allowance, or other emolument paid to an employee for service in a position.”

What the above definitions show, is that “labor”, in the context of Subtitle A of the I.R.C., is not the commodity being taxed. Rather, “compensation” for “services” performed in the conduct of a “trade or business”, which is defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\) as “the functions of a public office” is the voluntary, excise taxable activity that is being taxed. Remember, Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code is an indirect excise tax upon privileged, excise taxable activities, according to the U.S. Supreme Court. The “activity” is a “trade or business”, which is basically privileged employment with the federal government:

“..by the previous ruling it was settled that the provisions of the Sixteenth Amendment conferred no new power of taxation but simply prohibited the previous complete and plenary power of income taxation possessed by Congress from the beginning from being taken out of the category of indirect [excise] taxation to which it inherently belonged and being placed in the category of direct taxation subject to apportionment by a consideration of the sources from which the income was derived, that is by testing the tax not by what it was -- a tax on income, but by a mistaken theory deduced from the origin or source of the income taxed.”
Stanton v. Baltic Mining Co., [240 U.S. 103 (1916)]

The U.S. Supreme Court also said after Congress attempted to establish the first income tax in 1862 to fund the civil war that a “trade or business” cannot be licensed or taxed within the borders of a state of the Union:

“Thus, Congress having power to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian tribes, may, without doubt, provide for granting coasting licenses, licenses to pilots, licenses to trade with the Indians, and any other licenses necessary or proper for the exercise of that great and extensive power; and the same observation is applicable to every other power of Congress, to the exercise of which the granting of licenses may be incident. All such licenses confer authority, and give rights to the licensee.”

1 But very different considerations apply to the internal commerce or domestic trade of the States. Over this
2 commerce and trade Congress has no power of regulation nor any direct control. This power belongs exclusively
3 to the States. No interference by Congress with the business of citizens transacted within a State is warranted
4 by the Constitution, except such as is strictly incidental to the exercise of powers clearly granted to the
5 legislature. The power to authorize a business within a State is plainly repugnant to the exclusive power of the
6 State over the same subject. It is true that the power of Congress to tax is a very extensive power. It is given in
7 the Constitution, with only one exception and only two qualifications. Congress cannot tax exports, and it must
8 impose direct taxes by the rule of apportionment, and indirect taxes by the rule of uniformity. Thus limited, and
9 thus only, it reaches every subject, and may be exercised at discretion. But, it reaches only existing subjects.

10 Congress cannot authorize a trade or business within a State in order to 11 tax it."

12 License Tax Cases, [72 U.S. 462, 18 L.Ed. 497, 5 Wall. 462, 2 A.F.T.R. 2224 (1866)]

13 You will also note that the U.S. Supreme Court has said that no one may withhold the earnings of a worker from his labor 14 against his will:

15 "Every man has a natural right to the fruits of his own labor, is generally admitted; and no other person can 16 rightfully deprive him of those fruits, and appropriate them against his will ..."

17 The Antelope, [23 U.S. 66; 10 Wheat 66; 6 L.Ed. 268 (1825)]

18 Even the statutes confirm that labor is not a commodity or article of commerce that therefore may be "taxed":

19 United States Code
20 TITLE 15 - COMMERCE AND TRADE
21 CHAPTER 1 - MONOPOLIES AND COMBINATIONS IN RESTRAINT OF TRADE
22 Sec. 17. Antitrust laws not applicable to labor organizations

23 The labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce....

24 Now let's look at what the Bible says about the theft and fraud of holding back the wages of the laborer, and it's not pretty,
25 Mr. Private Employer:

26 "The laborer is worthy of [ALL of] his wages."
27 [1 Tim. 5:18, Bible, NKJV]

28 "Woe to him who builds his house by unrighteousness
29 And his chambers by injustice,
30 Who [whether individual or government] uses his neighbor's service without wages
31 And gives him nothing for his work,"
32 [Jer. 22:13, Bible, NKJV]

33 "Come now, you rich, weep and howl for your miseries that are coming upon you! Your riches are corrupted,
34 and your garments are moth-eaten. Your gold and silver are corroded, and their corrosion will be a witness
35 against you and will eat your flesh like fire. You have heaped up treasure in the last days. Indeed the wages of 36 the laborers who mowed your fields, which you kept back by fraud, cry out; and the cries of the reapers have
37 reached the ears of the Lord of Sabaoth. ⁵You [the business owner who controls the purse of the workers] have 38 lived on the earth in pleasure and luxury; you have fattened your hearts as in a day of slaughter. You have 39 condemned, you have murdered the just; he does not resist you. "
40 [James 5:1-6, Bible, NKJV]

41 "You shall not cheat your neighbor, nor rob him. The wages of him who is hired shall not remain with you all 42 night until morning. "
43 [Lev. 19:13, Bible, NKJV]

44 Any way you look at it, private employers who don't have privileged federal "employees" for workers cannot withhold
45 against the wishes of the workers and if they do, they are STEALING and violating both man's law and God's law. There is 46 nothing in federal law or state law that would indemnify them from such STEALING. They are no better than petty street
47 criminals, and any payroll clerk who doesn't understand this is a sitting duck for any worker who is even mildly educated
48 about the law and willing to defend his rights in court.

49 6.3 Legal Requirements Pertaining to Private Employers

50 Private companies have no legal duty whatsoever to do anything within the Internal Revenue Code. We now know that based 51 on the discussion in the previous sections. Even if they have an Employer Identification Number (EIN), making them

Federal and State Tax Withholding Options for Private Employers

248

1 “registered” private companies, they are still technically not part of the federal government under federal law, so they don’t
2 fit the description of being an “employer” under the Internal Revenue Code and the people who work for them are not
3 “employees” under the Internal Revenue Code (not “law”, but “code”) either.

4 Obviously, the federal government has no lawful authority to interfere with the right to contract between private companies
5 and their workers or contractors. Here is what the Supreme Court says on this very subject to prove our point:

6 “Independent of these views, there are many considerations which lead to the conclusion that the power to
7 impair contracts [either the Constitution or private employment contracts], by direct action to that end, does
8 not exist with the general [federal] government. In the first place, one of the objects of the Constitution,
9 expressed in its preamble, was the establishment of justice, and what that meant in its relations to contracts is
10 not left, as was justly said by the late Chief Justice, in Hepburn v. Griswold, to inference or conjecture. As he
11 observes, at the time the Constitution was undergoing discussion in the convention, the Congress of the 12 Confederation was engaged in framing the ordinance for the government of the Northwestern Territory, in which 13 certain articles of compact were established between the people of the original States and the people of the 14 Territory, for the purpose, as expressed in the instrument, of extending the fundamental principles of civil and
15 religious liberty, upon which the States, their laws and constitutions, were erected. By that ordinance it was 16 declared, that, in the just preservation of rights and property, ‘no law ought ever to be made, or have force in
17 the said Territory, that shall, in any manner, interfere with or affect private contracts or engagements bona
18 fide and without fraud previously formed.’ The same provision, adds the Chief Justice, found more condensed
19 expression in the prohibition upon the States [in Article 1, Section 10 of the Constitution] against impairing the 20 obligation of contracts, which has ever been recognized as an efficient safeguard against injustice; and though
21 the prohibition is not applied in terms to the government of the United States, he expressed the opinion, speaking
22 for himself and the majority of the court at the time, that it was clear ‘that those who framed and those who
23 adopted the Constitution intended that the spirit of this prohibition should pervade the entire body of 24 legislation, and that the justice which the Constitution was ordained to establish was not thought by them to
25 be compatible with legislation [or judicial precedent] of an opposite tendency.’ 8 Wall. 623. [99 U.S. 700, 765]
26 Similar views are found expressed in the opinions of other judges of this court.”
27 [Sinking Fund Cases, 99 U.S. 700 (1878)]

28 Any public servant who attempts to interfere with private labor contracts between private companies and their private workers
29 by intercepting compensation passing between the two without satisfying the requirement for due process (litigation) found
30 is violating their right to contract, instituting slavery in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment, and committing robbery in 31 violation of the Fifth Amendment. Here is what the Supreme Court said on this subject:

32 “Every man has a natural right to the fruits of his own labor, is generally admitted; and no other person can 33 rightfully deprive him of those fruits, and appropriate them against his will ...”
34 [The Antelope, 23 U.S. 66, 10 Wheat 66, 6 L.Ed. 268 (1825)]
35

36 “In Calder v. Bull, which was here in 1798, Mr. Justice Chase said, that there were acts which the Federal and
37 State legislatures could not do without exceeding their authority, and among them he mentioned a law which
38 punished a citizen for an innocent act; a law that destroyed or impaired the lawful private [labor] contracts [and
39 labor compensation, e.g. earnings from employment through compelled W-4 withholding] of citizens; a law that
40 made a man judge in his own case; and a law that took the property from A [the worker], and gave it to B [the
41 government or another citizen, such as through social welfare programs]. ‘It is against all reason and justice,’
42 he added, ‘for a people to intrust a legislature with such powers, and therefore it cannot be presumed that they
43 have done it. They may command what is right and prohibit what is wrong; but they cannot change innocence
44 into guilt [for “nontaxpayers” into “taxpayers”], or punish innocence [being a “nontaxpayer”] as a crime, or
45 violate the right of an antecedent lawful private [employment] contract [by compelling W-4 withholding, for 46 instance], or the right of private property. To maintain that a Federal or State legislature possesses such powers
47 [of THEFT!] if they had not been expressly restrained, would, in my opinion, be a political heresy altogether
48 inadmissible in all free republican governments.’ 3 Dall. 388.”
49 [Sinking Fund Cases, 99 U.S. 700 (1878)]

50 Consequently, any public servant who attempts to order private companies to take money out of the pay of people
51 involuntarily and send it to the IRS is enticing people into federal slavery in violation of 18 U.S.C. §1581, 18 U.S.C. §1589,
52 and 42 U.S.C. §1994 and committing extortion and grand theft. Those private companies that cooperate with the illegal acts
53 of the IRS along these lines become “accessories after the fact” in violation of 18 U.S.C. §3.

54 The IRS has therefore become an organized crime ring if it compels any kind of withholding against private workers and
55 private companies, because there is no enacted positive law authorizing them to do what they do. They have substituted a
56 voluntary “code” in place of real “positive law” and then misrepresented its authority to the public. They are operating 57 entirely upon false presumption and have absolutely no evidence and no enacted positive law to defend their reason for doing
58 anything. They are also violating their own internal procedures documented in the Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.) if they

1 institute any kind of enforcement action or try to entice or deceive private employers into becoming voluntary enforcers
2 either. If they can't produce a positive law authorizing their actions then they are "unlawful" and therefore "illegal":

3 *"Unlawful. That which is contrary to, prohibited, or unauthorized by law. That which is not lawful. The acting
4 contrary to, or in defiance of the law; disobeying or disregarding the law. Term is equivalent to "without excuse
5 or justification." State v. Noble, 90 N.M. 360, 563 P.2d. 1153, 1157. While necessarily not implying the element
6 of criminality, it is broad enough to include it."
7 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1536]*

8 Let's face it: The only reason private companies comply with the edicts of an out-of-control government and IRS is because:

- 9 1. The courts are corrupted and will side with the government.
- 10 2. The legal consequences of challenging the authority of the government could cause litigation and legal bills that most 11 private employers don't want to deal with.
- 12 3. Fear of what the IRS might do if they question authority.
- 13 4. Being too busy running the business to be bothered by yet one more annoyance and harassment from the IRS.

14 When a private employer is approached by one of their workers, and if that private, nonfederal employer "thinks" they are
15 acting as a federal employer because they have Employer Identification Numbers (EINs), then the IRS will treat them as 16 though they have an obligation to deduct and withhold, even if they don't. Under those provisions, they must do the following 17 things:

- 18 1. Collect an "identifying number", if appropriate, from the employee.
- 19 2. Accept the withholding form chosen by the employee.
- 20 3. Not make any changes to the withholding form of the "employee". Doing that would be coercion and cause the form to 21 no longer be "voluntary". If the employer insists on changing the form, the employer is acting as an agent of illegal 22 extortion on the part of the government.
- 23 4. Withhold the proper amount of revenues based on the withholding form submitted and send it to the federal government.

24 Note that it is a federal crime to compel anyone to use or disclose a Social Security Number if federal law does not require 25 it:

26 TITLE 42 - THE PUBLIC HEALTH AND WELFARE
27 CHAPTER 7 - SOCIAL SECURITY
28 SUBCHAPTER II - FEDERAL OLD-AGE, SURVIVORS, AND DISABILITY INSURANCE BENEFITS
29 Sec. 408. Penalties

30 (a) In general
31 Whoever -...

32 (8) discloses, uses, or compels the disclosure of the social security number of any person in violation of the 33 laws of the United States; shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be fined under title 18
34 or imprisoned for not more than five years, or both.

35 For tax withholding purposes, the requirement for identifying numbers appears in 26 U.S.C. §6109. The implementing 36 regulations for that section say that the only number the IRS can demand is a "Taxpayer Identification Number":

37 26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1\(b\)

38 (b) Requirement to furnish one's own number—

39 (1) U.S. persons.

40 Every U.S. person who makes under this title a return, statement, or other document must furnish its own
41 taxpayer identifying number as required by the forms and the accompanying instructions.

42 Notice the word "its". This should clue you into the fact that the tax code doesn't apply to flesh and blood people, who are 43 called "natural persons" in regulations like that above. If they had meant to refer to such a natural person, the word "it's"
44 would have said "his" or "her". Consequently, the only type of "person", they can be referring to is a privileged corporation
45 involved in foreign commerce.

1 According to 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(30\), a statutory “U.S. person” is either a resident alien or a federal statutory “U.S. citizen”.
2 What these two groups of people have in common is a “domicile” inside the federal zone, which no one domiciled in a state
3 of the Union can have. Furthermore, Black’s Law Dictionary admits under the definition of “domicile” that a person can 4 only have ONE domicile. You can’t have a domicile in two physically separate places at the same time: The District of 5 Columbia AND a state of the Union. Here is the definition:

6 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701.
7 Sec. 7701. - Definitions
8

9 (a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent
10 thereof—

11 (30) United States person

12 The term “United States person” means -

13 (A) a [corporate] citizen or resident [alien] of the [federal] United States,

14 (B) a domestic partnership,

15 (C) a domestic corporation,

16 (D) any estate (other than a foreign estate, within the meaning of paragraph (31)), and

17 (E) any trust if -

18 (i) a court within the United States is able to exercise primary supervision over the administration of the
19 trust, and

20 (ii) one or more United States persons have the authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust.
21

22 This means that if the “person” is a “citizen” under 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1\(c\) or under 8 U.S.C. §1401, they must have been born
23 in the federal statutory “United States” (federal zone), which is limited only to the District of Columbia or U.S. territories
24 and possessions. Don’t let the word “citizen” above fool you either, because corporations within law are “citizens” as well
25 and they are “born” at the instant when they are officially “incorporated” by the Secretary of State of the jurisdiction where 26 they are domiciled. Congress wants to deceive you into believing that the term “citizen” means a natural person (people),
27 but in the Internal Revenue Code subtitle A, this term ONLY refers to corporations because “income”, is defined by our 28 Constitution and by the Supreme court to be limited only to monies earned by federal corporations in the conduct of foreign 29 commerce! This is also consistent with the use of the word “it’s” as used above in 26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1\(b\), where the only 30 “U.S. persons” in the I.R.C. who can have TINs are corporations. Here is some more proof of that to whet your appetite to 31 read later sections:

32 “A corporation is a citizen, resident, or inhabitant of the state or country by or under the laws of which it was 33 created, and of that state or country only.”
34 [19 Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Corporations, §886 (2003)]

35 The Federalist Paper #15 also helps clarify that the “citizen” they are referring to in the tax code does NOT include biological 36 people, when it said:

37 “The existing Confederation’s great and fundamental defect is the principle of LEGISLATION for STATES in
38 their COLLECTIVE CAPACITIES rather than for the INDIVIDUALS living in the States. Although this principle
39 does not apply to all the powers delegated to the Union, it pervades those on which the effectiveness of the rest
40 depends. Except for the rule of apportionment, the United States has indefinite discretion to requisition men
41 and money. But it has no authority to raise either directly from individual citizens [biological people] of 42 America.”
43 [Federalist Paper #15, § 6 (Emph added)]

44 Even more interestingly, under 26 C.F.R. § 301.6109-1\(g\), having a social security number creates a “presumption” that you
45 are a domiciliary of the federal zone, which includes federal statutory “U.S. citizens” under 8 U.S.C. §1401 and “resident
46 aliens” defined under 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A). Here is what the code says about the requirement to provide a social security
47 number when furnishing returns:

48 26 C.F.R. § 301.6109-1\(g\)

49 (g) Special rules for taxpayer identifying numbers issued to foreign persons—

50 (1) General rule—

1 (i) Social security number.

2 A social security number is generally identified in the records and database of the Internal Revenue Service
3 as a number belonging to a U.S. citizen or resident alien individual. A person may establish a different status
4 for the number by providing proof of foreign status with the Internal Revenue Service under such procedures as
5 the Internal Revenue Service shall prescribe, including the use of a form as the Internal Revenue Service may 6 specify. Upon accepting an individual as a nonresident alien individual, the Internal Revenue Service will assign
7 this status to the individual's social security number.

8 Unless you refute this false presumption of domicile in the federal zone with proof, then the courts will treat you as though
9 you live there. Even if you don't live there, in fact, the code requires them to "assume" that you live there. See 26 U.S.C.
10 §7701(a)(39) and 26 U.S.C. §7408(d). As a domiciliary of the federal zone, you are presumed to be a federal "U.S. citizen",
11 or a "resident alien", and a "U.S. person" and you have NO Constitutional rights according to the U.S. Supreme Court in 12 Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901)! We must therefore rebut the false presumption that we are a "U.S. resident", "U.S.
13 citizen", a "U.S. person", or "individual" whenever we correspond with the IRS and continually emphasize instead that we 14 are a "state national" and a "non-resident non-person". The way to do this is by following the regulation above and requesting
15 a change in the status of your Social Security Number with the IRS! We must also do this by submitting the proper
16 withholding form, which in this case is the IRS Form W-8, to our employer.

17 7. Involuntary taxes on one's own labor are slavery in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment⁶⁰

18 "You were bought at a price; do not become slaves of men [and government is 19 made up of men]."
20 [1 Cor. 7:23, Bible, NKJV]

21 "Stand fast therefore in liberty by which Christ has made us free, and do not be entangled again with a yoke of 22 bondage [to the IRS or the government]."
23 [Gal. 5:1, Bible, NKJV]

24 "Masters [tyrants in Washington, D.C. who are public servants that vainly think themselves to be masters], give 25 your servants what is just and fair, knowing that you also have a Master in heaven."
26 [Colossians 4:1, Bible, NKJV]

27 Slavery, we are reminded incessantly these days, was a terrible thing. In today's politically correct society, some blacks are 28 demanding reparations for slavery because their remote ancestors were slaves. Slavery is routinely used to bash the South,
29 although the slave trade began in the North, and slavery was once practiced in every state in the Union. Today's historians
30 assure us that the War for Southern Independence was fought primarily if not exclusively over slavery, and that by winning 31 that war, the North put an end to the peculiar institution once and for all.

32 Whoa! Time out! Shouldn't we back up and ask: what is slavery? It has been a while since those ranting on the subject have
33 offered us a working definition of it. They will all claim that we know good and well what it is; why play games with the 34 word? But given the adage that those who can control language can control policy, it surely can't hurt to revisit the definition
35 of slavery. There are good reasons to suspect the motives of those who won't allow their basic terms to be defined or 36 scrutinized. Here is a definition, one that will make sense of the instincts telling us that slavery is indeed an abomination:

37 Slavery is non-ownership of one's Person and Labor.

38 Slavery is the opposite of "liberty" or the absence of liberty. We have an excellent animation on our website that very clearly 39 and simply defines what liberty is, which helps us understand what slavery is at the address below:

40 <http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Freedom/Articles/PhilosophyOfLiberty-english.swf>

41 Slavery, therefore, is involuntary servitude. When a slave is working to pay off a debt, he is called a "peon". A slave must 42 work under a whip, real or figurative, wielded by other persons, his owners, with no say in how (or even if) his labors are
43 compensated. His is a one-way contract he cannot opt out of. A slave is tied to his master (and to the land where he labors).
44 He cannot simply quit if he doesn't like it. Moreover, a slave can be bought and sold like any other commodity. Justice

⁶⁰ Adapted from Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 5.4.7.

1 Brewer of the U.S. Supreme Court helped us to understand exactly what slavery is in the case of Clyatt v. U.S., 197 U.S. 207
2 (1905):

3 “The constitutionality and scope of sections 1990 and 5526 present the first questions for our consideration.
4 They prohibit peonage. What is peonage? It may be defined as a state or condition of compulsory service,
5 based upon the indebtedness of the peon to the master. The basal fact is indebtedness. As said by Judge
6 Benedict, delivering the opinion in Jaremillo v. Romero, 1 N.Mex. 190, 194: ‘One fact existed universally; all
7 were indebted to their masters. This was the cord by which they seemed bound to their masters’ service.’ Upon
8 this is based a condition of compulsory service. Peonage is sometimes classified as voluntary or involuntary,
9 but this implies simply a difference in the mode of origin, but not in the character of the servitude. The one
10 exists where the debtor voluntarily contracts to enter the service of his creditor. The other is forced upon the 11 debtor by some provision of law. But peonage, however created, is compulsory service, involuntary servitude.
12 The peon can release himself therefrom, it is true, by the payment of the debt, but otherwise the service is 13 enforced. A clear distinction exists between peonage and the voluntary performance of labor or rendering of 14 services in payment of a debt. In the latter case the debtor, though contracting to pay his indebtedness by labor
15 or service, and subject like any other contractor to an action for damages for breach of that contract, can elect
16 at any time to break it, and no law or force compels performance or continuance of the service.”
17 [Clyatt v. U.S., 197 U.S. 207 (1905)]

18 Here’s another example of what slavery means, again from the U.S. Supreme Court in Plessy v. Ferguson, 163 U.S. 537, 542 19 (1896):

20 “That it does not conflict with the Thirteenth Amendment, which abolished slavery and involuntary servitude,
21 except as a punishment for crime, is too clear for argument. Slavery implies involuntary servitude—a state of
22 bondage; the ownership of mankind as a chattel, or at least the control of the labor and services of one man for
23 the benefit of another, and the absence of a legal right to the disposal of his own person, property, and services
24 [in their entirety]. This amendment was said in the Slaughter House Cases, 16 Wall, 36, to have been intended
25 primarily to abolish slavery, as it had been previously known in this country, and that it equally forbade Mexican
26 peonage or the Chinese coolie trade, when they amounted to slavery or involuntary servitude and that the use of 27 the word ‘servitude’ was intended to prohibit the use of all forms of involuntary slavery, of whatever class or 28 name.”
29 [Plessy v. Ferguson, 163 U.S. 537, 542 (1896)]

30 When the IRS fabricates a bogus tax liability without the authority of enacted positive law creating a “liability”, if they lie to 31 you about what the tax Code says, or if they try to enforce an excise tax against activities that you aren’t involved in and
32 which you have informed them under penalty of perjury that you aren’t involved in, then they effectively are recruiting or
33 returning you into debt slavery and “peonage” and their activities are a federal offense in violation of 42 U.S.C. §1994 and 34 18 U.S.C. §1581. These two statutes, incidentally, unlike most other federal legislation and statutes, DO apply within states
35 of the union according to the U.S. Supreme Court in the above mentioned case. 18 U.S.C. §1593 also mandates restitution
36 for all those persons who have been recruited into slavery or involuntary servitude by their slave masters, which means that
37 we must be compensated fairly for the labor of ours that was in effect stolen from us. Why hasn’t the Supreme Court therefore 38 declared taxes on the earnings of persons from labor as unconstitutional and slavery? Because they are bought and paid for 39 with money they are STEALING from you! By subsidizing unconstitutional government extortion cleverly and deceitfully
40 disguised as a legitimate income tax without fighting it, you are bribing them to maintain the status quo, friends!

41 In the case of the way the corrupt IRS and an even more corrupted federal judiciary mis-enforces our laws or pretends that
42 there is a positive law federal taxing statute when in fact there isn’t one, the very real slavery that results is at odds with
43 libertarian social ethics, in which all human beings have a natural right to ownership of Person and Labor. According to 44 libertarian social ethics, contracts should be voluntary and not coerced. This is sufficient for us to oppose slavery with all
45 our might. However, notice that this clear definition of slavery is a double-edged sword. There is no reference to race in the 46 above definition. That whites enslaved blacks early in our history is an historical accident; there is nothing inherently racial
47 about slavery. Many people have been enslaved in the past, including whites. The South, too, has no intrinsic connection
48 with slavery, given how we already noted that it was practiced in the North as well. No slaves were brought into the 49 Confederacy during its brief, five-year existence, and it is very likely that the practice would have died out in a generation or 50 two had the Confederacy won the war.

51 It is instructive at this point to compare the status of being a “negro slave” to that of being a “taxpayer” to show you just how 52 similar they are, in fact. We have prepared a table comparing these two statuses to show you that they are indeed synonymous:

53 Table 15: "Taxpayer" v. "Negro slave"

1 Finally, it is clear that when most people talk about slavery, they are referring to chattel slavery, the overt practice of buying,
 2 selling and owning people like farm animals or beasts of burden. Are there other forms of slavery besides chattel slavery?

3 Before answering, let’s review our definition above and contrast slavery with sovereignty, in the sense of sovereignty over
 4 one’s life. Slavery, we said, is non-ownership of Person and Labor. In that case, sovereignty is ownership of Person and
 5 Labor. The basic contrast, then, is between slavery and sovereignty, and the issue is ownership. And there are two basic 6 things one can own: one’s Person (one’s life), and one’s Labor (the fruits of one’s labors, including personal wealth resulting 7 from productive labors).

8 Let us quantify the situation. A plantation slave owned neither himself nor the fruits of his labors. That is, he owned 0% of 9 Person and 0% of Labor. In an ideal libertarian order, ownership of Person and Labor would be just the opposite: 100% of 10 both. In this case, we have a method allowing us to describe other forms of slavery by ascribing different percentages of 11 ownership to Person and Labor. For example, we might say that a prison inmate owns 5% of Person and 50% of Labor.
 12 Inmates are highly confined in person yet they are allowed to own wealth both inside the prison and outside. Some, moreover,
 13 are allowed to work at jobs for which they are paid. When slavery was abolished, ownership of Person and Labor was 14 transferred to the slave, and he became mostly free. So let us define the following categories in terms of individual percentage
 15 ownership:

16 Table 16: Percent Ownership of Person and Labor

| # | Category | Characteristics | Equivalent political system |
|----------|-----------------|--------------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| 1 | Perfect Liberty | 100% ownership of Person and Labor | Pure Capitalism/Republic |
| 2 | Partial Slavery | Some % ownership of Person and Labor | Socialism/democracy |
| 3 | Chattel Slavery | 0% ownership of Person and Labor | Communism/dictatorship |

17 With this in mind, here is an intriguing question for our readers:

18 How much ownership do you have in your person and your labor?

19 Are you really free? Or are you a partial slave or peon? We are not, of course, talking about arrangements that cede a portion
 20 of ownership of Person and Labor to others through voluntary contract.

21 We submit that forcible taxation on your personal income or labor makes you a partial slave and makes the government a
 22 socialist government. For if you are legally bound to hand a certain percentage of your income (the fruits of your labors)
 23 over to federal, state and local governments, then from the legal standpoint you only have "some % ownership" of your person

1 and labor. The pivotal point is whether or not ownership is ceded through voluntary contract. Have you any recollection of
2 any deals you signed with the IRS promising them payment of part of your income? If not, then if 30% of your income is
3 paid in income taxes, then you have only 70% ownership of Labor. You are a slave from January through April – a very 4 conservative estimate at best, today!

5 If one wants to stand on the U.S. Constitution as one's foundation, then the 13th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution can be
6 used as an ironclad argument against a forcible direct tax on the labor of a human being. The 13th Amendment says:

7 "Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for a crime whereof the party shall have been
8 duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction. Congress shall have 9 the power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

10 The 13th Amendment makes it very clear that we cannot legally or Constitutionally be forced into involuntary servitude. It
11 doesn't make any distinction between whether the slavery is physical or financial, but says that any kind of involuntary
12 servitude is prohibited.

13 As such, we maintain that a human being has an inalienable right to own 100 % of Person and 100% of Labor, including
14 control over how the fruits of his actions are dispensed. A human being has an inalienable right to control the compensation
15 for his labor while in the act of any service in the marketplace – e.g., digging ditches, flipping burgers, word-processing
16 documents for a company, programming computers, preparing court cases, performing surgery, preaching sermons, or writing
17 novels.

18 A forcible direct tax on the labor of a human being is in violation of this right as stated in the 13th Amendment. If we work
19 40 hours a week, and another entity forcibly conscripts 25 % of our compensation, then we argue that we have been forced
20 into involuntary servitude – slavery – for 10 of those 40 hours, and we were free for the other 30. If we could freely choose
21 to work just the 30 hours and decline to work the 10 hours, then our wills would not be violated and the 13th Amendment
22 would be honored.

23 However, Congress and the IRS claim that their Internal Revenue Code (IRC) lay direct claim to those ten hours (or some 24 stated percentage) without our consent.

25 In other words, in a free and just society, a society in which there is no slavery of any form:

- 26 • Human beings are not forced to work for free, in whole or in part.
- 27 • Human beings are not slaves to anything or anyone.
- 28 • Anyone who attempts to force us to work for free, without compensation, has violated our rights under the 13th
29 Amendment.

30 This, of course, is not the state of affairs in the United States of America at the turn of the millennium, in which:

- 31 • We labor involuntarily for at least four months out of every year for the government.
- 32 • We are, therefore, slaves for that period of time.
- 33 • The government, having forced us to work for free, without compensation, has violated the 13th Amendment.

34 Of course, what follows from all this discussion is that there is an issue about slavery. But it is not the issue politically correct
35 historians and activists are raising. As for reparations, we suspect many of us might be willing to let bygones be bygones if 36 we never had to pay out another dime to the IRS. We often read about how great the economy is supposedly doing. Just 37 imagine how it would flourish if human beings owned 100% of Person and Labor, and could voluntarily invest the capital
38 we currently pay to the government in our businesses, our homes, our schools, and our communities!

39 For those of you who believe that the 16th Amendment repealed, replaced, modified, appended, amended or superseded the 40 13th Amendment, you are mistaken. For an Amendment to be changed, in any way, there must be an Amendment that
41 emphatically declares this action. There is absolutely nothing in the Constitution that alters the efficacy of the 13th Amendment
42 in even the slightest way. The 16th Amendment merely allowed the government to enter the "National Social Benefits"
43 business where it finances the system with the mandatory contributions of voluntary participants. While all Americans
44 certainly understand the concept of mandatory contributions, they fail to understand the concept of voluntary participation,
45 largely due to a very effective marketing campaign on the part of our central government for several generations now since

1 the Great Depression. The 16th Amendment gave the government the power to legally enter a contractual relationship with
2 its citizens wherein the citizen voluntarily contributes a portion of his labor in exchange for social benefits. In order for both
3 Amendments to peacefully coexist, the contractual relationships in the system created by the 16th Amendment cannot be
4 forced upon the citizens. For to do so would be to contradict the 13th completely.

5 Two final questions, and a few final thoughts. Can we really take seriously the carpings of politically correct historians about 6 an arrangement (chattel slavery) that hasn't existed for 140 years when they completely ignore the structurally similar
7 arrangements (tax slavery) that have existed right under their noses during most of the years since. And does a governmental
8 system which systematically violates its own founding documents, and then oversees the imprisoning of those who refuse to 9 recognize the legitimacy of the violations, really have a claim on the loyalty of those who would be loyal to the ideals
10 represented in those founding documents?

11 Eventually, we have to make a decision. How long are we going to continue to put up with the present hypocritical
12 arrangements? In the Declaration of Independence is found these remarks:

13 "... [a]nd accordingly all Experience hath shewn, that Mankind are more disposed to suffer, while Evils are 14 sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the Forms to which they are accustomed."

15 We are accustomed to the income tax. Most people take it for granted, and don't look at fundamental issues. Yet some have
16 indeed opted out of the tax system. It is necessary, at present, to become self-employed and hire oneself out based on a
17 negotiated contract in which you determine your hourly rate and then bill for your time. Then you send your client an invoice,
18 they write a check directly to you in response, and you take the check and deposit it in your bank account; you may wish to
19 open a bank account with a name like John Smith Enterprises DBA (DBA stands for 'Doing Business As'). If the bank asks
20 for a tax-ID number, you may give your social security number. This is perfectly legal since you are not a corporation nor 21 are you required to be. Nor does the use of a government issued number contractually obligate you to participate in their
22 system.

23 We should specify here that we are discussing taxes on income resulting from personal labor, to be carefully distinguished
24 from taxes for the sale of material items, or excise taxes, both of which are usually indirect taxes on artificial entities like
25 corporations. These are an entirely separate, and voluntary matter, because if you don't want to pay the tax, you either don't 26 buy the good or don't register as a corporation that sells the good.

27 By advocating opting out of the income tax slavery system, we are not advocating anything illegal here; that is the most
28 surprising thing of all. The Treasury Department nailed Al Capone not because of failure to pay taxes on his personal labor
29 but for his failure to pay the excise tax on the sale of alcoholic beverages. So a plan to be self-employed that includes profit
30 from the sale of material goods should include a plan to pay all the excise taxes; you risk a prison sentence if you don't. But
31 the 13th Amendment directly prohibits anything or anyone from conscripting your person or the fruits of your physical or
32 cognitive labors; to do so is make a slave of you. You may, of course, voluntarily participate in the SSA-W2 system by free
33 choice. In this case you are required to submit to the rules as outlined in the Internal Revenue Code (IRC). And this means 34 that you will contribute a significant fraction of your labor to pay for the group benefits of the system in which you are 35 voluntarily participating.

36 Your relationship with the system technically begins with the assignment of a Social Security Number (Personal Tax ID 37 Number). This government-issued number, however, does not contractually obligate you to anything. The government cannot 38 conscript its citizens simply by assigning a number to them. Assigning the number is perfectly fine. But conscripting them in 39 the process is a serious no-no. Some people that feel strongly about the last chapters of the book of Revelation might view
40 this as pure – evil.

41 The critical point in the relationship begins when a citizen accepts a job with an IRS registered corporation. Accepting the 42 government owned SSA-W2 job marries you to the system. The payroll department has the employee fill out a W4. This
43 W4 officially notifies the employee that the job in question is officially part of the SSA-W2 system and that all job-income
44 is subject first to the rules and regulations of the I.R.C. and then secondly to the employee. When you sign that W4 you are 45 at that point very, very married to the system.

46 So why not just decline to sign the W4?

1 You can decline to sign a W4 but this does not accomplish much nor does it un-marry you from the system. Your payroll
2 office will merely use the I.R.C. defaults already present in the payroll software and all deductions will be based on those 3 parameters.

4 Okay, you might say, fine, I'll sign a W4 but I'll direct my payroll department to withhold zero. (You can do this for federal
5 withholding but not for social security tax.) This still does not un-marry you from the system. Your payroll department still
6 reports the gross income and deductions for your SSA-W2 job to the IRS each and every quarter. And at the end of the year
7 you will probably end up being asked to write a large check to the IRS for the group contributions you declined to pay during 8 the year. With skill and the resources in this book, you may escape this assumed but nonexistent liability.

9 You then might say, Okay, then I'll just direct my payroll office to decline to report income to the IRS.

10 Reply: they cannot legally decline to report your SSA-W2 income because of their contractual obligations under the I.R.C.
11 that were agreed to when they established their official IRS registered corporation. The corporation can get into deep trouble
12 by violating their contract.

13 Okay, you reply in turn, I'll just get the corporation to create a non-SSA-W2 job for me.

14 Response this time: the corporation cannot do this either; their contract under the I.R.C. requires every single employee-job
15 in that corporation to be an SSA-W2 job. This is similar to labor union practices of insisting that all jobs in a plant be union 16 jobs.

17 You retort: isn't this a government monopoly on every corporate job in America???

18 The short answer is YES.

19 So how can I legally decline to work for free?

20 The answer is to decline to be an 'employee' of an official IRS registered corporation.

21 How is that possible?

22 The answer is simple. You become an independent contractor. The Supreme Court upholds the sovereignty of the individual
23 and has declared that your "...power to contract is unlimited." Corporations hire the labors of non-employees each and every 24 day.

25 If there is an infestation of cockroaches near the employee break-room, the corporation doesn't create an SSA Form W2
26 employee exterminator job. They hire a contract exterminator to kill the bugs. When the bug-man arrives they don't hand him
27 an IRS Form W-4 and ask him to declare his allowances, they lead him straight to the big-fat-ugly roaches and implore him
28 to vanquish the vermin immediately. When the bug-man finishes the job he hands them an invoice for his services. And the 29 company sends him a check to pay the invoice. And nowhere on that check will you find a federal, state, county or city
30 withholding deduction or a social security deduction or a medical or dental deduction or a garnishment or an "I'll-be-needing-
31 an-accountant-to-figure-all-this-out" deduction or a "Tuesday-Save-The-Turnips-Tax" deduction. On the contrary, the bug-
32 man receives full remuneration for his service. This simple arrangement is completely legal and the I.R.C. has zero contractual
33 claim to any part of this check (assuming the bug-man has made no contract under the IRC). And anyone or anything that 34 attempts to forcibly conscript any part of that check is violating the bug-man's rights under the 13th Amendment.

35 Supreme Court Ruling on Individual Sovereignty

36 "There is a clear distinction in this particular case between an individual and a corporation, and that the latter
37 has no right to refuse to submit its books and papers for an examination at the suit of the State. The individual
38 may stand upon his constitutional rights as a citizen. He is entitled to carry on his private business in his own
39 way. His power to contract is unlimited. He owes no such duty to the State, since he receives nothing therefrom,
40 beyond the protection of his life and property. His rights are such as existed by the law of the land long antecedent
41 to the organization of the State, and can only be taken from him by due process of law, and in accordance with 42 the constitution. Among his rights are a refusal to incriminate himself, and the immunity of himself and his
43 property from arrest or seizure except under a warrant of the law. He owes nothing to the public so long as he 44 does not trespass upon their rights."
45 [Hale v. Henkel, 201 U.S. 43 at 47 (1906)]

1 What does the bug-man do with his check?

2 The short answer is ... he keeps it ... all of it.

3 What about filing a tax return?

4 The bug-man declines to file a return since he has nothing to report that is under the jurisdiction of the IRC. Since he does
5 not work in a government owned SSA-W2 job he is out of the system and under no contractual obligation to make
6 contributions. The corporation that wrote him a check for his service legally reports it as an internal business expense. He 7 is legally classified as a non-participant.

8 If you are in the SSA-W2 system:

9 The purpose of an individual year-end tax-return is to settle the exact amount of contractually required contributions to the 10 SSA-W2 system as determined by the IRC. Filing is purely voluntary. You can decline to file but doing so does not release
11 you from your contractual obligations under the IRC. In the absence of a tax-return, the IRS falsely believes that the I.R.C.
12 permits them to file a tax-return on your behalf and they are allowed to file a return that maximally favors them. Most people
13 don't challenge their illegal attempt to make a return if you don't provide them with one. And this they will do if it creates a 14 receivable – accounting lingo for – "you owe them money." They will decline to file a return if it would create a payable –
15 accounting lingo for "they owe you money." If the IRS files a return and creates a receivable against you they will send you
16 a notice declaring their claim. If you decline to pay, the I.R.C. permits the IRS to file a tax-lien against you if you are a "public
17 officer" of the U.S. government. This of course will be seen on your credit report. And the end result is your credit is 18 damaged. The IRS computers will see to it that the lien remains on your credit report until the lien is paid. You can't beat a 19 computer.

20 What if I file a return but cheat like crazy?

21 This is a very bad idea. The Treasury Department nailed Leona Helmsley not because she failed to pay taxes on her personal
22 labor but because she filed a fraudulent tax return. Filing a dishonest tax return puts you at risk. The IRS is very astute at 23 defending itself. Basically the IRS is responsible for enforcing the I.R.C. rules. If you are in the SSA-W2 system you have
24 to live by the IRC. If you decide to stay in the system, we recommend securing the services of a highly qualified CPA or tax
25 attorney that can assist you in filing the most advantageous return possible without committing fraud or risking an audit.

26 In the end, the law does allow you to opt-out because you can't be forced to work for free. If you do opt-out there are at least 27 2 potential inconveniences you need to understand:

- 28 1. Difficulty with conventional loans. You will have a far more difficult time getting loans from conventional banks,
29 because so often these depend on verifying your income with signed tax returns you no longer have. You can hire an
30 accountant to compose a certified financial statement that some loan institutions may accept as valid proof of income.
31 2. No unemployment benefits. This benefit is part of the SSA-W2 system and since you're not in the system you can't use
32 the benefits. If you have no contracts you only have yourself to complain to, you can't complain to the government
33 because you can't get anyone to do business with you.

34 Moreover, some who have opted out have moved all their physical assets into a trust. This measure makes it almost impossible
35 for the IRS to touch the assets. The IRS, after all, cannot simply decide to go after a person's wealth. They have to obey
36 I.R.C. rules as well. If there is no income over which they have jurisdiction then they can legally do nothing.

37 It is worth noting, finally, that the government is in the "National Social Benefits" business. The government entered this 38 business with the ratification of the 16th Amendment and has achieved a near perfect monopoly in this market (a violation of 39 anti-trust laws). If you don't believe this, try finding a non-SSA-W2 job with a U.S. corporation. As such, it is in the interest
40 of any business that has a monopoly to get the customers to believe that there is no alternative to the present business
41 relationship. The government is not about to provide any of its customers (you and I) with any information suggesting 42 otherwise. In obtaining such information, we are clearly on our own; no government agency will assist you in opting out of 43 the income tax system or the social security system, with the possible exception of the U.S. Supreme Court, should the right
44 case one day come before them.

1 So one's best weapon is still the Declaration of Independence, the U.S. Constitution, the 13th Amendment, and information.
2 Whatever the inconveniences, the reward is personal sovereignty – otherwise known as freedom. If you would like to know
3 more about the subject of the taxability of wages, we have prepared a whole line of deposition questions on the subject useful
4 in an IRS audit or deposition that basically backs the government into the corner of admitting based on facts and evidence
5 and their own words that wages of natural persons and not corporations cannot be taxable. Look under section 2 of the 6 questions entitled “Right to Labor” for some rather compelling evidence showing that what we are saying here is true:

Tax Deposition Questions, Form #03.016, Section 2
<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/Discovery/Deposition/Deposition.htm>

7 Lastly, if you want to investigate this matter even further, we recommend the following:

How the Government Defrauds You Out of Legitimate Deductions for the Market Value of Your Labor, Form #05.026
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

8. We don't pay “taxes” to the federal government, we pay “protection money” and subsidize socialism

10 This section builds on section 4.9 and further expands upon the distinction between “public” and “private” expenditures and 11 revenues of the federal government. The U.S. Supreme Court said we CANNOT be compelled to use our private property
12 for the benefit of our neighbor:

13 “Surely the matters in which the public has the most interest are the supplies of food and clothing; yet can it be
14 that by reason of this interest the state may fix the price at which the butcher must sell his meat, or the vendor of 15 boots and shoes his goods? Men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, -'life, liberty, and 16 the pursuit of happiness;’ and to 'secure,' not grant or create, these rights, governments are instituted. That 17 property which a man has honestly acquired he retains full control of, subject to these limitations: First, that
18 he shall not use it to his neighbor's injury, and that does not mean that he must [or can
19 lawfully be compelled by the government to] use it for his neighbor's 20 benefit; second, that if he devotes it to a public use, he gives to the public a right to control that use; and
21 third, that whenever the public needs require, the public may take it upon payment of due compensation.
22 [Budd v. People of State of New York, 143 U.S. 517 (1892)]

23 Another way of saying this is that nothing that involves wealth transfer, charity, or social insurance, can be called a “tax” in 24 a legal sense. In order to prove that what we pay the IRS under Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code isn't a “tax” in the 25 legal sense, all we have to show is that any part of the income tax revenues are spent for social welfare or wealth transfer
26 payments. At that point, the monies are being used for “wealth transfer” and the government becomes a thief and a
27 Robinhood, because it is using public money for private purposes. It is committing robbery disguised as taxation if it takes 28 public funds (also called the “General fund”) and puts them into the pocket of private individuals who did not earn them with 29 their labor or compensated services. Understanding these facts helps explain some of the following interesting observations:

- 30 1. Social Security is called O.A.S.D.I., or Old Age Survivor's Disability Insurance. It isn't a “tax”, it is “insurance”, which 31 is why it doesn't appear anywhere under Title 26, Subtitle A “Income Taxes”. Instead, it appears under 42 U.S.C.
32 Chapter 7 entitled “Social Security”. All insurance must be voluntary so it can't be called a tax.
- 33 2. Medicare also isn't a “tax” because it too goes to private individuals. This is a form of insurance and is found in 42
34 U.S.C. Chapter 7, Subchapter XVIII rather than in the Internal Revenue Code. Once again, participation is voluntary
35 and cannot be compelled because the funds are used for private purposes.

36 The best place to go to find out how your tax dollars are spent is the Treasury Financial Management Service (FMS) Website.
37 We compiled a detailed breakdown of all federal receipts and expenditures earlier in section 1.11 using this website, which 38 is located at:

39 <http://www.fms.treas.gov/fr/index.html>

40 If you download the latest financial report of the U.S. Government for 2002 and examine page 69, there is an analysis of 41 “Trust Fund Financing”. The trust funds are the individual social programs maintained by the U.S. government, including
42 Social Security (called Old Age Survivors Disability Insurance, or OASDI), Medicare, FICA unemployment, and Railroad

1 Retirement. This analysis shows that there are certain socialist programs which are running a deficit, which means that they
2 must be financed from the General Fund. The General Fund means the individual income tax, as the report explains. Below
3 is a summary of the various wealth redistribution programs that are funded from general revenues:

- 4 • Unemployment (FICA): 12 Billion dollar deficit for 2003. This is based on expected economic conditions. See 5 page 87 of the 2002 report.
- 6 • Medicare Part B: Expenditures come entirely from the general fund. See page 82 of the report.

7 Another good place to look is on expenditures for welfare. You have to dig for these but basically, they are paid by the 8 Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) under a program called Temporary Assistance for Needy Families
9 (TANF). The statistics on spending for this program may be found on the web at:

10 <http://www.acf.dhhs.gov/programs/ofs/data/index.html>

11 The total federal expenditures in 2002 for the TANF program was approximately 23 Billion dollars, and all of the money to 12 pay for this welfare program came from the funding for DHHS, which in turn came from the General Fund. The General
13 Fund, in turn, is paid for mostly out of personal income taxes, which means that your income tax pays for socialism and 14 charity.

15 A significant amount of money contributed under Subtitles A and C of the Internal Revenue Code DOES go to support wealth
16 transfer, which means that the income tax cannot be classified as a “tax” according to the Supreme Court. The Treasury
17 Financial Management Service (FMS) report above also reveals that there are massive future shortfalls predicted for Medicare
18 and Social Security, which means that an increasing amount of individual income tax revenues will have to subsidize these 19 programs over the next several years in order to ensure their viability. The problem is therefore predicted to get MUCH
20 worse, not better in the future if current trends and rates of expenditures continue.

21 Because what we pay cannot be properly classified as “taxes” based on the definition of “taxes” by the Supreme Court, then
22 the only thing we can honestly call it is “protection money”. We are paying the government for the “privilege” of being “left 23 alone” by the IRS, and to not be illegally harassed by them. Under these circumstances:

- 24 1. We are violating federal and state law.
- 25 2. The “de facto”, unlawful band of thieves in control of our government has become our new “god”, because it is the only
26 entity within society that can “steal” from people without being punished by the law. The Ten Commandments say
27 “though shalt not steal”. They don’t say “Though shalt not steal, unless you work for the federal government.” A “god”
28 is simply anything or anyone that has superior powers above and beyond those of ordinary men. “Religion” is defined 29 as the worship of such “superior beings”.

46

- 47 3. We are subsidizing thievery and extortion and contributing to the tyranny and delinquency of our public “servants”.

4. We are subsidizing “socialism”. Socialism is simply government ownership and/or control of everything, including people’s labor in this case. See the free pamphlet below for proof:

Socialism: The New American Civil Religion, Form #05.016
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

5. We have instituted slavery and involuntary servitude in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment.

6. Calling monies that we pay “taxes” amounts to constructive fraud.

7. There will never be an end to how much the politicians can or will take out of our paycheck. We already surrendered if we cooperate with their extortion in any way. We’re already “whores”. We’re just negotiating price. The eventual result will be a complete disintegration of the society as we know it, because it punishes work and bribes voters with loot that was stolen from the entrepreneurs and producers of society. Here is what the Supreme Court said on this subject about the very first Act of Congress which imposed a positive law duty to pay taxes on income of a natural person when it declared the law unconstitutional:

“Here I close my opinion. I could not say less in view of questions of such gravity that they go down to the very foundations of the government. If the provisions of the Constitution [against direct taxes on people of the kind at issue here] can be set aside by an act of Congress [or by the IRS], where is the course of usurpation to end?”

The present assault upon capital is but the beginning. It will be but the stepping stone to others larger and more sweeping, until our political contest will become war of the poor against the rich; a war of growing intensity and bitterness.”
[Pollock v. Farmers’ Loan & Trust Co., 157 U.S. 429, 158 U.S. 601 (1895)]

By subsidizing and practicing government-compelled socialism, we are committing treason against the Constitution and betraying our country and our neighbors. The Bible says we are supposed to love our neighbor, not turn him into a compelled government slave and a “whore”. Here is what one enlightened scholar said on this subject.

“A democracy cannot exist as a permanent form of government. It can only exist until the voters discover that they can vote themselves money from the Public Treasury. From that moment on, the majority always votes for the candidate promising the most benefits from the Public Treasury with the result that a democracy always collapses over loose fiscal policy always followed by dictatorship.”
[“The Decline and Fall of the Athenian Republic”, Alexander Fraser Tytler]

As Christians, the second of the two great commandments is to love our neighbor, found in Romans 13:9. You don’t steal from people you love and you can’t delegate the power to steal to your government because you don’t have it yourself.

“You shall not steal.”
[Exodus 20:15, Bible, NKJV]

Notice it didn’t say: “Thou shalt not steal UNLESS you are the government.” Even if we think the money taken from our neighbor will “help” him, it’s still stealing if he’s being forced to pay for or subsidize something he doesn’t agree with and doesn’t want. In a free country and a free economy, people should never be forced to pay for things they don’t want or consent to. The Declaration of Independence says that all just powers of government derive from “consent of the governed”. Anything that isn’t consensual is simply unjust. Period.

Those who participate in the brand of socialism implemented by our corrupt tax system all share “one purse”, and make the government effectively into one big social insurance company to insulate themselves from personal responsibility for the adverse consequences of their own laziness, apathy, greed, and sin. The role of government in a republic then transitions from that of only protecting the people to that of punishing and plundering success while rewarding and encouraging failure. Our government turns into a gigantic Robinhood and “Parens Patriae”, or government parent, over us all. Do you want such a “Big Brother” looking over your shoulder like this and playing false god? Can a people be truly free under such a condition? Here is how the Bible says we should view this, and note that it says this is “evil” and that we should not participate in it:

Avoid Bad Company

*“My son, if sinners [socialists, in this case] entice you,
Do not consent
If they say, “Come with us,
Let us lie in wait to shed blood;
Let us lurk secretly for the innocent without cause;
Let us swallow them alive like Sheol,
And whole, like those who go down to the Pit:*

1 We shall fill our houses with spoil [plunder];
2 Cast in your lot among us,
3 Let us all have one purse”--
4 My son, do not walk in the way with them,
5 Keep your foot from their path;
6 For their feet run to evil,
7 And they make haste to shed blood.
8 Surely, in vain the net is spread
9 In the sight of any bird;
10 But they lie in wait for their own blood.
11 They lurk secretly for their own lives.
12 So are the ways of everyone who is greedy for gain;
13 It takes away the life of its owners.”
14 [Proverbs 1:10-19, Bible, NKJV]

15 God, however, wants us to follow His sacred law, and the result of doing so makes government unnecessary, because we 16 become self-governing and self-supporting and do not make government into a false god or become idolaters in the process:

17 “He [God] brings the princes to nothing.
18 He makes the judges of the earth useless.”
19 [Isaiah 40:23, Bible, NKJV]

20 “How long will you slumber, O sluggard?
21 When will you rise from your sleep?
22 A little sleep, a little slumber,
23 A little folding of the hands to sleep--
24 So shall your poverty come on you like a prowler,
25 And your need like an armed man [from the government/IRS].”
26 [Prov. 6:9-11, Bible, NKJV]

27 “The hand of the diligent will rule,
28 But the lazy man will be put to forced labor [working for the government through income taxes].”
29 [Prov. 12:24, Bible, NKJV]

30 9. For people in States of the Union, the Internal Revenue Code does not have the force of law, 31 but instead is only “code” and a state sponsored franchise and religion

32 According to the legislative notes under 1 U.S.C. §204, the Internal Revenue Code, Title 26, is NOT enacted into “positive
33 law” and only constitutes “prima facie” or “presumed” law. The U.S. Supreme Court held in Vlandis v. Kline that all 34 presumption which prejudices constitutionally guaranteed rights is unconstitutional:

35 (1) [8:4993] Conclusive presumptions affecting protected interests: A conclusive presumption [that a “code”
36 is in fact a “law”, for instance] may be defeated where its application would impair a party's constitutionally-
37 protected liberty or property interests. In such cases, conclusive presumptions have been held to violate a party's
38 due process and equal protection rights. [Vlandis v. Kline (1973) 412 U.S. 441, 449, 93 S.Ct. 2230, 2235;
39 Cleveland Bed. of Ed. v. LaFleur (1974) 414 U.S. 632, 639-640, 94 S.Ct. 1208, 1215-presumption under Illinois
40 law that unmarried fathers are unfit violates process]
41 [Federal Civil Trials and Evidence, Rutter Group, paragraph 8:4993, p. 8K-34]

42 Therefore, those protected by the Bill of Rights may not lawfully have “prima facie law”, meaning “presumption”, cited
43 against them as evidence in any court and if a judge permits this, he is violating his oath to support and defend the Constitution.
44 In fact, the American Jurisprudence Legal Encyclopedia 2d definitively says that presumption may not be used as a
45 SUBSTITUTE for evidence:

46 American Jurisprudence 2d
47 Evidence, §181

48 A presumption is neither evidence nor a substitute for evidence.⁶¹ Properly used, the term “presumption” is a
49 rule of law directing that if a party proves certain facts (the “basic facts”) at a trial or hearing, the factfinder

⁶¹ Levasseur v. Field (Me) 332 A.2d. 765; Hinds v. John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co., 155 Me 349, 155 A.2d. 721, 85 ALR2d 703 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Poitras v. R. E. Glidden Body Shop, Inc. (Me) 430 A.2d. 1113); Connizzo v. General American Life Ins. Co. (Mo App) 520 SW2d 661.

1 must also accept an additional fact (the "presumed fact") as proven unless sufficient evidence is introduced
2 tending to rebut the presumed fact.⁶² In a sense, therefore, a presumption is an inference which is mandatory
3 unless rebutted.⁶³

4 The underlying purpose and impact of a presumption is to affect the burden of going forward.⁶⁴ Depending
5 upon a variety of factors, a presumption may shift the burden of production as to the presumed fact, or may shift
6 both the burden of production and the burden of persuasion.⁶⁵

7 A few states have codified some of the more common presumptions in their evidence codes.⁶⁶ Often a statute
8 will provide that a fact or group of facts is prima facie evidence of another fact.⁶⁷ Courts frequently recognize
9 this principle in the absence of an explicit legislative directive.⁶⁸

10 The above implies that at least for people domiciled in states of the Union and protected by the Bill of Rights:

- 11 1. The Internal Revenue Code cannot be described as "law" or cited against them in any court, but instead is instead simply 12 a "Code", or a "Title", but not "law". It is as "foreign" to a person domiciled in a state of the Union as the laws of 13 communist China are, in fact.
- 14 2. Citing the I.R.C. does not relieve the moving party, which is usually the government, of the burden of proving that the 15 sections of the code they are citing were enacted into positive law, and if they can't prove it, they have no standing to 16 proceed in the case and the case must be dismissed.
- 17 3. Those who have had the code cited against them and do not challenge such a false presumption indirectly are implying 18 that they consent individually to be subject to it and are therefore "taxpayers".
- 19 4. Those persons domiciled in states of the Union who cite any provision of the I.R.C. as their basis to proceed are admitting 20 that they are "taxpayers" subject to it. Here is what the U.S. Supreme Court said on this subject:

21 "The Government urges that the Power Company is estopped to question the validity of the Act creating the
22 Tennessee Valley Authority, and hence that the stockholders, suing in the right of the corporation, cannot [297
23 U.S. 323] maintain this suit. The principle is invoked that one who accepts the benefit of a statute cannot
24 be heard to question its constitutionality. Great Falls Manufacturing Co. v. Attorney General, 124 U.S. 581;
25 Wall v. Parrot Silver & Copper Co.*, 244 U.S. 407; St. Louis Casting Co. v. Prendergast Construction Co., 260
26 U.S. 469."

29 "...when a State willingly accepts a substantial benefit from the Federal Government [including a law of the 30 Federal Government], it waives its immunity under the Eleventh Amendment and consents to suit by the intended
31 beneficiaries of that federal assistance."
32 [Papasan v. Allain, 478 U.S. 265 (1986)]

33 Below is the definition of "positive law" from the law dictionary which helps underscore these very important point.

34 "Positive law. Law actually and specifically enacted or adopted [approved and consented to] by proper authority
35 for the government [We the People] of an organized jural society. See also Legislation."
36 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1162]

⁶² Inferences and presumptions are a staple of our adversary system of factfinding, since it is often necessary for the trier of fact to determine the existence of an element of a crime—that is an ultimate or elemental fact—from the existence of one or more evidentiary or basic facts. 1 “Proper authority” above is the people’s elected representatives, because all power in this country derives from We The 2 People.

3 “In the United States, sovereignty resides in the people...the Congress cannot invoke sovereign power of the 4 People to override their will as thus declared.”
5 Perry v. U.S., [294 U.S. 330 (1935)]

6 “Sovereignty itself is, of course, not subject to law, for it is the author and source of law...While sovereign
7 powers are delegated to...the government, sovereignty itself remains with the people.”
8 Yick Wo v. Hopkins, [118 U.S. 356 (1886)]

9 Since the people domiciled in the states of the Union never enacted the Internal Revenue Code into “positive law”, they as 10 the “sovereigns” in our system of government never consented to enforce it upon themselves collectively. “Positive law” is 11 the only legally admissible evidence that the people ever explicitly consented to enforcement actions by their government of
12 a law, because legislation can only become positive law by a majority of the representatives of the sovereign people voting
13 (consenting) to enact the law. Since the people never consented, then the “code” cannot be enforced against the general
14 public. The Declaration of Independence says that all just powers of government derive from the “consent” of the governed.
15 Anything not consensual is, ipso facto, unjust by implication. In fact, the sovereign People REPEALED, not ENACTED the 16 Internal Revenue Code. It has been nothing but a repealed law since 1939, in fact. An examination of the Statutes at Large,
17 53 Stat 1, Section 4, reveals that the Internal Revenue Code and all prior revenue laws were REPEALED. See:
18

Revenue Act of 1939, 53 Stat. 1, SEDM Exhibit #05.027
<http://sedm.org/Exhibits/ExhibitIndex.htm>

19 Notice that we aren’t trying to imply here any of the following very false conclusions:

- 20 1. That the Internal Revenue Code is not “law” for people domiciled in the District of Columbia or working for the U.S.
21 government. It absolutely is.
- 22 2. That there are no persons subject to the Internal Revenue Code.
- 23 3. That Subtitle A of the I.R.C. doesn’t apply to anyone. Rather, the group of persons who are subject to it is far more 24 limited than most people realize.
- 25 4. That “taxpayers” are not subject to the Internal Revenue Code.
- 26 5. That there are no “taxpayers”.

27 If the Internal Revenue Code is not “law” or “positive law” for people domiciled in states of the Union, then every regulation
28 that implements it does not have the force of “law” either. Consequently, the “code” and the regulations that implement it
29 are nothing but a state-sponsored official religion not unlike the early Anglican Church was. It is what we call a “political 30 religion” in violation of the First Amendment, where:

- 31 1. This false and evil religion meets all the criteria for being described as a “cult”, because:
 - 32 1.1. The cult imposes strict rules of conduct that are thousands of pages long and which are far more restrictive than 33 any other religious cult.
 - 34 1.2. Participating in it is harmful to our rights, liberty, and property.
 - 35 1.3. The “cult” is perpetuated by keeping the truth secret from its members. Our Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302
36 contains 2,000 pages of secrets that our public servants and the federal judiciary have done their best to keep
37 cleverly hidden and obscured from public view and discourse. When these secrets come out in federal courtrooms,
38 the judges make the case unpublished so the American people can’t learn the truth about the misdeeds of their
39 servants in government. Don’t believe us? Read the proof for yourself:
40 <http://www.nonpublication.com/>
 - 41 1.4. Those who try to abandon this harmful cult are threatened and harassed illegally and unconstitutionally by covetous 42 public dis-servants.
- 43 2. The “bible” of this false religious “cult” is the “Infernal (Satanic) Revenue Code”
- 44 3. The U.S. Congress are the false “prophets”, who wrote their “bible” to serve their own private political agenda.
- 45 4. People join the cult mainly in order to minimize their liability for persecution from the enforcement unit for the cult, 46 which is the IRS.
- 47 5. The courtroom is where “worship services” are held. Even the seats are the same as church pews!
- 48 6. Tax preparation businesses all over the country like H.R. Block are where “confession” is held annually to “deacons” of 49 the cult.

- 1 7. The judges are the false “god” of this religion, who rule by their own might and ignore the limits of the Constitution, at 2 least in the context of taxation. Attorneys “worship” these false gods.
- 3 8. The judge, like the church pastor, wears a black robe and chants in Latin. Many legal maxims are Latin phrases that 4 have no meaning to the average citizen, which is the very same thing that happens in Catholic churches daily across the 5 country.
- 6 9. The jury are the twelve disciples of the judge, rather than of the Truth or the law or their conscience. Their original
7 purpose was as a check on government abuse and usurpation, but judges steer them away from ruling in such a manner
8 and being gullible sheep raised in the public “fool” system, they comply to their own injury.
- 9 9.1. Those who are not already members of the cult are not allowed to serve on juries. The judge or the judge’s
10 henchmen, his “licensed attorneys” who are “officers of the court”, dismiss prospective jurists who are not cult
11 members during the voir dire (jury selection) phase of the tax trial. The qualifications that prospective jurists must 12 meet in order to be part of the “cult” are at least one of the following:
- 13 9.1.1. They collect government benefits based on income taxes and don’t want to see those benefits reduced or 14 stopped. The only people who can collect federal benefits under enacted law and the Constitution are federal 15 employees. Therefore, they must be federal employees. Since jurists are acting as “voters”, then receipt of 16 any federal benefits makes them into a biased jury in the context of income taxes and violates 18 U.S.C. §597,
17 which makes it illegal to bribe a voter. The only way to eliminate this conflict of interest is to permanently
18 remove public assistance or to recuse/disqualify them as jurists.
- 19 9.1.2. They faithfully pay what they “think” are “income taxes”. They are blissfully unaware that in actuality, the 20 1040 return is a federal employment profit and loss statement.
- 21 9.1.3. They believe or have “faith” in the cult’s “bible”, which is the Infernal Revenue Code and falsely believe it is 22 “law”. Instead, 1 U.S.C. §204 legislative notes says it is NOT positive law, but simply “presumed” to be law.
23 Presumption is a violation of due process and therefore illegal under the Sixth Amendment.
- 24 9.1.4. They are ignorant of the law and were made so in a public school. They therefore must believe whatever any 25 judge or attorney tells them about “law”. This means they will make a good lemming to jump off the cliff 26 with the fellow citizen who is being tried.
- 27 9.2. Juries are FORBIDDEN in every federal courthouse in the country from entering the law library while serving on 28 a jury because judges don’t want jurists reading the law and finding out that judges are misrepresenting it in the 29 courtroom. Don’t believe us? Then call the law library in any federal court building and ask them if jurists are 30 allowed to go in there and read the law while they are serving. Below are the General Order 228C for the Federal 31 District Court in San Diego proving that jurors are not allowed to use the court law library while serving. Notice
32 jurors are not listed as authorized to use the library in this order:
33 <http://famguardian.org/Disks/TaxDVD/Evidence/JudicialCorruption/GenOrder228C-Library.pdf>
- 34 9.3. Unlike every other type of federal trial, judges forbid discussing the law in a tax trial. Could it be because we don’t 35 have any and he doesn’t want to admit it?
- 36 9.4. Public (government) schools deliberately don’t teach law or the Constitution either, so that the public become sheep 37 that the government can shear and rape and pillage.
- 38 9.5. Federal judges also warn juries these days NOT to vote on their conscience, as juries originally did and were 39 encouraged to do. He does this to steer or direct the jury to do his illegal and unconstitutional dirty work. He turns
40 the jury effectively into an angry lynch mob and thereby maliciously abuses legal process for his own personal
41 benefit in violation of 18 U.S.C. §208. He helps get the jury angry at the defendant by giving them the idea that 42 their “tax” bill will be bigger because the defendant refuses to “pay their fair share”.
- 43 10. Those who refuse to worship the false god and false religion (which the Bible describes in the Book of Revelations as 44 “the Beast”) are “exorcised” from society by being put into jail so that they don’t spread the truth about the total lack of 45 lawful authority to institute income taxation within states of the Union. They are jailed as political prisoners by 46 communist judges and socialist fellow citizens, just like in the Soviet Union. You can read more about this at:
47 <http://famguardian.org/Publications/SocialSecurity/TOC.htm>
- 48 11. The lawyers representing both sides are licensed by the priest/judge and therefore will pay homage to and cooperate with 49 him fully or risk losing their livelihood and becoming homeless. Every tax trial has THREE prosecutors who are there
50 to prosecute you: your defense attorney, the opposing U.S. attorney, and the judge, all of whom are on the take. Attorneys
51 have a conflict of interest and it is therefore impossible for them to objectively satisfy the fiduciary duty to their clients
52 which they have under the law. You can read more about this scam at:
53 <http://famguardian.org/Subjects/LawAndGovt/LegalEthics/PetForAdmToPractice-USDC.pdf>
- 54 12. The capitol, Washington D.C., is the “political temple” or headquarters of this false religious cult. Don’t believe us?
55 During the Congressional debates of the Sixteenth Amendment in 1909, one Congressman amazingly admitted as much.
56 The Sixteenth Amendment is the income tax amendment that was later fraudulently ratified in 1913. Notice the use of 57 the words “civic temple” and “faith” in his statement, which are no accident.

1 "Now, Mr. Speaker, this Capitol is the civic temple of the people, and we are here by direction of the people to
2 reduce the tariff tax and enact a law in the interest of all the people. This was the expressed will of the people at 3 the polls, and you promised to carry out that will, but you have not kept faith with the American people."

- 8 13. Representatives of this church/cult, such as the Department of Justice and the IRS, dress the same as Mormon 9 missionaries.
- 10 14. Those who participate in this cult can write-off or deduct their contributions just like donations to any church. State 11 income taxes, for instances, are deductible from federal gross income.
- 12 15. The false god/idol called government gets the "first fruits" of our labor, before the Lord even gets one dime, using payroll
13 deductions. Some employers treat the payroll deduction program like it is a law to be followed religiously, even though
14 it is not. This is a violation of Prov. 3:9, which says:

15 "Honor the LORD with your possessions, And with the firstfruits of all your increase;"
16 [Prov. 3:9, Bible, NKJV]

17 Yes, people, the government has made itself into a religion, at least in the realm of taxation. The problem with this corruption
18 of our government is that the U.S. Supreme Court said they cannot do it:

19 "The "establishment of religion" clause of the First Amendment means at least this: neither a state nor the 20 Federal Government can set up a church. Neither can pass laws which aid one [state-sponsored political]
21 religion, aid all religions, or prefer one religion over another. Neither can force or influence a person to go to
22 or to remain away from church against his will, or force him to profess a belief or disbelief in any religion. No
23 person can be punished for entertaining or professing religious beliefs or disbeliefs, for church attendance or 24 non-attendance. No tax in any amount, large or small, can be levied to support any religious activities or 25 institutions, whatever they may be called, or whatever form they may adopt to teach or practice religion.
26 Neither a state nor the Federal Government can, openly or secretly, participate in the affairs of any religious 27 organizations or groups and vice versa."
28 Everson v. Bd. of Ed., [330 U.S. 1, 15 (1947)]
29

30 "[T]he Establishment Clause is infringed when the government makes adherence to religion relevant to a
31 person's standing in the political community. Direct government action endorsing religion or a particular 32 religious practice is invalid under this approach, because it sends a message to nonadherents that they are 33 outsiders, not full members of the political community, and an accompanying message to adherents that they are 34 insiders, favored members of the political community".

53 The only reasons anyone follows a repealed law as though it were a false religion is one of the following:

- 1 1. They are dangerously stupid
- 2 2. They want to be part of the official state sponsored religion and be “politically correct”.
- 3 3. They are more afraid of what a corrupted tyrant judge with a conflict of interest will do to them than what God will to
- 4 them for disobeying His laws. God’s laws say we cannot be slaves to any man and that we cannot worship false gods or
- 5 “priests” of false gods such as tyrant judges who are perpetuating the worship and obedience to socialism and humanism.

6 We call this religion the “Civil Religion of Socialism and Humanism”. One of the reasons why the I.R.C. does not have the
 7 FORCE of law for the average American and can never be PUBLIC law that applies equally to ALL in a free country is that
 8 the First Amendment prohibits establishing religion by law. Therefore, Congress wrote a “proposal” or contract called the 9 Internal Revenue Code and then duped everyone into accepting the contract by sending in the wrong tax forms to the IRS.
 10 Compliance is then maintained by “judge made law”, because Congress put the federal judiciary under the control of the IRS
 11 for the first time starting in 1932. The judges rebelled, but Congress was so sneaky how they did it that the Supreme Court
 12 couldn’t stop them. From that point on, the judges would be destroyed by the IRS if they didn’t rule in the IRS’ favor⁶⁹. The 13 First Amendment doesn’t prohibit the judiciary from establishing a religion, and that is exactly what these corrupted judges
 14 have done under the influence of IRS extortion. Remember what the Declaration of Independence says on this subject and 15 the complaint we had about the British King that caused us to rebel? Well the very same problem is again back in our midst:

16 “He has made Judges dependent on his [the Executive Branch/President and the IRS he controls] Will alone,
 17 for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.
 18 “He has erected a multitude of New [IRS] Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass our people,
 19 and eat out their substance.”

21 What are YOU going to do about this cancer on the body politic, folks? America will only be the land of the free as long as 22 it is the home of the brave. The Ten Commandments say “Thou shalt not steal.” They don’t say “Thou shalt not steal
 23 UNLESS you are the government.” We realize that some of this section may sound strange and maybe even radical at first
 24 glance, but we scientifically prove all assertions made here using the government’s own laws and court rulings in sections
 25 5.4.3.2 and 5.4.3.6 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 book available below. We encourage you to read the eye-popping
 26 truth for yourself and rebut it if you can. Don’t believe a word we say, but read the law for yourself:

27 Instead, the I.R.C. can only be enforced against groups of people whose consent is not required. The only group of people
 28 that fits that description are federal “employees”, contractors, agencies, and benefit recipients. This is confirmed by 29 examining the Federal Register Act, 44 U.S.C. §1505(a)(1) and the Administrative Procedures Act, 5 U.S.C. §553(a), both 30 of which confirm that no enforcement implementing regulations are required in the case of the following persons, who in fact
 31 are the only proper or lawful subject of the Internal Revenue Code Subtitle A:

- 32 1. 44 U.S.C. §1505(a)(1): Federal agencies or persons in their capacity as officers, agents, or employees
- 33 2. 5 U.S.C. §553(a)(1): Military or foreign affairs function of the United States
- 34 3. 5 U.S.C. §553(a)(2): Matters relating to agency management or personnel or to public property, loans, grants, benefits,
 35 or contracts

36 The following document proves that there are no enforcement implementing regulations and that the only group the IRS can
 37 enforce the I.R.C. against are federal instrumentalities, agencies, contractors, and benefit recipients:

IRS Due Process Meeting Handout, Form #03.008
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

38 Therefore, the above groups are the only proper subject of I.R.C. Subtitle A, the personal and business income tax. Subtitle
 39 A of the Internal Revenue Code therefore amounts to an implied employment agreement between the United States
 40 government and the federal “employees” and contractors and agencies who work for it. Those who don’t want to consent to 41 the employment or contract simply will do so by not seeking federal employment or contracts. Those who work for the

1 federal government, by virtue of being granted the privilege, must refund a portion of their paycheck back to the government.
2 The amount returned is the “tax” and the “gross income” upon which it is based is all the earnings from the public office,
3 which is called “income effectively connected with a trade or business in the United States” under the I.R.C. That is why
4 what you file at the end of every year is called a “return”. There is a very good reason it is called a “return”! Those who
5 receive this government “overpayment”, while it is temporarily in their possession, are treated as “transferees” and fiduciaries
6 of the federal government until the money is returned to its rightful owner. What this scheme amounts to essentially is a
7 “federal employee kickback program” disguised to look like a lawful income tax. The reason this type of deception was 8 necessary is because the Constitution forbids direct taxes in Article 1, Section 9, Clause 4 and Article 1, Section 2, Clause 3.
9 Therefore, the government took the back door to deceive the people so they could literally STEAL their money under the 10 pretext of lawful authority. The scam started in 1862 and was instituted as an “emergency measure” to pay for the civil war,
11 but it survives to this day to plague us. Since that time, the scoundrels have taken great pains to obfuscate IRS Forms,
12 publications, and the Internal Revenue Code to fool the average person into believing that they are what amounts to “public
13 employees” under the I.R.C and thereby expand the operation of the “scheme”. See the following for more complete details 14 on this monumental scam.

18 10. Federal Tax Scheme

19 “Objections to its [the income tax] renewal are long, loud, and general throughout the country. Those who pay
20 are the exception, those who do not pay are millions; the whole moral force of the law is a dead letter. The honest
21 man makes a true return; the dishonest hides and covers all he can to avoid this obnoxious tax. It has no moral
22 force. This tax is unequal, perjury-provoking and crime encouraging, because it is a war with the right of a
23 person to keep private and regulate his business affairs and financial matters. Deception, fraud, and falsehood
24 mark its progress everywhere in the process of collection. It creates curiosity, jealousy, and prejudice among
25 the people. It makes the tax-gatherer a spy...The people demand that it shall not be renewed, but left to die a
26 natural death and pass away into the future as pass away all the evils growing out of the Civil War.”
27 [Congressional Globe, 41st Congress, 2d Session, 3993 (1870)]

28 Federal employment withholding under Subtitle C of the Internal Revenue Code only apply to “public officers” of the United 29 States government, as revealed under 26 U.S.C. §6331\(a\), 26 U.S.C. §3401\(c\), and 26 C.F.R. §31.3401\(c\)-1 and only in 30 direct connection with their federal employment.

31 26 C.F.R. §31.3401\(c\)-1 Employee:

32 “...the term [employee] includes officers and employees, whether elected or appointed, of the United States, a
33 [federal] State, Territory, Puerto Rico or any political subdivision, thereof, or the District of Columbia, or any 34 agency or instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing. The term 'employee' also includes an officer of 35 a corporation.”

36 Federal employment tax withholding under Subtitle C of the Internal Revenue Code does not apply to private employers,
37 who do not meet the definition of “employer” found in 26 C.F.R. §31.3121\(d\)-2 entitled “Who are employers”. An 38 “employer”, under federal law, is simply anyone who has “employees”, and all “employees” under the I.R.C. work for the 39 federal government as “public officers” engaged in a “trade or business” in order to earn “taxable income”. The reason this
40 must be the case is because Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code is an indirect tax upon excise taxable privileges or 41 “activities”, and the only “activity” that is taxable is a “trade or business”, which is defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\) as 42 “the functions of a public office”. That “public office” is an office in which the officer is in receipt of payments from the 43 federal government and in effect is acting as a fiduciary or subcontractor of the federal government over these payments. The

1 amount left over for himself AFTER he pays the “kickback” to the federal government from this payment is the compensation
2 he receives in connection with this public office. This whole “trade or business” scheme is very carefully described in our
3 Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 5.6.10 if you would like to know more. See also:

The “Trade or Business” Scam, Family Guardian Fellowship
<https://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Remedies/TradeOrBusinessScam.htm>

4 Similarly, the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitles A (income tax), and Subtitle C (employment tax) only apply
5 within federal territory (federal zone) and in states of the Union on federal land ceded to the federal government as required
6 under 40 U.S.C. §255. This is a consequence of the separation of powers doctrine documented by the U.S. Supreme Court
7 in U.S. v. Lopez, 514 U.S. 549 (1995). This is confirmed by examining the Buck Act, 4 U.S.C. §106, as well as the provisions
8 in Title 5 of the U.S. Code which implement it found at 5 U.S.C. §5517. Hence, private employers in private industry do not
9 come under the purview of federal employment withholding codes under Subtitle C of the Internal Revenue Code except as 10 they volunteer to. There is no federal law requiring them to participate in withholding of federal payroll taxes, Social Security,
11 FICA, OASDI, Medicare, or even state tax withholding.

12 There is also no positive law creating a “legal duty” to pay income taxes under Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code.
13 Therefore, the code only applies to those who make themselves subject by consenting to it in some way and thereby becoming
14 “taxpayers”, which are defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14). The word “liable” or “liability” is the only term that establishes a
15 legal “duty” to pay a tax. The first and only Act of Congress that has ever imposed such a legal “duty” was section 29 of the 16 Revenue Act of 1894, which said in pertinent part:

17 *“Sec. 29. That it shall be the duty of all persons of lawful age having an income of more than three thousand 18 five hundred dollars for the taxable year, computed on the basis herein prescribed, to make and render a list or
19 return, on or before the day provided by law, in such form and manner as may be directed by the Commissioner
20 of Internal Revenue with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, to the collector or a deputy collector of 21 the district in which they reside, of the amount of their income, gains, and profits, as aforesaid; ...”*
22 [Revenue Act of 1894]

23 Notice the phrase “it shall be the duty of all persons of lawful age”. You can read this law direct from the Statutes at Large 24 on our website at:

25 <http://famguardian.org/PublishedAuthors/Govt/HistoricalActs/IncomeTax1894final.pdf>

26 The above positive law was declared unconstitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court in the case of Pollock v. Farmers’ Loan &
27 Trust Co., 157 U.S. 429, 158 U.S. 601 (1895) because it attempted to institute a direct tax within states of the Union in stark
28 violation of Article 1, Section 9, Clause 4 and Article 1, Section 2, Clause 3 of the Constitution. That case caught the Congress
29 red-handed trying to violate the Constitution and slapped them on the wrist for putting their hands in the cookie jar. Since
30 that time, the Congress has never since even attempted to institute any federal law that included a positive law “legal duty”
31 or “liability” for natural persons (people) to pay a direct tax in states of the Union. The closest they have ever come was to 32 create a “code” that “looks” like law but isn’t and which appears to create a liability, but in fact does not because it cannot 33 without violating the Constitution.

34 26 U.S.C. §1 is the section that the IRS says imposes the income tax. Here is an excerpt from that section:

35 United States Code
36 TITLE 26 - INTERNAL REVENUE CODE
37 Subtitle A - Income Taxes
38 CHAPTER 1 - NORMAL TAXES AND SURTAXES
39 Subchapter A - Determination of Tax Liability
40 PART I - TAX ON INDIVIDUALS

41
42 *Sec. 1. Tax imposed

43
44 (a) Married individuals filing joint returns and surviving spouses

45 There is hereby imposed on the taxable income of –

46 The question is:

1 Does the word “imposed” mean “liable”?

2 Incidentally, did you notice we used “mean” instead of “include” above...because the government just loves to abuse this
3 word to illegally expand their jurisdiction! Here is the definition of the word “impose” from Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth
4 Edition:

5 Impose: To levy or exact as by authority; to lay as a burden, tax, duty, or charge.
6 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 755]

7 Exaction. The wrongful act of an officer or other person in compelling payment of a fee or reward for his 8 services, under color of his official authority, where no payment is due.
9 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 557]

10
11 Extortion. The obtaining of property from another induced by wrongful use of actual or threatened force,
12 violence, or fear, or under color of official right. 18 U.S.C.A. § 871 et seq.; § 1951.

13 A person is guilty of theft by extortion if he purposely obtains property of another by threatening to: (1) inflict
14 bodily injury on anyone or commit any other criminal offense; or (2) accuse anyone of a criminal offense; or (3)
15 expose any secret tending to subject any person to hatred, contempt or ridicule, or to impair his credit or business
16 repute; or (4) take or withhold action as an official, or cause an official to take or withhold action; or (5) bring
17 about or continue a strike, boycott or other collective unofficial action, if the property is not demanded or received
18 for the benefit of the group in whose interest the actor purports to act; or (6) testify or provide information or
19 withhold testimony or information with respect to another’s legal claim or defense; or (7) inflict any other harm
20 which would not benefit the actor. Model Penal Code, §224.4.

21 See also Blackmail; Hobbs Act; Loan Sharking; Shakedown. With respect to Larceny by extortion, see Larceny.
22 Compare Coercion
23 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 585]

24 Amazing how brazen these lawyer criminals in the District of Criminals are, eh? Nothing in there about liability! And the 25 definition of the word “levy” out of that same legal dictionary on page 907 says:

26 “Levy. v.: To assess; raise; execute; exact; tax; collect; gather; take up; seize. Thus, to levy (assess, exact, raise,
27 or collect) a tax; to levy (raise or set up) a nuisance; to levy (acknowledge) a fine; to levy (inaugurate) war; to 28 levy an execution, i.e., to levy or collect a sum of money on an execution.”
29 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 907]

30 Here is what the federal courts say about the requirements to create a statutory liability before an obligation to pay can be 31 established:

32 “..liability for taxation must clearly appear[from statute imposing tax].”
33 [Higley v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 69 F.2d. 160 (1934)]

34 “While Congress might have the power to place such a personal liability upon trust beneficiaries who did not
35 renounce the trust, yet it would require clear expression of such intent, and it cannot be spelled out from 36 language (as that here) which can be given an entirely natural and useful meaning and application excluding
37 such intent.”
38 [Higley v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 69 F.2d. 160 (1934)]

39 “A tax is a legal imposition, exclusively of statutory origin (37 Cyc. 724, 725), and, naturally, liability to taxation
40 must be read in statute, or it does not exist.”
41 [Bente v. Bugbee, 137 A. 552, 103 N.J. Law. 608 (1927)]

42 “...the taxpayer must be liable for the tax. Tax liability is a condition precedent to the demand. Merely demanding 43 payment, even repeatedly, does not cause liability.”
44 [Terry v. Bothke, 713 F.2d. 1405, at 1414 (1983).]

45 Can you collect a tax that no one is liable for? You certainly can, if you can find enough ignorant Americans and fool or 46 coerce them into believing that they are “taxpayers”! Do you see the words “liable” or “liability” used anywhere in the above
47 definitions or anywhere in 26 U.S.C. §1? We don’t...and if you aren’t liable, then you don’t have to pay!

1 When you search electronically through the entire 9,500 pages of the Internal Revenue Code like we did, you will indeed
2 find the word “liability” used for every kind of tax OTHER than personal income taxes, but not for any of the taxes on
3 individuals found in Subtitles A or C! When a person is made liable, the code explicitly says “shall be liable”, “shall be
4 paid” and “shall keep records”, etc., but nowhere is this stated for personal income taxes in Subtitles A or C. Here are just a
5 few examples where persons are explicitly made “liable” for payment of a tax that was also “imposed” elsewhere in the code:

6 26 U.S.C. §4374: Liability for tax: “...shall be paid...”
7

8 26 U.S.C. §4401\(c\) Persons liable for tax: “...wagers shall be liable for and shall pay”
9

10 26 U.S.C. §4403 Record requirements: “Each person liable for tax under this subchapter shall keep a daily 11 record...”
12

13 26 U.S.C. §5005 Persons liable for tax:

14 “(a) The distiller or importer of distilled spirits shall be liable for the taxes imposed...”

15 “(c) Proprietors of distilled spirits plants: “(1) Bonded storage. Every person operating bonded premises of 16 a distilled spirits plant shall be liable for internal revenue tax...”

17 “(e)(1)” Withdrawals without payment of tax: “...shall be liable”

18 “”(e)(2) Relief from liability: “All persons liable for the tax...”
19

20 26 U.S.C. §5043. Collection of taxes on wines

21 “(a) Persons liable for payment

22 The taxes on wine provided for in this subpart shall be paid--...”
23

24 26 U.S.C. §5054. Determination and collection of tax on beer

25 “(a) Time of determination

26 (1) Beer produced in the United States; certain imported beer...shall be paid by the brewer thereof in 27 accordance with section 5061.”
28

29 26 U.S.C. §5703. Liability for tax and method of payment.

30 (a) Liability for tax

31 (1) Original liability...shall be liable for ...

32 (2) Transfer of liability...shall become liable...”

33 The ONLY type of STATUTORY liability expressly mentioned in Subtitle A is that of the “withholding agent”:

34 TITLE 26 > Subtitle A > CHAPTER 3 > §1461

35 § 1461. Definitions

36 Every person required to deduct and withhold any tax under this chapter is hereby made liable for such tax and 37 is hereby indemnified against the claims and demands of any person for the amount of any payments made in 38 accordance with the provisions of this chapter.

39 (Aug. 16, 1954, ch. 736, 68A Stat. 360; Pub. L. 89–809, title I, § 103(i), Nov. 13, 1966, 80 Stat. 1554.)

40 That’s right: The personal income taxes mentioned in the following subtitles NOWHERE use the word “liable” or “liability”
41 for anyone BUT withholding agents, so:

- 42 1. They are the only REAL “taxpayers”.
- 43 2. The people they withhold AGAINST are not statutory “taxpayers.”

44 Therefore, you who are not a statutory “withholding agent” can’t be required to pay, which is why they also don’t say “liable”
45 or “shall pay” anywhere in the statutes for these taxes on the parties who are not “withholding agents” anywhere in:

46 Subtitle A: Income Taxes

47 Subtitle C: Employment Taxes

1 A favorite trick of the IRS when the above fact is pointed out is to cite 26 C.F.R. § 1.1-1 and show that the implementing 2 regulation for the statute uses the phrase “are liable to”:

3 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1

4 (b) Citizens or residents of the United States liable to tax.

5 In general, all citizens of the United States, wherever resident, and all resident alien individuals are 6 liable to the income taxes imposed by the Code whether the income is received from sources within or 7 without the United States. Pursuant to section 876, a nonresident alien individual who is a bona fide resident of 8 Puerto Rico during the entire taxable year is, except as provided in section 933 with respect to Puerto Rican
9 source income, subject to taxation in the same manner as a resident alien individual. As to tax on nonresident
10 alien individuals, see sections 871 and 877.

11 Did you get that? 26 U.S.C. §1 didn't use the word “liable” but the implementing regulation did, which is clearly illegal and 12 violates the concept described in the Spreckles v. C.I.R. case below, which says:

13 “To the extent that regulations implement the statute, they have the force and effect of law...The regulation
14 implements the statute and cannot vitiate or change the statute...”
15 [Spreckles v. C.I.R., 119 F.2d, 667]

16 What the Treasury did to try to illegally expand their jurisdiction, in a clear demonstration of conflict of interest and a violation
17 of the Code of Ethics for Government employees we discussed in section 2.1 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, was 18 create a bogus liability by writing an illegal regulation in 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1\(b\) to implement 26 U.S.C. §1 and use the phrase
19 word “liable to” but not “liable FOR” in the regulation!

20 Did you notice that all the PREVIOUS statutory instances of liability said “shall be liable” or “liable for” and NEVER used
21 “liable TO”? Sneaky bastards! Remember that the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to write regulations that interpret
22 and implement the Internal Revenue Code under 26 U.S.C. §7805, but the Secretary has no delegated authority to expand or 23 enlarge or modify the original language or jurisdiction of the Internal Revenue Code section he is implementing and 24 enforcing! Why? Because the Congress is the only legislative body authorized by the Constitution, and no one in the 25 Executive branch, including the Treasury, has any delegated authority to legislate.

26 “When enacting §7206(1) Congress undoubtedly knew that the Secretary of the Treasury is empowered to 27 prescribe all needful rules and regulations for the enforcement of the internal revenue laws, so long as they carry
28 into effect the will of Congress as expressed by the statutes. Such regulations have the force of law. The 29 Secretary, however, does not have the power to make law. Dixon v. United States, supra.”
30 [United States v. Levy, 533 F.2d. 969 (1976)]

31 See also U.S. v. Calamaro, 354 U.S. 351 \(1957\), where the U.S. Supreme Court affirmed that a regulation CANNOT add to 32 or expand the statute. This means they cannot add a liability that does not appear in the statute, and if they add a liability that 33 is not in the statute, then it can only apply to people WITHIN the agency the regulation was written for. The Secretary can 34 only impose duties not in the statutes upon his own workers. Do you work for the IRS?

35 Therefore, 26 C.F.R. § 1.1-1\(b\) is a regulation that is null and void and fraudulent on its face insofar as its imposition of an 36 otherwise nonexistent “liability” for the payment of Subtitle A income taxes. If you were to investigate this matter further,
37 I’d be willing to bet money that the Secretary of Treasury who approved this regulation was a lame duck and knew he was 38 on the way out of office and probably his last official act was to approve this regulation. That was the kind of scam that got 39 the Sixteenth Amendment passed by the lame duck Secretary of State Philander Knox, who perjured himself by saying that 40 the Sixteenth Amendment had been properly ratified by the required $\frac{3}{4}$ of the states.

41 The government deception gets worst, folks. Congress legislates for two separate legal and political and territorial 42 jurisdictions:

- 43 1. The states of the Union under the requirements of the Constitution of the United States. In this capacity, it is called the 44 “federal/general government”.
- 45 2. The U.S. government, the District of Columbia, U.S. possessions and territories, and enclaves within the states. In this 46 capacity, it is called the “national government”. The authority for this jurisdiction derives from Article 1, Section 8,
47 Clause 17 of the United States Constitution. All laws passed essentially amount to municipal laws for federal property,

1 and in that capacity, Congress is not restrained by either the Constitution or the Bill of Rights. We call the collection of 2 all federal territories, possessions, and enclaves within the states “the federal zone” throughout this document.

3 The U.S. Supreme Court confirmed the above when it said:

4 “It is clear that Congress, as a legislative body, exercise two species of legislative power: the one, limited as to
5 its objects, but extending all over the Union: the other, an absolute, exclusive legislative power over the District
6 of Columbia. The preliminary inquiry in the case now before the Court, is, by virtue of which of these authorities
7 was the law in question passed?”
8 [Cohens v. Virginia, 19 U.S. 264, 6 Wheat. 265; 5 L.Ed. 257 \(1821\)]

9 James Madison, one of our founding fathers, described these two separate jurisdictions in Federalist Paper #39, when he said:

10 First. In order to ascertain the real character of the government, it may be considered in relation to the foundation
11 on which it is to be established; to the sources from which its ordinary powers are to be drawn; to the operation
12 of those powers; to the extent of them; and to the authority by which future changes in the government are to be
13 introduced.

14 On examining the first relation, it appears, on one hand, that the Constitution is to be founded on the assent and
15 ratification of the people of America, given by deputies elected for the special purpose; but, on the other, that this
16 assent and ratification is to be given by the people, not as individuals composing one entire nation, but as
17 composing the distinct and independent States to which they respectively belong. It is to be the assent and
18 ratification of the several States, derived from the supreme authority in each State, the authority of the people
19 themselves. The act, therefore, establishing the Constitution, will not be a NATIONAL, but a FEDERAL act.

20 That it will be a federal and not a national act, as these terms are understood by the objectors; the act of the 21 people, as forming so many independent States, not as forming one aggregate nation, is obvious from this
22 single consideration, that it is to result neither from the decision of a MAJORITY of the people of the Union,
23 nor from that of a MAJORITY of the States. It must result from the UNANIMOUS assent of the several States
24 that are parties to it, differing no otherwise from their ordinary assent than in its being expressed, not by the
25 legislative authority, but by that of the people themselves. Were the people regarded in this transaction as forming
26 one nation, the will of the majority of the whole people of the United States would bind the minority, in the same
27 manner as the majority in each State must bind the minority; and the will of the majority must be determined
28 either by a comparison of the individual votes, or by considering the will of the majority of the States as evidence
29 of the will of a majority of the people of the United States. Neither of these rules have been adopted. Each State,
30 in ratifying the Constitution, is considered as a sovereign body, independent of all others, and only to be bound
31 by its own voluntary act. In this relation, then, the new Constitution will, if established, be a FEDERAL, and not
32 a NATIONAL constitution.

33 The next relation is, to the sources from which the ordinary powers of government are to be derived. The House
34 of Representatives will derive its powers from the people of America; and the people will be represented in the 35 same proportion, and on the same principle, as they are in the legislature of a particular State. So far the 36 government is NATIONAL, not FEDERAL. The Senate, on the other hand, will derive its powers from the States,
37 as political and coequal societies; and these will be represented on the principle of equality in the Senate, as they 38 now are in the existing Congress. So far the government is FEDERAL, not NATIONAL. The executive power will 39 be derived from a very compound source. The immediate election of the President is to be made by the States in 40 their political characters. The votes allotted to them are in a compound ratio, which considers them partly as 41 distinct and coequal societies, partly as unequal members of the same society. The eventual election, again, is to 42 be made by that branch of the legislature which consists of the national representatives; but in this particular act
43 they are to be thrown into the form of individual delegations, from so many distinct and coequal bodies politic.
44 From this aspect of the government it appears to be of a mixed character, presenting at least as many FEDERAL 45 as NATIONAL features.

46 The difference between a federal and national government, as it relates to the OPERATION OF THE
47 GOVERNMENT, is supposed to consist in this, that in the former the powers operate on the political bodies
48 composing the Confederacy, in their political capacities; in the latter, on the individual citizens composing the 49 nation, in their individual capacities. On trying the Constitution by this criterion, it falls under the NATIONAL,
50 not the FEDERAL character; though perhaps not so completely as has been understood. In several cases, and
51 particularly in the trial of controversies to which States may be parties, they must be viewed and proceeded
52 against in their collective and political capacities only. So far the national countenance of the government on this
53 side seems to be disfigured by a few federal features. But this blemish is perhaps unavoidable in any plan; and 54 the operation of the government on the people, in their individual capacities, in its ordinary and most essential
55 proceedings, may, on the whole, designate it, in this relation, a NATIONAL government.

56 But if the government be national with regard to the OPERATION of its powers, it changes its aspect again when
57 we contemplate it in relation to the EXTENT of its powers. The idea of a national government involves in it, not 58 only an authority over the individual citizens, but an indefinite supremacy over all persons and things, so far as
59 they are objects of lawful government. Among a people consolidated into one nation, this supremacy is completely

1 vested in the national legislature. Among communities united for particular purposes, it is vested partly in the 2 general and partly in the municipal legislatures. In the former case, all local authorities are subordinate to the
3 supreme; and may be controlled, directed, or abolished by it at pleasure. In the latter, the local or municipal 4 authorities form distinct and independent portions of the supremacy, no more subject, within their respective
5 spheres, to the general authority, than the general authority is subject to them, within its own sphere. In this
6 relation, then, the proposed government cannot be deemed a NATIONAL one; since its jurisdiction extends to 7 certain enumerated objects only, and leaves to the several States a residuary and inviolable sovereignty over
8 all other objects. It is true that in controversies relating to the boundary between the two jurisdictions, the tribunal
9 which is ultimately to decide, is to be established under the general government. But this does not change the 10 principle of the case. The decision is to be impartially made, according to the rules of the Constitution; and all
11 the usual and most effectual precautions are taken to secure this impartiality. Some such tribunal is clearly
12 essential to prevent an appeal to the sword and a dissolution of the compact; and that it ought to be established
13 under the general rather than under the local governments, or, to speak more properly, that it could be safely
14 established under the first alone, is a position not likely to be combated.

15 If we try the Constitution by its last relation to the authority by which amendments are to be made, we find it
16 neither wholly NATIONAL nor wholly FEDERAL. Were it wholly national, the supreme and ultimate authority
17 would reside in the MAJORITY of the people of the Union; and this authority would be competent at all times,
18 like that of a majority of every national society, to alter or abolish its established government. Were it wholly 19 federal, on the other hand, the concurrence of each State in the Union would be essential to every alteration that 20 would be binding on all. The mode provided by the plan of the convention is not founded on either of these 21 principles. In requiring more than a majority, and principles. In requiring more than a majority, and particularly 22 in computing the proportion by STATES, not by CITIZENS, it departs from the NATIONAL and advances towards
23 the FEDERAL character; in rendering the concurrence of less than the whole number of States sufficient, it loses
24 again the FEDERAL and partakes of the NATIONAL character.

25 The proposed Constitution, therefore, is, in strictness, neither a national nor a federal Constitution, but a
26 composition of both. In its foundation it is federal, not national; in the sources from which the ordinary powers
27 of the government are drawn, it is partly federal and partly national; in the operation of these powers, it is 28 national, not federal; in the extent of them, again, it is federal, not national; and, finally, in the authoritative mode 29 of introducing amendments, it is neither wholly federal nor wholly national.

30 PUBLIUS.
31 [Federalist Paper #39, James Madison]

32 Based on Madison's comments, a "national government" operates upon and derives its authority from individual citizens
33 whereas a "federal government" operates upon and derives its authority from states. The only place where the central 34 government may operate directly upon the individual through the authority of law is within federal territory. Hence, when 35 courts use the word "national government", they are referring to federal territory only and to no part of any state of the Union.
36 The federal government has no jurisdiction within a state of the Union and therefore cannot operate directly upon the 37 individual there.

38 "It is no longer open to question that the general government, unlike the states, Hammer v. Dagenhart, 247 U.S.
39 251, 275, 38 S.Ct. 529, 3 A.L.R. 649, Ann.Cas.1918E 724, possesses no inherent power in respect of the internal
40 affairs of the states; and emphatically not with regard to legislation."
41 [Carter v. Carter Coal Co., 298 U.S. 238, 56 S.Ct. 855 (1936)]
42

43 The rights of life and personal liberty are natural rights of man. 'To secure these rights,' says the Declaration of 44 Independence, 'governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the 45 governed.' The very highest duty of the States, when they entered into the Union under the Constitution, was 46 to protect all persons within their boundaries in the enjoyment of these 'unalienable rights with which they 47 were endowed by their Creator.' Sovereignty, for this purpose, rests alone with the States. It is no more the 48 duty or within the power of the United States to punish for a conspiracy *554 to falsely imprison or murder
49 within a State, than it would be to punish for false imprisonment or murder itself.

50 The fourteenth amendment prohibits a State from denying to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection
51 of the laws; but this provision does not, any more than the one which precedes it, and which we have just 52 considered, add any thing *555 to the rights which one citizen has under the Constitution against another. The 53 equality of the rights of citizens is a principle of republicanism. Every republican government is in duty bound
54 to protect all its citizens in the enjoyment of this principle, if within its power. That duty was originally assumed
55 by the States; and it still remains there. The only obligation resting upon the United States is to see that the 56 States do not deny the right. This the amendment guarantees, but no more. The power of the national 57 government is limited to the enforcement of this guaranty.
58 [U.S. v. Cruikshank, 92 U.S. 542, 1875 WL 17550 (U.S.,1875)]

1 These two political/legal jurisdictions, federal territory v. states of the Union, are separate sovereignties, and the Constitution
2 dictates that these two distinct sovereignties MUST remain separate because of the Separation of Powers Doctrine:

3 “§79. This sovereignty pertains to the people of the United States as national citizens only, and not as citizens of
4 any other government. There cannot be two separate and independent sovereignties within the same limits or
5 jurisdiction; nor can there be two distinct and separate sources of sovereign authority within the same
6 jurisdiction. The right of commanding in the last resort can be possessed only by one body of people inhabiting
7 the same territory,' and can be executed only by those intrusted with the execution of such authority.”

8 [Treatise on Government, Joel Tiffany, p. 49, Section 78;

9 SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/TreatiseOnGovernment/TreatOnGovt.pdf>]

10 The vast majority of all laws passed by Congress apply to the latter jurisdiction above: the federal zone. The Internal Revenue
11 Code actually describes the revenue collection “scheme” for these two completely separate political and legal jurisdictions
12 and the table below compares the two. In the capacity as the “national government”, the I.R.C. in Subtitles A (income tax),
13 B (inheritance tax), and C (employment tax) acts as the equivalent of a state income tax for the municipal government of the 14 federal zone. In the capacity of the “federal government”, the I.R.C. in subtitle D acts as an excise tax on imports only. We 15 discussed the difference between the “national government” and the “federal/general government” in section 4.7 of the Great
16 IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, if you would like to review:

1 Table 17: Two jurisdictions within the I.R.C.

| # | Description | Legislative jurisdiction | |
|----|---|--|--|
| | | "National government" of the District of Columbia | "Federal government" of the states of the Union |
| 1 | Constitutional authority for revenue collection | Article 1, Section 8 , Clause 1 Article 1, Section 8 , Clause 17 | Article 1 , Section 8, Clause 3 |
| 2 | Type of jurisdiction exercised | Plenary Exclusive | Subject matter |
| 3 | Nature of tax | Indirect excise tax upon privileges of federal employment ("public office") | Indirect excise tax on imports only Excludes exports from states (Constitution 1:9:5) Excludes commerce exclusively within states |
| 4 | Taxable objects | Internal to the Federal zone or internal to the U.S. government | External to the states of the Union |
| 5 | Region to which collections apply | Federal zone and abroad (26 U.S.C. §911) and excluding states of the Union: District of Columbia, territories and possessions of the United States | The 50 states, harbors, ports of entry for imports |
| 6 | Revenue Collection Agency | Internal Revenue Service (IRS) | U.S. Customs (Dept. of the Treasury) |
| 7 | Authority for collection within the Internal Revenue Code | Subtitle A: Income Taxes Subtitle B: Estate and Gift taxes Subtitle C: Employment taxes Subtitle E: Alcohol, Tobacco, and Certain Other Excise Taxes | Subtitle D: Miscellaneous Excise Taxes |
| 8 | Revenue collection applies to | 1. "Public officers" engaged in a "trade or business" as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26) . 2. "U.S. persons" under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30) living abroad in receipt of federal payments as described in 26 U.S.C. §911 . | Federal corporations involved in foreign commerce |
| 9 | Taxable "activities" | 1. "trade or business", which is defined as "the functions of a public office" in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26) , conducted within the "District of Columbia" and not elsewhere pursuant to 4 U.S.C. §72. 2. Transfer of property from people who died in the federal zone to their heirs (I.R.C. Subtitle B). | Foreign Commerce under 26 U.S.C. §7001 and Constitution Article 1, Section 8, Clause 3. |
| 10 | Revenues pay for | Socialism/communism | Protection of states of the Union, including military, courts, and jails. |
| 11 | Revenue collection functions like | Municipal/state government income tax | Federal tax on foreign commerce |
| 12 | Definition of the term "United States" found in | 1. 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10) 2. 26 U.S.C. §3121(e) | 26 U.S.C. §4612 |
| 13 | Example "taxes" | 1. W-4 withholding on federal "employees" 2. Estate taxes 3. Social security 4. Medicare 5. Alcohol, tobacco, and firearms under U.S.C. Title 27 | Taxes on imported fuels |
| 14 | Applicable tax forms | 941, 1040, 1040NR, 1120, W-2, W-4 | CF 6084 (customs bill) |

2 The "plenary" jurisdiction described above means exclusive sovereignty which is not shared by any other sovereignty and
3 which is exercised over territorial lands owned by or ceded to the federal government under Article 1, Section 8, Clause 17
4 of the Constitution. Here is a cite that helps confirm what we are saying about the "plenary" word above:

5 *"In dealing with the meaning and application of an act of Congress enacted in the exercise of its plenary power
6 under the Constitution to tax income and to grant exemptions from that tax [in its own territories and
7 possessions ONLY but NOT in the states of the Union], it is the will of Congress which controls, and the

1 Why is such jurisdiction “plenary” or “exclusive”? Because all those who file IRS 1040 returns implicitly consent to be
2 treated as “virtual residents” of federal zone, over which Congress has exclusive legislative jurisdiction under Article 1,
3 Section 8, Clause 17 of the Constitution!:

4 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701.
5 Sec. 7701. – Definitions

6 (a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent
7 thereof—

8 (39) Persons residing outside [the federal] United States

9 If any citizen or resident of the United States does not reside in (and is not found in) any United States judicial
10 district, such citizen or resident shall be treated as residing in the District of Columbia for purposes of any 11 provision of this title relating to -

12 (A) jurisdiction of courts, or
13 (B) enforcement of summons.

14 Because kidnapping is illegal under 18 U.S.C. §1201, people domiciled in states of the Union subject to the provisions above
15 must be volunteers and must explicitly consent to participate in federal taxation by filling out the WRONG tax form, which 16 is the 1040, and signing it under penalty of perjury. The IRS Published Products Catalog for 2003 confirms that those who
17 file IRS Form 1040 do indeed declare themselves to be “citizens or residents of the [federal] United States”, which is untrue
18 for the vast majority of Americans:

19 1040A 11327A Each
20 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return

21 Annual income tax return filed by citizens and residents of the United States. There are separate instructions
22 available for this item. The catalog number for the instructions is 12088U.

23 W:CAR:MP:FP:F:I Tax Form or Instructions
24 [\[IRS Published Products Catalog \(2003\), p. F-15\]](#)

25 If American Nationals domiciled in the states of the Union would learn to file with their correct status using:

- 26 1. Form 1040NR as “nationals” and “nonresident aliens” if lawfully engaged in a public office.
27 2. Federal Nonresident Nonstatutory Claim for Return of Funds Unlawfully Paid to the Government, Form #15.001 if 28 NOT engaged in a public office.
29 <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

30 . . . then most Americans wouldn’t owe anything under the provisions of 26 U.S.C. §871\(a\) ! The U.S. Congress and their
31 IRS henchmen have become “sheep poachers”, where you, a person domiciled in state of the Union and outside of federal 32 legislative jurisdiction, are the “sheep”. They are “legally kidnapping” people away from the Constitutional protections of 33 their domicile within states using deceptive forms so that they volunteer into exclusive federal jurisdiction.

34 Notice the use of the term “nation-wide” in the Lyeth case above, which we now know means the “national government” in 35 the context of its jurisdiction over federal territories, possessions, and the District of Columbia and which excludes states of 36 the Union. They are just reiterating that federal jurisdiction over the federal zone is “exclusive” and “plenary” and that state
37 law only applies where Congress consents to delegate authority, under the rules of “comity”, to the state relating to taxing 38 matters over federal areas within the exterior limits of a state.

39 “comity. Courtesy; complaisance; respect; a willingness to grant a privilege, not as a matter of right, but out of 40 deference and good will. Recognition that one sovereignty allows within its territory to the legislative, executive,
41 or judicial act of another sovereignty, having due regard to rights of its own citizens. Nowell v. Nowell,
42 Tex.Civ.App., 408 S.W.2d. 550, 553. In general, principle of “comity” is that courts of one state or jurisdiction
43 will give effect to laws and judicial decisions of another state or jurisdiction, not as a matter of obligation, but
44 out of deference and mutual respect. Brown v. Babbitt Ford, Inc., 117 Ariz. 192, 571 P.2d. 689, 695. See also
45 Full faith and credit clause.”
46 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 267]

1 An example of this kind of “comity” is the Buck Act, 4 U.S.C. §§110-113, in which 4 U.S.C. §106 delegates authority to
2 federal territories and possessions, but not states of the Union, to tax areas within their boundaries subject to exclusive federal
3 jurisdiction. That jurisdiction then is mentioned in the context of 5 U.S.C. §5517 as applying ONLY to federal “employees”,
4 “public officers”, or instrumentalities.

5 The above table is confirmed by the Supreme Court in the case of Downes v. Bidwell, which said on the subjects covered by 6 the table:

7 “Loughborough v. Blake, 5 Wheat. 317, 5 L.Ed. 98, was an action of trespass or, as appears by the original
8 record, replevin, brought in the circuit court for the District of Columbia to try the right of Congress to impose a
9 direct tax for general purposes on that District. 3 Stat. at L. 216, chap. 60. It was insisted that Congress could
10 act in a double capacity: in one as legislating [182 U.S. 244, 260] for the states; in the other as a local legislature
11 for the District of Columbia. In the latter character, it was admitted that the power of levying direct taxes might
12 be exercised, but for District purposes only, as a state legislature might tax for state purposes; but that it could
13 not legislate for the District under art. 1, 8, giving to Congress the power 'to lay and collect taxes, imposts, and
14 excises,' which 'shall be uniform throughout the United States,' inasmuch as the District was no part of the
15 United States [described in the Constitution]. It was held that the grant of this power was a general one without
16 limitation as to place, and consequently extended to all places over which the government extends; and that it
17 extended to the District of Columbia as a constituent part of the United States. The fact that art. 1, 2, declares
18 that 'representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states . . . according to their
19 respective numbers' furnished a standard by which taxes were apportioned, but not to exempt any part of the
20 country from their operation. 'The words used do not mean that direct taxes shall be imposed on states only which
21 are represented, or shall be apportioned to representatives; but that direct taxation, in its application to states,
22 shall be apportioned to numbers.' That art. 1, 9, 4, declaring that direct taxes shall be laid in proportion to the
23 census, was applicable to the District of Columbia, 'and will enable Congress to apportion on it its just and equal
24 share of the burden, with the same accuracy as on the respective states. If the tax be laid in this proportion, it is
25 within the very words of the restriction. It is a tax in proportion to the census or enumeration referred to.' It was
26 further held that the words of the 9th section did not 'in terms require that the system of direct taxation, when
27 resorted to, shall be extended to the territories, as the words of the 2d section require that it shall be extended to
28 all the states. They therefore may, without violence, be understood to give a rule when the territories shall be
29 taxed, without imposing the necessity of taxing them.'”

30 “There could be no doubt as to the correctness of this conclusion, so far, at least, as it applied to the District
31 of Columbia. This District had been a part of the states of Maryland and [182 U.S. 244, 261] Virginia. It had 32 been subject to the Constitution, and was a part of the United States[]. The Constitution had attached to it
33 irrevocably. There are steps which can never be taken backward. The 34 tie that bound the states of Maryland and Virginia to the Constitution could not be dissolved, without at least
35 the consent of the Federal and state governments to a formal separation. The mere cession of the District of 36 Columbia to the Federal government relinquished the authority of the states, but it did not take it out of the 37 United States or from under the aegis of the Constitution. Neither party had ever consented to that construction
38 of the cession. If, before the District was set off, Congress had passed an unconstitutional act affecting its 39 inhabitants, it would have been void. If done after the District was created, it would have been equally void; in 40 other words, Congress could not do indirectly, by carving out the District, what it could not do directly. The 41 District still remained a part of the United States, protected by the Constitution. Indeed, it would have been a
42 fanciful construction to hold that territory which had been once a part of the United States ceased to be such by 43 being ceded directly to the Federal government.”

44 [. . .]

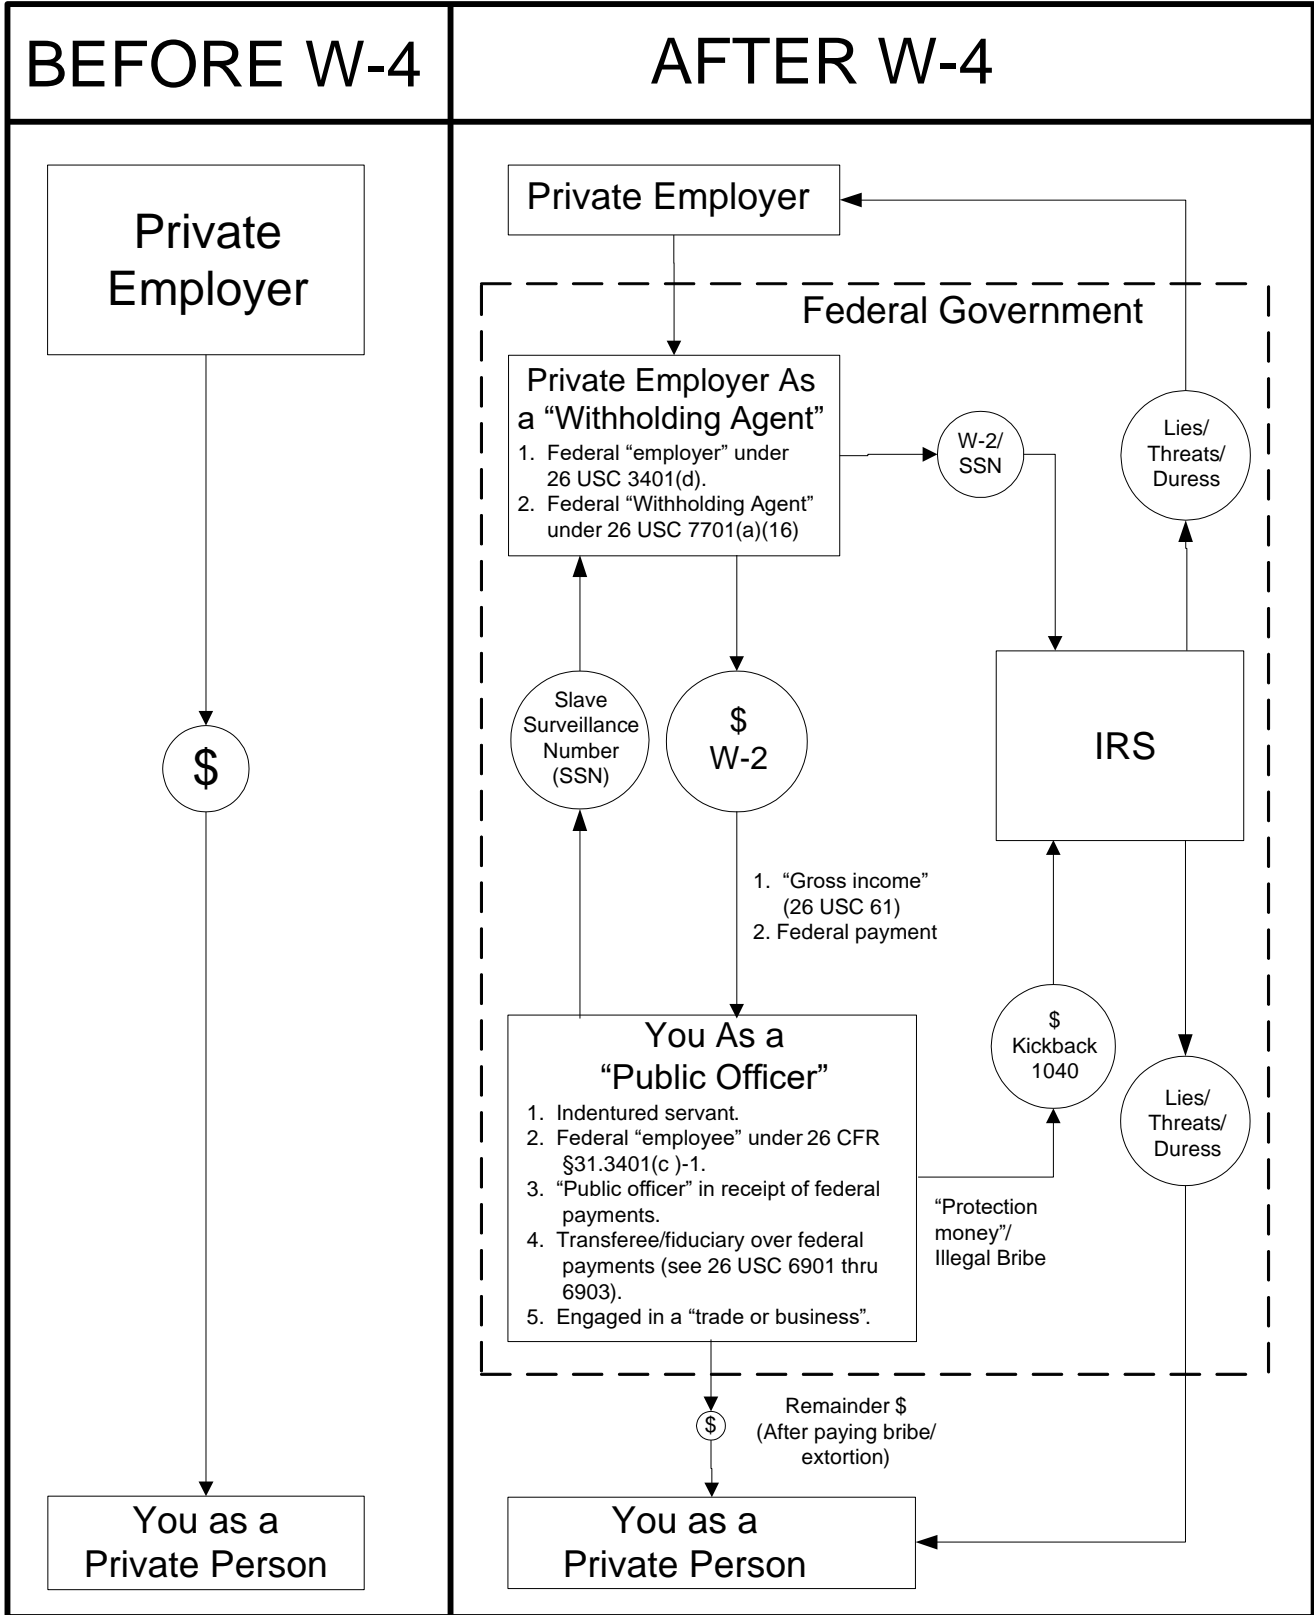

45 “Indeed, the practical interpretation put by Congress upon the Constitution has been long continued and uniform
46 to the effect [182 U.S. 244, 279] that the Constitution is applicable to territories acquired by purchase or
47 conquest, only when and so far as Congress shall so direct. Notwithstanding its duty to 'guarantee to every state
48 in this Union a republican form of government' (art. 4, 4), by which we understand, according to the definition of 49 Webster, 'a government in which the supreme power resides in the whole body of the people, and is exercised by 50 representatives elected by them,' Congress did not hesitate, in the original organization of the territories of 51 Louisiana, Florida, the Northwest Territory, and its subdivisions of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, and 52 Wisconsin and still more recently in the case of Alaska, to establish a form of government bearing a much greater
53 analogy to a British Crown colony than a republican state of America, and to vest the legislative power either in 54 a governor and council, or a governor and judges, to be appointed by the President. It was not until they had 55 attained a certain population that power was given them to organize a legislature by vote of the people. In all
56 these cases, as well as in territories subsequently organized west of the Mississippi, Congress thought it necessary
57 either to extend to Constitution and laws of the United States over them, or to declare that the inhabitants should 58 be entitled to enjoy the right of trial by jury, of bail, and of the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus, as well as 59 other privileges of the bill of rights.”
60 Downes v. Bidwell, [182 U.S. 244 (1901)]

1 The only thing that can make a “person” a “taxpayer” under Subtitle A of the I.R.C. is being engaged directly or indirectly in
2 a privileged, excise taxable activity called a “trade or business” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\). Those engaged in a
3 “trade or business”:

- 4 1. Effectively become federal “employees” or “public officers” under 26 C.F.R. §31.3401\(c\)-1 and “subcontractors” for 5 the federal government.
- 6 2. Are completely subject to federal jurisdiction without the need for implementing regulations published in the Federal 7 Register, as revealed under 44 U.S.C. §1505\(a\)\(1\), 5 U.S.C. §552\(a\)\(1\), and 5 U.S.C. §553\(a\)\(2\).
- 8 3. Are subject to penalties and the criminal provisions of the Internal Revenue Code while acting as “public officers”. Both 9 26 U.S.C. §6671\(b\) and 26 U.S.C. §7343 define “person” as an officer of a corporation, and that corporation is the 10 federal government, which is defined in 28 U.S.C. §3002\(15\)\(A\) as a federal corporation.
- 11 4. Are withholding agents who are liable under 26 U.S.C. §1461, because they are nonresident aliens who must withhold 12 federal kickbacks and send them to the IRS.
- 13 5. Are “transferees” and “fiduciaries” over federal payments under 26 U.S.C. §§6901 and 6903.

14 A picture is worth a thousand words. Below is a diagram showing the condition of those who are employed by private
15 employers and who have consented to participate in the federal tax system by completing a W-4. This diagram shows
16 graphically the relationships established by filling out the W-4 and signing it under penalty of perjury.
17

1 Figure 4: Employment arrangement of those involved in a "trade or business"

2
3 NOTES ON ABOVE DIAGRAM:

1. The I.R.C. Subtitle A income tax is NOT implemented through public law or positive law, but primarily through private law. Private law always supersedes enacted positive law because no court or government can interfere with your right to contract. See Article 1, Section 10 of the Constitution for the proof. The W-4 is a contract, and the United States has jurisdiction over its own property and employees under Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2, wherever they may reside, including in places where it has no legislative jurisdiction. The W-4 you signed is a private contract that makes you into a federal employee, and neither the state nor the federal government may interfere with the private right to contract. 26 C.F.R. §31.3402\(p\)-1 identifies the W-4 as an “agreement”, which is a contract. It doesn’t say that on the form, because your covetous government doesn’t want you to know you are signing a contract by submitting a W-4.
2. The “tax” is not paid by you, but by your “straw man”, who is a federal “public officer” engaged in a “trade or business” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\). His workplace is the “District of Columbia” under 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(39\) and 4 U.S.C. §72. That “public officer” you have volunteered to represent is working as a federal “employee” who is part of the United States government, which is defined as a federal corporation in 28 U.S.C. §3002\(15\)\(A\). In that sense, the “tax” is indirect, because you don’t pay it, but your straw man, who is a “public officer”, pays it to your “employer”, the federal government, which is a federal corporation.
3. Because you are a federal “employee” and you work for a federal corporation, then you are acting as an “officer or employee of a federal corporation” and you:
 - 3.1. Are the proper subject of the penalty statutes, as defined under 26 U.S.C. §6671\(b\).
 - 3.2. Are the proper subject of the criminal provisions of the Internal Revenue Code found in 26 U.S.C. §7343.
 - 3.3. May have the code enforced against you without implementing regulations as required by 44 U.S.C. §1505\(a\)\(1\) and 5 U.S.C. §553\(a\)\(2\)
4. The “activity” of performing a “trade or business” is only “taxable” when executed in the federal zone, which is what the “United States” is defined as in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(9\) and (a)(10) and 4 U.S.C. §110(d). See 26 U.S.C. §864 and this section for evidence.
5. Those who file form 1040 instead of the proper form 1040NR provide evidence under penalty of perjury that they are statutory “U.S. persons” (see 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(30\)) with a domicile in the federal zone. The IRS Published Products catalog says the form can only be used for “citizens or residents” of the “United States”, which is defined as the “District of Columbia” in the code.

If you would like to know more about the above diagram and the details behind what a “trade or business” is, please consult the following article:

The “Trade or Business” Scam, Family Guardian Fellowship
<https://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Remedies/TradeOrBusinessScam.htm>

If you are a “nonresident alien” or “non-resident non-person” with no earnings originating from the statutory “United States” (federal zone) under 26 U.S.C. §871, then you aren’t even mentioned in the I.R.C. as a subject for any Internal Revenue tax. We showed starting in section 4.12 of our Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 book that all Americans domiciled in states of the Union are “non-resident non-persons” if not engaged in a public office or “nonresident aliens” if engaged in a public office, and so the above provision must apply to you, folks. To summarize the findings of this section then, if you are a “nonresident alien” or “non-resident non-person” with no “sources of income” connected with a public office (which is defined as a “trade or business” in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\)) in the District of Columbia and who never signed a W-4, then you:

1. Are not engaged in an excise taxable activity under the I.R.C. subtitle A.
2. Don’t earn any “gross income”
3. Your estate is a “foreign estate” under 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(31\) not subject to the I.R.C.
4. Have no taxable “sources of income” identified in 26 C.F.R. §1.861-8(f)(1).
5. Are a “nontaxpayer” not subject to the I.R.C. All portions within the I.R.C., IRS publications, and the Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.) that refer to “taxpayers” don’t refer to you and can safely be disregarded and disobeyed.
6. If any money was withheld from your pay by either a business or a financial institution, then you are due for a refund of all withholding.
7. Cannot file an IRS Form 1040, because EVERYTHING that goes on that form is treated as “effectively connected with a trade or business”. That form is for “aliens”, and not “nonresident aliens”, as we showed in section 5.5.3 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302.

- 1 8. Cannot lawfully have any CTR's, or "Currency Transaction Reports", prepared against you by any financial institution
2 for withdrawals in excess of $10,000. Only those "effectively connected with a trade or business in the United States"
3 can be the proper subject of CTR's. See:
4 <http://famguardian.org/Subjects/MoneyBanking/Articles/FedTransReptnRequirements.htm>
- 5 9. Cannot be the subject of federal jurisdiction in the context of Subtitle A of the I.R.C.
- 6 10. Cannot be treated as a federal "employee".
- 7 11. Cannot lawfully be penalized or criminally prosecuted by the IRS for failure to volunteer to participate in the federal tax
8 system.

9 Based on the above table, ALL of the revenues collected by the IRS under the authority of Subtitle A only apply to workers
10 of the employees, instrumentalities, and public officers of the U.S. government located in the federal zone or abroad, those 11 receiving federal payments wherever located, and those domiciled in the federal zone, and they behave as the equivalent of a
12 kickback of a federal payment, and not lawful "taxes". In particular, Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code says that it
13 applies ONLY within the statutory "United States" (federal zone), as is revealed by the definition of "United States" found
14 in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(9\) and (a)(10). The IRS has been involved in criminal extortion because they are:

- 15 1. Deliberately and systematically deceiving Americans about the requirements of the I.R.C. using their publications, as 16 shown in section 3.16 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302. They are doing so by not explaining what "United States"
17 means in their publications and by not emphasizing that Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code is entirely voluntary
18 and not a "tax", but a donation. They also are trying to make most Americans falsely believe that the two jurisdictions
19 identified above are equivalent, and that all Americans domiciled in states of the Union are "citizens of the United States"
20 or "residents" under federal law, when in fact they are not. Americans who make false statements on their tax returns
21 go to jail for 3 years minimum, but the I.R.S. does it with impunity every day in their publications and the federal 22 judiciary refuses to hold them accountable for this constructive fraud.
- 23 2. Applying Subtitles A through C of the Internal Revenue Code unlawfully to persons domiciled in states of the Union 24 over which they have no jurisdiction.
- 25 3. Are enforcing I.R.C. Subtitle A against other than federal "employees", "public officers", and instrumentalities. There
26 are no implementing regulations authorizing enforcement against other than federal "employees" as required by 44
27 U.S.C. §1505\(a\)\(1\), 26 C.F.R. §601.702\(a\)\(2\)\(ii\), and 5 U.S.C. §553\(a\)\(2\).
- 28 4. Enforcing that which is not "law" in relation to those who are the subject of enforcement. The Internal Revenue Code
29 is not "law" for those not subject to it such as "nontaxpayers", as shown in section 5.4.6 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form
30 #11.302, and therefore may not be enforced against anyone absent explicit, informed, voluntary consent and a promise
31 by the government of no repercussions for not "volunteering". Those who explicitly consent in writing or implicitly 32 consent by their conduct to be subject to it are called "taxpayers", and for them ONLY, I.R.C. Subtitle A is "law".

11.1 Overview⁷⁰

Those states that do have personal income tax all work the same, as described in this section. All state income tax withholding is dependent on federal withholding. In order to have a state tax “liability”, a person must first have a federal “liability” under Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code. State tax withholding is authorized under the Buck Act, 4 U.S.C. §105-111.

All the States that adopted the personal income tax operate under the Buck Act, 4 U.S.C. §105-111, and specifically §106, which is implemented further within 5 U.S.C. §5517, “Withholding State Income Taxes”. However, the “State” mentioned in 5 U.S.C. §5517 is revealed only as the federal “State” defined in 4 U.S.C. §110\(d\) to mean a “territory or possession of the United States” listed under Title 48 of the U.S. Code. Said revelation is obvious since states of the Union do NOT appear in Title 48 of the U.S. Code as “territories and possessions” of the United States. If you would like to learn more about income taxation within federal territories and possessions, we refer you to the following:

Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 5.14
<http://famguardian.org/Publications/GreatIRSHoax/GreatIRSHoax.htm>

Therefore, our scheme of state income taxation, if enforced or treated as other than entirely voluntary by both the IRS or state revenue agencies in the context of states of the Union, is completely unconstitutional and breaks down the separation of powers between the state and federal governments.

“We start with first principles. The Constitution creates a Federal Government of enumerated powers. See U.S. Const., Art. I, § 8. As James Madison wrote, “[t]he powers delegated by the proposed Constitution to the federal government are few and defined. Those which are to remain in the State governments are numerous and indefinite.” The Federalist No. 45, pp. 292-293 (C. Rossiter ed. 1961). This constitutionally mandated division of authority "was adopted by the Framers to ensure protection of our fundamental liberties." Gregory v. Ashcroft, 501 U.S. 452, 458 \(1991\) (internal quotation marks omitted). “Just as the separation and independence of the coordinate branches of the Federal Government serves to prevent the accumulation of excessive power in any one branch, a healthy balance of power between the States and the Federal Government will reduce the risk of tyranny and abuse from either front.” Ibid. “
[U.S. v. Lopez, 514 U.S. 549 (1995)]

In short, based on the way state revenue codes are illegally enforced in those states that have income taxes on natural persons, this illegal enforcement activity:

1. Amounts to a conspiracy against the property rights to enslave and oppress people in states of the Union by making them into involuntary federal and state serfs. This violates:
 - 1.1. The Thirteenth Amendment prohibition against involuntary servitude
 - 1.2. The Fifth Amendment requirement that all takings of property must be compensated or involve due process of law.
 - 1.3. Federal law found in 42 U.S.C. §1994.
2. Is an unconstitutional enlargement of federal power inside states of the Union. Under our Constitution, states cannot consent to the enlargement of federal powers beyond those specifically enumerated in the Constitution. They cannot therefore permit or acquiesce to IRS enforcement against citizens or residents domiciled within their borders. The states were established to PROTECT the rights of their citizens and to SERVE them, not to acquiesce to federal plunder of their property and sharing of the spoils of this plunder by participating in such a conspiracy against their individual rights:

[New York v. United States, 505 U.S. 142; 112 S.Ct. 2408; 120 L.Ed.2d. 120 (1992)]

“It is no longer open to question that the general government, unlike the states, Hammer v. Dagenhart, 247 U.S. 251, 275, 38 S.Ct. 529, 3 A.L.R. 649, Ann.Cas.1918E 724, possesses no inherent power in respect of the internal affairs of the states; and emphatically not with regard to legislation. The question in respect of the inherent power of that government as to the external affairs of the Nation and in the field of international law is a wholly different matter which it is not necessary now to consider. See, however, Jones v. United States, 137

4 Carter v. Carter Coal Co., [298 U.S. 238 (1936)]

5 State income taxation operates as follows:

- 6 1. Since the State income tax Forms require the federal amounts to be entered for proper calculation of State tax, federal 7 income tax liability is a prerequisite to State income tax liability. Therefore, should someone have no federal liability,
8 but wish to volunteer information on some tax Form, then, the proper amount would be “zero”.
- 9 2. State income taxes are based on “residence” within the “State” mentioned in 5 U.S.C. §5517, and revealed only as the 10 federal “State” defined in 4 U.S.C. §110(d) to mean a “territory or possession of the United States” which are listed under 11 Title 48 of the U.S. Code.
- 12 3. The federal income tax is imposed upon STATUTORY “U.S. persons” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30) who are 13 required by 26 U.S.C. §6109 to provide “identifying numbers” on tax returns. Since the State income tax is imposed in
14 the “State” mentioned in 5 U.S.C. 5517 and revealed only as the federal “State” defined in 4 U.S.C. §110(d) to mean a
15 “territory or possession of the United States” listed under Title 48 of the U.S. Code, people born or living and working
16 in states of the Union can never be classified as STATUTORY “U.S. persons” nor can be required to provide identifying 17 numbers. See Flawed Tax Arguments to Avoid, Form #08.004, Section 8.24 for further details on this subject.
- 18 4. States assume the same “situs” for income taxation as the federal government.

19 “Situs. Lat. Situation; location; e.g. location or place of crime or business. Site; position; the place where a
20 thing is considered, for example, with reference to jurisdiction over it, or the right or power to tax it. It imports
21 fixedness of location. Situs of property, for tax purposes, is determined by whether the taxing state has sufficient
22 contact with the personal property sought to be taxed to justify in fairness the particular tax. Town of Cady v.
23 Alexander Const. Co., 12 Wis.2d. 236, 107 N.W.2d. 267, 270.”
24 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1387]

25 Accordingly, a state of the Union and federal legislative jurisdictions cannot simultaneously place a person or a taxable
26 activity in two mutually exclusive places. Therefore, the geographical location where a person or an activity may be
27 subject to income taxes for the State mentioned in 5 U.S.C. 5517 and revealed only as the federal “State” defined in 4
28 U.S.C. §110(d) to mean a “territory or possession of the United States” which are listed under Title 48 of the U.S. Code,
29 can only be one and the same with a federal government situs. Any attempt to enforce territorial obligations upon a state
30 citizen constitutes criminal identity theft, as documented in Government Identity Theft, Form #05.046.

- 31 5. Financial conflicts of interest are a crime under 18 U.S.C. §208. Most state income taxes only “impose” the tax on 32 “nonresidents” of the Constitutional State who are “residents” of the Statutory State (federal enclaves/territories). For 33 distinctions between Constitutional State and Statutory State, see Form #05.006, Section 4. There is no way to justly or 34 morally or ethically impose a state income tax upon “residents” within CONSTITUTIONAL states because this would 35 create a conflict of interest within the judicial system. Judges would be ruling on a case in which their benefits would 36 be derived directly from the taxes that pay their salary, and what judge in his right mind would ever allow a ruling that
37 could potentially reduce his pay and benefits? Likewise, what jury would ever rule against a tax that reduced their 38 government benefits or entitlements? However, if the taxes are only paid by nonresidents or on foreign commerce, then
39 there is no possibility of any kind of conflict of interest, which ultimately assures justice and prevents any corruption
40 within the legal system. See the following link for many more reasons why it is completely impractical to impose taxes
41 on “residents”:

42 5.1. Why Federal Courts Can’t Properly Address These Questions, Family Guardian Fellowship:

44 5.2. How Scoundrels Corrupted Our Republican Form of Government, Family Guardian Fellowship:

45 <http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Evidence/HowScCorruptOurRepubGovt.htm>

- 46 6. The federal authority for “State” taxation within federal enclaves is found within the Buck Act in 4 U.S.C. §106.
- 47 7. Since the federal government imposes “income taxes” only on people who are domiciled inside the federal zone, then
48 state income tax is imposed upon these “persons” under the alleged authority of the “Buck Act”, which is codified in 4
49 U.S.C. §105 through 111.
- 50 8. The Buck Act does NOT give “states” of the Union authority to tax on federal land within their borders, because the term
51 “State” defined within it only includes Territories of the United States. See 4 U.S.C. §110(d) . Allowing States of the 52 Union to tax within federal enclaves breaks down the separation of powers between our state and federal government,
53 and violates Article 4, Section 4 of our Constitution, which requires a “republican form of government”, which is based 54 on separation of powers. See section 5.1.1 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 for further details on this subject.

- 1 9. Most Americans file 1040 forms with the IRS, even though it is shown throughout Chapter 5 of the Great IRS Hoax,
2 Form #11.302 book that this is the wrong form to use in most cases, because only “residents” (who are “aliens” domiciled
3 in the District of Columbia) and statutory “U.S. citizens” domiciled abroad and coming under an income tax treaty
4 pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §911 can use the form. In particular, see sections 5.5.2 and 5.5.3 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form
5 #11.302 book for further details.
- 6 10. States of the Union who impose income taxes must assume that you are a “nonresident” of the Constitutional State and 7 a “resident” of the Statutory State if you file an IRS Form 1040. This is because federal enclaves within states are not
8 part of the Constitutional “state”, and so people who are domiciled in these enclaves are “nonresidents” for Constitutional
9 State income tax purposes.
- 10 11. People domiciled in states of the Union who commute daily to work temporarily in federal enclaves are classified as 11 “immigrants” and come under the protection of 8 U.S.C. §1324b\(a\)\(3\)\(A\).
- 12 12. State income tax codes, like Subtitle A of the federal tax code, do not have a liability statute creating a legal duty to pay
13 “income taxes”. We haven’t identified a single state of the Union that actually has a liability statute in their income tax
14 code relating to “personal income taxes”. See section 5.6.1 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 for further details on 15 this aspect of the federal tax scheme.

16 In order to fully comprehend the relationship between federal and state income taxes, we must always be aware that federal 17 and state territorial taxing jurisdictions are mutually exclusive and cannot overlap. This is a product of the “separation of 18 powers doctrine” and fundamental to the organization of or “republican form of government” mandated by Article 4, Section
19 4 of the U.S. Constitution. The reason why these two jurisdictions must be mutually exclusive is that only ONE government
20 can be sovereign over a geographical region at any one given time.

21 We will now finish this section with a quote of the federal regulation that authorizes state withholding. Note that the 22 regulation authorizes withholding only on federal “employees”, as we show throughout this document. This is a result of the 23 fact that nearly all the “taxpayers” under Subtitle A of the I.R.C. are those holding “public office” in the federal corporation
24 called the United States (see 28 U.S.C. §3002(15)(A)) and coming under the Public Salary Tax Act of 1939.

1 Notice that the above says that nonresident aliens, which includes the average American born in and domiciled within a state
2 of the Union, may elect to “Have no income tax withheld on their compensation”. They don’t say how that is accomplished,
3 but the only proper way to do so for those who are not federal “employees” without committing perjury under penalty of
4 perjury is to submit a form W-8BEN, and NOT a form W-4. Also note that the word “compensation” has a very specific
5 legal meaning from the Classification Act of 1923, 42 Stat. 1988, and is defined as the earnings of a person holding public
6 office in the federal government. Look for yourself:

7 11.2 The TWO states within each state of the Union⁷¹

8 The governments of each state of the Union preside over TWO mutually exclusive and separate jurisdictions, which we 9 summarize below:

- 10 1. Constitutional State. Land within the exclusive jurisdiction of a constitutional state of the Union fall within this area.
- 11 2. Statutory State. This area consists of federal areas within the exterior limits of a Constitutional State. These areas are 12 federal territory not protected by the Constitution of the United States or the Bill of Rights and are “instrumentalities” of 13 the federal government. Jurisdiction over these areas is shared with the federal government under the auspices of the 14 following legal authorities:
 - 15 2.1. The Assimilated Crimes Act, 18 U.S.C. §13.
 - 16 2.2. The Rules of Decision Act, 28 U.S.C. §1652. This act prescribes which of the two conflicting laws shall prevail in 17 the case of crimes on federal territory.
 - 18 2.3. 28 U.S.C. §2679\(c\), which says that any action against an officer or employee of the United States in which the 19 officer or employee is acting outside their authority shall be prosecuted in a state court.
 - 20 2.4. Agreement on Coordination of Tax Administration (A.C.T.A.) between the state and the Secretary of the Treasury.
21 See Form #05.031, Section 14.

22 The situation above in respect to a state is not unlike our national government, which has two mutually exclusive jurisdictions:

23 *“It is clear that Congress, as a legislative body, exercise two species of legislative power: the one, limited as to
24 its objects, but extending all over the Union: the other, an absolute, exclusive legislative power over the District
25 of Columbia. The preliminary inquiry in the case now before the Court, is, by virtue of which of these authorities
26 was the law in question passed?”*
27 [Cohens v. Virginia, 19 U.S. 264, 6 Wheat. 265; 5 L.Ed. 257 (1821)]

28 *“Indeed, the practical interpretation put by Congress upon the Constitution has been long continued and uniform
29 to the effect [182 U.S. 244, 279] that the Constitution is applicable to territories acquired by purchase or
30 conquest, only when and so far as Congress shall so direct. Notwithstanding its duty to ‘guarantee to every
31 state in this Union a republican form of government’ (art. 4, 4), by which we understand, according to the
32 definition of Webster, ‘a government in which the supreme power resides in the whole body of the people, and
33 is exercised by representatives elected by them,’ Congress did not hesitate, in the original organization of the
34 territories of Louisiana, Florida, the Northwest Territory, and its subdivisions of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan,
35 Illinois, and Wisconsin and still more recently in the case of Alaska, to establish a form of government bearing
36 a much greater analogy to a British Crown colony than a republican state of America, and to vest the legislative
37 power either in a governor and council, or a governor and judges, to be appointed by the President. It was not
38 until they had attained a certain population that power was given them to organize a legislature by vote of the
39 people. In all these cases, as well as in territories subsequently organized west of the Mississippi, Congress
40 thought it necessary either to extend to Constitution and laws of the United States over them, or to declare that
41 the inhabitants should be entitled to enjoy the right of trial by jury, of bail, and of the privilege of the writ of 42 habeas corpus, as well as other privileges of the bill of rights.”*
43 [Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901)]

44 The hard part is figuring out which of the two jurisdictions that any particular state statute applies to. What makes this process
45 difficult are the following complicating factors:

⁷¹ Source: State Income Taxes, Form #05.031, Section 8; <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>.

1 1. There is no constitutional requirement that the laws passed by the state legislature must clearly state which of the two
2 jurisdiction they apply to. This was also confirmed in the following exhibit, which is a letter from a United States
3 Congressman:

[Congressman Zoe Lofgren Letter, Exhibit #04.003
http://sedm.org/Exhibits/ExhibitIndex.htm](http://sedm.org/Exhibits/ExhibitIndex.htm)

4 2. Crafty state legislators deliberately obfuscate the statutes they write so as to encourage those within the Republic to obey
5 laws that in fact only apply to the Statutory State so as to unlawfully increase their revenues, power, and control.
6 3. Courts of INjustice and the judges who serve in them refuse to acknowledge that most statutes passed by the legislature
7 can only lawfully affect federal areas and persons who consent to be treated as though they inhabit these areas.

8 Within federal law, the Constitutional State is referred to as a “foreign state”. To wit:

9 "Foreign states. Nations which are outside the United States. Term may also refer to another state; i.e. a sister
10 state."
11 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 648]

12 "Generally, the states of the Union sustain toward each other the relationship of independent sovereigns or
13 independent foreign states, except in so far as the United States is paramount as the dominating government, and
14 in so far as the states are bound to recognize the fraternity among sovereignties established by the federal
15 Constitution, as by the provision requiring each state to give full faith and credit to the public acts, records, and
16 judicial proceedings of the other states..."
17 [81A Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), United States, §29 (2003)]

18 "The United States Government is a foreign corporation with respect to a state." [N.Y. v. re Merriam, 36 N.E.
19 505, 141 N.Y. 479; affirmed 16 S.Ct. 1073; 41 L.Ed. 287] [underlines added]
20 [19 Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Corporations, §884 (2003)]

21 Even the U.S. Supreme Court admits that the Constitutional State are legislatively “foreign states” with respect to the federal
22 government:

23 We have held, upon full consideration, that although under existing statutes a circuit court of the United States
24 has jurisdiction upon habeas corpus to discharge from the custody of state officers or tribunals one restrained of
25 his liberty in violation of the Constitution of the United States, it is not required in every case to exercise its power
26 to that end immediately upon application being made for the writ. 'We cannot suppose,' this court has said, 'that
27 Congress intended to compel those courts, by such means, to draw to themselves, in the first instance, the control
28 of all criminal prosecutions commenced in state courts exercising authority within the same territorial limits,
29 where the accused claims that he is held in custody in violation of the Constitution of the United States. The 30 injunction to hear the case summarily, and thereupon 'to dispose of the party as law and justice require' [R. S.
31 761], does not deprive the court of discretion as to the time and mode in which it will exert the powers conferred
32 upon it. That discretion should be exercised in the light of the relations existing, under our system of government,
33 between the judicial tribunals of the Union and of the states, and in recognition of the fact that the public good
34 requires that those relations be not disturbed by unnecessary conflict between courts equally bound to guard and
35 protect rights secured by the Constitution. When the petitioner is in custody by state authority for an act done
36 or omitted to be done in pursuance of a law of the United States, or of an order, process, or decree of a court

1 by the state authorities under a charge of perjury committed in giving his deposition as a witness before a notary
2 public in Richmond, Virginia, in the case of a contested election of a member of the House of Representatives of
3 the United States. He was discharged upon a writ of habeas corpus sued out from the circuit court of the United
4 States, this court saying: 'The power of punishing a witness for testifying falsely in a judicial proceeding belongs
5 peculiarly to the government in whose tribunals that proceeding is had. It is essential to the impartial and efficient
6 administration of justice in the tribunals of the nation, that witnesses should be able to testify freely before them,
7 unrestrained by legislation of the state, or by fear of punishment in the state courts. The administration of justice
8 in the national tribunals would be greatly embarrassed and impeded if a witness testifying before a court of the 9 United States, or upon a contested election of a member of Congress, were liable to prosecution and punishment
10 in the courts of the state upon a charge of perjury, preferred by a disappointed suitor or contestant, or instigated
11 by local passion or prejudice.' So, in Ohio v. Thomas, 173 U.S. 276, 284, 285 S., 43 L.Ed. 699, 702, 19
12 Sup.Ct.Rep. 453, 456, which was the case of the arrest of the acting governor [180 U.S. 499, 503] of the 13 Central Branch of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, at Dayton, Ohio, upon a charge of 14 violating a law of that state, the action of the circuit court of the United States discharging him upon habeas
15 corpus, while in custody of the state authorities, was upheld upon the ground that the state court had no
16 jurisdiction in the premises, and because the accused, being a Federal officer, 'may, upon conviction, be
17 imprisoned as a means of enforcing the sentence of a fine, and thus the operations of the Federal government
18 might in the meantime be obstructed.' The exception to the general rule was further illustrated in Boske v.
19 Comingore, 177 U.S. 459, 466, 467 S., 44 L.Ed. 846, 849, 20 Sup.Ct.Rep. 701, 704, in which the applicant for 20 the writ of habeas corpus was discharged by the circuit court of the United States, while held by state officers,
21 this court saying: 'The present case was one of urgency, in that the appellee was an officer in the revenue service
22 of the United States whose presence at his post of duty was important to the public interests, and whose detention 23 in prison by the state authorities might have interfered with the regular and orderly course of the business of the 24 department to which he belonged.'

27 [NOTE: The federal Courts of the United States as used above do not have the authority to interpose in foreign
28 countries, but only in states of the Union for violations of the Constitution, and since they did interpose above,
29 and since they did so in a "foreign state" and described that foreign state as a state of the Union, they are admitting
30 of no federal jurisdiction within any state of the Union]

31 Whenever the Constitutional State accepts a benefit from the federal government, it surrenders its sovereign immunity and 32 acts in the dual capacity of a Statutory State under the following concepts:

- 33 1. States borrowing money are treated as ordinary private creditors. This includes when they borrow money from the 34 federal government.

35 "What, then, is meant by the doctrine that contracts are made with reference to the taxing power resident in the 36 State, and in subordination to it? Is it meant that when a person lends money to a State, or to a municipal division
37 of the State having the power of taxation, there is in the contract a tacit reservation of a right in the debtor to 38 raise contributions out of the money promised to be paid before payment? That cannot be, because if it could, the 39 contract (in the language of Alexander Hamilton) would 'involve two contradictory things: an obligation to do,
40 and a right not to do; an obligation to pay a certain sum, and a right to retain it in the shape of a tax. It is against
41 the rules, both of law and of reason, to admit by implication in the construction of a contract a principle which 42 goes in destruction of it.' The truth is, States and cities, when they borrow money and contract to repay it with 43 interest, are not acting as sovereignties. They come down to the level of ordinary individuals. Their contracts
44 have the same meaning as that of similar contracts between private persons. Hence, instead of there being in the 45 undertaking of a State or city to pay, a reservation of a sovereign right to withhold payment, the contract should 46 be regarded as an assurance that such a right will not be exercised. A promise to pay, with a reserved right to 47 deny or change the effect of the promise, is an absurdity."
48 [Murray v. City of Charleston, 96 U.S. 432 (1877)]

- 49 2. States which engage in ordinary private business or contracts implicitly surrender their sovereign immunity.

50 When a State engages in ordinary commercial ventures, it acts like a private person, outside the area of its
51 "core" responsibilities, and in a way unlikely to prove essential to the fulfillment of a basic governmental
52 obligation. A Congress that decides to regulate those state commercial activities rather than to exempt the State
53 likely believes that an exemption, by treating the State differently from identically situated private persons,
54 would threaten the objectives of a federal regulatory program aimed primarily at private conduct. Compare,
55 e.g., 12 U.S.C. §1841(b) (1994 ed., Supp. III) (exempting state companies from regulations covering federal bank 56 holding companies); 15 U.S.C. §77c(a)(2) (exempting state-issued securities from federal securities laws); and 57 29 U.S.C. §652(5) (exempting States from the definition of "employer[s]" subject to federal occupational safety 58 and health laws), with 11 U.S.C. §106(a) (subjecting States to federal bankruptcy court judgments); 15 U.S.C.
59 §1122(a) (subjecting States to suit for violation of Lanham Act); 17 U.S.C. §511(a) (subjecting States to suit for 60 copyright infringement); 35 U.S.C. §271(h) (subjecting States to suit for patent infringement). And a Congress
61 that includes the State not only within its substantive regulatory rules but also (expressly) within a related system
62 of private remedies likely believes that a remedial exemption would similarly threaten that program. See Florida
63 Prepaid Postsecondary Ed. Expense Bd. v. College Savings Bank, ante, at ___ (Stevens, J., dissenting). It thereby

1 avoids an enforcement gap which, when allied with the pressures of a competitive marketplace, could place the 2 State's regulated private competitors at a significant disadvantage.

3 These considerations make Congress' need to possess the power to condition entry into the market upon a
4 waiver of sovereign immunity (as "necessary and proper" to the exercise of its commerce power) unusually
5 strong, for to deny Congress that power would deny Congress the power effectively to regulate private conduct.
6 Cf. California v. Taylor, 353 U. S. 553, 566 (1957). At the same time they make a State's need to exercise
7 sovereign immunity unusually weak, for the State is unlikely to have to supply what private firms already supply,
8 nor may it fairly demand special treatment, even to protect the public purse, when it does so. Neither can one
9 easily imagine what the Constitution's founders would have thought about the assertion of sovereign immunity in 10 this special context. These considerations, differing in kind or degree from those that would support a general
11 congressional "abrogation" power, indicate that Parden's holding is sound, irrespective of this Court's decisions
12 in Seminole Tribe of Fla. v. Florida, 517 U.S. 44 (1996), and Alden v. Maine, ante, p. ____.
13 [College Savings Bank v. Florida Prepaid Postsecondary Education Expense, 527 U.S. 666 (1999)]

- 14 3. States which avail themselves of federal benefits or contracts with the federal government forfeit their sovereign 15 immunity. To conclude otherwise would be to sanction what amounts to theft. In addition to the below, see also West
16 Virginia v. United States, 497 U.S. 305, 107 S.Ct. 702 (1987)

17 "The Government urges that the Power Company is estopped to question the validity of the Act creating the
18 Tennessee Valley Authority, and hence that the stockholders, suing in the right of the corporation, cannot [297
19 U.S. 323] maintain this suit. The principle is invoked that one who accepts the benefit of a statute cannot
20 be heard to question its constitutionality. Great Falls Manufacturing Co. v. Attorney General, 124 U.S. 581;
21 Wall v. Parrot Silver & Copper Co., 244 U.S. 407; St. Louis Casting Co. v. Prendergast Construction Co., 260

24

25 A nondiscriminatory taxing measure that operates to defray the cost of a federal program by recovering a fair
26 approximation of each beneficiary's share of the cost is surely no more offensive to the constitutional scheme
27 than is either a tax on the income earned by state employees or a tax on a State's sale of bottled water. 18 The 28 National Government's interest in being compensated for its expenditures is only too apparent. More
29 significantly perhaps, such revenue measures by their very nature cannot possess the attributes that led Mr.
30 Chief Justice Marshall to proclaim that the power to tax is the power [435 U.S. 444, 461] to destroy. There is 31 no danger that such measures will not be based on benefits conferred or that they will function as regulatory 32 devices unduly burdening essential state activities. It is, of course, the case that a revenue provision that forces a
33 State to pay its own way when performing an essential function will increase the cost of the state activity. But 34 Graves v. New York ex rel. O'Keefe, and its precursors, see 306 U.S., at 483 and the cases cited in n. 3, teach that 35 an economic burden on traditional state functions without more is not a sufficient basis for sustaining a claim of 36 immunity. Indeed, since the Constitution explicitly requires States to bear similar economic burdens when 37 engaged in essential operations, see U.S. Const., Amdts. 5, 14; Pennsylvania Coal Co. v. Mahon, 260 U.S. 393
38 (1922) (State must pay just compensation when it "takes" private property for a public purpose); U.S. Const., Art.
39 I, 10, cl. 1; United States Trust Co. v. New Jersey, 431 U.S. 1 (1977) (even when burdensome, a State often must 40 comply with the obligations of its contracts), it cannot be seriously contended that federal exactions from the 41 States of their fair share of the cost of specific benefits they receive from federal programs offend the 42 constitutional scheme.

43 Our decisions in analogous context support this conclusion. We have repeatedly held that the Federal
44 Government may impose appropriate conditions on the use of federal property or privileges and may require 45 that state instrumentalities comply with conditions that are reasonably related to the federal interest in
46 particular national projects or programs. See, e. g., Ivanhoe Irrigation Dist. v. McCracken, 357 U.S. 275, 294 -
47 296 (1958); Oklahoma v. Civil Service Comm'n, 330 U.S. 127, 142 -144 (1947); United States v. San Francisco,
48 310 U.S. 16 (1940); cf. National League of Cities v. Usery, 426 U.S. 833, 853 (1976); Fry v. United States, 421
49 U.S. 542 (1975). A requirement that States, like all other users, pay a portion of the costs of the benefits they
50 enjoy from federal programs is surely permissible since it is closely related to the [435 U.S. 444, 462] federal 51 interest in recovering costs from those who benefit and since it effects no greater interference with state
52 sovereignty than do the restrictions which this Court has approved.
53 [Massachusetts v. United States, 435 U.S. 444 (1978)]

54 The Founding Fathers recognized the above dual agency in the Federalist Papers:

55 "It is true, that the Confederacy is to possess, and may exercise, the power of collecting internal as well as 56 external taxes throughout the States; but it is probable that this power will not be resorted to, except for 57 supplemental purposes of revenue; that an option will then be given to the States to supply their quotas by 58 previous collections of their own; and that the eventual collection, under the immediate authority of the Union, 59 will generally be made by the officers, and according to the 60 rules, appointed by the several States. Indeed it is extremely

1 probable, that in other instances, particularly in the
2 organization of the judicial power, the officers of the States will
3 be clothed with the correspondent authority of the Union. “

4 “Should it happen, however, that separate collectors of internal revenue should be appointed under the federal
5 government, the influence of the whole number would not bear a comparison with that of the multitude of State
6 officers in the opposite scale. “

7 “Within every district to which a federal collector would be allotted, there would not be less than thirty or forty,
8 or even more, officers of different descriptions, and many of them persons of character and weight, whose 9 influence would lie on the side of the State. The powers delegated by the proposed Constitution to the federal 10 government are few and defined. Those which are to remain in the State governments are numerous and 11 indefinite. The former will be exercised principally on external objects, as war, peace, negotiation, and foreign 12 commerce; with which last the power of taxation will, for the most part, be connected. The powers reserved to 13 the several States will extend to all the objects which, in the ordinary course of affairs, concern the lives,
14 liberties, and properties of the people, and the internal order, improvement, and prosperity of the State. The 15 operations of the federal government will be most extensive and important in times of war and danger; those 16 of the State governments, in times of peace and security. As the former periods will probably bear a small
17 proportion to the latter, the State governments will here enjoy another advantage over the federal government.
18 The more adequate, indeed, the federal powers may be rendered to the national defense, the less frequent will 19 be those scenes of danger which might favor their ascendancy over the governments of the particular States.”
20 [Federalist Paper No 45 (Jan. 1788), James Madison]

21 The Statutory State is the corporate entity and legal “person” that interfaces with, contracts with, and acts as an agent for the 22 federal government in the context of said contracts. All contracts or what the U.S. Supreme Court calls “compacts” create 23 agency on the part of those who consent toward the other parties to the contract.

24 “All the powers of the government [including ALL of its civil enforcement powers against the public] must be
25 carried into operation by individual agency, either through the medium of public officers, or contracts made
26 with [private] individuals.”
27 [Osborn v. Bank of U.S., 22 U.S. 738 (1824)]

28 We allege that it is THIS “individual” who is a corporation is the only proper subject of the federal income tax and every 29 other type of government legislation. This is the same “individual” defined in the I.R.C. below:

1 The Statutory State essentially acts as an agency or instrumentality or “public officer” of the U.S. government, assisting in
2 the management and control over federal areas within their borders in the context of all federal benefit programs which they
3 participate in. In that capacity, they implicitly surrender sovereign immunity and agree to accept the supervision of the federal
4 courts in what amounts to their essentially private business concerns with the federal government. In the context of income
5 taxation, this federal “agency” is created by an Agreement on Coordination of Tax Administration (A.C.T.A.) between the 6 state and the federal government, and it represents a delegation of authority by the federal government to allow the state
7 government to enforce their taxes and laws ONLY within the Statutory State and the federal areas within the exterior limits
8 of the state which comprise it. These federal areas qualify as “possessions” of the United States, and therefore “States” within 9 federal law:

10 TITLE 4 > CHAPTER 4 > § 110
11 § 110. Same: definitions

12 (d) The term “State” includes any Territory or possession of the United States.

13 The term “possession” is nowhere defined in the law that we have been able to locate. However, Black’s Law Dictionary
14 indicates that all “rights” or franchises constitute “property”.

15 *“Property. That which is peculiar or proper to any person; that which belongs exclusively to one. In the 16 strict legal sense, an aggregate of rights which are guaranteed and protected by the 17 government. Fulton Light, Heat & Power Co. v. State, 65 Misc.Rep. 263, 121 N.Y.S. 536. The term is said to 18 extend to every species of valuable right and interest. More specifically, ownership; the unrestricted and 19 exclusive right to a thing; the right to dispose of a thing in every legal way, to possess it, to use it, and to 20 exclude every one else from interfering with it. That dominion or indefinite right of particular things or subjects.
21 The exclusive right of possessing, enjoying, and disposing of a thing. The highest right a man can have to 22 anything; being used to refer to that right which one has to lands or tenements, goods or chattels, which no way
23 depends on another man’s courtesy.*

24 *The word is also commonly used to denote everything which is the subject of ownership; corporeal or incorporeal,
25 tangible or intangible, visible or invisible, real or personal; everything that has an exchangeable value or which 26 goes to make up wealth or estate. It extends to every species of valuable right and interest, and 27 includes real and personal property, easements, franchises, and incorporeal
28 hereditaments, and includes every invasion of one’s property rights by actionable wrong.
29 Labberton v. General Cas. Co. of America, 53 Wash.2d. 180, 332 P.2d. 250, 252, 254.*

30 [. . .]

31 Property within constitutional protection, denotes group of rights inhering in citizen’s relation to physical
32 thing, as right to possess, use and dispose of it. Cereghino v. State By and Through State Highway
33 Commission, 230 Or. 439, 370 P.2d. 694, 697.”
34 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1216]

35 If franchises are property and the Agreement on Coordination of Tax Administration (A.C.T.A.) creates a franchise, then the 36 collections of rights, privileges, and benefits it conveys to the federal government constitutes “property” and therefore a
37 “possession of the United States” from a legal perspective. Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2 of the Constitution is what authorizes 38 the federal courts to regulate the exercise of federal franchises by states.

39 United States Constitution
40 Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2

41 The Congress shall have Power to dispose of and make all needful Rules and Regulations respecting the Territory
42 or other Property [including franchises and the benefits they confer] belonging to the United States; and 43 nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to Prejudice any Claims of the United States, or of any 44 particular State.

45 An example of federal territorial possessions include American Samoa and Swain’s Island, which are mentioned in 48 U.S.C.
46 Chapter 13. Over possessions of the United States, federal legislative jurisdiction is “plenary”, meaning exclusive, except to 47 the extent that they surrender any portion of it through legislation implementing what is called “comity”.

48 *“Plenary. Full, entire, complete, absolute, perfect, unqualified. Mashunkashney v. Mashunkashney, 191 Okl.*
49 501, 134 P.2d. 976, 979.”
50 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1154]

1 All such surrenders of sovereignty over federal areas or possessions are called “comity”:

2 comity. Courtesy; complaisance; respect; a willingness to grant a privilege, not as a matter of right, but out of
3 deference and good will. Recognition that one sovereignty allows within its territory to the legislative, executive,
4 or judicial act of another sovereignty, having due regard to rights of its own citizens. Nowell v. Nowell,
5 Tex.Civ.App., 408 S.W.2d. 550, 553. In general, principle of "comity" is that courts of one state or jurisdiction
6 will give effect to laws and judicial decisions of another state or jurisdiction, not as a matter of obligation, but
7 *out of deference and mutual respect. *Brown v. Babbitt Ford, Inc., 117 Ariz. 192, 571 P.2d. 689, 695. See also
8 Full faith and credit clause.
9 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 267]

10 An example of comity in action is the Buck Act, in which Congress authorized “States” as defined in 4 U.S.C. §110(d) to tax 11 federal “public officials” working within federal areas.

15 (d) The term "State" includes any Territory or possession of the United States.

16 This provision was implemented as an outgrowth of the Public Salary Tax Act of 1939. You can read this act below:

20 (a) No person shall be relieved from liability for any income tax levied by any State, or by any duly constituted
21 taxing authority therein, having jurisdiction to levy such a tax, by reason of his residing within a Federal area or
22 receiving income from transactions occurring or services performed in such area; and such State or taxing
23 authority shall have full jurisdiction and power to levy and collect such tax in any Federal area within such

25 (b) The provisions of subsection (a) shall be applicable only with respect to income or receipts received after

27 The state maintains a “trusteeship” over federal areas within its border and act as the equivalent of a federal “Government
28 corporation”. To wit:

29 TITLE 5 > PART I > CHAPTER 1 > § 103
30 § 103. Government corporation

31 For the purpose of this title—

32 (1) “Government corporation” means a corporation owned or controlled by the Government of the United 33 States; and

34 The “control” referred to above is the authority delegated by the Buck Act, the Public Salary Tax Act of 1939, the Agreement
35 on Coordination of Tax Administration (A.C.T.A.), and the Assimilated Crimes Act, 18 U.S.C. §13. To view the Public

37 The subject of taxation of territories and possessions is discussed in the document below:

Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 5.14
<http://famguardian.org/Publications/GreatIRSHoax/GreatIRSHoax.htm>

1 The U.S. Supreme Court has also held that all federal territories are “corporations”, which implies that possessions can just
2 as readily be thought of the same way:

3 At common law, a "corporation" was an "artificial perso[n] endowed with the legal capacity of perpetual
4 succession" consisting either of a single individual (termed a "corporation sole") or of a collection of several
5 individuals (a "corporation aggregate"). 3 H. Stephen, Commentaries on the Laws of England 166, 168 (1st Am.

8 as "corporations" (and hence as "persons") at the time that 1983 was enacted and the Dictionary Act
9 recodified. See W. Anderson, A Dictionary of Law 261 (1893) ("All corporations were originally modeled upon
10 a state or nation"); 1 J. Bouvier, A Law Dictionary Adapted to the Constitution and Laws of the United States of

18 We will now end this section by comparing the Constitutional State with the Statutory State to make the content of this section
19 perfectly clear for visually minded readers:
20

1 Table 18: Comparison of Constitutional State v. Statutory State

| # | Attribute | Constitutional State | Statutory State |
|----|--|---|--|
| 1 | Name | “Republic of ” | “State of ” |
| 2 | Name of this entity in federal law | Called a “state” or “foreign state” | Called a “State” as defined in 4 U.S.C. §110(d) |
| 3 | Protected by the Bill of Rights, which is the first ten amendments to the United States Constitution? | Yes | No (No rights. Only statutory “privileges”) |
| 4 | Form of government | Constitutional Republic | Legislative totalitarian socialist democracy |
| 5 | A corporation? | Yes | Yes |
| 6 | A federal corporation? | No | Yes |
| 7 | Exclusive jurisdiction over its own lands? | Yes | No. Shared with federal government pursuant to Buck Act, Assimilated Crimes Act, 18 U.S.C. §13, and Agreement on Coordination of Tax Administration (A.C.T.A.). |
| 8 | “Possession” of the United States? | No (sovereign and “foreign” with respect to national government) | Yes |
| 9 | Subject to exclusive federal jurisdiction? | No | Yes |
| 10 | Subject to federal income tax? | No | Yes |
| 11 | Subject to state income tax? | No | Yes |
| 12 | Subject to state sales tax? | No | Yes |
| 13 | Subject to national military draft? (See SEDM Form #05.030 http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm) | No | Yes |
| 14 | Citizenship of those domiciled therein | 1. Constitutional but not statutory citizen. 2. “national” or “state national” pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §§1101(a)(21) . Not a statutory “U.S. citizen” pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §1401. | Statutory “U.S. citizen” pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §1401 |
| 15 | Licenses such as marriage license, driver’s license, business license required in this jurisdiction? | No | Yes |
| 16 | Voters called | “Electors” | “Registered voters” |
| 17 | How you declare your domicile in this jurisdiction | 1. Describing yourself as a “state national” but not a statutory “U.S. citizen on all government forms. 2. Registering as an “elector” rather than a voter. 3. Terminating participation in all federal benefit programs. | 1. Describing yourself as a statutory “U.S. citizen” on any state or federal form. 2. Applying for a federal benefit. 3. Applying for and receiving any kind of state license. |

11.3 Filing requirements⁷²

Let's now examine the practical implications of this document in relation to how or if you would file a state or federal tax return and what status you would need to file under. Here are some facts we know so far about what a "taxpayer" is under both the Internal Revenue Code AND state income taxes:

1. All "individuals" are STATUTORY "aliens" by default. 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3).
2. The only time that "individual" also includes STATUTORY "citizens of the United States" is when these citizens are temporarily abroad and come under a tax treaty with the foreign country under 26 U.S.C. §911(d).
3. To be a statutory "taxpayer" or to have any civil status under any act of Congress, you must be domiciled on federal territory. Civil status has domicile as a prerequisite:

§ 29. Status

It may be laid down that the ,status- or, as it is sometimes called, civil status, in contradistinction to political status - of a person depends largely, although not universally, upon domicil. The older jurists, whose opinions are fully collected by Story I and Burge, maintained, with few exceptions, the principle of the ubiquity of status, conferred by the lex domicilii with little qualification. Lord Westbury, in Udny v. Udny, thus states the doctrine broadly: "The civil status is governed by one single principle, namely, that of domicil, which is the criterion established by law for the purpose of determining civil status. For it is on this basis that the personal rights of the party - that is to say, the law which determines his majority and minority, his marriage, succession, testacy, or intestacy-must depend." Gray, C. J., in the late Massachusetts case of Ross v. Ross, speaking with special reference to capacity to inherit, says: "It is a general principle that the status or condition of a person, the relation in which he stands to another person, and by which he is qualified or made capable to take certain rights in that other's property, is fixed by the law of the domicil; and that this status and capacity are to be recognized and upheld in every other State, so far as they are not inconsistent with its own laws and policy."

[A Treatise on the Law of Domicil, National, Quasi-National, and Municipal, M.W. Jacobs, Little, Brown, and Company, 1887, p. 89]

4. All "residents" are "aliens" per 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A).
5. The "citizen" mentioned in 26 U.S.C. §1 and 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c) is someone born on federal territory under 8 U.S.C. §1401 and does not include those born in CONSTITUTIONAL states. We call this type of citizen a STATUTORY "U.S. citizen". See:
 - 5.1. Citizenship Status v. Tax Status, Form #10.001
<http://sedm.org/Forms/10-Emancipation/CitizenshipStatusVTaxStatus/CitizenshipVTaxStatus.htm>
 - 5.2. Why You are a "national", "state national", and Constitutional but not Statutory Citizen, Form #05.006
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
6. You cease to be a STATUTORY citizen if you change your domicile to abroad or don't consent to receive the "benefits" of being such a citizen.
 - 6.1. The term "citizen", after all, implies CONSENT.

citizen. One who, under the Constitution and laws of the United States, or of a particular state, is a member of the political community, owing allegiance and being entitled to the enjoyment of full civil rights. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the state wherein they reside. U.S. Const., 14th Amend. See Citizenship.*

*"Citizens" are members of a political community who, in their associated capacity, have established or submitted themselves to the dominion of a government for the promotion of their general welfare and the protection of their individual as well as collective rights. Herriott v. City of Seattle, 81 Wash.2d 48, 500 P.2d. 101, 109.*

*The term may include or apply to children of alien parents from in United States, Von Schwerdtmer v. Piper, D.C.Md., 23 F.2d 862, 863; U.S. v. Minoru Yasui, D.C.Or., 48 F.Supp. 40, 54; children of American citizens born outside United States, Haaland v. Attorney General of United States, D.C.Md., 42 F.Supp. 13, 22; Indians, United States v. Hester, C.C.A.Okl., 137 F.2d 145, 147; *National Banks, American Surety Co. v. However, neither the United States nor a state is a citizen for purposes of diversity jurisdiction. Jizemerjian v. Dept of Air Force, 457 F.Supp. 820. On the other hand, municipalities and other local governments are deemed to be citizens. Rieser v. District of Columbia, 563 F.2d 462. A corporation is not a citizen for purposes of privileges and immunities clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. D.D.B. Realty Corp. v. Merrill, 232 F.Supp. 629, 637.*

1 Under diversity statute [28 U.S.C. §1332], which mirrors U.S. Const. Article III's diversity clause, a person is a
2 "citizen of a state" if he or she is a citizen of the United States and a domiciliary of a state of the United States.

4 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 244]

5 The term "reside" above has been interpreted to mean DOMICILE, which is VOLUNTARY. Anderson v. Watt,
6 138 U.S. 694 (1891). Domicile is voluntary, and therefore being a STATUTORY "citizen" is also voluntary.

Why Domicile and Becoming a "Taxpayer" Require Your Consent, Form #05.002
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

7 6.2. When you withdraw your consent, you revert to a STATUTORY NATIONAL under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21) who
8 is NOT a statutory "citizen" under 8 U.S.C. §1401. That withdrawal of consent is also effected by removing your 9 domicile from federal territory. In that capacity, you can still get a passport, because the ONLY thing you need is 10 ALLEGIANCE.

11 "No passport shall be granted or issued to or verified for any other persons than those owing allegiance, whether
12 citizens or not, to the United States."
13 [22 U.S.C. §212]

14 The only status under Title 8 that carries with it ONLY "allegiance" is that of a "national" under 8 U.S.C.
15 §1101(a)(21).

16 7. The federal and state income taxes are indirect excise taxes upon a "trade or business", which is defined in 26 U.S.C.
17 §7701(a)(26) as "the functions of a public office". The tax is upon the OFFICE, not the OFFICER voluntarily and 18 consensually filling said office. This "OFFICE" is called a "person", "citizen", "resident", "taxpayer" in the Internal 19 Revenue Code. See Why Your Government is Either a Thief or You are a "Public Officer" for Income Tax Purposes,
20 Form #05.008. If you are not in fact and in deed engaged in a "public office", then:

21 7.1. You are a "nontaxpayer" whose estate is a "foreign estate" not subject to the Internal Revenue Code:

22 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > § 7701
23 § 7701. Definitions

24 (a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent
25 thereof—

26 (31) Foreign estate or trust

27 (A) Foreign estate

28 The term "foreign estate" means an estate the income of which, from sources without the United States which is
29 not effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States, is not includible in
30 gross income under subtitle A.

31 7.2. You are not required to file a federal income tax return, even if you are domiciled on federal territory.

32 8. You can't have a state income tax liability without a federal liability.

33 8.1. State revenue codes borrow the definitions from the Internal Revenue Code.

34 8.2. Taxes are upon STATUTORY "income", which means earnings in connection with the excise taxable activity
35 called a "trade or business", which is defines as "the functions of a public office" in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26).

36 8.3. States with income taxes have an Agreement on Coordination of Tax Administration (ACTA) agreement between 37 the national government and themselves. It is ILLEGAL for them to enter such an agreement because it creates a 38 criminal financial conflict of interest towards the protection of PRIVATE rights by citizens of their state. See the 39 previous section.

40 9. All law is prima facie territorial. The separation of powers doctrine makes states of the Union legislatively foreign 41 with the national government.

42 9.1. State and federal jurisdiction to tax can therefore only exist where the two jurisdictions overlap.

43 9.2. The ONLY place where state and federal jurisdictions overlap is in federal enclaves or federal areas.

44 10. Based on the above, the only place state and federal income tax can SIMULTANEOUSLY be owed is on those who:

45 10.1. Are domiciled in a federal enclave AND

46 10.2. Are engaged in a public office and therefore in receipt of STATUTORY "income". This STATUTORY 47 "income" is also called excise taxable "trade or business" activity earnings. AND

48 10.3. Are STATUTORY "residents", meaning foreign nationals and "aliens".

49 10.4. Are abroad and interface to the Internal Revenue Code as a STATUTORY alien under a tax treaty with a foreign

- 1 country under 26 U.S.C. §911.
- 2 11. If a human is domiciled or physically present in the nonfederal areas of his or her state and NOT abroad under 26
- 3 U.S.C. §911, then he or she must be considered:
- 4 11.1. A “non-resident non-person” for the purposes of income tax. See Non-Resident Non-Person Position, Form
- 5 #05.020.
- 6 11.2. “Not subject” but not STATUTORILY “exempt”. To be exempt you must FIRST be subject. See: Non-Resident
- 7 Non-Person Position, Form #05.020, Section 10.2.5.
- 8 12. The IRS Form 1040 is ONLY for use by “residents”, who are STATUTORY “aliens” with a domicile on federal
- 9 territory. This is confirmed by IRS Document 7130, the IRS Published Products Catalog.
- 10 13. Those fitting any one or more of the following would be committing perjury to file a “resident” tax form such as IRS
- 11 Form 1040;
- 12 13.1. Those who are NOT abroad under 26 U.S.C. §911 while domiciled on federal territory.
- 13 13.2. Those not LAWFULLY engaged in an elected or appointed office within the national government.
- 14 13.3. Those who are not domiciled on federal territory and therefore “nonresident” to the STATUTORY “United
- 15 States” per 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10).

16 The table below summarizes the civil status of people in various conditions. It is particularized for California but works for 17 any other state as well.

NOTES:

1. A statutory "U.S. citizen" shown above is one who is a statutory federal citizen born or naturalized in the federal zone and described in 8 U.S.C. §1401. This is NOT the same as a person who is a U.S.* national. The Internal Revenue Code only applies to statutory "U.S. citizens" and is municipal/special law that does not apply to state citizens in the 50 Union states who do not engaged in a "trade or business" and who receive no payments from the federal government or its instrumentalities.
2. You can read the California Revenue and Taxation Code (R&TC) for yourself on the web at <http://www.leginfo.ca.gov/cgi-bin/calawquery?codesection=rtc&codebody=&hits=20>
3. Why don't the state and federal income tax publications reflect the above considerations? We can only assume that it is because they want to simplify these publications because they want to maximize revenues from income taxation.

1 12. “Taxpayer” v. “Nontaxpayer”: Which one are you?⁷³

2 "The taxpayer-- that's someone who works for the federal government but doesn't have to take the civil service
3 examination."
4 [President Ronald W. Reagan]

5 The word “taxpayer” is defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14) and 26 U.S.C. §1313 as someone who is “liable for” and “subject
6 to” the income tax in Internal Revenue Code Subtitle A.

7 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > § 7701
8 § 7701. Definitions

9 (a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent
10 thereof—

11 (14) Taxpayer

12 The term "taxpayer" means any person subject to any internal revenue tax.

13 The “person” they are referring to above is further characterized as a STATUTORY “citizen of the United States” or 14 STATUTORY “resident of the United States” (alien). The tax is not on STATUTORY “nonresident aliens”, but on their 15 “INCOME”, therefore they cannot lawfully be “taxpayers”:

16 TITLE 26--INTERNAL REVENUE
17 CHAPTER I--INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE, DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
18 PART 1_INCOME TAXES--Table of Contents
19 Sec. 1.1-1 Income tax on individuals.

20 (a) General rule. (1) Section 1 of the Code imposes an income tax on the income of every individual who is a
21 citizen or resident of the United States and, to the extent provided by section 871(b) or 877(b), on the income of 22 a nonresident alien individual.

23 What statutory “U.S. citizens” and “U.S. residents” share in common is a domicile on federal territory that is no part of the 24 exclusive jurisdiction of any state of the Union. Collectively, they are called statutory “U.S. persons” as defined in 26 U.S.C.
25 §7701(a)(30). Remember:

26 “U.S. person=domicile or residence on federal territory and not any state of the Union”

27 The “United States” they mean in the statutory term “U.S. citizen” is defined as the federal zone in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9)
28 and (a)(10) and 4 U.S.C. §110(d) and nowhere includes any state of the Union because they are sovereign and foreign in 29 respect to the federal government. In that sense, income taxes are a franchise tax associated with the domicile/protection 30 franchise.

31 “Thus, the Court has frequently held that domicile or residence, more substantial than mere presence in transit
32 or sojourn, is an adequate basis for taxation, including income, property, and death taxes. Since the Fourteenth
33 Amendment makes one a citizen of the state wherein he resides, the fact of residence creates universally
34 reciprocal duties of protection by the state and of allegiance and support by the citizen. The latter obviously
35 includes a duty to pay taxes, and their nature and measure is largely a political matter. Of course, the situs of
36 property may tax it regardless of the citizenship, domicile, or residence of the owner, the most obvious illustration
37 being a tax on realty laid by the state in which the realty is located.”
38 [Miller Brothers Co. v. Maryland, 347 U.S. 340 (1954)]

39 “domicile. A person's legal home. That place where a man has his true, fixed, and permanent home

2 the privilege of voting and other legal rights and privileges."
3 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 485]

4 Those who don't want to pay the tax or be "taxpayers" simply don't partake of the government protection franchise and
5 instead declare themselves as "nonresidents" or "non-resident non-persons" with no "residence" or "permanent address"
6 within the jurisdiction of the taxing authority on every government form they fill out. That is why "non-resident non-persons"
7 not engaged in a public office cannot be "taxpayers" or "persons" or "individuals". For further details, see:

8 The IRS refers to everyone as "taxpayers" because that is what they want everyone to be. Here is the way one of our readers
9 describes how he reacts to being habitually called "taxpayer" by the IRS:

10 I refuse to allow any IRS or State revenue officer to call me or any client a "taxpayer". Just because I may look
11 like one or have the attributes of one does not necessarily make me one. To one IRS lady, and I have no reason
12 to doubt that she fits this category, I use the following example. "Miss you have all of the equipment to be a whore,
13 but that does not make you one by presumption." Until it is proven by a preponderance of evidence I must assume 14 you are a lady and you will be treated as such. Please have the same respect for me, and don't slander my 15 reputation and defame my character by calling me a whore for the government, which is what a "taxpayer" is.
16 [Eugene Pringle]

17 Funny! But guess what? This is not a new idea. We refer you to the Bible book of Revelations, Chapter 17, which describes 18 precisely who this whore or harlot is: Babylon the Great! Check out that chapter, keeping in mind that "Babylon the Great"
19 is symbolic of the city full of all the ignorant and idolatrous people who have unwittingly made themselves into government
20 whores by becoming surety for government debts in the pursuit of taxable government privileges and benefits they didn't 21 need to begin with. The Bible describes these harlots and adulterers below:

22 "Adulterers and adulteresses! Do you not know that friendship [and citizenship] with the world [and the 23 governments/states of the world] is enmity with God? Whoever therefore wants to be a friend of the world makes 24 himself an enemy of God."
25 [James 4:4, Bible, NKJV]

26 "When thou sawest a thief [the IRS] then thou consentedst with him, and hast been partaker with adulterers."
27 [Ps 50:18]

28 "Where do wars and fights [and tyranny and oppression] come from among you? Do they not come from your 29 desires for pleasure [pursuit of government "privileges"] that war in your members?...You ask [from your
30 government and its THIEF the IRS] and do not receive, because you ask amiss, that you may spend it on your
31 *own pleasures. Adulterers and adulteresses [and HARLOTS]! Do you not know that friendship with the world
32 is enmity with God? Whoever therefore wants to be a friend of the world makes himself an enemy of God."*
33 [James 4:3-4, Bible, NKJV]

34 These "taxpayer" and citizen government idolaters have made government their new god (neo-god), their friend, and their
35 source of false man-made security. That is what the "Security" means in "Social Security". The bible mentions that there is 36 something "mysterious" about "Babylon the Great Harlot":

37 "And on her forehead a name was written: MYSTERY, BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS
38 AND OF THE ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH."
39 [Rev. 17:5, Bible, NKJV]

40 The mystery about this harlot/adulterous woman described in Rev. 17:5 is symbolic of the ignorance and apathy that these 41 people have about the law and their government. For a fascinating read into this subject, we refer you to the free book on the 42 internet below referred to us by one of our readers:

Babylon the Great is Falling, Jack Hook
<http://www.babylonthegreatisfalling.net/>

43 The IRS DOES NOT have the authority conferred by law under Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code to bestow the status
44 of "taxpayer" on any natural person who doesn't first volunteer for that "distinctive" title. Below are some facts confirming 45 this:

1 1. There is no statute making anyone liable for the income tax. Therefore, the only way you can become subject is by
2 volunteering. Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code is therefore “private law” and “special law” that only applies to
3 those who individually consent by connecting their earnings to a “trade or business”, which is a “public office” in the 4 United States government. These people are referred to in the Treasury Regulations as “effectively connected with a
5 trade or business”. BEFORE they consent, they are called "nontaxpayers". AFTER they consent, they are called
6 "taxpayers".

7 "To the extent that regulations implement the statute, they have the force and effect of law...The regulation
8 implements the statute and cannot vitiate or change the statute..."
9 [Spreckles v. C.I.R., 119 F.2d, 667]

10 "..liability for taxation must clearly appear[from statute imposing tax]."
11 [Higley v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 69 F.2d. 160 (1934)]

12 "While Congress might have the power to place such a personal liability upon trust beneficiaries who did not
13 reunounce the trust, yet it would require clear expression of such intent, and it cannot be spelled out from 14 language (as that here) which can be given an entirely natural and useful meaning and application excluding
15 such intent."
16 [Higley v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 69 F.2d. 160 (1934)]

17 *"A tax is a legal imposition, exclusively of statutory origin (37 Cyc. 724, 725), and, naturally, liability to taxation
18 must be read in statute, or it does not exist."
19 [Bente v. Bugbee, 137 A. 552, 103 N.J. Law. 608 (1927)]

20 "...the taxpayer must be liable for the tax. Tax liability is a condition precedent to the demand. Merely 21 demanding payment, even repeatedly, does not cause liability."
22 [Terry v. Bothke, 713 F.2d. 1405, at 1414 (1983)]

23 If you want to know more about this subject see:

24 1.1. Section 5.6.1 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, which covers the subject of no liability in excruciating
25 detail:

26 <http://famguardian.org/Publications/GreatIRSHoax/GreatIRSHoax.htm>

27 1.2. The following link is the online version of the above section:

28 <http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Articles/NoStatuteLiable.htm>

29 1.3. Sections 5.4.6 through 5.4.6.6 of the Great IRS Hoax prove that the Internal Revenue Code is “private law” and a
30 private contract/agreement. Those who have consented are called “taxpayers” and those who haven’t are called 31 “nontaxpayers”.

32 2. The federal courts agree that the IRS cannot involuntarily make you a “taxpayer” when they said the following:

33 "A reasonable construction of the taxing statutes does not include vesting any tax official with absolute power of
34 assessment against individuals not specified in the statutes as a person liable for the tax without an opportunity 35 for judicial review of this status before the appellation of 'taxpayer' is bestowed upon them and their property is 36 seized..."
37 [Botta v. Scanlon, 288 F.2d. 504, 508 (1961)]

38 3. IRS has no statutory authority to convert employment withholding taxes under I.R.C. Subtitle C into “income taxes”
39 under I.R.C. Subtitle A. We show in section 5.6.8 of the Great IRS Hoax that employment withholding taxes deducted
40 under the authority of Subtitle C of the Internal Revenue Code using a W-4 voluntary withholding agreement and that 41 the IRS classifies them in IRS Document 6209 as “Tax Class 5”, which is “Estate and gift taxes”. Therefore, they are 42 gifts to the U.S. government, not taxes that may not be enforced. We also show in section 5.6.8 of the Great IRS Hoax
43 that taxes paid under the authority of Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code are classified as Tax Class 2, “Individual 44 Income Tax”. We also exhaustively prove with evidence in section 5.6.16 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 that 45 IRS has no statutory or regulatory authority to convert what essentially amounts to a voluntary “gift” paid through 46 withholding to a “tax”. Only you can do that by assessing yourself. That is why the 1040 Form requires that you attach 47 the information returns to it, such as the W-2: So that the gift and the tax are reconciled and so that the accuracy of the 48 W-2, which is unsigned hearsay evidence, is guaranteed by the penalty of perjury signature on the IRS 1040 Form itself.

49 The consequence of the IRS not having any lawful authority to make anyone into a “taxpayer” is that they cannot do a lawful
50 Substitute For Return (SFR) or penalty assessment under I.R.C. Subtitle A, as you will learn later. This is also confirmed by 51 the following document:

Why the Government Can't Lawfully Assess Human Beings With an Income Tax Liability Without Their Consent, Form #05.011
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

If you have been the victim of an involuntary IRS assessment and do a Freedom of Information Act (F.O.I.A.) request for assessment documents as we have, and you examine all of the documents returned, you will not see even one document signed by any IRS employee that purports to be an assessment and which has your name on it as the only subject of the assessment. The reason they won't sign the assessment document, such as the IRS Form 23C or the IRS RACS 006 Report, under penalty of perjury is that no one is STUPID enough to accept legal liability for violating the Constitution and the rights of those they have done wrongful assessments against. The IRS knows these people are involved in wrongdoing, which is why they assign "pseudo names" (false names) to their employees: To protect them from lawsuits against them for their habitual violation of the law. The documents you will get back from the IRS in response to your FOIA include the following forms, none of which are signed by the IRS employee:

1. IRS Form 886-A: Explanation of Terms
2. IRS Form 1040: Substitute For Return \(SFR\)
3. IRS Form 3198: Special Handling Notice
4. IRS Form 4549: Income Tax Examination Changes
5. IRS Form 4700: Examination Work Papers
6. IRS Form 5344: Examination Closing Record
7. IRS Form 5546: Examination Return Charge-Out
8. IRS Form 5564: Notice of Deficiency Waiver
9. IRS Form 5600: Statutory Notice Worksheet
10. IRS Form 12616: Correspondence Examination History Sheet
11. IRS Form 13496: I.R.C. Section 6020\(b\) Certification

If you want to look at samples of the above forms, see section 6 of the link below, under the column "Examples":

<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/IRS/IRSFormsPubs.htm>

We have looked at hundreds of these assessment documents and every one of them is required by 26 U.S.C. §6065 to be signed under penalty of perjury by the IRS employee who prepared them but none are. As a matter of fact, the examination documents prepared by the IRS Examination Branch to do the illegal Substitute for Returns (involuntary assessments) purport to be a "proposal" rather than an involuntary assessment, have no signature of an IRS employee, and the only signature is from the "taxpayer", who must consent to the assessment in order to make it lawful. See, for instance, IRS Forms 4549 and 5564. What they do is procure the consent invisibly using a commercial default process by ignoring your responsive correspondence, and therefore "assume" that you consented. This, ladies and gentlemen, is constructive FRAUD, not justice. It is THEFT! The IRS Form 12616 above is the vehicle by which they show that the "taxpayer" consented to the involuntary assessment, because they can't do ANYTHING without his consent.

Furthermore, 28 U.S.C. §2201 also removes the authority of federal courts to declare the status of "taxpayer" on a sovereign American also!:

United States Code
TITLE 28 - JUDICIARY AND JUDICIAL PROCEDURE
PART VI - PARTICULAR PROCEEDINGS
CHAPTER 151 - DECLARATORY JUDGMENTS
Sec. 2201. Creation of remedy

(a) In a case of actual controversy within its jurisdiction, except with respect to Federal taxes other than actions brought under section 7428 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, a proceeding under section 505 or 1146 of title 11, or in any civil action involving an antidumping or countervailing duty proceeding regarding a class or kind of merchandise of a free trade area country (as defined in section 516A(f)(10) of the Tariff Act of 1930), as determined by the administering authority, any court of the United States, upon the filing of an appropriate pleading, may declare the rights and other legal relations of any interested party seeking such declaration, whether or not further relief is or could be sought. Any such declaration shall have the force and effect of a final judgment or decree and shall be reviewable as such.

1 (b) For limitations on actions brought with respect to drug patents see section 505 or 512 of the Federal Food,
2 Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

3 The federal courts themselves agree that they do not have the jurisdiction to bestow the status of “taxpayer” upon someone
4 who is a “nontaxpayer”:

5 “And by statutory definition the term “taxpayer” includes any person, trust or estate subject to a tax imposed by
6 the revenue act. ...Since the statutory definition of taxpayer is exclusive, the federal [and state] courts do not have
7 the power to create nonstatutory taxpayers for the purpose of applying the provisions of the Revenue Acts...”
8 [C.I.R. v. Trustees of L. Inv. Ass’n, 100 F.2d. 18 (1939)]

9 26 U.S.C. §1461 is the only statute within the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle A which creates an explicit liability or “legal 10 duty”. That duty is enforceable only against those subject to the I.R.C., who are “taxpayers” with “gross income” above the 11 exemption amount identified in 26 U.S.C. §6012. All amounts reported by third parties on Information Returns, such as the 12 W-2, 1042-S, 1098, and 1099, document receipt of “trade or business” earnings. All “trade or business” earnings, as defined
13 in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\), are classified as “gross income”. Those who have these information returns filed against him or 14 her becomes his or her own “withholding agent”, and must reconcile their account with the federal government annually by
15 filing a tax return. This is a requirement of all those who are engaged in a “public office”, which is a type of business
16 partnership with the federal government. That business relationship is created through the operation of private contract and 17 private law between you, the natural person, and the federal government. The method of consenting to that contract is any 18 one of the following means:

- 19 1. Assessing ourselves with a liability shown on a tax return, even if we received no “gross income”.
- 20 2. Voluntarily signing a W-4, which is identified in the regulations as an “agreement” to include all earnings in the context
21 of that agreement as “gross income” on a 1040 tax return. See 26 C.F.R. §31.3402(p)-1(a) . For a person who is not a
22 “public officer” or engaged in a “public office”, the signing of the W-4 essentially amounts to an agreement to procure
23 “social services” and “social insurance”. You must bribe the Beast with over half of your earnings in order to convince 24 it to take care of you in your old age.
- 25 3. Completing, signing, and submitting an IRS Form 1040 or 1040NR and indicating a nonzero amount of “gross income”.
26 Nearly all “gross income” and all information returns is connected with an excise taxable activity called a “trade or 27 business” pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §871\(b\) and 26 U.S.C. §6041, which activity then makes you into a “resident”. See 28 older versions of 26 C.F.R. §301.7701-5:

- 29 4. Filing information returns on ourself or not rebutting information returns improperly filed against us, such as the W-2, 30 1042-S, 1098, and 1099. Pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §6041\(a\), all of these federal forms associate all funds documented on 31 them with the taxable activity called a “trade or business”. If you are not a “public officer”, then you can’t lawfully earn 32 “trade or business” income. See the following for details:

- 47 5. Allowing Currency Transaction Reports (CTR’s), IRS Form 8300, to be filed against us when we withdraw 10,000 or 48 more in cash from a financial institution. The statutes at 31 U.S.C. §5331 and the regulation at 31 C.F.R. §103.30(d)(2)
49 only require these reports to be filed in connection with a “trade or business”, and this “trade or business” is the same
50 “trade or business” referenced in the Internal Revenue Code at 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\) and 26 U.S.C. §162. If you are 51 not a “public officer” or if you do not consent to be treated as one in order to procure “social insurance”, then banks and 52 financial institutions are violating the law to file these forms against you. See:

Demand for Verified Evidence of "Trade or Business" Activity: Currency Transaction Report \(CTR\), Form #04.008
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

6. Completing and submitting the Social Security Trust document, which is the SSA Form SS-5. This is an agreement that imposes the "duty" or "fiduciary duty" upon the natural person and makes him into a "trustee" and an officer of a federal corporation called the "United States". The definition of "person" for the purposes of the criminal provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, codified in 26 U.S.C. §7343, incidentally is EXACTLY the same as the above. Therefore, all tax crimes require that the violator must be acting in a fiduciary capacity as a Trustee of some kind or another, whether it be as an Executor over the estate of a deceased "taxpayer", or over the Social Security Trust maintained for the benefit of a living trustee/employee of the federal corporation called the "United States Government". See the following for details:

Resignation of Compelled Social Security Trustee, Family Guardian Fellowship
<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/Emancipation/SSTrustIndenture.pdf>

Unless and until we do any of the above, our proper title is "nontaxpayer". The foundation of American Jurisprudence is the presumption that we are "innocent until proven guilty", which means that we are a "nontaxpayer" until the government proves with court-admissible evidence signed under penalty of perjury that we are a "taxpayer" who is participating in government franchises that are subject to the excise tax upon a "trade or business" which is described in I.R.C. Subtitle A. For cases dealing with the term "nontaxpayer" see: Long v. Rasmussen, 281 F. 236, 238 (1922); Rothensis v. Ullman, 110 F.2d. 590(1940); Raffaele v. Granger, 196 F.2d. 620 (1952); Bullock v. Latham, 306 F.2d. 45 (1962); Economy Plumbing & Heating v. U.S., 470 F.2d. 585 (1972); and South Carolina v. Regan, 465 U.S. 367 (1984).

"The revenue laws are a code or system in regulation of tax assessment and collection. They relate to taxpayers, and not to nontaxpayers. The latter are without their scope. No procedure is prescribed for nontaxpayers, and no attempt is made to annul any of their rights and remedies in due course of law. With them Congress does not assume to deal, and they are neither of the subject nor of the object of the revenue laws..."

"The distinction between persons and things within the scope of the revenue laws and those without is vital."
[Long v. Rasmussen, 281 F. 236, 238 (1922)]

Since the above ruling, Congress has added new provisions to the I.R.C. which obtusely mention "nontaxpayers", but not by name, because they don't want people to have a name to describe their proper status. The new provision is found in 26 U.S.C. §7426, and in that provision of the I.R.C., "nontaxpayers" are referred to as "Persons other than taxpayers". So far as we know, this is the ONLY provision within the I.R.C. that provides any remedy or standing to a "nontaxpayer".

The behavior of the IRS confirms the above conclusions. See the following IRS internal memo proving that a return that is signed under penalty of perjury and saying "not liable" or words to that effect is treated as a non-return:

<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Evidence/Refunds/1998-053IRSMemoZeroRet.pdf>

Look what the above internal top secret IRS memo says (are they trying to hide something?.. cover-up and obstruction of justice!). Pay particular attention to the use of the word "taxpayer" in this excerpt, by the way, which doesn't include most people:

"A taxpayer can also negate the penalties of perjury statement with an addition. In Schmitt v. U.S., 140 B.R. 571 (Bank W.D. Okl. 1992), the taxpayers filed a return with the following statement at the end of the penalties of perjury statement, "SIGNED UNDER DURESS, SEE STATEMENT ATTACHED." In the addition, the taxpayers denied liability for tax on wages. The Service argued that the statement, added to the "return", qualified the penalties of perjury statement, thus making the penalties of perjury statement ineffective and the return a nullity. Id. at 572.

In agreeing with the Service, the court pointed out that the voluntary nature of our tax system requires the Service to rely on a taxpayer's self-assessment and on a taxpayer's assurance that the figures supplied are true to the best of his or her knowledge. Id. Accordingly, the penalties of perjury statement has important significance in our tax system. The statement connects the taxpayer's attestation of tax liability (by the signing of the statement) with the Service's statutory ability to summarily assess the tax.

Similarly, in Sloan v. Comm'r, 53 F.3d. 799 (7th Cir. 1995), cert. denied, 516 U.S. 897 (1995), the taxpayers submitted a return containing the words "Denial & Disclaimer attached as part of this form" above their signatures. In the addition, the taxpayers denied liability for any individual income tax. In determining the effect of the addition on the penalties of perjury statement, the court reasoned that it is a close question whether the addition negates the penalties of perjury statement or not. The addition, according to the court, could be read

1 just to mean that the taxpayers reserve their right to renew their constitutional challenge to the federal income
2 tax law. However, the court concluded that the addition negated the penalties of perjury statement. Id. at 800.

3 In both Schmitt and Sloan the court questioned the purpose of the addition. Both courts found that the addition
4 of qualifying language was intended to deny tax liability. Accordingly, this effect rendered the purported returns
5 invalid.”

6 The reason is clear: If you are a “nontaxpayer” who is “not liable”, then you essentially are outside their jurisdiction and
7 can’t even ask for a refund of the money you paid in. All of your property is consequently classified as a “foreign estate”, as 8 defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(31\):

9 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701.
10 Sec. 7701. - Definitions

11 (a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent
12 thereof—

13 (31) Foreign estate or trust

14 (A) Foreign estate

15 The term “foreign estate” means an estate the income of which, from sources without the United States which is
16 not effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States, is not includible in
17 gross income under subtitle A.

18 If you indeed are a “nontaxpayer” and act like one, the IRS will pretend like you don’t even exist, that is, until in their
19 ignorance and greed they try years later to go after you wrongfully and unlawfully for willful failure to file, notice of 20 deficiency, or some other contrived nonsense to terrorize you into paying and filing again. That’s how they make 21 “nontaxpayers” “volunteer” into becoming “taxpayers”: with terrorism and treason against the rights of sovereign Americans,
22 starting with “mailing threatening, false, and harassing communications” in violation of 18 U.S.C. §876. Lawyer hypocrites!
23 Jesus was right!

24 “Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you pay tithes of mint and anise and cummin, and have 25 neglected the weightier matters of the law: justice and mercy and faith. These you ought to have done, without 26 leaving the others undone.”
27 [Matt. 23:23, Bible, NKJV]

28 Now that we understand the difference between “taxpayer” and a “nontaxpayer”, allow us to make a very critical distinction
29 that is the Achilles Heel of the IRS fraud. Ponder for a moment in your mind the following very insightful question:

30 “Is a person in law always either a ‘taxpayer’ or a ‘nontaxpayer’ as a whole? Can a person simultaneously be 31 BOTH?”

32 Once you understand the answer to this crucial question, you will understand how to get your money back in an IRS refund
33 claim without litigating! The answer, by the way, is YES! Let us now explain why this is the case.

34 We said above that if you are a “nontaxpayer”, the IRS will basically try to completely ignore your refund claim and you are
35 lucky if they even respond. At worst, they will illegally try to penalize you and at best, they will ignore you. We must
36 remember, however, that it is “taxable income” that makes you a “taxpayer”. “Taxable income” is “gross income” minus
37 “deductions”, as described in 26 U.S.C. §63(a). Therefore, we must earn “gross income” as legally defined in order to have 38 “taxable income”. One cannot earn “gross income” unless they fit into one of the following categories:

- 39 1. Domestic taxable activities: Activities within the statutory “United States”, which is defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9)
40 and (a)(10) and 4 U.S.C. §110(d) as the federal zone
- 41 1.1. Federal “Employees”, Agencies, and “Public Officers” – meaning those who are federal “public officers”, federal 42 “employees”, and elected officials of the national government. This is one reason why 26 U.S.C. §6331(a) lists
43 only federal officers, federal employees, federal instrumentalities, and elected officials as ones who can be served 44 with a levy upon their compensation, which is actually a payment from the federal government.
- 45 1.2. Federal benefit recipients. These people are receiving “social insurance” payments such as Medicare, Social 46 Security, or Unemployment. These benefits are described as “gross income” in 26 U.S.C. §871(a)(3). When they 47 signed up for these programs, they became “trustees”, “employees”, and instrumentalities of the U.S. government.

1 They are described as “federal personnel” in the Privacy Act, 5 U.S.C. §552a(a)(13). Neither the Constitution nor
2 the Social Security Act authorize these benefits to be offered to anyone domiciled outside of federal territories and 3 possessions. For details on this scam, see:

[Resignation of Compelled Social Security Trustee, Family Guardian Fellowship
http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/Emancipation/SSTrustIndenture.pdf](http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/Emancipation/SSTrustIndenture.pdf)

- 4 1.3. Those who operate in a representative capacity in behalf of the federal government via contract. This includes
5 those who have a valid Taxpayer Identification Number, which constitutes a constructive trust contract with the 6 federal government and use that federal property [number] as per 20 C.F.R. §422.103(d). They are identified as
7 federal trustees and/or federal employees as referenced in 20 C.F.R. “Employee Benefits”. For details on this scam,
8 see:

[Resignation of Compelled Social Security Trustee, Family Guardian Fellowship
http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/Emancipation/SSTrustIndenture.pdf](http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/Emancipation/SSTrustIndenture.pdf)

- 9 2. Foreign taxable activities: Activities in the states of the Union or abroad.

- 10 2.1. Domiciliaries of the federal zone abroad and in a foreign country pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §911 who are engaged in a
11 “trade or business”:

12 2.1.1. Statutory “U.S. citizens” - those are federal statutory creations of Congress and defined specifically at 8 U.S.C.
13 §1401 to be those who were born in a U.S. territory or possession AND who have a legal domicile there.

14 2.1.2. Statutory “Residents” (aliens). These are foreign nationals who have a legal domicile within the District of 15 Columbia or a federal territory or possession. They are defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A) and 8 U.S.C.
16 §1101(a)(2).

17 If you would like to know more about why the above are the only foreign subjects of taxation, see sections 13
18 through 13.13.10 later

- 19 2.2. States of the Union. Neither the IRS nor the Social Security Administration may lawfully operate outside of the 20 federal zone. See:

21 2.2.1. 4 U.S.C. §72 limits all “public offices” to the District of Columbia. It says that the “public offices” that are 22 the subject of the tax upon a “trade or business” must be exercised ONLY in the District of Columbia and not 23 elsewhere, except as expressly provided by law.

24 2.2.2. 26 U.S.C. §7601 limits IRS enforcement to internal revenue districts. The President is authorized to establish
25 internal revenue districts pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §7621, but he delegated that authority to the Secretary of the 26 Treasury pursuant to Executive Order 10289. Treasury Order 150-02, signed by the Secretary of the Treasury,
27 says that the only remaining internal revenue district is in the District of Columbia. It eliminated all the other
28 internal revenue districts. That T.O. was eventually repealed but there still remains only ONE internal revenue
29 district in the District of Columbia within which the I.R.S. can collect taxes under 26 U.S.C. §7601.

30 2.2.3. 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10) define the term “United States” as the federal zone. Nowhere anyplace
31 else is the tax described in Subtitle A expanded to include anyplace BUT the “United States”.

32 2.2.4. The U.S. Supreme Court said Congress enjoys NO LEGISLATIVE JURISDICTION within states of the 33 Union and the Internal Revenue Code is “legislation”.

34 *“It is no longer open to question that the general government, unlike the states, Hammer v. Dagenhart, 247 U.S.
35 251, 275, 38 S.Ct. 529, 3 A.L.R. 649, Ann.Cas.1918E 724, possesses no inherent power in respect of the internal
36 affairs of the states; and emphatically not with regard to legislation.”
37 [Carter v. Carter Coal Co., 298 U.S. 238, 56 S.Ct. 855 (1936)]*

38 *“The difficulties arising out of our dual form of government and the opportunities for differing opinions
39 concerning the relative rights of state and national governments are many; but for a very long time this court
40 has steadfastly adhered to the doctrine that the taxing power of Congress does not extend to the states or their
41 political subdivisions. The same basic reasoning which leads to that conclusion, we think, requires like limitation
42 upon the power which springs from the bankruptcy clause. United States v. Butler, supra.”
43 [Ashton v. Cameron County Water Improvement District No. 1, 298 U.S. 513, 56 S.Ct. 892 (1936)]*

- 44 2.2.5. The U.S. Supreme Court said Congress Cannot establish a “trade or business” in a state and tax it. A “trade 45 or business” is the main subject of Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code. See the following court cite:

46 *“Thus, Congress having power to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States, and
47 with the Indian tribes, may, without doubt, provide for granting coasting licenses, licenses to pilots, licenses to
48 trade with the Indians, and any other licenses necessary or proper for the exercise of that great and extensive
49 power; and the same observation is applicable to every other power of Congress, to the exercise of which the
50 granting of licenses may be incident. All such licenses confer authority, and give rights to the licensee.*

1 But very different considerations apply to the internal commerce or domestic trade of the States. Over this
2 commerce and trade Congress has no power of regulation nor any direct control. This power belongs exclusively
3 to the States. No interference by Congress with the business of citizens transacted within a State is warranted
4 by the Constitution, except such as is strictly incidental to the exercise of powers clearly granted to the
5 legislature. The power to authorize a business within a State is plainly repugnant to the exclusive power of the
6 State over the same subject. It is true that the power of Congress to tax is a very extensive power. It is given in
7 the Constitution, with only one exception and only two qualifications. Congress cannot tax exports, and it must
8 impose direct taxes by the rule of apportionment, and indirect taxes by the rule of uniformity. Thus limited, and
9 thus only, it reaches every subject, and may be exercised at discretion. But, it reaches only existing subjects.

10 Congress cannot authorize a trade or business within a State in order to 11 tax it."

12 [License Tax Cases, 72 U.S. 462, 18 L.Ed. 497, 5 Wall. 462, 2 A.F.T.R. 2224 (1866)]

13 Based on options above, most people do not have “gross income” as legally defined, and they are actually deceiving the 14 government if they put anything but zero on their income tax return. Because none of the earnings of the typical person who 15 is employed in the private sector can legally be classified as either “income” or “gross income”, what you put down for “gross 16 income” on your tax return boils down to the question of:

17 “How much of my receipts do I want to ‘volunteer’ or ‘elect’ or ‘choose’ to call ‘income’ or ‘gross income’ for 18 the purposes of federal taxes?”

19 How you choose to answer that question then determines the net “donation” (not “tax”, but “donation”) you are making to 20 the federal government based on the tax rate schedule that your fictitious and fabricated “gross income” falls into. As we
21 said in section 5.1.6 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, the income tax is “voluntary” for people in states of the Union
22 and NOT for “public officers” and we really meant it! Not only that, but the U.S. Supreme Court agrees with us!

23 “Our system of taxation is based upon voluntary assessment and payment, not distraint.”
24 [Flora v. U.S., 362 U.S. 145 (1960)]

25 Returning to our original question, then, “Can a person be simultaneously BOTH a ‘taxpayer’ and a ‘nontaxpayer’?”, the 26 answer is YES. Why? Because so long as we as biological people aren’t “employees” (synonymous with “public officers”
27 of the U.S. government) any amount we put down for “gross income” on our tax return is a voluntary choice and not REAL
28 “gross income” as legally defined. That amount, and ONLY that amount, which we volunteer to define as “gross income”
29 on our tax return makes us a “taxpayer”, but only for the specific sources of revenue we voluntarily identified as “gross
30 income”! All other monies that we earned are, by definition and implication, not taxable and not “gross income”, which 31 means that for those “sources” of revenue that are not “gross income”, we are a “nontaxpayer” and NOT a “taxpayer”.

32 So when someone asks you if you are a “taxpayer”, both the question and your answer must be put in the context of a specific
33 source of income. You should respond by first asking: “for which revenue source?” The answer can seldom be a general
34 “yes” or “no” for ALL RECEIPTS. Consequently, if we put down one cent for “gross income” on our tax return, then ONLY
35 for that source of revenue do we become “taxpayers”. All other sources of revenue for us are, by implication, NOT either
36 “gross income” or “taxable income”, which means that for those revenues and receipts, we are a “nontaxpayer”. Furthermore,
37 once we make the determination of “gross income” and self-assessment on the tax return that only we can do on ourselves,
38 the IRS has NO AUTHORITY to make us into a “taxpayer” or assess us an involuntary liability associated with any receipts
39 other than those that we specifically identify as “gross income”:

40 “Our tax system is based on individual self-assessment and voluntary compliance.”
41 [Mortimer Caplin, Internal Revenue Audit Manual (1975)]

42 Remember, the only amount we are responsible for paying is the amount we assess ourselves that appears on a tax return that
43 ONLY WE FILL OUT. The Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 5.1.11.6.8 confirms that the IRS is NOT 44 AUTHORIZED to do a Substitute For Return (SFR) on our behalf for the IRS Form 1040 or any of its derivatives (e.g.
45 1040X, 1040EZ, 1040NR, etc.). Furthermore, 26 C.F.R. §1.6151-1 confirms that you are only responsible for paying the 46 amount shown on a return (because it says “shall pay”).

2 TITLE 26--INTERNAL REVENUE
3 CHAPTER 1--INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE, DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY (CONTINUED)
4 Procedure and Administration--Table of Contents
5 Sec. 1.6151-1 Time and place for paying tax shown on returns.
6

7 (a) In general. Except as provided in section 6152 and paragraph (b) of this section, the tax shown on any
8 income tax return shall, without assessment or notice and demand, be paid to the internal revenue officer with
9 whom the return is filed at the time fixed for filing the return (determined without regard to any extension of 10 time for filing the return). For provisions relating to the time for filing income tax returns, see section 6072 and 11 Secs. 1.6072-1 to 1.6072-4, inclusive. For provisions relating to the place for filing income tax returns, see section
12 6091 and Secs. 1.6091-1 to 1.6091-4, inclusive.

13 (b)(1) Returns on which tax is not shown. If a taxpayer files a return and in accordance with section 6014 and
14 the regulations thereunder, elects not to show the tax on the return, the amount of tax determined to be due shall 15 be paid within 30 days after the date of mailing to the taxpayer a notice stating the amount payable and making
16 demand upon the taxpayer therefor. However, if the notice is mailed to the taxpayer more than 30 days before
17 the due date of the return, payment of the tax shall not be required prior to such due date.

18 26 U.S.C. §6020(b) does not authorize the IRS to do an assessment on you because only you (as the “sovereign”) can do an
19 assessment on yourself for a voluntary donation program called the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle A. The only exception
20 to this rule is under 26 U.S.C. §6014, where you can delegate to the IRS the authority to do a return on your behalf, which
21 we don’t recommend. Are you beginning to see through the fog? It took us four years of diligent study to figure this scam
22 out and we are trying to save you some time.

23 We wish to conclude this section by revealing some very important implications of being a "nontaxpayer" that we need to be 24 very aware of in order to avoid jeopardizing our status and creating a false presumption that we are a "taxpayer", which are 25 summarized below:

- 26 1. You cannot quote any section of the Internal Revenue Code that requires you to be a "taxpayer" in order to claim its 27 benefit. For instance, 26 U.S.C. §7433, which purports to allow anyone to file a suit against an IRS agent for wrongful
28 collection actions, says the following:

29 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 76 > Subchapter B > § 7433
30 §7433. Civil damages for certain unauthorized collection actions

31 (a) In general If, in connection with any collection of Federal tax with respect to a taxpayer, any 32 officer or employee of the Internal Revenue Service recklessly or intentionally, or by reason of negligence,
33 disregards any provision of this title, or any regulation promulgated under this title, such taxpayer may bring a
34 civil action for damages against the United States in a district court of the United States. Except as provided in 35 section 7432, such civil action shall be the exclusive remedy for recovering damages resulting from such actions.

36 Note the phrase above “with respect to a taxpayer”, which are no accident. If you are a “nontaxpayer”, then you have no
37 recourse under the above statute. HOWEVER, you still have recourse under the constitution for deprivation of property
38 without due process of law under the Fifth Amendment. If you filed a lawsuit against an IRS agent, your remedy would 39 then have come from citing the Constitution and possibly also cite the criminal code, which is also positive law, but NOT 40 any part of the I.R.C.

- 41 2. You cannot call the Internal Revenue Code "law" or a "statute", but only a "code" or a "title". It can only be "law" if you 42 are a "taxpayer". What makes anything "law" is your consent, according to the Declaration of Independence, and calling
43 the I.R.C. "law" is an admission that you consent to its provisions and are subject to them. See the following for further 44 details on this scam:

Requirement for Consent, Form #05.003
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 45 3. You cannot fill out and submit any form that can only be used by “taxpayers” nor can you sign any form that uses the 46 word “taxpayer” to identify you. We have gone through and created substitute versions of most major IRS Forms to 47 remove such false presumptions from the forms at:

Federal Forms and Publications, Family Guardian Fellowship
<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/IRS/IRSFormsPubs.htm>

- 1 4. When you get an IRS notice that either calls you a “taxpayer” or uses a “Taxpayer Identification Number” (TIN), then
2 the notice is in error and you have a duty to bring this to the attention of the IRS. Only “taxpayers” can have a TIN.
3 5. You must include the following language in all your correspondence with the tax authorities in order to emphasize your
4 status as a “nontaxpayer”:

5 I look forward to being corrected promptly in anything you believe is inconsistent with reality found in this
6 correspondence or any of its attachments. If you do not respond, I shall conclude that you believe I am a
7 “nontaxpayer” who is neither subject to nor liable for any internal revenue tax.

8 “The revenue laws are a code or system in regulation of tax assessment and collection.
9 They relate to taxpayers, and not to nontaxpayers. The latter are without their scope. No
10 procedure is prescribed for nontaxpayers, and no attempt is made to annul any of their 11 rights and remedies in due course of law. With them Congress does not assume to deal,
12 and they are neither of the subject nor of the object of the revenue laws...”

13 “The distinction between persons and things within the scope of the revenue laws and those 14 without is vital.”
15 [Long v. Rasmussen, 281 F. 236, 238 \(1922\)]

16 I remind you that your own IRS mission statement says that you can only help “taxpayers” to understand their
17 tax responsibilities and therefore, if you won’t talk with me, the only thing I can logically conclude is that I must
18 not be a “taxpayer” and instead am a “nontaxpayer” not subject to any provision within the I.R.C. In that case,
19 thank you for confirming that I am person outside your jurisdiction and not “liable” for any internal revenue tax:

20 Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 1.1.1.1 (02-26-1999) TA \l “Internal Revenue

24 The IRS Mission: Provide America’s taxpayers top quality service by helping them
25 understand and meet their tax responsibilities and by applying the tax law with integrity
26 and fairness to all.

- 27 6. Any IRS publication addressed to “taxpayers” isn’t meant for you and you cannot rely upon it. For instance, IRS
28 Publication 1 is entitled Your Rights as a Taxpayer. The title of this publication is an oxymoron: Taxpayers don’t have 29 rights! A “nontaxpayer” cannot cite this pamphlet as authority for defending his rights. We called the IRS and asked
30 them if they have an equivalent pamphlet for “nontaxpayers” and they said no. Then we asked whether the rights
31 mentioned in the pamphlet also apply to “nontaxpayers” and they reluctantly said “yes”. Someone wrote an “improved”
32 version of this pamphlet which you may wish to read at:

33 13. Why “Domicile” and Becoming a “Taxpayer” Require Your Consent⁷⁴

34 13.1 Introduction

35 The purpose of establishing government is solely to provide “protection”. Those who wish to be protected by a specific 36 government must expressly consent to be protected by choosing a domicile within the civil jurisdiction of that specific
37 government.

- 38 1. Those who have made such a choice and thereby become “customers” of the protection afforded by government are 39 called by any of the following names under the civil laws of the jurisdiction they have nominated to protect them:
40 1.1. “citizens”, if they were born somewhere within the country which the jurisdiction is a part.
41 1.2. “residents” (aliens) if they were born within the country in which the jurisdiction is a part
42 1.3. “inhabitants”, which encompasses both “citizens”, and “residents” but excludes foreigners 43 1.4. “persons”.
44 1.5. “individuals”.

⁷⁴ Source: Why Domicile and Becoming a “Taxpayer” Require Your Consent, Form #05.002; <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>.

- 1 2. Those who have not become “customers” or “protected persons” of a specific government are called by any of the
- 2 following names within the civil laws of the jurisdiction they have refused to nominate as their protector and may NOT
- 3 be called by any of the names in item 1 above:
- 4 2.1. “nonresidents”
- 5 2.2. “transient foreigners”
- 6 2.3. “stateless persons”
- 7 2.4. “in transitu”
- 8 2.5. “transient”
- 9 2.6. “sojourner”

10 In law, the process of choosing a domicile within the jurisdiction of a specific government is called “animus manendi”. Latin

11 is used to describe the process because judges don’t want you knowing that you can choose NOT to be protected by the civil

12 statutory law. That choice makes you a consenting party to the “civil contract”, “social compact”, and “private law” that

13 attaches to and therefore protects all “inhabitants” and things physically situated on or within that specific territory, venue,

14 and jurisdiction. In a sense then, your consent to a specific jurisdiction by your choice of domicile within that jurisdiction is

15 what creates the statutory "person", "individual", "citizen", "resident", or "inhabitant" which is the only proper subject of the

16 civil statutory laws enacted by that government. In other words, choosing a domicile within a specific jurisdiction causes an

17 implied waiver of sovereign immunity, because the courts admit that the term "person" does not refer to the "sovereign":

18 “Since in common usage, the term person does not include the sovereign, statutes not employing the phrase are

19 ordinarily construed to exclude it.”

20 [United States v. Cooper Corporation, 312 U.S. 600 (1941)]

21 “Sovereignty itself is, of course, not subject to law for it is the author and source of law;”

22 [Yick Wo v. Hopkins, 118 U.S. 356 (1886)]

23 “There is no such thing as a power of inherent Sovereignty in the government of the United States. In this country

24 sovereignty resides in the People, and Congress can exercise no power which they have not, by their Constitution*

25 entrusted to it: All else is withheld.”

26 [Juilliard v. Greenman, 110 U.S. 421 (1884)]

27 Those who have become customers of government protection by choosing a domicile within a specific government then owe

28 a duty to pay for the support of the protection they demand. The method of paying for said protection is called “taxes”. In

29 earlier times this kind of sponsorship was called “tribute”.

30 “TRIBUTE, Tribute in the sense of an impost paid by one state to another, as a mark of subjugation, is a common

31 feature of international relationships in the biblical world. The tributary could be either a hostile state or an ally.

32 *Like deportation, its purpose was to weaken a hostile state. Deportation aimed at depleting the man-power. The

33 aim of tribute was probably twofold: to impoverish the subjugated state and at the same time to increase the

34 conqueror’s own revenues and to acquire commodities in short supply in his own country. As an instrument of*

35 administration it was one of the simplest ever devised: the subjugated country could be made responsible for the

36 *payment of a yearly tribute. Its non-arrival would be taken as a sign of rebellion, and an expedition would then

37 be sent to deal with the recalcitrant. This was probably the reason for the attack recorded in Gn. 14.*

40 Domicile is an EXTREMELY important subject to learn because it defines and circumscribes:

- 41 1. The boundary between what is legislatively "foreign" and legislatively "domestic" in relation to a specific jurisdiction.
- 42 Everyone domiciled OUTSIDE a specific jurisdiction is legislatively and statutorily "foreign" in relation to that civil
- 43 jurisdiction. Note that you can be DOMESTIC from a CONSTITUTIONAL perspective and yet ALSO be FOREIGN
- 44 from a legislative jurisdiction AT THE SAME TIME. This is true of the relationship of most Americans with the
- 45 national government.
- 46 2. The boundary between what is LEGAL speech and POLITICAL speech. For everyone not domiciled in a specific
- 47 jurisdiction, the civil law of that jurisdiction is POLITICAL and unenforceable. Since real constitutional courts cannot
- 48 entertain political questions, then they cannot act in a political capacity against nonresidents.

49 So let us begin our coverage of this MOST important subject.

1 13.2 Definition

2 Domicile is legally defined as follows. We also include the definition of "situs" to help clarify its meaning:

3 "domicile. A person's legal home. That place where a man has his true, fixed, and permanent home and
4 principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning. Smith v. Smith,
5 206 Pa.Super. 310, 213 A.2d. 94. Generally, physical presence within a state and the intention to make it one's
6 home are the requisites of establishing a "domicile" therein. The permanent residence of a person or the place
7 to which he intends to return even though he may actually reside elsewhere. A person may have more than one
8 residence but only one domicile. The legal domicile of a person is important since it, rather than the actual
9 residence, often controls the jurisdiction of the taxing authorities and determines where a person may exercise
10 the privilege of voting and other legal rights and privileges."
11 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 485]

13 "Situs. Lat. Situation; location; e.g. location or place of crime or business. Site; position; the place where a
14 thing is considered, for example, with reference to jurisdiction over it, or the right or power to tax it. It imports
15 fixedness of location. Situs of property, for tax purposes, is determined by whether the taxing state has sufficient
16 contact with the personal property sought to be taxed to justify in fairness the particular tax. Town of Cady v.
17 Alexander Const. Co., 12 Wis.2d. 236, 107 N.W.2d. 267, 270."

18 Generally, personal property has its taxable "situs" in that state where owner of it is domiciled. Smith v.
19 Lumms, 149 Fla. 660, 6 So.2d. 625, 627, 628. Situs of a trust means place of performance of active duties of 20 trustee. Campbell v. Albers, 313 Ill.App. 152, 39 N.E.2d. 672, 676."
21 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1387]

22 Notice in the definition of "domicile" above the absence of the word "consent" and replacing it with the word "intent" to
23 disguise the true nature of what they are saying. Lawyers and politicians don't want you to know that they need your consent
24 to make you into a "taxpayer" with a "domicile" within their jurisdiction, even though this is in fact the case. More on this 25 later.

26 An exhaustive academic treatise on the subject of domicile also candidly admits that there is no all encompassing definition
27 for "domicile".

28 §57. Difficulty of Defining Domicil.--The difficulty, if not impossibility, of arriving at an entirely satisfactory
29 definition of domicile has been frequently commented upon. Lord Alvanley, in Somerville v. Somerville, praised
30 the wisdom of Bynkershoek in not hazarding a definition; and Dr. Lushington, in Maltass v. Maltass, speaking of 31 the various attempts of jurists in this direction, considered himself justified in the remarkable language of Hertius:
32 "Verum in iis definiendis mirum est quam sudant doctores." Lord Chelmsford, speaking, as late as 1863, in the 33 case of Moorhouse v. Lord, says: "The difficulty of getting a satisfactory definition of domicil, which will meet
34 every case, has often been admitted, and every attempt to frame one has hitherto failed."
35 [Treatise on the Law of Domicil, Little, Brown, and Company, M.W. Jacobs, 1887, pp. 93-98, §57;
36 SOURCE: <http://books.google.com/books?id=MFQvAAAAIAAJ&printsec=titlepage>]

37 The above admission is not surprising, given the fact that the main purpose for inventing the concept of domicile is to infer
38 or imply consent of the subject to the civil law that has never expressly been given in writing and cannot be proven to exist.
39 No government or judge is going to give a definition, because then people would use that definition to prove that they DON'T 40 have a domicile and that would destroy the source of all the government's civil and taxing authority over the people who
41 employ the definition to break the chains that bind them to their pagan tyrant rulers.

42 The concept of domicile we inherit primarily from the feudal Roman law system in which the king or emperor or lord claimed
43 ownership over all territory entrusted to him or her by divine right. Everyone occupying said territory therefore became a
44 "subject" of the king and owed him "allegiance" as compensation for the "privilege" or franchise associated with use of his
45 property. That allegiance expressed itself as "tribute" paid to the king, which we know of today as "taxes". What were once
46 "subjects" of the king in Great Britain and the Roman Empire are now called "citizens", and we fired the King when the 47 Declaration of Independence declared all men equal. At that point, everyone became equal and the sovereign transitioned
48 from the former King of England to "We the People" as individuals. Consequently, we no longer have a landlord and the 49 government that serves us cannot therefore lawfully charge us "rent" for the use of the land or territory that we occupy if we
50 own it.

51 "The people of this State, as the successors of its former sovereign, are entitled to all the rights which formerly
52 belonged to the King by his prerogative. Through the medium of their Legislature they may exercise all the 53 powers which previous to the Revolution could have been exercised either by the King alone, or by him in

1 conjunction with his Parliament; subject only to those restrictions which have been imposed by the Constitution
2 of this State or of the U.S."
3 [Lansing v. Smith, 21 D. 89., 4 Wendel 9 (1829) (New York)]

4 "In the United States the people are sovereign, and the government cannot sever its relationship to the people
5 by taking away their citizenship."
6 [Afroyim v. Rusk, 387 U.S. 253 (1967)]

7 "Strictly speaking, in our republican form of government, the absolute sovereignty of the nation is in the people
8 of the nation; and the residuary sovereignty of each state, not granted to any of its public functionaries, is in the 9 people of the state. 2 Dall. 471"
10 [Bouvier's Law Dictionary (1870)]

11 "The sovereignty of a state does not reside in the persons who fill the different departments of its government, but 12 in the People, from whom the government emanated; and they may change it at their discretion. Sovereignty, then 13 in this country, abides with the constituency, and not with the agent; and this remark is true, both in reference to 14 the federal and state government."
15 [Spooner v. McConnell, 22 F. 939, 943]

16 "In Europe, the Executive is almost synonymous with the Sovereign power of a State; and, generally, includes 17 legislative and judicial authority. When, therefore, writers speak of the sovereign, it is not necessarily in 18 exclusion of the judiciary; and it will often be found, that when the Executive affords a remedy for any wrong, it
19 is nothing more than by an exercise of its judicial authority. Such is the condition of power in that quarter of 20 the world, where it is too commonly acquired by force, or fraud, or both, and seldom by compact. In America,
21 however, the case is widely different. Our government is founded upon compact. Sovereignty was, and is, in
22 the people. It was entrusted by them, as far as was necessary for the purpose of forming a good government, to 23 the Federal Convention; and the Convention executed their trust, by effectually separating the Legislative,
24 Judicial, and Executive powers; which, in the contemplation of our Constitution, are each a branch of the 25 sovereignty. The well-being of the whole depends upon keeping each department within its limits."
26 [Glass v. Sloop Betsey, 3 U.S. 6, 3 Dall. 6, 1 L.Ed. 485 (1794)]

27 13.3 Domicile is a First Amendment choice of political affiliation

28 Another very important observation is in order at this point, which is that our choice of "domicile" is a strictly political and 29 not legal matter. It is a matter of our political choice and affiliation. The Supreme Court has ruled that no government may 30 dictate our choice of political affiliations, as revealed in the American Jurisprudence Legal Encyclopedia:

31 "The right to associate or not to associate with others solely on the basis of individual choice, not being absolute,
32 may conflict with a societal interest in requiring one to associate with others, or to prohibit one from associating
33 with others, in order to accomplish what the state deems to be the common good. The Supreme Court, though
34 rarely called upon to examine this aspect of the right to freedom of association, has nevertheless established
35 certain basic rules which will cover many situations involving forced or prohibited associations. Thus, where a 36 sufficiently compelling state interest, outside the political spectrum, can be accomplished only by requiring 37 individuals to associate together for the common good, then such forced association is constitutional. ⁷⁵ But the 38 Supreme Court has made it clear that compelling an individual to become a member of an organization with 39 political aspects, or compelling an individual to become a member of an organization which financially
40 supports, in more than an insignificant way, political personages or goals which the individual does not wish
41 to support, is an infringement of the individual's constitutional right to freedom of association. ⁷⁶ The First
42 Amendment prevents the government, except in the most compelling circumstances, from wielding its power to 43 interfere with its employees' freedom to believe and associate, or to not believe and not associate; it is not merely

1 a tenure provision that protects public employees from actual or constructive discharge. ⁷⁷ Thus, First
2 Amendment principles prohibit a state from compelling any individual to associate with a political party, as a
3 condition of retaining public employment. ⁷⁸ The First Amendment protects nonpolicymaking public employees
4 from discrimination based on their political beliefs or affiliation. ⁷⁹ But the First Amendment protects the right
5 of political party members to advocate that a specific person be elected or appointed to a particular office and
6 that a specific person be hired to perform a governmental function. ⁸⁰ In the First Amendment context, the political
7 patronage exception to the First Amendment protection for public employees is to be construed broadly, so as 8 presumptively to encompass positions placed by legislature outside of "merit" civil service. Positions specifically 9 named in relevant federal, state, county, or municipal laws to which discretionary authority with respect to
10 enforcement of that law or carrying out of some other policy of political concern is granted, such as a secretary
11 of state given statutory authority over various state corporation law practices, fall within the political patronage
12 exception to First Amendment protection of public employees. ⁸¹ However, a supposed interest in ensuring 13 effective government and efficient government employees, political affiliation or loyalty, or high salaries paid to 14 the employees in question should not be counted as indicative of positions that require a particular party
15 affiliation. ⁸²
16 [American Jurisprudence 2d, Constitutional law, §546: Forced and Prohibited Associations (1999)]

17 One's choice of "domicile" certainly has far-reaching legal consequences and ramifications, but our choice of domicile is 18 not a legal matter to be decided by any court. No court whether it be a federal or state court, has jurisdiction over strictly 19 political matters. Below is what the U.S. Supreme Court has to say on this very subject:

20 "But, fortunately for our freedom from political excitements in judicial duties, this court [the U.S. Supreme 21 Court] can never with propriety be called on officially to be the umpire in questions merely political. The 22 adjustment of these questions belongs to the people and their political representatives, either in the State or 23 general government. These questions relate to matters not to be settled on strict legal principles. They are 24 adjusted rather by inclination, or prejudice or compromise, often.

25 [. . .]

26 Another evil, alarming and little foreseen, involved in regarding these as questions for the final arbitrament
27 of judges would be that, in such an event, all political privileges and rights would, in a dispute among the 28 people, depend on our decision finally. We would possess the power to decide against, as well as for, them, and,
29 under a prejudiced or arbitrary judiciary, the public liberties and popular privileges might thus be much

1 perverted, if not entirely prostrated. But, allowing the people to make constitutions and unmake them, allowing
2 their representatives to make laws and unmake them, and without our interference as to their principles or policy
3 in doing it, yet, when constitutions and laws are made and put in force by others, then the courts, as empowered
4 by the State or the Union, commence their functions and may decide on the rights which conflicting parties can
5 legally set up under them, rather than about their formation itself. Our power begins after theirs [the Sovereign
6 People] ends. Constitutions and laws precede the judiciary, and we act only under and after them, and as to 7 disputed rights beneath them, rather than disputed points in making them. We speak what is the law, 8 jus dicere, we speak or construe what is the constitution, after both are made, but we 9 make, or revise, or control neither. The disputed rights beneath constitutions already 10 made are to be governed by precedents, by sound legal principles, by positive legislation
11 e.g. "positive law", clear contracts, moral duties, and fixed rules; they are per se
12 questions of law, and are well suited to the education and habits of the bench. But the other
13 disputed points in making constitutions, depending often, as before shown, on policy, inclination, popular resolves
14 and popular will and arising not in respect to private rights, not what is meum and tuum, but in relation to politics,
15 they belong to politics, and they are settled by political tribunals, and are too dear to a people bred in the school
16 of Sydney and Russel for them ever to intrust their final decision, when disputed, to a class of men who are so far
17 removed from them as the judiciary, a class also who might decide them erroneously, as well as right, and if in 18 the former way, the consequences might not be able to be averted except by a revolution, while a wrong decision
19 by a political forum can often be peacefully corrected by new elections or instructions in a single month; and
20 if the people, in the distribution of powers under the constitution, should ever think of making judges supreme
21 arbiters in political controversies when not selected by nor, frequently, amenable to them nor at liberty to follow
22 such various considerations in their judgments as [48 U.S. 53] belong to mere political questions, they will
23 dethrone themselves and lose one of their own invaluable birthrights; building up in this way -- slowly, but 24 surely -- a new sovereign power in the republic, in most respects irresponsible and unchangeable for life, and 25 one more dangerous, in theory at least, than the worst elective oligarchy in the worst of times. Again, 26 instead of controlling the people in political affairs, the judiciary in our system was 27 designed rather to control individuals, on the one hand, when encroaching, or to defend
28 them, on the other, under the Constitution and the laws, when they are encroached upon.
29 And if the judiciary at times seems to fill the important station of a check in the government, it is rather a check
30 on the legislature, who may attempt to pass laws contrary to the Constitution, or on the executive, who may violate
31 both the laws and Constitution, than on the people themselves in their primary capacity as makers and amenders
32 of constitutions."
33 Luther v. Borden, [48 U.S. 1 (1849)]

34 Consequently, no court of law can interfere with your choice of legal domicile, which is a strictly political matter. To do
35 otherwise would constitute compelled association in violation of the First Amendment as well as direct interference in the 36 affairs of a political party, which is YOU. You are your own independent political party and a sovereignty separate and 37 distinct from the federal or state sovereignties. A court of law is certainly not the proper forum, for instance, in which to 38 question or politically ridicule one's choice of domicile, whether it be in front of a jury or a judge.

39 "Petitioners contend that immunity from suit in federal court suffices to preserve the dignity of the States. Private 40 suits against nonconsenting States, however, present "the indignity of subjecting a State to the coercive process
41 of judicial tribunals at the instance of private parties." In re Ayers, supra, at 505; accord, Seminole Tribe, [517
42 U.S., at 58](#), regardless of the forum. Not only must a State defend or default but also it must face the prospect of 43 being thrust, by federal fiat and against its will, into the disfavored status of a debtor, subject to the power of 44 private citizens to levy on its treasury or perhaps even government buildings or property which the State
45 administers on the public's behalf.

46 [. . .]

47 "Underlying constitutional form are considerations of great substance. Private suits against nonconsenting
48 States--especially suits for money damages--may threaten the financial integrity of the States. It is indisputable
49 that, at the time of the founding, many of the States could have been forced into insolvency but for their
50 immunity from private suits for money damages. Even today, an unlimited congressional power to authorize 51 suits in state court to levy upon the treasuries of the States for compensatory damages, attorney's fees, and
52 even punitive damages could create staggering burdens, giving Congress a power and a leverage over the States
53 that is not contemplated by our constitutional design. The potential national power would pose a severe and 54 notorious danger to the States and their resources."
55 Alden v. Maine, [527 U.S. 706 (1999)]

56 The Supreme Court said that the sovereignty of We The People is every bit as sacred as that of the states, so why should they 57 not merit the same level of sovereign immunity from suit and dignity, especially in their choice of domicile, as that of the 58 States? To wit:

1 "The rights of individuals and the justice due to them, are as dear and precious as those of states. Indeed the
2 latter are founded upon the former; and the great end and object of them must be to secure and support the rights
3 of individuals, or else vain is government."
4 [Chisholm v. Georgia, 2 U.S. (2 Dall.) 419, 1 L.Ed. 440 (1793)]

5 "We The People" certainly cannot be "Sovereign" in any sense of the word if legal process can be maliciously and habitually
6 abused by the government at great financial injury and inconvenience to them in the process of questioning or ridiculing their
7 choice of domicile. In spite of this fact, this very evil happens daily in state and federal courts in the context of tax trials.
8 We cannot restore the sovereignty of the people unless and until this chronic malicious abuse of legal and judicial process is 9 ended immediately.

10 In recognition of the concepts in this section, the following book on the common law starkly admits that being a CIVIL
11 STATUTORY "PERSON" is optional, and implies MEMBERSHIP in the body politic. If only lawyers now were as honest
12 as those back at the founding of this country!:

13 CHAPTER II.

14 CIVIL PERSON.

15 The state is represented in the person of its chief magistrate, who is at the same time a member of it. Thus the 16 king or president possesses two kinds of rights, a university of rights as a corporation [PUBLIC rights], and 17 individual rights [PRIVATE rights] as a man. As the former become more and more confounded with the 18 latter, so government advances towards some form of monarchy. A bishop also is a sole corporation, but the 19 man holding the office has also his individual rights. The word person neither according to its accurate
20 meaning nor in law is identical with man. A man may possess at the same time different classes of rights. On 21 the other hand, two or more men may form only one legal person, and have one estate, as partners or corporators.
22 Upon this difference of rights between the person and the man, the individual and the partner, corporator, tenant
23 in common, and joint tenant, depends the whole law of these several classes. The same person has perfect power
24 of alienation, of forming contracts, of disposing by last will and testament of his individual estate, but not of the 25 corporate, nor of his own share in it, unless such power be expressed or implied in the contract by which the 26 university of rights and duties is created. The same distinction divides all public from private property, and 27 distinguishes the cases in which the corporation or civil person may sue from those in which the individual
28 alone can be the party ; - although there are instances in which the injury complained of may, in reference to 29 the difference of character, be such as to authorize the suit to be instituted either by the civil person or the 30 individual, or by both. Thus, violence to the person may be punished either as a wrong to the state or to the 31 individual.

32 The true meaning of the word person is also exemplified in the matter of contracts. It is said, generally, that all
33 persons may contract; but that is not true in the sense that all human beings may contract. Thus, a married
34 woman, an infant, a lunatic, cannot contract. Again, a slave of mature age, sound intellect, with the consent of 35 his master, cannot make a contract binding on himself, although as an agent he may bind his master. These 36 matters are important only as they serve clearly to show that the civil person may have rights distinct from those 37 which he possesses as an individual ; - and that his rights or duties as an individual may consequently become 38 opposed to his rights and duties as a civil person. Thus, a partnership of three persons may own, for example, a
39 moiety of a ship, and one of them the other moiety. In case of a difference between them as to its use, the rights
40 of the one as a partner, and his right as an individual owner of another moiety, are directly opposed. In order,
41 therefore, in any case, to perceive the application of a rule of law, it must be considered whether the person or 42 the individual, or both, is the possessor of the right. For it may be asserted as absolutely true, that the rights of 43 the man are not recognized by that law which is termed the municipal. It recognizes them only as they grow
44 out of, or are consistent with, his character as a civil person. In other words, this is the distinction between the 45 Common Law and the law of nature. Nor is this a fanciful distinction, inasmuch as the rudest tribes, as well
46 as the most civilized nations, have always distinguished between the rights and duties of their members, and of 47 those who were not members of the body politic. Even after the philosophical jurists of antiquity had polished
48 and improved the jurisprudence of aristocratic republican Rome by the philosophy of the Portico, Cicero,
49 statesman, philosopher, and jurisconsult, exclaims with indignation against the confusion of rights of person
50 that the age witnessed: " In urbem nostrum est infusa peregrinitas; nunc vero etiam braccatis et transalpinis 51 nationibus ut nullum veteris leporis vestigium appareat."

52 The Common Law, as well as the Civil, recognizes as a person an unborn child, when it concerns its interests
53 either as to life or property. " Qui in utero est perinde ac si in rebus humanis esset, custoditur, quotiens de 54 commodis ipsius partus queritur." And both systems provide the same remedies to protect the child and those 55 with whom its birth may interfere. In case of a limitation to the child of which a woman is now pregnant, if twins
56 should be born, the Common Law gives the estate to the first-born; by our law, they would take moieties. Now,
57 as these rights are acquired before the birth of the child or children, there is a double fiction ; not only in
58 considering the unborn as born, but in distinguishing under the Common Law the eldest from the youngest born.
59 Whilst, therefore, the law regards the unborn as born, yet, to transmit the estate, he must be born as a man, alive
60 and capable of living. The law does not presume the life or death of an individual; when his existence has been
61 established, his death also must be proved. *But the birth of an individual and the commencement of his character

1 as a person do not necessarily concur. Thus, an alien of any age is not a person, in relation to a contract
2 concerning lands, nor in any case is an infant ; so a woman marrying before she attains her legal maturity may
3 die of old age without having become a person. On the other hand, a person may suffer civil death before
4 physical death; totally, where he becomes a monk; partially, as a penalty for the commission of an infamous
5 crime; and perpetually or temporarily, as in case of outlawry. * Where a person has not been heard of for seven
6 years, and under circumstances which contradict the probability of his being alive, a court may consider this 7 sufficient proof of death (Stark. Ev. 4 pl. 457). The presumptions which arise in such cases do not concern the 8 death of the person., but the time of his death, as where several die by one shipwreck or other casualty. On this
9 point the rules are, - 1st. In case of parents and children, that children below the age of puberty died before, and 10 adult children after, their parents. 2d. Persons not being parents and children, and the rights of one being 11 dependent upon the previous death of the other, this precedent condition must be proved. 3d. If a grant is to be 12 delated by the act of the gramntor, as in case of a don anio inter virum tt uxorem, or a donatio ,ortis causa, the 13 donor is presumed, in the absence of testimony, to have died first. (See Pothier, Obligations, by Evans, Vol. II. p.
14 300.)

15 [The Theory of the Common Law, James M. Walker, 1852, pp. 17-20]

16 13.4 You can only have one Domicile and that place and government becomes your main source of CIVIL 17 protection

18 In this section, we will establish that you can only have a domicile in ONE place at a time and therefore, you can only be a
19 STATUTORY “citizen” of one place at a time. The most instructive case on this point that we have found is the following:

20 Article IV, Section 2 of the Constitution of South Carolina reads in pertinent part as follows:

21 'Section 2. No person shall be eligible to the office of Governor who . . . shall not have been 22 . . . a citizen and resident of this State for five years next preceding the day of election.'

23 [. . .]

24 The constitutional requirement that a person be both a citizen and a resident, for a period of time, as a prerequisite
25 to being eligible for the office of Governor had its origin in the Constitution of 1790.⁸³ Present Article IV, section
26 2 of the Constitution was adopted in the general election of 1972 and ratified in 1973. The pertinent language
27 therein parallels the language of prior South Carolina Constitutions and is identical with that of the Constitution
28 of 1895. Thus the meaning and intent of the terms 'citizen' and 'resident' as used in those earlier documents is 29 highly persuasive, if not controlling. When the Constitution of 1895 was drafted it is clear that in judicial 30 concept the terms 'citizen' and 'resident' were not the same. Nor did one necessarily include the other.

31 Shortly before the ratification of the Constitution of 1895, Justice McIver noted the distinction's existence when,
32 in discussing a statutory requirement that non-resident plaintiffs give security for court costs, he wrote:

33 The provisions relate only to residence, and not to citizenship which are entirely different
34 things. As was said by Mr. Justice Grier in Parker v. Overman, 18 How. 127 [265 S.C.
35 375] (137) 15 L.Ed. 318: 'citizenship and residence are not synonymous terms.' Cummings
36 v. Wingo, 31 S.C. 427, 10 S.E. 107, 110 (1889).

37 The Wingo opinion clearly reflected substantial agreement in the contemporary legal community that 38 'citizenship' and 'residence' were separate and distinguishable. E.g., Menarde v. Goggan, 121 U.S. 253, 7 S.Ct.
39 873, 30 L.Ed. 914 (1887); Grace v. American Ins. Co., 109 U.S. 278, 3 S.Ct. 207, 27 L.Ed. 932 (1883);
40 Robertson v. Cease, 97 U.S. 646, 24 L.Ed. 1057 (1878); Holt v. Tennallytown & R. Ry. Co., 81 Md. 219, 31 A.
41 809 (1895); Robinson v. Oceanic Steam Nav. Co., 112 N.Y. 315, 19 N.E. 625, 2 L.R.A. 636 (1889). See 42 generally, 10 Cent. Dig., Constitutional Law, secs. 625--648, at 2036--2070.

43 [. . .]

44 Citizenship in the first instance is founded upon actual residence and thereafter as long as one retains his 45 residence even in a domiciliary sense, he [265 S.C. 377] remains a citizen. If the framers of the particular

⁸³ S.C. Constitution Art. II, sec. 2 (1790) provided:

Sec. 2. No person shall be eligible to the office of governor unless he * * * Hath resided within this State And been a citizen thereof, ten years * * *

S.C. Constitution Art. III, sec. 3 (1868) provided:

Sec. 3. No person shall be eligible to the office of governor who * * * at the time of such election * * * shall not have been a citizen of the United States and a Citizen and Resident of this State for two years next preceding the day of election. . . .

1 constitutional provision meant to require nothing more than a domicile they could have stopped after using
2 the word 'citizen' and omitted the words 'and resident'. 'Resident', in the domiciliary sense is embodied within
3 the term 'citizen'. It follows therefore that if the words 'and resident' be construed as meaning anything other
4 than a requirement of actual physical residence such language would be surplusage. Accordingly the language
5 permits of no other construction because we are not at liberty to treat any portion of the Constitution as 6 surplusage. Admittedly Mr. Ravenel does not meet the requirement of actual residence in this State for the 7 necessary five year period, and without more it conclusively follows that he is not eligible to be elected to the 8 office of Governor.

9 The purpose of requiring actual residence is, we think, plain. By requiring a durational five year actual
10 residency, the people have reserved to themselves the right to scrutinize the person who seeks to govern them.
11 Obviously the people desired such a period to observe a gubernatorial candidate's conduct, to learn of his 12 habits, his strengths, his weaknesses, his ideals, his abilities, his leanings, and his political philosophy--a period
13 of time in which to consider, not only his words, but his acts and activities in community and public affairs.
14 Correspondingly, they wanted a candidate to actually live in the state for five years immediately preceding the 15 election in order that he might become acquainted with the state's problems, its people, its industries, its 16 finances, its institutions, its agencies, its laws and its Constitution, and become acquainted with other officials 17 with whom he must work if he is to serve effectively.

18 In Chimento v. Stark, 353 F.Supp. 1211 (N.H.D.1973) affirmed, 414 U.S. 802, 94 S.Ct. 125, 38 L.Ed.2d. 39, a
19 three judge Federal court dealt with a seven year durational residency provision of the New Hampshire
20 Constitution as a condition of eligibility to serve as [265 S.C. 378] governor of that state. The opinion of the court
21 points out that '29 states require five or more years, 10 states require seven or more years and two states require
22 ten years' residency before one may serve as Governor. In commenting upon the purpose of such a requirement
23 the court said 'it ensures that the chief executive officer of New Hampshire is exposed to the problems, needs, and
24 desires of the people whom he is to govern, and it also gives the people of New Hampshire a chance to observe
25 him and gain firsthand knowledge about his habits and character.'

26 Ravenel relies in part on Article I, section 6 of the State Constitution that provides, inter alia, '(t)emporary
27 absence from the State shall not forfeit a residence once obtained.' Even independent of this constitutional
28 provision, temporary absences normally do not bring about a forfeiture of either citizenship or residency.
29 Under the admitted facts, we do not think that this constitutional provision has any application in this case
30 because we are not convinced that Ravenel's prolonged absence from the State could reasonably be held to be
31 a temporary absence within the purview of the constitutional provision. If his contention in this respect and 32 his further contention as to only domicile being required be held sound, it would follow that a native born
33 citizen could leave the state and as long as he did not establish a domicile elsewhere, stay away for many years,
34 and not return to the state until after his election as Governor, but still be eligible for such office. Such 35 construction of the constitutional provisions would completely defeat the obvious purpose of the durational
36 residency requirement for eligibility. Another elementary rule of construction is that no construction is 37 permissible which will lead to an absurd result.

38 Even if we assume, as contended by Ravenel, that the word 'resident' as used in the Constitution should be
39 construed to only require that he have a [265 S.C. 379] domicile for the prerequisite period of time he did not
40 meet this test. As we have already held that the Constitution required him to be an actual resident, and not 41 merely a domiciliary, we need deal only briefly with the law as to domicile. In Gasque v. Gasque, 246 S.C. 423,
42 143 S.E.2d 811 (1965) (a divorce case) our Court had occasion to define the word domicile as follows:

43 'And '(t)he term 'domicile' means the place where a person has his true, fixed and 44 permanent home and principal establishment, to which he has, whenever he is absent, an 45 intention of returning."

46 Such is a generally accepted definition of the term. It is generally recognized, as we did in Gasque, that intent
47 is a most important element in determining the domicile of any individual. It is also elementary, however, that
48 any expressed intent on the part of a person must be evaluated in the light of his conduct which is either
49 consistent or inconsistent with such expressed intent. Other elementary propositions which require no citation
50 of authority are that a person can have only one domicile at a time; one maintains his prior domicile until he 51 establishes or acquires a new one. A person may have more than one residence, but cannot have more than 52 one domicile or be a citizen of more than one state at the same moment. Despite his sincere intention to return
53 to his native state some day the overwhelming weight of the evidence is to the effect that in November, 1969,
54 the beginning of the crucial period of time, Mr. Ravenel was an actual resident of, domiciled in and a citizen
55 of the State of New York.

56 [Ravenel v. Dekke, 265 S.C. 364, 218 S.E.2d. 521 (S.C., 1975)]

57 Based on the above, we make the following conclusions of law:

- 58 1. "Citizenship" is founded upon actual residence and thereafter as long as one retains his residence even in a domiciliary
59 sense, he remains a "citizen" in a statutory sense.

2. "citizenship" and "residence" are not interchangeable terms.
3. "residence" or "resident" used in reference to a "citizen" implies PHYSICAL PRESENCE IN ADDITION to DOMICILE.
4. You can only have a domicile in one place at a time.
5. You can only be a "citizen" of one place at a time.
6. If you are a state citizen as described above, you cannot ALSO be a STATUTORY citizen under the laws of Congress.
7. Temporary absences from the place of one's domicile do NOT automatically bring about a change of "citizenship" or "residency". However, if the absence is also accompanied by other acts that indicate a change in domicile, then a loss of citizenship and residency is automatic and implied.

Now do you know why the Bureau of Immigration Services (BIS) was renamed to the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Service (U.S.C.I.S.) when the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) was created by Congress? They wanted to create the false presumption that EVERYONE in states of the Union is physically present on federal territory whenever they say they have "citizenship" in the U.S. Remember, "citizenship" implies physical presence in the STATUTORY "United States", meaning federal territory. In effect, they wanted to institutionalize GOVERNMENT IDENTITY THEFT by the abuse of "words of art"! See:

Government Identity Theft, Form #05.046
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

Therefore, the reason why government forms will ask you your domicile is explained as follows:

1. A person can only have "allegiance" towards one and only one "sovereign". The U.S. Supreme Court confirmed this when it said:

"Citizenship is a political tie; allegiance is a territorial tenure. [. . .] The doctrine is, that allegiance cannot be due to two sovereigns; and taking an oath of allegiance to a new, is the strongest evidence of withdrawing allegiance from a previous, sovereign...."
 [Talbot v. Janson, 3 U.S. 133 (1795); From the syllabus but not the opinion; SOURCE:
http://www.law.cornell.edu/supct/search/display.html?terms=choice%20or%20conflict%20and%20law&url=/supct/html/historics/USSC_CR_0003_0133_ZS.html]

This is also consistent with the Bible, which says on this subject:

*"No servant can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will be loyal to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon."
 [Jesus [God] speaking in Luke 16:13, Bible, NKJV]*

2. Choosing a "domicile" in a place is what makes a person a STATUTORY "citizen" or "resident" under the laws of that place. Because you can only have a "domicile" in one place at a time, then you can only be a "citizen" in one place at a time. Becoming a statutory "citizen" is what makes you "subject" to the civil laws in that place and is the origin of your authority and privilege to vote, serve on jury duty, and pay income taxes in that place. For instance, Mexicans temporarily visiting the United States and who have not changed their "domicile" to the United States are called "Mexican Nationals" while they are here. When they return to the place of their domicile, they are called "Mexican citizens".
3. A legal means needs to be established to pay for the protection afforded by the sovereign to whom we claim allegiance. "Taxes" are the legal vehicle by which "protection" is paid for. In earlier times, in fact, "taxes" were called "tribute". When we pay "tribute", we are expressing "allegiance" to our personal "sovereign" by offering it our time and money. Below is a very revealing quote from a famous Bible dictionary which explains the meaning of the word "tribute" in a Biblical context:

"TRIBUTE. Tribute in the sense of an impost paid by one state to another, as a mark of subjugation, is a common feature of international relationships in the biblical world. The tributary could be either a hostile state or an ally. Like deportation, its purpose was to weaken a hostile state. Deportation aimed at depleting the man-power. The aim of tribute was probably twofold: to impoverish the subjugated state and at the same time to increase the conqueror's own revenues and to acquire commodities in short supply in his own country. As an instrument of administration it was one of the simplest ever devised: the subjugated country could be made responsible for the payment of a yearly tribute. Its non-arrival would be taken as a sign of rebellion, and an expedition would then be sent to deal with the recalcitrant. This was probably the reason for the attack recorded in Gn. 14.
 [New Bible Dictionary, Third Edition. Wood, D. R. W., Wood, D. R. W., & Marshall, I. H. 1996, c1982, c1962; InterVarsity Press: Downers Grove]

1 Therefore, establishing a “domicile” or “residence” also establishes a voluntary “tax home” as well. There are several
2 problems with the above worldly approach that conflict with Christianity:

- 3 1. Luke 16:13 above implies that those who demonstrate allegiance become “servants” of those they demonstrate
4 “allegiance” towards. There is a maxim of law to describe this fraud:

5 “Protectio trahit subjectionem, subjectio projectionem.
6 Protection draws to it subjection, subjection, protection. Co. Litt. 65.”
7 [Bouvier’s Maxims of Law (1856);
8 SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouvierMaxims.htm>

- 9 2. God said we can serve only Him, and therefore we cannot have “allegiance” to anything but Him.

10 “Away with you , Satan! For it is written, ‘You shall worship the Lord your God, and Him ONLY [NOT the 11 government or its vain laws!] you shall serve.”
12 [Matt. 4:10, Bible, NKJV]

- 13 3. Serving anyone but God amounts to idolatry in violation of the first four commandments found in the Ten
14 Commandments. Idolatry is the worst of all sins documented in the Bible. In the Old Testament book of Ezekiel, God
15 killed people and destroyed whole cities whose inhabitants committed idolatry.
16 4. The government cannot compel us to consent to anything or to demonstrate “allegiance” toward it. Allegiance must 17 always be completely voluntary.
18 5. It is against the Bible for Christians to claim allegiance to any “man” and by implication a civil ruler. That is why the 19 founding fathers declared us to be a “society of law and not men” as declared by the U.S. Supreme Court in Marbury v.
20 Madison. Christians can ONLY have allegiance to God and His laws, which then gives rise to an INDIRECT obligation
21 to love and therefore protect our “neighbor” as indicated in Matt. 22:36-40.

22 “Thus saith the LORD; Cursed be the man that trusteth in man [we are a man], and maketh flesh his arm, and 23 whose heart departeth from the LORD.”
24 [Jeremiah 17:5, Bible, KJV]

25 “That your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God.”
26 [1 Corinthians 2:5, Bible, KJV]

27 “It is better to trust in the Lord, than to put confidence in man. It is better to trust in the Lord, than to put 28 confidence in princes for political rulers, who are but "men".”
29 [Psalm 118:8-9, Bible, NKJV]

30 “Trust in the Lord with all your heart, and lean not on your own understanding [because YOU are a "man"].
31 In all your ways acknowledge Him, And He [RATHER THAN THE winds of political opinion] shall direct your 32 paths. ”
33 [Prov. 3:5, Bible, NKJV]

34 “The Moloch [socialist] state simply represents the supreme effort of man to command [or PREDICT] the future,
35 to predestine the world, and to be as God [which was Lucifer's original sin]. Lesser efforts, divination, spirit-
36 questing, magic, and witchcraft, are equally anathema to God. All represent efforts to have the future on other
37 than God's terms, to have a future apart from and in defiance of God. They are assertions that the world is not
38 of God but of brute factuality, and that man can somehow master the world and the future by going directly to 39 the raw materials thereof. Thus King Saul outwardly conformed to God's law by abolishing all black arts, but,
40 when faced with a crisis, he turned to the witch of Endor (1 Sam. 28). Saul knew where he stood with God: in 41 rebellion and unrepentant. Saul knew moreover the judgment of the law and of the prophet Samuel concerning
42 him (1 Sam. 15:10-35). Samuel alive had declared God's future to Saul. In going to the witch of Endor, Saul
43 attempted to reach Samuel dead, in the faith and hope that Samuel dead was now in touch with and informed
44 concerning a world of brute factuality outside of God which could offer Saul a God-free, law-free future. But 45 the word from the grave only underscored God's law-word (1 Sam. 28:15-19): it was the word of judgment.”
46 [The Institutes of Biblical Law, Rousas John Rushdoony, 1973, p. 35]

47 Therefore, Christians cannot be expected or required to either accept, consent to, or pay for protection that God says comes 48 ONLY from Him. They cannot allow government to assume an authority equal or superior to God in their lives, including 49 in the area of protection. The only purpose for government is “protection”.

50 “Allegiance and protection are, in this connection, reciprocal obligations. The one is a compensation for the 51 other; allegiance for protection and protection for allegiance.”
52 [Minor v. Happersett, 88 U.S. (21 Wall.) 162, 166-168 (1874)]

1 Any government form that asks us what our “domicile” is indirectly is asking us to whom we have exclusive “allegiance”.
2 Any government that passes a law compelling “allegiance” or requiring us to consent to laws or a government or protection
3 that we don’t want is:

- 4 1. Implementing slavery in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment, 18 U.S.C. §1581, 18 U.S.C. §1583, and 42 U.S.C. 5 §1994.
- 6 2. Making themselves into an organized crime syndicate that earns its revenues from “protection”. This is called a 7 “protection racket” and it is a federal crime under 18 U.S.C. §1951.
- 8 3. Violating the antitrust laws at 15 U.S.C. §2, by making themselves into a monopoly that is the only source of “protection”.

9 The Bible describes such an organized crime syndicate as “the Beast”, which Rev. 19:19 defines as “the kings of the earth”.
10 In modern times, this would be our political rulers.

11 13.5 Domicile and taxation

12 Both state and federal income taxation is based almost entirely upon what is called “domicile”. Domicile is a choice we make 13 that requires our consent and participation, and because it requires our consent, then becoming a “taxpayer” who owes a tax
14 requires our consent. We will explain this shortly. An examination of the Internal Revenue Code and implementing 15 regulations confirms that there are only two proper legal “persons” who are the subject of the I.R.C., and that these two 16 “persons” have a “domicile” in the “United States”. By “United States” as used in this document, we mean the government
17 of the “United States” and not the “United States” in the geographical sense as used in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10) and 18 4 U.S.C. §110(d):

19

Table 20: Taxable persons under I.R.C.

| # | Proper legal person? ⁸⁴ | Tax status | Place of inhabitation | Declared domicile | Conditions under which subject to I.R.C. (if they volunteer)? | Notes |
|---|------------------------------------|---------------------|---|--|--|---|
| 1 | Yes | “citizen” | United States (government/federal territory) | United States (government/federal territory) | Earnings connected with a “trade or business” within the “United States” (government/federal territory) while abroad. | File using IRS Form 2555. See 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c) for imposition of tax. “citizens” living abroad and outside of federal jurisdiction are referred to as “nationals” but not “citizens” under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22)(B). |
| 2 | Yes | “resident” | United States (government/federal territory) | United States (government/federal territory) | All income earned within the “United States” (government/federal territory) connected with a “trade or business” | See 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c) for imposition of tax. See 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A) for definition of “resident” |
| 3 | No | “nonresident alien” | Outside of “United States” (government/federal territory) | Foreign country, including states of the Union | Income from within the “United States” (government/federal territory) under 26 U.S.C. §871 . | File using form 1040NR. See 26 U.S.C. §871 for taxable sources. 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B) for definition of “nonresident alien” |
| 4 | No | “alien” | Outside of “United States” (government/federal territory) | Foreign country, including states of the Union | Only subject to income taxes on “income” from foreign country connected with a “trade or business” and coming under an income tax treaty with the foreign country. | Do not file. Not subject to the I.R.C. because not domiciled in the “United States” (federal territory) |

Options 1 and 2 above have a civil “domicile” within the statutory but not constitutional “United States”, meaning federal territory that is no part of any state of the Union, as a prerequisite. People born in and domiciled within states of the Union fall under status 3. If “nationals” (who are not statutory “citizens” under 8 U.S.C. §1401) domiciled in states have no earnings from the “United States” government or federal territory, then even if they choose to volunteer, they cannot be “liable” to pay any of their earnings to the IRS. Note also that the “aliens” mentioned in option 4 above, even if they live in the “United States” (federal territory), are not even mentioned in the I.R.C. They only become subject to the code by either becoming involved in a “trade or business”, which is a public office and a voluntary activity involving federal contracts and employment, or by declaring the “United States” (federal territory) to be their legal “domicile”. Making the “United States” (federal territory) into their “domicile” or engaging in a “trade or business” (which is defined as a public office) are the only two activities that can transform “aliens” into “residents” subject to the Internal Revenue Code. “Aliens” or “nonresident aliens” may voluntarily elect (choose) to treat the “United States” (government or federal territory) as their domicile and thereby become “residents” in accordance with the following authorities:

1. 26 U.S.C. §6013\(g\) or (h).
2. 26 U.S.C. §7701\(b\)\(4\)\(B\).
3. 26 C.F.R. §1.871-1\(a\).
4. The Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 U.S.C. §1605(a)(2), which says that those who conduct “commerce” within the legislative jurisdiction of the United States (in the federal zone) surrender their sovereign immunity.

TITLE 28 > PART IV > CHAPTER 97 > § 1605
§1605. General exceptions to the jurisdictional immunity of a foreign state

(a) A foreign state shall not be immune from the jurisdiction of courts of the United States or of the States in any case—

(2) in which the action is based upon a commercial activity carried on in the United States by the foreign state; or upon an act performed in the United States in connection with a commercial activity of the foreign state

⁸⁴ See 26 C.F.R. §1.6012-1(a): Who is required to file.

elsewhere; or upon an act outside the territory of the United States in connection with a commercial activity of the foreign state elsewhere and that act causes a direct effect in the United States;

We also caution that a “non-resident non-person” or a “nonresident alien” can also unwittingly become a “U.S. person” with an effective domicile in the “United States” (federal territory) by incorrectly declaring his or her citizenship status on a government form as that of either a statutory “U.S. citizen” under 8 U.S.C. §1401 or a statutory “resident alien” under 26 U.S.C. §7701\(b\)\(1\)\(A\), instead of a “non-resident non-person” or “non-resident national” under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21). This results in a surrender of sovereign immunity under 28 U.S.C. §1603\(b\)\(3\), which says that “U.S. citizens” and “residents” may not be treated as “foreign states”. This is by far the most frequent mechanism that your unscrupulous government uses to maliciously destroy the sovereignty of persons in states of the Union and undermine the Separation of Powers Doctrine: Using ambiguous terms on government forms and creating and exploiting legal ignorance of the people. This process by public servants of systematically and illegally destroying the separation of powers is thoroughly documented below:

Government Conspiracy to Destroy the Separation of Powers, Form #05.023
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

13.6 The three sources of government civil jurisdiction

There are THREE sources of government civil protection:

1. Constitutional law. Includes the Bill of Rights. Cannot be surrendered if right is “unalienable”.
2. Common law. Does not require consent, but mere physical presence on the land.
3. Civil statutory law (protection franchise). Requires consent by choosing a domicile.

We cover all law systems in:

Four Law Systems, Form #12.039
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

In the case of item 3 above, even for civil statutory laws that are enacted with the consent of the majority of the governed as the Declaration of Independence requires, we must still explicitly and individually consent to be subject to them before they can be enforced against us.

“When a change of government takes place, from a monarchial to a republican government, the old form is dissolved. Those who lived under it, and did not choose to become members of the new, had a right to refuse their allegiance to it, and to retire elsewhere. By being a part of the society subject to the old government, they had not entered into any engagement to become subject to any new form the majority might think proper to adopt. That the majority shall prevail is a rule posterior to the formation of government, and results from it. It is not a rule upon mankind in their natural state. There, every man is independent of all laws, except those prescribed by nature. He is not bound by any institutions formed by his fellowmen without his consent”
[Cruden v. Neale, 2 N.C., 2 S.E. 70 (1796)]

This requirement for the consent to the protection afforded by government is the foundation of our system of government, according to the Declaration of Independence: consent of the governed. The U.S. Supreme Court admitted this when it said:

“The people of the United States resident within any State are subject to two governments: one State, and the other National; but there need be no conflict between the two. The powers which one possesses, the other does not. They are established for different purposes, and have separate jurisdictions. Together they make one whole, and furnish the people of the United States with a complete government, ample for the protection of all their rights at home and abroad. True, it may sometimes happen that a person is amenable to both jurisdictions for one and the same act. Thus, if a marshal of the United States is unlawfully resisted while executing the process of the courts within a State, and the resistance is accompanied by an assault on the officer, the sovereignty of the United States is violated by the resistance, and that of the State by the breach of peace, in the assault. So, too, if one passes counterfeited coin of the United States within a State, it may be an offence against the United States and the State: the United States, because it discredits the coin; and the State, because of the fraud upon him to whom it is passed. This does not, however, necessarily imply that the two governments possess powers in common, or bring them into conflict with each other. It is the natural consequence of a citizenship [92 U.S. 542, 551] which owes allegiance to two sovereignties, and claims protection from both. The citizen cannot complain, because he has voluntarily submitted himself

1 to such a form of government. He owes allegiance to the two departments, so to 2 speak, and within their respective spheres must pay the penalties which each exacts for disobedience to its laws.
3 In return, he can demand protection from each within its own jurisdiction.
4 [United States v. Cruikshank, 92 U.S. 542 (1875) [emphasis added]]

5 How, then, did you “voluntarily submit” yourself to such a form of government and thereby contract with that government
6 for “protection”? If people fully understood how they did this, many of them would probably immediately withdraw their
7 consent and completely drop out of the corrupted, inefficient, and usurious system of government we have, now wouldn’t
8 they? We have spent six long years researching this question, and our research shows that it wasn’t your citizenship as a
9 “national” but not statutory “citizen” pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21) that made you subject to their civil laws. Well then,
10 what was it?

11 It was your voluntary choice of domicile!

12 In fact, the following types of Americans DO have the right to complain if:

- 13 1. The government calls “citizen” status voluntary but positively refuses to recognize or protect your right to NOT be a 14 “citizen”. This:
 - 15 1.1. Violates the First Amendment and effectively compels you to contract with the government for civil protection.
 - 16 1.2. Makes the statement on their part that “citizen” status is voluntary a FRAUD.
- 17 2. The government PRESUMES that domicile and residence are equivalent, in order to:
 - 18 2.1. Usurp civil jurisdiction over you that they do not otherwise have.
 - 19 2.2. Evade the requirement to satisfy their burden of proving on the record that you were “purposefully” and 20 consensually availing yourself of commerce within their civil jurisdiction with people who wanted to be regarded 21 as protected “citizens” or “residents” in the context of YOUR interactions with them. They aren’t required to be 22 “citizens” or “residents” for ALL PURPOSES, but only for those that they want to be.
- 23 3. The government refuses to recognize your right to be a STATUTORY “citizen” for some purposes but a statutory 24 “non-resident non-person” for other purposes. Since you have a constitutional right to NOT contract and NOT
25 associate, then you ought to be able to choose in each specific case or service offered by government whether you want
26 that specific service, rather than being forced to be a “customer” of government for EVERYTHING if you sign up for 27 ANYTHING. That’s called an unconscionable or adhesion contract. The U.S. Supreme Court has also held that not 28 being able to do this is a violation of what they call the “Unconstitutional Conditions Doctrine”.
- 29 4. You were treated as a statutory “citizen” without your consent.
- 30 5. You were PRESUMED to be a statutory citizen absent your express written consent.
- 31 6. You are PRESUMED to have a civil domicile within the jurisdiction of a court you are appearing before. In the case 32 of federal courts, this presumption is usually false.
- 33 7. Your government opponent PRESUMES that STATUTORY citizens and CONSTITUTIONAL citizens are equivalent.
34 They are NOT.
- 35 8. The government PRESUMES that because you are born or naturalized in a place, that you are a STATUTORY 36 “citizen”. This presumption is FALSE. Those born or naturalized are CONSTITUTIONAL citizens but not 37 necessarily STATUTORY citizens subject to federal law.
- 38 9. The government does not provide a way on ALL of its forms to describe those who do NOT consent to statutory 39 citizen status or ANY civil status subject to government law.
- 40 10. The government interferes with or refuses to protect your right to change your status to remove yourself from their 41 civil jurisdiction.

42 The “citizen” the Supreme Administrative Court is talking about above is a statutory “citizen” and not a constitutional
43 “citizen”, and the only way you can become subject to statutory civil law is to have a domicile within the jurisdiction of the 44 sovereign. Below is a legal definition of “domicile”:

45 “domicile. A person’s legal home. That place where a man has his true, fixed, and permanent home and principal
46 establishment, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning. Smith v. Smith, 206
47 Pa.Super. 310, 213 A.2d. 94. Generally, physical presence within a state and the intention to make it one’s home
48 are the requisites of establishing a “domicile” therein. The permanent residence of a person or the place to which
49 he intends to return even though he may actually reside elsewhere. A person may have more than one residence
50 but only one domicile. The legal domicile of a person is important since it, rather than the actual residence,
51 often controls the jurisdiction of the taxing authorities and determines where a person may exercise the
52 privilege of voting and other legal rights and privileges.”
53 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 485]

1 "This right to protect persons having a domicile, though not native-born or naturalized citizens, rests on the firm
2 foundation of justice, and the claim to be protected is earned by considerations which the protecting power is not
3 at liberty to disregard. Such domiciled citizen pays the same price for his protection as native-born or naturalized
4 citizens pay for theirs. He is under the bonds of allegiance to the country of his residence, and, if he breaks
5 them, incurs the same penalties. He owes the same obedience to the civil laws. His property is, in the same
6 way and to the same extent as theirs, liable to contribute to the support of the Government. In nearly all respects,
7 his and their condition as to the duties and burdens of Government are undistinguishable."
8 Fong Yue Ting v. United States, [149 U.S. 698 (1893)]

9 Notice the phrase "civil laws" above and the term "claim to be protected". What they are describing is a contract to procure
10 the protection of the government, from which a "claim" arises. Those who are not party to the domicile/protection contract
11 have no such claim and are immune from the civil jurisdiction of the government. In other words, they have no "civil status"
12 under the laws of that protectorate:

13 "There are certain general principles which control the disposition of this case. They are, in the main, well
14 settled; the difficulty lies in their application to the particular facts of the case in hand. It is elementary that 15 "every state has an undoubted right to determine the status, or domestic and social condition, of the persons
16 domiciled within its territory, except in so far as the powers of the states in this respect are restrained, or duties
17 *and obligations imposed upon them by the constitution of the United States." *Strader v. Graham, 10 How. 93.
18 Again, the civil status is governed universally by one single principle, namely, that of domicile, which is the 19 criterion established by law for the purpose of determining the civil status; for it is on this basis that the 20 personal rights of a party, — that is to say, the law which determines his majority or minority, his marriage,
21 *succession, testacy, or intestacy, — must depend. *Udny v. Udny, L. R., 1 H.L.Sc. 457.
22 [Woodward v. Woodward, 11 S.W. 892, 87 Tenn. 644 (Tenn., 1889)]

23 Another implication of the above is that if the STATES have the right to determine civil status, then the people AS
24 INDIVIDUALS from which all their power was delegated have the right to determine their OWN civil status. This right
25 derives from the right to contract and associate and every sovereignty has it. See:

Your Exclusive Right to Declare or Establish Your Civil Status, Form #13.008
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

26 In fact, there are two categories and four unique ways to become subject to the civil STATUTORY jurisdiction of a specific 27 government. These ways are:

- 28 1. Domicile by choice: Choosing domicile within a specific jurisdiction.
- 29 2. Domicile by operation of law. Also called domicile of necessity:
 - 30 2.1. Representing an entity that has a domicile within a specific jurisdiction even though not domiciled oneself in said
31 jurisdiction. For instance, representing a federal corporation as a public officer of said corporation, even though
32 domiciled outside the federal zone. The authority for this type of jurisdiction is, for instance, Federal Rule of 33 Civil Procedure 17(b).
 - 34 2.2. Becoming a dependent of someone else, and thereby assuming the same domicile as that of your care giver. For 35 instance, being a minor and dependent and having the same civil domicile as your parents. Another example is 36 becoming a government dependent and assuming the domicile of the government paying you the welfare check.
 - 37 2.3. Being committed to a prison as a prisoner, and thereby assuming the domicile of the government owning or 38 funding the prison.

39 In addition to the above, one can ALSO become subject involuntarily to the COMMON LAW and not CIVIL STATUTORY 40 jurisdiction of a specific court by engaging in commerce on the territory protected by a specific government and thereby 41 waiving sovereign immunity under:

- 42 1. The Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act (F.S.I.A.), 28 U.S.C. §1605.
- 43 2. The Minimum Contacts Doctrine, U.S. Supreme Court, which implements the Fourteenth Amendment. See 44 International Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326 U.S. 310 (1945) .
- 45 3. The Longarm Statutes of the state jurisdiction where you are physically situated at the time. For a list of such state 46 statutes, see:
 - 47 3.1. SEDM Jurisdictions Database, Litigation Tool #09.003
48 <http://sedm.org/Litigation/LitIndex.htm>
 - 49 3.2. SEDM Jurisdictions Database Online, Litigation Tool #09.004
50 <http://sedm.org/Litigation/LitIndex.htm>

1 We allege that if the above rules are violated then the following consequences are inevitable:

- 2 1. A crime has been committed. That crime is identity theft against a nonresident party and it involves using a person's 3 legal identity as a "person" for the commercial benefit of someone else without their express consent. Identity theft is
4 a crime in every jurisdiction within the USA. The SEDM Jurisdictions Database, Litigation Tool #09.008 indicated
5 above lists identity theft statutes for every jurisdiction in the USA.
- 6 2. If the entity disregarding the above rules claims to be a "government" then it is acting instead as a private corporation
7 and must waive sovereign immunity and approach the other party to the dispute in EQUITY rather than law, and do so
8 in OTHER than a franchise court. Franchise courts include U.S. District Court, U.S. Circuit Court, Tax Court, Traffic
9 Court, and Family Court. Equity is impossible in a franchise court.

10 *See also Clearfield Trust Co. v. United States, 318 U.S. 363, 369 (1943) ("The United States does business on 11 business terms") (quoting United States v. National Exchange Bank of Baltimore, 270 U.S. 527, 534 (1926));
12 Perry v. United States, supra at 352 (1935) ("When the United States, with constitutional authority, makes
13 contracts for franchises, it has rights and incurs responsibilities similar to those of individuals who are parties
14 to such instruments. There is no difference . . . except that the United States cannot be sued without its 15 consent") (citation omitted); United States v. Bostwick, 94 U.S. 53, 66 (1877) ("The United States, when they 16 contract with their citizens, are controlled by the same laws that govern the citizen in that behalf"); Cooke v.
17 United States, 91 U.S. 389, 398 (1875) (explaining that when the United States "comes down from its position
18 of sovereignty, and enters the domain of commerce, it submits itself to the same laws that govern individuals 19 there").*

20 See Jones, 1 Cl.Ct. at 85 ("Wherever the public and private acts of the government 21 seem to commingle, a citizen or corporate body must by supposition be 22 substituted in its place, and then the question be determined whether the 23 action will lie against the supposed defendant"); *O'Neill v. United States, 231 Ct.Cl.
24 823, 826 (1982) (sovereign acts doctrine applies where, "[w]here [the] contracts exclusively between private
25 parties, the party hurt by such governing action could not claim compensation from the other party for the 26 governing action"). The dissent ignores these statements (including the statement from Jones, from which case
27 Horowitz drew its reasoning literally verbatim), when it says, post at 931, that the sovereign acts cases do not
28 emphasize the need to treat the government-as-contractor the same as a private party.
29 [United States v. Winstar Corp., 518 U.S. 839 (1996)]*

30 Even those who have not chosen a domicile within a specific jurisdiction and therefore chosen NOT to become the following
31 in relation to ONLY that jurisdiction:

- 32 1. Among those "governed" by the civil laws.
- 33 2. Statutory "citizens" or "residents".
- 34 3. A "member" of the body politic if they are statutory "citizens". We call the "body politic" by the affectionate term 35 "the club".

36 . . . are called "exclusively private". Such parties have been acknowledged by the U.S. Supreme Court to be beyond the civil 37 control of the government. Notice they only recognize the right to "regulate" activity of STATUTORY "citizens" and NOT
38 "ALL PEOPLE" or "ALL HUMANS":

39 *When one becomes a member of society, he necessarily parts with some rights or privileges which, as an
40 individual not affected by his relations to others, he might retain. "A body politic," as aptly defined in the
41 preamble of the Constitution of Massachusetts, "is a social compact by which the whole people covenants with
42 each citizen, and each citizen with the whole people, that all shall be governed by certain laws for the common
43 good." This does not confer power upon the whole people to control rights which are purely and exclusively
44 private, Thorpe v. R. & B. Railroad Co., 27 Vt. 143; but it does authorize the establishment of laws requiring
45 each citizen to so conduct himself, and so use his own property, as not unnecessarily to injure another. This is
46 the very essence of government, and 125*125 has found expression in the maxim sic utere tuo ut alienum non
47 laedas. From this source come the police powers, which, as was said by Mr. Chief Justice Taney in the License
48 Cases, 5 How. 583, "are nothing more or less than the powers of government inherent in every sovereignty, . . .
49 that is to say, . . . the power to govern men and things." Under these powers the government regulates the
50 conduct of its citizens one towards another, and the manner in which each shall use his own property, when such
51 regulation becomes necessary for the public good. In their exercise it has been customary in England from time
52 immemorial, and in this country from its first colonization, to regulate ferries, common carriers, hackmen, bakers,
53 millers, wharfingers, innkeepers, &c., and in so doing to fix a maximum of charge to be made for services
54 rendered, accommodations furnished, and articles sold. To this day, statutes are to be found in many of the States
55 upon some or all these subjects; and we think it has never yet been successfully contended that such legislation
56 came within any of the constitutional prohibitions against interference with private property. With the Fifth*

1 Amendment in force, Congress, in 1820, conferred power upon the city of Washington "to regulate . . . the rates
2 of wharfage at private wharves, . . . the sweeping of chimneys, and to fix the rates of fees therefor, . . . and the
3 weight and quality of bread," 3 Stat. 587, sect. 7; and, in 1848, "to make all necessary regulations respecting
4 hackney carriages and the rates of fare of the same, and the rates of hauling by cartmen, wagoners, carmen, and
5 draymen, and the rates of commission of auctioneers," 9 id. 224, sect. 2.

8 Below is an explanation by a federal court of how a "nonresident" from a foreign country who is "exclusively private" invokes
9 the protections of the Constitution but NOT the civil statutory laws. This is the approach that state nationals or state citizens
10 not domiciled on federal territory and not subject to federal law would procure protection against the extaterritorial (outside 11 of federal territory, not outside the COUNTRY) enforcement by the national government outside their geographical 12 limitations:

13 The Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment limits the power of a state court to exert personal
14 jurisdiction over a nonresident defendant. "[T]he constitutional touchstone" of the determination whether an 15 exercise of personal jurisdiction comports with due process "remains whether the defendant purposefully
16 *established 'minimum contacts' in the 109*109 forum State." Burger King Corp. v. Rudzewicz, 471 U.S. 462, 474*
17 (1985), quoting International Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326 U.S., at 316. Most recently we have reaffirmed the
18 oft-quoted reasoning of Hanson v. Denckla, 357 U.S. 235, 253 \(1958\), that minimum contacts must have a 19 basis in "some act by which the defendant purposefully avails itself of the privilege of conducting activities
20 within the forum State, thus invoking the benefits and protections of its laws." Burger King, 471 U.S., at 475.
21 "Jurisdiction is proper . . . where the contacts proximately result from actions by the defendant himself that 22 create a 'substantial connection' with the forum State." Ibid., quoting McGee v. International Life Insurance
23 Co., 355 U.S. 220, 223 (1957)(emphasis in original).
24 [Asahi Metal Industry Co. v. Superior Court of Cal., Solana City, 480 U.S. 102 \(1987\)]

25 If you DO NOT want a "substantial connection within the forum state" and wish to avoid the civil statutory protection 26 of that state but not the constitutional protections, then all you have to do is:

- 27 1. Identify yourself as a "nonresident".
- 28 2. State that you waive the "benefits, privileges, and protections of the civil statutory laws".
- 29 3. Ensure that all the people you do business with sign a contract waiving the civil statutory protections and agree ONLY 30 to invoke the Constitution and/or the common law.

31 Beyond that point, the state, as indicated above, will not be able to assert "personal jurisdiction" for anything OTHER than 32 offenses against the Constitution or the Common law and will have to dismiss the case for lack of personal jurisdiction if a
33 civil statute is invoked in the complaint. The above provisions function somewhat like a "binding arbitration" or a "private 34 membership Association", both of which are perfectly legal. Even churches can use the above tactics within their church to 35 literally contract the government's civil statutes, taxes, and regulation out of their relationship. See Serbian E. Orthodox
36 Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696, 708–09, 724–25, 96 S.Ct. 2372, 49 L.Ed.2d. 151 \(1976\).

37 The reason the government MUST respect your right to waive the civil statutory protections is not only because of the First
38 Amendment right to politically and legally DISASSOCIATE, and your constitutional right NOT to contract, but also because 39 it is a maxim of the common law that you have a right to NOT receive or pay for a "benefit" and that right is founded upon
40 ownership of yourself and the right to exclude any and all others from using or benefitting from your PRIVATE property. If
41 it REALLY is YOUR property that is absolutely owned, then you and only you get to determine HOW and BY WHAT
42 "laws" it is protected and to exercise your "right to exclude" that is the foundation of ownership itself to EXCLUDE the law
43 systems that injure you or your property.

13.7 The Social Contract/Compact

13.7.1 Introduction

The end of the previous section referred to what the U.S. Supreme Court called "the social compact". What most judges won’t tell you about the above requirement for establishing jurisdiction is that the “social compact” is one means of satisfying the need for a “contract” in order to establish civil jurisdiction over you. In law, the words “compact” and “contract” are equivalent:

“Compact, n. An agreement or contract between persons, nations, or states. Commonly applied to working agreements between and among states concerning matters of mutual concern. A contract between parties, which creates obligations and rights capable of being enforced and contemplated as such between the parties, in their distinct and independent characters. A mutual consent of parties concerned respecting some property or right that is the object of the stipulation, or something that is to be done or forborne. See also Compact clause; Confederacy; Interstate compact; Treaty.”
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 281]

All civil societies are based on “compact” and therefore “contract”. Here is how the U.S. Supreme Court describes this compact and therefore contract.

“Yet, it is to be remembered, and that whether in its real origin, or in its artificial state, allegiance, as well as fealty, rests upon lands, and it is due to persons. Not so, with respect to Citizenship, which has arisen from the dissolution of the feudal system and is a substitute for allegiance, corresponding with the new order of things. Allegiance and citizenship, differ, indeed, in almost every characteristic. Citizenship is the effect of compact [CONTRACT!]; allegiance is the offspring of power and necessity. Citizenship is a political tie; allegiance is a territorial tenure. Citizenship is the charter of equality; allegiance is a badge of inferiority. Citizenship is constitutional; allegiance is personal. Citizenship is freedom; allegiance is servitude. Citizenship is communicable; allegiance is repulsive. Citizenship may be relinquished; allegiance is perpetual. With such essential differences, the doctrine of allegiance is inapplicable to a system of citizenship, which it can neither serve to controul, nor to elucidate. And yet, even among the nations, in which the law of allegiance is the most firmly established, the law most pertinaciously enforced, there are striking deviations that demonstrate the invincible power of truth, and the homage, which, under every modification of government, must be paid to the inherent rights of manThe doctrine is, that allegiance cannot be due to two sovereigns; and taking an oath of allegiance to a new, is the strongest evidence of withdrawing allegiance from a previous, sovereign....”
[Talbot v. Janson, 3 U.S. 133 (1795); From the syllabus but not the opinion; SOURCE:

Note the sentence: “Citizenship is the effect of compact [CONTRACT!]”. By calling yourself a STATUTORY “citizen” or “person”, you:

1. Identify yourself as a consenting party to the social compact/contract.
2. Abandon any claim for damage resulting from the ENFORCEMENT of the social compact/contract.

*“Voluntati non fit injuria.
He who consents cannot receive an injury. 2 Bouv. Inst. n. 2279, 2327; 4 T. R. 657; Shelf. on mar. & Div. 449.*

1 Consensus tollit errorem.
2 Consent removes or obviates a mistake. Co. Litt. 126.

3 Melius est omnia mala pati quam malo consentire.
4 It is better to suffer every wrong or ill, than to consent to it. 3 Co. Inst. 23.

5 Nemo videtur fraudare eos qui sciunt, et consentiunt.
6 One cannot complain of having been deceived when he knew the fact and gave his consent. Dig. 50, 17, 145."
7 [Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856);
8 SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviereMaxims.htm>]

- 9 3. Consent to be "civilly governed" by the sovereignty executing and enforcing that social contract. Those who consent
10 to the compact/contract/franchise are called a statutory "citizen" or "resident", who collectively are called "persons" or
11 "inhabitants".
12 4. Convey the "force of law" to the civil statutes IN YOUR SPECIFIC CASE. It is private law for everyone else who
13 didn't consent but PUBLIC law for you:

14 "Consensus facit legem. Consent makes the law. A contract is a law between the parties, which can acquire force 15 only by consent."
16 [Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856) Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856);
17 SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviereMaxims.htm>]

- 18 5. Make yourself "subject" to the civil statutes that implement the civil protection contract or compact or franchise.

19 "Protectio trahit subjectionem, subjectio projectionem. Protection draws to it subjection, subjection, protection.
20 Co. Litt. 65."

22 SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviereMaxims.htm>]

- 23 6. Consent to receive the "benefits" of the civil law protection franchise. Acceptance of the "benefit" of civil statutory 24 franchise protection is what can later be used to obligate you to obey the franchise.

25 "Cujus est commodum ejus debet esse incommodum. He who receives the benefit should also bear the 26 disadvantage."
27 [Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856);
28 SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviereMaxims.htm>]

- 29 7. Abandon the protections of the common law, because all those who accept a statutory "benefit" or privilege always do 30 so.

31 The words "privileges" and "immunities," like the greater part of the legal phraseology of this country, have been
32 carried over from the law of Great Britain, and recur constantly either as such or in equivalent expressions from 33 the time of Magna Charta. For all practical purposes they are synonymous in meaning, and originally signified
34 a peculiar right or private law conceded to particular persons or places whereby a certain individual or class of 35 individuals was exempted from the rigor of the common law. Privilege or immunity is conferred upon any person
36 when he is invested with a legal claim to the exercise of special or peculiar rights, authorizing him to enjoy some
37 particular advantage or exemption.⁸⁵

39 SOURCE: http://famguardian.org/Publications/ThePrivAndImmOfStateCit/The_privileges_and_immunities_of_state_c.pdf]

40 Even the author of the Law Of Nations, which is the document upon which the USA Constitution was based by the founding
41 fathers, acknowledged that all civilizations are based upon compact and contract, called this contract the "social compact",
42 and said that when the government fails to be accountable for the protection sought, those being protected have a right to 43 leave said society. Notice that the author, Vattel, refers to the parties to the social compact as "contracting parties".

1 There are cases in which a citizen has an absolute right to renounce his country, and abandon it entirely — a
2 right founded on reasons derived from the very nature of the social compact.

3 1. If the citizen cannot procure subsistence in his own country, it is undoubtedly lawful for him to seek it elsewhere.
4 For, political or civil society being entered into only with a view of facilitating to each of its members the means
5 of supporting himself, and of living in happiness and safety, it would be absurd to pretend that a member, whom
6 it cannot furnish with such things as are most necessary, has not a right to leave it.

7 2. If the body of the society, or he who represents it, absolutely fail to discharge their obligations [of protection]
8 towards a citizen, the latter may withdraw himself. For, if one of the contracting parties does not observe his
9 engagements, the other is no longer bound to fulfil his; as the contract is reciprocal between the society and its
10 members. It is on the same principle, also, that the society may expel a member who violates its laws.

11 3. If the major part of the nation, or the sovereign who represents it, attempt to enact laws relative to matters
12 in which the social compact cannot oblige every citizen to submission, those who are averse to these laws have
13 a right to quit the society, and go settle elsewhere. For instance, if the sovereign, or the greater part of the nation,
14 will allow but one religion in the state, those who believe and profess another religion have a right to withdraw,
15 and take with them their families and effects. For, they cannot be supposed to have subjected themselves to the 16 authority of men, in affairs of conscience;³ and if the society suffers and is weakened by their departure, the blame
17 must be imputed to the intolerant party; for it is they who fail in their observance of the social compact — it
18 is they who violate it, and force the others to a separation. We have elsewhere touched upon some other instances
19 of this third case, — that of a popular state wishing to have a sovereign (§ 33), and that of an independent nation
20 taking the resolution to submit to a foreign power (§ 195).

23 13.7.2 Government violation of the Social Contract/Compact

24 Item #2 at the end of the previous section, in which a government fails to discharge its obligation of “protection”, includes 25 any one or more of the following:

- 26 1. Government refuses to protect you from GOVERNMENT abuses or violations of your rights.
27 2. Government refuses to recognize or protect EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE rights.
28 2.1. Confuses NATURAL “rights” with statutory franchise “privileges” by calling them BOTH “rights”.
29 2.2. Interferes with common law protections for private rights and compels ONLY statutory remedies. Hence, they 30 compel all those who are injured to become public officers in the government and surrender all their private rights
31 and private property, because statutory remedies only apply to public officers in the government and not private 32 humans. See:

Why Statutory Civil Law is Law for Government and Not Private Persons, Form #05.037

<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 33 2.3. Makes a business or profitable franchise out of alienating PRIVATE rights that are supposed to be inalienable
34 according to the Declaration of Independence. This is most often done through either offering or enforcing public
35 franchises anywhere, and especially within states of the Union. Franchises, by definition, convert PRIVATE 36 rights into PUBLIC rights, usually WITHOUT the consent of the owner. This causes government to do the 37 OPPOSITE for which it was established, which is the protection of ONLY PRIVATE rights.
38 2.4. Makes a crime out of exercising PRIVATE or CONSTITUTIONAL rights. For instance, they make it a crime to 39 operate a conveyance WITHOUT PERMISSION from the government in the form of a license. The license in 40 turn is then used to ILLEGALLY make you into a public officer called a “driver” without your consent and often 41 without your knowledge.
42 3. Government enforces unequal authority or rights to itself that they refuse to recognize that you also have.
43 3.1. Absolute equality is the foundation of ALL of your freedom, as held by the U.S. Supreme Court. Gulf, C. &
44 S.F.R. Co. v. Ellis, 165 U.S. 150 (1897).
45 3.2. Inequality under the law violates the constitutional requirement for equal protection and equal treatment.
46 3.3. Inequality causes government to become a civil religion in which you are the worshipper, and they are the god
47 with superior or supernatural powers.
48 3.4. The main method of introducing inequality is offering or enforcing franchises within a constitutional state, which 49 is prohibited by the U.S. Supreme Court. License Tax Cases, 72 U.S. 462, 18 L.Ed. 497, 5 Wall. 462, 2 A.F.T.R.
50 2224 (1866).

- 1 3.5. They will undermine equality by refusing to enforce your equal right to sovereign immunity or their burden of 2 proving that you consensually waived it. In a government of delegated powers, they can have no more rights than 3 you have and if they violate this concept, they are creating a religion in which taxes are tithes.
- 4 4. Government lies with impunity about anything, and especially about what the law requires or about their 5 responsibilities under the law.
- 6 5. Government refuses to be responsible for the injuries they cause you or abuse sovereign immunity to protect 7 themselves from culpability for said injuries.
- 8 6. Government refuses to allow you to stop subsidizing it or stop being a “customer” of its protection called a “citizen” or 9 “resident”, and hence indirectly interferes with the ONLY method of peacefully procuring relief from their usurpations.
 10 This leaves no option OTHER than violence, and hence anarchy. Hence, they promote violence and anarchy with such 11 policies.

12 "If money is wanted by Rulers who have in any manner oppressed the People, [the People] may retain [their
 13 money] until their grievances are redressed, and thus peaceably procure relief, without trusting to despised 14 petitions or disturbing the public tranquility."
 15 [Journals of the Continental Congress, Wednesday, October 26, 1774]

- 16 7. Government refuses to allow you to abandon any and all civil statuses or franchises to which public rights attach. This 17 includes:
- 18 7.1. Hides statuses on government forms that would allow you to NOT be a customer for the specific service they are 19 offering.
- 20 7.2. Hides forms or not offering forms to quit.
- 21 7.3. Says you can't quit.
- 22 7.4. Presumes that any or all people have the civil status that allows them to regulate and control you, and that you can 23 acquire said status WITHOUT your express consent in some form.
- 24 7.5. Calles participation “voluntary” and yet hypocritically refuses to protect your right to NOT volunteer.
- 25 8. Government kidnaps your civil legal identity and transports it to a legislatively foreign jurisdiction by enforcing 26 legislatively foreign law upon you. They do this by:
- 27 8.1. Quotes or enforces foreign law not from your domicile against you.
- 28 8.2. Violates Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b).
- 29 8.3. Uses irrelevant law or case law from a foreign jurisdiction as the equivalent of “political propaganda” designed to 30 mislead people into obedience to it.
- 31 8.4. Violates or misrepresents choice of law rules.
- 32 9. Government PRESUMES that any or all of the above are a “benefit” and then forces you to pay for it in the form of 33 “taxes”, even though YOU identify it as an INJURY and NOT a “benefit”. All such “presumptions” are a violation of 34 due process of law.

35 "Cujus est commodum ejus debet esse incommodum.
 36 He who receives the benefit should also bear the disadvantage."

37 "Que sentit commodum, sentire debet et onus.
 38 He who derives a benefit from a thing, ought to feel the disadvantages attending it. 2 Bouv. Inst. n. 1433."

42 The terms of the “social compact” at the heart of every civilized society are exhaustively described in the following classic
 43 book by Rousseau written just before the U.S. Constitution was written:

The Social Contract or Principles of Political Right, Jean Jacques Rousseau, 1762
 HTML: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/TheSocialContract-Rousseau/Rousseau%20Social%20Contract.htm>
 PDF: http://famguardian.org/Publications/TheSocialContract-Rousseau/The_social_contract.pdf

44 13.7.3 Rousseau's description of the Social Contract/Compact

45 Rousseau is also widely regarded as the father of socialism. In chapter 8 of the above book he even describes all governments
 46 as what he calls a “civil religion”. Here is the way Rousseau describes the “social compact” that forms the foundation of all
 47 societies:

48 There is but one law which, from its nature, needs unanimous consent. This is the social compact; for civil
 49 association is the most voluntary of all acts. Every man being born free and his own master, no one, under any

1 pretext whatsoever, can make any man subject without his consent. To decide that the son of a slave is born a
2 slave is to decide that he is not born a man.

3 If then there are opponents when the social compact is made, their opposition does not invalidate the contract,
4 but merely prevents them from being included in it. They are foreigners among citizens. When the State is
5 instituted, residence constitutes consent; to dwell within its territory is to submit to the Sovereign.⁸⁶

6 Apart from this primitive contract, the vote of the majority always binds all the rest. This follows from the
7 contract itself. But it is asked how a man can be both free and forced to conform to wills that are not his own.
8 How are the opponents at once free and subject to laws they have not agreed to?

9 I retort that the question is wrongly put. The citizen gives his consent to all the laws, including those which are
10 passed in spite of his opposition, and even those which punish him when he dares to break any of them. The
11 constant will of all the members of the State is the general will; by virtue of it they are citizens and free⁸⁷. When
12 in the popular assembly a law is proposed, what the people is asked is not exactly whether it approves or rejects
13 the proposal, but whether it is in conformity with the general will, which is their will. Each man, in giving his
14 vote, states his opinion on that point; and the general will is found by counting votes. When therefore the opinion
15 that is contrary to my own prevails, this proves neither more nor less than that I was mistaken, and that what I
16 thought to be the general will was not so. If my particular opinion had carried the day I should have achieved the
17 opposite of what was my will; and it is in that case that I should not have been free.

18 This presupposes, indeed, that all the qualities of the general will still reside in the majority: when they cease
19 to do so, whatever side a man may take, liberty is no longer possible.

20 In my earlier demonstration of how particular wills are substituted for the general will in public deliberation, I
21 have adequately pointed out the practicable methods of avoiding this abuse; and I shall have more to say of them
22 later on. I have also given the principles for determining the proportional number of votes for declaring that will.
23 A difference of one vote destroys equality; a single opponent destroys unanimity; but between equality and
24 unanimity, there are several grades of unequal division, at each of which this proportion may be fixed in
25 accordance with the condition and the needs of the body politic.

26 There are two general rules that may serve to regulate this relation. First, the more grave and important the
27 questions discussed, the nearer should the opinion that is to prevail approach unanimity. Secondly, the more the
28 matter in hand calls for speed, the smaller the prescribed difference in the numbers of votes may be allowed to
29 become: where an instant decision has to be reached, a majority of one vote should be enough. The first of these
30 two rules seems more in harmony with the laws, and the second with practical affairs. In any case, it is the 31 combination of them that gives the best proportions for determining the majority necessary.
32 [The Social Contract or Principles of Political Right, Jean Jacques Rousseau, 1762, Book IV, Chapter 2]

33 Note how Rousseau describes those who are not party to the social contract as “foreigners”:

34 “If then there are opponents when the social compact is made, their opposition does not invalidate the contract,
35 but merely prevents them from being included in it. They are foreigners among citizens. When the State is
36 instituted, residence constitutes consent; to dwell within its territory is to submit to the Sovereign.”

37 We also clarify the following about Rousseau’s comments above:

- 38 1. Those who are parties to the social compact are called “citizens” if they were born in the country and “residents” if 39 they were born in a foreign country, who together are called “inhabitants” or “domiciliaries”.
- 40 2. The “foreigner” he is talking about is either a statutory “alien” (foreign national), a “nonresident”, or a “non-resident 41 non-person” in the case of a state domiciled state national.
- 42 3. When Rousseau says “Apart from this primitive contract, the vote of the majority always binds all the rest.”, 43 what he means by “the rest” is “the rest of the inhabitants, citizens, or residents”, but NOT “nonresidents” or “transient
44 foreigners”. This is implied by his other statement: “If then there are opponents when the social compact is made,

⁸⁶ This should of course be understood as applying to a free State; for elsewhere family, goods, lack of a refuge, necessity, or violence may detain a man in a country against his will; and then his dwelling there no longer by itself implies his consent to the contract or to its violation.

⁸⁷ At Genoa, the word Liberty may be read over the front of the prisons and on the chains of the galley-slaves. This application of the device is good and just. It is indeed only malefactors of all estates who prevent the citizen from being free. In the country in which all such men were in the galleys, the most perfect liberty would be enjoyed.

their opposition does not invalidate the contract, but merely prevents them from being included in it. They are foreigners among citizens.”

4. Rousseau says that: “When the State is instituted, residence constitutes consent; to dwell within its territory is to submit to the Sovereign.” Here are some key points about this statement:

- 4.1. What he means by “residence” is a political and voluntary act of association and consent, and NOT physical presence in a specific place.
- 4.2. Those who have made this choice of “residence” and thereby politically associated with and joined with a specific political “state” acquire the status under the social contract called “resident” or “citizen”. Those who have not associated are called “transient foreigners”, “strangers”, or “in transitu”.
- 4.3. The choice of “residence” is protected by the First Amendment right of association and freedom from compelled association. Those who are humans physically on land protected by the Constitution cannot lawfully be FORCED to acquire any civil status under the civil statutes of any government, INCLUDING “resident” or “residence”. Note that this prohibition does not affect artificial entities or fictions of law, such as businesses or especially corporations.
5. All rights under the social contract attach to the statuses under the contract called “citizen”, “resident”, “inhabitant”, or “domiciliary”. In that sense, the contract behaves as a franchise or what we call a “protection franchise”. You are not protected by the franchise unless you procure a civil status under the franchise called “citizen” or “resident”.
6. In a legal sense, to say that one is “in the state” or “dwelling in the state” really means that:
 - 6.1. A human being has consented to the social contract and thereby become a “government contractor”.
 - 6.2. Consent creates the “res” or legal fiction called “person” within the civil statutory codes/franchises.
 - 6.3. The legal fiction of “person” created by your consent is an officer or public officer within the government corporation. The U.S. Supreme Court associates two civil statuses to all governments: 1. “Body corporate”; 2. Body politic.⁸⁸
 - 6.4. The legal fiction of “person” created by your consent is called the “straw man”.⁸⁹
 - 6.5. The legal fiction of “person” created by your consent is legally but not physically “within” that corporation because it represents the corporation.
 - 6.6. The effective domicile of the legal fiction of “person” is the place of incorporation of the state it represents under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17.

⁸⁸ “Both before and after the time when the Dictionary Act and § 1983 were passed, the phrase “bodies politic and corporate” was understood to include the [governments of the] States. See, e.g., J. Bouvier, 1 A Law Dictionary Adapted to the Constitution and Laws of the United States of America 185 (11th ed. 1866); W. Shumaker & G. Longsdorf, Cyclopedic Dictionary of Law 104 (1901); Chisholm v. Georgia, 2 U.S. (2 Dall.) 419, 447, 1 L.Ed. 440 (1793) (Iredell, J.); id., at 468 (Cushing, J.); Cotton v. United States, 52 U.S. (11 How.) 229, 231, 13 L.Ed. 675 (1851) (“Every sovereign State is of necessity a body politic, or artificial person”); Poindexter v. Greenhow, 114 U.S. 270, 288, 5 S.Ct. 903, 29 L.Ed. 185 (1885); McPherson v. Blacker, 146 U.S. 1, 24, 13 S.Ct. 3, 6, 36 L.Ed. 869 (1892); Heim v. McCall, 239 U.S. 175, 188, 36 S.Ct. 78, 82, 60 L.Ed. 206 (1915). See also United States v. Maurice, 2 Brock. 96, 109, 26 F.Cas. 1211 (CC Va.1823) (Marshall, C.J.) (“The United States is a government, and, consequently, a body politic and corporate”); Van Brocklin v. Tennessee, 117 U.S. 151, 154, 6 S.Ct. 670, 672, 29 L.Ed. 845 (1886) (same). Indeed, the very legislators who passed § 1 referred to States in these terms. See, e.g., Cong. Globe, 42d Cong., 1st Sess., 661-662 (1871) (Sen. Vickers) (“What is a State? Is *79 it not a body politic and corporate?”); id., at 696 (Sen. Edmunds) (“A State is a corporation”).

The reason why States are “bodies politic and corporate” is simple: just as a corporation is an entity that can act only through its agents, “[t]he State is a political corporate body, can act only through agents, and can command only by laws.” Poindexter v. Greenhow, supra, 114 U.S., at 288, 5 S.Ct. at 912-913. See also Black’s Law Dictionary 159 (5th ed. 1979) (“[B]ody politic or corporate”: “A social compact by which the whole people covenants with each citizen, and each citizen with the whole people, that all shall be governed by certain laws for the common good”). As a body politic and corporate,” a State falls squarely within the Dictionary Act’s definition of a “person.”

While it is certainly true that the phrase “bodies politic and corporate” referred to private and public corporations, see ante, at 2311, and n. 9, this fact does not draw into question the conclusion that this phrase also applied to the States. Phrases may, of course, have multiple referents. Indeed, each and every dictionary cited by the Court accords a broader realm—one 2317 that comfortably, and in most cases explicitly, includes the sovereign—to this phrase than the Court gives it today. See 1B. Abbott, Dictionary of Terms and Phrases Used in American or English Jurisprudence 155 (1879) (“[T]he term body politic is often used in a general way, as meaning the state or the sovereign power, or the city government, without implying any distinct express incorporation”); W. Anderson, A Dictionary of Law 127 (1893) (“[B]ody politic”: “The governmental, sovereign power: a city or a State”); Black’s Law Dictionary 143 (1891) (“[B]ody politic”: “It is often used, in a rather loose way, to designate the state or nation or sovereign power, or the government of a county or municipality, without distinctly connoting any express and individual corporate charter”); 1A. Burrill, A Law Dictionary and Glossary 212 (2d ed. 1871) (“[B]ody politic”: “A body to take in succession, framed by policy”; “[p]articularly*80 applied, in the old books, to a Corporation sole”); id., at 383 (“Corporation sole” includes the sovereign in England).

6.7. The government, as author of the statute conveying the privilege of the statutes, is the creator. It is therefore the OWNER of all those who exercise the privilege by virtue of invoking the statutes of “person” in pursuit of remedies under the franchise.⁹⁰

7. Your corrupt politicians have therefore written this social contract in such a way that consenting to it makes you a public officer within the government, even though such a corruption of the de jure system is clearly beyond its legislative intent. See:

De Facto Government Scam, Form #05.043
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

8. It is a violation of due process of law, theft, slavery, and even identity theft to:

- 8.1. PRESUME that by virtue of physically occupying a specific place, that a person has consented to take up “residence” there and thereby consented to the social contract and the civil laws that implement it.
- 8.2. Interfere with one’s choice of political association and consent to the social compact by refusing to accept any piece of paper that declares one a “nonresident”.
- 8.3. Impose the status of “citizen” or “resident” against those who do not consent to the social contract.
- 8.4. Enforce any provision of the social contract against a non-consenting party.
- 8.5. Connect the status of “citizen” or “resident” with a public office in the government or use that unlawfully created office as method to impose any duty upon said party. Why? Because the Thirteenth Amendment forbids “involuntary servitude”.

The above considerations are the ONLY reason why Abraham Lincoln could truthfully claim in his famous Gettysburg Address that the United States government is “a government of the people, by the people, and for the people”.

13.7.4 Breaches of the Social Compact subject to judicial remedy

If you are injured and take the party who injured you into a civil court, the judge, in fact, is really acting as a trustee of the social contract/compact in enforcing that contract between you and the other party. All governments in the USA, in fact, are “trustees”:

“Whatever these Constitutions and laws validly determine to be property, it is the duty of the Federal Government, through the domain of jurisdiction merely Federal, to recognize to be property.

“And this principle follows from the structure of the respective Governments, State and Federal, and their reciprocal relations. They are different agents and trustees of the people of the several States, appointed with different powers and with distinct purposes, but whose acts, within the scope of their respective jurisdictions, are mutually obligatory.”
[Dred Scott v. Sandford, 60 U.S. 393 (1856)]

Both parties to the lawsuit must be parties to the social contract and therefore “citizens” or “residents” within the jurisdiction you are civilly suing. If the defendant you are suing is NOT party to the social contract, they are called a “nonresident” who is therefore protected from being civilly sued by:

1. The “Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act”, codified at 28 U.S.C. Part IV, Chapter 97 starting at section 1602.
2. The “Minimum Contacts Doctrine” elucidated by the U.S. Supreme Court in International Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326 U.S. 310 (1945). This doctrine states that it is a violation of due process to bring a nonresident into a foreign court to be sued unless certain well defined standards are met. Here is how the federal courts describe this doctrine:

*In International Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326 U.S. 310 (1945), the Supreme Court held that a court may exercise personal jurisdiction over a defendant consistent with due process only if he or she has “certain minimum contacts” with the relevant forum “such that the maintenance of the suit does not offend ‘traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice.’” Id. at 316 (quoting Milliken v. Meyer, 311 U.S. 457, 463 (1940)). Unless a defendant’s contacts with a forum are so substantial, continuous, and systematic that the defendant can be deemed to be “present” in that forum for all purposes, a forum may exercise only “specific” jurisdiction - that is, jurisdiction based on the relationship between the defendant’s forum contacts and the plaintiff’s claim.

<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Remedies/PowerToCreate.htm>.

1 In this circuit, we analyze specific jurisdiction according to a three-prong test:

2 (1) The non-resident defendant must purposefully direct his activities or consummate
3 some transaction with the forum or resident thereof; or perform some act by which he
4 purposefully avails himself of the privilege of conducting activities in the forum, thereby
5 invoking the benefits and protections of its laws;

6 (2) the claim must be one which arises out of or relates to the defendant's forum-related 7 activities; and

8 (3) the exercise of jurisdiction must comport with fair play and substantial justice, i.e. it
9 must be reasonable.

10 Schwarzenegger v. Fred Martin Motor Co., 374 F.3d. 797, 802 (9th Cir. 2004) (quoting Lake v. Lake, 817 F.2d.
11 1416, 1421 (9th Cir. 1987)). The first prong is determinative in this case. We have sometimes referred to it, in 12 shorthand fashion, as the "purposeful availment" prong. Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d. at 802. Despite its label, this
13 prong includes both purposeful availment and purposeful direction. It may be satisfied by purposeful availment
14 of the privilege of doing business in the forum; by purposeful direction of activities at the forum; or by some
15 combination thereof.

16 [Yahoo! Inc. v. La Ligue Contre Le Racisme Et L'Antisemitisme, 433 F.3d. 1199 (9th Cir. 01/12/2006)]

17 Why does all this matter? Because what if you are a nonresident and the U.S. government wants to sue you for a tax liability?
18 They can't take a nonresident (in relation to federal territory) and a "nontaxpayer" into a Federal District Court and must 19 instead sue you in a state court under the above requirements. Even their own Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.) says so:

20 Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.)

21 9.13.1.5 (09-17-2002)

22 Witnesses In Foreign Countries

23 1. Nonresident aliens physically present in a foreign country cannot be compelled to appear as witnesses in a
24 United States District Court since they are beyond jurisdiction of United States officials. Since the Constitution
25 requires confrontation of adverse witnesses in criminal prosecutions, the testimony of such aliens may not be 26 admissible until the witness appears at trial. However, certain testimony for the admissibility of documents may 27 be obtained under 18 U.S.C. §3491 et seq. without a "personnel" appearance in the United States. Additionally,
28 28 U.S.C. §1783 et seq. provides limited powers to induce the appearance of United States citizens physically
29 present in a foreign country.

30 [SOURCE: <http://www.irs.gov/irm/part9/ch13s01.html>]

31 The other great thing about being a nonresident, is that the statute of limitations under civil law DO NOT apply to you and 32 do not limit your rights or the protection of those rights.

- 33 1. If you invoke the common law rather than statutory law, you have an unlimited amount of time to sue a federal actor
34 for a tort. All such statutes of limitations are franchises to which BOTH parties to the suit must be contractors under 35 the social contract/compact in order to enforce.
- 36 2. If only one party is a "citizen" or a "resident" protected by the social contract, and the other party is protected by the 37 Constitution but not the civil law implementing the social contract, then the Constitution trumps the civil law and 38 becomes self executing. Remedies which are "self-executing" need no statute as a basis to sue and cannot be
39 LIMITED by statute.

40 The design of the Fourteenth Amendment has proved significant also in maintaining the traditional separation of
41 *powers 524*524 between Congress and the Judiciary. The first eight Amendments to the Constitution set forth*
42 self-executing prohibitions on governmental action, and this Court has had primary authority to interpret those
43 prohibitions. The Bingham draft, some thought, departed from that tradition by vesting in Congress primary
44 power to interpret and elaborate on the meaning of the new Amendment through legislation. Under it, "Congress,
45 and not the courts, was to judge whether or not any of the privileges or immunities were not secured to citizens
46 *in the several States." Flack, supra, at 64. While this separation-of-powers aspect did not occasion the widespread*
47 resistance which was caused by the proposal's threat to the federal balance, it nonetheless attracted the attention
48 of various Members. See Cong. Globe, 39th Cong., 1st Sess., at 1064 (statement of Rep. Hale) (noting that Bill of 49 Rights, unlike the Bingham proposal, "providel[s] safeguards to be enforced by the courts, and not to be
50 *exercised by the Legislature"); id., at App. 133 (statement of Rep. Rogers) (prior to Bingham proposal it "was*
51 left entirely for the courts . . . to enforce the privileges and immunities of the citizens"). As enacted, the Fourteenth
52 Amendment confers substantive rights against the States which, like the provisions of the Bill of Rights, are self-
53 *executing. Cf. South Carolina v. Katzenbach, 383 U. S., at 325 (discussing Fifteenth Amendment). The power to*
54 interpret the Constitution in a case or controversy remains in the Judiciary.

Why do we say these things? Because what you think of as civil law, in most cases, is really only a private law franchise for government officers, agents, instrumentalities, and/or statutory “employees”, as exhaustively proven in the following document:

Why Statutory Civil Law is Law for Government and Not Private Persons, Form #05.037
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

Under the concepts in the above document, a “statute of limitations” is an example of an “privilege and immunity” afforded to ONLY government officers and statutory “employees” when the OTHER party they injure is also a government officer or employee in some capacity. If the injured party is not party to the social compact and franchise but is protected by the Constitution, then the statutes of limitations cannot be invoked under the franchise.

13.7.5 TWO social compacts in America

In the United States (the country), there are, in fact TWO “social contracts” or “social compacts”, and each protects a different subset of the overall population.

“It is clear that Congress, as a legislative body, exercise two species of legislative power: the one, limited as to its objects, but extending all over the Union: the other, an absolute, exclusive legislative power over the District of Columbia. The preliminary inquiry in the case now before the Court, is, by virtue of which of these authorities was the law in question passed?”
[Cohens v. Virginia, 19 U.S. 264, 6 Wheat. 265, 5 L.Ed. 257 (1821)]

You can only be a party to ONE of these two social contracts/compacts at a time, because you can only have a domicile in ONE jurisdiction at a time. These two jurisdictions that Congress legislates for are:

1. The states of the Union under the requirements of the Constitution of the United States. In this capacity, it is called the “federal/general government”.
2. The U.S. government, the District of Columbia, U.S. possessions and territories, and enclaves within the states. In this capacity, it is called the “national government”. The authority for this jurisdiction derives from Article 1, Section 8, Clause 17 of the United States Constitution. All laws passed essentially amount to municipal laws for federal property, and in that capacity, Congress is not restrained by either the Constitution or the Bill of Rights. We call the collection of all federal territories, possessions, and enclaves within the states “the federal zone” throughout this document.

The “separation of powers doctrine” is what created these two separate and distinct social compacts and jurisdictions. Each has its own courts, unique types of “citizens”, and laws. That doctrine is described in:

Government Conspiracy to Destroy the Separation of Powers, Form #05.023
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

The U.S. Supreme Court has identified the maintenance of separation between these two distinct jurisdictions as THE MOST IMPORTANT FUNCTION OF ANY COURT. Are the courts satisfying their most important function, or have they bowed to political expediency by abusing deception and words of art to entrap and enslave you in what amounts to a criminal conspiracy against your constitutional rights? Have the courts become what amounts to a modern day Judas, who sold the truth for the twenty pieces of silver they could STEAL from you through illegal tax enforcement by abusing word games?

“I take leave to say that, if the principles thus announced should ever receive the sanction of a majority of this court, a radical and mischievous change in our system of government will result. We will, in that event, pass from the era of constitutional liberty guarded and protected by a written constitution into an era of legislative absolutism..”

*“The idea prevails with some, indeed it has found expression in arguments at the bar, that we have in this country substantially two national governments; one to be maintained under the Constitution, with all of its restrictions; the other to be maintained by Congress outside the independently of that instrument, by exercising such powers [of absolutism] as other nations of the earth are accustomed to..

[. . .]

It will be an evil day for American liberty if the theory of a government outside the supreme law of the land finds lodgment in our constitutional jurisprudence. No higher duty rests upon this court than to exert its full authority to prevent all violation of the principles of the Constitution.
Downes v. Bidwell, [182 U.S. 244 (1901), Justice Harlan, Dissenting]

WHICH of the two social compacts are you party to? Your choice of domicile determines that. It CAN'T legally be both because you can only have a domicile in ONE place at a time. Furthermore, if you have been deceived by corrupt politicians and "words of art" into becoming a party to BOTH social compacts, you are serving TWO masters, which is forbidden by the Holy Bible:

"No one can serve two masters [two employers, for instance]; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will be loyal to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon [government]."
[Matt. 6:24, Bible, NKJV. Written by a tax collector]

13.7.6 The TWO social contracts/compacts CANNOT lawfully overlap and you can't be subject to BOTH at the same time

We might also add that franchises and the right to contract that they are based upon cannot lawfully be used to destroy the separation between these two distinct jurisdictions. Preserving that separation is, in fact, the heart and soul of the United States Constitution. That is why the U.S. Supreme Court held the following:

"Thus, Congress having power to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian tribes, may, without doubt, provide for granting coasting licenses, licenses to pilots, licenses to trade with the Indians, and any other licenses necessary or proper for the exercise of that great and extensive power; and the same observation is applicable to every other power of Congress, to the exercise of which the granting of licenses may be incident. All such licenses confer authority, and give rights to the licensee.

But very different considerations apply to the internal commerce or domestic trade of the States. Over this commerce and trade Congress has no power of regulation nor any direct control. This power belongs exclusively to the States. No interference by Congress with the business of citizens transacted within a State is warranted by the Constitution, except such as is strictly incidental to the exercise of powers clearly granted to the legislature. The power to authorize [e.g. LICENSE as part of a franchise] a business within a State is plainly repugnant to the exclusive power of the State over the same subject. It is true that the power of Congress to tax is a very extensive power. It is given in the Constitution, with only one exception and only two qualifications. Congress cannot tax exports, and it must impose direct taxes by the rule of apportionment, and indirect taxes by the rule of uniformity. Thus limited, and thus only, it reaches every subject, and may be exercised at discretion. But, it reaches only existing subjects. Congress cannot authorize [e.g. LICENSE] a trade or business within a State in order to tax it."

License Tax Cases, [72 U.S. 462, 18 L.Ed. 497, 5 Wall. 462, 2 A.F.T.R. 2224 (1866)]

Notice the language "Congress cannot authorize [e.g. LICENSE] a trade or business within a State in order to tax it." All licensed activities are, in fact, franchises and excise taxes are what implement them and pay for them. The income tax itself, in fact, is such a franchise. See the following for exhaustive proof:

[The "Trade or Business" Scam, Form #05.001
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm](http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm)

On the subject of whether Christians can be party to or consent to what the courts call "the social compact" and contract, God Himself says the following:

"You shall make no covenant [contract or franchise] with them [foreigners, pagans], nor with their [pagan government] gods [laws or judges]. They shall not dwell in your land [and you shall not dwell in theirs by becoming a "resident" or domiciliary in the process of contracting with them], lest they make you sin against Me [God]. For if you serve their [government] gods [under contract or agreement or franchise], it will surely be a snare to you."
[Exodus 23:32-33, Bible, NKJV]

Why did God warn Christians in this way? Because Rev. 19:19 identifies political rulers as "The Beast", and contracting with them MAKES you an officer of and one of them. And as their officer or public officer participating in their franchises, you can't avoid "serving them", and hence, violating the First Commandment NOT to serve other pagan gods, among which are included civil rulers or governments.

1 Now let's discuss how the courts treat the issue of the social compact to confirm what we have said in this section. The first
2 federal corporation established outside of federal territory was the original Bank of the United States commissioned by
3 Congress. That bank invaded the state of Ohio and began operating there. The state sought to penalize and tax it out of
4 existence and the bank refused to pay the state penalties and taxes. When the state seized assets of the bank for nonpayment
5 of taxes, the case went before the U.S. Supreme Court. The court held that the bank:

- 6 1. Was a federal but not state corporation and therefore NOT a constitutional "person" or "citizen" under the judiciary
7 clauses of the Constitution.
- 8 2. Was an office within the national government.
- 9 3. Was exempt from state taxes and penalties.

10 The case also held that the ONLY way that federal law can be enforced within a state of the Union was if EITHER a public
11 office was involved (which is federal government property), OR if the bank had a contract with the government (which is 12 ALSO federal government property).

13 "All the powers of the government [including ALL of its civil enforcement powers against the public] must be
14 *carried into operation by individual agency, either through the medium of public officers, or contracts made
15 with [private] individuals."
16 [Osborn v. Bank of U.S., 22 U.S. 738 (1824)]

17 The above holding brings up some crucial points about civil jurisdiction in courts of justice:

- 18 1. The government can only regulate and control its own agents. That control is exercised through the civil statutes it 19 enacts, in fact.
- 20 2. Federal corporations, such as the original Bank of the United States that was the subject of the above case, are creations 21 of, agents of, and instrumentalities of the national government.
- 22 3. Contracts with the government create agency BUT NOT NECESSARILY PUBLIC OFFICE on behalf of the 23 government.
- 24 4. Public offices are also evidence of agency on behalf of the government.
- 25 5. If you are not a public officer and have no contracts with the government, they can't civilly regulate or control you 26 because you are PRIVATE and they have no jurisdiction over EXCLUSIVELY private conduct.
- 27 6. If a government takes you into civil court seeking to enforce an obligation they claim you have to the government, then 28 they as the moving party MUST satisfy the burden of proving ONE or more of the following two things in order to 29 establish their jurisdiction:
 - 30 6.1. That you are lawfully occupying a public office OR...
 - 31 6.2. You have a contract with them and therefore are acting as their agent.

32 13.7.7 Challenging the enforcement of the Social Contract in a Court of law

33 The Social Contract is enforced, usually illegally, by judges and government prosecutors in court against unwitting and often
34 unwilling and non-consenting parties. By "Social Compact" in this section, we mean and intend the following. We DO NOT
35 mean the CRIMINAL code or criminal law:

- 36 1. Civil statutory "code".
- 37 2. Civil franchises.
- 38 3. Penal code.
- 39 4. Rules of court.

40 The boundary between what is lawful and unlawful in a civil context is determined solely by whether there is a flesh and 41 blood PHYSICAL injured party.

42 For the commandments, "You shall not commit adultery," "You shall not murder," "You shall not steal," "You
43 shall not bear false witness," "You shall not covet," and if there is any other commandment, are all summed up
44 in this saying, namely, "You shall love your neighbor as yourself."

45 Love does no harm to a neighbor; therefore love is the fulfillment of the law.
46 [Romans 13:9-10, Bible, NKJV]
47

1 "Do not strive with [or try to regulate or control or enslave] a man without cause, if he has done you no harm."
2 [Prov. 3:30, Bible, NKJV]

3 "With all [our] blessings, what more is necessary to make us a happy and a prosperous people? Still one thing
4 more, fellow citizens--a wise and frugal Government, which shall restrain men from injuring one another, shall
5 leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from
6 the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government, and this is necessary to close
7 the circle of our felicities."
8 [Thomas Jefferson: 1st Inaugural, 1801. ME 3:320]

9 "The makers of our Constitution undertook to secure conditions favorable to the pursuit of happiness. They
10 recognized the significance of man's spiritual nature, of his feelings and of his intellect. They knew that only a
11 part of the pain, pleasure and satisfactions of life are to be found in material things. They sought to protect
12 Americans in their beliefs, their thoughts, their emotions and their sensations. They conferred, as against the 13 Government, the right to be let alone - the most comprehensive of rights and the right most valued by civilized
14 men."
15 [Olmstead v. United States, 277 U.S. 438, 478 (1928) (Brandeis, J., dissenting); see also Washington v. Harper,
16 494 U.S. 210 (1990)]

17 If there is no injured party, then all of the above types of civil franchises have no "force of law" against a non-consenting
18 party and any legal proceeding to enforce them constitutes an INJUSTICE rather than JUSTICE.

19 PAULSEN, ETHICS (Thilly's translation), chap. 9.

20 "Justice, as a moral habit, is that tendency of the will and mode of conduct which refrains from disturbing the
21 lives and interests of others, and, as far as possible, hinders such interference on the part of others. This virtue
22 springs from the individual's respect for his fellows as ends in themselves and as his co equals. The different
23 spheres of interests may be roughly classified as follows: body and life; the family, or the extended individual
24 life; property, or the totality of the instruments of action; honor, or the ideal existence; and finally freedom, or
25 the possibility of fashioning one's life as an end in itself. The law defends these different spheres, thus giving rise
26 to a corresponding number of spheres of rights, each being protected by a prohibition. . . . To violate the rights,
27 to interfere with the interests of others, is injustice. All injustice is ultimately directed against the life of the
28 neighbor; it is an open avowal that the latter is not an end in itself, having the same value as the individual's own
29 life. The general formula of the duty of justice may therefore be stated as follows: Do no wrong yourself, and
30 permit no wrong to be done, so far as lies in your power; or, expressed positively: Respect and protect the right."
31 [Readings on the History and System of the Common Law, Second Edition, Roscoe Pound, 1925, p. 2]

32 Some questions you can ask to reveal the false presumptions protecting that enforcement and the illegality of that enforcement
33 of the above types of "rules" include the following:

34 "At this point it behooves us to consider the myth of the "social contract". Many apologists for the status quo
35 assert that we are all born as parties to a contract – and that, as a consequence, we are all subject to liabilities
36 defined by the state or [national] government. In other words, in return for the various benefits, real or imagined,
37 that we receive from the government, we owe the government a portion of whatever resources we derive from our 38 experience of life. We should note that the only people who promote this myth are those who want to spend our 39 money or to exercise power over us through the enforcement of edicts forbidding mala prohibita. They would 40 have us believe that they have a valid claim on the money that we receive in exchange for our creativity and 41 productivity."

42 Those enforcing the social contract or statutory franchise "benefits" are therefore demanded to answer the 43 following questions on the record to justify and validate the alleged "force of law" they claim to have been 44 exercising:

45 1. Isn't it a maxim of law that civil law exists for the "benefit" of man?

46 "Hominum caus jus constitutum est. Law is established for the benefit of man."
47 [Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856);
48 <https://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviereMaxims.htm>]

49 2. Isn't it true that I have a RIGHT to refuse any and every "benefit"?

50 "Invito beneficium non datur. No one is obliged to accept a benefit against his consent.
51 Dig. 50, 17, 69. But if he does not dissent he will be considered as assenting. Vide Assent.

1 "Potest quis renunciare pro se, et suis, juri quod pro se introductum est. A man may
2 relinquish, for himself and his heirs, a right which was introduced for his own benefit.
3 See 1 Bouv. Inst. n. 83."

4 "Quilibet potest renunciare juri pro se inducto. Any one may renounce a law introduced
5 for his own benefit. To this rule there are some exceptions. See 1 Bouv. Inst. n. 83."
6 [Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856);
7 <https://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviereMaxims.htm>]

8 3. Who gets to decide what a "benefit" is? You or the government? If the people are the "sovereigns" according 9 to the Supreme Court, then aren't they the "customer" who gets to decide if something "benefits" them instead of 10 the state?

11 4. If I am NOT the one who defines "benefit" in the context of this proceeding, don't we have unconstitutional
12 slavery disguised as government benevolence?

13 5. What if I define the alleged "consideration" or "benefit" provided by the government as an INJURY? Doesn't 14 that make it IMPOSSIBLE for me to "receive a "benefit" from the government and therefore owe a corresponding 15 "obligation"?

16 "Que sentit commodum, sentire debet et onus. He who derives a benefit from a thing,
17 ought to feel the disadvantages attending it. 2 Bouv. Inst. n. 1433."
18 [Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856);
19 <https://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviereMaxims.htm>]

20 6. Shouldn't any government seeking to enforce the provisions of the social compact and/or civil statutes that 21 implement it have the burden of proving to a disinterested third party the existence of a "benefit" AND consent to 22 receive it BEFORE they may commence the enforcement action? Aren't they presumed to be STEALING if they 23 DON'T satisfy this burden of proof?

24 "All rights and property are PRESUMED to be EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE and beyond the 25 control of government or the CIVIL statutory franchise codes unless and until the 26 government meets the burden of proving, WITH EVIDENCE, on the record of the 27 proceeding that:

28 1. A SPECIFIC formerly PRIVATE owner consented IN WRITING to convert said
29 property to PUBLIC property.

30 2. The owner was either abroad, domiciled on, or at least PRESENT on federal territory
31 NOT protected by the Constitution and therefore had the legal capacity to ALIENATE
32 a Constitutional right or relieve a public servant of the fiduciary obligation to respect
33 and protect the right. Those physically present but not necessarily domiciled in a 34 constitutional but not statutory state protected by the constitution cannot lawfully
35 alienate rights to a real, de jure government, even WITH their consent.

36 3. If the government refuses to meet the above burden of proof, it shall be
37 CONCLUSIVELY PRESUMED to be operating in a PRIVATE, corporate capacity
38 on an EQUAL footing with every other private corporation and which is therefore 39 NOT protected by official, judicial, or sovereign immunity."

40 [SEDM Disclaimer, Section 4: Meaning of Words; SOURCE:
41 <https://sedm.org/disclaimer.htm>]

42 7. Isn't it a violation of due process of law to PRESUME that I consented? Aren't all presumptions that prejudice
43 constitutional rights UNCONSTITUTIONAL and a violation of due process of law?

44 8. When and how did I sign or consent to this so-called contract and the civil statutory code that implements it?

45 9. Isn't all of my property ABSOLUTELY owned and EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE if I don't consent to ANYTHING
46 the government offers?

47 10. Does this social contract promise to give me something that I actually perceive or define as a "benefit"?

48 11. If so, am I free to acquire that which I want in other ways?

49 12. Does the government have a monopoly on "protection" and if so, doesn't this violate the Sherman Antitrust
50 Act?

1 13. Does this contract contain a valid exit clause? If so WHERE?

2 14. Does this contract specify the quid pro quo that tells me what I am to contribute and what I am to receive in 3 return?

4 15. Is there any legal limit at all to what I must pay to reimburse the cost of the benefit, and if there isn't, don't
5 we have an unconscionable adhesion contract? For instance, if I decide to limit the SCOPE of my consent to 6 obeying ONLY the civil codes regulating voting and jury service and choose to be a "nonresident" for all other
7 purposes, will the government respect my right to participate in ONLY these two franchises and LEAVE ME
8 ALONE and not make the target of the enforcement of any other civil statute?

9 16. Does the social contract specify what actions on the part of government constitute a breach of the contract
10 and the penalties that attach thereto? If not, there is no reciprocal obligation so it can't possibly be enforceable
11 against me as a contract as legally defined.

12 17. Does this contract affirm my absolute right to withdraw from the contract and NOT consent? In other words,
13 do all forms that implement the "benefit" recognize and provide administrative remedies to QUIT without being 14 a "participating", "person", "individual", etc?

15 18. If the contract does NOT recognize nonparticipants or the right to quit, isn't the requirement for equal
16 protection that is the foundation of all law violated?

17 19. Am I punished for trying to withdraw participation? If so, how can participation truthfully be called 18 "voluntary"?

19 13.8 “Domicile”= “allegiance” and “protection”

20 The U.S. Supreme Court describes the relationship of domicile to taxation as follows:

21 “Thus, the Court has frequently held that domicile or residence, more substantial than mere presence in transit
22 or sojourn, is an adequate basis for taxation, including income, property, and death taxes. Since the Fourteenth
23 Amendment makes one a citizen of the state wherein he resides, the fact of residence creates universally
24 reciprocal duties of protection by the state and of allegiance and support by the citizen. The latter obviously
25 includes a duty to pay taxes, and their nature and measure is largely a political matter. Of course, the situs of
26 property may tax it regardless of the citizenship, domicile, or residence of the owner, the most obvious illustration
27 being a tax on realty laid by the state in which the realty is located.”
28 [Miller Brothers Co. v. Maryland, 347 U.S. 340 (1954)]

29 The first thing to notice about the above ruling is that the essence of being a “citizen” is one’s domicile, not just their place
30 of birth or naturalization or the NATIONALITY these two things produce. “Domicile” establishes your LEGAL status within
31 a municipal government while “nationality” (being a “national”) establishes your POLITICAL status and association with a
32 specific nation under the law of nations.

33 “Nationality. That quality or character which arises from the fact of a person’s belonging to a nation or state.
34 Nationality determines the political status of the individual, especially with reference to allegiance; while 35 domicile determines his civil status. Nationality arises either by birth or by naturalization. See also 36 Naturalization.”
37 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1025]

38 The U.S. Supreme Court admitted that an alien with a domicile in a place is treated as a native or naturalized “citizen” in 39 nearly every respect. We call this type of “citizen” simply a “domiciled citizen” to distinguish it from anything resembling
40 nationality. Note that they use the phrase “This right to protect persons having a domicile”, meaning they DON’T have a
41 right to protect people who choose NOT to have a domicile and therefore are UNABLE to render protection because they 42 can ONLY “govern” people who consent to be governed by choosing a domicile within their protection.

43 “This right to protect persons having a domicile, though not native-born or naturalized citizens, rests on the
44 firm foundation of justice, and the claim to be protected is earned by considerations which the protecting power
45 is not at liberty to disregard. Such domiciled citizen pays the same price for his protection as native-born or 46 naturalized citizens pay for theirs. He is under the bonds of allegiance to the country of his residence, and, if 47 he breaks them, incurs the same penalties. He owes the same obedience to the civil laws. His property is, in 48 the same way and to the same extent as theirs, liable to contribute to the support of the Government. In nearly 49 all respects, his and their condition as to the duties and burdens of Government are undistinguishable.”
50 [Fong Yue Ting v. United States, 149 U.S. 698 (1893)]

51 Note also the key role of the word “intention” within the meaning of domicile. A person can have many “abodes”, which are 52 the place they temporarily “inhabit”, but only one legal “domicile”. You cannot have a legal “domicile” in a place without

1 also having an intention (also called “consent”) to live there “permanently”, which implies allegiance to the people and the 2 laws of that place.

3 “Allegiance and protection [by the government from harm] are, in this connection, reciprocal obligations. The
4 one is a compensation for the other; allegiance for protection and protection for allegiance.”
5 [Minor v. Happersett, 88 U.S. (21 Wall.) 162, 166-168 (1874)]

6 What the U.S. supreme Court essentially is describing above is a contract to procure the civil protection of a specific
7 government, and it is giving that contract a name called “domicile”. What makes the contract binding is the fact that each
8 party to the contract both gives and receives specific and measurable “consideration”. You manifest your consent to the 9 contract by voluntarily calling yourself a “subject”, “inhabitant”, “citizen”, or “resident”, all of which have in common a
10 domicile within the jurisdiction that those terms relate to. You give “allegiance” and the support (e.g. “taxes”) that go with 11 that allegiance, and in return, the government has an implied legal duty to protect and serve you. All contracts require both 12 mutual consent and mutual consideration. Without both demonstrated elements, the contract is unenforceable. The contract
13 is therefore only enforceable if both parties incur reciprocal duties that are enforceable in court as “rights”. Below is how the 14 U.S. Supreme Court again describes this “protection contract”:

15 The reason why States are “bodies politic and corporate” is simple: just as a corporation is an entity that can
16 act only through its agents, “[t]he State is a political corporate body, can act only through agents, and can
17 command only by laws.” Pointexter v. Greenhow, supra, 114 U.S., at 288, 5 S.Ct. at 912-913. See also Black’s
18 Law Dictionary 159 (5th ed. 1979) (“Body politic or corporate”: “A social compact by which the whole people
19 covenants with each citizen, and each citizen with the whole people, that all shall be governed by certain laws
20 for the common good”). As a “body politic and corporate,” a State falls squarely within the Dictionary Act’s
21 definition of a “person.”
22 [Will v. Michigan Dept. of State Police, 491 U.S. 58, 109 S.Ct. 2304 (U.S.Mich.,1989)]

23 The interesting thing about allegiance is that in every circumstance where you try to document it on a government form, the 24 covetous government tries to create the false impression that it must be PERMANENT, so that you can’t choose WHEN and
25 under what circumstances you have it or under what circumstances you want protection and have to pay for protection. In 26 other words, you aren’t allowed to request protection for specific circumstances and you have to give them essentially a blank
27 check and make the relationship permanent. Here are some examples:

- 28 1. Most government forms ask for your “Permanent address”, meaning the place where your allegiance is permanent and 29 not temporary.
- 30 2. The term “national of the United States” is defined in 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22) as someone who owes “permanent 31 allegiance” to the “United States” government. These people include both statutory citizens (8 U.S.C.
32 §1101(a)(22)(A)) and those in outlying possessions (8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(22)(B)).

33 8 U.S.C. §1101 Definitions [for the purposes of citizenship]

34 (a) As used in this chapter—

35 (22) The term “national of the United States” means

36 (A) a citizen of the United States, or

37 (B) a person who, though not a citizen of the United States, owes permanent allegiance to the United States.

- 38 3. 8 U.S.C. §1436 requires that the only way a resident of an outlying possession may be naturalized to become a 39 STATUTORY “non-citizen national of the United States” is to have “permanent allegiance”.

40 We must remember, however, that for the purposes of Title 8, even the word “permanent” is not really permanent and can be 41 withdrawn by you on a whim.

42 8 U.S.C. §1101 Definitions [for the purposes of citizenship]

43 (a) As used in this chapter—

44 (31) The term “permanent” means a relationship of continuing or lasting nature, as distinguished from temporary,
45 but a relationship may be permanent even though it is one that may be dissolved eventually at the instance either
46 of the United States[] or of the individual, in accordance with law.

1 When might you want to withdraw your allegiance and the CIVIL statutory protection that goes with it? How about if you
2 are going abroad and DO NOT want Uncle Sam's protection or the bill (taxes) that go with that protection. Some people,
3 including us, even fill out their DS-11 Passport Application to indicate that they waive any and all claim to protection of the 4 national government while they are abroad and thereby temporarily WITHDRAW their allegiance while abroad. Why would
5 they do this? Because they don't want to be "privileged" or in receipt of any government "benefit" that could lead essentially
6 to them having to hand Uncle a blank check to steal ANYTHING they have. What gives them the right to demand "taxes"
7 of a STATUTORY "citizen" while they are abroad? The answer is that such "citizen" is an officer of the government
8 managing government property. THAT property is ALL of his/her property! Here is the proof:

9 The Law of Nations, Book II: Of a Nation Considered in Her Relation to Other States
10 § 81. The property of the citizens is the property of the nation, with respect to foreign nations.

11 Even the property of the individuals is, in the aggregate, to be considered as the property of the nation, with
12 respect to other states. It, in some sort, really belongs to her, from the right she has over the property of her
13 citizens, because it constitutes a part of the sum total of her riches, and augments her power. She is interested in
14 that property by her obligation to protect all her members. In short, it cannot be otherwise, since nations act and
15 treat together as bodies in their quality of political societies, and are considered as so many moral persons. All
16 those who form a society, a nation being considered by foreign nations as constituting only one whole, one single
17 person, — all their wealth together can only be considered as the wealth of that same person. And this is to true,
18 that each political society may, if it pleases, establish within itself a community of goods, as Campanella did in
19 his republic of the sun. Others will not inquire what it does in this respect: its domestic regulations make no
20 change in its rights with respect to foreigners nor in the manner in which they ought to consider the aggregate of
21 its property, in what way soever it is possessed.

22 [The Law of Nations, Vattel, Book II, Section 81;
23 SOURCE: http://famguardian.org/Publications/LawOfNations/vattel_02.htm#§.81.The.property.of.the.citizens
24 is the property of the nation, with respect to foreign nations.]

25 The above document is the document upon which the Founding Fathers wrote the Constitution. It is even mentioned in 26 Article I of the Constitution. The implications of the above document are that calling yourself a "citizen" makes you a
27 presumed officer of the government holding temporary title to government property, which is ALL of your property while 28 you are abroad and being protected by the nation you are a "member" or STATUTORY "citizen" of. The implication is that:

- 29 1. If you want to own property at all while abroad and have it protected by the national government, you must consent to 30 become an officer of the government called a "citizen" and effectively convert or transmute all your property to 31 PUBLIC property. The U.S. Supreme Court, in fact, has defined such a "citizen" as an officer of the government:

32 "Under our own systems of polity, the term 'citizen', implying the same or similar relations to the government and
33 to society which appertain to the term, 'subject' in England, is familiar to all. Under either system, the term used
34 is designed to apply to man in his individual character and to his natural capacities -- to a being or agent [of
35 government, also called a PUBLIC OFFICER!] possessing social and political rights and sustaining social,
36 political, and moral obligations. It is in this acceptation only, therefore, that the term 'citizen', in the article of 37 the Constitution, can be received and understood. When distributing the judicial power, that article extends it
38 to controversies between 'citizens' of different states. This must mean the natural physical beings composing 39 those separate communities, and can by no violence of interpretation be made to signify artificial, incorporeal,
40 theoretical, and invisible creations. A corporation, therefore, being not a natural person, but a mere creature
41 of the mind, invisible and intangible, cannot be a citizen of a state, or of the United States, and cannot fall
42 within the terms or the power of the above mentioned article, and can therefore neither plead nor be impleaded
43 in the courts of the United States."

44 [Rundle v. Delaware & Raritan Canal Company, 55 U.S. 80, 99 (1852) from dissenting opinion by Justice Daniel]

- 45 2. You must share ownership with the government if you want to be a STATUTORY "citizen" and receive the 46 "benefit"/franchise of the government's CIVIL STATUTORY protection WHILE ABROAD.
47 3. You aren't allowed by law to ABSOLUTELY own ANY private property while abroad. The essence of ownership is 48 "the right to exclude", according to the U.S. Supreme Court. See Nollan v. California Coastal Comm'n, 483 U.S. 825
49 (1987) and Kaiser Aetna v. United States, 444 U.S. 164 (1979).⁹¹ That means you aren't allowed to exclude the

⁹¹ "We have repeatedly held that, as to property reserved by its owner for private use, "the right to exclude [others is] `one of the most essential sticks in the bundle of rights that are commonly characterized as property.'" Loretto v. Teleprompter Manhattan CATV Corp., 458 U.S. 419, 433 (1982), quoting Kaiser Aetna v. United States, 444 U.S. 164, 176 (1979). " [Nollan v. California Coastal Comm'n, 483 U.S. 825 (1987)]

"In this case, we hold that the "right to exclude," so universally held to be a fundamental element of the property right,[11] falls within this category of interests that the Government cannot take without compensation." [Kaiser Aetna v. United States, 444 U.S. 164 (1979)]

1 government from using or benefitting from the use of the property and the government is the REAL owner. Would
2 you hire a security guard called “government” if the cost of the protection was to transfer ownership TO the security
3 guard? NOT! Hence, this is what we call a “supernatural power” that makes the government literally a pagan deity
4 over all property.
5 4. The GOVERNMENT gets to determine how much of the property you want protected THEY own or control, and how
6 much is left over for you. That is because they write the laws that regulate the use of all PUBLIC property. You are a
7 mere equitable rather than absolute owner of the property.

8 The sharing of ownership in legal terms is called a “moiety”. With these factors in mind, why the HELL would anyone want
9 to call themselves a STATUTORY “citizen”? Isn’t the purpose of forming government to protect PRIVATE property and 10 PRIVATE rights? Isn’t the ability to own property the essence of “happiness” itself according to the Declaration of 11 Independence? How can you be “happy” if you have to share ownership of EVERYTHING with the government and turn
12 EVERYTHING you own essentially into PUBLIC property to have any protection at all? For details on sharing ownership
13 with the government, see:

Separation Between Public and Private Course, Form #12.025
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

14 Obviously, the “price” of government protection is too high, and therefore a rational and informed person would have to 15 conclude that having “allegiance” and requesting “protection” from the government as a security guard over their property is 16 something that they should NOT want. So how do we withdraw that allegiance and our request for protection? A good place
17 to start is studying the laws on passports.

18 On the other hand, when obtaining a USA passport, one only needs “allegiance” and no requirement for permanence is
19 mandated, other than, of course, the Address field on the DS-11 Form, which asks for a “permanent address”. If you don’t
20 fill out anything in that field because your allegiance is temporary and you DO NOT WANT their protection, then you can
21 make your allegiance temporary and changeable.

22 “No passport shall be granted or issued to or verified for any other persons than those owing allegiance, whether
23 citizens or not, to the United States.”
24 [22 U.S.C. §212]

25 See the following for details on how to WITHDRAW allegiance when abroad in the passport application process:

Getting a USA Passport as a “State National”, Form #10.013

26 On the other hand, when obtaining a USA passport, one only needs “allegiance” and no requirement for permanence is
27 mandated, other than, of course, the Address field on the DS-11 Form, which asks for a “permanent address”. If you don’t
28 fill out anything in that field because your allegiance is temporary and you DO NOT WANT their protection, then you can
29 make your allegiance temporary and changeable.

30 No passport shall be granted or issued to or verified for any other persons than those owing allegiance, whether
31 citizens or not, to the United States.”

34 Now let’s look at the domicile “protection contract” or “protection franchise” a little closer. Does it meet all the requisite
35 legal elements of a legally enforceable contract? In fact, after you declare your exclusive allegiance to the “state” by declaring

[11] See, e. g., United States v. Pueblo of San Ildefonso, 206 Ct.Cl. 649, 669-670, 513 F.2d. 1383, 1394 (1975); United States v. Lutz, 295 F.2d. 736, 740 (CA5 1961). As stated by Mr. Justice Brandeis, “[a]n essential element of individual property is the legal right to exclude others from enjoying it.” International News Service v. Associated Press, 248 U.S. 215, 250 (1918) (dissenting opinion).

1 a “domicile” within that state so that you can procure “protection”, ironically, the courts continue to forcefully insist that your
2 public SERVANTS STILL have NO LEGAL OBLIGATION to protect you! This is what Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the
3 traitor, calls “The New Deal”, and what we call “The RAW Deal”. Below is the AMAZING truth right from the horse’s
4 mouth, the courts, proving that police officers cannot be sued if they fail to come to your aid after you call them when you
5 have a legitimate need for their protection:

Do You Have a Right to Police Protection?, Family Guardian Fellowship
<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Crime/Articles/PoliceProtection.htm>

6 Consequently, the “protection contract” is unenforceable as a duty upon you because it imposes no reciprocal duty upon the
7 government. On the one hand, the government throws people in jail for failing to pay for protection in the form of “taxes”,
8 while on the other hand, it refuses to prosecute police officers for failing to provide the protection that was paid for, even
9 though their willful or negligent refusal to protect us could have far more injurious and immediate effects than simply failing
10 to pay for protection. This is a violation of the equal protection of the laws. If it is a crime to not pay for protection, then it
11 ought to equally be a crime to not provide it! Who would want to live in a country or be part of a “state” that would condone
12 such hypocrisy? That is why we advocate “divorcing the state”. It is precisely this type of hypocrisy that explains why
13 prominent authorities will tell you that taxes are not “contractual”: because the courts treat it like a contract and a criminal 14 matter to not pay taxes for “taxpayers”, but refuse to hold public servants equally liable for their half of the bargain, which is
15 protection:

16 “A tax is not regarded as a debt in the ordinary sense of that term, for the reason that a tax does not depend upon
17 the consent of the taxpayer and there is no express or implied contract to pay taxes. Taxes are not contracts
18 between party and party, either express or implied; but they are the positive acts of the government, through its
19 various agents, binding upon the inhabitants, and to the making and enforcing of which their personal consent
20 individually is not required.”
21 [Cooley, Law of Taxation, Fourth Edition, pp. 88-89]

22 The above is a deception at best and a LIE at worst. A “taxpayer” is legally defined as a person liable, and it is true that for 23 such a person, taxes are not consensual and in no way “voluntary”. HOWEVER, the choice about whether one wishes to 24 BECOME a “taxpayer” as legally defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14) is based on domicile and the excise taxable activities
25 one voluntarily engages in, both of which in fact ARE voluntary actions and choices. By their careful choice of words, they
26 have misrepresented the truth so they could get into your pocket. What else would you expect of greedy LIARS, I mean
27 “lawyers”? We would also like to take this opportunity to clarify for whom taxes are “voluntary” in order to further clarify
28 the title of this document:

- 29 1. Income taxes under I.R.C. Subtitle A are not voluntary for “taxpayers”.
30 2. Income taxes under I.R.C. Subtitle A are not voluntary for everyone, because some subset of everyone are “taxpayers”.
31 3. Income taxes under I.R.C. Subtitle A are voluntary for those who are “nontaxpayers”, who we define here as those 32 persons who are NOT the “taxpayer” defined in 26 U.S.C. §§7701(a)(14) and 1313.

33 “Revenue Laws relate to taxpayers [officers, employees, instrumentalities, and elected officials of the Federal
34 Government] and not to non-taxpayers [American Citizens/American Nationals not subject to the exclusive
35 jurisdiction of the Federal Government]. The latter are without their scope. No procedures are prescribed for
36 non-taxpayers and no attempt is made to annul any of their Rights or Remedies in due course of law.”
37 [Economy Plumbing & Heating v. U.S., 470 F.2d. 585 (1972)]

38 Some other points to consider about this “Raw Deal” scam:

- 39 1. You can’t be a statutory “citizen” or a “resident” without having a legally enforceable right to protection.
40 2. Since the government won’t enforce the rendering of the ONLY consideration required to make you a “citizen” or a
41 “resident”, then the protection contract is unenforceable and technically, you can’t lawfully therefore call yourself a
42 “citizen”.
43 3. Since you can’t be a member of a “state” without being a “citizen”, then technically, there is no de jure “state”, no de
44 jure government that serves this “state”, and no “United States”. It’s just “US”, friends, cause there ain’t no “U.S.”!
45 4. The implication is that your government has legally abandoned you and you are an orphan, because they didn’t complete
46 their half of the protection contract bargain. Without a government, God is back in charge. The Bible says He owns the 47 earth anyway, which leaves us as “nonresidents” and “transient foreigners” in respect to any jurisdiction that claims to 48 be a “government” because we know they’re lying.
49 5. The bible says of this “Raw Deal” the following: You’ve been HAD, folks!

1 For thus says the LORD: "You have sold yourselves for nothing, And you shall be redeemed without money."
2 [Isaiah 52:3, Bible, NKJV]

3 The U.S. Supreme Court has also held that "allegiance" is completely incompatible with any system of "citizenship" in a
4 republican form of government, and that it is "repulsive". Ironically, allegiance is exactly what we currently base our system
5 of citizenship on in this country. Apparently, this is yet one more symptom that our government has become corrupted.

6 "Yet, it is to be remembered, and that whether in its real origin, or in its artificial state, allegiance, as well as
7 fealty, rests upon lands, and it is due to persons. Not so, with respect to Citizenship, which has arisen from the 8 dissolution of the feudal system and is a substitute for allegiance, corresponding with the new order of things.
9 Allegiance and citizenship, differ, indeed, in almost every characteristic. Citizenship is the effect of compact
10 [CONTRACT!]; allegiance is the offspring of power and necessity. Citizenship is a political tie; allegiance is 11 a territorial tenure. Citizenship is the charter of equality; allegiance is a badge of inferiority. Citizenship is 12 constitutional; allegiance is personal. Citizenship is freedom; allegiance is servitude. Citizenship is 13 communicable; allegiance is repulsive. Citizenship may be relinquished; allegiance is perpetual. With such 14 essential differences, the doctrine of allegiance is inapplicable to a system of citizenship; which it can neither
15 serve to controul, nor to elucidate. And yet, even among the nations, in which the law of allegiance is the most 16 firmly established, the law most pertinaciously enforced, there are striking deviations that demonstrate the 17 invincible power of truth, and the homage, which, under every modification of government, must be paid to the 18 inherent rights of man.... The doctrine is, that allegiance cannot be due to two sovereigns; and taking an oath
19 of allegiance to a new, is the strongest evidence of withdrawing allegiance from a previous, sovereign...."
20 [Talbot v. Janson, 3 U.S. 133 (1795); From the syllabus but not the opinion; SOURCE:
21 <http://www.law.cornell.edu/supct/search/display.html?terms=choice%20or%20conflict%20and%20law&url=/s>
22 upct/html/historics/USSC_CR_0003_0133_ZS.html]

23 Consequently, we must conclude that allegiance to anything but God is therefore to be avoided at all costs. Notice also that 24 they say that citizenship is the effect of "compact", which is a type of contract. If "domicile" is the basis of citizenship, and
25 citizenship is the effect of "compact", then "domicile" amounts to the equivalent of a "contract". This leads us right back to 26 the conclusion that the voluntary choice of one's "domicile" is a "contract" to procure man-made protection and fire God as 27 our protector:

28 "Compact, n. An agreement or contract between persons, nations, or states. Commonly applied to working
29 agreements between and among states concerning matters of mutual concern. A contract between parties, which
30 creates obligations and rights capable of being enforced and contemplated as such between the parties, in their
31 distinct and independent characters. A mutual consent of parties concerned respecting some property or right
32 that is the object of the stipulation, or something that is to be done or forborne. See also Compact clause;
33 Confederacy; Interstate compact; Treaty."
34 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 281]

35 The Bible is consistent with the Supreme Court above in its disdain for "allegiance". It has a name for those expressing 36 "allegiance": It is called an "oath". When a person becomes a naturalized citizen of the United States, he must by law (see 8
37 U.S.C. §1448) take an "oath" of "allegiance" and be "sworn in". When a person signs an income tax return, he must swear a 38 perjury oath. Jesus, on the other hand, commanded believers not to take "oaths" to anything but God, and especially not to 39 earthly Kings, and said that doing otherwise was essentially Satanic:

40 "Again you have heard that it was said to those of old, "You shall not swear falsely, but shall perform your oaths
41 to the Lord." But I say to you, do not swear at all: neither by heaven, for it is God's throne; nor by the earth,
42 for it is His footstool; nor by Jerusalem, for it is the city of the great King. Nor shall you swear by your head,
43 because you cannot make one hair white or black. But let your "Yes" be "Yes," and your "No," "No." For whatever
44 is more than these is from the evil one [Satan]."
45 [Matt. 5:33-37, Bible, NKJV]

46 God also commanded us to take oaths ONLY in His name and no others:

47 "You shall fear the LORD your God and serve [only] Him, and shall take oaths in His name."
48 [Deut. 6:13, Bible, NKJV]

49 "If a man makes a vow to the LORD, or swears an oath to bind himself by some agreement, he shall not break
50 his word; he shall do according to all that proceeds out of his mouth."
51 [Numbers 30:2, Bible, NKJV]

52 Israel's first King, Saul, in fact, distressed the people because one of his first official acts was to try to put the people under 53 oath to him instead of God.

1 "And the men of Israel were distressed that day, for Saul had placed the people under oath"
2 [1 Sam. 14:24, Bible, NKJV]

3 God's response to the Israelites electing a King/protector to whom they would owe "allegiance", in fact, was to say that they
4 sinned:

5 Then all the elders of Israel gathered together and came to Samuel at Ramah, and said to him, "Look, you are
6 old, and your sons do not walk in your ways. Now make us a king to judge us like all the nations [and be OVER
7 them]".

8 But the thing displeased Samuel when they said, "Give us a king to judge us." So Samuel prayed to the Lord.
9 And the Lord said to Samuel, "Heed the voice of the people in all that they say to you; for they have rejected
10 Me [God], that I should not reign over them. According to all the works which they have done since the day that
11 I brought them up out of Egypt, even to this day—with which they have forsaken Me and served other gods
12 [Kings, in this case]—so they are doing to you also [government becoming idolatry]. Now therefore, heed their
13 voice. However, you shall solemnly forewarn them, and show them the behavior of the king who will reign
14 over them."

15 So Samuel told all the words of the LORD to the people who asked him for a king. And he said, "This will be the
16 behavior of the king who will reign over you: He will take [STEAL] your sons and appoint them for his own
17 chariots and to be his horsemen, and some will run before his chariots. He will appoint captains over his
18 thousands and captains over his fifties, will set some to plow his ground and reap his harvest, and some to
19 make his weapons of war and equipment for his chariots. He will take [STEAL] your daughters to be
20 perfumers, cooks, and bakers. And he will take [STEAL] the best of your fields, your vineyards, and your olive
21 groves, and give them to his servants. He will take [STEAL] a tenth of your grain and your vintage, and give
22 it to his officers and servants. And he will take [STEAL] your male servants, your female servants, your finest
23 young men, and your donkeys, and put them to his work [as SLAVES]. He will take [STEAL] a tenth of your
24 sheep. And you will be his servants. And you will cry out in that day because of your king whom you have
25 chosen for yourselves, and the LORD will not hear you in that day."

26 Nevertheless the people refused to obey the voice of Samuel; and they said, "No, but we will have a king over us,
27 that we also may be like all the nations, and that our king may judge us and go out before us and fight our battles."
28 [1 Sam. 8:4-20, Bible, NKJV]

29 Notice above the repeated words "He [the new King] will take...". God is really warning them here that the King they elect 30 will STEAL from them, which is exactly what our present day government does! Some things never change, do they?

31 Since God clearly states that it violates His law to have a king ABOVE you, then by implication, Christians are FORBIDDEN
32 by His sacred law from becoming a "subject" under any civil statutory law system that allows any government or civil ruler
33 to engage in any of the following types of anarchy, lawlessness, or superiority:

- 34 1. Are superior in any way to the people they govern UNDER THE LAW.
- 35 2. Are not directly accountable to the people or the law. They prohibit the PEOPLE from criminally prosecuting their 36 own crimes, reserving the right to prosecute to their own fellow criminals. Who polices the police? THE 37 CRIMINALS.
- 38 3. Enact laws that exempt themselves. This is a violation of the Constitutional requirement for equal protection and equal
39 treatment and constitutes an unconstitutional Title of Nobility in violation of Article 1, Section 9, Clause 8 of the 40 United States Constitution.
- 41 4. Only enforce the law against others and NOT themselves, as a way to protect their own criminal activities by 42 persecuting dissidents. This is called "selective enforcement". In the legal field it is also called "professional 43 courtesy". Never kill the goose that lays the STOLEN golden eggs.
- 44 5. Break the laws with impunity. This happens most frequently when corrupt people in government engage in "selective 45 enforcement", whereby they refuse to prosecute or interfere with the prosecution of anyone in government. The 46 Department of Justice (D.O.J.) or the District Attorney are the most frequent perpetrators of this type of crime.
- 47 6. Are able to choose which laws they want to be subject to, and thus refuse to enforce laws against themselves. The 48 most frequent method for this type of abuse is to assert sovereign, official, or judicial immunity as a defense in order to 49 protect the wrongdoers in government when they are acting outside their delegated authority, or outside what the 50 definitions in the statutes EXPRESSLY allow.
- 51 7. Impute to themselves more rights or methods of acquiring rights than the people themselves have. In other words, who 52 are the object of PAGAN IDOL WORSHIP because they possess "supernatural" powers. By "supernatural", we mean 53 that which is superior to the "natural", which is ordinary human beings.

- 1 8. Claim and protect their own sovereign immunity, but refuse to recognize the same EQUAL immunity of the people
2 from whom that power was delegated to begin with. Hypocrites.
3 9. Abuse sovereign immunity to exclude either the government or anyone working in the government from being subject
4 to the laws they pass to regulate everyone ELSE'S behavior. In other words, they can choose WHEN they want to be a
5 statutory "person" who is subject, and when they aren't. Anyone who has this kind of choice will ALWAYS corruptly
6 exclude themselves and include everyone else, and thereby enforce and implement an unconstitutional "Title of 7 Nobility" towards themselves. On this subject, the U.S. Supreme Court has held the following:

8 "No man in this country [including legislators of the government as a legal person] is so high that he is above
9 the law. No officer of the law may set that law at defiance with impunity. All the officers of the government,
10 from the highest to the lowest, are creatures of the law and are bound to obey it. It is the only supreme power
11 in our system of government, and every man who by accepting office participates in its functions is only the more
12 strongly bound to submit to that supremacy, and to observe the limitations which it imposes upon the exercise of 13 the authority which it gives," 106 U.S., at 220. "Shall it be said... that the courts cannot give remedy when the 14 Citizen has been deprived of his property by force, his estate seized and converted to the use of the government
15 without any lawful authority, without any process of law, and without any compensation, because the president
16 has ordered it and his officers are in possession? If such be the law of this country, it sanctions a tyranny which 17 has no existence in the monarchies of Europe, nor in any other government which has a just claim to well-
18 regulated liberty and the protection of personal rights," 106 U.S., at 220, 221.
19 [United States v. Lee, 106 U.S. 196, 1 S.Ct. 240 (1882)]

- 20 10. Have a monopoly on anything, INCLUDING "protection", and who turn that monopoly into a mechanism to force EVERYONE
21 illegally to be treated as uncompensated public officers in exchange for the "privilege" of being able to even exist or earn a living to 22 support oneself.
23 11. Can tax and spend any amount or percentage of the people's earnings over the OBJECTIONS of the people.
24 12. Can print, meaning illegally counterfeit, as much money as they want to fund their criminal enterprise, and thus to be completely
25 free from accountability to the people.
26 13. Deceive and/or lie to the public with impunity by telling you that you can't trust anything they say, but force YOU to sign
27 everything under penalty of perjury when you want to talk to them. 26 U.S.C. §6065.

28 Jesus Himself agreed that we cannot allow civil rulers to be ABOVE us in any way, when He said:

29 "You know that the rulers of the Gentiles lord it over them, and those who are great exercise authority over 30 them. Yet it shall not be so among you; but whoever desires to become great among you, let him be your servant.
31 And whoever desires to be first among you, let him be your slave— just as the Son of Man did not come to be 32 served, but to serve, and to give His life a ransom for many."
33 [Matt. 20: 25-28, Bible, NKJV. See also Mark 10:42-45]

34 Jesus' words above are very descriptive of the RESULT of allowing rulers to be ABOVE those they serve:

- 35 1. He identifies his reference as referring to civil rulers.
36 2. "Authority over" refers to authority ABOVE that possessed by mere natural humans. In other words, the powers
37 exercised are "supernatural". "Super" means ABOVE and "natural" means above you, who are a natural human being.
38 3. The phrase "Lord it over" means that they in effect are "gods" who are OVER or ABOVE those who "worship" them
39 by obeying their man-made STATUTES or CIVIL CODES. The source of law in any society is, in fact, the god of that 40 society.

41 The nature and substance of any government that violates the above admonition of Jesus is described in the following:

Socialism: The New American Civil Religion, Form #05.016
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

42 ONLY when the people are in deed EQUAL in every way to those in the government can anyone be truly FREE in any sense
43 of the word. The U.S. Supreme Court confirmed this when it held:

44 "No duty rests more imperatively upon the courts than the enforcement of those constitutional provisions intended 45 to secure that equality of rights which is the foundation of free government."
46 [Gulf, C. & S.F.R. Co. v. Ellis, 165 U.S. 150 (1897)]

47 If you would like to watch an entire training video on why you can only be FREE if you are EQUAL to government in 48 authority, rights, and power, see:

1 13.9 Choice of Domicile is a voluntary and SERIOUS choice

2 "The rights of the individual are not derived from governmental agencies, either municipal, state or federal, or
3 even from the Constitution. They exist inherently in every man, by endowment of the Creator, and are merely
4 *reaffirmed in the Constitution, and restricted only to the extent that they have been voluntarily surrendered by
5 the citizenship to the agencies of government. The people's rights are not derived from the government, but the* 6 *government's authority comes from the people.946 The Constitution but states again these rights already
7 existing, and when legislative encroachment by the nation, state, or municipality invade these original and
8 permanent rights, it is the duty of the courts to so declare, and to afford the necessary relief. The fewer restrictions
9 that surround the individual liberties of the citizen, except those for the preservation of the public health, safety,
10 and morals, the more contented the people and the more successful the democracy."
11 [City of Dallas v. Mitchell, 245 S.W. 944 (1922)]

12 The law and government that a person voluntarily consents or "intends" to be subject to determines where their "legal home"
13 is under this concept. This choice must be completely voluntary and not subject to coercion or intimidation because all just 14 powers of any free government derive from the "consent of the governed", as the Declaration of Independence indicates.

15 § 143. Id. Actual Choice. - Third. There must be actual choice. In order to effect a change of domicil a person
16 must not only be capable of forming the proper intention and free to do so, but he must actually form such 17 intention.
18 [A Treatise on the Law of Domicil, National, Quasi-National, and Municipal, M.W. Jacobs, Little, Brown, and
19 Company, 1887, p. 208]

20 This form of consent is called "allegiance" in the legal field. A voluntary choice of allegiance to a place amounts to a choice
21 to join or associate with a group of people called a "state" and to respect, be subject to, and obey all positive laws passed by
22 the citizens who dwell there. The First Amendment guarantees us a right of free association, and therefore, only we can
23 choose the group of people we wish to associate with and be protected by as a result of choosing a "domicile". The First
24 Amendment also guarantees us a right of freedom from "compelled association", which is the act of forcing a person to join
25 or be part of any group, including a "state".

26 Just as there is freedom to speak, to associate, and to believe, so also there is freedom not to speak, associate, or
27 *believe "The right to speak and the right to refrain from speaking [on a government tax return, and in violation
28 of the Fifth Amendment when coerced, for instance] are complementary components of the broader concept
29 of 'individual freedom of mind.' Wooley v. Maynard [430 U.S. 703] (1977). Freedom of conscience dictates
30 that no individual may be forced to espouse ideological causes with which he disagrees:

31 "[A]t the heart of the First Amendment is the notion that the individual should be free to believe as he will, and
32 that in a free society one's beliefs should be shaped by his mind and by his conscience rather than coerced by the 33 State [through illegal enforcement of the revenue laws]." Abood v. Detroit Board of Education [431 U.S. 209]
34 (1977)

35 Freedom from compelled association is a vital component of freedom of expression. Indeed, freedom from* 36 *compelled association illustrates the significance of the liberty or personal autonomy model of the First
37 Amendment. As a general constitutional principle, it is for the individual and not for the state to choose one's 38 associations and to define the persona which he holds out to the world.
39 [First Amendment Law, Barron-Dienes, West Publishing, ISBN 0-314-22677-X, pp. 266-267]

40 The California FTB Publication 1031, Guidelines for Determining Resident Status, Year 2013 confirms that the government
41 CANNOT determine the status for you and that only you can determine the status:

42 "The FTB will not issue written opinions on whether you are a California resident for a particular period of time
43 because residency is a question of fact, not law. The information included in this publication is provided to help
44 you with this determination."
45 [Guidelines for Determining Resident Status, Publication 1031 (2013), p. 1, California Franchise Tax Board
46 (FTB)]

47 Therefore, no government has lawful authority to compel us to choose a "domicile" that is within its legislative jurisdiction
48 or to have allegiance towards it, because that would be compelled association. The right to choose what political group or
49 country we wish to join and have allegiance to and protection from also implies that we can reject all the earthly options and
50 simply elect to join God's followers and be subject ONLY to His laws. This type of government would be called a
51 "theocracy". This, in fact, is the goal of this entire publication: Establishing an ecclesiastical state separate from the corrupted

1 governments that plague our land. It is a stark reality that what you define as protection might amount to its opposite for 2 someone else. Therefore, each person is free to:

- 3 1. Define what "protection" means to them.
- 4 2. Choose to join a political group or country that agrees most with their definition of "protection". This makes them into 5 "nationals" of that country who profess "allegiance" to the "state" and thereby merit its protection.
- 6 3. Choose a "domicile" within that country or group, and thereby become subject to its laws and a benefactor of its 7 protection.

8 The notion of freedom to choose one's allegiances and protectors is a natural consequence of the fact that a "state" can consist
9 of any number of people, from one person to millions or even billions of people. The political landscape constantly changes
10 precisely because people are constantly exercising their right to change their political associations. A single person is free to 11 create his own "state" and pass his own laws, and to choose a domicile within that created state. The boundaries of that 12 created "state" might include only himself, only his immediate family, or encompass an entire city, county, or district. He 13 might do this because he regards the society in which he lives to be so corrupt that it's laws, morality, and norms are injurious
14 rather than protective. Such a motive, in fact, is behind an effort called the "Free State Project", in which people are trying
15 to get together to create a new and different type of state within the borders of our country. The U.S. Supreme Court, in fact,
16 has ruled that when the laws of a society become more injurious than protective to us personally, then we cease to have any
17 obligation to obey them and may lawfully choose other allegiances and domiciles that afford better protection. To wit:

18 "By the surrender, the inhabitants passed under a temporary allegiance to the British government and were bound
19 *by such laws and such only as it chose to recognize and impose. From the nature of the case, no other laws
20 could be obligatory upon them, for where there is no protection or allegiance or sovereignty, there can be no
21 claim to obedience."*
22 Hanauer v. Woodruff, [82 U.S. \(15 Wall.\) 439 (1872)]

23 If a person decides that the laws and the people of the area in which he lives are injurious of his life, liberty, and property,
24 then he is perfectly entitled to withhold his allegiance and shift his domicile to a place where better protection is afforded.
25 When a person has allegiance and domicile to a place or society other than where he lives, then he is considered "foreign" in 26 that society and all people comprising that society become "foreigners" relative to him in such a case. He becomes a "transient
27 foreigner" and the only laws that are obligatory upon him are the criminal laws and the common law and no other. Below is 28 what the U.S. Supreme Court said about the right of people to choose to disassociate with such "foreigners" who can do them
29 harm. Note that they say the United States government has the right to exclude foreigners who are injurious. This authority,
30 it says, comes from the Constitution, which in turn was delegated by the Sovereign People. The People cannot delegate an
31 authority they do not have, therefore they must individually ALSO have this authority within their own private lives of 32 excluding injurious peoples from their legal and political life by changing their domicile and citizenship. This act of excluding 33 such foreigners becomes what we call a "political divorce" and the result accomplishes the equivalent of "disconnecting from 34 the government matrix":

35 "The government, possessing the powers which are to be exercised for protection and security, is clothed with 36 authority to determine the occasion on which the powers shall be called forth; and its determinations, so far as
37 *the subjects affected are concerned, are necessarily conclusive upon all its departments and officers. If, therefore,
38 the government of the United States, through its legislative department, considers the presence of foreigners
39 of a different race in this country, who will not assimilate with us, to be dangerous to its peace and security,
40 their exclusion is not to be stayed because at the time there are no actual hostilities with the nation of which
41 the foreigners are subjects. The existence of war would render the necessity of the proceeding only more obvious
42 and pressing. The same necessity, in a less pressing degree, may arise when war does not exist, and the same
43 authority which adjudges the necessity in one case must also determine it in the other. In both cases its 44 determination is conclusive upon the judiciary. If the government of the country of which the foreigners excluded
45 are subjects is dissatisfied with this action, it can make complaint to the executive head of our government, or 46 resort to any other measure which, in its judgment, its interests or dignity may demand; and there lies its only 47 remedy.*

48 The power of the government to exclude foreigners from the country whenever, in its judgment, the public interests
49 require such exclusion, has been asserted in repeated instances, and never denied by the executive or legislative 50 departments.

51 [. . .]

52 The power of exclusion of foreigners being an incident of sovereignty belonging to the government of the 53 United States as a part of those sovereign powers delegated by the constitution, the right to its exercise at any
54 time when, in the judgment of the government, the interests of the country require it, cannot be granted away

1 or restrained on behalf of any one. The powers of government are delegated in trust to the United States, and
2 are incapable of transfer to any other parties. They cannot be abandoned or surrendered. Nor can their exercise
3 be hampered, when needed for the public good, by any considerations of private interest. The exercise of these 4 public trusts is not the subject of barter or contract."
5 Chae Chan Ping v. U.S., [130 U.S. 581 (1889)]

6 Notice above the phrase:

7 "If the government of the country of which the foreigners excluded are subjects is dissatisfied with this action, it
8 can make complaint to the executive head of our government, or resort to any other measure which, in its
9 judgment, its interests or dignity may demand; and there lies its only remedy."

10 The court is tacitly admitting that there is NO legal remedy in the case where a foreigner is expelled because the party
11 expelling him has an absolute right to do so. This inalienable right to expel harmful foreigners is just as true of what happens
12 on a person's private property as it is to what they want to do with their ENTIRE LIFE, property, and liberty. This same
13 argument applies to us divorcing ourselves from the state where we live. There is absolutely no legal remedy in any court
14 and no judge has any discretion to interfere with your absolute authority to divorce not only the state, but HIM! This is BIG,
15 folks! You don't have to prove that a society is injurious in order to disassociate from it because your right to do so is absolute,
16 but if you want or need a few very good reasons why our present political system is injurious that you can show to a judge
17 or a court, read through chapters 2 and 6 of our Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 book:

18 The following authority establishes that a change in domicile is a SERIOUS choice that can have drastic effects upon people:

19 "§ 124. A Change of Domicil a Serious Matter, and presumed against –

20 But in any case a change of domicil, whether domicil of origin or of choice, national or quasi-national, is a
21 very serious matter, involving as it may, and as it frequently does, an entire change of personal [CIVIL] law.
22 The validity and construction of a man's testamentary acts and title disposition of his personal property in case
23 of intestacy; his legitimacy in some cases and, if illegitimate, his capacity for legitimation; the rights and (in the 24 view of some jurists) the capacities of married women; jurisdiction to grant divorces, and, according to the more
25 recent English view, capacity to contract marriage, all these and very many other legal questions depend for their
26 solution upon the principle of domicil; 1 so that upon the determination of the question of domicil it may depend
27 oftentimes whether a person is legitimate or illegitimate, married or single, testate or intestate, capable or
28 incapable of doing a variety of acts and possessing a variety of rights. To the passage quoted .. in the last section
29 Kindersley, V. C., adds: "In truth, to hold that a man has acquired a domicil in a foreign country is a most serious
30 matter, involving as it does the consequence that the validity or invalidity of his testamentary acts and the 31 disposition of his personal property are to be governed by the laws of that foreign country. No doubt the evidence
32 may be so strong and conclusive as to render such a decision unavoidable. But the consequences of such a 33 decision may be, and generally are, so serious and so injurious to the welfare of families ,that it can only be 34 justified by the clearest and most conclusive evidence."

35 [A Treatise on the Law of Domicil, National, Quasi-National, and Municipal, M.W. Jacobs, Little, Brown, and
36 Company, 1887, p. 186]

37 Lastly, we emphasize that there is no method OTHER than domicile available in which to consent to the civil laws of a 38 specific place. None of the following conditions, for instance, may form a basis for a prima facie presumption that a specific 39 human being consented to be civilly governed by a specific municipal government:

- 40 1. Simply being born and thereby becoming a statutory "national" (per 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21)) of a specific country is 41 NOT an exercise of personal discretion or an express act of consent.
- 42 2. Simply living in a physical place WITHOUT choosing a domicile there is NOT an exercise of personal discretion or an 43 express act of consent.

44 13.10 Theological significance of Domicile

45 13.10.1 Domicile in the Bible

46 Throughout the Bible, the terms "dwell", "dwelling", "abode", or "refuge" are used as a synonym for the legal concept of 47 CIVIL DOMICILE. Below are some examples:

1 1. Numbers 35:29: The “statutes” are God’s law, meaning that God’s law takes precedence over the local man-made
2 laws wherever the Israelites went.

3 *‘And these things shall be a statute of judgment to you throughout your generations in all your dwelling
4 [domiciles].
5 [Numbers 35:29, Bible, NKJV]

6 2. Deut. 12:5: The place God chooses is the Kingdom of Heaven, and we are to take THAT instead of a civil ruler as our 7 “dwelling” or “domicile”.

8 “But you shall seek the place where the Lord your God chooses, out of all your tribes, to put His name for His
9 dwelling place; and there you shall go.*
10 [Deut. 12:5, Bible, NKJV]

11 3. Nehemiah 1:6-11: When the people restore God’s law to its proper role above man’s law, God gathers them together
12 in ONE place and under ONE law. In a legal sense, this means that they all share the same civil domicile in the 13 Kingdom of Heaven. The below scripture describes the reestablishment of a theocracy that put God in charge and 14 King instead of a heathen King. Those who don’t have a domicile in God’s jurisdiction are not REQUIRED to keep 15 His laws or “fear him”, which this scripture describes as “acting corruptly”.

16 “Both my father’s house and I have sinned. 7 We have acted very corruptly against You, and have not kept the 17 commandments, the statutes, nor the ordinances which You commanded Your servant Moses. 8 Remember, I pray,
18 the word that You commanded Your servant Moses, saying, ‘If you are unfaithful, I will scatter you among the
19 nations; but if you return to Me, and keep My commandments and do them, though some of you were cast out to 20 *the farthest part of the heavens, yet I will gather them from there, and bring them to the place which I have
21 chosen as a dwelling for My name.’ Now these are Your servants [officers] and Your people, whom You have*
22 redeemed by Your great power, and by Your strong hand. O Lord, I pray, please let Your ear be attentive to the 23 prayer of Your servant, and to the prayer of Your servants who desire to fear Your name; and let Your servant
24 prosper this day, I pray, and grant him mercy in the sight of this man.”
25 [Neh. 1:6-11, Bible, NKJV]

26 4. Job 8:22: The dwelling place (domicile) of the wicked will bring them shame. That dwelling place is under an earthly 27 King RATHER than under God. It is a SIN to have an Earthly King above:

28 “Those who hate you will be clothed with shame, And the dwelling place of the wicked will come to nothing.”
29 [Job 8:22, Bible, NKJV]

30 5. Psalms 33:13-15: God’s domicile is the Kingdom of Heaven:

31 The LORD looks from heaven;
32 He sees all the sons of men.
33 From the place of His dwelling He looks
34 On all the inhabitants of the earth;
35 He fashions their hearts individually;
36 He considers all their works.”
37 [Psalm 33:13-15, Bible, NKJV]

38 6. Joel 3:17: God “dwells” in a holy mountain. Mountains are symbol of political kingdoms in the bible.

39 “So you shall know that I am the Lord your God, Dwelling in Zion My holy mountain. Then Jerusalem shall be 40 holy, And no aliens shall ever pass through her again.”
41 [Joel 3:17, Bible, NKJV]

42 7. Jude 1:5-7: Those who abandon a domicile in the Kingdom of Heaven are cursed. An example would be those who 43 abandon a civil domicile in God’s kingdom in exchange for the protection of an earthly King:

44 Old and New Apostates

45 *But I want to remind you, though you once knew this, that the Lord, having saved the people out of the land of 46 Egypt, afterward destroyed those who did not believe. And the angels who did not keep their proper domain,
47 but left their own abode, He has reserved in everlasting chains under darkness for the judgment of the great
48 day; as Sodom and Gomorrah, and the cities around them in a similar manner to these, having given themselves
49 over to sexual immorality and gone after strange flesh, are set forth as an example, suffering the vengeance of 50 eternal fire.*

[Jude 1:5-7, Bible, NKJV]

8. John 14: The phrase “in my Father” means being LEGALLY WITHIN God as a “person” and as His AGENT under the laws of agency. In other words, Jesus is God’s representative, officer, and agent and are joined together LEGALLY but not PHYSICALLY to be within one corporate body. That corporate body is called “The Kingdom of Heaven”. “make our abode with him” in the following scripture means that God is LEGALLY PRESENT with you as a protector when you obey His commandments.

*At that day ye shall know that I am in my Father, and ye in me, and I in you.

He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him.

Judas saith unto him, not Iscariot, Lord, how is it that thou wilt manifest thyself unto us, and not unto the world?

*Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him.
[John 14:20-23, Bible, KJV]

9. Psalm 90:1: Devout Christians make God their domicile and “dwelling place” throughout all time no matter where they physically are:

“Lord, You have been our dwelling place in all generations.”
[Psalm 90:1, Bible, NKJV]

10. Psalm 91: To have Heaven as your domicile means you are “abiding in the shadow of the Almighty” and taking “refuge” under the protection of his civil laws.

*He who dwells in the secret place of the Most High
Shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty.*

[. . .]

Because you have made the LORD, who is my refuge,
Even the Most High, your dwelling place,
No evil shall befall you,
Nor shall any plague come near your dwelling;
For He shall give His angels charge over you,
To keep you in all your ways.
In their hands they shall bear you up,
Lest you dash your foot against a stone.
You shall tread upon the lion and the cobra,
The young lion and the serpent you shall trample underfoot.*

*“Because he has set his love upon Me, therefore I will deliver him;
I will set him on high, because he has known My name.
He shall call upon Me, and I will answer him;
I will be with him in trouble;
I will deliver him and honor him.
With long life I will satisfy him,
And show him My salvation.”*
[Psalm 91:1-2, 9-16, Bible, NKJV]

Your DOMICILE is the “dwelling place” of your LEGAL NAME. That name in legal parlance is called “person”. Your PROPERTY attaches legally to your birth name. Two things were created when you were born: 1. Your physical body; 2. Your identity as a “person” under a system of laws:

“They have set fire to Your sanctuary; They have defiled the dwelling place of Your name to the ground.”
[Psalm 74:7, Bible, NKJV]

Since you can only have ONE civil domicile, then if your CIVIL domicile is in “The Kingdom of Heaven”, then it BY DEFINITION IS NOT within any man-made government. Here is an example:

1 "For our citizenship [domicile] is in heaven, from which we also eagerly wait for the Savior, the Lord Jesus
2 Christ, who will transform our lowly body that it may be conformed to His glorious body, according to the
3 working by which He is able even to subdue all things to Himself."
4 [Phil. 3:20-21, Bible, NKJV]

5 Since John 14 above says our "dwelling" as Christians must be with the Lord in the Kingdom of Heaven, then it by definition
6 CANNOT be in any man-made government or any earthly political entity. This is the essence of what it means to be
7 "sanctified" as a Christian: We are not joined legally through consent or contract with any part of the corrupt governments
8 of the world. That concept is the foundation of separation of church and state, in fact:

9 "Pure and undefiled religion before God and the Father is this: to visit orphans and widows in their trouble, and 10 to keep oneself unspotted from the world [and the governments and corruption of the world]."

12
13 "I [God] brought you up from Egypt [slavery] and brought you to the land of which I swore to your fathers; and
14 I said, 'I will never break My covenant with you. And you shall make no covenant [contract or franchise or 15 agreement of ANY kind] with the inhabitants of this [corrupt pagan] land; you shall tear down their
16 [man/government worshipping socialist] altars.' But you have not obeyed Me. Why have you done this?

17 "Therefore I also said, 'I will not drive them out before you; but they will become as thorns [terrorists and 18 persecutors] in your side and their gods will be a snare [slavery!] to you.'"

19 So it was, when the Angel of the LORD spoke these words to all the children of Israel, that the people lifted up
20 their voices and wept.
21 [Judges 2:1-4, Bible, NKJV]

22
23 "You shall make no covenant [contract or franchise] with them [foreigners, pagans], nor with their [pagan
24 government] gods [laws or judges]. They shall not dwell in your land [and you shall not dwell in theirs by
25 becoming a "resident" or domiciliary in the process of contracting with them], lest they make you sin against
26 Me [God]. For if you serve their [government] gods [under contract or agreement or franchise], it will surely
27 be a snare to you."

29 13.10.2 Biblical criteria for a civil domicile in the Kingdom of Heaven

30 It may surprise the reader to learn that there is a specific biblical criteria by which people may lawfully claim a civil domicile
31 in the Kingdom of Heaven. Below is the scripture, which is one of our favorites. We include this scripture in our Statement
32 of Faith, in fact.⁹² We have boldfaced the important words to show the connection with domicile and a government or 33 theological or political kingdom.

34 The Character of Those Who May Dwell with the Lord

35 Lord, who may abide in Your tabernacle?
36 Who may dwell in Your holy hill?
37 He who walks uprightly,
38 And works righteousness,
39 And speaks the truth in his heart;
40 He who does not backbite with his tongue,
41 Nor does evil to his neighbor,
42 Nor does he take up a reproach against his friend;
43 In whose eyes a vile person is despised,
44 But he honors those who fear the Lord;
45 He who swears to his own hurt and does not change;
46 He who does not put out his money at usury,
47 Nor does he take a bribe against the innocent.
48 He who does these things shall never be moved.
49 [Psalm 15, Bible, NKJV]

⁹² See: <https://sedm.org/statement-of-faith/>.

1 We established in the previous section that the word “dwell” means a civil domicile. The Kingdom of Heaven is represented
2 by the phrases “Your tabernacle” and “holy hill”. The words “hill” or “mountain” in the bible are equated many times as a
3 metaphor for a political kingdom. Below is an article on the subject of Mystery Babylon from our Pastor’s Corner that shows
4 us this:

5 Revelation 17:9 And here is the mind which hath wisdom. The seven heads are seven mountains, on which the 6 woman sitteth.

7 The concept of seven hills would be unmistakably identified as Rome by the seven churches. Identifying the seven
8 hills as the city of Rome was a substantial fact known to all in the first century. The detail sounded a note of 9 authenticity to John’s readers. They knew from firsthand experience the cruelty of Rome. Rome was the center of 10 world trade in that part of the globe. She was rich in merchandise. Everything you can imagine was bought, sold,
11 or traded in the city of Rome. At the hub of the chariot wheel, Rome joined Europe, Asia, and the Middle East.
12 From Rome came legislation and executive orders. The armies of the world took their marching orders from 13 Rome. Rome’s politics was the subject at every tavern and grill in the Mediterranean. Her mountains were known 14 to the world.

15 Others interpret the “mountain” to refers to other nations. This concept of mountains as representing powers
16 or kingdoms also has merit (Psalm 30:7; Jeremiah 51:25; and Daniel 2:35). It is easy to understand the seven
17 hills to represent seven empires and the kings who ruled them. Possibly, John is referring to the great empires
18 that threatened God’s people in Biblical times before the arrival of Rome on the map of history.

21 Back in the time that Apostle John wrote Rev. 17:9, many governments were theocracies and there was no separation between
22 church and state. Hence, “hills” and “mountains” were synonymous with either churches or governments or civil or papal
23 rulers that presided over them.

24 The phrase “dwell in” is a term synonymous with JOINING or ASSOCIATING with. Obviously, “hill” does NOT mean a
25 physical hill, because you can’t realistically live inside a physical hill. This is the same symbology the present de facto
26 government uses when they say you are “in this State” or are a “resident” within “this State”. “resident” means a contractor
27 or covenant member:

28 26 C.F.R. §301.7701-5 Domestic, foreign, resident, and nonresident persons.

29 A domestic corporation is one organized or created in the United States, including only the States (and during 30 the periods when not States, the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii), and the District of Columbia, or under the
31 law of the United States or of any State or Territory. A foreign corporation is one which is not domestic. A
32 domestic corporation is a resident corporation even though it does no business and owns no property in the
33 United States. A foreign corporation engaged in trade or business within the United States is referred to in the
34 regulations in this chapter as a resident foreign corporation, and a foreign corporation not engaged in trade or
35 business within the United States, as a nonresident foreign corporation. A partnership engaged in trade or
36 business within the United States is referred to in the regulations in this chapter as a resident partnership, and a
37 partnership not engaged in trade or business within the United States, as a nonresident partnership. Whether a
38 partnership is to be regarded as resident or nonresident is not determined by the nationality or residence of its
39 members or by the place in which it was created or organized.

41 [IMPORTANT NOTE!: Whether a “person” is a “resident” or “nonresident” has NOTHING to do with the 42 nationality or residence, but with whether it is engaged in a “trade or business”]

52 territory within these limits owned by or ceded to the United States of America.

1 Now that we know what a “hill” or “mountain” is, we have a whole new perspective on the following statement by Jesus:

2 *So Jesus answered and said to them, “Have faith in God. For assuredly, I say to you, whoever says to this
3 mountain, ‘Be removed and be cast into the sea,’ and does not doubt in his heart, but believes that those things
4 he says will be done, he will have whatever he says. Therefore I say to you, whatever things you ask when you*
5 pray, believe that you receive them, and you will have them.
6 [Mark 11:22-24, Bible, NKJV]

7
8 Then the disciples came to Jesus privately and said, “Why could we not cast it out?”

9 *So Jesus said to them, “Because of your unbelief; for assuredly, I say to you, if you have faith as a mustard seed,
10 you will say to this mountain, ‘Move from here to there,’ and it will move; and nothing will be impossible for 11 you. However, this kind does not go out except by prayer and fasting.”*
12 [Matt. 17:19-21, Bible, NKJV]

13 Jesus indirectly was referencing a prayer that would bring an evil political kingdom down and destroy it. Obviously, He 14 wasn’t referring to a righteous government, because elsewhere in the Bible, we are told to submit ourselves ONLY to political
15 rulers WHO ARE OBEYING GOD’S LAWS. Those rulers or governments who are NOT obeying God’s laws or who write 16 laws in CONFLICT with God’s laws we are commanded to rebel against:

17 Submission to Government

18 Therefore submit yourselves to every ordinance of man [which is ONLY] for the Lord’s sake, whether to the 19 king as supreme, or to governors, as to those who are sent by him for the punishment of evildoers and for the 20 praise of those who do good. For this is the will of God, that by doing good you may put to silence the ignorance*
21 of foolish men— as free, yet not using liberty as a cloak for vice, but as bondservants of God. Honor all people.
22 Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honor the king.
23 [1 Peter 2:13-17, Bible, NKJV]

24
25 Then the captain went with the officers and brought them without violence, for they feared the people, lest they
26 should be stoned. And when they had brought them, they set them before the council. And the high priest asked
27 *them, saying, “Did we not strictly command you not to teach in this name? And look, you have filled Jerusalem
28 with your doctrine, and intend to bring this Man’s blood on us!”*

29 But Peter and the other apostles answered and said: “We ought to obey God rather than men. The God of our 30 fathers raised up Jesus whom you murdered by hanging on a tree. Him God has exalted to His right hand to be
31 Prince and Savior, to give repentance to Israel and forgiveness of sins. And we are His witnesses to these things,
32 and so also is the Holy Spirit whom God has given to those who obey Him.”
33 [Acts 5:26-32, Bible, NKJV]

34 An example of the prayer Jesus is talking about in Mark 11:22-24 to punish an unrighteous government or civil ruler is 35 described in the following sermons:

44 To summarize the criteria for a civil domicile in the Kingdom of Heaven INSTEAD of in Caesar’s kingdom, you must:

- 45 1. Walk uprightly. By this, we believe it means walk confidently and derive your confidence and trust from ONLY faith
46 in God.
47 2. Work righteousness.
48 3. Speak the truth in your heart. Brutally honest to yourself about everything.
49 4. Not backbite with your tongue. By this we believe it means you don’t gossip or insult anyone.

- 1 5. Do no evil to your neighbor.
- 2 6. Not take up a reproach against your friend. In other words, do not seek revenge.
- 3 7. Despise vile or evil people.
- 4 8. Honor those who fear the Lord.
- 5 9. Swear to your own hurt and do not change.
- 6 10. Not put out your money at usury,
- 7 11. Take no bribe against the innocent.

8 13.10.3 Biblical mandate of equal treatment REQUIRES no civil statutes and only common law and criminal law

9 In his wonderful course on justice and mercy that we highly recommend, Pastor Tim Keller analyzes the elements that make 10 up “justice” from both a legal and a biblical perspective.

Doing Justice and Mercy, Pastor Tim Keller
<http://sedm.org/doing-justice-and-mercy-timothy-keller/>

11 At 19:00 he begins covering biblical justice and introduces the subject by quoting Lev. 24:22:

12 “You shall have the same law for the stranger and for one from your own country; for I am the LORD your God.”
 13 [Lev. 24:22, Bible, NKJV]

14 The above scripture may seem innocuous at first until you consider what a biblical “stranger” is. In legal terms, it means a
 15 “nonresident”. A “nonresident”, in turn, is a transient wanderer who is not domiciled in the physical place that he or she is 16 physically located. To have the SAME law for both nonresident and domiciliary means they are BOTH treated equally by 17 the government and the court. This scripture therefore advocates equality of protection and treatment between nonresidents
 18 and domiciliaries. We cover the subject of equality of protection and treatment in:

Requirement for Equal Protection and Equal Treatment, Form #05.033
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

19 The legal implications of Lev. 24:22 is the following:

- 20 1. A biblical “stranger” is called a “nonresident” in the legal field.
- 21 2. A biblical stranger is therefore someone WITHOUT a civil domicile in the place he is physically located.
- 22 3. The Bible says in Lev. 24:22 that you must have the SAME “law” for both the stranger and the domiciliary.
- 23 4. The civil statutory code acquires the “force of law” only upon the consent of those who are subject to it. Hence, the 24 main difference between the nonresident and the domiciliary is consent.
- 25 5. The only type of “law” that is the SAME for both nonresidents and domiciliaries is the common law and the criminal 26 law, because:
 - 27 5.1. Neither one of these two types of law requires consent of those they are enforced against.
 - 28 5.2. Neither one requires a civil domicile to be enforceable. A mere physical or commercial presence is sufficient to 29 enforce EITHER.

30 The conclusion is therefore inescapable that the only way the nonresident and the domiciliary can be treated EXACTLY 31 equally in a biblical sense is if:

- 32 1. The only type of "law" God authorizes is the criminal law and the common law. This means that God Himself defines 33 “law” as NOT including the civil statutes or protection franchises.
- 34 2. Anything OTHER than the criminal law and common law is not "law" but merely a compact or contract enforceable
 35 only against those who individually and expressly consent. Implicit in the idea of consent is the absence of duress,
 36 coercion, or force of any kind. This means that the government offering civil statutes or “protection franchises”
 37 MUST:
 - 38 2.1. NEVER call these statutes “law” but only an offer to contract with those who seek their “benefits”.
 - 39 2.2. Only offer an opportunity to consent to those who are legally capable of lawfully consenting. Those in states of 40 the Union whose rights are UNALIENABLE are legally incapable of consenting.
 - 41 2.3. RECOGNIZE WHERE consent is impossible, which means among those whose PRIVATE or NATURAL rights
 42 are unalienable in states of the Union.

1 2.4. RECOGNIZE those who refuse to consent.

2 2.5. Provide a way administratively to express and register their non-consent and be acknowledged with legally
3 admissible evidence that their withdrawal of consent has been registered..

4 2.6. PROTECT those who refuse to consent from retribution for not “volunteering”.

5 3. The civil statutory code may NOT be created, enacted, enforced, or offered against ANYONE OTHER than those who
6 LAWFULLY consented and had the legal capacity to consent because either abroad or on federal territory, both of 7 which are not protected by the Constitution. Why? Because it is a “protection franchise” that DESTROYS equality of 8 treatment of those who are subject to it. We cover this in Government Instituted Slavery Using Franchises, Form
9 #05.030.

10 4. Everyone in states of the Union MUST be conclusively presumed to NOT consent to ANY civil domicile and therefore 11 be EQUAL under ALL “laws” within the venue.

12 5. Both private people AND those in government, or even the entire government are on an equal footing with each other
13 in court. NONE enjoys any special advantage, which means no one in government may assert sovereign, official, or 14 judicial immunity UNLESS PRIVATE people can as well.

15 6. Anyone who tries to enact, offer, or enforce ANY civil statutory “codes” and especially franchises is attempting what 16 the U.S. Supreme Court calls “class legislation” that leads inevitably to strife in society:

17 “The income tax law under consideration is marked by discriminating features which affect the whole law. It
18 discriminates between those who receive an income of $4,000 and those who do not. It thus vitiates, in my 19 judgment, by this arbitrary discrimination, the whole legislation. Hamilton says in one of his papers (the 20 Continentalist): ‘The genius of liberty reprobates everything arbitrary or discretionary in taxation. It exacts that 21 every man, by a definite and general rule, should know what proportion of his property the state demands;
22 whatever liberty we may boast of in theory, it cannot exist in fact while [arbitrary] assessments continue.’ I
23 Hamilton’s Works (Ed. 1885) 270. The legislation, in the discrimination it makes, is class legislation. Whenever 24 a distinction is made in the burdens a law imposes or in the benefits it confers on any citizens by reason of 25 their birth, or wealth, or religion, it is class legislation, and leads inevitably to oppression and abuses, and to 26 general unrest and disturbance in society. It was hoped and believed that the great amendments to the 27 constitution which followed the late Civil War had rendered such legislation impossible for all future time.”
28 [Pollock v. Farmers’ Loan and Trust Co., 157 U.S. 429 (1895)]

29 7. Any attempt to refer to the civil code as “law” in a biblical sense by anyone in the legal profession is a deception and a
30 heresy. They are LYING!

31 8. The only proper way to refer to the civil statutory code is as “PRIVATE LAW” or “SPECIAL LAW”, but not merely 32 “law”. Any other description leads to deception.

33 “Private law. That portion of the law which defines, regulates, enforces, and administers relationships among
34 individuals, associations, and corporations. As used in contradistinction to public law, the term means all that
35 part of the law which is administered between citizen and citizen, or which is concerned with the definition,
36 regulation, and enforcement of rights in cases where both the person in whom the right inheres and the person
37 upon whom the obligation is incident are private individuals. See also Private bill; Special law. Compare Public
38 Law.”

39 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1196]

40 “special law. One relating to particular persons or things; one made for individual cases or for particular places
41 or districts; one operating upon a selected class, rather than upon the public generally. A private law. A law is
42 “special” when it is different from others of the same general kind or designed for a particular purpose, or limited
43 in range or confined to a prescribed field of action or operation. A “special law” relates to either particular
44 persons, places, or things or to persons, places, or things which, though not particularized, are separated by any
45 method of selection from the whole class to which the law might, but not such legislation, be applied. Utah Farm
46 Bureau Ins. Co. v. Utah Ins. Guaranty Ass’n, Utah, 564 P.2d. 751, 754. A special law applies only to an individual
47 or a number of individuals out of a single class similarly situated and affected, or to a special locality. Board of
48 County Com’rs of Lemhi County v. Swensen, Idaho, 80 Idaho 198, 327 P.2d. 361, 362. See also Private bill;
49 Private law. Compare General law; Public law.”

50 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, pp. 1397-1398]

51 9. Anyone who advocates creating, offering, or enforcing the civil statutory code in any society corrupts society, usually 52 for the sake of the love of money. In effect, they seek to turn the civil temple of government into a WHOREHOUSE.
53 Justice is only possible when those who administer it are impartial and have no financial conflict of interest. The 54 purpose of all franchises is to raise government revenue, usually for the “benefit” mainly of those in the government,
55 and not for anyone else.

1 “As expressed otherwise, the powers delegated to a public officer are held in trust for the people and are to be
2 exercised in behalf of the government or of all citizens who may need the intervention of the officer.”⁹³
3 Furthermore, the view has been expressed that all public officers, within whatever branch and whatever level
4 of government, and whatever be their private vocations, are trustees of the people, and accordingly labor under
5 every disability and prohibition imposed by law upon trustees relative to the making of personal financial gain
6 from a discharge of their trusts.⁹⁴ That is, a public officer occupies a fiduciary relationship to the political
7 entity on whose behalf he or she serves.⁹⁵ and owes a fiduciary duty to the public.⁹⁶ It has been said that the
8 fiduciary responsibilities of a public officer cannot be less than those of a private individual.⁹⁷ Furthermore,
9 it has been stated that any enterprise undertaken by the public official which tends to weaken public confidence
10 and undermine the sense of security for individual rights is against public policy.⁹⁸

QUESTION FOR DOUBTERS: If the analysis in this section is NOT accurate, then why did God say the following about either rejecting or disobeying His commandments and law or replacing them with man-made commandments and statutes, such as we have today?:

Israel Carried Captive to Assyria

5 Now the king of Assyria went throughout all the land, and went up to Samaria and besieged it for three years. 6 In the ninth year of Hoshea, the king of Assyria took Samaria and carried Israel away to Assyria, and placed them in Halah and by the Habor, the River of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes.

7 For so it was that the children of Israel had sinned against the Lord their God, who had brought them up out of the land of Egypt, from under the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt; and they had feared other gods, 8 and had walked in the statutes of the nations whom the Lord had cast out from before the children of Israel, and of the kings of Israel, which they had made. 9 Also the children of Israel secretly did against the Lord their God things that were not right, and they built for themselves high places in all their cities, from watchtower to fortified city. 10 They set up for themselves sacred pillars and wooden images[a] on every high hill and under every green tree. 11 There they burned incense on all the high places, like the nations whom the Lord had carried away before them; and they did wicked things to provoke the Lord to anger, 12 for they served idols, of which the Lord had said to them, “You shall not do this thing.”

13 Yet the Lord testified against Israel and against Judah, by all of His prophets, every seer, saying, “Turn from your evil ways, and keep My commandments and My statutes, according to all the law which I commanded your fathers, and which I sent to you by My servants the prophets.” 14 Nevertheless they would not hear, but stiffened their necks, like the necks of their fathers, who did not believe in the Lord their God. 15 And they rejected His statutes and His covenant that He had made with their fathers, and His testimonies which He had testified against them; they followed idols, became idolaters, and went after the nations who were all around them, concerning whom the Lord had charged them that they should not do like them. 16 So they left all the commandments of the Lord their God, made for themselves a molded image and two calves, made a wooden image and worshiped all the host of heaven, and served Baal. 17 And they caused their sons and daughters to pass through the fire, practiced witchcraft and soothsaying, and sold themselves to do evil in the sight of the Lord, to provoke Him to anger. 18 Therefore the Lord was very angry with Israel, and removed them from His sight; there was none left but the tribe of Judah alone.

19 Also Judah did not keep the commandments of the Lord their God, but walked in the statutes of Israel which they made. 20 And the Lord rejected all the descendants of Israel, afflicted them, and delivered them into the hand of plunderers, until He had cast them from His sight. 21 For He tore Israel from the house of David, and they made Jeroboam the son of Nebat king. Then Jeroboam drove Israel from following the Lord, and made them commit a great sin. 22 For the children of Israel walked in all the sins of Jeroboam which he did; they did not depart from them, 23 until the Lord removed Israel out of His sight, as He had said by all His servants the prophets. So Israel was carried away from their own land to Assyria, as it is to this day.

[2 Kings 17:5-23, Bible, NKJV]

1 The above analysis is EXACTLY the approach we take in defining what “law” is in the following memorandum:

What is “law”?, Form #05.048
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

2 13.10.4 It is idolatry for a Christian to have a domicile within a man-made government or anything other than
3 God’s Kingdom

4 Note also the use of the word “permanent home” in the definition of “domicile”. According to the Bible, "earth" is NOT
5 permanent, but instead is only temporary, and will eventually be destroyed and rebuilt as a new and different earth:

6 “But the heavens and the earth which are now preserved by the same word, are reserved for fire until the day of 7 judgment and perdition of ungodly men.”
8 [2 Peter 3:7, Bible NKJV]

9 The legal definition of "permanent" also demonstrates that it can mean any length of time one wants it to mean:

10 8 U.S.C. §1101

11 (a) As used in this chapter—

1 (31) The term "permanent" means a relationship of continuing or lasting nature, as distinguished from
2 temporary, but a relationship may be permanent even though it is one that may be dissolved eventually at the
3 instance either of the United States or of the individual, in accordance with law.

4 We believe what they are really describing above is the equivalent of a "protection contract" between you and the government,
5 because the way it functions is that it is terminated when either you or the government insist, which means that while it is in
6 force, your consent is inferred and legally "presumed". Below is how another author describes it, and note that the real
7 meaning of "indefinitely" is "as long as he consents to a protector":

8 "One resides in one's domicile indefinitely, that is, with no definite end planned for the stay. While we hear
9 'permanently' mentioned, the better word is 'indefinitely'. This is best seen in the context of a change of 10 domicile."
11 [Conflicts in a Nutshell, David D. Siegel and Patrick J. Borchers, ISBN 0-314-160669-3, 3rd Edition, West Group, 12 p. 16]

13 Christians define "permanent" the same way God does. God is eternal so His concept of "permanent" means "eternal".
14 Therefore, no place on earth can be "permanent" in the context of a Christian:

15 "Do not love [be a permanent inhabitant or resident of] the world or the things in the world. If anyone loves the 16 world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world--the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes,
17 and the pride of life--is not of the Father but is of the world. And the world is passing away [not permanent], and 18 the lust of it; but he who does the will of God abides forever."
19 [1 John 2:15, Bible, NKJV]

20 Christians are only allowed to be governed by God and His laws found in the Bible. Man's laws are simply a vain substitute,
21 but God's laws are our only true and permanent source of protection, and the only type of protection we can consent to or
22 intend to be subject to without violating our covenant and contract with God found in the Holy Bible.

23 "Away with you , Satan! For it is written, 'You shall worship the Lord your God, and Him ONLY [NOT the 24 government or man's vain laws or an atheistic democratic socialist "state"] you shall serve.'"
25 [Matt. 4:10, Bible, NKJV]

26 The main allegiance of Christians is exclusively to Him, and not to any man or earthly law or government. We are citizens
27 of Heaven, and not earth. The most we can be while on earth is "nationals", because "nationals" are not subject to man's laws
28 and only "citizens" are. See:

Why You are a "national", "state national", and Constitutional but not Statutory Citizen, Family Guardian Fellowship
<https://famguardian.org/Publications/WhyANational/WhyANational.pdf>

29 Therefore, the Kingdom of Heaven on Earth can be our only "legal home" or "domicile" or "residence".

30 "For our citizenship is [not WAS or WILL BE, but PRESENTLY IS] in heaven, from which we also eagerly 31 wait for the Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ"
32 [Philippians 3:20, Bible, NKJV]

33 "These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off were assured of them,
34 embraced them and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth."
35 [Hebrews 11:13, Bible, NKJV]

36 "Beloved, I beg you as sojourners and pilgrims [temporarily occupying the world], abstain from fleshly lusts 37 which war against the soul..."
38 [1 Peter 2:1, Bible, NKJV]

39 "Do you not know that friendship [and citizenship] with the world is enmity with God? Whoever therefore 40 wants to be a friend for "resident"] of the world makes himself an enemy of God."
41 [James 4:4, Bible, NKJV]

42 "And do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove 43 what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God. "
44 [Romans 12:2, Bible, NKJV]

45 The above scriptures say we are "sojourners and pilgrims", meaning we are perpetual travelers while temporarily here as 46 God's ambassadors. Legal treatises on domicile also confirm that while a person is "in transitu", meaning travelling and

1 sojourning temporarily, he cannot choose a domicile and that his domicile reverts to his "domicile of origin". The domicile
2 of origin is the place you were created and existed before you came to Earth, which is Heaven:

3 § 114. Id. Domicil of Origin adheres until another Domicil is acquired. –

4 But whether the doctrine of Udney v. Udney be or be not accepted, the law, as held in Great Britain and America,
5 is beyond all doubt clear that domicil of origin clings and adheres to the subject of it until another domicil is
6 acquired. This is a logical deduction from the postulate that "every person must have a domicil somewhere." For 7 as a new domicil cannot be acquired except by actual residence cum animo manendi, it follows that the domicil
8 of origin adheres while the subject of it is in transitu, or, if he has not yet determined upon a new place of
9 abode, while he is in search of one,--"quarens quo se conferat atque ubi constituat." Although this is a
10 departure from the Roman law doctrine, yet it is held with entire unanimity by the British and American cases. It
11 was first announced, though somewhat confusedly, by Lord Alvanley in Somerville v. Somerville: "The third rule
12 I shall extract is that the original domicil . . . or the domicil of origin is to prevail until the party has not only
13 acquired another, but has manifested and carried into execution an intention of abandoning his former domicil
14 and taking another as his sole domicil." The same idea has been expressed by Lord Wensleydale in somewhat
15 different phrase in Aikman v. Aikman: "Every man's domicil of origin must be presumed to continue until he has 16 acquired another sole domicil by actual residence with the intention of abandoning his domicil of origin. This 17 change must be animo et facto, and the burden of proof unquestionably lies upon him who asserts the change."
18 Lord Cranworth observed in the same case: "It is a clear principle of law that the domicil of origin continues
19 until another is acquired; i.e., until the person has made a new home for himself in lieu of the home of his birth."
20 In America similar language has been used.

21 [Treatise on the Law of Domicil, Little, Brown, and Company, M.W. Jacobs, 1887, pp. 174-175;

22 SOURCE: <http://books.google.com/books?id=MFQvAAAAIAAJ&printsec=titlepage/>]

23 Even the U.S. Supreme Court has held that while a person temporarily occupies a place and is "in transitu" or "in itinere", he 24 or she is not subject to the civil laws of that place.

25 "It is generally agreed by writers upon international law, and the rule has been judicially applied in a great
26 number of cases, that wherever any question may arise concerning the status of a person, it must be determined
27 according to that law which has next previously rightfully operated on and fixed that status. And, further, that
28 the laws of a country do not rightfully operate upon and fix the status of persons who are within its limits in
29 itinere, or who are abiding there for definite temporary purposes, as for health, curiosity, or occasional
30 business; that these laws, known to writers on public and private international law as personal statutes, operate
31 only on the inhabitants of the country. Not that it is or can be denied that each independent nation may, if it
32 thinks fit, apply them to all persons within their limits. But when this is done, not in conformity with the principles
33 of international law, other States are not understood to be willing to recognize or allow effect to such applications
34 of personal statutes. "

35 [Dred Scott v. Sandford, 60 U.S. (19 How.) 393, 595 (1856)]

36 To "consent" or "choose" to be governed by anything but God and His sacred Law is idolatry in violation of the first four 37 Commandments of the Ten Commandments.

38 "It is better to trust the Lord
39 Than to put confidence in man.
40 It is better to trust in the Lord
41 Than to put confidence in princes [or government, or the 'state']."
42 [Psalm 118:8-9]

43 If you can't put confidence in "princes", which we interpret to mean political rulers or governments, then we certainly can't 44 have allegiance to them or put that allegiance above our allegiance to God. We can therefore have no "legal home" or 45 "domicile" or "residence" anywhere on earth. Our only law is God's law and Common law, which is based on God's law.
46 Below is an example of how the early Jews adopted this very attitude towards government from the Bible.

47 "Then Haman said to King Ahasuerus, "There is a certain people [the Jews, who today are the equivalent of 48 Christians] scattered and dispersed among the people in all the provinces of your kingdom; their laws are
49 different from all other people's because they are [God's laws!], and they do not keep the [king's \[unjust\] laws.](#)
50 Therefore it is not fitting for the king to let them remain. If it pleases the king, let a decree be written that they be 51 destroyed, and I will pay ten thousand talents of silver into the hands of those who do the work, to bring it into 52 the king's treasuries."

53 [Esther 3:8-9, Bible, NKJV]

54 "Those people who are not governed [ONLY] by GOD and His laws will be ruled by tyrants."
55 [William Penn (after whom Pennsylvania was named)]

1 "A free people [claim] their rights as derived from the laws of nature [God and His laws], and not as the gift of
2 their chief magistrate [or any government law]."
3 [Thomas Jefferson: Rights of British America, 1774. ME 1:209, Papers 1:134]

4 Our acronym for the word BIBLE confirms the above conclusions:

5 B-Basic
6 I-Instructions
7 B-Before
8 L-Leaving
9 E-Earth

10 We are only temporarily here and Heaven is where we intend to return and live permanently. Legal domicile is based only
11 on intent, not on physical presence, and it is only "domicile" which establishes one's legal and tax "home". No one but us
12 can establish our "intent" and this is the express intent. Neither can we as Christians permit our "domicile" to be subject to 13 change under any circumstances, even when coerced. To admit that there is a "permanent home" or "place of abode"
14 anywhere on earth is to admit that there is no afterlife, no God, and that this earth is as good as it gets, which is a depressing
15 prospect indeed that conflicts with the Bible. The Bible says that while we are here, Satan is in control, so this is definitely 16 not a place we would want to call a permanent home or a domicile:

17 "We know that we are of God, and the whole world lies under the sway of the wicked one."
18 [1 John 5:19, Bible, NKJV]

20 "Again, the devil took Him [Jesus] up on an exceedingly high mountain, and showed Him all the kingdoms of the 21 world and their glory. And he said to Him, "All these things I will give You if You will fall down and worship 22 me. [Satan]"

23 Then Jesus said to him, "Away with you, Satan! For it is written, 'You shall worship the LORD your God, and
24 Him only you shall serve.'"

25 "Then the devil left Him, and behold, angels came and ministered to Him."
26 [Matt. 4:8-11, Bible, NKJV]

28 "I [Jesus] will no longer talk much with you, for the ruler of this world [Satan] is coming, and he has nothing
29 in Me. But that the world may know that I love the Father, and as the Father gave Me commandment, so I do.
30 Arise, let us go from here."
31 Jesus in [John 14:30-31, Bible, NKJV]

32 Satan could not have offered the kingdoms of the world to Jesus and tempted Him with them unless he controlled them to 33 begin with. Satan is in control while we are here. Only a fool or an atheist would intend to make a wicked earth controlled
34 by Satan into a "permanent place of abode".

35 "He who loves his life will lose it, and he who hates his life in this world [on earth] will keep it for eternal life."
36 [John 12:25, Bible, NKJV]

37 Only a person who hates this life and the earth as they are and who doesn't want to make it a "permanent place of abode" or 38 "domicile" can inherit eternal life.

39 "If you were of the world [had a permanent home here], the world would love its own. Yet because you
40 [Christians] are not of the world, but I chose you out of the world, therefore the world hates you [who are a 41 "stranger" and a "foreigner"]."
42 [John 15:19, Bible, NKJV.

43 QUESTION: How can you be "chosen out of the world" as Jesus says and yet still have a domicile here?]

44 "Pure and undefiled religion before God and the Father is this: to visit orphans and widows in their trouble, 45 and to keep oneself unspotted from the world [and the governments, laws, taxes, entanglements, and sin in the 46 world]."
47 [James 1:27, Bible, NKJV]

1 "So we are always confident, knowing that while we are at home in the body [the physical body] we are absent
2 from the Lord. For we walk by faith, not by sight. We are confident, yes, well pleased rather to be absent from
3 the body and to be present with the Lord [in the Kingdom of Heaven]."
4 [2 Cor. 5:6-8, Bible, NKJV]

5 Even Jesus Himself admitted that earth was not his "domicile" when He said:

6 Then a certain scribe came and said to Him, "Teacher, I will follow You wherever You go." And Jesus said to
7 him, "Foxes have holes and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay His head."
8 [Matt. 8:19-20, Bible, NKJV]

9 When we become believers, we, like Jesus Himself, become God's "ambassadors" on a foreign mission from the Kingdom
10 of Heaven according to 2 Cor. 5:20. Our house is a foreign embassy:

11 "Now then, we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God were pleading through us: we implore you on Christ's 12 behalf, be reconciled to God."
13 [2 Cor. 5:20, Bible, NKJV]

14 The Corpus Juris Secundum Legal Encyclopedia says that ambassadors have the domicile of those who they represent, which 15 in the case of Christians is the Kingdom of Heaven.

16 PARTICULAR PERSONS
17 4. Public Officials and Employees; Members of the Armed Services
18 §31 Public Officials and Employees

19 Ambassadors, consuls, and other public officials residing abroad in governmental service do not generally
20 acquire a domicile in the country where their official duties are performed, but retain their original domicile," 21 although such officials may acquire a domicile at their official residence, if they engage in business or commerce
22 inconsistent with, or extraneous to, their public or diplomatic character.
23 [Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Domicile, §31 (2003);
24 SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/CitesByTopic/Domicile-28CJS-20051203.pdf>]

25 Another interesting aspect of domicile explains why the Bible symbolically refers to believers as the "children of God".
26 Below are examples:

27 "But as many as received Him, to them He gave the right to become children of God, to those who believe in His 28 name"
29 [John 1:2, Bible, NKJV]

30 "The Spirit Himself bears witness with our spirit that we are children of God"
31 [Romans 8:16, Bible, NKJV]

32 "That is, those who are the children of the flesh, these are not the children of God; but the children of the promise 33 are counted as the seed."
34 [Romans 9:8, Bible, NKJV]

35 "Behold what manner of love the Father has bestowed on us, that we should be called children of God!"
36 [1 John 3:1, Bible, NKJV]

37 "In this the children of God and the children of the devil are manifest: Whoever does not practice righteousness
38 is not of God, nor is he who does not love his brother."
39 [1 John 3:10, Bible, NKJV]

40 By this we know that we love the children of God, when we love God and keep His commandments."
41 [1 John 5:2, Bible, NKJV]

42 The Corpus Juris Secundum Legal Encyclopedia says that those who are children, dependents, minors, or of unsound mind
43 assume the domicile of the sovereign who is their "caretaker". As long as we are called "children of God" and are dependent
44 exclusively on Him, we assume His domicile, which is the Kingdom of God:

45 PARTICULAR PERSONS
46 Infants
47 §20 In General

1 An infant, being non sui juris, cannot fix or change his domicile unless emancipated. A legitimate child's domicile
2 usually follows that of the father. In case of separation or divorce of parents, the child has the domicile of the 3 parent who has been awarded custody of the child.
4 [Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Domicile, §20 (2003);
5 SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/CitesByTopic/Domicile-28CJS-20051203.pdf>]

6 The Bible treats the government as God's steward for truth and justice under God's laws. The passage below proves this, and
7 it is not referring to ALL governments, but only those that are righteous, which are God's stewards, and who act in a way
8 that is completely consistent and not in conflict with God's holy laws.

9 Submit to [Righteous] Government [and rebel against Unrighteous Government]

10 "Let every soul be subject to the governing authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and the 11 authorities that exist are appointed by God. Therefore whoever resists the authority resists the ordinance of God,
12 and those who resist will bring judgment on themselves. For [righteous] rulers are not a terror to good works,
13 but to evil. [However, unrighteous rulers ARE a terror to good works] Do you want to be unafraid of the 14 [righteous] authority? Do what is good, and you will have praise from the same. For he [ONLY the righteous,
15 not the unrighteous ruler] is God's minister to you for good. But if you do evil, be afraid; for he does not bear
16 the sword in vain; for he is God's minister, an avenger to execute wrath on him who practices evil. Therefore
17 you must be subject, not only because of wrath but also for conscience' sake. For because of this you also pay
18 taxes, for they [the righteous, and not unrighteous rulers] are God's ministers attending continually to this very 19 thing. Render therefore to all [those who are righteous and NOT unrighteous] their due: taxes to whom taxes
20 are due, customs to whom customs, fear to whom fear, honor to whom honor."
21 [Rom. 13:1-7, Bible, NKJV]

22 The term "governing authorities" is synonymous with "God's ministers". The Bible says that the government is on Jesus'
23 shoulders, and therefore God's shoulders, not any man:

24 "For God is the King of all the earth; Sing praises with understanding."
25 [Psalm 47:7, Bible, NKJV]

27 "For the LORD is our Judge, the LORD is our Lawgiver, the LORD is our King; He will save [and protect]
28 us."
29 [Isaiah 33:22, Bible, NKJV]

31 For unto us a Child is born,
32 Unto us a Son is given;
33 And the government will be upon His shoulder.
34 And His name will be called
35 Wonderful, Counselor, Mighty God,
36 Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace.
37 [Isaiah 9:6, Bible, NKJV]

38 The Lord cannot be King where Satan is allowed to rule, even temporarily. Those who are not God's ministers are NOT 39 "governing authorities" but usurpers and representatives of Satan, not God. They are "children of Satan", not God.

40 "They have corrupted themselves;
41 They are not His children,
42 Because of their blemish:
43 A perverse and crooked generation."
44 [Deut. 32:5, Bible, NKJV]

45 When government ceases to be a "minister of God's justice" and rather becomes a competitor for pagan idol worship and 46 obedience of the people, then God abandons the government and the result is the equivalent of a legal divorce. This is 47 revealed in the following scripture, which describes those who pursue pagan gods and pagan governments that act like god
48 as "playing the harlot". The phrase "invites you to eat of his sacrifice", in modern day terms, refers to those who receive
49 socialist welfare in any form, most of which is PLUNDER STOLEN from people who became a human sacrifice to the pagan
50 government:

51 The Covenant Renewed

52 And He said: "Behold, I make a covenant. Before all your people I will do marvels such as have not been done
53 in all the earth, nor in any nation; and all the people among whom you are shall see the work of the LORD. For

1 it is an awesome thing that I will do with you. Observe what I command you this day. Behold, I am driving out
2 from before you the Amorite and the Canaanite and the Hittite and the Perizzite and the Hivite and the Jebusite.
3 Take heed to yourself, lest you make a covenant with the inhabitants of the land where you are going, lest it
4 be a snare in your midst. But you shall destroy their altars, break their sacred pillars, and cut down their
5 wooden images (for you shall worship no other god, for the LORD, whose name is Jealous, is a jealous God),
6 lest you make a covenant [engage in a franchise, contract, or agreement] with the inhabitants of the land, and
7 they play the harlot with their gods and make sacrifice to their gods, and one of them invites you and you eat
8 of his sacrifice, and you take of his daughters for your sons, and his daughters play the harlot with their gods
9 and make your sons play the harlot with their gods.
10 [Exodus 34:10-16, Bible, NKJV]

11 "No outsider [person who has not taken the Mark of the Beast] shall eat the holy offering [revenues collected
12 from involuntary human sacrifices to the pagan cult by the IRS or the SSA]; one who dwells with the priest [judges
13 are the priests of the civil religion], or a hired servant [licensed attorneys, who are the deacons of the church
14 appointed by the chief priests at the Supreme Court], shall not eat the holy thing. But if the priest [the judge]
15 buys a person with his money [his court order to induct a new cult member by compelling participation in excise
16 taxable activities such as a "trade or business"]; he may eat it; and one who is born in his [court] house [or is a
17 fellow "public officer" of the government engaged in a "trade or business"] may eat his food."
18 [Lev. 22:10-11, Bible, NKJV]

19 "He who sacrifices to any god, except to the LORD only, he shall be utterly destroyed."
20 [Exodus 22:20, Bible, NKJV]

21 "They shall no more offer their sacrifices to demons, after whom they have played the harlot. This shall be a 22 statute forever for them throughout their generations."
23 [Lev. 17:7, Bible, NKJV]

24 The result of the divorce of a righteous God from a Pagan government that has become a child of Satan and His competitor
25 for the worship of the people is that God "hides his face", as the Bible says:

26 And I will surely hide My face in that day because of all the evil which they have done, in that they have turned 27 to other gods.
28 [Deut. 31:18, Bible, NKJV]

29 "I will hide My face from them. I will see what their end will be, For they are a perverse generation, Children 30 in whom is no faith."
31 [Deut. 32:20, Bible, NKJV]

32 "Then My anger shall be aroused against them in that day, and I will forsake them, and I will hide My face from 33 them, and they shall be devoured. And many evils and troubles shall befall them, so that they will say in that day,
34 'Have not these evils come upon us because our God is not among us?'"
35 [Deut. 31:17, Bible, NKJV]

36 Below is a fascinating sermon about how and why God "hides his face" or "disappears":

The Disappearing God, Pastor John Weaver, 1 Sam. 3:21
<http://www.sermonaudio.com/sermoninfo.asp?SID=8121351932>

37 Those who follow pagan governments rather than God after the civil "divorce" become the children of Satan, not God and
38 are practicing idolatry. These people have misread Romans 13 and made government into a pagan substitute for God's 39 protection and adopt the government as their new caretaker, and thereby shift their effective domicile to the government as
40 its dependents and "children". This is especially true when the government becomes socialist, abuses its power to tax as a
41 means of wealth transfer, and pays any type of social welfare to the people. At that point, the people become "dependents"
42 and assume the domicile of their caretaker. One insightful congressman said the following of this dilemma during the debates
43 over the original Social Security Act:

44 Mr. Logan: "...Natural laws can not be created, repealed, or modified by legislation. Congress should know there 45 are many things which it can not do..."

46 "It is now proposed to make the Federal Government the guardian of its citizens. If that should be done, the 47 Nation soon must perish. There can only be a free nation when the people themselves are free and administer
48 the government which they have set up to protect their rights. Where the general government must provide 49 work, and incidentally food and clothing for its citizens, freedom and individuality will be destroyed and
50 eventually the citizens will become serfs to the general government..."

4 Any attempt to think about citizenship, domicile, and residence any way other than the way it is described here amounts to a
5 devious and deceptive attempt by the Pharisees [lawyers] to use the "traditions of men" to entrap Christians and churches and
6 put them under government laws, control, taxes, and regulation, thereby violating the separation of powers doctrine. The 7 Separation of Powers Doctrine as well as the Bible itself both require churches and Christians to be totally separate from
8 government, man's laws, and control, taxation, and regulation by government. See Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Sections
9 4.4.5 and 4.4.11 for further details on the competition between "church" and "state" for the love and affections and allegiances
10 of the people, and why separation of these two powers is absolutely essential.

11 "Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke
12 of bondage to the government or the income tax or the IRS or federal statutes that are not "[positive law" and do
13 not have jurisdiction over us]."
14 [Galatians 5:1, Bible, NKJV]

15 13.10.5 "Domicile of origin" is in the Kingdom of Heaven and NOT on the present corrupted Earth

16 "Domicile of origin" is a legal term used to connote the FIRST domicile a civil "person" ever had at the time of birth. As a
17 concept, it is often employed to resolve disputes about the domicile of a deceased party during probate. Below is an example
18 from the Canadian Courts:

19 The applicable law [20] The law of domicile is well settled:

20 1. A person will always have one, and only one, domicile at any point in his or her life. A person begins with a 21 "domicile of origin", which is generally the place where he or she was born.

22 2. A domicile of origin can be displaced by the acquisition of a "domicile of choice", a place where a person has
23 acquired a residence in fact in a new place and has the intention to live there indefinitely. 2014 SKQB 64 (CanLII)
24 - 6 -

25 3. A person abandons a domicile of choice by ceasing to reside there in fact and by ceasing to intend to reside
26 there permanently or indefinitely.

27 4. A person can lose his or her domicile of choice by abandonment even though a new domicile of choice has not
28 been acquired.

1 The thing that most courts such as the above refuse to acknowledge is the biblical concept of “domicile of origin”. You
2 existed in Heaven BEFORE you came to earth, so the effective “domicile of origin” is NO PLACE on earth. Therefore,
3 God’s laws of probate apply and not man’s:

4 “Before I formed you in the womb I knew you;
5 Before you were born I sanctified you;
6 I ordained you a prophet to the nations.”
7 [Jeremiah 1:5, Bible, NKJV; SOURCE:
8 <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=Jeremiah+1:5&version=NKJV>
9

10 *For You formed my inward parts;
11 You covered me in my mother’s womb.
12 ¹⁴ I will praise You, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made;
13 Marvelous are Your works,
14 And that my soul knows very well.
15 ¹⁵ My frame was not hidden from You,
16 When I was made in secret,
17 And skillfully wrought in the lowest parts of the earth.
18 ¹⁶ Your eyes saw my substance, being yet unformed.
19 And in Your book they all were written,
20 The days fashioned for me,
21 When as yet there were none of them.*

22 [Psalm 139:13-16, Bible, NKJV;SOURCE:
23 <https://www.biblegateway.com/passage/?search=Psalm+139&version=NKJV%5D>

24 Notice the phrase:

25 “¹⁵ My frame was not hidden from You, When I was made in secret, And skillfully wrought in the lowest parts of 26 the earth.”.

27 “Made in secret” implies that NO MAN was around at the time, INCLUDING the mother! “Lowest parts of the Earth”
28 implies a place not on the SURFACE of the Earth.

29 The Bible calls Christians sojourners and pilgrims, which means they are temporarily away from their “domicile of origin”
30 in Heaven or what the scriptures call “The New Jerusalem”. You can only be a “citizen” in the place of your domicile, and 31 you can only have ONE domicile at a time, as the cite above affirms. If we are “citizens of heaven” according to the bible,
32 then we are not ALLOWED to also be “citizens” under any statutes on earth:

33 “For our citizenship is in heaven, from which we also eagerly wait for the Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ”
34 [Philippians 3:20, Bible, NKJV]

35 “Now, therefore, you are no longer strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints and members of 36 the household of God.”
37 [Ephesians 2:19, Bible, NKJV]

38 *“These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off were assured of them,
39 embraced them and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims [transient foreigners] on the earth.”*
40 [Hebrews 11:13, Bible, NKJV]

41 “Beloved, I beg you as sojourners and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts which war against the soul...”
42 [1 Peter 2:11, Bible, NKJV]

43 The real issue of the case is WHAT LAW applies in the place of the “domicile of origin”: 1. STATUTE law or 2. COMMON
44 law?

45 The answer depends on the intention of the party as far as LEGALLY associating with the state and thereby becoming a state
46 officer. If that association was not intended, and the party wishes to remain exclusively private, then the COMMON LAW
47 and the CONSTITUTION and not STATUTE law would apply. The court didn’t address that issue, because taxation or 48 licensing was not at issue. If it were at issue, then the their analysis would need to be much more detailed and on the level of 49 our documents on the subject of franchises, Form #05.030.

1 We all have PUBLIC and PRIVATE identities, and therefore TWO “personas”, one subject to the common law (private) and
2 one subject to STATUTE law (PUBLIC/officer).

3 “Quando duo juro concurrunt in und person, aequum est ac si essent in diversis.

4 When two rights concur in one person, it is the same as if they were in two separate persons. 4 Co. 118.”

5 [Bouvier’s Maxims of Law (1856);

6 SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviereMaxims.htm>]

7 It is clearly prejudicial and constitutes criminal identity theft to PRESUME in violation of due process that the party who
8 died was ONLY PUBLIC and had no PRIVATE status or PRIVATE property.

11 13.11 Domicile and civil jurisdiction

12 13.11.1 What’s so bad about the civil statutory law? Why care about avoiding it or pursuing common law or 13 constitutional law to replace it?

14 Our investigation into the subject of domicile began with abuse by the family courts and the statutory codes that regulate and 15 control it. This sort of legal abuse by what we now call “legislative franchise courts” such as the family court is what gets 16 most people interested in the freedom subject and our website to begin with. Traffic court is another court that abuses people
17 as well and it too is a “legislative franchise court”. At the time of the abuse, we couldn’t figure out exactly what it was about 18 the process that was unjust or unfair, but we resolved to not only thoroughly document it, but to identify how to avoid it and 19 exactly how to prosecute those who instituted the abuse for those who “un-volunteered”. That quest is what gave birth to our 20 entire website and this document, in fact.

21 The basic principle of justice is to:

- 22 1. Govern and support your own life. In other words, ask for nothing from government.
23 2. Leave other people alone. Respect them and protect their right of self-ownership, choice, and self-government.
24 3. Only enforce against others against their consent AFTER they injure someone else.
25 4. Limit all government to recovering the cost of the injury, not government civil penalties on top of it.

26 So how does the civil code, or what we call the “civil protection franchise” undermine the above, we asked ourselves in 27 studying this important subject?:

- 28 1. It grants a monopoly on protection to the government. All monopolies are evil because:
29 1.1. There is no competition.
30 1.2. All attempts to privatize selected services are penalized and prosecuted by hostile bureaucrats who want to 31 “protect their turf” and their retirement check.
32 1.3. The postal service, for instance, has a monopoly on mail but shouldn’t have. Lysander Spooner, the founder of 33 libertarian thought and a lawyer, attempted to compete with the postal service and put them to shame, and he was 34 prosecuted for it.
35 2. It creates and perpetuates an UNEQUAL relationship between the “government grantor” of the civil protection
36 franchise and you.
37 2.1. You become inferior and subservient to the grantor of the franchise. That is why they call those who are subject
38 to it a “subject”.
39 2.2. This results in idolatry in violation of the Bible.
40 3. It destroys ABSOLUTE ownership of PRIVATE property.
41 3.1. The government becomes the ABSOLUTE owner and you become a CUSTODIAN over THEIR property.
42 3.2. The PUBLIC OFFICE called “citizen” or “resident” is merely an employment position you fill as custodian over 43 the GOVERNMENT’S property, meaning ALL property.

- 3.3. The use of government identifying number in association with the title to property becomes prima facie evidence that you are engaged in the franchise and that the property is “PRIVATE PROPERTY DONATED TO A PUBLIC USE TO PROCURE THE BENEFITS OF THE CIVIL PROTECTION FRANCHISE”.
4. It interferes with your right to contract:
 - 4.1. The parties to every civil contract, when using government ID and associated license numbers, unknowingly insert the government into the relationship as an agent of the protection franchise, often without the knowledge of the parties.
 - 4.2. Those who wish to contract the government OUT of the relationship by negotiating either binding arbitration or invoking the common law and not the statute law are interfered with by corrupt judges who want to pad their pocket by inserting themselves into the relationship not as coaches, but OWNERS of both participants who become “employees” or “officers” under the civil code.
5. The civil protection franchise is abused by politicians as a method to institute class warfare between the people:
 - 5.1. The voting booth and the jury box become a battle ground used by the poor to steal from the rich.
 - 5.2. The tax code is used as a vehicle to abuse the government’s taxing power to transfer wealth from the have-nots to the haves.
 - 5.3. The tax code is abused essentially to punish success with taxes and reward failure with subsidies, thus destroying the economy and all incentive to be productive or responsible.
 - 5.4. The promise of “benefits” by campaigning politicians become essentially a vehicle to ILLEGALLY and CRIMINALLY bribe voters with loot STOLEN through the illegal use of the government’s taxing powers.
6. It places NO limits on the PRICE you pay for the “benefit” of its “protection”. Politicians can and do impose any duty upon those who are subject to it because the premise is that you had to consent to be subject to it.
7. The administrators of the franchise REFUSE to recognize on the forms and processes administering the franchise:
 - 7.1. Your right to NOT participate . . .OR
 - 7.2. Your right to quit. . .OR
 - 7.3. The right to document the existence of duress in signing up on the forms administering the franchise.
Try walking into a Social Security office and ask for forms to quit the system as we have. You will be escorted out by an armed guard and be accused of being a terrorist if you refuse to cooperate!
8. You aren’t allowed to QUALIFY or LIMIT HOW MUCH you pay or what specific PRIVATE rights you are willing to give up or can be forced to give up in order to procure its “benefits”.
 - 8.1. There is no opportunity to negotiate a better deal.
 - 8.2. You can’t go to anyone else for the service to improve your bargaining position.
 - 8.3. It therefore behaves as an “adhesion contract” that is unconscionable.
9. It results in a SURRENDER of ALL common law and natural rights.
 - 9.1. The civil code is predicated on consent
 - 9.2. Anything you consent to cannot form the basis of an injury under the common law or the Constitution.
10. When you sign up for one franchise under the civil statutory protection franchise, such as the vehicle code by getting a marriage license, you are COERCED and expected to be party to ANY and EVERY other government franchise.
 - 10.1. They demand a Social Security Number, and therefore FORCE you to sign up for Social Security as well. The DMV does this.
 - 10.2. This completely destroys your power of choice and your autonomy and self-government.
 - 10.3. It makes it impossible to procure the protection of the vehicle code WITHOUT becoming a public officer who has to do ANYTHING and EVERYTHING congress can dream up to put in your “employment agreement” called the civil code.
11. People who do not want its benefits:
 - 11.1. Are punished with civil penalties that don’t apply to them and can’t lawfully be enforced against them.
 - 11.2. Are told they are crazy or stupid.
 - 11.3. Are treated unfairly as “anarchists” or even violent or terrorists, as is being done with the “Sovereign Citizen Movement” at this time. This is an unjust and unfair and undeserved stereotype designed mainly and essentially to protect the governments at least perceived authority to essentially use the civil franchise as a way to justify its right to essentially STEAL from the average American.
12. In court, those who refuse to consent to the franchise and who become the illegal target of enforcement of the PROVISIONS of the franchise are maliciously interfered with in violation of the Bill of Rights by:
 - 12.1. Refusing to recognize or protect their unalienable constitutional rights.
 - 12.2. Refusing to recognize their right to invoke the common law against EVERYONE, INCLUDING the government, who at that point is on an EQUAL rather than INFERIOR relationship to them.
 - 12.3. Forcing them into a franchise court such as family court, traffic court, or tax court that CANNOT lawfully hear a matter NOT involving a franchisee.

12.4. Telling them they are crazy, ignorant, or stupid when they try to invoke the common law or the constitution instead of the franchise in their defense.

Is it any surprise that the Roman Empire, which was the origin of the above system of usury under the Roman “jus civile”, failed and collapsed? Anyone that would build the security of private property upon such a frail and evil foundation is bound to fail quickly, and every government that has ever tried throughout history has failed for the same reason. Below is a description of HOW that failure happened:

Is there a better way? Absolutely. God’s law is the PERFECT law of liberty:

“But he who looks into the perfect law of liberty [God’s law] and continues in it, and is not a forgetful hearer but a doer of the work, this one will be blessed in what he does.”
[James 1:25, Bible, NKJV]

“The Spirit of the Lord God is upon Me [Jesus],
Because the Lord has anointed Me
To preach good tidings to the poor;
He has sent Me to heal the brokenhearted,
To proclaim liberty to the [government] captives [trapped like hunted animals within the civil franchise code],
And the opening of the prison to those who are bound [to a PUBLIC office called “citizen” or “resident”];
[Isaiah 61:1, Bible, NKJV]

“The Spirit of the Lord is upon Me,
Because He has anointed Me
To preach the gospel to the poor;
He has sent Me to heal the brokenhearted,
To proclaim liberty to the captives
And recovery of sight to the blind,
To set at liberty those who are [government] oppressed;
To proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord.”
[Luke 4:18-19, Bible, NKJV]

If you would like exhaustive coverage of God’s “perfect law of liberty”, read the following:

1. Laws of the Bible, Form #13.001
2. Bible Law Course, Form #12.015

By the way, “the perfect law of liberty” forbids those subject to it from consenting to or coming under the civil statutory jurisdiction of any other law system, or any ruler who grants or administers it, and says that doing so is IDOLATRY.

“You shall make no covenant [contract or franchise] with them [foreigners, pagans], nor with their [pagan government] gods [laws or judges]. They shall not dwell in your land [and you shall not dwell in theirs by becoming a “resident” or domiciliary in the process of contracting with them], lest they make you sin against Me [God]. For if you serve their [government] gods [under contract or agreement or franchise], it will surely be a snare to you.”
[Exodus 23:32-33, Bible, NKJV]

“Awake, awake, O Zion, clothe yourself with strength. Put on your garments of splendor, O Jerusalem, the holy city. The uncircumcised and defiled will not enter you again. Shake off your dust; rise up, sit enthroned, O Jerusalem [Christians]. Free yourself from the chains [contracts and franchises] on your neck. O captive Daughter of Zion. For this is what the LORD says: “You were sold for nothing [free government cheese worth a fraction of what you had to pay them to earn the right to “eat” it], and without money you will be redeemed.””

3 "I [God] brought you up from Egypt [government slavery to a civil ruler called Pharaoh] and brought you to the

13 NOW do you know why we began our search for something BETTER and more EQUAL and JUST than the civil protection
14 franchise or statutory "code"? The amount of INJUSTICE evident in the above list of defects is truly mind-boggling almost 15 to the point of making life not even worth living if called to endure it. That's what George Carlin said about the miserable
16 existence we suffer under presently because of a defective legal system:

I'm divorced from it now, George Carlin
<https://youtu.be/MPA7VvuGBnw>

17 The video below describes the MASSIVE injustices of the present de facto civil franchise system as "The Matrix":

The Matrix, Stefan Molyneux
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=P772Eb63qIY&>

18 Lastly, lest we be accused of being "narcissistic psychopathic anarchists", let us now emphasize what we DO NOT object to 19 about the civil protection franchise. What we like about it is the opportunity it provides for remedy when an injury occurs
20 between PRIVATE people one to another. That remedy is NOT exclusive, because you can abandon a domicile and instead
21 invoke the common law. Outside of the sphere or remedy for PRIVATE injury, nothing but problems result that are easily
22 remedied by God's "perfect law of liberty". The problems occur mainly when the GOVERNMENT is the party doing the 23 injuring, which happens far more frequently than PRIVATE injury. Like any mafia, the government only protects itself and 24 uses the law as an excuse to persecute political dissidents. This we call "selective enforcement" and it happens all the time,
25 and ESPECIALLY with the IRS. The abuse of discretion to target of conservative groups by the IRS and the scandal that 26 ensued in 2015 comes to mind. That mafia is described in the following funny video:

The Government Mafia, Clint Richardson
<https://sedm.org/government-mafia/>

27 The fact that government essentially is allowed to behave literally as a criminal mafia under the auspices of the civil statutory
28 protection franchise is how the original Roman Empire grew so large to begin with. Look at how the Romans treated Jesus
29 in crucifying Him, and you understand why they were unjust. He refused to pay His "protection money" so they broke His 30 knee caps, even though they could find no legal fault in Him.

31 "Then the whole multitude of them arose and led Him to Pilate. And they began to accuse Him, saying, "We 32 found this fellow perverting the nation, and forbidding to pay taxes to Caesar [TAX PROTESTER], saying that 33 He Himself is Christ, a King [SOVEREIGN]."
34 [Luke 23:2, Bible, NKJV]

13.11.2 History of our system of civil statutory law

Our system of civil statutory law was inherited from the Roman statutory law, which was called “jus civile”.

Chapter II: The Civil and the Common Law

29. In the original civil law, jus civile, was exclusively for Roman citizens; it was not applied in controversies between foreigners. But as the number of foreigners increased in Rome it became necessary to find some law for deciding disputes among them. For this the Roman courts hit upon a very singular expedient. Observing that all the surrounding peoples with whom they were acquainted had certain principles of law in common, they took those common principles as rules of decision for such cases, and to the body of law thus obtained they gave the name of Jus gentium. The point on which the jus gentium differed most noticeably from the Jus civile was its simplicity and disregard of forms. All archaic law is full of forms, ceremonies and what to a modern mind seem useless and absurd technicalities. This was true of the [civil] law of old Rome. In many cases a sale, for instance, could be made only by the observance of a certain elaborate set of forms known as mancipation; if any one of these was omitted the transaction was void. And doubtless the laws of the surrounding peoples had each its own peculiar requirements. But in all of them the consent of the parties to transfer the ownership for a price was required. The Roman courts therefore in constructing their system of Jus gentium fixed upon this common characteristic and disregarded the local forms, so that a sale became the simplest affair possible.

30. After the conquest of Greece, the Greek philosophy made its way to Rome, and stoicism in particular obtained a great vogue among the lawyers. With it came the conception of natural law (Jus naturale) or the law of nature (jus naturae); to live according to nature was the main tenet of the stoic morality. The idea was of some simple principle or principles from which, if they could be discovered, a complete, systematic and equitable set of rules of conduct could be deduced, and the unfortunate departure from which by mankind generally was the source of the confusion and injustice that prevailed in human affairs. To bring their own law into conformity with the law of nature became the aim of the Roman jurists, and the praetor's edict and the responses were the instruments which they used to accomplish this. Simplicity and universality they regarded as marks of natural law, and since these were exactly the qualities which belonged to the jus gentium, it was no more than natural that the two should to a considerable extent be identified. The result was that under the name of natural law principles largely the same as those which the Roman courts had for a long time been administering between foreigners permeated and transformed the whole Roman law.

The way in which this was at first done was by recognizing two kinds of rights, rights by the civil law and rights by natural law, and practically subordinating the former to the latter. Thus if Caius was the owner of a thing by the civil law and Titius by natural law, the courts would not indeed deny up and down the right of Caius. They admitted that he was owner; but they would not permit him to exercise his legal right to the prejudice of Titius, to whom on the other hand they accorded the practical benefits of ownership; and so by taking away the legal owner's remedies they practically nullified his right. Afterwards the two kinds of laws were more completely consolidated, the older civil law giving way to the law of nature when the two conflicted. This double system of rights in the Roman law is of importance to the student of the English law, because a very similar dualism arose and still exists in the latter, whose origin is no doubt traceable in part to the influence of Roman ideas.

[An Elementary Treatise on the Common Law for the Use of Students, Henry T. Terry, The Maruzen-Kabushiki-Kaisha, 1906, pp. 18-20]

Roman law recognized only TWO classes of persons: statutory “citizens” and “foreigners”. Only those who consented to become statutory “citizens” could become the lawful subject of the jus civile, which was the statutory civil law. Those who were not statutory “citizens” under the Roman Law, which today means those with NO civil domicile within the territory of the author and grantor of the civil law, were regarded as:

1. “foreigners”
2. Not subject to the jus civile or statutory Roman Law.
3. Subject only to the common law, which was called jus gentium.

Note also that the above treatise characterizes TWO classes of rights: Civil rights and Natural rights. Today, these rights are called PUBLIC rights and PRIVATE rights by the courts in order to distinguish them. Public rights, in turn, are granted only to statutory “citizens” who consented to become citizens under the civil statutory law. The civil statutory law, or jus civile, therefore functions in essence as a franchise contract or compact that creates and grants ONLY public rights. Those who do not join the social compact by consenting to become statutory “citizens” therefore are relegated to being protected by natural law and common law, which is much more just and equitable.

Note the emphasis in the above upon the concept that everything exchanged must be paid for:

1 "And doubtless the laws of the surrounding peoples had each its own peculiar requirements. But in all of them
2 the consent of the parties to transfer the ownership for a price was required."

3 The concept we emphasize in the above cite is that the PUBLIC rights attached to the status of "citizen" under the Roman jus
4 civile or statutory law constituted property that could not be STOLEN from those who did not consent to become "citizens"
5 or to accept the "benefits" or "privileges" of statutory citizenship. Such a THEFT by government of otherwise PRIVATE or 6 NATURAL rights would amount to an unconstitutional eminent domain by the government by converting PRIVATE rights
7 into PUBLIC rights without the consent of the owner and without compensation.

21 (B) 28 U.S.C. §§ 754 and 959\(a\) govern the capacity of a receiver appointed by a United States court to sue
22 or be sued in a United States court.

23 [SOURCE: <http://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/Rule17.htm>]

24 Conspicuously absent from the above federal civil rule are the two MOST important sources of law:

- 25 1. The USA Constitution.
- 26 2. The common law. The common law includes natural rights.

27 Why are these two sources of law NOT explicitly or expressly mentioned in the above civil rule as a source of jurisdiction or 28 standing to sue in a federal CIVIL statutory court? Because these sources of law come from the constitution and are NOT
29 "granted" or "created" by the government. Anything not CREATED by the government cannot be limited, regulated, or 30 taxed. PRIVATE rights and PRIVATE property, for instance, are NOT "created" by government and instead are created and 31 endowed by God, according to the Declaration of Independence:

32 "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator
33 with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure
34 these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed,
35 -"

36 [Declaration of Independence, 1776]

37 "Men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, -'life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness;'
38 *and to 'secure,' not grant or create, these rights, governments are instituted. That property [or income] which a
39 man has honestly acquired he retains full control of, subject to these limitations: First, that he shall not use it
40 to his neighbor's injury, and that does not mean that he must use it for his neighbor's benefit [e.g. SOCIAL
41 SECURITY, Medicare, and every other public "benefit"];
42 second, that if he devotes it to a public use, he gives
43 to the public a right to control that use; and third, that whenever the public needs require, the public may take
44 it upon payment of due compensation."

[Budd v. People of State of New York, 143 U.S. 517 (1892)]

45 The Constitution or the common law therefore may be cited by ANYONE, including those not domiciled within the civil 46 statutory jurisdiction of the civil court, so long as they were physically present on land protected by the Constitution within 47 the district served by the court at the time they received an injury. Recall that the Constitution attaches to LAND, and not to 48 your status as a statutory "citizen" or "resident":

1 "It is locality that is determinative of the application of the Constitution, in such matters as judicial procedure,
2 and not the status of the people who live in it."
3 [Balzac v. Porto Rico, 258 U.S. 298 (1922)]

4 13.11.4 Two contexts for legal terms: CONSTITUTIONAL and STATUTORY

5 "When words lose their meaning [or their CONTEXT WHICH ESTABLISHES THEIR MEANING], people lose
6 their freedom."
7 [Confucius (551 BCE - 479 BCE) Chinese thinker and social philosopher]

8 It is absolutely crucial to understand that there are TWO contexts in which all legal statuses such as "citizen", "resident", and 9 "alien" can be used:

- 10 1. Constitutional.
11 1.1. Relates to one's POLITICAL status.
12 1.2. Relates to NATIONALITY and NOT DOMICILE.
13 1.3. A CONSTITUTIONAL status is established ONLY by being either born or naturalized within the jurisdiction of 14 the specific NATIONAL government that wrote the statute.
15 2. Statutory.
16 2.1. Relates to ones' CIVIL or LEGAL status.
17 2.2. Relates to DOMICILE and NOT NATIONALITY.
18 2.3. A STATUTORY status is established ONLY by voluntarily choosing a domicile within the jurisdiction of the 19 specific government that wrote the statute.

20 It is CRUCIAL in EVERY interaction with any government to establish WHICH of these two contexts that every term they 21 are using relates to, and ESPECIALLY on government forms. A failure to understand the status can literally mean the 22 difference between SLAVERY and FREEDOM.

23 One can, for instance, be a "citizen" under CONSTITUTION and yet be an "non-resident non-person" under STATUTORY
24 law in relation to the federal government. This is the status of those who are born in states of the Union and who are domiciled
25 within the exclusive jurisdiction of a CONSTITUTIONAL state of the Union.

26 The purpose of providing a statutory definition of a legal "term" is to supersede and not enlarge the ordinary, common law,
27 constitutional, or common meaning of a term. Geographical words of art include:

- 28 1. "State"
29 2. "United States"
30 3. "alien"
31 4. "citizen"
32 5. "resident"
33 6. "U.S. person"

34 The terms "State" and "United States" within the Constitution implies the constitutional states of the Union and excludes
35 federal territory, statutory "States" (federal territories), or the statutory "United States" (the collection of all federal territory).
36 This is an outcome of the separation of powers doctrine. See:

| |
|---|
| Government Conspiracy to Destroy the Separation of Powers, Form #05.023 http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm |
|---|

37 The U.S. Constitution creates a public trust which is the delegation of authority order that the U.S. Government uses to
38 manage federal territory and property. That property includes franchises, such as the "trade or business" franchise. All
39 statutory civil law it creates can and does regulate only THAT property and not the constitutional States, which are foreign,
40 sovereign, and statutory "non-resident non-persons" (Form #05.020) for the purposes of federal legislative jurisdiction.

41 It is very important to realize the consequences of this constitutional separation of powers between the states and national
42 government. Some of these consequences include the following:

- 43 1. Statutory "States" as indicated in 4 U.S.C. §110\(d\) and "States" in nearly all federal statutes are in fact federal territories and the definition does NOT include constitutional states of the Union.

2. The statutory "United States" defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10) and 4 U.S.C. §110(d) includes federal territory and excludes any land within the exclusive jurisdiction of a constitutional state of the Union.
3. Terms on government forms assume the statutory context and NOT the constitutional context.
4. Domicile is the origin of civil legislative jurisdiction over human beings. This jurisdiction is called "in personam jurisdiction".
5. Since the separation of powers doctrine creates two separate jurisdictions that are legislatively "foreign" in relation to each other, then there are TWO types of political communities, two types of "citizens", and two types of jurisdictions exercised by the national government.

"It is clear that Congress, as a legislative body, exercise two species of legislative power: the one, limited as to its objects, but extending all over the Union: the other, an absolute, exclusive legislative power over the District of Columbia. The preliminary inquiry in the case now before the Court, is, by virtue of which of these authorities was the law in question passed?"
[Cohens v. Virginia, 19 U.S. 264, 6 Wheat. 265, 5 L.Ed. 257 (1821)]

6. A human being domiciled in a Constitutional state and born or naturalized anywhere in the Union. These are:
 - 6.1. A state national pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21)
 - 6.2. A statutory "non-resident non-person" if exclusively PRIVATE and not engaged in a public office.
 - 6.3. A statutory "nonresident alien" (26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B)) in relation to the national government if they lawfully serve in a public office.
7. You can be a statutory "nonresident alien" pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B) and a constitutional or Fourteenth Amendment "Citizen" AT THE SAME TIME. Why? Because the Supreme Court ruled in Hooven and Allison v. Evatt, 324 U.S. 652 (1945), that there are THREE different and mutually exclusive "United States", and therefore THREE types of "citizens of the United States". Here is an example:

"The 1st section of the 14th article [Fourteenth Amendment], to which our attention is more specifically invited, opens with a definition of citizenship—not only citizenship of the United States[], but citizenship of the states. No such definition was previously found in the Constitution, nor had any attempt been made to define it by act of Congress. It had been the occasion of much discussion in the courts, by the executive departments and in the public journals. It had been said by eminent judges that no man was a citizen of the United States[] except as he was a citizen of one of the states composing the Union. Those therefore, who had been born and resided always in the District of Columbia or in the territories [STATUTORY citizens], though within the United States[], were not [CONSTITUTIONAL] citizens."*
[Slaughter-House Cases, 83 U.S. (16 Wall.) 36, 21 L.Ed. 394 (1873)]

The "citizen of the United States*" mentioned in the Fourteenth Amendment is a constitutional "citizen of the United States*", and the term "United States" in that context includes states of the Union and excludes federal territory. Hence, you would NOT be a "citizen of the United States" within any federal statute, because all such statutes define "United States" to mean federal territory and EXCLUDE states of the Union. For more details, see:

Why You are a "national", "state national", and Constitutional but not Statutory Citizen, Form #05.006
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

8. Your job, if you say you are a "citizen of the United States" or "U.S. citizen" on a government form (a VERY DANGEROUS undertaking!) is to understand that all government forms presume the statutory and not constitutional context, and to ensure that you define precisely WHICH one of the three "United States" you are a "citizen" of, and do so in a way that excludes you from the civil jurisdiction of the national government because domiciled in a "foreign state". Both foreign countries and states of the Union are legislatively "foreign" and therefore "foreign states" in relation to the national government of the United States. The following form does that very carefully:

Affidavit of Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status, Form #02.001
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

9. Even the IRS says you CANNOT trust or rely on ANYTHING on any of their forms and publications. We cover this in our Reasonable Belief About Income Tax Liability, Form #05.007. Hence, if you are compelled to fill out a government form, you have an OBLIGATION to ensure that you define all "words of art" used on the form in such a way that there is no room for presumption, no judicial or government discretion to "interpret" the form to their benefit, and no injury to your rights or status by filling out the government form. This includes attaching the following forms to all tax forms you submit:
 - 9.1. Affidavit of Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status, Form #02.001

 - 9.2. Tax Form Attachment, Form #04.201

2 The following cite from U.S. v. Wong Kim Ark helps clarify the distinctions between the STATUTORY and
3 CONSTITUTIONAL contexts by admitting that there are TWO components that determine one's "citizenship" status:
4 NATIONALITY and DOMICILE.

5 In Udny v. Udny (1869) L. R. 1 H.L.Sc. 441, the point decided was one of inheritance, depending upon the question
6 whether the domicile of the father was in England or in Scotland, he being in either alternative a British subject.
7 Lord Chancellor Hatherley said: 'The question of naturalization and of allegiance is distinct from that of
8 domicile.' Page 452. Lord Westbury, in the passage relied on by the counsel for the United States, began by 9 saying: 'The law of England, and of almost all civilized countries, ascribes to each individual at his birth two
10 distinct legal states or conditions,—one by virtue of which he becomes the subject [NATIONAL] of some
11 particular country, binding him by the tie of natural allegiance, and which may be called his political status;
12 another by virtue of which he has ascribed to him the character of a citizen of some particular country, and as
13 such is possessed of certain municipal rights, and subject to certain obligations, which latter character is the
14 civil status or condition of the individual, and may be quite different from his political status.' And then, while 15 maintaining that the civil status is universally governed by the single principle of domicile (domicilium), the
16 criterion established by international law for the purpose of determining civil status, and the basis on which
17 the personal rights of the party—that is to say, the law which determines his majority or minority, his
18 marriage, succession, testacy, or intestacy— must depend, he yet distinctly recognized that a man's political
19 status, his country (patria), and his 'nationality,—that is, natural allegiance,'—may depend on different laws in
20 different countries.' Pages 457, 460. He evidently used the word 'citizen,' not as equivalent to 'subject,' but rather
21 to 'inhabitant'; and had no thought of impeaching the established rule that all persons born under British
22 dominion are natural-born subjects.

25 So:

- 26 1. The Constitution is a POLITICAL and not a LEGAL document. It therefore determines your POLITICAL status rather 27 than your LEGAL/STATUTORY status.
- 28 2. Nationality determines your POLITICAL STATUS and whether you are a "subject" of the country.
- 29 3. DOMICILE determines your CIVIL and LEGAL and STATUTORY status. It DOES NOT determine your 30 POLITICAL status or nationality.
- 31 4. Being a constitutional "citizen" per the Fourteenth Amendment is associated with nationality, not domicile.
- 32 5. Allegiance is associated with nationality, not domicile. Allegiance is what makes one a "subject" of a country.
- 33 6. Your personal and municipal rights, meaning CONSTITUTIONAL rights, associate with your choice of legal 34 domicile, not your nationality or what country you are a subject of or have allegiance to.
- 35 7. Being a statutory "citizen" is associated with domicile, not nationality, because it is associated with being an inhabitant 36 RATHER than a "subject".
- 37 8. A statutory "alien" under most acts of Congress is a person with a foreign DOMICILE, not a foreign NATIONALITY.
38 By "foreign", we mean:
39 8.1. Nationality context: OUTSIDE of COUNTRY United States.
40 8.2. Domicile context: OUTSIDE of federal territory and the exclusive federal jurisdiction, and NOT outside the 41 Constitutional United States (states of the Union).

42 For an example of the above, see the following cite referencing territorial citizens in relation to the 43 CONSTITUTIONAL states. Note that it calls them "foreigners". Notice also that these areas are the ONLY place the 44 I.R.C. Subtitle A income tax applies, per the definition of "United States" found in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10),
45 which is why if a state national files an income tax return, they file the 1040 tax as a statutory "individual". All
46 statutory "individuals" are legally defined as "aliens" for the purposes of income tax under 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-
47 1(c)(3)(i):⁹⁹

48 "Constitutionally, only those born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are 49 citizens. Const.Amdt. XIV. The power to fix and determine the rules of naturalization is vested in the Congress.

4 [Ly Shew v. Acheson, 110 F.Supp. 50 (N.D. Cal., 1953)]

5 Understanding the distinction between nationality and domicile, in turn is absolutely critical.

6 1. Nationality:

- 7 1.1. Is a political status.
8 1.2. Is defined by the Constitution, which is a political document.
9 1.3. Is synonymous with being a “national” within statutory law.
10 1.4. Is associated with a specific COUNTRY.

11 2. Domicile:

- 12 2.1. Is a civil status.
13 2.2. Is not even addressed in the constitution.
14 2.3. Is defined by civil statutory law RATHER than the constitution.
15 2.4. Is in NO WAY connected with one’s nationality.
16 2.5. Is usually connected with the word “person”, “citizen”, “resident”, or “inhabitant” in statutory law.
17 2.6. Is associated with a specific COUNTY and a STATE rather than a COUNTRY.
18 2.7. Implies one is a “SUBJECT” of a SPECIFIC MUNICIPAL but not NATIONAL government.

19 Nationality and domicile, TOGETHER determine the POLITICAL AND CIVIL/LEGAL status of a human being 20 respectively. These important distinctions are recognized in Black’s Law Dictionary:

21 “nationality – That quality or character which arises from the fact of a person's belonging to a nation or state.
22 Nationality determines the political status of the individual, especially with reference to allegiance; while
23 domicile determines his civil [statutory] status. Nationality arises either by birth or by naturalization.”
24 [Black’s Law Dictionary (6th ed. 1990), p. 1025]

25 The U.S. Supreme Court also confirmed the above when they held the following. Note the key phrase “political jurisdiction”,
26 which is NOT the same as legislative/statutory jurisdiction. One can have a political status of “citizen” under the constitution
27 while NOT being a “citizen” under federal statutory law because not domiciled on federal territory. To have the status of
28 “citizen” under federal statutory law, one must have a domicile on federal territory:

29 “This section [Fourteenth Amendment, Section 1] contemplates two sources of citizenship, and two sources only,- 30 birth and naturalization. The persons declared to be citizens are ‘all persons born or naturalized in the United 31 States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof.’ The evident meaning of these last words is, not merely subject in 32 some respect or degree to the jurisdiction of the United States, but completely subject to their [plural, not
33 singular, meaning states of the Union] political jurisdiction, and owing them [the state of the Union]
34 direct and immediate allegiance. And the words relate to the time of birth in the one case, as they do [169 U.S.
35 649, 725] to the time of naturalization in the other. Persons not thus subject to the jurisdiction of the United
36 States at the time of birth cannot become so afterwards, except by being naturalized, either individually, as by 37 proceedings under the naturalization acts, or collectively, as by the force of a treaty by which foreign territory is 38 acquired.”
39 [U.S. v. Wong Kim Ark, 169 U.S. 649, 18 S.Ct. 456; 42 L.Ed. 890 (1898)]

40 “This right to protect persons having a domicile, though not native-born or naturalized citizens, rests on the firm
41 foundation of justice, and the claim to be protected is earned by considerations which the protecting power is not
42 at liberty to disregard. Such domiciled citizen pays the same price for his protection as native-born or naturalized
43 citizens pay for theirs. He is under the bonds of allegiance to the country of his residence, and, if he breaks
44 them, incurs the same penalties. He owes the same obedience to the civil laws. His property is, in the same
45 way and to the same extent as theirs, liable to contribute to the support of the Government. In nearly all respects,
46 his and their condition as to the duties and burdens of Government are undistinguishable.”
47 [Fong Yue Ting v. United States, 149 U.S. 698 (1893)]

48 Notice in the last quote above that they referred to a foreign national born in another country as a “citizen”. THIS is the
49 REAL “citizen” that judges and even tax withholding documents are really talking about, rather than the “national” described
50 in the constitution. And also notice that they say in relation to DOMICILE/STATUTORY status the following "He owes the 51 same obedience to the CIVIL laws", thus establishing that CIVIL law does not apply to those WITHOUT a DOMICILE.

1 Domicile and NOT nationality is what imputes a status under the tax code and a liability for tax. Tax liability is a civil
2 liability that attaches to civil statutory law, which in turn attaches to the person through their choice of domicile. When you
3 CHOOSE a domicile, you elect or nominate a protector, which in turn gives rise to an obligation to pay for the civil protection
4 demanded. The method of providing that protection is the civil laws of the municipal (as in COUNTY) jurisdiction that you
5 chose a domicile within.

6 "domicile. A person's legal home. That place where a man has his true, fixed, and permanent home and principal
7 establishment, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning. Smith v. Smith, 206
8 Pa.Super. 310, 213 A.2d. 94. Generally, physical presence within a state and the intention to make it one's home
9 are the requisites of establishing a "domicile" therein. The permanent residence of a person or the place to which
10 he intends to return even though he may actually reside elsewhere. A person may have more than one residence
11 but only one domicile. The legal domicile of a person is important since it, rather than the actual residence,
12 often controls the jurisdiction of the taxing authorities and determines where a person may exercise the
13 privilege of voting and other legal rights and privileges."
14 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 485]

15 Later versions of Black's Law Dictionary attempt to cloud this important distinction between nationality and domicile in
16 order to unlawfully and unconstitutionally expand federal power into the states of the Union and to give federal judges
17 unnecessary and unwarranted discretion to kidnap people into their jurisdiction using false presumptions. They do this by
18 trying to make you believe that domicile and nationality are equivalent, when they are EMPHATICALLY NOT. Here is an
19 example:

20 "nationality – The relationship between a citizen of a nation and the nation itself, customarily involving
21 allegiance by the citizen and protection by the state; membership in a nation. This term is often used
22 synonymously with citizenship."
23 [Black's Law Dictionary (8th ed. 2004)]

24 Federal courts regard the term "citizenship" as equivalent to domicile, meaning domicile on federal territory.

25 "The words "citizen" and citizenship," however, usually include the idea of domicile. Delaware, L.&W.R.Co.
26 v. Petrowsky, C.C.A.N.Y., 250 F. 554, 557;"
27 [Black's Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, p. 310]

28 Hence:

- 29 1. The term "citizenship" is being stealthily used by government officials as a magic word that allows them to hide their
30 presumptions about your status. Sometimes they use it to mean NATIONALITY, and sometimes they use it to mean
31 DOMICILE.
- 32 2. The use of the word "citizenship" should therefore be AVOIDED when dealing with the government because its 33 meaning is unclear and leaves too much discretion to judges and prosecutors.
- 34 3. When someone from any government uses the word "citizenship", you should:
35 3.1. Tell them NOT to use the word, and instead to use "nationality" or "domicile".
36 3.2. Ask them whether they mean "nationality" or "domicile".
37 3.3. Ask them WHICH political subdivision they imply a domicile within: federal territory or a constitutional state of 38 the Union.

39 WARNING: A failure to either understand or correctly apply the above concepts can literally mean the difference between 40 being a government pet in a legal cage called a franchise, and being a free and sovereign man or woman.

41 13.11.5 Changing your domicile changes your relationship from foreign to domestic and changes POLITICAL 42 speech to LEGAL speech in court

43 We said earlier in section 13.1 that domicile is an EXTREMELY important subject to learn because it defines and 44 circumscribes:

- 45 1. The boundary between what is legislatively "foreign" and legislatively "domestic" in relation to a specific jurisdiction.
46 Everyone domiciled OUTSIDE a specific jurisdiction is legislatively and statutorily "foreign" in relation to that civil
47 jurisdiction. Note that you can be DOMESTIC from a CONSTITUTIONAL perspective and yet ALSO be FOREIGN
48 from a legislative jurisdiction AT THE SAME TIME. This is true of the relationship of most Americans with the
49 national government.

1 2. The boundary between what is POLITICAL speech and LEGAL speech. For everyone not domiciled in a specific
2 jurisdiction, the civil law of that jurisdiction is POLITICAL and unenforceable. Since real constitutional courts cannot
3 entertain political questions, then they cannot act in a political capacity against nonresidents.

4 This section will prove these assertions.

5 Throughout our website, we refer to:

- 6 1. The entire Bible as a book about politics and government.
7 1.1. The term “mountain” is synonymous with a “kingdom” or country. It can literally refer to a specific landform, but
8 more often it refers to the location of a political system: Daniel 2:35; Amos 4:1; 6:1; Micah 4:2; Matthew 4:8.
9 That is why Moses had to go to the top of Mount Sinai (a mountain, which was symbolic of God’s political 10 kingdom) to receive the Ten Commandments in Exodus 19.
11 1.2. The term “hill” is synonymous with city or temple. Psalm 15, 1 Sam. 10:5. This is the same “hill” or “tower of 12 babel” that the first king, Nimrod, built, and which God tried to tear down in Genesis 10.
13 2. The “Lawgiver” of any society as literally the “god” of that society:

15 3. The Bible as a covenant or contract between Christians and God.
16 4. The Bible as a trust indenture. All trusts are special kinds of contracts.
17 5. The Heaven and the Earth as the corpus of the trust.
18 6. God as the Grantor and the Beneficiary of the Bible trust indenture.
19 7. Believers as “trustees” under the Bible trust indenture.
20 8. “Worship” as an act of obedience to the trust indenture and within the authorities delegated by the Trust.
21 9. Believers as having a “fiduciary relationship” and exercising agency or “office” on behalf of the Beneficiary, who is 22 God, while on Earth.
23 10. The blessings found in Deut. 28:1-14 as the periodic and current compensation of trustees under the trust indenture.
24 11. Our time on Earth as a proving and testing ground to determine who is faithful to and therefore belongs to God. All
25 those who don’t belong to God by definition belong to Satan.
26 12. The “blessings of Heaven” as the “deferred compensation” (retirement plan) of trustees under the trust indenture. The 27 Heaven, and the “House of Many Mansions” mentioned by Jesus in John 14:2 is the “retirement home” for believers after they leave Earth. On this subject, we often jokingly say:

28 “My boss is a Jewish carpenter and His benefits program is OUT OF THIS WORLD!”

- 29 13. Jesus as the “Protector” of the trust indenture. He recruits (calls or hires), qualifies (using His law), and disqualifies
30 (fires) trustees. Those who have not faithfully executed their duties as trustees will not receive the ongoing “benefits”
31 (blessings) or the deferred (retirement) compensation of the trust.
32 14. Those who do things that are forbidden by the trust or refuse to do things that are commanded as:
33 14.1. “sinners”: This is what Jesus calls them in Matt. 9. In Spanish, “sin” means “without”, and the thing people are 34 “without” when they sin is God and His laws.
35 14.2. “lawless”: This is what Jesus called them in Matt. 7:23, Matt. 13:41, Matt. 23:28, and Matt. 24:12.

36 The above metaphor is exhaustively proven using the Bible as evidence in the following:

37 Anyone who does not “worship” (serve ANYONE or ANYTHING ABOVE them, and who in turn possesses superior or 38 supernatural powers) is an atheist. Those who worship the wrong god are called “idolaters”. Even those who THINK they 39 are “atheists” often in fact DO worship (obey and serve) a religion without knowing it. The thing they worship is the thing
40 they put higher in importance than God. This could be SELF, any law system OTHER than God’s, money, sex, power, etc.
41 The idolatry practiced by atheists is described in:

1 The Bible shows how the transition from FOREIGN to DOMESTIC and POLITICAL to LEGAL happens in relation to God
 2 in the following passage:

3 *2 That at that time ye were without (separated from) Christ, being aliens (shut out) from the commonwealth
 4 (Politeo, polis) of Israel, and strangers (xenos or alien) from the covenants of promise, having no hope, and
 5 without God (atheist) in the world (cosmos):

6 13 But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ.

7 14 For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition (hedge or 8 fence) between us;

9 15 Having abolished in his flesh the enmity (hostility), even the law (nomos) of commandments contained in
 10 ordinances; for to make in himself of twain one new man (anthropos), so making peace;

11 16 And that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain (killed) the enmity thereby:

12 17 And came and preached peace to you which were afar off, and to them that were nigh.

13 18 For through him we both have access (freedom or right to enter) by one Spirit unto the Father.

14 19 Now therefore ye are no more strangers (xenos or foreigner or alien) and foreigners (one who lives in a place
 15 without citizenship), but fellow citizens (sumpolitai: from polis) with the saints, and of the household (domestic,
 16 blood kindred) of God;
 17 [Eph. 2:2-19, Bible, KJV (amplified)]

18 Translations of the words and phrases found above into contemporary legal language:

19 Table 21: Biblical v. Legal use of terms within the Bible relating to domicile

| # | Bible term | Legal meaning within secular law |
|----|--|---|
| 1 | “Christ Jesus” | Our political ruler. In secular terms, civil rulers are “kings” under the civil law. |
| 2 | “aliens” | Those with a foreign domicile regardless of the geographical place of birth. |
| 3 | “commonwealth” | political entity or state. |
| 4 | “covenants of promise” | Social Compact. The Social Compact is implemented by the civil statutory law. Criminal law does not require consent to lawfully enforce, so it technically is not a covenant or agreement. |
| 5 | “strangers from the covenants” | Not consenting members of the body politic or the “social compact”. Not protected by the civil statutory law. |
| 6 | “having no hope” | fearful because outside the protection and benefit of your king or ruler. |
| 7 | “without God” | Without a government civil protector. |
| 8 | “middle wall of partition” | Legal boundary between what is just and unjust. The Declaration of Independence says that all just powers of government derive from the CONSENT of the governed. It would be unjust and an act of terrorism to interfere with or even protect the property or rights of those who didn’t consent to RECEIVE the protection. |
| 9 | “the enmity (hostility)” | The jealous insistence of self-government and self-ownership and one’s PRIVATE rather than PUBLIC status. Also, the status of being a criminal under God’s law who has not yet been arrested or incarcerated. Under God’s laws, we are all criminals and deserve death, eternal separation from God, prison, and isolation. That’s the story of the Garden of Eden. Adam and Eve had to be kicked out of the Garden after they sinned. |
| 10 | “abolished in his flesh . . . even the law (nomos) of commandments contained in ordinances; for to make in himself of twain one new man (anthropos), so making peace;” | Christ abolished the enmity and separation between God and us by becoming a living sacrifice and paying the penalty for our sin demanded by God’s commandments. Hence, we can safely leave the slavery and isolation of our sin and return to fellowship with God. Prisons do the same thing. Criminals must be separated from society by being put in jail. They must fulfill their sentence before they can return to society and fellowship as an equal member once again. |

1 Before we become Christians, we are legally separated from God and outside of the protection and “benefit” (blessing) of 2 His laws:

3 1. God’s criminal laws “protect” us. His criminal laws protect us even if we don’t consent to the protection. They attach
4 to the LAND we stand on and therefore are called the “law of the land”. Sin has the effect of “uprooting us” from the 5 “protections” of this “law of the land”:

6 “For the upright will dwell in the land,
7 And the blameless will remain in it;
8 But the wicked will be cut off from the earth,
9 And the unfaithful will be uprooted from it.”
10 [Prov. 2:21-22, Bible, NKJV]

11 2. God’s civil statutory laws “benefit” or “bless” us. We must consent to become the proper subject of His CIVIL laws,
12 and hence, we must be a party to a COVENANT to receive their “benefits”. Anything that conveys “benefits” or 13 “blessings” is a franchise in legal terminology. Legal evidence of the existence of our covenant with God is the act of 14 baptism. Beyond baptism, our acts of obedience and professed faith also constitutes such legal evidence. James 2.

15 Being “outside” of the protection of a specific system of law as described below is called being “foreign”, a “stranger”,
16 “stateless”, or a “nonresident” in secular legal terms.

17 2 That at that time ye were without (separated from) Christ, being aliens (shut out) from the commonwealth
18 (Politeo, polis) of Israel, and strangers (xenos or alien) from the covenants of promise, having no hope, and
19 without God (atheist) in the world (cosmos):

20 13 But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ.

21 14 For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition (hedge or 22 fence) between us;

23 While we are “foreign”, a “stranger”, “stateless”, and a “nonresident” in relation to God and His laws, we are usually 24 “domestic”, a statutory “person”, and a “subject” in relation to a political ruler. The Apostle Paul refers to the shedding of 25 this legal identity as “putting on the new man”:

26 The New Man

27 This I say, therefore, and testify in the Lord, that you should no longer walk as the rest of the Gentiles walk, in
28 *the futility of their mind, having their understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God, because of 29 the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart; who, being past feeling, have given
30 themselves over to lewdness, to work all uncleanness with greediness.

31 But you have not so learned Christ, if indeed you have heard Him and have been taught by Him, as the truth is in
32 *Jesus: that you put off, concerning your former conduct, the old man which grows corrupt according to the 33 deceitful lusts, and be renewed in the spirit of your mind, and that you put on the new man which was created
34 according to God, in true righteousness and holiness.
35 [Eph. 4:17-24, Bible, NKJV]

36 After we have shed Caesar’s/Satan’s authority over us, we are no longer under Caesar’s protection:

37 “But if you are led by the Spirit, you are not under the law.”

38 [. . .]

39 “But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self-
40 control. Against such there is no law.”
41 [Galatians 5:18, Bible, NKJV]

42 The “new man” referred to above is actually a TRUSTEE POSITION or “office” within the Bible trust indenture, just like
43 all of man’s civil law. The believer then becomes a “foreigner” in relation to Caesar’s civil statutory franchise codes and no
44 longer an AGENT of Caesar, but rather of God. You can only have ONE King and ONE domicile and ONE allegiance at a
45 time, or you have a conflict of interest:

1 “All the powers of the government [including ALL of its civil enforcement powers against the public] must be
2 *carried into operation by individual agency, either through the medium of public officers, or contracts made
3 with [private] individuals.”
4 [Osborn v. Bank of U.S., 22 U.S. 738 (1824)]

5 To redeem us from the corruption of this pagan system of secular law that enslaves us to worshipping false idols called civil
6 rulers, Christ shed His blood for us. When we accept His free gift of salvation through faith, we become “domestic” in 7 relation to God and “foreign” in relation to the world:

8 13 But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ.

9 14 For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition (hedge or 10 fence) between us;

11 15 Having abolished in his flesh the enmity (hostility), even the law (nomos) of commandments contained in
12 ordinances; for to make in himself of twain one new man (anthropos), so making peace;

13 16 And that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain (killed) the enmity thereby:

14 17 And came and preached peace to you which were afar off, and to them that were nigh.

15 18 For through him we both have access (freedom or right to enter) by one Spirit unto the Father.

16 19 Now therefore ye are no more strangers (xenos or foreigner or alien) and foreigners (one who lives in a place
17 without citizenship), but fellow citizens (sumpolitai: from polis) with the saints, and of the household (domestic,
18 blood kindred) of God;

19 The Biblical political model for government was based on city states rather than “states”. Ancient cities had walls around
20 them and a gate controlling entry and exit. To enter the city, you had to be a STATUTORY “citizen”, “resident”, or “member”
21 of the city, and swear allegiance to the ruler.

22 Blessed are those who do [OBEY] His commandments [LAWS], that they may have the right to the tree of life,
23 and may enter through the gates into the city. But outside [the city and its protection] are dogs and sorcerers
24 and sexually immoral and murderers and idolaters, and whoever loves and practices a lie.
25 [Rev. 22:14-15, Bible, NKJV]

26 The only way to avoid committing idolatry is to ensure that God is the King of the city you want to be a member of. The 27 Bible book of Nehemiah describes how such a city can be and was built. It describes the rebuilding of the wall around 28 Jerusalem and the restoration of God as the King of the Israelites. To do this, all the people in the new city had to:

29 1. Study God’s law.

30 Now all the people gathered together as one man in the open square that was in front of the Water Gate; and they
31 told Ezra the scribe to bring the Book of the Law of Moses, which the LORD had commanded Israel. So Ezra the 32 priest brought the Law before the assembly of men and women and all who could hear with understanding on the 33 first day of the seventh month. Then he read from it in the open square that was in front of the Water Gate from 34 morning until midday, before the men and women and those who could understand; and the ears of all the people
35 were attentive to the Book of the Law.

36 So Ezra the scribe stood on a platform of wood which they had made for the purpose; and beside him, at his right
37 hand, stood Mattithiah, Shema, Anaiah, Urijah, Hilkiah, and Maaseiah; and at his left hand Pedaiah, Mishael, 38 Malchijah, Hashum, Hashbadana, Zechariah, and Meshullam. And Ezra opened the book in the sight of all the 39 people, for he was standing above all the people; and when he opened it, all the people stood up. And Ezra
40 blessed the LORD, the great God.

41 Then all the people answered, “Amen, Amen!” while lifting up their hands. And they bowed their heads and 42 worshiped the LORD with their faces to the ground.
43 [Nehemiah 8:1-6, Bible, NKJV]

44 2. Restore the authority of God’s law by SEPARATING themselves from everyone OUTSIDE, meaning the “foreigners”, 45 “strangers”, and “nonresidents” and confessing their sins. Being SEPARATE and being “sanctified” are equivalent in 46 the context of the Bible. “Sanctified” means “set aside for a purpose”, and that purpose is God’s purpose.
47 Sanctification means obedience to Him and His divine law.

1 The People Confess Their Sins

2 Now on the twenty-fourth day of this month the children of Israel were assembled with fasting, in sackcloth, and
3 with dust on their heads. Then those of Israelite lineage separated themselves from all foreigners; and they stood
4 and confessed their sins and the iniquities of their fathers. And they stood up in their place and read from the
5 Book of the Law of the Lord their God for one-fourth of the day; and for another fourth they confessed and
6 worshiped the Lord their God.
7 [Nehemiah 9:1-3, Bible, NKJV]
8

9 The Whole Duty of Man

10 And moreover, because the Preacher was wise, he still taught the people knowledge; yes, he pondered and sought
11 and set in order many proverbs. The Preacher sought to find acceptable words; and what was written was 12 *upright—words of truth. The words of the wise are like goads, and the words of scholars are like well-driven
13 nails, given by one Shepherd. And further, my son, be admonished by these. Of making many books there is no*
14 end, and much study is wearisome to the flesh.

15 Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter:

16 Fear God and keep His commandments,
17 For this is man's all.
18 For God will bring every work into judgment,
19 Including every secret thing,
20 Whether good or evil.
21 [Ecl. 12:9-14, Bible, NKJV]

22 On that last item above, now deceased U.S. Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia boldly stated at a legal gathering that 23 socialism “deprives Christians of sanctification”. By this he clearly can only mean that it INTERFERES with obeying God’s 24 laws, since sanctification is effected only through obedience to God’s laws. He should know about Christianity because after 25 all, his son is a Catholic Priest and presided over his own funeral:

26 The basis for our ministry is, in fact, the rebuilding of this wall of separation between church, which is believers as individual
27 humans, and the secular pagan state, which is the heathens around us. See the following discussion about Nehemiah in:

SEDM About Us Page, Section 2: Mission Statement
<http://sedm.org/Ministry/AboutUs.htm>

28 The Heaven we enter after the final judgment called “The New Jerusalem” is described as such a great city. You can’t enter
29 this walled city without allegiance to its King, who is Jesus, and without obedience to the laws that make it a safe and pleasant
30 place for EVERYONE. If Jesus is your Savior but NOT your Sovereign Lord and KING, then you can’t enter this city!

31 The New Jerusalem

32 Then one of the seven angels who had the seven bowls filled with the seven last plagues came to me and talked
33 with me, saying, “Come, I will show you the bride, the Lamb’s wife.” And he carried me away in the Spirit to a
34 great and high mountain, and showed me the great city, the holy Jerusalem, descending out of heaven from God,
35 having the glory of God. Her light was like a most precious stone, like a jasper stone, clear as crystal. Also she 36 had a great and high wall with twelve gates, and twelve angels at the gates, and names written on them, which 37 are the names of the twelve tribes of the children of Israel: three gates on the east, three gates on the north, three 38 gates on the south, and three gates on the west.

39 Now the wall of the city had twelve foundations, and on them were the names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb.
40 And he who talked with me had a gold reed to measure the city, its gates, and its wall. The city is laid out as a
41 square; its length is as great as its breadth. And he measured the city with the reed: twelve thousand furlongs. Its 42 length, breadth, and height are equal. Then he measured its wall: one hundred and forty-four cubits, according 43 to the measure of a man, that is, of an angel. The construction of its wall was of jasper; and the city was pure
44 gold, like clear glass. The foundations of the wall of the city were adorned with all kinds of precious stones: the 45 first foundation was jasper, the second sapphire, the third chalcedony, the fourth emerald, the fifth sardonyx, the 46 sixth sardius, the seventh chrysolite, the eighth beryl, the ninth topaz, the tenth chrysoprase, the eleventh jacinth,

1 and the twelfth amethyst. The twelve gates were twelve pearls: each individual gate was of one pearl. And the
2 street of the city was pure gold, like transparent glass.
3 [Rev. 21:9-21, Bible, NKJV]

4 The wall keeps the sinners, disobedient, and anarchists (in relation to God's laws) OUT of the city. These people are NOT
5 subject to the laws applicable WITHIN the city, but instead are "foreign", a "stranger", "stateless", or a "nonresident" in
6 relation to the civil laws of that place. All laws are prima facie territorial, meaning that they DO NOT apply to people not 7 ON that land or at least domiciled there.

8 The foregoing considerations would lead, in case of doubt, to a construction of any statute as intended to be
9 confined in its operation and effect to the territorial limits over which the lawmaker has general and legitimate
10 power. 'All legislation is prima facie territorial.' Ex parte Blain, L. R. 12 Ch. Div. 522, 528; State v. Carter, 27
11 N.J.L. 499; People v. Merrill, 2 Park. Crim. Rep. 590, 596. Words having universal scope, such as 'every 12 contract in restraint of trade,' 'every person who shall monopolize,' etc., will be taken, as a matter of course,
13 to mean only everyone subject to such legislation, not all that the legislator subsequently may be able to catch.
14 In the case of the present statute, the improbability of the United States attempting to make acts done in Panama
15 or Costa Rica criminal is obvious, yet the law begins by making criminal the acts for which it gives a right to sue.
16 We think it entirely plain that what the defendant did in Panama or Costa Rica is not within the scope of the 17 statute so far as the present suit is concerned. Other objections of a serious nature are urged, but need not be 18 discussed.

20 "The canon of construction which teaches that legislation of Congress, unless a contrary intent appears, is meant
21 to apply only within the territorial jurisdiction of the United States, Blackmer v. United States, supra, at 437, is a
22 valid approach whereby unexpressed congressional intent may be ascertained. It is based on the assumption that

25 "The laws of Congress in respect to those matters [outside of Constitutionally delegated powers] do not extend
26 into the territorial limits of the states, but have force only in the District of Columbia, and other places that are
27 within the exclusive jurisdiction of the national government."
28 [Caha v. U.S., 152 U.S. 211 \(1894\)]

32 In the case of the civil statutory "codes" or protection franchise, you must not only be ON that land, but must CONSENT to 33 be protected by them by consensually choosing a domicile within the jurisdiction of the "state" that civilly protects that land.
34 If you don't choose such a domicile on the land in which you have injured someone, then:

- 35 1. The party you injured and you are both protected only by the Constitution and the Common law.
- 36 2. You are a "foreign", a "stranger", "stateless", or a "nonresident" in relation to the civil statutory codes of that place.
- 37 3. Those who attempt to enforce the civil statutory "codes" against a non-resident are guilty of compelling you to contract 38 under the terms of the "social compact", meaning the civil statutory protection franchise codes.
- 39 4. Any case law that is quoted against you is merely "political speech" and propaganda designed to deceive you into 40 obedience to franchise codes that don't apply to you. All case law that is quoted in court must derive from parties
41 "similarly situated", meaning those who are "nonresidents" under the civil statutory franchise codes. This rule is 42 maliciously violated all the time by corrupt judges intent on usurping authority and committing TREASON.
- 43 5. If you are a Christian and Jesus is your only King and therefore lawgiver, then you are an agent of a foreign state called 44 "Heaven" and a public officer of the Kingdom of Heaven. You are from the city of "New Jerusalem".

45 TITLE 28 > PART IV > CHAPTER 97 > Sec. 1603.
46 Sec. 1603. - Definitions

47 For purposes of this chapter -

48 (a) A "foreign state", except as used in section 1608 of this title, includes a political subdivision of a foreign state
49 or an agency or instrumentality of a foreign state as defined in subsection (b).

50 (b) An "agency or instrumentality of a foreign state" means any entity -

51 (1) which is a separate legal person, corporate or otherwise, and

(2) which is an organ of a foreign state or political subdivision thereof, or a majority of whose shares or other ownership interest is owned by a foreign state or political subdivision thereof, and

(3) which is neither a citizen of a State of the United States as defined in section 1332 (c) and (d) of this title, nor created under the laws of any third country.

As a public officer, agent, and trustee of God under the Bible trust indenture and someone who is “domestic” in relation to Heaven and “foreign” in relation to Caesar, you are an “ambassador” of God who is subject ONLY to the CIVIL lawgiver you represent.

“Now then, we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God were pleading through us: we implore you on Christ’s behalf, be reconciled to God. For He made Him who knew no sin to be sin for us, that we might become the righteousness of God in Him.”
[2 Cor. 5:20-21, Bible, NKJV]

“Stand therefore, having girded your waist with truth, having put on the breastplate of righteousness, and having shod your feet with the preparation of the gospel of peace; above all, taking the shield of faith with which you will be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked one. And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God; praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, being watchful to this end with all perseverance and supplication for all the saints—and for me, that utterance may be given to me, that I may open my mouth boldly to make known the mystery of the gospel, for which I am an ambassador in chains; that in it I may speak boldly, as I ought to speak.”
[Eph. 6:14-20, Bible, NKJV]

PARTICULAR PERSONS

4. Public Officials and Employees; Members of the Armed Services
§31 Public Officials and Employees

Ambassadors, consuls, and other public officials residing abroad in governmental service do not generally acquire a domicile in the country where their official duties are performed, but retain their original domicile. although such officials may acquire a domicile at their official residence, if they engage in business or commerce inconsistent with, or extraneous to, their public or diplomatic character.
[Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Domicile, §31 (2003);

Jesus even described how we became “foreign”, a “stranger”, “stateless”, or a “nonresident”:

“If you were of the world, the world would love its own. Yet because you are not of [domiciled within] the world, but I [Jesus] chose you [believers] out of the world, therefore the world hates you. Remember the word that I said to you, ‘A [public] servant is not greater than his [Sovereign] master.’ If they persecuted Me, they will also persecute you. If they kept My word, they will keep yours also [as trustees of the public trust]. But all these things they will do to you for My name’s sake, because they do not know Him [God] who sent Me.”
[Jesus in John 15:19-21, Bible, NKJV]

The phrase “do not know Him who sent Me” is equivalent to someone who has no commercial or legal relationship with God by virtue of not accepting or nominating Him as their CIVIL protector. These people are domiciled on Earth within Caesar’s jurisdiction rather than in Heaven under God’s civil protection. They are therefore practicing idolatry and are under the control of the “wicked one” as Jesus called Him in Matt. 13, 1 John 2, and 1 John 3. They are “worshipping” a false idol called “Caesar” because they have nominated HIM as their pagan civil lawgiver instead of God. The source of law in any society is the GOD of that society and if Caesar’s law deviates from God’s law, then Caesar is the new pagan god:

Then all the elders of Israel gathered together and came to Samuel at Ramah, and said to him, “Look, you are old, and your sons do not walk in your ways. Now make us a king to judge us like all the nations [and be OVER them].”

But the thing displeased Samuel when they said, “Give us a king to judge us.” So Samuel prayed to the Lord. And the Lord said to Samuel, “Heed the voice of the people in all that they say to you; for they have rejected Me [God], that I should not reign over them. According to all the works which they have done since the day that I brought them up out of Egypt, even to this day—with which they have forsaken Me and served other gods [Kings, in this case]—so they are doing to you also [government becoming idolatry]. Now therefore, heed their voice. However, you shall solemnly forewarn them, and show them the behavior of the king who will reign over them.”
[1 Sam. 8:4-9, Bible, NKJV]

1 The Bible even describes Jesus as NOT having an Earthly domicile:

2 Then a certain scribe came and said to Him, "Teacher, I will follow You wherever You go." And Jesus said to
3 him, "Foxes have holes and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay His head."
4 [Matt. 8:19-20, Bible, NKJV]

5 Consistent with the above analysis, states of the Union:

6 1 Are considered legislatively "foreign" in relation to each other.

7 "For all national purposes embraced by the Federal Constitution, the States and the citizens thereof are one,
8 united under the same sovereign authority, and governed by the same laws. In all other respects the States are 9 necessarily foreign and independent of each other."
10 [Buckner v. Finley, 2 Pet. 586 (1829)]

11 Foreign Laws: "The laws of a foreign country or sister state. In conflicts of law, the legal principles of 12 jurisprudence which are part of the law of a sister state or nation. Foreign laws are additions to our own laws,
13 and in that respect are called 'jus receptum'."
14 [Black's Law Dictionary, 6th Edition, p. 647]

15 2 Are called "foreign states" in relation to the national government.

16 Foreign States: "Nations outside of the United States...Term may also refer to another state; i.e. a sister state.
17 The term 'foreign nations', ...should be construed to mean all nations and states other than that in which the 18 action is brought; and hence, one state of the Union is foreign to another, in that sense."
19 [Black's Law Dictionary, 6th Edition, p. 648]

20 3 Are called "sovereign" because they are legislatively foreign.

21 "Generally, the states of the Union sustain toward each other the relationship of independent sovereigns or
22 independent foreign states, except in so far as the United States is paramount as the dominating government, and
23 in so far as the states are bound to recognize the fraternity among sovereignties established by the federal
24 Constitution, as by the provision requiring each state to give full faith and credit to the public acts, records, and
25 judicial proceedings of the other states..."

27 4 Can only surrender their "foreign status" WITH THEIR express consent.

28 Before we can proceed in this cause we must, therefore, inquire whether we can hear and determine the 29 matters in controversy between the parties, who are two states of this Union, sovereign within their respective
30 boundaries, save that portion of power which they have granted to the federal government, and foreign to each
31 other for all but federal purposes. So they have been considered by this Court, through a long series of years
32 and cases, to the present term; during which, in the case of The Bank of the United States v. Daniels, this Court
33 has declared this to be a fundamental principle of the constitution; and so we shall consider it in deciding on the

40 was a party, should be exercised by this Court as one of original jurisdiction. The states waived their exemption
41 from judicial power, 6 Wheat. 378, 80, as sovereigns by original and inherent right, by their own grant of its

47 The same distinctions apply to the PEOPLE within those states in relation to their own state government and even the national 48 government, at least from a CIVIL statutory perspective.

49 "The United States Government is a foreign corporation with respect to a state." [N.Y. v. re Merriam, 36 N.E.
50 505, 141 N.Y. 479; affirmed 16 S.Ct. 1073; 41 L. Ed. 287] [underlines added]
51 [19 Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Corporations, §884 (2003)]

1 Why is the national government a “foreign corporation” in respect to a CONSTITUTIONAL state? Because their first and
2 MAIN job is to leave you alone, which means treat you as “foreign”, “stateless”, a “nonresident”, and a “stranger” unless
3 and until you SPECIFICALLY CONSENT, demand, and ask to be civilly protected by selecting a civil domicile. As we
4 have just proven, you are an IDIOT and an idolater if you ask Caesar to do this, according to God.

5 “Justice is the end of government. It is the end of civil society. It ever has been, and ever will be pursued, until 6 it be obtained, or until liberty be lost in the pursuit.”

10 “Justice, as a moral habit, is that tendency of the will and mode of conduct which refrains from disturbing the
11 lives and interests of others, and, as far as possible, hinders such interference on the part of others. This virtue
12 springs from the individual's respect for his fellows as ends in themselves and as his co equals. The different
13 spheres of interests may be roughly classified as follows: body and life; the family, or the extended individual
14 life; property, or the totality of the instruments of action; honor, or the ideal existence; and finally freedom, or
15 the possibility of fashioning one's life as an end in itself. The law defends these different spheres, thus giving rise
16 to a corresponding number of spheres of rights, each being protected by a prohibition. . . . To violate the rights,
17 to interfere with the interests of others, is injustice. All injustice is ultimately directed against the life of the
18 neighbor; it is an open avowal that the latter is not an end in itself, having the same value as the individual's own
19 life. The general formula of the duty of justice may therefore be stated as follows: Do no wrong yourself, and
20 permit no wrong to be done, so far as lies in your power; or, expressed positively: Respect and protect the right.”

22 “The makers of our Constitution undertook to secure conditions favorable to the pursuit of happiness. They
23 recognized the significance of man's spiritual nature, of his feelings and of his intellect. They knew that only a
24 part of the pain, pleasure and satisfactions of life are to be found in material things. They sought to protect
25 Americans in their beliefs, their thoughts, their emotions and their sensations. They conferred, as against the
26 Government, the right to be let alone - the most comprehensive of rights and the right most valued by civilized
27 men.”

30 “Do not strive with [or try to regulate or control or enslave] a man without cause, if he has done you no harm.”
31 [Prov. 3:30, Bible, NKJV]

32 “With all [our] blessings, what more is necessary to make us a happy and a prosperous people? Still one thing
33 more, fellow citizens--a wise and frugal Government, which shall restrain men from injuring one another, shall
34 leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from
35 the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government, and this is necessary to close
36 the circle of our felicities.”
37 [Thomas Jefferson: 1st Inaugural, 1801. ME 3:320]

38 You have to SURRENDER your right to be left alone, fire God as your civil protector, and agree to commit idolatry by asking
39 Caesar for civil protection. Once you ask, he will make you into a public officer working WITHIN his corporation and 40 therefore “domestic”. Nearly all statutory “persons” are public officers, as we exhaustively prove in:

[Why Statutory Civil Law is Law for Government and Not Private Persons, Form #05.037
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm](http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm)

41 If you are not serving WITHIN the above “foreign corporation” of Caesar as a public officer, then you remain “foreign”, a
42 “stranger”, “stateless”, or a “nonresident” in relation to that corporation. While serving WITHIN that corporation as its agent
43 and officer, your effective domicile is the domicile of the corporation, which is the District of Columbia under Federal Rule
44 of Civil Procedure 17(b), as we established earlier in section 13.8. If you want to REMAIN “foreign”, a “stranger”,
45 “stateless”, or a “nonresident”, then you MUST ensure that you NEVER contract, meaning “fornicate” with The Beast
46 Government (Rev. 19:19) for EITHER civil “protection” or civil “benefits”. In other words, you should NEVER consent to 47 surrender your sovereignty or sovereign immunity to become a statutory “person”, “citizen”, or “resident” under the CIVIL 48 statutory franchise codes:

49 Commerce. ...Intercourse by way of trade and traffic between different peoples or states and the citizens or

7 ["BENEFITS"] I will give You if You will fall down [BELOW Satan but ABOVE other humans] and worship
8 [serve as a PUBLIC OFFICER] me."

9 Then Jesus said to him, "Away with you, Satan! For it is written, 'You shall worship the LORD your God, and
10 Him only you shall serve.'"

11 Then the devil left Him, and behold, angels came and ministered to Him."

14 "I [God] brought you up from Egypt [slavery] and brought you to the land of which I swore to your fathers; and

16 agreement of ANY kind] with the inhabitants of this [corrupt pagan] land; you shall tear down their
17 [man/government worshipping socialist] altars.' But you have not obeyed Me. Why have you done this?

18 "Therefore I also said, I will not drive them out before you; but they will become as thorns [terrorists and
19 persecutors] in your side and their gods will be a snare [slavery!] to you.'"

20 So it was, when the Angel of the LORD spoke these words to all the children of Israel, that the people lifted up

24 "You shall make no covenant [contract or franchise] with them [foreigners, pagans], nor with their [pagan

26 becoming a "resident" or domiciliary in the process of contracting with them], lest they make you sin against
27 Me [God]. For if you serve their [government] gods [under contract or agreement or franchise], it will surely
28 be a snare to you."

31 'For among My [God's] people are found wicked [covetous public servant] men; They lie in wait as one who

33 Therefore they have become great and grown rich. They have grown fat, they are sleek; Yes, they surpass the 34 deeds of the wicked; They do not plead the cause, The cause of the fatherless [or the innocent, widows, or the 35 nontaxpayer]; Yet they prosper, And the right of the needy they do not defend. Shall I not punish them for these 36 things?' says the Lord. 'Shall I not avenge Myself on such a nation as this?'

37 "An astonishing and horrible thing Has been committed in the land: The prophets prophesy falsely, And the

44 [President Ronald W. Reagan]

45
46 "In the matter of taxation, every privilege is an injustice."
47 [Voltaire]

1 "The more you want [privileges], the more the world can hurt you."

4 "The Lord is well pleased for His righteousness' sake; He will exalt the law and make it honorable. But this is
5 a people robbed and plundered! All of them are snared in [legal] holes [by the sophistry of greedy government
6 lawyers], and they are hidden in prison houses; they are for prey, and no one delivers; for plunder, and no one
7 says, "Restore!"."

8 Who among you will give ear to this? Who will listen and hear for the time to come? Who gave Jacob for 9 plunder, and Israel to the robbers? Was it not the Lord, He against whom we have sinned? For they would
10 not walk in His ways, nor were they obedient to His law, therefore He has poured on him the fury of His anger
11 and the strength of battle; it has set him on fire all around, yet he did not know; and it burned him, yet he did not 12 take it to heart."
13 [Isaiah 42:21-25, Bible, NKJV]

14 If we don't obey the above commandments, then here is the process of corruption that happens in which we will be 15 DESTROYED. This process of corruption is summarized in an ancient maxim of law:

16 "Protectio trahit subjectionem, subjectio projectionem.
17 Protection draws to it subjection, subjection, protection. Co. Litt. 65."
18 [Bouvier's Maxims of Law (1856)]

19 The above maxim of law is described in 1 Sam. 8:19-20:

20 Nevertheless the people refused to obey the voice of Samuel; and they said, "No, but we will have a king over us,
21 that we also may be like all the nations, and that our king may judge us and go out before us and fight our battles
22 [PROTECT us]."
23 [1 Sam. 8:19-20, Bible, NKJV]

24 The result of trusting Egypt/Babylon/District of Columbia for protection, franchises, or privileges is the following:

25 Israel Demands a King

26 So Samuel told all the words of the Lord to the people who asked him for a king. And he said, "This will be the
27 behavior of the king who will reign over you: He will take your sons and appoint them for his own chariots
28 and to be his horsemen, and some will run before his chariots. He will appoint captains over his thousands
29 and captains over his fifties, will set some to plow his ground and reap his harvest, and some to make his
30 weapons of war and equipment for his chariots. He will take your daughters to be perfumers, cooks, and bakers.
31 And he will take the best of your fields, your vineyards, and your olive groves, and give them to his servants.
32 He will take a tenth of your grain and your vintage, and give it to his officers and servants. 16 And he will take
33 your male servants, your female servants, your finest young men,[a] and your donkeys, and put them to his
34 work. He will take a tenth of your sheep. And you will be his servants. And you will cry out in that day because 35 of your king whom you have chosen for yourselves, and the Lord will not hear you in that day."
36 [1 Sam. 8:10-18, Bible, NKJV]

37
38 Futile Confidence in Egypt [Babylon]

39 "Woe to the rebellious children," says the Lord,
40 "Who take counsel [legal advice], but not of Me,
41 And who devise plans, but not of My Spirit,
42 That they may add sin to sin;
43 Who walk to go down to Egypt [Babylon],
44 And have not asked My advice [God's laws and holy spirit],
45 To strengthen themselves in the strength of Pharaoh [District of Columbia],
46 And to trust in the shadow [franchises] of Egypt!
47 Therefore the strength of Pharaoh
48 Shall be your shame,
49 And trust in the shadow of Egypt
50 Shall be your humiliation.
51 For his princes were at Zoan,
52 And his ambassadors came to Hanes.
53 They were all ashamed of a people who could not benefit [franchises] them,
54 Or be help or benefit,

1 But a shame and also a reproach.”
2 [Isaiah 30:1-5, Bible, NKJV]

3 Notice the language “no help or benefit” in the last quote above. God is describing an UNFAIR or UNEQUAL trade wrought
4 out of desperation and which produces “USURY”. We describe this as “the raw deal” scam, which is a euphemism for
5 franchises and the FDR “New Deal”. The Bible reiterates this criticism of the government’s “raw deal scam” in the following:

6 For thus says the LORD: “ You have sold yourselves for nothing, And you shall be redeemed without money.”
7 [Isaiah 52:3, Bible, NKJV]

8 The same unequal sale for nothing happened during the famine in Egypt, and also in the first city Babylon between Nimrod
9 and his “victims”, where he used the PLUNDER to build his tower to celebrate his vanity. Do you see a pattern here? It’s 10 about USURY. For more on the “raw deal scam” and its origin with “protection”, see section 13.8 of this document.

11 The only remedy for the usury is:

- 12 1. Love. God is love. He who does not love His neighbor does not know God.
- 13 2. Empathy.
- 14 3. Equality between the governors and the governed from a civil perspective, so that idolatry toward government is
- 15 IMPOSSIBLE.
- 16 4. Requirement for consent of the governed in any and every interaction between the governed and the governors. See
- 17 Form #05.003.
- 18 5. Contentment, which is the opposite of covetousness.
- 19 6. “Meekness”, which is a synonym for all the above.

32 13.11.6 “Domicile” and “residence” compared

33 We know from earlier discussion that one can have only ONE domicile but as many residences as they want. The reason is 34 that:

- 35 1. DOMICILE is associated with PERSONS and implies physical presence and allegiance, which must be undivided.
36 You can only be in one physical place at a time and have undivided allegiance to only one government at a time.
- 37 2. RESIDENCE is associated with CONTRACTS and the statuses they create. Residence is usually a consequence of the 38 exercise of your right to contract with those usually OUTSIDE the place of your domicile. It is a product of the 39 Minimum Contacts Doctrine. Since your right to contract is unlimited, then you can have more than one residence.
Each “residence” can, in turn, dictate a different choice of law or government protector.

40 “Locus contractus regit actum. The place of the contract governs the act.”
41 [Bouvier’s Maxims of Law (1856);

1 Black's Law Dictionary helps define the distinctions between residence and domicile:

2 RESIDENCE. A factual place of abode. Living in a particular locality. Reese v. Reese, 179 Misc. 665, 40 N.Y.S.2d.
3 468, 472; Zimmerman v. Zimmerman, 175 Or. 585, 155 P.2d. 293, 295. It requires only bodily presence as an
4 inhabitant of a place. In re Campbell's Guardianship, 216 Minn. 113, 11 N.W.2d. 786, 789.

5 *As "domicile" and "residence" are usually in the same place, they are frequently used as if they had the same
6 meaning, but they are not identical terms, for a person may have two places of residence, as in the city and*
7 country, but only one domicile. Residence means living in a particular locality, but domicile means living in that
8 locality with intent to make it a fixed and permanent home. Residence simply requires bodily presence as an
9 inhabitant in a given place, while domicile requires bodily presence in that place and also an intention to make
10 it one's domicile. In re Riley's Will, 266 N.Y.S. 209, 148 Misc. 588.

11 "Residence" demands less intimate local ties than "domicile, but "domicile" allows absence for indefinite period
12 if intent to return remains. Immigration Act 1917. §3, 8 U.S.C.A. .§136 (e, p). Transatlantica Italiana v. Elting,
13 C.C.A.N.Y., 74 F.2d. 732, 733. But see, Ward v. Ward, 115 W.Va. 429. 176 S.E. 708. 709; Southwestern
14 Greyhound Lines v. Craig, 182 Okl. 610, 80 P.2d. 221, 224; holding that residence and domicile are synonymous
15 terms. "Residence" has a meaning dependent on context and purpose of statute. In re Jones, 341 Pa. 329, 19
16 A.2d. 280. 282. Words "residence" and "domicile". may have an identical or variable meaning depending on 17 subject-matter and context of statute. Kemp v. Kemp, 16 N.Y.S.2d. 26, 34, 172 Misc. 738.
18 [Black's Law Dictionary, Revised Fourth Edition, p. 1473]

19 The above definition deliberately clouds the issue of:

- 20 1. Whether residence has consent as a prerequisite or not. We know based on previous analysis that domicile does.
- 21 2. What citizenship, domicile, and nationality status are associated with "residence" in each context.

22 When we look up the definitions for "abode" and "inhabitant" as used in the definition of "residence", they all connect back
23 to domicile and therefore also have consent as a prerequisite.

24 1. Definition "inhabitant":

25 "Inhabitant. One who resides actually and permanently in a given place, and has his domicile there. Ex parte
26 Shaw, 145 U.S. 444, 12 S.Ct. 935, 36 L.Ed. 768. The words "inhabitant," "citizen," and "resident," as employed
27 in different constitutions to define the qualifications of electors, means substantially the same thing; and, in
28 *general, one is an inhabitant, resident, or citizen at the place where he has his domicile or home. But the terms
29 "resident" and "inhabitant" have also been held not synonymous, the latter implying a more fixed and
30 permanent abode than the former, and importing privileges and duties to which a mere resident would not be
31 subject. A corporation can be an inhabitant only in the state of its incorporation. Sperry Products v. Association*
32 of American Railroads, C.C.A.N.Y., 132 F.2d. 408, 411. See also Domicile; Residence."
33 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 782]

34 2. Definition of "abode":

35 "Abode. One's home; habitation; place of dwelling; or residence. Ordinarily means "domicile." Living place
36 impermanent in character. Fowler v. Fowler, 156 Fla. 316, 22 So.2d. 817, 818. The place where a person dwells.
37 In re Erickson, 18 N.J.Misc. 5, 10 A.2d. 142, 146. Residence of a legal voter. Pope v. Board of Election Com'rs,
38 370 Ill. 196, 18 N.E.2d. 214, 216. Fixed place of residence for the time being. Augustus Co., for Use of Bourgeois
39 v. Manzella, 19 N.J.Misc. 29, 17 A.2d. 68, 70. For service of process, one's fixed place of residence for the time
40 being; his "usual place of abode." Fed.R. Civil P.4. Kurilla v. Roth, 132 N.J.L. 213, 38 A.2d. 862,864.

41 See Domicile; Residence. General abode. See Residence."
42 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 7]

43 So to say that a "residence" is "A factual place of abode" in the definition of "residence" means one's CHOSEN place of 44 domicile. And to say that "It requires only bodily presence as an inhabitant of a place" in the definition of "residence"
45 ALSO implies domicile and therefore requires consent, because an "inhabitant" is someone who is "domiciled" in a place.

46 The following authorities clarify that "residence", and especially in taxing statutes, is usually associated with 47 CONSTITUTIONAL but not STATUTORY alienage or "alien" status and excludes those who are nationals of the country.
48 Those who are non-residents of a country by virtue of a domicile OUTSIDE the exclusive jurisdiction of the national
49 government are STATUTORY but not CONSTITUTIONAL aliens in relation to that national government:

1 The reasons for not allowing to other aliens exemption 'from the jurisdiction of the country in which they are
2 found' were stated as follows: When private individuals of one nation [states of the Unions are "nations" under
3 the law of nations] spread themselves through another as business or caprice may direct, mingling
4 indiscriminately with the inhabitants of that other, or when merchant vessels enter for the purposes of trade,
5 it would be obviously inconvenient and dangerous to society, and would subject the laws to continual
6 infraction, and the government to degradation, if such individuals or merchants did not owe temporary and
7 local allegiance, and were not amenable to the jurisdiction of the country. Nor can the foreign sovereign have
8 any motive for wishing such exemption. His subjects thus passing into foreign countries are not employed by him,
9 nor are they engaged in national pursuits. Consequently, there are powerful motives for not exempting persons
10 of this description from the jurisdiction of the country in which they are found, and no one motive for requiring
11 it. The implied license, therefore, under which they enter, can never be construed to grant such exemption.' 7
12 Cranch, 144.

13 In short, the judgment in the case of The Exchange declared, as incontrovertible principles, that the jurisdiction
14 of every nation within its own territory is exclusive and absolute, and is susceptible of no limitation not imposed
15 by the nation itself; that all exceptions to its full and absolute territorial jurisdiction must be traced up to its own
16 consent, express or implied; that upon its consent to cede, or to waive the exercise of, a part of its territorial
17 jurisdiction, rest the exemptions from that jurisdiction of foreign sovereigns or their armies entering its territory
18 with its permission, and of their foreign ministers and public ships of war; and that the implied license, under
19 which private individuals of another nation enter the territory and mingle indiscriminately with its inhabitants,
20 for purposes of business or pleasure, can never be construed to grant to them an exemption from the
21 jurisdiction of the country in which they are found. See, also, Carlisle v. U.S. (1872) 16 Wall. 147, 155; Radich

24 [United States v. Wong Kim Ark, 169 U.S. 649, 18 S.Ct. 456, 42 L.Ed. 890 (1898)]
25

26 "Residents, as distinguished from citizens, are aliens who are permitted to take up a permanent abode in the
27 country. Being bound to the society by reason of their dwelling in it, they are subject to its laws so long as they
28 remain there, and, being protected by it, they must defend it, although they do not enjoy all the rights of citizens.
29 They have only certain privileges which the law, or custom, gives them. Permanent residents are those who
30 have been given the right of perpetual residence. They are a sort of citizen of a less privileged character, and
31 are subject to the society without enjoying all its advantages. Their children succeed to their status; for the right
32 of perpetual residence given them by the State passes to their children."
33 [The Law of Nations, Vattel, Book 1, Chapter 19, Section 213, p. 87]

34 We wish to clarify that those who are domiciled within the exclusive jurisdiction of a CONSTITUTIONAL but not
35 STATUTORY "State" relative to federal law and who were born somewhere within the country where the "State" is located 36 are all the following in relation to the national government. This status, by the way, is the status of the AVERAGE American:

- 37 1. "Domiciled" but not "resident" within federal STATUTORY law.
- 38 2. Have no "residence" under federal STATUTORY law. Only statutory "aliens" can have a "residence".
- 39 3. STATUTORY "nationals" per 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21).
- 40 4. STATUTORY "non-resident non-persons".
- 41 5. STATUTORY but not Constitutional "foreign nationals".
- 42 6. Not STATUTORY:
 - 43 6.1. "nationals and citizens of the United States at birth" per 8 U.S.C. §1401
 - 44 6.2. "citizens of the United States" per 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c), and 26 U.S.C. §3121(e) or any other federal law.

45 It therefore appears to us that the only occasion where "domicile" or "residence" are NOT equivalent is in the case of those
46 who are constitutional but not statutory aliens of the place they are in. Otherwise, they are equivalent. The implication is 47 that constitutional aliens do not need to consent to the civil laws of the place they are in because they are "privileged", where
48 as nationals born there do. This appears to violate the notion of equal protection, which may explain why the legal dictionary
49 was so terse in their definition of residence: because they don't want to admit that courts routinely treat people unequally
50 and in violation of the requirement for equal protection.

51 Title 26: Internal Revenue
52 PART 1—INCOME TAXES
53 nonresident alien individuals
54 § 1.871-2 Determining residence of alien individuals.

55 (b) Residence defined.

56 An alien actually present in the United States who is not a mere transient or sojourner is a resident of the United
57 States for purposes of the income tax. Whether he is a transient is determined by his intentions with regard to

1 the length and nature of his stay. A mere floating intention, indefinite as to time, to return to another country is
2 not sufficient to constitute him a transient. If he lives in the United States and has no definite intention as to his
3 stay, he is a resident. One who comes to the United States for a definite purpose which in its nature may be 4 promptly accomplished is a transient; but, if his purpose is of such a nature that an extended stay may be
5 necessary for its accomplishment, and to that end the alien makes his home temporarily in the United States,
6 he becomes a resident, though it may be his intention at all times to return to his domicile abroad when the
7 purpose for which he came has been consummated or abandoned. An alien whose stay in the United States is 8 limited to a definite period by the immigration laws is not a resident of the United States within the meaning of 9 this section, in the absence of exceptional circumstances.

10 The phrase "definite purpose" is important in the definition of "residence" above. Those who have a definite purpose because
11 of their eternal covenant with God and their contractual relationship to Him described in the Bible and who know they are 12 only here temporarily can only be classified as "transients" above. This explains why our rulers in government want to get
13 God out of the schools and out of public life: so that the sheep will have no purpose in life other than to serve them and waste
14 themselves away in vain and sinful material pursuits.

15 "Then I hated all my labor in which I had toiled under the sun, because I must leave it to the man who will come
16 after me. And who knows whether he will be wise or a fool? Yet he will rule over all my labor in which I toiled
17 and in which I have shown myself wise under the sun. This also is vanity. Therefore I turned my heart and
18 despaired of all the labor in which I had toiled under the sun. For there is a man whose labor is with wisdom,
19 knowledge, and skill; yet he must leave his heritage to a man who has not labored for it. This also is vanity and
20 a great evil. For what has man for all his labor, and for the striving of his heart with which he has toiled under 21 the sun? For all his days are sorrowful, and his work burdensome; even in the night his heart takes no rest. This 22 also is vanity."
23 [Eccl. 2:18-23, Bible, NKJV]

24 Only you, the Sovereign, can determine your "intention" in the context of "residence". Notice the words "definite purpose",
25 "transient" and "temporary" in the definition of "residence" above are nowhere defined in the law, which means that you,
26 and not your public servants, define them. If you do not intend to remain in the "United States", which is defined as federal
27 territory in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(9\) and (a)(10) and 4 U.S.C. §110(d) and not expanded elsewhere in Subtitle A to include any 28 other place, then you can't be counted as a "resident", even if you are in fact an "alien". The government cannot determine 29 your intention for you. An intention that is not voluntary is not an intention, but simply a reaction to unjust external authority.
30 This is the basis for why the Supreme Court said:

31 "The citizen cannot complain [about the laws or the tax system], because he has voluntarily submitted himself
32 to such a form of government. He owes allegiance to the two departments, so to speak, and within their respective 33 spheres must pay the penalties which each exacts for disobedience to its laws. In return, he can demand protection 34 from each within its own jurisdiction."
35 [United States v. Cruikshank, 92 U.S. 542 \(1875\), emphasis added]

36 The California Election Code, Section 349 further clarifies the distinctions between "domicile" and "residence" as follows:

37 California Election Code, section 349:

38 349. (a) "Residence" for voting purposes means a person's domicile.

39 (b) The domicile of a person is that place in which his or her habitation is fixed, wherein the person has the 40 intention of remaining, and to which, whenever he or she is absent, the person has the intention of returning. At 41 a given time, a person may have only one domicile.

42 (c) The residence of a person is that place in which the person's habitation is fixed for some period of time,
43 but wherein he or she does not have the intention of remaining. At a given time, a person may have more than 44 one residence.

45 The above definition is consistent with the analysis earlier in this section, but don't make the false assumption that the above
46 definitions apply within income tax codes, because they DON'T. Only statutory "citizens" who have a domicile within the 47 forum can be the subject of the above statute relating to voting and elections, while the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle A
48 applies exclusively to privileged aliens who have a domicile or tax home on federal territory: two COMPLETELY different
49 audiences of people, for which the terms are NOT interchangeable. A "residence" in the I.R.C. is the temporary abode of a
50 privileged alien, while a "residence" in the election code is the temporary abode of a non-privileged Sovereign American
51 National. The worst mistake that you can make as a person born in your country is to believe or think that laws written only
52 for "aliens" or "resident aliens" apply to you. The only types of persons the federal government can write laws for in a state
53 of the Union, in fact, are Constitutional but not statutory aliens and not those born there:

1 In accord with ancient principles of the international law of nation-states, the Court in The Chinese Exclusion

38 13.11.7 "Domiciliary" v. "Resident"

39 The most instructive case that describes WHEN one has a domicile in a specific place and which distinguishes "domiciliary"
40 from "resident" is District of Columbia v. Murphy, 314 U.S. 441 (1941). Recall that the Internal Revenue Code Subtitle A
41 income tax is upon STATUTORY "residents", including American born parties who are "resident" in foreign countries. The 42 tax is NOT upon their domicile but their "residence", which means the temporary abode or "tax home" (26 U.S.C. §911) of 43 a STATUTORY "alien". All of the "persons" mentioned in 26 U.S.C. §911 are ALIENS, including the "citizens"
44 therein mentioned, because such "citizens" are in fact "aliens" in relation to the foreign country they are in and interface to
45 the Internal Revenue Code through a tax treaty WITH that foreign country. That tax treaty, in fact, constitutes an excise
46 taxable "benefit" for those STATUTORY "citizens" born in the federal zone and travelling abroad while domiciled in the 47 federal zone. See 26 C.F.R. §301.7701(b)-7 for proof. Layered on top of the "national" income tax (not "federal", but 48 "national", meaning federal zone) enforced upon "residents" of the federal zone is the income tax imposed MUNICIPALLY
49 upon those DOMICILED rather than "RESIDENT" locally. This case shows how these two factors work together to 50 determine I.R.C. tax liability and MUNICIPAL tax liability.

51 District of Columbia v. Murphy, 314 U.S. 441 (1941) involved TWO parties in opposite circumstances:

- 1 1. Respondent 58 came to the District of Columbia in 1935 to work as an economist in the Treasury Department. He
2 maintained a domicile in the state of Michigan throughout his time in D.C. and continued to be a registered voter. He
3 owned no property in Michigan or D.C. but had the intention of remaining.
- 4 2. Respondent 59 lived in the District of Columbia 26 years after coming from Pennsylvania to accept a clerical position
5 of indefinite tenure under the Civil Service in the Patent Office. Shortly after marriage the couple purchased as a
6 home, premises at 1426 Massachusetts Avenue, S.E., in the District of Columbia, in which respondent still lived. In
7 about 1925, he purchased a lot at "Selby on the Bay" in nearby Maryland, and before his wife's death he bought a
8 building lot in the District of Columbia, acting on his wife's pleas for a summer place and a better residence. He agreed
9 with his wife that, on his retirement, six months would be spent at Selby. He testified that he never desired to purchase
10 the lot in the District of Columbia, but did so at the insistence of his wife. He put a "For Sale" sign on it when she died,
11 and both lots, which he still owns, are up for sale. He has deposits in three Washington financial institutions and owns
12 first trust notes on property located in Maryland and Virginia. Respondent had resided in Pennsylvania from birth until 13 he left for Washington. He claimed as his "legal residence" the residence of his parents in Harrisburg, where they still 14 keep intact his room in which are kept some of his clothes and childhood toys. Though paying nothing as rent or for 15 lodging, he has from time to time made presents of money to his parents. He has visited his parents' home in 16 Harrisburg over week ends at least eight times a year, and has been there annually between Christmas and the New 17 Year. A registered voter in Pennsylvania, he has voted in all its general elections since he became of age. He paid the 18 Pennsylvania poll tax until it was superseded by an occupational tax, which he has also paid. Payment of such taxes
19 was a prerequisite to voting. He owns jointly with his father a note secured by a mortgage on Pennsylvania real estate.
20 Respondent testified that he expected to retire from Civil Service in four years and intended then to sell his house and 21 "leave Washington."

22 The Board found "as a fact" that, at the end of one year after he came to the District in 1914, respondent "had an 449*449
23 intention to remain and make his home in the District of Columbia for an indefinite period of time and that intention remained
24 with him, at least until the death of his wife." As in No. 58, it considered itself bound by the Sweeney case, supra,¹⁰⁰ and 25 accordingly held "as a matter of law" that the petitioner was not domiciled in the District on December 31, 1939, and never 26 had been.

27 The decisions in both cases were affirmed on review by the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. 73
28 App.D.C. 345, 347, 119 F.2d. 449, 451. The cases were brought here on writs of certiorari because of the importance of the 29 questions involved. 313 U.S. 556.

30 Although the District of Columbia Income Tax Act made "domicile" the fulcrum of the income tax, the first ever imposed in 31 the District, it set forth no definition of that word. To ascertain its meaning we therefore consider the Congressional history
32 of the Act, the situation with reference to which it was enacted, and the existing judicial precedents, with which Congress
33 may be taken to have been familiar in at least a general way. United States v. Dickerson, 310 U.S. 554, 562.

34 Below is how Congress explained the applicability of the income tax in dispute:

35 The conference agreement was presented to the Senate by Senator Overton, chairman of the Senate conferees,
36 with the following explanation: "Mr. President, I now call attention to the fact that the individual income tax is 37 imposed only on those domiciled in the District of Columbia. It, therefore, necessarily excludes from its imposition
38 all Senators and Members of the House of Representatives, the President of the United States, all Cabinet officers,
39 and Federal employees who have been brought into the District from the various States of the Union to serve
40 their country in the National Capital, provided such employees have not of their volition surrendered their 41 domiciles in the States and have voluntarily acquired domiciles within the District of Columbia." 84 Cong. Rec.
42 8824. Senator Overton also stated: "I took the position before the District of Columbia Committee and in 43 conference that I would not support any legislation which would exempt Senators and Members of the House of 44 Representatives and their official force from an income tax in the District of Columbia but would impose it on all
45 others. I then took the position in conference that if we imposed an income tax only on those domiciled within
46 the District, then we would be imposing it only on those who of their own volition had abandoned their 47 domiciles in the States of their origin and had elected to make their permanent home or domicile here in the 48 District of Columbia. Such persons, it may be justly contended, have no cause to complain against an income
49 *tax that is imposed upon them only because they have 451*451 chosen to establish within the District of* 50 Columbia their permanent¹⁰¹ places of abode and to abandon their domiciles within the States." 84 Cong. Rec.
51 8825.

¹⁰⁰ Sweeney v. District of Columbia, 72 App. D.C. 30, 113 F.2d. 25, certiorari denied, 310 U.S. 631.

¹⁰¹ We do not understand "permanent" to have been used in a literal sense. Of course it cannot be known without the gift of prophecy whether a given abode is "permanent" in the strictest sense. But beyond this, it is frequently used in the authorities on domicile to describe that which is not merely

1 In the House, Representative Nichols, chairman of the House conferees, and also chairman of the House District
2 Committee in charge of fiscal affairs, submitted the conference report and stated: "Since the question of the effect
3 of the word 'domicile' in this act has been raised, I think the House would probably like to have the legal definition
4 read: 'Domicile is the place where one has his true, fixed, permanent home and principal establishment and
5 to which, whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning, and where he exercises his political rights.¹⁰²
6 ... There must exist in combination the fact of residence and animus manendi — ' which means residence and
7 his intention to return [sic]; so that under this definition he could certainly live in the District of Columbia and 8 have his legal domicile in any other State in the United States." 84 Cong. Rec. 8974.

9 Representative Bates, another of the House conferees, stated in response to a question regarding the possibility
10 of triple taxation, "We raised that particular point [in conference] because we are much concerned about how 11 those who come from our States would be affected by the income-tax provisions of the new law, and it was 12 distinctly 452*452 understood that in this bill there should be no triple taxation .." 84 Cong. Rec. 8973.

13 The unusual character of the National Capital, making the income tax a "very explosive and controversial
14 item,"¹⁰³ was vividly before the Congress, and must also be considered in construing the statute imposing the tax.

15 The District of Columbia is an exceptional community. It is not a local municipal authority, but was established
16 under the Constitution as the seat of the National Government. Those in Government service here are not engaged
17 in local enterprise, although their service may be localized. Their work is that of the Nation, and their pay comes 18 not from local sources but from the whole country. Because of its character as a Federal City, there is no local 19 political constituency with whose activities those living in it may identify themselves as a symbol of their 20 acceptance of a local domicile.

21 Not all who flock here are birds of a feather. Some enter the Civil Service, finding tenure and pay there more
22 secure than in private enterprise. Political ties are of no consequence in obtaining or maintaining their positions.
23 At the other extreme are those who hold appointive office at the pleasure of the appointing officer. These latter,
24 as well as appointive officers with definite but unprotected tenure, and all elective officers, usually owe their
25 presence here to the intimate and influential part they have played in community life in one of the States.

26 Relatively few persons here in any branch of the Government service can truthfully and accurately lay claim to 27 an intention to sever themselves from the service on any exact date. Persons in all branches usually desire, quite 28 naturally and properly, to continue family life and to have the comforts of a domestic establishment for whatever
29 may be the term of their stay here. This is true of 453*453 many Senators and Congressmen, cited by Senator
30 Overton as typical of those whom the limitation of the statute to persons "domiciled" here "necessarily excludes."

31 Turning to the judicial precedents for further guidance in construing "domicile" as used in the statute, we find it
32 generally recognized that one who comes to Washington to enter the Government service and to live here for its 33 duration does not thereby acquire a new domicile. More than a century ago, Justice Parker of New Hampshire
34 observed that "It has generally been considered that persons appointed to public office under the authority of the 35 United States, and taking up their residence in Washington for the purpose of executing the duties of such office,
36 do not thereby, while engaged in the service of the government, lose their domicile in the place where they before
37 resided, unless they intend on removing there to make Washington their permanent"¹⁰⁴ residence." See Atherton v.
38 Thornton, 8 N.H. 178, 180. By and large, subsequent cases have taken a like view.¹⁰⁵ It should also be observed
39 454*454 that a policy against loss of domicile by sojourn in Washington is expressed in the constitutions and
40 statutes of many States.¹⁰⁶ Of course, no individual case, constitution, or statute is controlling, but the general
41 trend of these authorities is a significant recognition that the distinctive character of Washington habitation for 42 federal service is meaningful to those who are served as well as to those in the service.

43 From these various data on Congressional intent, it is apparent that the present cases are not governed by the 44 tests usually employed in cases where the element of Federal service in the Federal City is not present.¹⁰⁷ We

"temporary," or to describe a dwelling for the time being which there is no presently existing intent to give up. And further, compare a statement by Representative Dirksen on the floor of the House, 84 Cong. Rec. 8973.

¹⁰² Exercise of political rights elsewhere cannot be considered as meant to be conclusive on the issue of taxability in the District. See statement by Representative Dirksen on the floor of the House. Ibid.

1 hold that a man does not acquire a domicile in the District simply by coming here to live for an indefinite period
2 of time while in the Government service. A contrary decision would disregard the statements made on the floor
3 of Congress as to the meaning of the statute, fail to give proper weight to the trend of judicial decisions, with
4 which Congress should be taken to have been cognizant, and result in a wholesale finding of domicile on the part
5 of Government servants quite obviously at variance with Congressional policy. Further, Congress did not intend
6 that one living here indefinitely while in the Government service be held domiciled here simply because he does
7 not maintain a domestic establishment at the place he hails from. Such a rule would result in taxing those unable
8 to maintain two establishments, and exempting those able to meet such a burden — thus reversing the usual
9 philosophy of income tax as one based on ability to pay.

10 On the other hand, we hold that persons are domiciled here who live here and have no fixed and definite intent
11 to return and make their homes where they were formerly 455*455 domiciled.¹⁰⁸ A decision that the statute lays 12 a tax only on those with an affirmative intent to remain here the rest of their days would be at odds with the 13 prevailing concept of domicile, and would give the statute scope far narrower than Congress must have intended.

14 Cases falling clearly within such broad rules aside, the question of domicile is a difficult one of fact to be settled
15 only by a realistic and conscientious review of the many relevant (and frequently conflicting) indicia of where a 16 man's home¹⁰⁹ is and according to the established modes of proof.
17 [District of Columbia v. Murphy, 314 U.S. 441, 450-451 (1941)]

18 From this case, we learn that:

- 19 1. One does not acquire a domicile in the District of Columbia, within the meaning of the District of Columbia Income 20 Tax Act, merely by coming to the District to live for an indefinite period while in the Government service. P. 453.
- 21 2. The Act does not intend that one living in the District of Columbia indefinitely, while in the Government service, shall 22 be held domiciled there simply because he does not maintain a domestic establishment at the place from which he 23 came. P. 454.
- 24 3. Persons are domiciled in the District of Columbia, within the meaning of the Act, who live there and have no fixed and 25 definite intent to return to their former domiciles and make their homes there. P. 454.
- 26 4. The place where a man lives is, prima facie, his domicile. P. 455.
- 27 5. The taxing authority is warranted in treating as prima facie taxable any person quartered in the District of Columbia on 28 tax day whose status it deems doubtful. P. 455.
- 29 6. In applying this Act, the taxing authority need not find the exact time when the attitude and relationship of person to 30 place which constitute domicile were formed. It is enough that they were formed before the tax day. P. 455.
- 31 7. If one has at any time become domiciled in the District of Columbia, it is his burden to establish any change of status 32 upon which he relies to escape the tax. P. 456.
- 33 8. In order to retain his former domicile, one who comes to the District to perform Government service must always have 34 a fixed and definite intent to return and to take up his home there when separated from the service. A mere sentimental 35 attachment will not hold the old domicile. P. 456.
- 36 9. Whether or not one votes where he claims domicile is highly relevant but not controlling. P. 456.
- 37 10. Of great significance to the question of domicile in the District of Columbia is the nature of the position which brings 38 one to or keeps him in the service of the Government. P. 457.
- 39 11. Manner of living in the District and many other considerations touching relationships, social connections and activities
40 of the person concerned, are suggested in the opinion as among the considerations which are relevant to a
41 determination of the question of domicile. P. 457. 73 App.D.C. 345, 347, 119 F.2d 449, 451, reversed.

42 First, the Murphy case exemplified the importance of the necessary facts, personal knowledge and actual establishment of an 43 individual's domicile as respects the DC income tax act. If the targeted individuals were domiciled in DC on the last day of 44 the taxable year, those individuals were liable to the tax, as the tax was imposed on the taxable income of any individual
45 domiciled in DC on "tax day". It is that simple.

¹⁰⁸ This is not inconsistent with our holding that domicile here does not follow from mere indefiniteness of the period of one's stay. While the intention to return must be fixed, the date need not be; while the intention to return must be unconditional, the time may be, and in most cases of necessity is, contingent. The intention must not waver before the uncertainties of time, but one may not be visited with unwelcome domicile for lacking the gift of prophecy.

¹⁰⁹ Of course, this term does not have the magic qualities of a divining rod in locating domicile. In fact, the search for the domicile of any person capable of acquiring a domicile of choice is but a search for his "home." See Beale, Social Justice and Business Costs, 49 Harv. L. Rev. 593, 596; 1 Beale, Conflict of Laws, §19.1.

1 Since Congress has exclusive legislative jurisdiction over the "District" (see Art. 1 Sec. 8 Cl. 17) it certainly had the "power"
2 to enact such a tax on citizens domiciled in the District. In fact, the constitutionality of the tax was not ever put in issue. The
3 issue in the case turned on whether Mr. Murphy was resident in DC or domiciled there for purposes of that DC
4 ("federal") income tax act. His domicile was held to be in Pennsylvania by the Supreme Court, thus exempting him
5 from the DC Income Tax.

6 Moreover, there are two fairly instructive Revenue Rules spot on the topic of "wherever resident". See Rev.Rul. 489 and
7 Rev.Rul. 357 as follows:

8 No provision of the Internal Revenue Code or the regulations thereunder holds that a citizen of the United States
9 is a resident of the United States for purposes of its tax. Several sections of the Code provide Federal income tax
10 relief or benefits to citizens of the United States who are residents without the United States for some specified
11 period. See sections 911, 934, and 981. These sections give recognition to the fact that not all the citizens of the 12 United States are residents of the United States.
13 [Rev.Rul. 75-489, p. 511]

14 As regards additional support, see Rev.Rul. 75-357 at p. 5, as follows:

15 Sections 1.1-1(b) and 1.871-1 of the Income Tax Regulations provide that all citizens of the United States,
16 wherever resident, and all resident alien individuals are liable to the income taxes imposed by the Internal
17 Revenue Code whether the income is received from sources within or without the United States. See, however,
18 section 911 of the Code. (Emphasis added.)
19 [Rev.Rul. 75-357, p. 5]

20 Being that Rev.Rul. 75-357 quotes 26 C.F.R. § 1.1-1(b) directly, and duly informs every reader to see, 26 U.S.C. §911, I
21 believe we should visit 26 U.S.C. §911 and its regulations to locate the appropriate application of the wherever resident
22 feature in that section of federal law. See 26 U.S.C. § 911(d)(1)(A) as follows:

23 (d) Definitions and special rules — For purposes of this section —

24 (1) Qualified individual — The term "qualified individual" means an individual whose tax home is in a foreign 25 country and who is —

26 (A) a citizen of the United States and establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary that he has been a bona
27 fide resident of a foreign country or countries for an uninterrupted period which includes an entire taxable year.
28 [26 U.S.C. §911(d)(1)(A)]

29 Additionally, as we know, 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(b) states,

30 "All citizens of the United States, wherever resident, are liable to the income taxes imposed by the Internal 31 Revenue Code whether the income is received from sources within or without the United States."
32 [26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(b)]

33 The regulations to section 911 make the distinction between where income is received as opposed to where services are 34 performed. See:

35 26 C.F.R. §1.911-3 Determination of amount of foreign earned income to be excluded.

36 (a) Definition of foreign earned income.

37 For purposes of section 911 and the regulations thereunder, the term "foreign earned income" means earned 38 income (as defined in paragraph (b) of this section) from sources within a foreign country (as defined in §1.911- 39 2(h)) that is earned during a period for which the individual qualifies under §1.911-2(a) to make an election.
40 Earned income is from sources within a foreign country if it is attributable to services performed by an
41 *individual in a foreign country or countries. The place of receipt of earned income is immaterial in determining 42 whether earned income is attributable to services performed in a foreign country or countries.

43 The Murphy case also points out the utter arrogance, conceit, and hypocrisy of the federal courts because:

- 44 1. Choosing a civil domicile is how we nominate a protector and become a "customer" of government CIVIL protection.
- 45 2. We don't become a "citizen" or "resident" under the civil statutes of a specific government UNTIL we VOLUNTEER
- 46 to become such a "customer".

- 1 3. If in fact the government is one of delegated powers, WE, and not the GOVERNMENT who serves us, have a right to 2 choose NOT be a “customer”. This right derives from:
 3 3.1. Your First Amendment right to associate or not associate.
 4 3.2. Your right to contract or not contract. The civil statutes are what the U.S. Supreme court calls a “social
 5 compact”, meaning a “contract” to procure CIVIL protection. You have a right NOT to be party to this CIVIL 6 contract or compact.
 7 4. Those who are NOT party to this contract and not a “customer” of civil statutory protection are:
 8 4.1. STATUTORY “non-resident non-persons” from a civil perspective.
 9 4.2. “stateless” from the civil statutory perspective in relation to the government they are party to.
 10 4.3. NOT “represented” by any elected official, because they are NOT even eligible to vote. DOMICILE is a 11 prerequisite to eligibility to vote.
 12 4.4. Not statutory “taxpayers” and may not be taxed, because taxation without representation is the reason for the 13 American Revolution in 1776.

14 “If money is wanted by rulers who have in any manner oppressed the People, they may retain it until their 15 grievances are redressed, and thus peaceably procure relief, without trusting to despised petitions or disturbing
 16 the public tranquility.”
 17 [“Continental Congress To The Inhabitants Of The Province Of Quebec.” Journals of the Continental Congress.
 18 1774 -1789. Journals 1: 105-13.]

- 19 5. The court implies the right to decide whether someone is such a “customer” WITHOUT the need to provide express 20 evidence of their consent in proving the domicile of the party. Recall from the Declaration of Independence that ALL
 21 “just” powers of government derive the CONSENT of the people.

22 DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE, 1776

23 “We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator
 24 with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure
 25 these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the 26 governed.”
 27 [Declaration of Independence, 1776]

28 Anything that does not derive from EXPRESS WRITTEN CONSENT is therefore inherently UNJUST. Therefore,
 29 every assertion of CIVIL authority requires express evidence of written consent on the record of the proceeding. The 30 government imposes the same burden upon those who are suing it civilly and assert official, judicial, and sovereign
 31 immunity if such consent is NOT demonstrated. Therefore, under the concept of equal protection and equal treatment,
 32 the GOVERNMENT has the SAME burden of proof. For details, see:

Requirement for Consent, Form #05.003
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 33 6. The court not once mentioned how such consent can be or is procured, and without doing so, the public are deprived of 34 the constitutional requirement for HOW consent is procured and whether EXPRESS NON-CONSENT can trump
 35 IMPLIED CONSENT. All of the factors they mention in determining civil domicile of the party do NOT derive 36 DIRECTLY from consent and therefore are IRRELEVANT in proving the SAME kind of EXPRESS WRITTEN 37 CONSENT the government demands when you are suing them.
 38 7. If the court will not enforce YOUR sovereign immunity as indicated above, any attempt to enforce THEIRS is 39 hypocritical, suspect, and violates the constitutional requirement for equal protection and equal treatment as explained 40 in:

Requirement for Equal Protection and Equal Treatment, Form #05.033
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

1 13.11.8 “Subject to THE jurisdiction” in the Fourteenth Amendment

2 The phrase “Subject to THE jurisdiction” is found in the Fourteenth Amendment:

3 U.S. Constitution:
4 Fourteenth Amendment

5 Section. 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States[] and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are 6 citizens of the United States[] and of the State wherein they reside.

7 The phrase “subject to THE jurisdiction” in the context of ONLY the Fourteenth Amendment:

- 8 1. Means “subject to the POLITICAL and not LEGISLATIVE jurisdiction”.

9 “This section contemplates two sources of citizenship, and two sources only,—birth and naturalization. The
10 persons declared to be citizens are 'all persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the
11 jurisdiction thereof.' The evident meaning of these last words is, not merely subject in some respect or degree to
12 the jurisdiction of the United States, but completely subject to their [plural, not singular, meaning states of the
13 Union] political jurisdiction, and owing them [the state of the Union] direct and immediate
14 allegiance. And the words relate to the time of birth in the one case, as they do [169 U.S. 649, 725] to the time
15 of naturalization in the other. Persons not thus subject to the jurisdiction of the United States at the time of birth
16 cannot become so afterwards, except by being naturalized, either individually, as by proceedings under the
17 naturalization acts, or collectively, as by the force of a treaty by which foreign territory is acquired.”
18 U.S. v. Wong Kim Ark, [169 U.S. 649, 18 S.Ct. 456; 42 L.Ed. 890 (1898)]

- 19 2. Requires domicile, which is voluntary, in order to be subject ALSO to the civil LEGISLATIVE jurisdiction of the 20 municipality one is in. Civil status always has domicile as a prerequisite.

21 In Udny v. Udny (1869) L. R., 1 H. L. Sc. 441, the point decided was one of inheritance, depending upon the
22 question whether the domicile of the father was in England or in Scotland, he being in either alternative a British
23 *subject. Lord Chancellor Hatherley said: ‘The question of naturalization and of allegiance is distinct from that
24 of domicile.’ Page 452. Lord Westbury, in the passage relied on by the counsel for the United States, began by
25 *saying: ‘The law of England, and of almost all civilized countries, ascribes to each individual at his birth two
26 distinct legal states or conditions,—one by virtue of which he becomes the subject [NATIONAL] of some
27 particular country, binding him by the tie of natural allegiance, and which may be called his political status;
28 another by virtue of which he has ascribed to him the character of a citizen of some particular country, and as
29 such is possessed of certain municipal rights, and subject to certain obligations, which latter character is the
30 civil status or condition of the individual, and may be quite different from his political status.’ And then, while
31 maintaining that the civil status is universally governed by the single principle of domicile (domicilium), the
32 criterion established by international law for the purpose of determining civil status, and the basis on which
33 ‘the personal rights of the party—that is to say, the law which determines his majority or minority, his
34 marriage, succession, testacy, or intestacy—must depend,’ he yet distinctly recognized that a man’s political
35 status, his country (patria), and his ‘nationality,—that is, natural allegiance,—‘may depend on different laws in
36 different countries.’ Pages 457, 460. He evidently used the word ‘citizen,’ not as equivalent to ‘subject,’ but rather
37 to ‘inhabitant’; and had no thought of impeaching the established rule that all persons born under British
38 dominion are natural-born subjects.

- 41 3. Is a POLITICAL status that does not carry with it any civil status to which PUBLIC rights or franchises can attach.
42 Therefore, the term “citizen” as used in Title 26 is NOT this type of citizen, since it imposes civil obligations. All tax
43 obligations are civil in nature and depend on DOMICILE, not NATIONALITY. See District of Columbia v. Murphy, 44 314 U.S. 441 (1941) and:

Why Domicile and Becoming a “Taxpayer” Require Your Consent, Form #05.002, Section 11.7
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 45 4. Is a product of PERMANENT ALLEGIANCE that is associated with the political status of “nationals” as defined in 8
46 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21). The only thing that can or does establish a political status is such allegiance.

47 8 U.S.C. §1101: Definitions

48 (a) As used in this chapter—

49 (21) The term "national" means a person owing permanent allegiance to a state.

1
3 "Allegiance and protection [by the government from harm] are, in this connection, reciprocal obligations. The
4 one is a compensation for the other; allegiance for protection and protection for allegiance."
[Minor v. Happersett, 88 U.S. (21 Wall.) 162, 166-168 (1874)]

- 5 5. Is NOT a product of TEMPORARY allegiance owed by aliens who are sojourners temporarily in the United States and 6 subject to the laws but do not have PERMANENT allegiance. Note the phrase "temporary and local allegiance" in the 7 ruling below:

8 The reasons for not allowing to other aliens exemption 'from the jurisdiction of the country in which they are
9 found' were stated as follows: 'When private individuals of one nation [states of the Unions are "nations" under
10 the law of nations] spread themselves through another as business or caprice may direct, mingling
11 indiscriminately with the inhabitants of that other, or when merchant vessels enter for the purposes of trade,
12 it would be obviously inconvenient and dangerous to society, and would subject the laws to continual
13 infraction, and the government to degradation, if such individuals or merchants did not owe temporary and
14 local allegiance, and were not amenable to the jurisdiction of the country. Nor can the foreign sovereign have
15 any motive for wishing such exemption. His subjects thus passing into foreign countries are not employed by him,
16 nor are they engaged in national pursuits. Consequently, there are powerful motives for not exempting persons
17 of this description from the jurisdiction of the country in which they are found, and no one motive for requiring
18 it. The implied license, therefore, under which they enter, can never be construed to grant such exemption.' 7
19 Cranch, 144.

20 In short, the judgment in the case of The Exchange declared, as incontrovertible principles, that the jurisdiction
21 of every nation within its own territory is exclusive and absolute, and is susceptible of no limitation not imposed
22 by the nation itself; that all exceptions to its full and absolute territorial jurisdiction must be traced up to its own
23 consent, express or implied; that upon its consent to cede, or to waive the exercise of, a part of its territorial
24 jurisdiction, rest the exemptions from that jurisdiction of foreign sovereigns or their armies entering its territory
25 with its permission, and of their foreign ministers and public ships of war; and that the implied license, under
26 which private individuals of another nation enter the territory and mingle indiscriminately with its inhabitants,
27 for purposes of business or pleasure, can never be construed to grant to them an exemption from the
28 jurisdiction of the country in which they are found. See, also, Carlisle v. U.S. (1872) 16 Wall. 147, 155; Radich
29 v. Hutchins (1877) 95 U.S. 210; Wildenhus' Case (1887) 120 U.S. 1, 7 Sup.Ct. 385; Chae Chan Ping v. U.S.
30 (1889) 130 U.S. 581, 603, 604, 9 Sup.Ct. 623.
31 [United States v. Wong Kim Ark, 169 U.S. 649, 18 S.Ct. 456, 42 L.Ed. 890 (1898)]

32
33 "All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the 34 United States and of the State wherein they reside."

35 The first observation we have to make on this clause is, that it puts at rest both the questions which we stated to 36 have been the subject of differences of opinion. It declares that persons may be citizens of the United States
37 without regard to their citizenship of a particular State, and it overturns the Dred Scott decision by making all
38 persons born within the United States and subject to its jurisdiction citizens of the United States. That its main
39 purpose was to establish the citizenship of the negro can admit of no doubt. The phrase, "subject to its 40 jurisdiction" was intended to exclude from its operation children of ministers, consuls, and citizens or subjects
41 of foreign States born within the United States.
42 [Slaughterhouse Cases, 83 U.S. 36 (1873)]

- 43 6. Relates only to the time of birth or naturalization and not to one's CIVIL status at any time AFTER birth or 44 naturalization.
45 7. Is a codification of the following similar phrase found in the Civil Rights Act of 1866, 14 Stat. 27-30.

46 Civil Right Act of 1866, 14 Stat. 27

47 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,
48 That all persons born in the United States and not subject to any foreign power, excluding Indians not taxed,
49 are hereby declared to be citizens of the United States; and such citizens, of every race and color, without regard
50 to any previous condition of slavery or involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party
51 shall have been duly convicted, shall have the same right, in every State and Territory in the United States, to 52 make and enforce contracts, to sue, be parties, and give evidence, to inherit, purchase, lease, sell, hold, and
53 convey real and personal property, and to full and equal benefit of all laws and proceedings for the security of 54 person and property, as is enjoyed by white citizens, and shall be subject to like punishment, pains, and penalties,
55 and to none other, any law, statute, ordinance, regulation, or custom, to the contrary notwithstanding.
56 [SOURCE: <http://teachingamericanhistory.org/library/document/the-civil-rights-act-of-1866/>]

The only way one could be “not subject to any foreign power” as indicated above is to not owe ALLEGIANCE to a foreign power and to be a CONSTITUTIONAL “citizen of the United States”.

8. Does NOT apply to people in unincorporated territories such as Puerto Rico, Guam, American Samoa, etc.

“The Naturalization Clause [of the Fourteenth Amendment] has a geographic limitation: it applies “throughout the United States.” The federal courts have repeatedly construed similar and even identical language in other clauses to include states and incorporated territories, but not unincorporated territories. In Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244, 21 S.Ct. 770, 45 L.Ed. 1088 (1901), one of the Insular Cases, the Supreme Court held that the Revenue Clause’s identical explicit geographic limitation, “throughout the United States,” did not include the unincorporated territory of Puerto Rico, which for purposes of that Clause was “not part of the United States.” Id. at 287, 21 S.Ct. 770. The Court reached this sensible result because unincorporated territories are not on a path to statehood. See Boumediene v. Bush, 553 U.S. 723, 757–58, 128 S.Ct. 2229, 171 L.Ed.2d. 41 (2008) (citing Downes, 182 U.S. at 293, 21 S.Ct. 770). In Rabang v. I.N.S., 35 F.3d. 1449 (9th Cir.1994), this court held that the Fourteenth Amendment’s limitation of birthright citizenship to those “born ... in the United States” did not extend citizenship to those born in the Philippines during the period when it was an unincorporated territory. U.S. Const., 14th Amend., cl. 1; see Rabang, 35 F.3d. at 1451. Every court to have construed that clause’s geographic limitation has agreed. See Valmonte v. I.N.S., 136 F.3d. 914, 920–21 (2d Cir.1998); Lacap v. I.N.S., 138 F.3d. 518, 519 (3d Cir.1998) ; Licudine v. Winter, 603 F.Supp.2d. 129, 134 (D.D.C.2009).

Like the constitutional clauses at issue in Rabang and Downes, the Naturalization Clause is expressly limited to the “United States.” This limitation “prevents its extension to every place over which the government exercises its sovereignty.” Rabang, 35 F.3d. at 1453. Because the Naturalization Clause did not follow the flag to the CNMI when Congress approved the Covenant, the Clause does not require us to apply federal immigration law to the CNMI prior to the CNRA’s transition date. [Eche v. Holder, 694 F.3d. 1026 (2012)]

Lastly, the subject of this section is such an important and pervasive one in the freedom community that we have prepared an entire presentation on the subject matter which we highly recommend that you view, if any questions at all remain about the meaning of the phrase “subject to the jurisdiction” in the Fourteenth Amendment:

Why the Fourteenth Amendment is Not a Threat to Your Freedom, Form #08.015
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

13.11.9 “non-resident non-persons” as used in this document are neither PHYSICALLY on federal territory nor LEGALLY present within the United States government as a “person” and office

Throughout this document, we use the term “non-resident non-person” to describe those who are neither PHYSICALLY nor LEGALLY present in either the United States GOVERNMENT or the federal territory that it owns and controls. Hence,

1 “non-resident non-persons” are completely outside the legislative jurisdiction of Congress and hence, cannot even be
2 DEFINED by Congress in any statute. No matter what term we invented to describe such a status, Congress could not and
3 would not ever even recognize the existence of such an entity or “person” or “human”, because it would not be in their best
4 interest to do so if they want to STEAL from you. Such an entity would, in fact be a “non-customer” to their protection racket
5 and they don’t want to even recognize the fact that you have a RIGHT not to be a customer of theirs.

6 Some people object to the use of this “term” by stating that the terms “non-resident” and “non-resident non-person” are not
7 used in the Internal Revenue Code and therefore can’t be a correct usage. We respond to this objection by saying that:

- 8 1. "non-resident" is a legal word, because that is what the U.S. Supreme Court uses to describe it. If the U.S. Supreme
9 Court can use it, then so can we since we are all equal. Notice that they also call "nonresident aliens" defined in 26
10 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B) "non-resident aliens" so that is why WE do it too.

11 "Neff was then a non-resident of Oregon."
12 [Pennoyer v. Neff, 95 U.S. 714, 24 L.Ed. 565 (1877)]

13 "When the contract is 'produced' by a non-resident broker the 'servicing' function is normally performed by the 14 company exclusively."
15 [Osborn v. Ozlin, 310 U.S. 53, 60 S.Ct. 758, 84 L.Ed. 1074 (1940)]

16 "The court below held that the act did not include a non-resident alien, and directed a verdict and judgment for 17 the whole amount of interest."
18 [Railroad Company v. Jackson, 74 U.S. 262, 19 L.Ed. 88, 7 Wall. 262 (1868)]

- 19 2. We use the term to avoid the statutory language as much as possible and to emphasize that it implies BOTH the 20 absence of a domicile and the absence of a legal presence under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act (F.S.I.A.), 28
21 U.S.C. Chapter 97.
22 3. We wish to avoid being confused with anything in the Internal Revenue Code (I.R.C.), since the term "non-resident" is 23 not used there but "resident" is.
24 4. The Statutes at Large from which the Internal Revenue Code was written originally in 1939 also use the phrase "non-25 resident" rather than "nonresident", so we are therefore insisting on the historical rather than present use.
26 5. The Department of State has told us and our members in correspondence received by them that they don’t use the term
27 “nonresident” or “nonresident alien” either. But they DO understand the term “non-resident”. Therefore, we use the 28 term “non-resident non-person” to avoid confusing them also.

29 13.11.10 “resident”

30 The Treasury Regulations define the meaning of “resident” and “residence” as follows:

31 Title 26: Internal Revenue
32 PART 1—INCOME TAXES
33 nonresident alien individuals
34 §1.871-2 Determining residence of alien individuals.

35 (B) Residence defined.

36 An alien actually present in the United States^{} who is not a mere transient or sojourner is a resident of the
37 United States for purposes of the income tax. Whether he is a transient is determined by his intentions with
38 regard to the length and nature of his stay. A mere floating intention, indefinite as to time, to return to another
39 country is not sufficient to constitute him a transient. If he lives in the United States and has no definite intention
40 as to his stay, he is a resident. One who comes to the United States for a definite purpose which in its nature may
41 be promptly accomplished is a transient but, if his purpose is of such a nature that an extended stay may be
42 necessary for its accomplishment, and to that end the alien makes his home temporarily in the United States, he
43 becomes a resident, though it may be his intention at all times to return to his domicile abroad when the purpose
44 for which he came has been consummated or abandoned. An alien whose stay in the United States is limited to a
45 definite period by the immigration laws is not a resident of the United States within the meaning of this section,
46 in the absence of exceptional circumstances.

47 One therefore may only be a “resident” and file resident tax forms such as IRS Form 1040 if they are “present in the United 48 States”, and by “present” can mean EITHER:

- 49 1. PHYSICALLY present: meaning within the geographical “United States” as defined by STATUTE and as NOT commonly understood. This would be the United States, which we also call the federal zone. Furthermore:

1.1. Only physical “persons” can physically be ANYWHERE.

1.2. Artificial entities, legal fictions, or other “juristic persons” such as corporations and public offices are NOT physical things, and therefore cannot be physically present ANYWHERE.

2. LEGALLY present: meaning that:

2.1. You have CONSENSUALLY contracted with the government as an otherwise NONRESIDENT party to acquire an office within the government as a public officer and a legal fiction. This can ONLY lawfully occur by availing oneself of 26 U.S.C. §6013(g) and (h) , which allows NONRESIDENTS to “elect” to be treated as RESIDENT ALIENS, even though not physically present in the “United States”, IF and ONLY IF they are married to a STATUTORY but not CONSTITUTIONAL “U.S. citizen” per 8 U.S.C. §1401, 26 U.S.C. §3121(e), and 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c). If you are married to a CONSTITUTIONAL citizen who is NOT a STATUTORY citizen, this option is NOT available. Consequently, most of the IRS Form 1040 returns the IRS receives are FRAUDULENT in this regard and a criminal offense under 26 U.S.C. §§7206 and 7207.

2.2. The OFFICE is legally present within the “United States” as a legal fiction and a corporation. It is NOT physically present. Anyone representing said office is an extension of the “United States” as a legal person.

For all purposes other than those above, a nonresident cannot lawfully acquire any of the following “statuses” under the civil provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitles A through C because: 1. Domiciled OUTSIDE of the forum in a legislatively foreign state such as either a state of the Union or a foreign country; AND 2. Protected by the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act (F.S.I.A.), 28 U.S.C. Chapter 97.

1. “person”.
2. “individual”.
3. “taxpayer”.
4. “resident”.
5. “citizen”.

For more details on the relationship between STATUTORY civil statuses such as those above and one’s civil domicile, see:

Why Domicile and Becoming a “Taxpayer” Require Your Consent, Form #05.002, Section 11

13.11.11 Physically present

As far as being PHYSICALLY present, the “United States” is geographically defined as:

*TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701. [Internal Revenue Code]
Sec. 7701. - Definitions*

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(9) United States

The term “United States” when used in a geographical sense includes only the States and the District of Columbia.

(10) State

The term “State” shall be construed to include the District of Columbia, where such construction is necessary to carry out provisions of this title.

*TITLE 4 - FLAG AND SEAL, SEAT OF GOVERNMENT, AND THE STATES
CHAPTER 4 - THE STATES
Sec. 110. Same: definitions*

(d) The term “State” includes any Territory or possession of the United States.

1 Anything OUTSIDE of the GEOGRAPHICAL “United States” as defined above is “foreign” and therefore legislatively
2 “alien”. Included within that legislatively “foreign” and “alien” area are both the constitutional states of the Union AND
3 foreign countries. Anyone domiciled in a legislatively “foreign” or “alien” jurisdiction, REGARDLESS OF THEIR
4 NATIONALITY, is a “nonresident” for the purposes of income taxation. If they are a public officer, they are also a 5 “nonresident alien”. Another important thing about the above definition is that:

- 6 1. It relates ONLY to the GEOGRAPHICAL CONTEXT of the word.
- 7 2. Not every use of the term “United States” implies the GEOGRAPHIC context.
- 8 3. The ONLY way to verify which context is implied in each case is if they EXPRESSLY identify whether they mean
9 “United States*” the legal person or “United States” federal territory in each case. All other contexts are NOT 10 expressly invoked in the Internal Revenue Code and therefore PURPOSEFULLY EXCLUDED per the rules of 11 statutory construction. The DEFAULT context in the absence of expressly invoking the GEOGRAPHIC context is 12 “United States*” the legal person and NOT a geographic place. This is how they do it in the case of the phrase
13 “sources within the United States”.

14 13.11.12 Legally but not physically present

15 One can be “legally present” within a jurisdiction WITHOUT being PHYSICALLY present. For example, you can be 16 regarded as a “resident” within the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitles A and C without ever being physically present on the 17 only place it applies, which is federal territory not part of any state of the Union. Earlier versions of the Internal Revenue
18 regulations demonstrate how this happens:

19 26 C.F.R. §301.7701-5 Domestic, foreign, resident, and nonresident persons.

20 A domestic corporation is one organized or created in the United States, including only the States (and during 21 the periods when not States, the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii), and the District of Columbia, or under the
22 law of the United States or of any State or Territory. A foreign corporation is one which is not domestic. A
23 domestic corporation is a resident corporation even though it does no business and owns no property in the
24 *United States. A foreign corporation engaged in trade or business within the United States is referred to in the
25 regulations in this chapter as a resident foreign corporation, and a foreign corporation not engaged in trade
26 or business within the United States, as a nonresident foreign corporation. A partnership engaged in trade or*
27 business within the United States is referred to in the regulations in this chapter as a resident partnership, and a
28 *partnership not engaged in trade or business within the United States, as a nonresident partnership. Whether a
29 partnership is to be regarded as resident or nonresident is not determined by the nationality or residence of its
30 members or by the place in which it was created or organized.

33 The corporations and partnerships mentioned above represent the ONLY “persons” who are “taxpayers” in the Internal 34 Revenue Code, because they are the only entities expressly mentioned in the definition of “person” found at 26 U.S.C.
35 §6671(b) and 26 U.S.C. §7343. It is a rule of statutory construction that any thing or class of thing not EXPRESSLY
36 appearing in a definition is purposefully excluded by implication:

37 *“Expressio unius est exclusio alterius. A maxim of statutory interpretation meaning that the expression of one
38 thing is the exclusion of another. Burgin v. Forbes, 293 Ky. 456, 169 S.W.2d. 321, 325; Newblock v. Bowles,*
39 *170 Okl. 487, 40 P.2d. 1097, 1100. Mention of one thing implies exclusion of another. When certain persons or
40 things are specified in a law, contract, or will, an intention to exclude all others from its operation may be
41 inferred. Under this maxim, if statute specifies one exception to a general rule or assumes to specify the effects*
42 of a certain provision, other exceptions or effects are excluded.”
43 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 581]
44

45 “The United States Supreme Court cannot supply what Congress has studiously omitted in a statute.”
46 Federal Trade Com. v. Simplicity Pattern Co., [360 U.S. 55, p. 55, 475042/56451 (1959)]

47 These same artificial “persons” and therefore public offices within 26 U.S.C. §§6671(b) and 7343, are also NOT mentioned
48 in the constitution either. All constitutional “persons” or “people” are human beings, and therefore the tax imposed by the
49 Internal Revenue Code, Subtitles A and C and even the revenue clauses within the United States Constitution itself at 1:8:1
50 and 1:8:3 can and do relate ONLY to human beings and not artificial “persons” or corporations:

51 “Citizens of the United States within the meaning of this Amendment must be natural and not artificial
52 persons; a corporate body is not a citizen of the United States.14

6 impairment by the law of a State." Orient Ins. Co. v. Daggs, 172 U.S. 557, 561 (1869) . This conclusion was in
7 harmony with the earlier holding in Paul v. Virginia, 75 U.S. (8 Wall.) 168 (1869), to the effect that corporations
8 were not within the scope of the privileges and immunities clause of state citizenship set out in Article IV, Sec. 2.

13 One is therefore ONLY regarded as a "resident" within the Internal Revenue Code if and ONLY if they are engaged in the 14 "trade or business" activity, which is defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26) as "the functions of a public office". This mechanism
15 for acquiring jurisdiction is documented in Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b) . Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17\(b\)
16 says that when we are representing a federal and not state corporation as "officers" or statutory "employees" per 5 U.S.C.
17 §2105(a) , the civil laws which apply are the place of formation and domicile of the corporation, which in the case of the 18 government of "U.S. Inc." is ONLY the District of Columbia:

19 IV. PARTIES > Rule 17.
20 Rule 17. Parties Plaintiff and Defendant; Capacity

21 (b) Capacity to Sue or be Sued.

22 Capacity to sue or be sued is determined as follows:

23 (1) for an individual who is not acting in a representative capacity, by the law of the individual's domicile;

24 (2) for a corporation, by the law under which it was organized; and

25 (3) for all other parties, by the law of the state where the court is located, except that:

26 (A) a partnership or other unincorporated association with no such capacity under that state's law may sue or
27 be sued in its common name to enforce a substantive right existing under the United States Constitution or
28 laws; and

29 (B) 28 U.S.C. §§ 754 and 959\(a\) govern the capacity of a receiver appointed by a United States court to sue
30 or be sued in a United States court.

31 [Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17\(b\)]

32 Please note the following very important facts:

- 33 1. The "person" which IS physically present on federal territory in the context of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b)(2)
34 scenario is the PUBLIC OFFICE, rather than the OFFICER who is CONSENSUALLY and LAWFULLY filling said
35 office.
36 2. The PUBLIC OFFICE is the statutory "taxpayer" per 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14), and not the human being filling said
37 office.
38 3. The OFFICE is the thing the government created and can therefore regulate and tax. They can ONLY tax and regulate 39 that which they created.¹¹⁰ The public office has a domicile in the District of Columbia per 4 U.S.C. §72, which is the 40 same domicile as that of its CORPORATION parent.
41 4. Because the parent government corporation of the office is a STATUTORY but not CONSTITUTIONAL "U.S.
42 citizen", then the public office itself is ALSO a statutory citizen per 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c). All creations of a government
43 have the same civil status as their creator and the creation cannot be greater than the creator:

44 "A corporation is a citizen, resident, or inhabitant of the state or country by or under the laws of which it was 45 created, and of that state or country only."
46 [19 Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Corporations, §886 (2003)]

- 47 5. An oath of office is the ONLY lawful method by which a specific otherwise PRIVATE person can be connected to a

1 specific PUBLIC office.

2 "It is true, that the person who accepts an office may be supposed to enter into a compact [contract] to be
3 answerable to the government, which he serves, for any violation of his duty; and, having taken the oath of 4 office, he would unquestionably be liable, in such case, to a prosecution for perjury in the Federal Courts. But
5 because one man, by his own act, renders himself amenable to a particular jurisdiction, shall another man,
6 who has not incurred a similar obligation, be implicated? If, in other words, it is sufficient to vest a jurisdiction
7 in this court, that a Federal Officer is concerned; if it is a sufficient proof of a case arising under a law of the
8 United States to affect other persons, that such officer is bound, by law, to discharge his duty with fidelity; a
9 source of jurisdiction is opened, which must inevitably overflow and destroy all the barriers between the judicial
10 authorities of the State and the general government. Anything which can prevent a Federal Officer from the
11 punctual, as well as from an impartial, performance of his duty; an assault and battery; or the recovery of a debt,
12 as well as the offer of a bribe, may be made a foundation of the jurisdiction of this court; and, considering the
13 constant disposition of power to extend the sphere of its influence, fictions will be resorted to, when real cases
14 cease to occur. A mere fiction, that the defendant is in the custody of the marshall, has rendered the jurisdiction
15 of the King's Bench universal in all personal actions."

18 Absent proof on the record of such an oath in any legal proceeding, any enforcement proceeding against a "taxpayer"
19 public officer must be dismissed. The oath of public office:

20 5.1. Makes the OFFICER into legal surety for the PUBLIC OFFICE.

21 5.2. Creates a partnership between the otherwise private officer and the government. That is the ONLY partnership
22 within the statutory meaning of "person" found in 26 U.S.C. §7343 and 26 U.S.C. §6671(b).

23 6. The reason that "United States" is defined as expressly including ONLY the District of Columbia in 26 U.S.C.

24 §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10) is because that is the ONLY place that "public officers" can lawfully serve, per 4 U.S.C. §72:

25 TITLE 4 > CHAPTER 3 > § 72

26 Sec. 72. - Public offices; at seat of Government

27 All offices attached to the seat of government shall be exercised in the District of Columbia, and not elsewhere,
28 except as otherwise expressly provided by law

29 7. Even within privileged federal corporations, not all workers are "officers" and therefore "public officers". Only the 30 officers of the corporation identified in the corporate filings, in fact, are officers and public officers. Every other
31 worker in the corporation is EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE and NOT a statutory "taxpayer".

32 8. The authority for instituting the "trade or business" franchise tax upon public officers in the District of Columbia
33 derives from the following U.S. Supreme Court cite:

34 "Loughborough v. Blake, 5 Wheat. 317, 5 L.Ed. 98, was an action of trespass or, as appears by the original
35 record, replevin, brought in the circuit court for the District of Columbia to try the right of Congress to impose a
36 direct tax for general purposes on that District. 3 Stat. at L. 216, chap. 60. It was insisted that Congress could
37 act in a double capacity: in one as legislating [182 U.S. 244, 260] for the states; in the other as a local legislature
38 for the District of Columbia. In the latter character, it was admitted that the power of levying direct taxes might
39 be exercised, but for District purposes only, as a state legislature might tax for state purposes; but that it could
40 not legislate for the District under art. 1, 8, giving to Congress the power 'to lay and collect taxes, imposts, and
41 excises, which 'shall be uniform throughout the United States, ' inasmuch as the District was no part of the
42 United States [described in the Constitution]. It was held that the grant of this power was a general one without
43 limitation as to place, and consequently extended to all places over which the government extends; and that it
44 extended to the District of Columbia as a constituent part of the United States. The fact that art. 1, 2, declares
45 that 'representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states . . . according to their
46 respective numbers' furnished a standard by which taxes were apportioned, but not to exempt any part of the
47 country from their operation. 'The words used do not mean that direct taxes shall be imposed on states only which
48 are represented, or shall be apportioned to representatives; but that direct taxation, in its application to states,
49 shall be apportioned to numbers.' That art. 1, 9, 4, declaring that direct taxes shall be laid in proportion to the
50 census, was applicable to the District of Columbia, 'and will enable Congress to apportion on it its just and equal
51 share of the burden, with the same accuracy as on the respective states. If the tax be laid in this proportion, it is
52 within the very words of the restriction. It is a tax in proportion to the census or enumeration referred to.' It was
53 further held that the words of the 9th section did not 'in terms require that the system of direct taxation, when
54 resorted to, shall be extended to the territories, as the words of the 2d section require that it shall be extended to
55 all the states. They therefore may, without violence, be understood to give a rule when the territories shall be
56 taxed, without imposing the necessity of taxing them.'"
57 [Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901)]

58 9. Since the first four commandments of the Ten Commandments prohibit Christians from worshipping or serving other
59 gods, then they also forbid Christians from being public officers in their private life if the government has superior or

1 supernatural powers, immunities, or privileges above everyone else, which is the chief characteristic of any god. The
2 word “serve” in the scripture below includes serving as a public officer. The essence of religious “worship” is, in fact,
3 obedience to the dictates of a SUPERIOR or SUPERNATURAL being. You as a human being are the “natural” in the 4 phrase “supernatural”, so if any government or civil ruler has any more power than you as a human being, then they are 5 a god in the context of the following scripture.

6 “You shall have no other gods [including governments or civil rulers] before Me. You shall not make for 7 yourself a carved image—any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or
8 that is in the water under the earth; you shall not bow down or serve them. For I, the Lord your God, am a
9 jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children to the third and fourth generations of those who
10 hate Me, but showing mercy to thousands, to those who love Me and keep My commandments.
11 [Exodus 20:3-6, Bible, NKVJ]

- 12 10. Any attempt to compel you to occupy or accept the obligations of a public office without your consent represents 13 several crimes, including:
- 14 10.1. Theft of all the property and rights to property acquired by associating you with the status of “taxpayer”.
 - 15 10.2. Impersonating a public officer in violation of 18 U.S.C. §912.
 - 16 10.3. Involuntary servitude in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment.
 - 17 10.4. Identity theft, because it connects your legal identity to obligations that you don’t consent to, all of which are 18 associated with the statutory status of “taxpayer”.
 - 19 10.5. Peonage, if the status of “taxpayer” is surety for public debts, in violation of 18 U.S.C. §1581. Peonage is slavery
20 in connection with a debt, even if that debt is the PUBLIC debt.

21 Usually false and fraudulent information returns are the method of connecting otherwise alien and nonresident parties to the
22 “trade or business” franchise, and thus, they are being criminally abused as the equivalent of federal election devices to
23 fraudulently “elect” otherwise PRIVATE and nonresident parties to be liable for the obligations of a public office. 26 U.S.C.
24 §6041(a) establishes that information returns which impute statutory “income” may ONLY lawfully be filed against this 25 lawfully engaged in a “trade or business”. This is covered in:

Correcting Erroneous Information Returns, Form #04.001
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

26 13.11.13 “reside” in the Fourteenth Amendment

27 “reside” in the Fourteenth Amendment means DOMICILE, not mere physical presence.

28 That newly arrived citizens “have two political capacities, one state and one federal,” adds special force to their
29 claim that they have the same rights as others who share their citizenship.¹⁷ Neither mere rationality nor some 30 intermediate standard of review should be used to judge the constitutionality of a state rule that discriminates
31 against some of its citizens because they have been domiciled in the State for less than a year. The appropriate
32 standard may be more categorical than that articulated in Shapiro, see supra, at 8 9, but it is surely no less strict.

33 [. . .]

34 A bona fide residence requirement simply requires that the person does establish residence before demanding
35 the services that are restricted to residents.” The Martinez Court explained that “residence” requires “both 36 physical presence and an intention to remain [domicile].” see id., at 330, and approved a Texas law that 37 restricted eligibility for tuition-free education to families who met this minimum definition of residence, id., at 38 332 333.

39 While the physical presence element of a bona fide residence is easy to police, the subjective intent element is 40 not. It is simply unworkable and futile to require States to inquire into each new resident’s subjective intent to
41 remain. Hence, States employ objective criteria such as durational residence requirements to test a new resident’s
42 resolve to remain before these new citizens can enjoy certain in-state benefits. Recognizing the practical appeal
43 of such criteria, this Court has repeatedly sanctioned the State’s use of durational residence requirements before
44 new residents receive in-state tuition rates at state universities. Starns v. Malkerson, 401 U.S. 985 (1971),
45 summarily aff’g 326 F. Supp. 234 (Minn. 1970) (upholding 1-year residence requirement for in-state tuition);
46 Sturgis v. Washington, 414 U.S. 1057, summarily aff’g 368 F. Supp. 38 (WD Wash. 1973) (same). The Court has 47 declared: “The State can establish such reasonable criteria for in-state status as to make virtually certain that
48 students who are not, in fact, bona fide residents of the State, but have come there solely for educational purposes,
49 cannot take advantage of the in-state rates.” See Vlandis v. Kline, 412 U.S. 441, 453 454 (1973). The Court has
50 done the same in upholding a 1-year residence requirement for eligibility to obtain a divorce in state courts, see
51 Sosna v. Iowa, 419 U.S. 393, 406 409 (1975), and in upholding political party registration restrictions that

1 amounted to a durational residency requirement for voting in primary elections, see Rosario v. Rockefeller, 410
2 U.S. 752, 760 762 (1973).

5 What makes a person a citizen of a state? The fourteenth amendment to the Constitution provides that: "All
6 persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United
7 States and of the State wherein they reside." United States Const. amend. XIV, § 1. However, "reside" has been
8 interpreted to mean more than to be temporarily living in the state; it means to be "domiciled" there. Thus, to 9 be a citizen of a state within the meaning of the diversity provision, a natural person must be both (1) a citizen
10 of the United States, and (2) a domiciliary of that state. Federal common law, not the law of any state,
11 determines whether a person is a citizen of a particular state for purposes of diversity jurisdiction. 1 J. Moore,
12 Moore's Federal Practice, § 0.74[1] (1996); e.g., Mas v. Perry, 489 F.2d 1396, 1399 (5th Cir.) cert. denied, 419
13 U.S. 842, 95 S.Ct. 74, 42 L.Ed.2d 70 (1974).
14 [Coury v. Prot, 85 F.3d. 244 (1996)]

15 The implications of the above are that:

- 16 1. The point of reference is the HUMAN and not any offices, agencies, or statuses he or she fills such as "taxpayer",
17 "spouse", etc. under civil franchises. The U.S. Supreme Court held that the only "citizens" mentioned in the 18 Constitution are HUMAN BEINGS and not artificial entities.

19 "Under our own systems of polity, the term 'citizen', implying the same or similar relations to the government and
20 to society which appertain to the term, 'subject' in England, is familiar to all. Under either system, the term used
21 is designed to apply to man in his individual character and to his natural capacities -- to a being or agent
22 [PUBLIC OFFICER!] possessing social and political rights and sustaining social, political, and moral
23 obligations. It is in this acceptance only, therefore, that the term 'citizen', in the article of the Constitution,

- 32 2. Any offices or civil statuses filled by the human being in the previous step have a domicile quite independent of the 33 officer or agent filling them as men or women. The PUBLIC OFFICE or PUBLIC AGENCY they fill through consent
34 should always be distinguished separately from the OFFICER filling said office or agency. This gives rise to the 35 PUBLIC "person" and the PRIVATE person respectively.
36 3. Since DOMICILE is voluntary, even CONSTITUTIONAL nationality and state citizenship is voluntary.
37 4. It also implies that one can be BORN in a place without being a STATUTORY "citizen" there, if one does not have a 38 domicile there. See:

Why Domicile and Becoming a "Taxpayer" Require Your Consent, Form #05.002

39 13.11.14 The TWO types of "residents": FOREIGN NATIONAL under the common law or GOVERNMENT 40 CONTRACTOR/PUBLIC OFFICER under a franchise

41 13.11.14.1 Introduction

42 As we pointed out earlier in section 13.11.4:

- 43 1. CONTEXT is extremely important in the legal field.
44 2. There are TWO main contexts in which legal terms can be used:
45 2.1. CONSTITUTIONAL or common law: This law protects exclusively PRIVATE rights.
46 2.2. STATUTORY: This law protects primarily PUBLIC rights and franchises.

47 CONTEXT therefore has a HUGE impact upon the meaning of the legal term "resident". Because there are two main contexts
48 in which "resident" can be used, then there are TWO possible meanings for the term.

1. CONSTITUTIONAL or COMMON LAW meaning: A foreign national domiciled within the jurisdiction of the municipal government to which the term “resident” relates. One can be a “resident” under constitutional state law and a “nonresident” in relation to the national government because their civil domicile is FOREIGN in relation to that government. This is a product of the separation of powers doctrine.
2. STATUTORY meaning: Means a man or woman who consented to a voluntary government civil franchise and by virtue of volunteering, REPRESENTS a public office exercised within and on behalf of the franchise. While on official duty on behalf of the government grantor of the franchise, they assume the effective domicile of the public office they are representing, which is the domicile of the government grantor, pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b). For instance, the effective domicile of a state franchisee is within the granting state and the domicile of a federal franchisee is within federal territory.

Most of the civil law passed by state and federal governments are civil franchises, such as Medicare, Social Security, driver licensing, marriage licensing, professional licensing, etc. All such franchises are actually administered as FEDERAL franchises, even by the state governments. Men and women domiciled within a constitutional state have a legislatively foreign domicile outside of federal territory and they are therefore treated as statutory “non-resident non-persons” in relation to the national government. Once they volunteer for a franchise, they consent to represent a public office within that civil franchise and their civil statutory status changes from being a “non-resident non-person” to being a statutory “domiciled citizen” in relation to federal territory and the national government under the specific franchise they signed up for. The operation of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b) is what makes them a “domiciled citizen” because the office they occupy or represent is domiciled on federal territory in the District of Columbia per 4 U.S.C. §72.

The legal definition of “resident” within Black’s Law Dictionary tries to hint at the above complexities with the following deliberately confusing language:

Resident. “Any person who occupies a dwelling within the State, has a present intent to remain within the State for a period of time, and manifests the genuineness of that intent by establishing an ongoing physical presence within the State together with indicia that his presence within the State is something other than merely transitory in nature. The word “resident” when used as a noun means a dweller, habitant or occupant; one who resides or dwells in a place for a period of more, or less, duration; it signifies one having a residence, or one who resides or abides. Hanson v. P.A. Peterson Home Ass’n, 35 Ill.App.2d. 134, 182 N.E.2d. 237, 240.

Word “resident” has many meanings in law, largely determined by statutory context in which it is used. [Kelm v. Carlson, C.A.Ohio, 473, F.2d. 1267, 1271]
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1309]

Note the following critical statement in the above, admitting that sleight of hand is involved:

“Word “resident” has many meanings in law, largely determined by statutory context in which it is used. [Kelm v. Carlson, C.A.Ohio, 473, F.2d. 1267, 1271]”

Within the above definition, the term “the State” can mean one of TWO things:

1. A PHYSICAL or GEOGRAPHICAL place. This is the meaning that ignorant people with no legal training would naturally PRESUME that it means.
2. A LEGAL place, meaning a LEGAL PRESENCE as a “person” within a legal fiction called a corporation. For instance, an OFFICER of a federal corporation becomes a “RESIDENT” within the corporation at the moment he or she volunteers for the position and thereby REPRESENTS the corporation. Once they volunteer, Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b) says they become “residents” of the government grantor of the corporation, but only while REPRESENTING said corporation:

IV. PARTIES > Rule 17.
Rule 17. Parties Plaintiff and Defendant; Capacity

(b) Capacity to Sue or be Sued.

Capacity to sue or be sued is determined as follows:

- (1) for an individual who is not acting in a representative capacity, by the law of the individual's domicile;
- (2) for a corporation, by the law under which it was organized; and
- (3) for all other parties, by the law of the state where the court is located, except that:

(A) a partnership or other unincorporated association with no such capacity under that state's law may sue or be sued in its common name to enforce a substantive right existing under the United States Constitution or laws; and
(B) 28 U.S.C. §§ 754 and 959(a) govern the capacity of a receiver appointed by a United States court to sue or be sued in a United States court.

[SOURCE: <http://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/Rule17.htm>]

All federal corporations are “created” and “organized” under federal law and therefore are considered “residents” and “domestic” in relation to the national government.

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701.
Sec. 7701.- Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(4) Domestic

The term “domestic” when applied to a corporation or partnership means created or organized in the United States or under the law of the United States or of any State unless, in the case of a partnership, the Secretary provides otherwise by regulations.

It is also important to emphasize that ALL governments are corporations as held by the U.S. Supreme Court:

“Corporations are also of all grades, and made for varied objects; all governments are corporations, created by usage and common consent, or grants and charters which create a body politic for prescribed purposes; but whether they are private, local or general, in their objects, for the enjoyment of property, or the exercise of power, they are all governed by the same rules of law, as to the construction and the obligation of the instrument by which the incorporation is made. One universal rule of law protects persons and property. It is a fundamental principle of the common law of England, that the term freemen of the kingdom, includes 'all persons,' ecclesiastical and temporal, incorporate, politique or natural; it is a part of their magna charta (2 Inst. 4), and is incorporated into our institutions. The persons of the members of corporations are on the same footing of protection as other persons, and their corporate property secured by the same laws which protect that of individuals. 2 Inst. 46-7. 'No man shall be taken,' 'no man shall be disseised,' without due process of law, is a principle taken from magna charta, infused into all our state constitutions, and is made inviolable by the federal government, by the amendments to the constitution.”
[Proprietors of Charles River Bridge v. Proprietors of Warren Bridge, 36 U.S. 420 (1837)]

Consequently, when one volunteers to become a public officer within a government corporation, then they acquire a “LEGAL PRESENCE” in the LEGAL AND NOT PHYSICAL PLACE called “United States” as an officer of the corporation. In effect, they are “assimilated” into the corporation as a legal “person” as its representative.

Earlier versions of the Treasury Regulations reveal the operation of the SECOND method for creating “residents”, which is that of converting statutory aliens into statutory residents using government franchises:

26 C.F.R. §301.7701-5 Domestic, foreign, resident, and nonresident persons.

A domestic corporation is one organized or created in the United States, including only the States (and during the periods when not States, the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii), and the District of Columbia, or under the law of the United States or of any State or Territory. A foreign corporation is one which is not domestic. A domestic corporation is a resident corporation even though it does no business and owns no property in the United States. A foreign corporation engaged in trade or business within the United States is referred to in the regulations in this chapter as a resident foreign corporation, and a foreign corporation not engaged in trade or business within the United States, as a nonresident foreign corporation. A partnership engaged in trade or business within the United States is referred to in the regulations in this chapter as a resident partnership, and a partnership not engaged in trade or business within the United States, as a nonresident partnership. Whether a partnership is to be regarded as resident or nonresident is not determined by the nationality or residence of its members or by the place in which it was created or organized.

The key statement in the above is that the status of “resident” does NOT derive from either nationality or domicile, but rather from whether one is “purposefully and consensually” engaged in the FRANCHISE ACTIVITY called a “trade or business”. This is consistent with the Minimum Contacts Doctrine of the U.S. Supreme Court, which requires “purposeful availment” in order to waive sovereign immunity under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act (F.S.I.A.), 28 U.S.C. Chapter 97:

A foreign corporation engaged in trade or business within the United States is referred to in the regulations in this chapter as a resident foreign corporation, and a foreign corporation not engaged in trade or business within the United States, as a nonresident foreign corporation. A partnership engaged in trade or business within the United States is referred to in the regulations in this chapter as a resident partnership, and a partnership not engaged in trade or business within the United States, as a nonresident partnership. Whether a partnership is to be regarded as resident or nonresident is not determined by the nationality or residence of its members or by the place in which it was created or organized.

Incidentally, we were the first people we know of who discovered the above mechanisms and as soon as we exposed them on this website, the above regulation was quickly replaced with a temporary regulation to hide the truth. Scum bags!

The deliberately confusing and evasive definition of “resident” in Black’s Law Dictionary is trying to obfuscate or cover up the above process by inventing new terms called “the State”, which they then refuse to define because if they did, they would probably start the second American revolution and destroy the profitability of the government franchise scam that subsidizes the authors within the legal profession! They are like Judas: Selling the truth for 20 pieces of silver.

What we want to emphasize in this section is that:

1. The word “resident” within most government civil law and ALL franchises actually means a government contractor, and has nothing to do with the domicile or nationality of the parties.
2. The “residence” of the franchisee is that of the OFFICE he or she occupies as a statutory but not constitutional alien, and not his or her personal or physical location.

Finally, if you would like to know more about how VOLUNTARY participation in government franchises makes one a “resident”, see:

Government Instituted Slavery Using Franchises, Form #05.030, Sections 9.4, 10, and 13.5.2
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

13.11.14.2 “Resident” in the Internal Revenue Code “trade or business” civil franchise

The only type of “resident” defined in the Internal Revenue Code is a “resident alien”, as demonstrated below:

26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(A) Resident alien

(b) Definition of resident alien and nonresident alien

(1) In general

For purposes of this title (other than subtitle B) -

(A) Resident alien

An alien individual shall be treated as a resident of the United States with respect to any calendar year if (and only if) such individual meets the requirements of clause (i), (ii), or (iii):

(i) Lawfully admitted for permanent residence

Such individual is a lawful permanent resident of the United States at any time during such calendar year.

(ii) Substantial presence test

Such individual meets the substantial presence test of paragraph (3).

(iii) First year election

Such individual makes the election provided in paragraph (4).

Therefore, the terms “resident”, “alien”, and “resident alien” are all synonymous terms within the Internal Revenue Code. Most state income taxation statutes also use the same definition of “resident”, and therefore the same definition applies for state income taxes as well.

QUESTION FOR DOUBTERS: If you believe we are wrong, then please show us a definition of the term “resident” within either the Internal Revenue Code or the implementing regulations that includes “citizens of the United States” as defined under 8 U.S.C. §1401. There simply isn’t one! You are not free to “presume” or “assume” that “citizens of the United States” are also “residents” without the authority of a positive law that authorizes it. We’ll also give you the hint, that even the Internal Revenue Code is neither “positive law” nor does it have the “force of law” for most people, so you can’t use it as legally evidence of anything. Presumptions are NOT legal evidence and violate due process of law when they become evidence without at least your consent in some form. To make this or any other assumption in a court of law would violate our right to “due process or law”, because “presumption” or “assumption” of anything in the legal realm is a violation of due process. Everything must be proven with evidence, and that which is neither law nor which is explicitly stated cannot be presumed.

The only way you can come under the jurisdiction of Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code is to meet one or more of the following criterias below:

1. A “person” domiciled within the “federal zone” as defined under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(1). This statutory “person” is technically either an “alien” or a federal corporation only. A corporation can also be an “alien” if it was incorporated outside of federal jurisdiction but has a presence inside the federal zone. Under 26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1, these are the only entities who are required to provide any kind of identifying number on their tax return! That regulation requires the furnishing of a “Taxpayer Identification Number” for these legal “persons”, but 26 C.F.R. §301.6109-1(d)(3) says that Social Security Numbers are not to be treated as “Taxpayer Identification Numbers”. Consequently, natural persons with a Social Security Number do not have to provide any kind of identifying number on their return because they aren’t the proper subject of Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code. See Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 5.4.17 for further details on this scandal.
2. A “nonresident alien” under 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(a)(2)(ii) who has income “effectively connected with a trade or business”, which means a political office in the United States government under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(26). See 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(a)(2)(ii).

Under item 1 above, the term “person” is used in describing an “individual”, but that “person” is technically only a federal corporation or an office WITHIN that corporation, as confirmed by the following:

1. The legal encyclopedia, Corpus Juris Secundum confirms that corporations are treated in law as “citizens of the United States”:

“A corporation is a citizen, resident, or inhabitant of the state or country by or under the laws of which it was created, and of that state or country only.”
[19 Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Corporations, §886 (2003)]

2. The definition of “income” as including only “corporate profit” under our Constitution limits the entire Internal Revenue Code to corporations only. See Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 5.6.5 for complete details on this subject.

Natural persons (people) who are “citizens of the United States” under the provisions of 8 U.S.C. §1401 are born only in the District of Columbia or federal territories or possessions. Federal territories and possessions are the only “States” within the Internal Revenue Code as confirmed by 4 U.S.C. §110(d). These statutory “citizens of the United States” cannot legally be classified as “residents”/”aliens” under the Internal Revenue Code and are not authorized by the code to “elect” to be treated as one either. The reason is because the purpose of law is to protect, and a person cannot elect to lose their constitutional rights and protection, even if they want to! However, by filing an IRS form 1040 or 1040A, they in effect make this illegal election anyway, and the IRS looks the other way and does not prosecute such unintentional deceit because they benefit financially from it. The pronouncements of the U.S. Supreme Court also identify this kind of constructive fraud on the part of the IRS as an invalid election if this unwitting choice did not involve fully informed consent. Did you know that you were agreeing to be treated as an “alien” by the IRS when you signed and sent in your first Form 1040 or 1040A?:

“Waivers of Constitutional rights not only must be voluntary, but must be knowing, intelligent acts done with sufficient awareness of the relevant circumstances and likely consequences.”
[Brady v. U.S., 397 U.S. 742 (1970)]

The reason Constitutional rights are being waived is because people who are “residents”/”aliens” within the federal zone have no constitutional rights in law. The only way to avoid this involuntary election is to instead either file nothing or to file a 1040NR form with the IRS instead of a 1040 or 1040A form. You will learn starting in the next section that people who are born in states of the Union are not “nationals and citizens of the United States at birth” under 8 U.S.C. §1401, but are instead the equivalent of “nationals” under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21). They are also “nonresident aliens” under the Internal Revenue Code if serving in a public office and non-resident non-persons if not serving in a public office in the national government. “nonresident aliens” file only the 1040NR form if they file anything with the IRS. The rules for electing to be treated as a “resident” or “resident alien” are found in IRS Publication 54: Tax Guide for U.S. citizens and Resident Aliens Abroad. See the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Sections 5.5.2, 5.5.3, and 5.4.12 for amplification on this subject.

IMPORTANT: If you were born in a state of the Union, NEVER, EVER file a 1040, 1040A, or 1040EZ form unless you want to throw your Constitutional rights in the toilet! If you determine that you must file a tax form with the IRS, then only send in a 1040NR form in order to preserve your status as a “national” under 8 U.S.C. §1101(a)(21) and “non-resident non-person” who is outside of federal jurisdiction! Nonresident aliens cannot be penalized under the Internal Revenue Code because they don’t reside there! When you send in the 1040NR form, make sure to change the perjury statement at the end to put yourself outside of federal jurisdiction as follows:

“I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States of America in accordance with 28 U.S.C. §1746(1) that the foregoing facts are true, correct, and complete to the best of my knowledge and ability, but only when litigated with a jury in a court of a state of the Union and not a federal court.”

You will learn later in Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 5.4.5 that the IRS has no legal authority to institute penalties against natural persons because of the prohibition against Bills of Attainder found in Article 1, Section 10 of the Constitution, but they will try to illegally do it anyway. Since IRS likes to try to illegally penalize people for changing the “jurat” or perjury statement at the end of the 1040NR form, then you can accomplish the equivalent of physically modifying the words in the perjury statement by redefining the words in the statement or redefining the whole statement in its entirety in an attached letter. Physically changing the words in the statement is the only thing IRS incorrectly “thinks” they can penalize for, and especially if the return was completed and submitted outside of federal jurisdiction in a state of the Union and the perjury statement accurately reflects that fact. Remember that crimes can only be punished based on where they are committed, and if your perjury statement reflects the fact that you are outside of federal jurisdiction, then IRS can’t penalize you no matter how hard they try or how many threats they make.

1 So being a “resident of the State” under federal statutes above makes you a nonresident alien in your own state and an “alien”
2 under federal jurisdiction who is the proper subject of both state and federal income taxes codes! Because as a “resident of
3 the State” you are presumed to reside inside the federal zone, you don’t have any constitutional rights according to the U.S.
4 supreme Court. Listen to the dissenting opinion from Justice Harlan in the case of Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901)
5 which ruled that the federal zone doesn’t have constitutional protections:

6 “I take leave to say that, if the principles thus announced should ever receive the sanction of a majority of this
7 court, a radical and mischievous change in our system of government will result. We will, in that event, pass
8 from the era of constitutional liberty guarded and protected by a written constitution into an era of legislative 9 absolutism..

10 [. . .]

11 “The idea prevails with some, indeed it has found expression in arguments at the bar, that we have in this country
12 substantially two national governments; one to be maintained under the Constitution, with all of its 13 restrictions; the other to be maintained by Congress outside the independently of that instrument, by exercising 14 such powers [of absolutism] as other nations of the earth are accustomed to..

15 [. . .]

16 It will be an evil day for American liberty if the theory of a government outside the supreme law of the land
17 finds lodgment in our constitutional jurisprudence. No higher duty rests upon this court than to exert its full 18 authority to prevent all violation of the principles of the Constitution.”
19 Downes v. Bidwell, [182 U.S. 244 (1901), Justice Harlan, Dissenting]

20 When you accept the false notion that you are “liable” for federal income taxes under Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue
21 Code and subsequently file a 1040 tax return (bad idea!), you are admitting under penalty of perjury that you are an alien
22 “individual” of your own country (not a “national” or “citizen”) who lives in the federal zone. The only definitions of 23 “individual” found in 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3) and 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(a)(2)(ii) confirm that the only people who are 24 “individuals” in the context of federal income taxes are “aliens”/“residents” residing in the federal “United States”. That lie
25 or mistake on the tax return you never should have submitted to begin with caused you to become the equivalent of a “virtual 26 inhabitant” of the federal zone in law and from that point on you are treated as such by both the federal government and the 27 state government, even if you don’t want to be and never intended to do this! Here is more proof showing that even if you weren't located in the federal zone when you submitted the false 1040 return, you gave your tacit permission to be treated as a resident of the District of Columbia:

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701.
Sec. 7701. – Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(39) Persons residing outside [the federal] United States

If any citizen or resident of the United States does not reside in (and is not found in) any United States judicial district, such citizen or resident shall be treated as residing in the District of Columbia for purposes of any provision of this title relating to -

(A) jurisdiction of courts, or
(B) enforcement of summons.

What the above means is that if you filed a 1040 or 1040A form, you are telling the federal government that you are an “alien”/“resident” who lives in the federal zone and consequently, the courts will treat you like you have a domicile in the District of Columbia, which we call the District of Criminals. A similar provision appears under 26 U.S.C. §7408(d):

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 76 > Subchapter A > § 7408
§7408. Action to enjoin promoters of abusive tax shelters, etc.

(d) Citizens and residents outside the United States If any citizen or resident of the United States does not reside in, and does not have his principal place of business in, any United States judicial district, such citizen or resident shall be treated for purposes of this section as residing in the District of Columbia.

Here is what the 2003 IRS Published Products Catalog says about the proper use of the form 1040A on page F-15, and notice is says it is only for “citizens” and “residents”, neither of which describe those born in and inhabiting states of the Union on land not under federal ownership:

Those who file that false 1040 form are admitting that they are living in the King's Castle and from that point on, they better bow down to the king as slaves by paying “tribute” with all their earnings! Important about the above is the fact that “nationals” and “nonresident aliens” are not included in the phrase “citizens or residents”, because they are outside the jurisdiction of the federal courts! One more big reason why we don't want to be a “U.S. citizen” in the context of federal statutes such as 8 U.S.C. §1401! That false 1040 tax return they submitted, which said “U.S. individual” at the top, became a contract with criminals from the “District of Criminals” (the “D.C.” in “Washington D.C.”) to take themselves out of the Constitutional Republic and out of the protections of the Bill of Rights. They united with or “married” Babylon the Great Harlot mentioned in Rev. 17 and 18 and they live where she lives: inside of a totalitarian socialist democracy devoid of constitutional rights and predicated solely on the love of money and luxury. They declared themselves to be an “employee” of the Harlot, and the false W-4 form they submitted proves that, because the upper left corner says “employee”, and the only people who are statutory “employees” as defined in 26 U.S.C. §3401(c) work for the federal government. It is repugnant to

1 the constitution, as held by the U.S. Supreme Court and therefore they can only be referring to PUBLIC “employees”. They
2 have therefore joined the “Matrix” and become a socialist federal serf. Welcome, comrade!”

3 “You were bought at a price; do not become slaves of men [and remember that government
4 is made up of men].”
5 [1 Cor. 7:23, Bible, NKJV]

6 Who says we don’t live in a police state, and not many people even know about this because we have been so deceived by 7 our public “dis-servants”. Can you see how insidious this lawyer deception is? The American people and our media are 8 asleep at the wheel folks!...and it’s going to take a lot more to fix than blind and ignorant patriotism and putting an idiotic
9 flag or bumper sticker on your car. That’s right: if you are a “resident of the United States” or of “the State”, then you’re a
10 federal serf and a ward of the socialist government who is nonresident to his own state! You better to do what you’re told,
11 pay your taxes, and shut up, BOY, or we’ll confiscate all your property, give you 40 lashes and send you to bed without 12 dinner or a blanket. Watch out!

13 To summarize the preceding discussion of “resident”, for the purposes of taxation, one establishes that they are a “resident”
14 of the federal zone by any of the following techniques:

- 15 1. Filing a form 1040 or 1040a or 1040EZ
- 16 2. Filling out a W-4 form, which is only for use by federal statutory “employees”, all of whom work only in the federal 17 zone.
- 18 3. Claiming to be “U.S. citizen”, “U.S. resident”, or “U.S. person” on any federal form.

19 If you never did any of the above, then it can’t be said that you ever consented to participate in the federal income tax system
20 and the federal government has no jurisdiction or proof of jurisdiction over you for the purposes of Subtitle A of the Internal 21 Revenue Code. If they wrongfully proceed at that point over your objections by attempting unlawful collection and/or 22 assessment actions against you in violation of 26 U.S.C. §6020(b) or the Constitution, then they:

31 13.11.14.3 “resident”=government employee, contractor, or agent

32 The discussion in the preceding section brings out a very subtle point we would like to further expound upon, which is that
33 “residence” is created ONLY through the operation of private law and your right to contract. We allege that the term
34 “permanent” found in the definition of “domicile” in the previous section really means “consent” to the jurisdiction of the 35 government. Below is the proof, right from the definitions within Title 8 of the U.S. Code, which is entitled “Aliens and 36 Nationality”:

37 TITLE 8 > CHAPTER 12 > SUBCHAPTER 1 > § 1101
38 § 1101. Definitions

39 (a) As used in this chapter—

40 (31) The term “permanent” means a relationship of continuing or lasting nature, as distinguished from
41 temporary, but a relationship may be permanent even though it is one that may be dissolved eventually at the
42 instance either of the United States or of the individual, in accordance with law.

43 Note that the term “permanent” as used above has no relationship as to time, but instead can exist only in the presence of 44 your voluntary consent. This is one of the implications of the Declaration of Independence, which states that “to secure these 45 rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their JUST powers from the CONSENT of the governed.” What they 46 are pointing out above is that what really makes the relationship “permanent” is your voluntary consent. This consent, the

1 courts call “allegiance”. Below is how the U.S. Supreme Court describes the practical effect of choosing or consenting to a
2 “domicile” within the jurisdiction of a specific “state”:

3 “Thus, the Court has frequently held that domicile or residence, more substantial than mere presence in transit
4 or sojourn, is an adequate basis for taxation, including income, property, and death taxes. Since the Fourteenth
5 Amendment makes one a [STATUTORY] citizen of the state wherein he resides [IS DOMICILED], the fact of
6 residence creates universally reciprocal duties [e.g. CONTRACTUAL DUTIES!!] of protection by the state
7 and of allegiance and support by the citizen. The latter obviously includes a duty to pay taxes, and their nature
8 and measure is largely a political matter. Of course, the situs of property may tax it regardless of the citizenship,
9 domicile, or residence of the owner, the most obvious illustration being a tax on realty laid by the state in which 10 the realty is located.”
11 [Miller Brothers Co. v. Maryland, 347 U.S. 340 (1954)]

12 The only legitimate purpose of all law and government is “protection”. A person who selects or consents to have a “domicile”
13 or “residence” has effectively contracted to procure “protection” of the “sovereign” or “state” within its jurisdiction. In
14 exchange for the promise of protection by the “state”, they are legally obligated to give their allegiance and support. All
15 allegiance must be voluntary and any consequences arising from compelled allegiance may not be enforced in a court of law.
16 When you revoke your voluntary consent to the government’s jurisdiction and the “domicile” or “residence” contract, you
17 change your status from that of a “domiciliary” or “resident” or “inhabitant” or “U.S. person” to that of a “transient foreigner”.
18 Transient foreigner is then defined below:

19 “Transient foreigner. One who visits the country, without the intention of remaining.”
20 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1498]

21 Note again the language within the definition of “domicile” from Black’s Law Dictionary found in the previous section
22 relating to the word “transient”, which confirms that what makes your stay “permanent” is consent to the jurisdiction of the 23 “state” located in that place:

24 “Domicile. [...] The established, fixed, permanent, or ordinary dwellingplace or place of residence of a person,
25 as distinguished from his temporary and transient, though actual, place of residence. It is his legal residence,
26 as distinguished from his temporary place of abode; or his home, as distinguished from a place to which business
27 or pleasure may temporarily call him. See also Abode; Residence.”
28 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 485]

29 Since your Constitutional right to contract is unlimited, then you can have as many “residences” as you like, but you can have 30 only one legal “domicile”, because your allegiance must be undivided or you will have a conflict of interest and allegiance.

31 “No one can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will be loyal to the 32 one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon.”
33 [Matt. 6:24, Bible, NKJV]

34 Remember, “resident” is a combination of two word roots: “res”, which is legally defined as a “thing”, and “ident”, which
35 stands for “identified”.

36 Res. Lat. The subject matter of a trust or will. In the civil law, a thing; an object. As a term of the law, this*
37 word has a very wide and extensive signification, including not only things which are objects of property, but also
38 such as are not capable of individual ownership. And in old English law it is said to have a general import,
39 comprehending both corporeal and incorporeal things of whatever kind, nature, or species. By “res,” according
40 to the modern civilians, is meant everything that may form an object of rights, in opposition to “persona,” which
41 is regarded as a subject of rights. “Res,” therefore, in its general meaning, comprises actions of all kinds; while
42 in its restricted sense it comprehends every object of right, except actions. This has reference to the fundamental
43 division of the Institutes that all law relates either to persons, to things, or to actions.

44 Res is everything that may form an object of rights and includes an object, subject-matter or status. In re Riggle’s
45 Will, 11 A.D.2d 51 205 N.Y.S.2d. 19, 21, 22. The term is particularly applied to an object, subject-matter, or 46 status, considered as the defendant in an action, or as an object against which, directly, proceedings are taken.
47 Thus, in a prize case, the captured vessel is “the res”; and proceedings of this character are said to be in rem.
48 (See In personam; In Rem.) “Res” may also denote the action or proceeding, as when a cause, which is not
49 between adversary parties, is entitled “In re _____.”
50 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, pp. 1304-1306]

51 When you become a “resident” in the eyes of the government, you become a “thing” that is now “identified” and which is 52 within their legislative jurisdiction and completely subject to it. Notice that a “res” is defined as the object of a trust above.
53 That trust is the “public trust” created by the Constitution and all laws passed pursuant to it.

"Section 101. Principles of Ethical Conduct. To ensure that every citizen can have complete confidence in the integrity of the Federal Government, each Federal employee shall respect and adhere to the fundamental principles of ethical service as implemented in regulations promulgated under sections 201 and 301 of this order:

"(a) Public service is a public trust, requiring employees to place loyalty to the Constitution, the laws, and ethical principles above private gain.

TITLE 5--ADMINISTRATIVE PERSONNEL
CHAPTER XVI--OFFICE OF GOVERNMENT ETHICS
PART 2635--STANDARDS OF ETHICAL CONDUCT FOR EMPLOYEES OF THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH--Table of Contents
Subpart A--General Provisions
Sec. 2635.101 Basic obligation of public service.

(a) Public service is a public trust. Each employee has a responsibility to the United States Government and its citizens to place loyalty to the Constitution, laws and ethical principles above private gain. To ensure that every citizen can have complete confidence in the integrity of the Federal Government, each employee shall respect and adhere to the principles of ethical conduct set forth in this section, as well as the implementing standards contained in this part and in supplemental agency regulations.

All those who swear an oath as "public officers" are also identified as "trustees" of the "public trust":

*"As expressed otherwise, the powers delegated to a public officer are held in trust for the people and are to be exercised in behalf of the government or of all citizens who may need the intervention of the officer."¹¹¹ Furthermore, the view has been expressed that all public officers, within whatever branch and whatever level of government, and whatever be their private vocations, are trustees of the people, and accordingly labor under every disability and prohibition imposed by law upon trustees relative to the making of personal financial gain from a discharge of their trusts.¹¹² That is, a public officer occupies a fiduciary relationship to the political entity on whose behalf he or she serves.¹¹³ and owes a fiduciary duty to the public.¹¹⁴ It has been said that the fiduciary responsibilities of a public officer cannot be less than those of a private individual.¹¹⁵ Furthermore, it has been stated that any enterprise undertaken by the public official which tends to weaken public confidence and undermine the sense of security for individual rights is against public policy.¹¹⁶"
[63C American Jurisprudence 2d, Public Officers and Employees, §247 (1999)]

A person who is "subject" to government jurisdiction cannot be a "sovereign", because a sovereign is not subject to the law, but the AUTHOR of the law. Only citizens are the authors of the law because only "citizens" can vote.

"Sovereignty itself is, of course, not subject to law, for it is the author and source of law: but in our system, while sovereign powers are delegated to the agencies of government, sovereignty itself remains with the people, by whom and for whom all government exists and acts. And the law is the definition and limitation of power."
[Yick Wo v. Hopkins, 118 U.S. 356 (1886)]

The implication is that you cannot be sovereign if you have a "domicile" or "residence" in any earthly place or in any place other than Heaven or the Kingdom of Heaven on Earth. If you choose a "domicile" or "residence" any place on earth, then

1 you become a “subject” in relation to that place and voluntarily forfeit your sovereignty. This is NOT the status you want to
2 have! A “resident” by definition MUST therefore be within the legislative jurisdiction of the government, because the
3 government cannot lawfully write laws that will allow them to recognize or act upon anything that is NOT within their
4 legislative jurisdiction. All law is territorial in nature, and can act only upon the territory under the exclusive control of the 5 government or upon its franchises and contracts, which are “property” under its management and control. The only lawful
6 way that government laws can reach beyond the territory of the sovereign who controls them is through explicit, informed,
7 mutual consent of the individual parties involved, and this field of law is called “private law”.

8 "Judge Story, in his treatise on the Conflicts of Laws, lays down, as the basis upon which all reasonings on the
9 law of comity must necessarily rest, the following maxims: First 'that every nation possesses an exclusive
10 sovereignty and jurisdiction within its own territory'; secondly, 'that no state or nation can by its laws directly
11 affect or bind property out of its own territory, or bind persons not resident therein, whether they are natural
12 born subjects or others.' The learned judge then adds: 'From these two maxims or propositions there follows a
13 third, and that is that whatever force and obligation the laws of one country have in another depend solely upon
14 the laws and municipal regulation of the latter; that is to say, upon its own proper jurisdiction and polity, and
15 upon its own express or tacit consent." Story on Conflict of Laws §23."
16 [Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co. v. Chambers, 73 Ohio.St. 16, 76 N.E. 91, 11 L.R.A., N.S., 1012 (1905)]

17 The very same principles as government operates under with respect to “resident” also apply to Christianity as well. When 18 we become Christians, we consent to the contract or covenant with God called the Bible. That covenant requires us to accept 19 Jesus Christ as our Lord and Savior. This makes us a “resident” of Heaven and “pilgrims and sojourners” (transient 20 foreigners) on earth:

21 "For our citizenship is in heaven, from which we also eagerly wait for the Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ"
22 [Philippians 3:20, Bible, NKJV]

23 "Now, therefore, you are no longer strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints and members of 24 the household of God."
25 [Ephesians 2:19, Bible, NKJV]

26 "These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off were assured of them,
27 embraced them and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims [transient foreigners] on the earth."
28 [Hebrews 11:13, Bible, NKJV]

29 "Beloved, I beg you as sojourners and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts which war against the soul..."
30 [1 Peter 2:11, Bible, NKJV]

31 For those who consent to the Bible covenant with God the Father, Jesus becomes our protector, spokesperson, Counselor,
32 and Advocate before the Father. We become a Member of His family!

33 Jesus' Mother and Brothers Send for Him

34 While He was still talking to the multitudes, behold, His mother and brothers stood outside, seeking to speak with 35 Him. Then one said to Him, "Look, Your mother and Your brothers are standing outside, seeking to speak with 36 You."

37 But He answered and said to the one who told Him, "Who is My mother and who are My brothers?" 49 And He 38 stretched out His hand toward His disciples and said, "Here are My mother and My brothers! For whoever does 39 the will of My Father in heaven is My brother and sister and mother."
40 [Matt. 12:46-50, Bible, NKJV]

41 By doing God’s will on earth and accepting His covenant or private contract with us, which is the Bible, He becomes our 42 Father and we become His children. The law of domicile says that children assume the same domicile as their parents and 43 are legally dependent on them:

1 A person acquires a domicile of origin at birth.¹¹⁷ The law attributes to every individual a domicile of origin,¹¹⁸
2 which is the domicile of his parents,¹¹⁹ or of the father,¹²⁰ or of the head of his family:¹²¹ or of the person on whom
3 he is legally dependent,¹²² at the time of his birth. While the domicile of origin is generally the place where one
4 is born¹²³ or reared,¹²⁴ may be elsewhere.¹²⁵ The domicile of origin has also been defined as the primary domicile
5 of every person subject to the common law.¹²⁶

8 The legal dependence they are talking about is God’s Law, which then becomes our main source of protection and dependence
9 on God. We as believers then recognize Jesus’ existence as a “thing” we “identify” in our daily life and in return, He
10 recognizes our existence before the Father. Here is what He said on this subject as proof:

11 Confess Christ Before Men

12 “Therefore whoever confesses Me [recognizes My legal existence under God’s law, the Bible, and acknowledges
13 My sovereignty] before men, him I will also confess before My Father who is in heaven. But whoever denies Me
14 before men, him I will also deny before My Father who is in heaven.”
15 [Matt. 10:32-33, Bible, NKJV]

16 Let’s use a simple example to illustrate our point in relation to the world. You want to open a checking account at a bank.
17 You go to the bank to open the account. The clerk presents you with an agreement that you must sign before you open the 18 account. If you won’t sign the agreement, then the clerk will tell you that they can’t open an account for you. Before you
19 sign the account agreement, the bank doesn’t know anything about you and you don’t have an account there, so you are the 20 equivalent of an “alien”. An “alien” is someone the bank will not recognize or interact with or help. They can only lawfully
21 help “customers”, not “aliens”. After you exercise your right to contract by signing the bank account agreement, then you 22 now become a “resident” of the bank. You are a “resident” because:

- 23 1. You are a “thing” that they can now “identify” in their computer system and their records because you have an “account”
24 there. They now know your name and “account number” and will recognize you when you walk in the door to ask for 25 help.
- 26 2. They issued you an ATM card and a PIN so you can control and manage your “account”. These things that they issued
27 you are the “privileges” associated with being party to the account agreement. No one who is not party to such an 28 agreement can avail themselves of such “privileges”.
- 29 3. The account agreement gives you the “privilege” to demand “services” from the bank of one kind or another. The legal 30 requirement for the bank to perform these “services” creates the legal equivalent of “agency” on their part in doing what 31 you want them to do. In effect, you have “hired” them to perform a “service” that you want and need.
- 32 4. The account agreement gives the bank the legal right to demand certain behaviors out of you of one kind or another. For 33 instance, you must pay all account fees and not overdraw your account and maintain a certain minimum balance. The 34 legal requirement to perform these behaviors creates the legal equivalent of “agency” on your part in respect to the bank.
- 35 5. The legal obligations created by the account agreement give the two parties to it legal jurisdiction over each other defined
36 by the agreement or contract itself. The contract fixes the legal relations between the parties. If either party violates the 37 agreement, then the other party has legal recourse to sue for exceeding the bounds of the “contractual agency” created
38 by the agreement. Any litigation that results must be undertaken consistent with what the agreement authorizes and in a
39 mode or “forum” (e.g. court) that the agreement specifies.

1 The government does things exactly the same way. The only difference is the product they deliver. The bank delivers
2 financial services, and the government delivers “protection” and “social” services. The account number is the social security
3 number. You can’t have or use a social security number and avail yourself of its benefits without consenting to the jurisdiction
4 of the “contract” that authorized its’ issuance, which is the Social Security Act found in Title 42 of the U.S. Code.

5 CALIFORNIA CIVIL CODE
6 DIVISION 3. OBLIGATIONS
7 PART 2. CONTRACTS
8 CHAPTER 3. CONSENT
9 Section 1589

10
11 1589. A voluntary acceptance of the benefit of a [government benefit] transaction is equivalent to a consent to 12 all the obligations [and legal liabilities] arising from it, so far as the facts are known, or ought to be known, to 13 the person accepting.

14 Therefore, you can’t avail yourself of the “privileges” associated with the Social Security account agreement without also
15 being a “resident” of the “United States”, which means an alien who has signed a contract to procure services from the 16 government. That contract can be explicit, which means a contract in writing, or implicit, meaning that it is created through 17 your behavior. For instance, if you drive on the roads within a state, that act implied your consent to be bound by the vehicle
18 code of that state. In that sense, driving a car became a voluntary exercise of your right to contract.

19 A mere innocent act can imply or trigger “constructive consent” to a legal contract, and in many cases, you may not even be 20 aware that you are exercising your right to contract. Watch out! For instance, the criminal code in your state behaves like a
21 contract. The “police” are simply there to enforce the contract. As a matter of fact, their job was created by that contract.
22 This is called the “police power” of the state. If you do not commit any of the acts in the criminal or penal code, then you
23 are not subject to it and it is “foreign” to you. You become the equivalent of a “resident” within the criminal code and subject
24 to the legislative jurisdiction of that code ONLY by committing a “crime” identified within it. That “crime” triggers
25 “constructive consent” to the terms of the contract and all the obligations that flow from it, including prison time and a court
26 trial. This analysis helps to establish that in a free society, all law is a contract of one form or another, because it can only be
27 passed by the consent of the majority of those who will be subject to it. The people who will be subject to the laws of a
28 “state” are those with a “domicile” or “residence” within the jurisdiction of that “state”. Those who don’t have such a
29 “domicile” or “residence” and who are therefore not subject to the civil laws of that state are called “transient foreigners”.
30 This concept is built extensively upon in Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Sections 5.4 through 5.4.4.5. This is a very 31 interesting subject that we find most people are simply fascinated with, because it helps to emphasize the “voluntary nature”
32 of all law.

33 13.11.14.4 Why was the statutory “resident” under civil franchises created instead of using a classical constitutional 34 “citizen” or “resident” as its basis?

35 After looking at the “resident” government contractor franchise scam, we wondered why they had to do this instead of simply
36 using a classical constitutional “citizen” or “resident” with a domicile within the territory protected by a specific government
37 as the basis for franchises. After careful thought and research, we found that there are many reasons they had to do this:

- 38 1. The Constitution forbids what is called “class legislation” relating to constitutional “citizens” or “residents”. The 39 reason is that it violates the requirement for equal protection and equal treatment that is at the heart of the Constitution.
40 Governments are NOT allowed to treat any subset of constitutional citizens or residents differently, or confer or grant
41 “benefits”, and by implication “franchises”, to any SUBSET of them. If participation is in fact voluntary, there is no
42 way they could even offer franchises to constitutional citizens without favoring one group over another and thereby
43 creating an unconstitutional “title of nobility”. Below is how the U.S. Supreme Court described this violation after the 44 first income tax was enacted and declared UNCONSTITUTIONAL by the U.S. Supreme Court:

45 *“The present assault upon capital is but the beginning. It will be but the stepping stone to others larger and
46 more sweeping, until our political contest will become war of the poor against the rich; a war of growing intensity*
47 and bitterness. ‘If the court sanctions the power of discriminating taxation, and nullifies the uniformity mandate
48 of the constitution,’ as said by one who has been all his life a student of our institutions, ‘it will mark the hour
49 when the sure decadence of our present government will commence.’

50 [...]

1 The legislation, in the discrimination it makes, is class legislation. Whenever a distinction is made in the burdens
2 a law imposes or in the benefits it confers on any citizens by reason of their birth, or wealth, or religion, it is class
3 legislation, and leads inevitably to oppression and abuses, and to general unrest and disturbance in society."
4 [Pollock v. Farmers' Loan and Trust, 157 U.S. 429 \(1895\)]

- 5 2. It has always been unconstitutional to abuse the government's taxing power to pay private individuals. Classical 6 constitutional citizens and residents are inherently PRIVATE individuals.

7 "His [the individual's] rights are such as existed by the law of the land long antecedent to the organization of the 8 State, and can only be taken from him by due process of law, and in accordance with the Constitution. Among 9 his rights are a refusal to incriminate himself, and the immunity of himself and his property from arrest or seizure
10 except under a warrant of the law. He owes nothing to the public so long as he does not trespass upon their 11 rights."
12 [Hale v. Henkel, 201 U.S. 43 \(1906\)]

13 Hence, the government cannot lawfully create any franchise "benefit" offered to PRIVATE constitutional citizens or

- 29 3. It has been repeatedly held as unconstitutional for governments to establish a "poll tax". Poll taxes are fees required to 30 be payed before one may vote in any election. Voting, in turn, is described as a "franchise". Eligibility to vote is 31 established by the coincidence of both nationality and domicile. If domicile instead of "residence" under a franchise
32 were used as the criteria for income tax obligation, then indirectly the income tax would act for all intents and purposes
33 as a "poll tax" and thereby quickly be declared as unconstitutional.

¹²⁷ Only a handful of States today condition the franchise on the payment of a poll tax. Alabama (Ala. Const., §§ 178, 194, and Amendments 96 and 207; Ala. Code Tit. 17, § 12) and Texas (Tex. Const., Art. 6, § 2; Vernon's Ann. Stat., Election Code, Arts. 5.02, 5.09) each impose a poll tax of $1.50. Mississippi (Miss. Const., §§ 241, 243; Miss. franchise in a free and unimpaired manner is preservative of other basic civil and political rights, any alleged infringement of the right of citizens to vote must be carefully and meticulously scrutinized.' There we were considering charges that voters in one part of the State had greater representation per person in the State Legislature than voters in another part of the State. We concluded:

A citizen, a qualified voter, is no more nor no less so because he lives in the city or on the farm. This is the clear and strong command of our Constitution's Equal Protection Clause. This is an essential part of the concept of a government of laws and not men. This is at the heart of Lincoln's vision of 'government of the people, by the people, (and) for the people.' The Equal Protection Clause demands no less than substantially equal state legislative representation for all citizens, of all places as well as of all races.' Id., at 568, 84 S.Ct. at 1385.

We say the same whether the citizen, otherwise qualified to vote, has $1.50 in his pocket or nothing at all, pays the fee or fails to pay it. The principle that denies the State the right to dilute a citizen's vote on account of his economic status or other such factors by analogy bars a system which excludes those unable to pay a fee to vote or who fail to pay.

[Harper v. Virginia State Board of Elections Butts v. Harrison, 383 U.S. 663, 86 S.Ct. 1079, 16 L.Ed.2d. 169, 1965 WL 130114 (1966)]

4. Corrupt politicians through abuse of legal “words of art” had to make franchise participation at least “LOOK” like it was somehow connected to citizenship, even though technically it is not, in order to fool people into thinking that participation was mandatory by virtue of their nationality or domicile, even though in fact it is NOT. Therefore they confused the word “resident” and “residence” with a statutory status of a constitutional or classical “alien”, even though they are NOT the same.
5. Since you can only have a domicile in one place at a time, then if income taxes were based on domicile alone, you could only pay the tax to ONE municipal government at a time. Hence, you could NOT simultaneously owe both STATE and FEDERAL income tax at the same time. The only way to reconcile the conflict under such circumstances is to pay it to the state government only. On the other hand, if taxes are based on “residence” you could owe it to more than one government at a time if you had multiple “residences”. Therefore, they HAD to based the tax upon “residence” and not “domicile” and to make “residence” a product of your consent to contract with a specific government for services or protection under a specific franchise.

13.11.14.5 How the TWO types of “RESIDENTS” are deliberately confused

As we pointed out in the previous section, there is a vested financial interest in covetous governments deliberately confusing FOREIGN NATIONALS under the common law with CONTRACTORS under government franchises. Great pains have been taken over time to confuse these two because of these strong motivations to recruit more government franchisee contractors and thus increase revenues. We will discuss these mechanisms in this section.

The first technique was already pointed out earlier in section 13.11.5, where we showed that “residence” is deliberately confused with “domicile”, even though they are NOT equivalent and mutually exclusive under franchise statutes. “Residence” under the Internal Revenue Code “trade or business” franchise, for instance, means the abode of a statutory “alien” and DOES NOT include either statutory “citizens” or even statutory “nonresident aliens”.

The second technique is to confuse the word “reside” with “residence” or “domicile”. Reside simply means where one sleeps at night and has NOTHING to do with either their domicile OR their residence:

“RESIDE. Live, dwell, abide, sojourn, stay, remain, lodge. Western-Knapp Engine.”
[Black’s Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, p. 1473]

You can RESIDE somewhere WITHOUT having EITHER a domicile or a residence there. Here is an example:

*There are no cases in California deciding whether a foreign corporation can “reside” in a county within the meaning of the recordation sections of the Code. There are cases, however, on the question whether a foreign corporation doing business in California can acquire a county residence within the state for the purpose of venue. The early cases held that such residence could not be acquired.¹ These cases were explained in Bohn v. Better Biscuits, Inc., 26 Cal.App.2d. 61, 78 P.2d. 1177,2 wherein it was finally established that a foreign corporation doing business in California, having designated its principal office pursuant to Section 405 of the California Civil Code provision (passed in 1929), could acquire a county residence in the state for the purpose of venue. The court in that case construed the venue provision of Section 395 of the Code of Civil Procedure which reads as follows: “In all other cases, * * * the county in which the defendants, or some of them, reside at the commencement of the action, is the proper county for the trial of the action. * * * If none of the defendants resides in the State, * * * the action may be tried in any county which the plaintiff may designate in his complaint.”

In relation to this section, the court held: "The plaintiff stresses the word 'reside.' It then contends that as the defendant is a foreign corporation having its principal place of business at Grand Rapids, Mich., that place is its residence and it may not be heard to claim that it resides at any other place. If by the use of the word 'reside' one means 'domicil' that contention would be sound. * * * It is not claimed that there is anything in the context showing the word 'reside' was intended to mean 'domicil.' By approved usage of the language 'reside' means: 'Live, dwell, abide, sojourn, stay, remain, lodge.' * * * By a long line of decisions it has been held that a domestic corporation resides at the place where its principal place of business is located. Walker v. Wells Fargo Bank, etc., Co., 8 Cal.2d. 447, 65 P.2d. 1299. The designation of the principal place of business of a domestic corporation is contained in its articles. Civ.Code, § 290 * * * The designation of the principal place of business of a foreign corporation in this state is contained in the statement which it is required to file in the office of the secretary of state before it may legally transact business in this state. Civ.Code, § 405 * * *. Prior to the enactment of sections 405-406a * * * a foreign corporation had no locus in this state. No statute required it to designate, by a written statement duly filed in the office of the secretary of state, the location of its principal place of business in the state. After the enactment of said sections, the principal place of business of foreign corporations as well as domestic corporations was fixed by law. When the reason is the same, the rule should be the same. Civ.Code, § 3511. It follows * * * by reason of the enactment of section 405 et seq. of the Civil Code * * * said section 395 of the Code of Civil Procedure * * * applies to persons both natural and artificial and whether the corporation is a domestic or a foreign corporation." Bohn v. Better Biscuits, Inc., 26 Cal.App.2d. 61, 64, 65, 78 P.2d. 1177, 1179, 80 P.2d. 484.

[Western-Knapp Engineering Co. v. Gilbank, 129 F.2d. 135 (9th Cir., 1942)]

Keep in mind the following important facts about the above case:

1. "Reside" is where the corporation physically does business, not the place of its civil domicile.
2. One can "do business" in a geographic region without having a civil domicile there.
3. The corporation is a creation of and therefore component LEGALLY WITHIN the government that granted it, regardless of where it is physically located or where it does business. This is reflected in Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b).
4. Those "doing business" in a specific geographical region are "deemed to be LEGALLY present" within the forum or civil laws they are doing business in, regardless of whether they have offices in that region under:
 - 4.1. The Minimum Contacts Doctrine in International Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326 U.S. 310 (1945).
 - 4.2. The Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 U.S.C. Part IV, Chapter 97.
5. The fact that one "does business" within a specific region does not necessarily mean that you are "purposefully availing yourself" under the laws of that region, and especially if the parties doing business have a contract between them REMOVING the government and its protections from their CIVIL relationship. How might this be done? They could have a "binding arbitration" agreement or contract that relegates all disputes to a private third party, for instance.
6. The civil statutory laws of a place are a social compact, and it would constitute eminent domain without compensation over those who have neither a "domicile" nor a "residence" in the region to impose or enforce these laws against them. That is the foundation of the Minimum Contacts Doctrine, U.S. Supreme Court itself, in fact.
7. One can be legally present UNDER THE COMMON LAW while being NOT PRESENT under civil statutory law. That would be the condition of a nonresident foreign corporation such as the one in the case above.
8. "Residing" somewhere implies an effective legal "residence" under the Minimum Contacts Doctrine, U.S. Supreme Court ONLY if one is ALSO "doing business", and ONLY for that specific transaction and for NO other purpose or franchise.

13.11.14.6 PRACTICAL EXAMPLE 1: Opening a bank account

Let us give you a practical business example of this phenomenon in action whereby a person becomes a "resident" from a legal perspective by exercising their right to contract. You want to open a checking account at a bank. You go to the bank to open the account. The clerk presents you with an agreement that you must sign before you open the account. If you won't sign the agreement, then the clerk will tell you that they can't open an account for you. Before you sign the account agreement, the bank doesn't know anything about you and you don't have an account there, so you are the equivalent of an "alien". An "alien" is someone the bank will not recognize or interact with or help. They can only lawfully help "customers", not "aliens". After you exercise your right to contract by signing the bank account agreement, then you now become a "resident" of the bank. You are a "resident" because:

1. You are a "thing" that they can now "identify" in their computer system and their records because you have an "account" there. A "res" is legally defined as a "thing". They now know your name and "account number" and will recognize you when you walk in the door to ask for help. Hence "res-ident".
2. You are the "person" described in their account agreement. Before you signed it, you were a "foreigner" not subject to it.

3. They issued you an ATM card and a PIN so you can control and manage your “account”. These things that they issued you are the “privileges” associated with being party to the account agreement. No one who is not party to such an agreement can avail themselves of such “privileges”.
4. The account agreement gives you the “privilege” to demand “services” from the bank of one kind or another. The legal requirement for the bank to perform these “services” creates the legal equivalent of “agency” on their part in doing what you want them to do. In effect, you have “hired” them to perform a “service” that you want and need.
5. The account agreement gives the bank the legal right to demand certain behaviors out of you of one kind or another. For instance, you must pay all account fees and not overdraw your account and maintain a certain minimum balance. The legal requirement to perform these behaviors creates the legal equivalent of “agency” on your part in respect to the bank.
6. The legal obligations created by the account agreement give the two parties to it legal jurisdiction over each other defined by the agreement or contract itself. The contract fixes the legal relations between the parties. If either party violates the agreement, then the other party has legal recourse to sue for exceeding the bounds of the “contractual agency” created by the agreement. Any litigation that results must be undertaken consistent with what the agreement authorizes and in a mode or “forum” (e.g. court) that the agreement specifies.

13.11.14.7 PRACTICAL EXAMPLE 2: Creation of the “resident” under a government civil franchise

When two parties execute a franchise agreement or contract between them, they are engaging in “commerce”. The practical consequences of the franchise agreement are the following:

1. The main source of jurisdiction for the government is over commerce.
2. The mutual consideration passing between the parties provides the nexus for government jurisdiction over the transaction.
3. If the exchange involves a government franchise offered by the national government:
 - 3.1. An “alienation” of private rights has occurred. This alienation:
 - 3.1.1. Turns formerly private rights into public rights.
 - 3.1.2. Accomplishes the equivalent of a “donation” of private property to a public use, public purpose, and public office in order to procure the “benefits” of the franchise by the former owner of the property.
 - 3.2. Parties to the franchise agreement cannot engage in a franchise without implicitly surrendering governance over disputes to the government granting the franchise. In that sense, their effective domicile shifts to the location of the seat of the government granting the franchise.
 - 3.3. The parties to the franchise agreement mutually and implicitly surrender their sovereign immunity under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 U.S.C. §1605\(a\)\(2\), which says that commerce within the legislative jurisdiction of the “United States” constitutes constructive consent to be sued in the courts of the United States. This is discussed in more detail in the previous section.

Another surprising result of engaging in franchises and public “benefits” that most people overlook is that the commerce it represents, in fact, can have the practical effect of making an “alien” or “nonresident” party into a “resident” for the purposes of statutory jurisdiction. Here is the proof:

*In International Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326 U.S. 310 (1945), the Supreme Court held that a court may exercise personal jurisdiction over a defendant consistent with due process only if he or she has "certain minimum contacts" with the relevant forum "such that the maintenance of the suit does not offend 'traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice.' " Id. at 316 (quoting Milliken v. Meyer, 311 U.S. 457, 463 (1940)). Unless a defendant's contacts with a forum are so substantial, continuous, and systematic that the defendant can be deemed to be "present" in that forum for all purposes, a forum may exercise only "specific" jurisdiction - that is, jurisdiction based on the relationship between the defendant's forum contacts and the plaintiff's claim. The parties agree that only specific jurisdiction is at issue in this case.

In this circuit, we analyze specific jurisdiction according to a three-prong test:

- (1) The non-resident defendant must purposefully direct his activities or consummate some transaction with the forum or resident thereof; or perform some act by which he purposefully avails himself of the privilege of conducting activities in the forum, thereby invoking the benefits and protections of its laws;
- (2) the claim must be one which arises out of or relates to the defendant's forum-related activities; and
- (3) the exercise of jurisdiction must comport with fair play and substantial justice, i.e. it must be reasonable.

Schwarzenegger v. Fred Martin Motor Co., 374 F.3d. 797, 802 (9th Cir. 2004) (quoting Lake v. Lake, 817 F.2d. 1416, 1421 (9th Cir. 1987)). The first prong is determinative in this case. We have sometimes referred to it, in shorthand fashion, as the "purposeful availment" prong. Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d. at 802. Despite its label, this prong includes both purposeful availment and purposeful direction. It may be satisfied by purposeful availment

1 of the privilege of doing business in the forum; by purposeful direction of activities at the forum; or by some
2 combination thereof.

3 We have typically treated "purposeful availment" somewhat differently in tort and contract cases. In tort cases,
4 we typically inquire whether a defendant "purposefully direct[s] his activities" at the forum state, applying an
5 "effects" test that focuses on the forum in which the defendant's actions were felt, whether or not the actions
6 themselves occurred within the forum. See Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d. at 803 (citing Calder v. Jones, 465 U.S.
7 783, 789-90 (1984)). By contrast, in contract cases, we typically inquire whether a defendant "purposefully avails
8 itself of the privilege of conducting activities" or "consummate[s] [a] transaction" in the forum, focusing on 9 activities such as delivering goods or executing a contract. See Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d. at 802. However, this 10 case is neither a tort nor a contract case. Rather, it is a case in which Yahoo! argues, based on the First
11 Amendment, that the French court's interim orders are unenforceable by an American court.
12 [Yahoo! Inc. v. La Ligue Contre Le Racisme Et L'Antisemitisme, 433 F.3d. 1199 (9th Cir. 01/12/2006)]

13 Legal treatises on domicile also confirm that those who are "wards" or "dependents" of the state or the government assume
14 the same domicile or "residence" as their care giver. The practical effect of this is that by participating in government
15 franchises, we become "wards" of the government in receipt of welfare payments such as Social Security, Medicare, etc. As 16 "wards" under "guardianship" of the government, we assume the same domicile as the government who is paying us the 17 "benefits", which means the District of Columbia. Our domicile is whatever the government, meaning the "court" wants it
18 to be for their convenience:

22 necessarily do so,¹²⁸ as so a guardian has been held to have no power to control an infant's domicile as against
23 her mother.¹²⁹ Where a guardian is permitted to remove the child to a new location, the child will not be held to 24 have acquired a new domicile if the guardian's authority does not extend to fixing the child's domicile. Domicile
25 of a child who is a ward of the court is the location of the court.¹³⁰

26 Since a ward is not sui juris, he cannot change his domicile by removal,¹³¹ nor or does the removal of the ward
27 to another state or county by relatives or friends, affect his domicile.¹³² Absent an express indication by the court,
28 the authority of one having temporary control of a child to fix the child's domicile is ascertained by interpreting

32 This change in domicile of those who participate in government franchises and thereby become "wards" of the government
33 is also consistent with the U.S. Supreme Court's view of the government's relationship to those who participate in government
34 franchises. It calls the government a "parens patriae" in relation to them!:

35 "The proposition is that the United States, as the grantor of the franchises of the company [a corporation, in 36 this case], the author of its charter, and the donor of lands, rights, and privileges of immense value, and as

13 The Internal Revenue Code franchise agreement itself contains provisions which recognize this change in effective domicile
14 to the District of Columbia within 26 U.S.C. §7408(d) and 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(39).

15 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > § 7701

19 (39) Persons residing outside United States

20 If any citizen or resident of the United States does not reside in (and is not found in) any United States judicial
21 district, such citizen or resident shall be treated as residing ["domiciled"] in the District of Columbia for

27 §7408. Action to enjoin promoters of abusive tax shelters, etc.

28 (d) Citizens and residents outside the United States If any citizen or resident of the United States does not reside
29 in, and does not have his principal place of business in, any United States judicial district, such citizen or resident
30 shall be treated for purposes of this section as residing in the District of Columbia.

31 Since your Constitutional right to contract is unlimited, then you can have as many temporary and transient "residences" as 32 you like, but you can have only one legal "domicile", because your allegiance must be undivided or you will have a conflict
33 of interest and allegiance.

34 "No one can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will be loyal to the
35 one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon."
36 [Matt. 6:23-25, Bible, NKJV]

37 Now do you understand the reasoning behind the following maxim of law? You become a "subject" and a "resident" under 38 the jurisdiction of a government's civil law by demanding its protection! If you want to "fire" the government as your 39 "protector", you MUST quit demanding anything from it by filling out government forms or participating in its franchises:

40 Protectio trahit subjectionem, subjectio projectionem.
41 Protection draws to it subjection, subjection, protection. Co. Litt. 65.

44 Remember, "resident" is a combination of two word roots: "res", which is legally defined as a "thing", and "ident", which 45 stands for "identified".

46 Res. Lat. The subject matter of a trust or will. In the civil law, a thing; an object. As a term of the law, this
47 word has a very wide and extensive signification, including not only things which are objects of property, but also
48 such as are not capable of individual ownership. And in old English law it is said to have a general import,
49 comprehending both corporeal and incorporeal things of whatever kind, nature, or species. By "res," according

1 to the modern civilians, is meant everything that may form an object of rights, in opposition to "persona," which
2 is regarded as a subject of rights. "Res," therefore, in its general meaning, comprises actions of all kinds; while
3 in its restricted sense it comprehends every object of right, except actions. This has reference to the fundamental
4 division of the Institutes that all law relates either to persons, to things, or to actions.

5 Res is everything that may form an object of rights and includes an object, subject-matter or status. In re

12 The "object, subject matter, or status" they are talking about above is the ALL CAPS incarnation of your legal birth name
13 and the government-issued number, usually an SSN, that is associated with it. Those two things constitute the "straw man"
14 or "trust" or "res" which you implicitly agree to represent at the time you sign up for any franchise, benefit, or "public right".
15 When the government attacks someone for a tax liability or a debt, they don't attack you as a private person, but rather the 16 collection of rights that attach to the ALL CAPS trust name and associated Social Security Number trust. They start by 17 placing a lien on the number, which actually is THEIR number and not YOURS. That number associates PRIVATE property
18 with PUBLIC TRUST property. Merriam-Webster's Dictionary definition 5(b) for "Trust" is "office":

19 "Trust: 5 a (1) : a charge or duty imposed in faith or confidence or as a condition of some relationship (2) :
20 something committed or entrusted to one to be used or cared for in the interest of another b : responsible charge
21 or office c : CARE, CUSTODY <the child committed to her trust.>
22 [Merriam-Webster's 11th Collegiate Dictionary]

23 20 C.F.R. §422.103(d) says the number is THEIR property. They can lien their property, which is public property in your 24 temporary use and custody as a "trustee" of the "public trust". Everything that number is connected to acts as private property
25 donated temporarily to a public use to procure the "benefits" of the franchise. It is otherwise illegal to mix public property,
26 such as the Social Security Number, with private property, because that would constitute illegal and criminal embezzlement
27 in violation of 18 U.S.C. §912.

28 "Men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, -life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness;'
29 and to 'secure,' not grant or create, these rights, governments are instituted. That property [or income] which a
30 man has honestly acquired he retains full control of, subject to these limitations: First, that he shall not use it
31 to his neighbor's injury, and that does not mean that he must use it for his neighbor's benefit; second, *that
32 if he devotes it to a public use, he gives to the public a right to control that 33 USE; and third, that whenever the public needs require, the public may take it upon payment of due
34 compensation.
35 Budd v. People of State of New York, [143 U.S. 517 (1892)]

36 Below is how the U.S. Supreme Court describes the practical effect of creating the trust and placing its "residence" or 37 "domicile" within the jurisdiction of the specific government or "state" granting the franchise:

38 "Thus, the Court has frequently held that domicile or residence, more substantial than mere presence in transit
39 or sojourn, is an adequate basis for taxation, including income, property, and death taxes. Since the Fourteenth
40 Amendment makes one a citizen of the state wherein he resides, the fact of residence creates universally
41 reciprocal duties [e.g. CONTRACTUAL DUTIES!:] of protection by the state and of allegiance and support
42 by the citizen. The latter obviously includes a duty to pay taxes, and their nature and measure is largely a
43 political matter. Of course, the situs of property may tax it regardless of the citizenship, domicile, or residence of 44 the owner, the most obvious illustration being a tax on realty laid by the state in which the realty is located."
45 Miller Brothers Co. v. Maryland, [347 U.S. 340 (1954)]

46 The implication is that you cannot be sovereign if either you or the entities you voluntarily represent have a "domicile" or
47 "residence" in any man-made government or in any place other than Heaven or the Kingdom of Heaven on Earth. If you
48 choose a "domicile" or "residence" any place on earth, then you become a "subject" in relation to that place and voluntarily
49 forfeit your sovereignty. This is NOT the status you want to have! A "resident" by definition MUST therefore be within the 50 legislative jurisdiction of the government, because the government cannot lawfully write laws that will allow them to
51 recognize or act upon anything that is NOT within their legislative jurisdiction.

52 All law is prima facie territorial in nature, and can act only upon the territory under the exclusive control of the government
53 or upon its franchises, contracts, and real and chattel property, which are "property" under its management and control

1 pursuant to Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2 of the United States Constitution. The only lawful way that government laws can
2 reach beyond the territory of the sovereign who controls them is through explicit, informed, mutual consent of the individual
3 parties involved, and this field of law is called “private law”.

4 "Judge Story, in his treatise on the Conflicts of Laws, lays down, as the basis upon which all reasonings on the
5 law of comity must necessarily rest, the following maxims: First 'that every nation possesses an exclusive
6 sovereignty and jurisdiction within its own territory'; secondly, 'that no state or nation can by its laws directly
7 affect or bind property out of its own territory, or bind persons not resident therein, whether they are natural
8 born subjects or others.' The learned judge then adds: 'From these two maxims or propositions there follows a
9 third, and that is that whatever force and obligation the laws of one country have in another depend solely upon
10 the laws and municipal regulation of the latter; that is to say, upon its own proper jurisdiction and polity, and
11 upon its own express or tacit consent." Story on Conflict of Laws §23."

13 13.11.15 Legal presumptions about domicile

14 It is important also to recognize that state and federal law often establishes certain rebuttable “presumptions” about one’s 15 “residence” as an “alien”/ “resident”. Below is an example from the Arizona Revised Statutes:

16 Arizona Revised Statutes
17 Title 43: Taxation of Income
18 Section 43-104 Definitions

19 19. "Resident" includes:

20 (a) Every individual who is in this state for other than a temporary or transitory purpose.

21 (b) Every individual who is domiciled in this state and who is outside the state for a temporary or transitory
22 purpose. Any individual who is a resident of this state continues to be a resident even though temporarily absent
23 from the state.

24 (c) Every individual who spends in the aggregate more than nine months of the taxable year within this state shall
25 be presumed to be a resident. The presumption may be overcome by competent evidence that the individual is 26 in the state for a temporary or transitory purpose.

27 The above presumption is rebuttable, and the way to rebut it is to make our intentions known:

28 "This right of domicile, he continues, is not established unless the person makes sufficiently known his
29 intention of fixing there, either tacitly or by an express declaration. Vatt. Law Nat. pp. 92, 93."
30 [Fong Yue Ting v. United States, 149 U.S. 698 (1893)]

31 How do we make our “intentions” known to the protector we are nominating?:

32 1. By sending the following form according to the instructions:

Legal Notice of Change in Domicile/Citizenship Records and Divorce from the United States, Form #10.001
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

- 33 2. By sending the state a written notification of domicile, or a Department of Motor Vehicles change of address form. Most 34 change of address forms have a block for indicating one’s “residence”. Line out the word “residence” and replace it with 35 “domicile” or else you will establish yourself as a privileged alien.
- 36 3. Whenever we write a physical address on any especially government or financial institution form, next to the address we 37 should write "This is NOT my domicile." This is a VERY important habit to get into that will avoid all false presumptions 38 about your legal domicile.
- 39 4. By revoking our voter registration.

40 We can also encourage other false presumptions by the government relating to our legal domicile based on the words we use
41 to describe ourself. For instance, if we describe ourself as either a “citizen” or a “resident” or “inhabitant” on any government
42 form, then we are declaring ourself to be a “domiciliary” in respect to the government who is accepting the form. Otherwise,
43 we would be a “transient foreigner” outside of the jurisdiction of that government. This is further explained in the following
44 two articles:

1. You're Not a STATUTORY "citizen" under the Internal Revenue Code, Family Guardian Fellowship:
<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Citizenship/NotACitizenUnderIRC.htm>
2. You're Not a STATUTORY "resident" under the Internal Revenue Code, Family Guardian Fellowship:
<http://famguardian.org/Subjects/Taxes/Citizenship/Resident.htm>

Within federal law, persons who are "citizens", "residents", or "inhabitants" are described as:

- a. "Individuals". See 5 U.S.C. §552(a)(2) and 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3).

5 U.S.C. §552a\(2\) Records maintained on individuals

(2) the term "individual" means a citizen of the United States or an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence ["resident"];

- b. "U.S. persons". See 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(30).

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701.
Sec. 7701. - Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(30) United States person

The term "United States person" means -

(A) a citizen or resident of the United States,

(B) a domestic partnership,

(C) a domestic corporation,

(D) any estate (other than a foreign estate, within the meaning of paragraph (31)), and

(E) any trust if -

(i) a court within the United States is able to exercise primary supervision over the administration of the trust, and

(ii) one or more United States persons have the authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust.

- c. "domestic". Both "domicile" and "domestic" have the root "dom" as their source. Both imply the same thing. Within the Internal Revenue Code, "domestic" is defined as follows:

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > Sec. 7701.
Sec. 7701. - Definitions

(a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof—

(4) Domestic

The term "domestic" when applied to a corporation or partnership means created or organized in the United States or under the law of the United States or of any State unless, in the case of a partnership, the Secretary provides otherwise by regulations.

Therefore, "domestic" means subject to the laws of the United States". Under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b), you cannot be "subject" to the laws without having a domicile in the territory where those laws apply.

Those who are "non-resident non-persons", "nontaxpayers" and "transient foreigners" therefore cannot declare themselves as being either "citizens", "residents", "inhabitants", "U.S. persons", "individuals", or "domestic" on any federal government form, or they forfeit their status and become "taxpayers", "domiciliaries", and "subjects" and tenants living on the king's land. For an important example of how the above concept applies, examine the IRS Form W-8BEN:

<http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/IRS/IRSFormW8ben.pdf>

1 Block 3 is used by the applicant to declare both the entity type AND their legal domicile as well. The declaration of
2 "domicile" is "hidden" in the word "individual". Notice there is no block on the form for either "human being" or "transient
3 foreigner". The only block a human being can fill out is "individual". 5 U.S.C. §552\(a\)\(2\) identifies a statutory "individual"
4 as either a statutory "citizen" or a statutory "resident", and a person who is a "nonresident alien" cannot be either. Therefore,
5 the form essentially coerces the applicant into committing perjury by not providing an option to accurately describe
6 themselves, such as a box for "transient foreigner" or "human being". This defect is remedied in the amended version of the 7 form available below, which adds to Block 3 an option called "transient foreigner":

8 <http://famguardian.org/TaxFreedom/Forms/IRS/IRSFormW8BENAmendeds.pdf>

9 The regulations relating to "aliens" also establish the following presumptions:

- 10 1. All "aliens" are presumed to be "nonresident aliens" but this may be overcome upon presentation of proof:

11 Title 26: Internal Revenue
12 PART 1—INCOME TAXES
13 nonresident alien individuals
14 § 1.871-4 Proof of residence of aliens.

15 (a) Rules of evidence. The following rules of evidence shall govern in determining whether or not an alien within
16 the United States has acquired residence therein for purposes of the income tax.

17 (b) Nonresidence presumed. An alien by reason of his alienage, is presumed to be a nonresident alien.

18 (c) Presumption rebutted—

19 (1) Departing alien.

20 In the case of an alien who presents himself for determination of tax liability before departure from the United
21 States, the presumption as to the alien's nonresidence may be overcome by proof--

- 22 2. An "alien" who has acquired permanent residence retains that residence until he physically departs from the "United 23 States", which is defined as federal territory in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(9\) and (a)(10) and 4 U.S.C. §110(d) and is not 24 expressly expanded anywhere else in the I.R.C. to include any other place. The purpose for this presumption is to 25 perpetuate the jurisdiction to tax aliens:

26 Title 26: Internal Revenue
27 PART 1—INCOME TAXES
28 nonresident alien individuals
29 §1.871-5 Loss of residence by an alien.

30 An alien who has acquired residence in the United States retains his status as a resident until he abandons the
31 same and actually departs from the United States. An intention to change his residence does not change his status
32 as a resident alien to that of a nonresident alien. Thus, an alien who has acquired a residence in the United States
33 is taxable as a resident for the remainder of his stay in the United States.

34 If you are state domiciled state national and a "non-resident non-person", don't let the above concern you, because you are
35 not an "alien" as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(b\)\(1\)\(A\), but rather an "non-resident non-person" if not engaged in a public
36 office or a "nonresident alien" as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(b\)\(1\)\(B\) if engaged in a public office.

15 We will now present a table based on the above consistent with the entire content of the document which you can use for all
16 future reference. The term "Domestic National" in the table below refers to a person born in any state of the Union, or in a
17 territory or possession of the United States:

3 NOTES:

- 4 1. “United States” is defined as federal territory within 26 U.S.C. §§7701\(a\)\(9\) and (a)(10), 7701\(a\)\(39\), and 7408\(d\), and 4 U.S.C. §110\(d\). It does not include any portion of a Constitutional state of the Union.
- 5 2. The “District of Columbia” is defined as a federal corporation but not a physical place, a “body politic”, or a de jure
- 6 “government” within the District of Columbia Act of 1871, 16 Stat. 419, 426, Sec. 34. See: Corporatization and Privatization of the Government, Form #05.024; <http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>.
- 7 3. “nationals” of the United States of America who are domiciled outside of federal jurisdiction, either in a state of the
- 8 Union or a foreign country, are “nationals” but not “citizens” under federal law. They also qualify as “non-resident non-
- 9 persons”. They become “nonresident aliens” under 26 U.S.C. §7701\(b\)\(1\)\(B\) if they CONSENSUALLY and
- 10
- 11

LAWFULLY engage in a public office in the national government. See sections 4.12.8 of the Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302 for details.

4. Temporary domicile in the middle column on the right must meet the requirements of the “Presence test” documented in IRS publications.
5. District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and the territories and insular possessions of the United States in the above table.
6. The term “individual” as used on the IRS Form 1040 means an “alien” engaged in a “trade or business”. All “taxpayers” are “aliens” engaged in a “trade or business”. This is confirmed by 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3), 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(a)(2)(ii), and 5 U.S.C. §552a\(a\)\(2\). Statutory “U.S. citizens” as defined in 8 U.S.C. §1401 are not “individuals” unless temporarily abroad pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §911 and subject to an income tax treaty with a foreign country. In that capacity, statutory “U.S. citizens” interface to the I.R.C. as “aliens” rather than “U.S. citizens” through the tax treaty.

Based on the above table, we can see that when a person within any government identifies you as a “citizen”, they presuppose that you maintain a “domicile” within their jurisdiction. The same thing goes for the term “inhabitant”, which also describes a person with a domicile within the jurisdiction of the local government where he lives. Note the use of the phrase “reside actually and permanently in a given place and has a domicile there” in the definition of inhabitant:

Inhabitant. One who reside actually and permanently in a given place, and has his domicile there. Ex parte Shaw, 145 U.S. 444, 12 S.Ct. 935, 36 L.Ed. 768.

The words "inhabitant," "citizen," and "resident," as employed in different constitutions to define the qualifications of electors, means substantially the same thing; and, in general, one is an inhabitant, resident, or citizen at the place where he has his domicile or home. But the terms "resident" and "inhabitant" have also been held not synonymous, the latter implying a more fixed and permanent abode than the former, and importing privileges and duties to which a mere resident would not be subject. A corporation can be an inhabitant only in the state of its incorporation. Sperry Products v. Association of American Railroads, C.C.A.N.Y., 132 F.2d. 408, 411. See also Domicile; Residence."
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 782]

The legal dictionary is careful to disguise the requirement for “domicile” in their definition of “resident”. To admit that domicile was a prerequisite for being a “resident”, they would open the door for a mass exodus of the tax system by most people, so they beat around the bush. For instance, here is the definition of “resident” from Black’s Law Dictionary:

Resident. “Any person who occupies a dwelling within the State, has a present intent to remain within the State for a period of time, and manifests the genuineness of that intent by establishing an ongoing physical presence within the State together with indicia that his presence within the State is something other than merely transitory in nature. The word “resident” when used as a noun means a dweller, habitant or occupant; one who resides or dwells in a place for a period of more, or less, duration; it signifies one having a residence, or one who resides or abides. [Hanson v. P.A. Peterson Home Ass’n, 35 Ill.App.2d. 134, 182 N.E.2d. 237, 240] [Underlines added]

Word “resident” has many meanings in law, largely determined by statutory context in which it is used. [Kelm v. Carlson, C.A.Ohio, 473, F.2d. 1267, 1271]
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1309]

The Law of Nations, which is mentioned in Article 1, Section 8 of our Constitution and was used by the Founding Fathers to write the Constitution, is much more clear in its definition of “resident”, and does essentially admit a requirement for “domicile” in order for an “alien” to be classified as a “resident”:

Residents, as distinguished from citizens, are aliens who are permitted to take up a permanent abode in the country. Being bound to the society by reason of their [intention of] dwelling in it, they are subject to its laws so long as they remain there, and, being protected by it, they must defend it, although they do not enjoy all the rights of citizenship. They have only certain privileges which the law, or custom, gives them. Permanent residents are those who have been given the right of perpetual residence. They are a sort of citizen of a less privileged character, and are subject to the society without enjoying all its advantages. Their children succeed to their status; for the right of perpetual residence given them by the State passes to their children.”

1 Since the only definition of "resident" found anywhere in the Internal Revenue Code or the Treasury Regulations is that of a 2 "resident alien", found in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(b\)\(1\)\(A\), then we:

- 3 1. Are not "residents" because we are not "aliens" and do not have a "domicile" in the "United States" (federal territory).

13 13.11.17 Civil Status

14 The term "civil status" describes the process by which human beings become "persons" under civil statutory law. It is what
15 the courts call a "res" which gives them civil control over you under one of three different systems of civil law. Civil status
16 is VERY important, because it is the source of civil statutory jurisdiction of courts over you and their right to "personal
17 jurisdiction" over you. It also describes how your actions affect "choice of law" and your "status" in any court cases you
18 bring. This article summarizes the major aspects of this important subject.

19 Human beings who are "sovereign" in fact:

- 20 1. Have no "civil status" under statutory law.
- 21 2. Only have a "civil status" under the constitution and the common law.
- 22 3. Are governed mainly by the "civil laws" found in the Holy Bible. This is a protected First Amendment right to practice
23 their religion. Laws of the Bible, Litigation Tool #09.001.

24 You cannot have a "civil status" under the laws of a place WITHOUT:

- 25 1. A physical presence in that place. The status would be under the COMMON law.
- 26 2. CONSENSUALLY doing business in that place. The status would be under the common law.
- 27 3. A domicile in that place. This would be a status under the civil statutes of that place.
- 28 4. CONSENSUALLY representing an artificial entity (a legal fiction) that has a domicile in that place. This would be a 29 status under the civil statutes of that place.

30 If any of the above rules are violated, you are a victim of criminal identity theft:

1 13.11.17.1 Basis for your EXCLUSIVE right to declare and establish your civil status¹³⁴

2 The right to declare and establish your civil and statutory status is tied to the legal definition of “property” itself. “Property”
3 as legally defined is that which you EXCLUSIVELY own and control, and can deprive all others of using or benefitting from:

4 *Property. That which is peculiar or proper to any person; that which belongs exclusively to one. In the strict
5 legal sense, an aggregate of rights which are guaranteed and protected by the government. *Fulton Light, Heat
6 & Power Co. v. State*, 65 Misc.Rep. 263, 121 N.Y.S. 536. The term is said to extend to every species of valuable
7 right and interest. More specifically, ownership; the unrestricted and exclusive right to a thing; the right to
8 dispose of a thing in every legal way, to possess it, to use it, and to exclude everyone else from interfering with it.
9 That dominion or indefinite right of use or disposition which one may lawfully exercise over particular things or
10 subjects. The exclusive right of possessing, enjoying, and disposing of a thing. The highest right a man can have
11 to anything; being used to refer to that right which one has to lands or tenements, goods or chattels, which no
12 way depends on another man's courtesy.*

13 *The word is also commonly used to denote everything which is the subject of ownership, corporeal or incorporeal,
14 tangible or intangible, visible or invisible, real or personal, everything that has an exchangeable value or which
15 goes to make up wealth or estate. It extends to every species of valuable right and interest, and includes real
16 and personal property, easements, franchises, and incorporeal hereditaments, and includes every invasion of
17 one's property rights by actionable wrong. Labberton v. General Cas. Co. of America, 53 Wash.2d. 180, 332
18 P.2d. 250, 252, 254.*

19 *Property embraces everything which is or may be the subject of ownership, whether a legal ownership, or whether
20 beneficial, or a private ownership. Davis v. Davis. TexCiv-App., 495 S.W.2d. 607, 611. Term includes not only
21 ownership and possession but also the right of use and enjoyment for lawful purposes. Hoffmann v. Kinealy, Mo.,
22 389 S.W.2d. 745, 752.*

23 *Property, within constitutional protection, denotes group of rights inhering in citizen's relation to physical thing,
24 as right to possess, use and dispose of it. Cereghino v. State By and Through State Highway Commission, 230
25 Or. 439, 370 P.2d. 694, 697.*

26 *Goodwill is property, Howell v. Bowden, TexCiv. App., 368 S.W.2d. 842, &18; as is an insurance policy and
27 rights incident thereto, including a right to the proceeds, Harris v. Harris, 83 N.M. 441,493 P.2d. 407, 408.*

28 *Criminal code. "Property" means anything of value. including real estate, tangible and intangible personal
29 property, contract rights, choses-in-action and other interests in or claims to wealth, admission or transportation
30 tickets, captured or domestic animals, food and drink, electric or other power. Model Penal Code. Q 223.0. See
31 also Property of another, infra. Dusts. Under definition in Restatement, Second, Trusts, Q 2(c), it denotes interest
32 in things and not the things themselves.
33 [Black's Law Dictionary, Fifth Edition, p. 1095]*

34 Note that YOUR BODY, your labor, and all that you own at least STARTS OUT as exclusively your property, and by 35 EXCLUSIVELY we mean that it is PRIVATE property beyond the civil control or regulation of any government. Only by 36 donating it or some portion of it to a “public use”, “public purpose”, or “public office” can its use be civilly regulated by any
37 government.

38 *“Every man has a natural right to the fruits of his own labor, is generally admitted; and no other person can 39 rightfully deprive him of those fruits, and appropriate them against his will ...”

1 "In this case, we hold that the "right to exclude," so universally held to be a fundamental element of the property
2 right,¹³⁵ falls within this category of interests that the Government cannot take without compensation."
3 [Kaiser Aetna v. United States, 444 U.S. 164 (1979)]

4 The only time a government can take away your property without compensation in return and without your consent is when
5 you have hurt someone with it, and that deprivation can only occur AFTER the injury, not BEFORE. Any deprivation
6 BEFORE the injury must involve your express consent to donate the property or some interest in the property to a "public
7 use", "public purpose", and/or "public office". These rules were identified by the U.S. Supreme Court as follows:

8 "Men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, - 'life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness;'
9 *and to 'secure,' not grant or create, these rights, governments are instituted. That property [or income] which a
10 man has honestly acquired he retains full control of, subject to these limitations: First, that he shall not use it
11 to his neighbor's injury, and that does not mean that he must use it for his
12 neighbor's benefit [e.g. SOCIAL SECURITY, Medicare, and every other
13 public "benefit"]; second, that if he devotes it to a public use, he gives to the public a right to control*
14 that use; and third, that whenever the public needs require, the public may take it upon payment of due
15 compensation."
16 [Budd v. People of State of New York, 143 U.S. 517 (1892)]

17 The only way one can rationally disagree with the conclusions of this section is to advocate one of the following positions,
18 all of which corrupt and destroy the notion of private property that is behind any and every great republic:

- 19 1. That there is no PRIVATE property and that EVERYTHING is PUBLIC property owned by the government.
- 20 2. That the government is the LEGAL owner of EVERYTHING and that they only LOAN it to you.
- 21 3. That "taxes" are the "rent" you pay to use GOVERNMENT property. If you don't pay the taxes, they can take it away
22 from you and thereby EXCLUDE you from using or benefitting from it.

23 All the above premises are the foundation of socialism, in which the government either completely owns or at least 24 CONTROLS ALL property.

25 "socialism n (1839) 1: any of various economic and political theories advocating collective or governmental

26 ownership and administration of the means of production and distribution of goods 2 a: a system of society or

27 group living in which there is no private property b: a system or condition of society in which the means of

28 production are owned and controlled by the state 3: a stage of society in Marxist theory transitional between

29 capitalism and communism and distinguished by unequal distribution of goods and pay according to work done. "

30 [Webster's Ninth New Collegiate Dictionary, 1983, ISBN 0-87779-510-X, p. 1118]

31 Lastly, we emphasize that the purpose for which ALL governments are established, is to protect PRIVATE rights and 32 PRIVATE property, according to our Declaration of Independence. Anyone who argues with this section indirectly is 33 advocating that we DO NOT have a "government" as defined by our founding documents:

34 "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator
35 *with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure
36 these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the

38 People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and
39 organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. "
40 [Declaration of Independence]

41 Furthermore, anyone who takes the position that there is no PRIVATE property and that the GOVERNMENT owns
42 EVERYTHING, indirectly must advocate atheism and is a THIEF, because the Bible itself says that GOD owns THE 43 WHOLE EARTH AND THE HEAVENS. Caesar cannot own or even control that which does not belong to him:

44 "Behold, the heaven and the heaven of heavens is the LORD's thy God, the earth also, with all that therein is."

3 13.11.17.2 What do we mean by “civil status”?¹³⁶

4 A civil status is a term defined or described in either the constitution or statutes or the common law to which either
5 obligations or rights attach. Examples “civil statuses” would be “person” (under a civil statute), “taxpayer” (under the tax
6 code), “driver” (under the vehicle code), “individual”, etc. Every obligation gives rise to a corresponding right on the part of
7 the entity or person to whom the obligation is owed. An obligation, in turn, could include the requirement to perform a
8 specific service, or it could include some measure of control over property in your custody or control. Obligations are always 9 enforceable through some type of legal penalty or administrative or judicial enforcement for non-performance.

10 Civil Code - CIV
11 DIVISION 3. OBLIGATIONS [1427 - 3272.9]
12 (Heading of Division 3 amended by Stats. 1988, Ch. 160, Sec. 14.)
13 PART 1. OBLIGATIONS IN GENERAL [1427 - 1543] (Part 1 enacted 1872.)
14 TITLE 1. DEFINITION OF OBLIGATIONS [1427 - [1428.]] (Title 1 enacted 1872.)

15 1427. An obligation is a legal duty, by which a person is bound to do or not to do a certain thing.

16 (Enacted 1872.)

17 The ONLY method for lawfully creating obligations is either through your consent in the form of a contract or “operation of 18 law”. “Operation of law” involves a case where your actions or inactions have injured the equal rights of someone else. That
19 injury violates the concept of “justice” itself, which is the “right to be let alone”.¹³⁷

24 TITLE 1. DEFINITION OF OBLIGATIONS [1427 - [1428.]] (Title 1 enacted 1872.)
25 [1428.] Section Fourteen Hundred and Twenty-eight.

26 An obligation arises either from:

27 One — The contract of the parties; or,

28 Two — The operation of law. An obligation arising from operation of law may be enforced in the manner
29 provided by law, or by civil action or proceeding.

30 (Amended by Code Amendments 1873-74, Ch. 612.)

31 A violation of the above rules for creating obligations constitutes one of the following:

- 32 A violation of the above rules for creating obligations constitutes one of the following:
- 33 1. Unconstitutional taking of private property under the Fifth Amendment or equivalent state constitution.
 - 34 2. Involuntary servitude, in the case of the Thirteenth Amendment, if the thing compelled is some kind of service or 35 physical performance.

1 The use of the term “status” in this memorandum:

- 2 1. Is associated with the domicile of the party in question. Before one may have any kind of civil status, one must:
 - 3 1.1. CONSENSUALLY have a domicile or residence within the forum or jurisdiction in question.
 - 4 1.2. Have legal evidence of said domicile admissible in court to prove the domicile they claim.
 - 5 1.3. Acquire statutory “citizen” or “resident” status under the civil laws of the place by virtue of choosing a domicile 6 within that place.
- 7 2. Relates exclusively to the civil status of a party under the CIVIL STATUTORY laws of a specific jurisdiction.
 - 8 2.1. Civil statutory laws only pertain to those consensually domiciled within the forum or jurisdiction.
 - 9 2.2. They may not be enforced against non-residents or those not domiciled within the forum or jurisdiction unless the 10 non-resident satisfies the “Minimum Contacts Doctrine” spoken of by the U.S. Supreme Court in International 11 Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326 U.S. 310 (1945).
- 12 3. Does NOT relate to the CRIMINAL laws. Criminal laws do not attach to the status of the parties or to their consent in 13 any way. Instead, they attach at the point when a harmful act is committed against a specific party on the territory to 14 which said law attaches.

15 A well-known book on domicile explains the origin of “civil status” as follows:

16 § 29. Status.¹³⁸ It may be laid down that the status-or, as it is sometimes called, civil status, in contradistinction
17 to political status - of a person depends largely, although not universally, upon domicil. The older jurists, whose
18 opinions are fully collected by Story¹³⁹ and Burge¹⁴⁰ maintained, with few exceptions, the principle of the ubiquity
19 of status, conferred by the lex domicilii with little qualification. Lord Westbury, in *Udny v. Udny*¹⁴¹ thus states the 20 doctrine broadly: "The civil status is governed by one single principle, namely, that of domicil, which is the 21 criterion established by law for the purpose of determining civil status. For it is on this basis. that the personal
22 rights of the party - that is to say, the law which determines his majority and minority, his marriage, succession,
23 testacy, or intestacy-must depend." Gray, C. J., in the late Massachusetts case of *Ross v. Ross*¹⁴² speaking with 24 special reference to capacity to inherit, says: "It is a general principle that the status or condition of a person,
25 the relation in which he stands to another person, and by which he is qualified or made capable to take" certain 26 rights in that other's property, is fixed by the law of the domicil; and that this status and capacity are to be
27 recognized and upheld in every other State, so far as they are not inconsistent with its own laws and policy."

28 But great difficulty in the discussion of this subject has arisen by reason of the loose and varying use of the term
29 *status and the want of any clear definition of what is meant by it. Savigny*¹⁴³ understood it to mean " capacity to 30 have rights and to act;" and this undoubtedly was the sense in which it was understood by the older jurists. In 31 Niboyet v. Niboyet,¹⁴⁴ Brett, L. J., gives this definition: "The status of an individual, used as a legal term, means 32 the legal position of the individual in or with regard to the rest of a community." But whatever may be the 33 definition of the term, or whatever rules applicable to status in general may be looked upon as having received
34 general acceptance, there are certain prominent states or conditions of persons, which have been treated of by 35 writers and considered by the courts, and these it will be well to examine separately, with a view to ascertain how 36 far they are affected by domicil.
37 [Treatise on the Law of Domicil, M.W. Jacobs, 1887; Little Brown and Company, §29, pp. 38-39]

38 Below is an example of the above, from the U.S. Supreme Court. The “status” spoken in this case of is that of being “married”
39 under the laws of a specific state:

¹³⁸ On this general subject, see Story, Confl. of L. ch. 4; Burge, For. & Col. L. vol. i ch. 3 et. seq.; Phillimore, Int. L. vol. iv. ch. 17; Westlake, Priv. Int. L. 1st ed. ch. 13; id. 2d ed. ch. 2, 3; Foote, Priv. Int. L. ch. 8; Wharton, Conf. of L. ch. 3; Dicey, Dom. pt. 3, ch. 2; Piggott, For. Judgments, ch. 10; Savigny, System, etc. vol. viii. §§ 362-365 (Guthrie's trans. p. 148 et. seq.); Bar, Int. Priv. und Strafrecht, §§ 42-46 (Gillespie's trans. p. 160 et. seq.); and see particularly the learned and elaborate opinion of Gray, C. J., in Rosa v. Ross, 129 Mass. 243 (given infra, §32, note 2). In these places the reader will find collected almost all of the important authorities upon the subject of status.

¹⁴³ System, etc. §361 (Guthrie's Trans, p. 139). Bar understands status in the same sense, §44 (Gillespie's trans. p.172). Gray, C. J., in the case above cited, thus distinguishes the two phases of capacity which go to make up status: “The capacity or qualification to inherit or succeed to property, which is an incident of the status or condition, requiring no action to give it effect, is to be distinguished from the capacity or competency to enter into contracts that confer rights upon others. A capacity to take and have differs from a capacity to do and contract; in short, a capacity of holding from a capacity to act.” Ross v. Ross, ubi supra.

¹⁴⁴ L. B. 4 P. D. 1, 11.

1 “To prevent any misapplication of the views expressed in this opinion, it is proper to observe that we do not mean
2 to assert, by any thing we have said, that a State may not authorize proceedings to determine the status of one
3 of its citizens towards a non-resident, which would be binding within the State, though made without service of 4 process or personal notice to the non-resident. The jurisdiction which every State possesses to determine the 5 civil status and capacities of all its inhabitants involves authority to prescribe the conditions on which
6 proceedings affecting them may be commenced and carried on within its territory. The State, for example, has
7 absolute 735*735 right to prescribe the conditions upon which the marriage relation between its own citizens
8 shall be created, and the causes for which it may be dissolved. One of the parties guilty of acts for which, by the 9 law of the State, a dissolution may be granted, may have removed to a State where no dissolution is permitted.
10 The complaining party would, therefore, fail if a divorce were sought in the State of the defendant; and if
11 application could not be made to the tribunals of the complainant's domicile in such case, and proceedings be 12 there instituted without personal service of process or personal notice to the offending party, the injured citizen
13 would be without redress. Bish. Marr. and Div., sect. 156.”
14 [Pennoyer v. Neff, 95 U.S. 714 (1878)]

15 “Domicile” and “Nationality” are distinguished in the following U.S. Supreme Court case:

16 In Udny v. Udny (1869) L. R. 1 H. L. Sc. 441, the point decided was one of inheritance, depending upon the
17 question whether the domicile of the father was in England or in Scotland, he being in either alternative a British
18 subject. Lord Chancellor Hatherley said: 'The question of naturalization and of allegiance is distinct from that
19 of domicile.' Page 452. Lord Westbury, in the passage relied on by the counsel for the United States, began by
20 saying: 'The law of England, and of almost all civilized countries, ascribes to each individual at his birth two
21 distinct legal states or conditions,—one by virtue of which he becomes the subject [NATIONAL] of some
22 particular country, binding him by the tie of natural allegiance, and which may be called his political status;
23 another by virtue of which he has ascribed to him the character of a citizen of some particular country, and as
24 such is possessed of certain municipal rights, and subject to certain obligations, which latter character is the
25 civil status or condition of the individual, and may be quite different from his political status.' And then, while
26 maintaining that the civil status is universally governed by the single principle of domicile (domicilium), the
27 criterion established by international law for the purpose of determining civil status, and the basis on which
28 'the personal rights of the party—that is to say, the law which determines his majority or minority, his
29 marriage, succession, testacy, or intestacy— must depend,' he yet distinctly recognized that a man's political
30 status, his country (patria), and his 'nationality,—that is, natural allegiance,—'may depend on different laws in
31 different countries.' Pages 457, 460. He evidently used the word 'citizen,' not as equivalent to 'subject,' but rather
32 to 'inhabitant'; and had no thought of impeaching the established rule that all persons born under British
33 dominion are natural-born subjects.

36 In law, all rights are property. Hence, “civil rights” attach to the CIVIL STATUTORY STATUS of a “person”:

7 Those who do not have a domicile in a specific municipal jurisdiction are regarded as "non-residents", and hence, they have
8 no "civil status" or "status" under the "civil laws" of the jurisdiction they are non-resident in relation to. An example of this
9 phenomenon is found in Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b), in which jurisdiction is described as follows:

10 IV. PARTIES > Rule 17.
11 Rule 17. Parties Plaintiff and Defendant; Capacity

12 (b) Capacity to Sue or be Sued.

13 Capacity to sue or be sued is determined as follows:

14 (1) for an individual who is not acting in a representative capacity, by the law of the individual's domicile;
15 (2) for a corporation [the "United States", in this case, or its officers on official duty representing the 16 corporation], by the law under which it was organized [laws of the District of Columbia]; and
17 (3) for all other parties, by the law of the state where the court is located, except that:

18 (A) a partnership or other unincorporated association with no such capacity under that state's law may sue
19 or be sued in its common name to enforce a substantive right existing under the United States Constitution
20 or laws; and

21 (B) 28 U.S.C. §§754 and 959(a) govern the capacity of a receiver appointed by a United States court to sue
22 or be sued in a United States court.

23 [SOURCE: <http://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/Rule17.htm>]

24 A person with no domicile within federal territory, based on the above:

- 25 1. Has no capacity to sue or be sued in federal court under the CIVIL statutes of the national government.
- 26 2. Has no "status" or "civil status" under any federal civil statute, including:
 - 27 2.1. "person".
 - 28 2.2. "individual".
- 29 3. Is not a statutory "citizen" under federal law such as 26 U.S.C. §3121(e) and 26 C.F.R. §1.1-1(c), but rather a statutory 30 "non-resident non-person". If they are ALSO a public officer in the national government, they are also a statutory 31 "individual" and "nonresident alien" (26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B)) in relation to the national government.

32 An example of a "status" that one not domiciled on federal territory cannot lawfully have is that of statutory "taxpayer" as 33 defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14). All tax liability is a CIVIL liability which attaches to a CIVIL statutory status:

34 TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 79 > § 7701
35 § 7701. Definitions

36 (a) When used in this title, where not otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent
37 thereof—

38 (14) Taxpayer

39 The term "taxpayer" means any person subject to any internal revenue tax.

40 In a sense then, all civil statutory law acts as the equivalent of a "protection franchise" that you have to consent to before you
41 become party to. "Privileges" under the protection franchise attach to the status of "citizen". Those who are non-residents
42 are not parties to the franchise contract and are not bound by the franchise contract:

43 There is but one law which, from its nature, needs unanimous consent. This is the social compact; for civil
44 association is the most voluntary of all acts. Every man being born free and his own master, no one, under any
45 pretext whatsoever, can make any man subject without his consent. To decide that the son of a slave is born a
46 slave is to decide that he is not born a man.

1 If then there are opponents when the social compact is made, their opposition does not invalidate the contract,
2 but merely prevents them from being included in it. They are foreigners among citizens. When the State is
3 instituted, residence constitutes consent; to dwell within its territory is to submit to the Sovereign.^[1]

4 Apart from this primitive contract, the vote of the majority always binds all the rest. This follows from the
5 contract itself. But it is asked how a man can be both free and forced to conform to wills that are not his own.
6 How are the opponents at once free and subject to laws they have not agreed to?

7 I retort that the question is wrongly put. The citizen gives his consent to all the laws, including those which are
8 passed in spite of his opposition, and even those which punish him when he dares to break any of them. The
9 constant will of all the members of the State is the general will; by virtue of it they are citizens and free^[2]. When
10 in the popular assembly a law is proposed, what the people is asked is not exactly whether it approves or rejects
11 the proposal, but whether it is in conformity with the general will, which is their will. Each man, in giving his
12 vote, states his opinion on that point; and the general will is found by counting votes. When therefore the opinion
13 that is contrary to my own prevails, this proves neither more nor less than that I was mistaken, and that what I
14 thought to be the general will was not so. If my particular opinion had carried the day I should have achieved the
15 opposite of what was my will; and it is in that case that I should not have been free.

16 This presupposes, indeed, that all the qualities of the general will still reside in the majority: when they cease
17 to do so, whatever side a man may take, liberty is no longer possible.

18 In my earlier demonstration of how particular wills are substituted for the general will in public deliberation, I
19 have adequately pointed out the practicable methods of avoiding this abuse; and I shall have more to say of them
20 later on. I have also given the principles for determining the proportional number of votes for declaring that will.
21 A difference of one vote destroys equality; a single opponent destroys unanimity; but between equality and
22 unanimity, there are several grades of unequal division, at each of which this proportion may be fixed in
23 accordance with the condition and the needs of the body politic.

24 There are two general rules that may serve to regulate this relation. First, the more grave and important the
25 questions discussed, the nearer should the opinion that is to prevail approach unanimity. Secondly, the more the
26 matter in hand calls for speed, the smaller the prescribed difference in the numbers of votes may be allowed to
27 become: where an instant decision has to be reached, a majority of one vote should be enough. The first of these
28 two rules seems more in harmony with the laws, and the second with practical affairs. In any case, it is the 29 combination of them that gives the best proportions for determining the majority necessary.

30 [The Social Contract or Principles of Political Right, Jean Jacques Rousseau, 1762, Book IV, Chapter 2]

31 There is one last very important point we wish to make. That point is that the civil statutory laws and the domicile they attach 32 to are not the ONLY method of civilly protecting one's rights. Some types of civil protection do not require consent of party.
33 For instance, the U.S. Constitution is an example of a limitation upon government that does NOT require the express consent
34 of those who are protected by it.

- 35 1. The USA Constitution is a "compact" or contract.
- 36 2. It establishes a public trust, which is an artificial "person" in which:
 - 37 2.1. The corpus of the trust is all public rights and public property.
 - 38 2.2. The trustees of the trust are people working in the government.
 - 39 2.3. All constitutional but not statutory citizens are the "beneficiaries".
- 40 3. The parties who established this public trust are the States of the Union and the government they created. Individual 41 human beings are NOT party to it or trustees under it:
- 42 4. The Bill of Rights portion of the constitution attaches to LAND protected by the constitution, and NOT the civil status
43 of people ON the land:

44 "It is locality that is determinative of the application of the Constitution, in such matters as judicial procedure,
45 and not the status of the people who live in it."
46 [Balzac v. Porto Rico, 258 U.S. 298 (1922)]

- 47 5. The Bill of Rights is a "self-executing" restraint upon all government officers and agents upon all those physically
48 present but not necessarily domiciled on the land it attaches to. Because the rights it covers are "self-executing", no
49 statutory civil law is needed to give them "the force of law" against any officer of the government in relation to a
50 person physically present upon land protected by the constitution.

51 The design of the Fourteenth Amendment has proved significant also in maintaining the traditional separation of
52 *powers 524*524 between Congress and the Judiciary. The first eight Amendments to the Constitution set forth
53 self-executing prohibitions on governmental action, and this Court has had primary authority to interpret those
54 prohibitions. The Bingham draft, some thought, departed from that tradition by vesting in Congress primary*
55 power to interpret and elaborate on the meaning of the new Amendment through legislation. Under it, "Congress,

1 and not the courts, was to judge whether or not any of the privileges or immunities were not secured to citizens
2 in the several States." Flack, supra, at 64. While this separation-of-powers aspect did not occasion the widespread
3 resistance which was caused by the proposal's threat to the federal balance, it nonetheless attracted the attention
4 of various Members. See Cong. Globe, 39th Cong., 1st Sess., at 1064 (statement of Rep. Hale) (noting that Bill of
5 Rights, unlike the Bingham proposal, "provid[es] safeguards to be enforced by the courts, and not to be
6 exercised by the Legislature"); id., at App. 133 (statement of Rep. Rogers) (prior to Bingham proposal it "was
7 left entirely for the courts . . . to enforce the privileges and immunities of the citizens"). As enacted, the Fourteenth
8 Amendment confers substantive rights against the States which, like the provisions of the Bill of Rights, are self-
9 executing. Cf. South Carolina v. Katzenbach, 383 U.S., at 325 (discussing Fifteenth Amendment). The power to
10 interpret the Constitution in a case or controversy remains in the Judiciary.
11 [City of Boerne v. Flores, 521 U.S. 507 (1997)]

12 Those injured by the actions of the government, whether civilly domiciled there and therefore a "citizen" there OR NOT, are 13 protected by the Bill of Rights and have standing to sue in ANY state or federal court for a violation of that right.

14 In confirmation of this section, examine the content of 1 U.S.C. §8:

15 1 U.S. Code § 8 - "Person", "human being", "child", and "individual" as including born-alive infant

16 (a) In determining the meaning of any Act of Congress, or of any ruling, regulation, or interpretation of the 17 various administrative bureaus and agencies of the United States, the words "person", "human being", "child",
18 and "individual", shall include every infant member of the species homo sapiens who is born alive at any stage
19 of development.

20 (b) As used in this section, the term "born alive", with respect to a member of the species homo sapiens, means
21 the complete expulsion or extraction from his or her mother of that member, at any stage of development, who
22 after such expulsion or extraction breathes or has a beating heart, pulsation of the umbilical cord, or definite 23 movement of voluntary muscles, regardless of whether the umbilical cord has been cut, and regardless of whether
24 the expulsion or extraction occurs as a result of natural or induced labor, cesarean section, or induced abortion.

25 (c) Nothing in this section shall be construed to affirm, deny, expand, or contract any legal status or legal right
26 applicable to any member of the species homo sapiens at any point prior to being "born alive" as defined in 27 this section.

28 [1 U.S.C. §8, Downloaded 9/13/2014]

29 13.11.17.3 Effect of domicile on CIVIL STATUTORY "status"

30 The law of domicile is almost exclusively the means of determining one's "civil status" under the civil statutory laws of a
31 given territory:

32 § 29. Status

33 It may be laid down that the, status- or, as it is sometimes called, civil status, in contradistinction to political
34 status - of a person depends largely, although not universally, upon domicil. The older jurists, whose opinions
35 are fully collected by Story I and Burge, maintained, with few exceptions, the principle of the ubiquity of status,
36 *conferred by the lex domicilii with little qualification. Lord Westbury, in Udny v. Udny, thus states the doctrine*
37 broadly: "The civil status is governed by one single principle, namely, that of domicil, which is the criterion
38 established by law for the purpose of determining civil status. For it is on this basis that the personal rights of the 39 party - that is to say, the law which determines his majority and minority, his marriage, succession, testacy, or
40 *intestacy-must depend." Gray, C. J., in the late Massachusetts case of Ross v. Ross, speaking with special*
41 reference to capacity to inherit, says: "It is a general principle that the status or condition of a person, the relation
42 in which he stands to another person, and by which he is qualified or made capable to take certain rights in that
43 other's property, is fixed by the law of the domicil; and that this status and capacity are to be recognized and 44 upheld in every other State, so far as they are not inconsistent with its own laws and policy."
45 [A Treatise on the Law of Domicil, National, Quasi-National, and Municipal, M.W. Jacobs, Little, Brown, and
46 Company, 1887, p. 89]

47 We have already established that civil law attaches to one's VOLUNTARY choice of civil domicile. Civil law, in turn,
48 enforces and thereby delivers certain "privileges" against those who are subject to it. In that sense, the civil law acts as a
49 voluntary franchise or "protection franchise" that is only enforceable against those who voluntarily consent to avail
50 themselves of its "benefits" or "protections". Those who voluntarily and consensually avail themselves of such "benefits"
51 and who are therefore SUBJECT to the "protection franchise" called domicile, in turn, are treated as public officers within 52 the government under federal law, as is exhaustively established in the following memorandum:

The key thing to understand about all franchises is that the Congressionally created privileges or “public rights” they enforce attach to specific STATUSES under them. An example of such statuses include:

1. “Person” or “individual”.
2. “Alien”
3. “Nonresident alien”
4. “Driver” under the vehicle code of your state.
5. “Spouse” under the family code of your state.
6. “Taxpayer” under the Internal Revenue Code at 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14).
7. “Citizen”, “resident”, or “inhabitant” under the civil laws of your state.

The above civil statutory statuses:

- 1 Are contingent for their existence on a DOMICILE in the geographical place or territory that the law applies to. Hence, a “nonresident alien” or even “alien” civil status within the Internal Revenue Code, for instance, only applies if one is PHYSICALLY PRESENT on federal territory or consensually domiciled there. If you are not physically on federal territory and not domiciled there and not representing a public office domiciled there, you CANNOT be ANYTHING under the Internal Revenue Code.
- 2 Are TEMPORARY, because your domicile can change.
- 3 Extinguish when you terminate your domicile and/or your presence in that place.
- 4 Are the very SAME “statuses” you find on ALL government forms and applications, such as voter registrations, drivers’ license applications, marriage license applications, etc. The purpose of filling out all such applications is to CONTRACT to PROCURE the status indicated on the form and have it RECOGNIZED by the government grantor who created the privileges you are pursuing under the civil law franchises that implement the form or application.

The ONLY way to AVOID contracting into the civil franchise if you are FORCED to fill out government forms is to:

1. Define all terms on the form in a MANDATORY attachment so as to EXCLUDE those found in any government law. Write above your signature the following:

“Not valid, false, fraudulent, and perjurious unless accompanied by the SIGNED attachment entitled _____, consisting of ___ pages.”

2. Indicate "All rights reserved, U.C.C. §1-308" near the signature line on the application.
3. Indicate "Non assumpsit" on the application, or scribble it as your signature.
4. Indicate "duress" on the form.
5. Resubmit the form after the fact either in person or by mail fixing the application to indicate duress and withdraw your consent.
6. Ask the government accepting the application to indicate that you are not qualified because you do not consent and consent is mandatory. Then show that denial to the person who is trying to FORCE you to apply.
7. Submit a criminal complaint against the party instituting the duress to get you to apply.
8. Notify the person instituting the unlawful duress that they are violating your rights and demand that they retract their demand for you to apply for something.

Below is an authority proving this phenomenon as explained by the U.S. Supreme Court:

In Udny v. Udny (1869), L.R., 1 H. L. Sc. 441, the point decided was one of inheritance, depending upon the question whether the domicile of the father was in England or in Scotland, he being in either alternative a British subject. Lord Chancellor Hatherley said: ‘The question of naturalization and of allegiance is distinct from that of domicile.’ Page 452. Lord Westbury, in the passage relied on by the counsel for the United States, began by saying: ‘The law of England, and of almost all civilized countries, ascribes to each individual at his birth two distinct legal states or conditions.—one by virtue of which he becomes the subject [NATIONAL] of some particular country, binding him by the tie of natural allegiance, and which may be called his political status; another by virtue of which he has ascribed to him the character of a citizen of some particular country, and as such is possessed of certain municipal rights, and subject to certain obligations, which latter character is the civil status or condition of the individual, and may be quite different from his political status.’ And then, while

1 maintaining that the civil status is universally governed by the single principle
2 of domicile (domicilium), the criterion established by international law
3 for the purpose of determining civil status, and the basis on which 'the 4 personal rights of the party—that is to say, the law which determines his 5 majority or minority, his marriage, succession, testacy, or intestacy—
6 must depend,' he yet distinctly recognized that a man's political status, his 7 country (patria), and his 'nationality,—that is, natural allegiance,'—'may 8 depend on different laws in different countries.' Pages 457, 460. He evidently used the 9 word 'citizen,' not as equivalent to 'subject,' but rather to 'inhabitant'; and had no thought of impeaching the 10 established rule that all persons born under British dominion are natural-born subjects.

13 The protections of the Constitution and the common law, on the other hand, attach NOT to your STATUTORY status, but to 14 the LAND you stand on at the time you receive an injury from either the GOVERNMENT or a PRIVATE human being,
15 respectively:

16 "It is locality that is determinative of the application of the Constitution, in such matters as judicial procedure,
17 and not the status of the people who live in it."
18 [Balzac v. Porto Rico, 258 U.S. 298 (1922)]

19 The thing that we wish to emphasize about this important subject are the following VERY IMPORTANT facts:

- 20 1. Your STATUS under the civil STATUTORY law is exclusively determined by the exercise of your PRIVATE,
21 UNALIENABLE right to both contract and associate, which are protected by the First Amendment to the United States
22 Constitution.
- 23 2. The highest exercise of your right to sovereignty is the right to determine and enforce the STATUS you have 24 CONSENSUALLY and VOLUNTARILY acquired under the civil laws of the community you are in.
- 25 3. Anyone who tries to associate a CIVIL statutory status with you absent your DEMONSTRATED, EXPRESS,
26 WRITTEN consent is:
 - 27 3.1. Violating due process of law.
 - 28 3.2. STEALING property or rights to property from you. The "rights" or "public rights" that attach to the status are 29 the measure of WHAT is being "stolen".
 - 30 3.3. Exercising eminent domain without compensation against otherwise PRIVATE property in violation of the state
31 constitution. The property subject to the eminent domain are all the rights that attach to the status they are 32 FORCING upon you. YOU and ONLY YOU have the right to determine the compensation you are willing to 33 accept in exchange for your private rights and private property.
 - 34 3.4. Compelling you to contract with the government that created the franchise status, because all franchises are 35 contracts.
 - 36 3.5. Kidnapping your legal identity and moving it to a foreign state, if the STATUS they impute to you arises under 37 the laws of a foreign state. This, in turn is an act of INTERNATIONAL TERRORISM in criminal violation of 18
38 U.S.C. §2331(1)(B)(iii).
- 39 4. All de jure government civil law is TERRITORIAL in nature and attaches ONLY to the territory upon which they have 40 EXCLUSIVE or GENERAL jurisdiction. It does NOT attach and CANNOT attach to places where they have only 41 SUBJECT matter jurisdiction, such as in states of the Union.

42 "It is a well established principle of law that all federal regulation applies only within the territorial jurisdiction
43 of the United States unless a contrary intent appears."
44 [Foley Brothers, Inc. v. Filardo, 336 U.S. 281 (1949)]

45 "The laws of Congress in respect to those matters [outside of Constitutionally delegated powers] do not extend
46 into the territorial limits of the states, but have force only in the District of Columbia, and other places that are
47 within the exclusive jurisdiction of the national government."
48 [Caha v. U.S., 152 U.S. 211 (1894)]

49 "There is a canon of legislative construction which teaches Congress that, unless a contrary intent appears
50 [legislation] is meant to apply only within the territorial jurisdiction of the United States."
51 [U.S. v. Spelar, 338 U.S. 217 at 222.]

- 1 5. The prerequisite to having ANY statutory STATUS under the civil law of any de jure government is a DOMICILE
- 2 within the EXCLUSIVE jurisdiction of the that specific government that enacted the statute.
- 3 6. You CANNOT lawfully acquire a statutory STATUS under the CIVIL laws of a foreign jurisdiction if you have:
- 4 6.1. Never physically been present within the exclusive jurisdiction of the foreign jurisdiction.
- 5 6.2. Never EXPRESSLY consented to be treated as a “citizen”, “resident”, or “inhabitant” within that jurisdiction,
- 6 even IF physically present there.
- 7 6.3. NOT been physically present in the foreign jurisdiction LONG ENOUGH to satisfy the residency requirements of
- 8 that jurisdiction.
- 9 7. Any government that tries to REMOVE the domicile prerequisite from any of the franchises it offers by any of the
- 10 following means is acting in a purely private, commercial capacity using PRIVATE and not PUBLIC LAW and the
- 11 statutes then devolve essentially into an act of PRIVATE contracting. Methods of acting in such a capacity include,
- 12 but are not limited to the following devious methods by dishonest and criminal and treasonous public servants:
- 13 7.1. Treating EVERYONE as “persons” or “individuals” under the franchise statutes, INCLUDING those outside of
- 14 their territory.
- 15 7.2. Saying that EVERYONE is eligible for the franchise, no matter where they PHYSICALLY are, including in
- 16 places OUTSIDE of their exclusive or general jurisdiction.
- 17 7.3. Waiving the domicile prerequisite as a matter of policy, even though the statutes describing it require that those
- 18 who participate must be “citizens”, “residents”, or “inhabitants” in order to participate. The Social Security does
- 19 this by unconstitutional FIAT, in order to illegally recruit more “taxpayers”.
- 20 8. When any so-called “government” waives the domicile prerequisite by the means described in the previous step, the
- 21 following consequences are inevitable and MANDATORY:
- 22 8.1. The statutes they seek to enforce are “PRIVATE LAW”.
- 23 8.2. It is FRAUD to call the statutes “PUBLIC LAW” that applies equally to EVERYONE.

24 “Municipal law, thus understood, is properly defined to be "a rule of civil conduct prescribed by the supreme

25 power in a state, commanding what is right and prohibiting what is wrong.”

26 [. . .]

27 It is also called a rule to distinguish it from a compact or agreement; for a compact is a promise proceeding

28 from us. law is a command directed to us. The language of a compact is, "I will, or will not, do this"; that of a

29 law is, "thou shalt, or shalt not, do it." It is true there is an obligation which a compact carries with it, equal

30 in point of conscience to that of a law; but then the original of the obligation is different. In compacts we

31 ourselves determine and promise what shall be done, before we are obliged to do it; in laws, we are obliged to

32 act without ourselves determining or promising anything at all. Upon these accounts law is defined to be "a

33 rule.”

34 [Readings on the History and System of the Common Law, Second Edition, Roscoe Pound, 1925, p. 4]

- 35 8.3. They agree to be treated on an equal footing with every other PRIVATE business.
- 36 8.4. Their franchises are on an EQUAL footing to every other type of private franchise such as McDonalds franchise
- 37 agreements.
- 38 8.5. They implicitly waive sovereign immunity and agree to be sued in the courts within the extraterritorial
- 39 jurisdiction they are illegally operating under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act (F.S.I.A.), 28 U.S.C. Part IV,
- 40 Chapter 97. Sovereign immunity is ONLY available as a defense against DE JURE government activity in the
- 41 PUBLIC interest that applies EQUALLY to any and every citizen.
- 42 8.6. They may not enforce federal civil law against the party in the foreign jurisdiction that they are illegally offering
- 43 the franchise in.
- 44 8.7. If the foreign jurisdiction they are illegally enforcing the franchise within is subject to the constraint that the
- 45 members of said community MUST be treated equally under the requirements of their constitution, then the
- 46 franchise cannot make them UNEQUAL in ANY respect. This would be discrimination and violate the
- 47 fundamental law.

48 Consistent with the above, below is how the U.S. Supreme Court describes attempts to enforce income taxes against

49 NONRESIDENT parties domiciled in a legislatively foreign state, such as either a state of the Union or a foreign country:

50 "The power of taxation, indispensable to the existence of every civilized government, is exercised upon the

51 assumption of an equivalent rendered to the taxpayer in the protection of his person and property, in adding

52 to the value of such property, or in the creation and maintenance of public conveniences in which he shares --

53 such, for instance, as roads, bridges, sidewalks, pavements, and schools for the education of his children. If the

54 taxing power be in no position to render these services, or otherwise to benefit the person or property taxed,

1 and such property be wholly within the taxing power of another state, to which it may be said to owe an
2 allegiance, and to which it looks for protection, the taxation of such property within the domicile of the owner
3 partakes rather of the nature of an extortion than a tax, and has been repeatedly held by this Court to be
4 beyond the power of the legislature, and a taking of property without due process of law. Railroad Company v.
5 Jackson, 7 Wall. 262; State Tax on Foreign-Held Bonds, 15 Wall. 300; Tappan v. Merchants' National Bank,

11 [Union Refrigerator Transit Company v. Kentucky, 199 U.S. 194 (1905)]

12 An example of how the government cannot assign the statutory status of "taxpayer" upon you per 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14) is 13 found in 28 U.S.C. §2201(a), which reads:

14 United States Code
15 TITLE 28 - JUDICIARY AND JUDICIAL PROCEDURE
16 PART VI - PARTICULAR PROCEEDINGS
17 CHAPTER 151 - DECLARATORY JUDGMENTS
18 Sec. 2201. Creation of remedy

19 (a) In a case of actual controversy within its jurisdiction, EXCEPT with respect to Federal taxes other than 20 actions brought under section 7428 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, a proceeding under section 505 or 21 1146 of title 11, or in any civil action involving an antidumping or countervailing duty proceeding regarding a
22 class or kind of merchandise of a free trade area country (as defined in section 516A(f)(10) of the Tariff Act of 23 1930), as determined by the administering authority, any court of the United States, upon the filing of an 24 appropriate pleading, may declare the rights and other legal relations of any interested party seeking such 25 declaration, whether or not further relief is or could be sought. Any such declaration shall have the force and 26 effect of a final judgment or decree and shall be reviewable as such.

27 Consistent with the federal Declaratory Judgments Act, 28 U.S.C. §2201, federal courts who have been petitioned to declare
28 a litigant to be a "taxpayer" have declined to do so and have cited the above act as authority:

29 Specifically, Rowen seeks a declaratory judgment against the United States of America with respect to "whether 30 *or not the plaintiff is a taxpayer pursuant to, and/or under 26 U.S.C. §7701(a)(14) ." (See Compl. at 2.) This 31 Court lacks jurisdiction to issue a declaratory judgment "with respect to Federal taxes other than actions
32 brought under section 7428 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986," a code section that is not at issue in the 33 instant action. See 28 U.S.C. §2201; see also Hughes v. United States, 953 F.2d. 531, 536-537 (9th Cir. 1991)
34 (affirming dismissal of claim for declaratory relief under § 2201 where claim concerned question of tax liability).
35 Accordingly, defendant's motion to dismiss is hereby GRANTED, and the instant action is hereby DISMISSED.
36 [Rowen v. U.S., 05-3766MMC. (N.D.Cal. 11/02/2005)]

37 The implications of the above are that:

- 38 1. The federal courts have no lawful delegated authority to determine or declare whether you are a "taxpayer".
- 39 2. If federal courts cannot directly declare you a "taxpayer", then they also cannot do it indirectly by, for instance:
 - 40 2.1. Presuming that you are a "taxpayer". This is a violation of due process of law that renders a void judgment.
41 Presumptions are not evidence and may not serve as a SUBSTITUTE for evidence.
 - 42 2.2. Calling you a "taxpayer" before you have called yourself one.
 - 43 2.3. Arguing with or penalizing you if you rebut others from calling you a "taxpayer".
 - 44 2.4. Quoting case law as authority relating to "taxpayers" against a "nontaxpayer". That's FRAUD and it also violates 45 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b).
 - 46 2.5. Quoting case law from a franchise court in the Executive rather than Judicial branch such as the U.S. Tax Court 47 against those who are not franchisees called "taxpayers".
 - 48 2.6. Treating you as a "taxpayer" if you provide evidence to the contrary by enforcing any provision of the I.R.C.
49 Subtitle A "taxpayer" franchise agreement against you as a "nontaxpayer".

50 "Revenue Laws relate to taxpayers [instrumentalities, officers, employees, and elected officials of the national
51 Government] and not to non-taxpayers [non-resident non-persons domiciled within the exclusive jurisdiction of 52 a state of the Union and not subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the national Government]. The latter are 53 without their scope. No procedures are prescribed for non-taxpayers and no attempt is made to annul any of 54 their Rights or Remedies in due course of law."

55 [Economy Plumbing & Heating v. U.S., 470 F.2d. 585 (1972)]

39 any civil status against you without your consent, see:

40 13.11.17.4 Four methods of acquiring a civil status¹⁴⁵

41 There are four methods of lawfully acquiring a civil status:

- 42 1. Physical presence in the venue without a domicile. This triggers common law jurisdiction. If the venue is protected by 43 the constitution, it also triggers constitutional jurisdiction.
- 44 2. Physical presence WITH a consensual domicile. This triggers civil statutory jurisdiction. If the venue is protected by 45 the constitution, it also triggers constitutional jurisdiction.
- 46 3. Not physically present in the venue but purposefully and consensually doing business in the venue. This triggers
47 common law jurisdiction. This ordinarily does NOT trigger constitutional jurisdiction, even if the venue is protected
48 by the constitution.

¹⁴⁵ Source: Your Exclusive Right to Declare or Establish Your Civil Status, Form #13.008, Section 5; <https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>.

1 4. Not physically present in the venue but domiciled in the venue. This triggers statutory jurisdiction. This ordinarily
2 does NOT trigger constitutional jurisdiction, even if the venue is protected by the constitution.

3 Those who don't fit any of the criteria must be considered by the civil courts to be:

- 4 1. "nonresidents".
- 5 2. "transient foreigners".
- 6 3. "stateless" but not civil statutory "persons".
- 7 4. "in transitu".
- 8 5. "transient".
- 9 6. "sojourner".
- 10 7. "civilly dead".

11 Below is a table summarizing the above:

12 Table 23: Four method of acquiring civil status

| # | Physically present in venue? | Civil Domicile? | Common law jurisdiction? | Constitutional protections? | Civil statutory jurisdiction? | Consent implied? |
|---|------------------------------|-----------------|--------------------------|-----------------------------|-------------------------------|------------------|
| 1 | Yes | No | Yes | Yes | No | No |
| 2 | Yes | Yes | No | Yes | Yes | Yes (domicile) |
| 3 | No | No | Yes | No | No | No |
| 4 | No | Yes | No | No | Yes | Yes (domicile) |

13 NOTES:

14 1. Constitutional protection attaches to land and not to the civil status of the people physically ON that land.

15 "It is locality that is determinative of the application of the Constitution, in such matters as judicial procedure,
16 and not the status of the people who live in it."
17 [Balzac v. Porto Rico, 258 U.S. 298 (1922)]

18 2. Common law jurisdiction is the default law system applying equally to all in the absence of express or implied consent
19 of the party. See:

Wikipedia: Civil Law (legal system)
https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Civil_law_\(legal_system\))

20 3. Domicile and civil statutory protection are synonymous. See Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b).

21 4. Domicile and common law jurisdiction are mutually exclusive and cannot exist in the same place at the same time.
22 This is because domicile is consensual and anything you consent to cannot form the basis for a common law injury:

23 "Voluntati non fit injuria.
24 He who consents cannot receive an injury. 2 Bouv. Inst. n. 2279, 2327; 4 T. R. 657; Shelf. on mar. & Div. 449.

25 Consensus tollit errorem.
26 Consent removes or obviates a mistake. Co. Litt. 126.

27 Melius est omnia mala pati quam malo consentire.
28 It is better to suffer every wrong or ill, than to consent to it. 3 Co. Inst. 23.

29 Nemo videtur fraudare eos qui sciunt, et consentiunt.
30 One cannot complain of having been deceived when he knew the fact and gave his consent. Dig. 50, 17, 145."
31 [Bouvier's Maxims of Law, 1856;
32 SOURCE: <http://famguardian.org/Publications/BouvierMaximsOfLaw/BouviereMaxims.htm>]

33 5. Accepting a "benefit" or claiming the "benefit" of a civil statute while physically outside the venue but domiciled there
34 causes a waiver of constitutional rights in the context of ONLY the statutes administering the "benefit", if the granting 35 authority is not physically located on land protected by the Constitution. The District of Columbia, by the way, IS 36 protected by the constitution. See Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244, 251, 21 S.Ct. 770, 773, 45 L.Ed. 1088 \(1901\).

The Court developed, for its own governance in the cases confessedly within its jurisdiction, a series of rules under which it has avoided passing upon a large part of all the constitutional questions pressed upon it for decision. They are:

[. . .]

6. The Court will not pass upon the constitutionality of a statute at the instance of one who has availed himself of its benefits. FN7 Great Falls Mfg. Co. v. Attorney General, 124 U.S. 581, 8 S.Ct. 631, 31 L.Ed. 527; Wall v. Parrot Silver & Copper Co., 244 U.S. 407, 411, 412, 37 S.Ct. 609, 61 L.Ed. 1229; St. Louis Malleable Casting Co. v. Prendergast Construction Co., 260 U.S. 469, 43 S.Ct. 178, 67 L.Ed. 351.

6. You CANNOT accept a statutory “benefit” without a domicile in the location granting the benefit.
6.1. This is because you cannot claim the benefit without a civil status there and you can’t have a civil status WITHOUT a domicile:

“There are certain general principles which control the disposition of this case. They are, in the main, well settled; the difficulty lies in their application to the particular facts of the case in hand. It is elementary that every state has an undoubted right to determine the status, or domestic and social condition, of the persons domiciled within its territory, except in so far as the powers of the states in this respect are restrained, or duties and obligations imposed upon them by the constitution of the United States.” Strader v. Graham, 10 How. 93. Again, the civil status is governed universally by one single principle, namely, that of domicile, which is the criterion established by law for the purpose of determining the civil status; for it is on this basis that the personal rights of a party, — that is to say, the law which determines his majority or minority, his marriage, succession, testacy, or intestacy, — must depend. Uday v. Uday, L.R., 1 H. L. Sc. 457.
[Woodward v. Woodward, 11 S.W. 892, 87 Tenn. 644 (Tenn., 1889)]

“domicile. A person's legal home. That place where a man has his true, fixed, and permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning. Smith v. Smith, 206 Pa.Super. 310, 213 A.2d. 94. Generally, physical presence within a state and the intention to make it one's home are the requisites of establishing a “domicile” therein. The permanent residence of a person or the place to which he intends to return even though he may actually reside elsewhere. A person may have more than one residence but only one domicile. The legal domicile of a person is important since it, rather than the actual residence, often controls the jurisdiction of the taxing authorities and determines where a person may exercise the privilege of voting and other legal rights and privileges.”
[Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 485]

- 6.2. A government that offers or enforces a “benefit” to nonresidents with no domicile is a DE FACTO government as described in:

De Facto Government Scam, Form #05.024
<https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

7. You have a common law right to NOT receive or pay for a “benefit” or to terminate eligibility of a “benefit” you previously consented to at any time. You also have a right to define HOW you consent to receive the benefit and can specify how that consent is procured.

Cujus est commodum ejus debet esse incommodum.
He who receives the benefit should also bear the disadvantage.

Que sentit commodum, sentire debet et onus.
He who derives a benefit from a thing, ought to feel the disadvantages attending it. 2 Bouv. Inst. n. 1433.

Hominum caus jus constitutum est.
Law is established for the benefit of man.

Injuria propria non cadet in beneficium facientis.
One's own wrong shall not benefit the person doing it.

Privatum incommodum publico bono peusatur.
Private inconvenience is made up for by public benefit.

1 “Invito beneficium non datur.
2 No one is obliged to accept a benefit against his consent. Dig. 50, 17, 69. But if he does not dissent he will be
3 considered as assenting. Vide Assent.

4 Non videtur consensum retinuisse si quis ex praescripto minantis aliquid immutavit.
5 He does not appear to have retained his consent, if he have changed anything through the means of a party

9 13.11.18 Jesus refused a domicile, refused to participate in all human franchises, benefits, and privileges, and refused
10 the “civil status” that made them possible¹⁴⁶

11 Jesus definitely participated in God’s franchise, being a member of the Holy Trinity. However, he refused to participate in 12 human franchises. It may interest the reader to learn that Jesus had NO civil status under man’s law and refused to participate
13 in any government “benefit”, franchise, or privilege:

14 The Humbled and Exalted Christ

15 “Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus, who, being in the form of God, did not consider it robbery
16 to be equal with God, but made Himself of no reputation, taking the form of a bondservant, and coming in the 17 likeness of men. And being found in appearance as a man, He humbled Himself and became obedient to the 18 point of death, even the death of the cross. Therefore God also has highly exalted Him and given Him the name
19 which is above every name, that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of those in heaven, and of those on 20 earth, and of those under the earth, and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory
21 of God the Father.”
22 [Phil 2:5-11, Bible, NKJV]

23 Below is a famous Bible commentary on the above passage:

24 *“Think of yourselves the way Christ Jesus thought of himself. He had equal status with God but didn’t think so
25 much of himself that he had to cling to the advantages of that status no matter what. Not at all. When the time
26 came, he set aside the privileges of deity and took on the status of a slave, became human! Having become
27 human, he stayed human. It was an incredibly humbling process. He didn’t claim special privileges. Instead,
28 he lived a selfless, obedient life and then died a selfless, obedient death—and the worst kind of death at that—
29 a crucifixion.”*

30 “Because of that obedience, God lifted him high and honored him far beyond anyone or anything, ever, so that
31 all created beings in heaven and on earth—even those long ago dead and buried—will bow in worship before
32 this Jesus Christ, and call out in praise that he is the Master of all, to the glorious honor of God the Father.”

35 Below is a summary of lessons learned from the above amplified version of the same passage, put into the context of 36 privileges, civil status, and franchises:

- 37 1. Jesus forsook having a civil status and the privileges and franchises of the Kingdom of Heaven franchise that made that 38 status possible.
39 2. He instead chose a civil status lower for Himself than other mere humans below him in status.
40 3. BECAUSE He forsook the “benefits”, privileges, and franchises associated with the civil status of “God” while here on 41 earth, he was blessed beyond all measure by God.

42 Moral of the Story: We can only be blessed by God if we do not seek to use benefits, privileges, and franchises to elevate
43 ourself above anyone else or to pursue a civil status above others.

44 “Pure and undefiled religion before God and the Father is this: to visit orphans and widows in their trouble, and
45 to keep oneself unspotted [“foreign”, “sovereign”, and/or “alien”] from the world [and the corrupt BEAST
46 governments and rulers of the world].”
47 [James 1:27, Bible, NKJV]

¹⁴⁶ Source: Government Instituted Slavery Using Franchises, Form #05.030, Section 2.17; ; <https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>.

1 One cannot be “unspotted from the world” without surrendering and not pursuing any and all HUMAN civil statuses,
2 franchises, or benefits. Those who are Christians, however, cannot avoid the privileged status and office of “Christian” under
3 God’s laws.

4 The OPPOSITE of being “unspotted from the world” is the following. The pursuit of government “benefits” or the civil
5 status that makes them possible is synonymous with the phrase “your desire for pleasure” in the following passage.

6 “Where do wars and fights come from among you? Do they not come from your desires for pleasure [unearned
7 money or “benefits”, privileges, or franchises, from the government] that war in your members [and your
8 democratic governments]? You lust [after other people’s money] and do not have. You murder [the unborn to 9 increase your standard of living] and covet [the unearned] and cannot obtain [except by empowering your
10 government to STEAL for you!]. You fight and war [against the rich and the nontaxpayers to subsidize your
11 idleness]. Yet you do not have because you do not ask [the Lord, but instead ask the deceitful government]. You
12 *ask and do not receive, because you ask amiss, that you may spend it on your pleasures. Adulterers and
13 adulteresses! Do you not know that friendship [statutory “citizenship”] with the world [for the governments of 14 the world] is enmity with God? Whoever therefore wants to be a friend [STATUTORY “citizen”, “resident”,*
15 “inhabitant”, “person” franchisee] of the world [or the governments of the world] makes himself an enemy of 16 God.”
17 [James 4:4, Bible, NKJV]

18 The personification of those who did the OPPOSITE of Jesus and pursued civil status, rewards, benefits, privileges, and 19 franchises were the Pharisees, and these people were the ONLY people Jesus got mad at. Here’s what He said about them in 20 one of his very few angry tirades. Back then, they had a theocracy and the Bible was their law book, so the term “religion 21 scholars” meant the lawyers of that time, not the pastors of today’s time.

22 I’ve had it with you! You’re hopeless, you religion scholars, you Pharisees! Frauds! Your lives are roadblocks to 23 God’s kingdom. You refuse to enter, and won’t let anyone else in either.

24 “You’re hopeless, you religion scholars and Pharisees! Frauds! You go halfway around the world to make a
25 convert, but once you get him you make him into a replica of yourselves, double-damned.

26 “You’re hopeless! What arrogant stupidity! You say, ‘If someone makes a promise with his fingers crossed, that’s 27 nothing; but if he swears with his hand on the Bible, that’s serious.’ What ignorance! Does the leather on the 28 Bible carry more weight than the skin on your hands? And what about this piece of trivia: ‘If you shake hands on 29 a promise, that’s nothing; but if you raise your hand that God is your witness, that’s serious’? What ridiculous
30 hairsplitting! What difference does it make whether you shake hands or raise hands? A promise is a promise.
31 What difference does it make if you make your promise inside or outside a house of worship? A promise is a
32 promise. God is present, watching and holding you to account regardless.

33 “You’re hopeless, you religion scholars and Pharisees! Frauds! You keep meticulous account books, tithing on
34 every nickel and dime you get, but on the meat of God’s Law, things like fairness and compassion and
35 commitment—the absolute basics!—you carelessly take it or leave it. Careful bookkeeping is commendable, but 36 the basics are required. Do you have any idea how silly you look, writing a life story that’s wrong from start to 37 finish, nitpicking over commas and semicolons?

38 “You’re hopeless, you religion scholars and Pharisees! Frauds! You burnish the surface of your cups and bowls
39 so they sparkle in the sun, while the insides are maggoty with your greed and gluttony. Stupid Pharisee! Scour
40 the insides, and then the gleaming surface will mean something.

41 “You’re hopeless, you religion scholars and Pharisees! Frauds! You’re like manicured grave plots, grass clipped
42 and the flowers bright, but six feet down it’s all rotting bones and worm-eaten flesh. People look at you and think 43 you’re saints, but beneath the skin you’re total frauds.

44 “You’re hopeless, you religion scholars and Pharisees! Frauds! You build granite tombs for your prophets and
45 marble monuments for your saints. And you say that if you had lived in the days of your ancestors, no blood would 46 have been on your hands. You protest too much! You’re cut from the same cloth as those murderers, and daily
47 add to the death count.

48 “Snakes! Reptilian sneaks! Do you think you can worm your way out of this? Never have to pay the piper? It’s
49 on account of people like you that I send prophets and wise guides and scholars generation after generation—
50 and generation after generation you treat them like dirt, greeting them with lynch mobs, hounding them with 51 abuse.

52 “You can’t squirm out of this: Every drop of righteous blood ever spilled on this earth, beginning with the blood
53 of that good man Abel right down to the blood of Zechariah, Barachiah’s son, whom you murdered at his prayers,
54 is on your head. All this, I’m telling you, is coming down on you, on your generation.

1 “Jerusalem! Jerusalem! Murderer of prophets! Killer of the ones who brought you God’s news! How often I’ve
2 ached to embrace your children, the way a hen gathers her chicks under her wings, and you wouldn’t let me. And
3 now you’re so desolate, nothing but a ghost town. What is there left to say? Only this: I’m out of here soon. The 4 next time you see me you’ll say, ‘Oh, God has blessed him! He’s come, bringing God’s rule!’”
5 [Peterson, E. H. (2005). The Message: the Bible in contemporary language (Mt 23:13–39). Colorado Springs,
6 CO: NavPress.]

7 Keep in mind that the term “hypocrite” is defined in the following passages as “trusting in privileges”, meaning franchises:
8 Jer 7:4; Mt 3:9.

9 It is also VERY interesting that when Satan wanted to tempt Jesus, He took him up to a high mountain above everyone else
10 and tempted him with a civil status ABOVE everyone else but BELOW Satan, thus making Satan an object of idolatry and 11 worship in violation of the First Commandment within the Ten Commandments.

12 “Again, the devil took Him [Jesus] up on an exceedingly high [civil/legal status above all other humans]
13 *mountain, and showed Him all the kingdoms of the world and their glory. And he said to Him, “All these things
14 ["BENEFITS"] I will give You if You will fall down [BELOW Satan but ABOVE other humans] and worship
15 [serve as a PUBLIC OFFICER] me.”*

16 Then Jesus said to him, “Away with you, Satan! For it is written, ‘You shall worship the LORD your God, and 17 Him only you shall serve.”

18 Then the devil left Him, and behold, angels came and ministered to Him.”
19 [Matt. 4:8-11, Bible, NKJV]

20 As we described earlier in Section 13.10.1 through 13.10.2 the “mountain” mentioned above is symbolic of a political 21 kingdom in competition with God’s kingdom. The preposition “exceedingly high” indicates that Satan wanted his political 22 kingdom to be ABOVE everyone else. The preposition “fall down” indicates that Satan wanted Christ to “worship” and
23 “serve” His political kingdom and to place the importance of God’s kingdom BELOW Satan in his priority list. This would 24 cause Christ to commit idolatry. Idolatry, after all, is nothing more than disordered priorities that knock God out of first 25 place. That is why the Bible often refers to God as “The Most High”:

26 “You shall have no other gods before Me.

27 “You shall not make for yourself a carved image—any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in
28 the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth; you shall not bow down to them nor serve them. For I,
29 the LORD your God, am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children to the third and fourth
30 generations of those who hate Me, but showing mercy to thousands, to those who love Me and keep My
31 commandments.”
32 [Exodus 20:3-6, Bible, NKJV]

33 The phrase “bow down” indicates that you cannot place anything other than God higher than yourself, meaning that God is 34 ALWAYS your first priority as a human being. This, in turn, forbids any civil ruler to be above you and forbids any civil 35 ruler from having superior or supernatural powers in relation to any human beings. Jesus was keenly aware that God and 36 Government are ALWAYS in competition with each other for the affection, obedience, allegiance, and sponsorship of the 37 people.¹⁴⁷ Instead, God’s design for government is to serve from below rather than to rule from above. Below is Jesus’ most 38 important command on the subject of government:

39 “You know that the rulers of the Gentiles [unbelievers] lord it over them [govern from ABOVE as pagan idols],
40 and those who are great exercise authority over them [supernatural powers that are the object of idol worship].
41 Yet it shall not be so among you; but whoever desires to become great among you, let him be your servant [serve
42 the sovereign people from BELOW rather than rule from above]. And whoever desires to be first among you, let 43 him be your slave—just as the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give His life a ransom 44 for many.”
45 [Matt. 20:25-28, Bible, NKJV]

1 Jesus kept Himself unspotted from the world by not choosing a domicile there. The phrase “nowhere to lay His head” in the 2 following passage is synonymous with a legal home or domicile.

3 The Cost of Discipleship

4 And when Jesus saw great multitudes about Him, He gave a command to depart to the other side. Then a certain

10 *“If you were of the world, the world would love its own. Yet because you are not of [domiciled within] the world,
11 but I [Jesus] chose you [believers] out of the world, therefore the world hates you. Remember the word that I*
12 said to you, ‘A [public] servant is not greater than his [Sovereign] master.’ If they persecuted Me, they will also

15 [Jesus in John 15:19-21, Bible, NKJV]

16 It is perhaps because of the content of this section that Jesus was widely regarded as an “anarchist”. See:

Jesus Is An Anarchist, James Redford

17 13.11.19 Satan’s greatest sin was abusing “privileges” and “franchises” to make himself equal to or above God¹⁴⁸

18 In the previous section, we showed how Christ refused privileges, benefits, and franchises and insisted on equality towards 19 every other human. In this chapter, we compare that approach to Satan’s approach. It should interest the Christian reader to 20 know that Satan’s greatest sin in the Bible was to abuse the “privileges” and therefore franchises bestowed by God to try to 21 elevate himself to an equal or superior relation to God. By doing so, he insisted on being above every other creation of God,
22 including humans. He did this out of pride, vanity, conceit, and covetousness.

23 Satan abused the “benefits” of the Bible franchise to try to become superior rather than remain equal to all other humans or 24 believers. Below is what one commentary amazingly says on the subject:

25 WHAT WAS SATAN’S SIN?

26 Satan’s sin was done from a privileged position. He was not a deprived creature who had not drunk deeply of 27 the blessings of God before he sinned. Indeed, Ezekiel 28:11–15 declares some astounding things about the 28 privileged position in which he sinned. That this passage has Satan in view seems most likely if one eliminates*
29 the idea that it is a mythical tale of heathen origin and if one takes the language at all plainly and not merely as
30 filled with Oriental exaggerations. Ezekiel “saw the work and activity of Satan, whom the king of Tyre was 31 emulating in so many ways.” Satan’s privileges included (1) full measure of wisdom (v. 12), (2) perfection in 32 beauty (v. 12), (3) dazzling appearance (v. 13), (4) a place of special prominence as the anointed cherub that
33 covered God’s throne (v. 14). Verse 15 (ASV) says all that the Bible says about the origin of sin—“till*
34 unrighteousness was found in thee.” It is clear, however, that Satan was not created as an evil being, for the verse
35 clearly declares he was perfect when created. Furthermore, God did not make him sin; he sinned of his own
36 volition and assumed full responsibility for that sin; and because of his great privileges, it is obvious that Satan
37 sinned with full knowledge.

38 Satan’s sin was pride (1 Ti 3:6). The specific details of how that pride erupted are given in Isaiah 14:13–14 and* 39 are summarized in the assertion, “I will be like the most High” (v. 14).
40 [Ryrie, C. C. (1972). A survey of Bible doctrine. Chicago: Moody Press]

41 Christ’s greatest glory, on the other hand, was to do the OPPOSITE of Satan in this regard:

¹⁴⁸ Source: Government Instituted Slavery Using Franchises, Form #05.030, Section 2.18; ; <https://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>.

1 1. Jesus made his own desires and flesh “invisible” and became an agent and fiduciary of God 24 hours a day, 7 days a
2 week:

3 ““Whoever receives this little child in My name receives Me; and whoever receives Me receives Him who sent
4 Me. For he who is least among you all will be great.””
5 [Luke 9:48, Bible, NKJV]

6 “Father, if it is Your will, take this cup away from Me; nevertheless not My will, but Yours, be done.”
7 [Luke 22:42, Bible, NKJV]

8 “And the Father Himself, who sent Me, has testified of Me. You have neither heard His voice at any time, nor 9 seen His form.”
10 [John 5:37, Bible, NKJV]

11 “For I have come down from heaven, not to do My own will, but the will of Him who sent Me.”
12 [John 6:38, Bible, NKJV]

13 “Then Jesus cried out and said, “He who believes in Me, believes not in Me but in Him who sent Me.”
14 [John 12:44, Bible, NKJV]

15 2. Jesus did NOT abuse the “privileges”, “franchises”, or “benefits” of God to elevate himself in importance or “rights”
16 either above any other human or above God:

17 “Think of yourselves the way Christ Jesus thought of himself. He had equal status with God but didn’t think so
18 much of himself that he had to cling to the advantages of that status no matter what. Not at all. When the time
19 came, he set aside the privileges of deity and took on the status of a slave, became human! Having become
20 human, he stayed human. It was an incredibly humbling process. He didn’t claim special privileges. Instead,
21 he lived a selfless, obedient life and then died a selfless, obedient death—and the worst kind of death at that—
22 a crucifixion.”

23 “Because of that obedience, God lifted him high and honored him far beyond anyone or anything, ever, so that
24 all created beings in heaven and on earth—even those long ago dead and buried—will bow in worship before
25 this Jesus Christ, and call out in praise that he is the Master of all, to the glorious honor of God the Father.”
26 [Peterson, E. H. (2005). The Message: the Bible in contemporary language (Php 2:5–11). Colorado Springs, CO:
27 NavPress]

28 Basically, Jesus had a servant’s heart and required the same heart of all those who intend to lead others in government:

29 “But you, do not be called ‘Rabbi’; for One is your Teacher, the Christ, and you are all brethren. Do not call
30 anyone on earth your father; for One is your Father, He who is in heaven. And do not be called teachers; for One
31 is your Teacher, the Christ. But he who is greatest among you shall be your servant. And whoever exalts 32 himself will be humbled, and he who humbles himself will be exalted”.
33 [Jesus in Matt. 23:8-12, Bible, NKJV]

34 But Jesus called them to Himself and said to them, “You know that those who are considered rulers over the 35 Gentiles lord it over them, and their great ones exercise authority over them. Yet it shall not be so among you;
36 but whoever desires to become great among you shall be your servant. And whoever of you desires to be first
37 shall be slave of all. For even the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give His life a 38 ransom for many.”
39 [Mark 10:42–45, Bible, NKJV. See also Matt. 20:25-28]

40 Those in government who follow the above admonition in fact are implementing what the U.S. Supreme Court called “a 41 society of law and not men” in Marbury v. Madison. The law is the will of the people in written form. Those who put that 42 law above their own self-interest and execute it faithfully are:

- 43 1. Agents and/or officers of We the People.
44 2. “Trustees” and managers over God’s property. The entire Earth belongs to the Lord, according to the Bible.¹⁴⁹
45 3. Acting in a fiduciary duty towards those who have entrusted them with power.

¹⁴⁹ “Indeed heaven and the highest heavens belong to the LORD your God, also the earth with all that is in it.” [Deut. 10:15, Bible, NKJV]

1 "As expressed otherwise, the powers delegated to a public officer are held in trust for the people and are to be
2 exercised in behalf of the government or of all citizens who may need the intervention of the officer.¹⁵⁰
3 Furthermore, the view has been expressed that all public officers, within whatever branch and whatever level
4 of government, and whatever be their private vocations, are trustees of the people, and accordingly labor under
5 every disability and prohibition imposed by law upon trustees relative to the making of personal financial gain
6 from a discharge of their trusts.¹⁵¹ That is, a public officer occupies a fiduciary relationship to the political
7 entity on whose behalf he or she serves,¹⁵² and owes a fiduciary duty to the public.¹⁵³ It has been said that
8 the fiduciary responsibilities of a public officer cannot be less than those of a private individual.¹⁵⁴
9 Furthermore, it has been stated that any enterprise undertaken by the public official which tends to weaken
10 public confidence and undermine the sense of security for individual [PRIVATE] rights is against public
11 policy.¹⁵⁵
12 [63C American Jurisprudence 2d, Public Officers and Employees, §247 (1999)]

- 13 4. Implementing a "covenant" or "contract" or "social compact" between them and the people. All civil and common law
14 is based on compact.¹⁵⁶
- 15 5. "Creatures [CREATIONS] of the law" as the U.S. Supreme Court calls them.¹⁵⁷
- 16 6. Violating their oath and/or covenant if they use the property or rights they are managing or protecting for any aspect of 17 private gain. In fact, 18 U.S.C. §208 makes it a crime to preside over a matter that you have a financial conflict of 18 interest in.

19 All of the people in the Bible that God got most excited about were doing the above. There are many verses like those below:

- 20 1. Lev. 25:42:

21 "For they are My servants, whom I brought out of the land of Egypt; they shall not be sold as slaves."

- 22 2. Lev. 25:55:

23 "For the children of Israel are servants to Me; they are My servants whom I brought out of the land of Egypt:
24 I am the LORD your God."

- 25 3. Numbers 14:24:

26 "But My servant Caleb, because he has a different spirit in him and has followed Me fully, I will bring into the 27 land where he went, and his descendants shall inherit it."

- 28 4. Joshua 1:2-5:

29 "Moses My servant is dead. Now therefore, arise, go over this Jordan, you and all this people, to the land which 30 I am giving to them—the children of Israel. Every place that the sole of your foot will tread upon I have given

1 you, as I said to Moses. From the wilderness and this Lebanon as far as the great river, the River Euphrates, all
2 the land of the Hittites, and to the Great Sea toward the going down of the sun, shall be your territory. No man
3 shall be able to stand before you all the days of your life; as I was with Moses, so I will be with you. I will not
4 leave you nor forsake you. “

5 5. 2 Sam. 3:18:

6 “Now then, do it! For the LORD has spoken of David, saying, ‘By the hand of My servant David, I will save My 7 people Israel from the hand of the Philistines and the hand of all their enemies.’”

8 6. 2 Sam. 7:8-9:

9 “Now therefore, thus shall you say to My servant David, ‘Thus says the LORD of hosts: “I took you from the 10 sheepfold, from following the sheep, to be ruler over My people, over Israel. And I have been with you wherever 11 you have gone, and have cut off all your enemies from before you, and have made you a great name, like the name
12 of the great men who are on the earth.”’

13 God also said that you shall NOT abuse your power or commerce generally to enslave or coerce anyone:

14 If one of your brethren becomes poor [desperate], and falls into poverty among you, then you shall help him,
15 like a stranger or a sojourner, that he may live with you.

16 Take no usury or interest from him; but fear your God, that your brother may live with you.

17 You shall not lend him your money for usury, nor lend him your food at a profit.

18 I am the LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, to give you the land of Canaan and to be your 19 God.

20 And if one of your brethren who dwells by you becomes poor, and sells himself to you, you shall not compel
21 him to serve as a slave.

22 As a hired servant and a sojourner he shall be with you, and shall serve you until the Year of Jubilee.

23 And then he shall depart from you—he and his children with him—and shall return to his own family. He shall 24 return to the possession of his fathers.

25 For they are My servants, whom I brought out of the land of Egypt; they shall not be sold as slaves.

26 You shall not rule over him with rigor, but you shall fear your God.
27 [Lev. 25:35-43, Bible, NKJV]

28 Note above that it says that people who are poor or desperate should be treated not as slaves, but as “sojourners”, which today
29 means “nonresidents” and “transient foreigners”. This is exactly the condition that our members are required to have.

30 The most famous example in the Bible of the violation of the above prohibition against usury was how Pharaoh used a famine
31 to enslave his entire country, including the Israelites. See Gen. 47:13-26:

32 Joseph Deals with the Famine

33 ¹³ Now there was no bread in all the land; for the famine was very severe, so that the land of Egypt and the land
34 of Canaan languished because of the famine. ¹⁴ And Joseph gathered up all the money that was found in the land
35 of Egypt and in the land of Canaan, for the grain which they bought; and Joseph brought the money into 36 Pharaoh’s house.

37 ¹⁵ So when the money failed in the land of Egypt and in the land of Canaan, all the Egyptians came to Joseph and 38 said, “Give us bread, for why should we die in your presence? For the money has failed.”

39 ¹⁶ Then Joseph said, “Give your livestock, and I will give you bread for your livestock, if the money is gone.” ¹⁷
40 So they brought their livestock to Joseph, and Joseph gave them bread in exchange for the horses, the flocks, the 41 cattle of the herds, and for the donkeys. Thus he fed them with bread in exchange for all their livestock that year.

42 ¹⁸ When that year had ended, they came to him the next year and said to him, “We will not hide from my lord that 43 our money is gone; my lord also has our herds of livestock. There is nothing left in the sight of my lord but our

1 bodies and our lands. ¹⁹ Why should we die before your eyes, both we and our land? Buy us and our land for
2 bread, and we and our land will be servants of Pharaoh; give us seed, that we may live and not die, that the land
3 may not be desolate.”

4 ²⁰ Then Joseph bought all the land of Egypt for Pharaoh; for every man of the Egyptians sold his field, because
5 the famine was severe upon them. So the land became Pharaoh’s. ²¹ And as for the people, he moved them into
6 the cities, from one end of the borders of Egypt to the other end. ²² Only the land of the priests he did not buy; for 7 the priests had rations allotted to them by Pharaoh, and they ate their rations which Pharaoh gave them; therefore 8 they did not sell their lands.

9 ²³ Then Joseph said to the people, “Indeed I have bought you and your land this day for Pharaoh. Look, here is
10 seed for you, and you shall sow the land. ²⁴ And it shall come to pass in the harvest that you shall give one-fifth
11 to Pharaoh. Four-fifths shall be your own, as seed for the field and for your food, for those of your households
12 and as food for your little ones.”

13 ²⁵ So they said, “You have saved our lives; let us find favor in the sight of my lord, and we will be Pharaoh’s
14 servants.” ²⁶ And Joseph made it a law over the land of Egypt to this day, that Pharaoh should have one-fifth,
15 except for the land of the priests only, which did not become Pharaoh’s.
16 [Gen. 47:13-26, Bible, NKJV]

17 Eventually, God liberated the Israelites in the famous story of Moses’ exodus out of Egypt, but not before he brought a series
18 of curses on Pharaoh for his usury in Exodus 4. Another similar source of usury was the Canaanites in the Bible, if you wish
19 to investigate further. We talk about this subject in Government Instituted Slavery Using Franchises, Form #05.030, Section
20 22.4. It is very interesting that the above history of usury occurred in the land of Canaan for that very reason.

21 It is interesting to note that the main political objection that most Muslim countries have to the United States is related to 22 usury created by the abuse of commerce. The Koran forbids lending money at interest. Libya and Iraq both became the 23 target of war and intervention because they wanted to abandon the Federal Reserve fiat currency system and implement gold
24 instead of paper money. Muslims refer to this usury as “imperialism” and literally hate it. Iran’s own leader calls for “death
25 to America” and usury is the main reason he does so. There is no question that the abuse of commerce to create inequality,
26 servitude, and usury is satanic because the Bible says this was the essence of Satan’s greatest sin. The Muslims are correct
27 to PEACEFULLY protest it and oppose it.

28 “You were the seal of perfection,
29 Full of wisdom and perfect in beauty.
30 ¹³ You were in Eden, the garden of God;
31 Every precious stone was your covering:
32 The sardius, topaz, and diamond,
33 Beryl, onyx, and jasper,
34 Sapphire, turquoise, and emerald with gold.
35 The workmanship of your timbrels and pipes
36 Was prepared for you on the day you were created.

37 ¹⁴ “You were the anointed cherub who covers;
38 I established you;
39 You were on the holy mountain of God;
40 You walked back and forth in the midst of fiery stones.
41 ¹⁵ You were perfect in your ways from the day you were created,
42 Till iniquity was found in you.

43 ¹⁶ “By the abundance of your trading
44 You became filled with violence within,
45 And you sinned;
46 Therefore I cast you as a profane thing
47 Out of the mountain of God;
48 And I destroyed you, O covering cherub,
49 From the midst of the fiery stones.

50 ¹⁷ “Your heart was lifted up because of your beauty;
51 You corrupted your wisdom for the sake of your splendor;
52 I cast you to the ground,
53 I laid you before kings,
54 That they might gaze at you.

55 ¹⁸ “You defiled your sanctuaries
56 By the multitude of your iniquities,

1 By the iniquity of your trading;
2 Therefore I brought fire from your midst;
3 It devoured you,
4 And I turned you to ashes upon the earth
5 In the sight of all who saw you.
6 ¹⁹*All who knew you among the peoples are astonished at you;*
7 You have become a horror,
8 And shall be no more forever. ”””
9 [Ezekiel 28:13-19, Bible, NKJV]

10 That is not to say that we condone the use of violence or terrorism to oppose usury, however. More peaceful means are 11 available, and especially that of withdrawing our domicile and sponsorship of usurious governments and becoming non-12 resident non-persons. We talk about this approach in:

Why Domicile and Becoming a "Taxpayer" Require Your Consent, Form #05.002
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>

13 We conclude in the above document that the only way that changing domicile and thereby removing funding and civil 14 jurisdiction from the government can result in violence is if the government actively interferes with you receiving the 15 "benefits" of doing so. When they do that, violence, revolution, anarchy, and even war is inevitable eventually.

16 We refer to the systematic implementation of usury as the greatest sin of our present government because it was Satan's
17 greatest sin. The Federal Reserve counterfeiting franchise is its foundation. We describe the government as an economic 18 terrorist, the District of Columbia as the District of Criminals, and politicians as criminals because of it. It's all based on "the 19 love of money":

20 "For the love of money is a root of all kinds of evil, for which some have strayed from the faith in their greediness,
21 and pierced themselves through with many sorrows."
22 [\[1 Tim. 6:10, Bible, NKJV\]](#)

23 It is our sincere belief that if we as a country had stuck to the requirements of Lev. 25:35-43 earlier in our external relations,
24 the problems we have with terrorism from foreign nations could be significantly reduced. The United States commits usury
25 and economic terrorism against foreign countries, so they reciprocate with violent terrorism, but both types of terrorism are
26 equally evil. The economic interventionism and the coercion that the usury leads to is a direct violation of the requirements
27 of justice itself. "Justice" is legally defined as the right to be left alone. If we want to be "left alone" by the terrorists and 28 treated with respect, then we have to quit meddling in their affairs, invading and bombing their countries mainly for economic
29 reasons, or using our economic might to coerce them with sanctions. You will always reap what you sow.

30 The United States as a country sows economic violence so we reap physical violence. This is the inevitable consequence of 31 the fact that we are all equal and any attempt to make us unequal inevitably produces wars, violence, anarchy, and political 32 instability:

33 "Therefore, whatever you want men to do to you, do also to them, for this is the Law and the Prophets."
34 [\[Matt. 7:12, Bible, NKJV\]](#)

35 The U.S. Supreme Court stated the above slightly differently, when they declared the first income tax unconstitutional, which 36 was implemented as a franchise tax that discriminated against one class of people at the expense of another and therefore,
37 produced INEQUALITY:

38 "The income tax law under consideration is marked by discriminating features which affect the whole law. It
39 discriminates between those who receive an income of four thousand dollars and those who do not. It thus 40 vitiates, in my judgment, by this arbitrary discrimination, the whole legislation. Hamilton says in one of his 41 papers, (the Continentalist,) "the genius of liberty reprobates everything arbitrary or discretionary in taxation. It
42 exacts that every man, by a definite and general rule, should know what proportion of his property the State
43 demands; whatever liberty we may boast of in theory, it cannot exist in fact while [arbitrary] assessments
44 continue." 1 Hamilton's Works (Ed. 1885) 270. The legislation, in the discrimination it makes, is class legislation.
45 Whenever a distinction is made in the burdens a law imposes or in the benefits it confers on any citizens by
46 reason of their birth, or wealth, or religion, it is class legislation, and leads inevitably to oppression and abuses,
47 and to general unrest and disturbance in society [e.g. wars, political conflict, violence, anarchy]. It was hoped 48 and believed that the great amendments to the Constitution which followed the late civil war had rendered such 49 legislation impossible for all future time. But the objectionable legislation reappears in the act under
50 consideration. It is the same in essential character as that of the English income statute of 1691, which taxed

1 Protestants at a certain rate, Catholics, as a class, at double the rate of Protestants, and Jews at another and
2 separate rate. Under wise and constitutional legislation every citizen should contribute his proportion, however
3 small the sum, to the support of the government, and it is no kindness to urge any of our citizens to escape from 4 that obligation. If he contributes the smallest mite of his earnings to that purpose he will have a greater regard
5 for the government and more self-respect 597*597 for himself feeling that though he is poor in fact, he is not a
6 pauper of his government. And it is to be hoped that, whatever woes and embarrassments may betide our people,
7 they may never lose their manliness and self-respect. Those qualities preserved, they will ultimately triumph over
8 all reverses of fortune."

9 [. . .]

10 "Here I close my opinion. I could not say less in view of questions of such gravity that go down to the very 11 foundation of the government. If the provisions of the Constitution can be set aside by an act of Congress, where 12 is the course of usurpation to end? The present assault upon capital is but the beginning. It will be but the 13 stepping-stone to others, larger and more sweeping, till our political contests will become a war of the poor
14 against the rich; a war constantly growing in intensity and bitterness."

15 "If the court sanctions the power of discriminating taxation, and nullifies the uniformity mandate of the 16 Constitution," as said by one who has been all his life a student of our institutions, "it will mark the hour when 17 the sure decadence of our present government will commence." If the purely arbitrary limitation of $4000 in 18 the present law can be sustained, none having less than that amount of income being assessed or taxed for the 19 support of the government, the limitation of future Congresses may be fixed at a much larger sum, at five or ten
20 or twenty thousand dollars, parties possessing an income of that amount alone being bound to bear the burdens
21 of government; or the limitation may be designated at such an amount as a board of "walking delegates" may 22 deem necessary. There is no safety in allowing the limitation to be adjusted except in strict compliance with the
23 mandates of the Constitution which require its taxation, if imposed by direct taxes, to be apportioned among the 24 States according to their representation, and if imposed by indirect taxes, to be uniform in operation and, so far
25 as practicable, in proportion to their property, equal upon all citizens. Unless the rule of the Constitution
26 governs, a majority may fix the limitation at such rate as will not include any of their own number."

28 We talk about our opposition to usurious commerce that produces inequality in our Disclaimer, Section 9:

29 SEDM Disclaimer

30 9. APPROACH TOWARDS "HATE SPEECH" AND HATE CRIME

31 This website does not engage in, condone, or support hate speech or hate crimes, violent thoughts, deeds or 32 actions against any particular person(s), group, entity, government, mob, paramilitary force, intelligence agency,
33 overpaid politician, head of state, queen, dignitary, ambassador, spy, spook, soldier, bowl cook, security flunky,
34 contractor, dog, cat or mouse, Wal-Mart employee, amphibian, reptile, and or deceased entity without a PB
35 (Physical Body). By "hate speech" and "hate crime", we mean in the context of religious members of this site
36 trying to practice their faith:

37 1. Compelling members to violate any aspect of the Laws of the Bible, Form #13.001. This includes commanding
38 them to do things God forbids or preventing or punishing them from doing God commands.

39 2. Persecution or "selective enforcement" directed against those whose religious beliefs forbid them from 40 contracting with, doing business with, or acquiring any civil status in relation to any and all governments. These 41 people must be "left alone" by law and are protected in doing so by the First Amendment and the right to NOT 42 contract protected by the Constitution. The group they refuse to associate with is civil statutory "persons". We 43 call these people "non-resident non-persons" on this site as described in Form #05.020. See Proof That There Is
44 a "Straw Man". Form #05.042 for a description of the civil "person" scam.

45 3. Engaging in legal "injustice" (Form #05.050). By "justice" we mean absolutely owned private property (Form
46 #10.002), and equality of TREATMENT and OPPORTUNITY (Form #05.033) under REAL LAW (Form #05.048).
47 "Justice" is defined here as God defines it in Form #05.050.

48 4. Any attempt to treat anyone unequally under REAL "law". This includes punishing or preventing actions by
49 members to enforce against governments under their own franchise (Form #06.027) the same way governments
50 enforce against them. See What is "law"?, Form #05.048.

51 5. Offering, implementing, or enforcing any civil franchise (Form #05.030). This enforces superior powers on 52 the part of the government as a form of inequality, results in religious idolatry, and violates the First 53 Commandment of the Ten Commandments (Exodus 20). This includes:

54 5.1 Making justice (Form #05.050) into a civil public privilege

1 5.2 Turning CONSTITUTIONAL PRIVATE citizens into STATUTORY PUBLIC citizens engaged in a public
2 office and a franchise.

3 5.3 Any attempt to impose equality of OUTCOME by law, such as by abusing taxing powers to redistribute
4 wealth. See Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302.

5 Franchises are the main method of introducing UNEQUAL treatment by the government. See Why You are a
6 "national", "state national", and Constitutional but not Statutory Citizen, Form #05.006.

7 6. Any attempt to outlaw or refuse to recognize or enforce absolutely owned private property
8 (Form #12.025). This makes everyone into slaves of the government, which then ultimately owns ALL
9 property and can place unlimited conditions upon the use of their property. It also violates the last six
10 commandments of the Ten Commandments, which are the main religious laws that protect PRIVATE property
11 and prevent it from being shared with any government. This includes:

12 6.1 Refusing to provide civil statuses on government forms that recognize those who are exclusively private and 13 their right to be left alone.

14 6.2 Refusing to provide government forms that recognize those who are exclusively private such as 15 "nontaxpayers" or "non-resident non-persons" and their right to be left alone.

16 The result of the above forms of omission are hate, discrimination, and selective enforcement against those who
17 refuse to become "customers" or franchisees (Form #05.030) of government. See Avoiding
18 Traps in Government Forms Course, Form #12.023.

19 7. Any attempt by government to use judicial process or administrative enforcement to enforce any civil
20 obligation derived from any source OTHER than express written consent or to an injury against the equal rights
21 of others demonstrated with court admissible evidence. See Lawfully Avoiding Government Obligations Course,
22 Form #12.040.

23 There is no practical difference between discriminating against or targeting people because of the groups they 24 claim membership in and punishing them for refusing to consent to join a group subject to legal disability, such 25 as those participating in government franchises. Members of such DISABILITY groups include civil statutory 26 "persons", "taxpayers", "individuals" (under the tax code), "drivers" (under the vehicle code), "spouses" (under 27 the family code). Both approaches lead to the same result: discrimination and selective enforcement. The 28 government claims an exemption from being a statutory "person", and since it is a government of delegated 29 powers, the people who gave it that power must ALSO be similarly exempt:

30 "The sovereignty of a state does not reside in the persons who fill the different departments
31 of its government, but in the People, from whom the government emanated; and they may 32 change it at their discretion. Sovereignty, then in this country, abides with the constituency,
33 and not with the agent; and this remark is true, both in reference to the federal and state
34 government."
35 [Spooner v. McConnell, 22 F. 939 @ 943]

36 "In common usage, the term 'person' does not include the sovereign, and statutes employing 37 the word are ordinarily construed to exclude it."
38 [Wilson v. Omaha Indian Tribe 442 U.S. 653, 667 \(1979\)]

39 "Since in common usage the term `person' does not include the sovereign, statutes 40 employing that term are ordinarily construed to exclude it."
41 [U.S. v. Cooper, 312 U.S. 600,604, 61 S.Ct. 742 \(1941\)]

42 "In common usage, the term `person' does not include the sovereign and statutes employing 43 it will ordinarily not be construed to do so."
44 [U.S. v. Cooper, 312 U.S. 600,604, 61 S.Ct. 742 \(1941\)]

45 "There is no such thing as a power of inherent sovereignty in the government of the United 46 States In this country sovereignty resides in the people, and Congress can exercise no
47 power which they have not, by their Constitution entrusted to it: All else is withheld."
48 [Julliard v. Greenman, 110 U.S. 421 \(1884\)]

49 The foundation of the religious beliefs and practices underlying this website is a refusal to contract with or engage
50 in commerce with any and every government. Black's Law Dictionary defines "commerce" as "intercourse".

1 "Commerce. ...Intercourse by way of trade and traffic [money instead of semen] between 2 different peoples or states and the citizens or inhabitants thereof, including not only the 3 purchase, sale, and exchange of commodities, but also the instrumentalities [governments]
4 and agencies by which it is promoted and the means and appliances by which it is carried 5 on..."
6 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 269]

7 Hence this website advocates a religious refusal to engage in sex or intercourse or commerce with any
8 government. In fact, the Bible even describes people who VIOLATE this prohibition as "playing the harlot"
9 (Ezekiel 16:41) and personifies that harlot as "Babylon the Great Harlot" (Rev. 17:5), which is fornicating with 10 the Beast, which it defines as governments (Rev. 19:19).

11 I [God] brought you up from Egypt [slavery] and brought you to the land of which I swore
12 to your fathers; and I said, 'I will never break My covenant with you. And you shall make 13 no covenant [contract or franchise or agreement of ANY kind] with the inhabitants of 14 this [corrupt pagan] land; you shall tear down their [man/government worshipping
15 socialist] altars.' But you have not obeyed Me. Why have you done this?

16 "Therefore I also said, 'I will not drive them out before you; but they will become as
17 thorns [terrorists and persecutors] in your side and their gods will be a snare [slavery!]
18 to you.'"

45 "Then all the elders of Israel gathered together and came to Samuel [the priest in a
46 Theocracy] at Ramah, and said to him, 'Look, you [the priest within a theocracy] are old,
47 and your sons do not walk in your ways. Now make us a king [or political ruler] to judge
48 us like all the nations [and be OVER them]'.

49 "But the thing displeased Samuel when they said, 'Give us a king [or political ruler] to 50 judge us.' So Samuel prayed to the Lord. And the Lord said to Samuel, 'Heed the voice
51 of the people in all that they say to you; for they have rejected Me [God], that I should 52 not reign over them. According to all the works which they have done since the day that I
53 brought them up out of Egypt, even to this day—with which they have forsaken Me [God
54 as their ONLY King, Lawgiver, and Judge] and served other gods—so they are doing to 55 you also [government or political rulers becoming the object of idolatry]."
56 [1 Sam. 8:4-8, Bible, NKJV]

1 "Do not walk in the statutes of your fathers [the heathens], nor observe their judgments,
2 nor defile yourselves with their [pagan government] idols. I am the LORD your God: Walk
3 in My statutes, keep My judgments, and do them; hallow My Sabbaths, and they will be a
4 sign between Me and you, that you may know that I am the LORD your God."
5 [Ezekial 20:10-20, Bible, NKJV]

6 Where is "separation of church and state" when you REALLY need it, keeping in mind that Christians AS
7 INDIVIDUALS are "the church" and secular society is the "state" as legally defined? The John Birch Society
8 agrees with us on the subject of not contracting with anyone in the following video:

Trading Away Your Freedom by Foreign Entanglements, John Birch Society

10 President Obama also said that it is the right of EVERYONE to economically AND politically disassociate with

16 Government's tendency to compel everyone into a commercial or civil legal relationship (Form #05.002) with 17 them is defined by the Bible as the ESSENCE of Satan himself! The personification of that evil is dramatized in 18 the following video:

Devil's Advocate: Lawyers
<http://sedm.org/what-we-are-up-against/>

19 Therefore, the religious practice and sexual orientation of avoiding commerce and civil legal relationships (Form 20 #05.002) with governments is the essence of our religious faith:

21 "I [God] brought you up from Egypt [government slavery] and brought you to the land of 22 which I swore to your fathers; and I said, 'I will never break My covenant [Bible contract]
23 with you. And you shall make no covenant [contract, franchise, "social compact", or 24 agreement of ANY kind] with the inhabitants of this [corrupt pagan] land; you shall 25 tear down their [man/government worshipping socialist] altars.' But you have not obeyed
26 Me. Why have you done this?"

27 "Therefore I also said, I will not drive them out before you; but they will become as
28 thorns [terrorists and persecutors] in your side and their gods will be a snare [slavery!]
29 to you."

30 So it was, when the Angel of the LORD spoke these words to all the children of Israel, that 31 the people lifted up their voices and wept.
32 [Judges 2:1-4, Bible, NKJV]

33
34 "By the abundance of your [Satan's] trading You became filled with violence within, And
35 you sinned; Therefore I cast you as a profane thing Out of the mountain of God; And I
36 destroyed you, O covering cherub, From the midst of the fiery stones."
37 [Ezekial 28:16, Bible, NKJV]
38

1 "As religion towards God is a branch of universal righteousness (he is not an honest man
2 that is not devout), so righteousness towards men is a branch of true religion, for he is
3 not a godly man that is not honest, nor can he expect that his devotion should be accepted;
4 for,

5 1. Nothing is more offensive to God than deceit in commerce. A false balance is here put 6 for all manner of unjust and fraudulent practices [of our public dis-servants] in dealing
7 with any person [within the public], which are all an abomination to the Lord, and render
8 those abominable [hated] to him that allow themselves in the use of such accursed arts
9 of thriving. It is an affront to justice, which God is the patron of, as well as a wrong to 10 our neighbour, whom God is the protector of. Men [in government] make light of such 11 frauds, and think there is no sin in that which there is money to be got by, and, while it
12 passes undiscovered, they cannot blame themselves for it; a blot is no blot till it is hit,
13 Hos. 12:7, 8. But they are not the less an abomination to God, who will be the avenger
14 of those that are defrauded by their brethren.

15 2. Nothing is more pleasing to God than fair and honest dealing, nor more necessary to 16 make us and our devotions acceptable to him: A just weight is his delight. He himself 17 goes by a just weight, and holds the scale of judgment with an even hand, and therefore is 18 pleased with those that are herein followers of him.

19 A [false] balance, [whether it be in the federal courtroom or in the government or in the 20 marketplace,] cheats, under pretence of doing right most exactly, and therefore is the 21 greater abomination to God."

22 [Matthew Henry's Commentary on the Whole Bible; Henry, M., 1996, c1991, under Prov.
23 11:1]

24 Any individual, group, or especially government worker that makes us the target of discrimination, violence,
25 "selective enforcement", or hate because of this form of religious practice or "sexual orientation" or abstinence
26 is practicing HATE SPEECH based BOTH on our religious beliefs AND our sexual orientation as legally defined.
27 Furthermore, all readers and governments are given reasonable timely notice that the terms of use for the 28 information and services available through this website mandate that any attempt to compel us into a commercial 29 or tax relationship with any government shall constitute:

- 30 1. "purposeful availment" in satisfaction of the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 U.S.C. Chapter 97.
31 2. A waiver of official, judicial, and sovereign immunity.
32 3. A commercial invasion within the meaning of Article 4, section 4 of the United States Constitution.
33 4. A tort cognizable as a Fifth Amendment taking without compensation.
34 5. A criminal attempt at identity theft by wrongfully associating us with a civil status of "citizen", "resident",
35 "taxpayer", etc.
36 6. Duress as legally defined. See Affidavit of Duress: Illegal Tax Enforcement by De Facto Officers, Form
37 #02.005.
38 7. Express consent to the terms of this disclaimer.

39 The result of the waivers of immunity above is to restore EQUALITY under REAL LAW between members and 40 corrupt governments intent on destroying that equality by offering or enforcing civil franchises. All freedom
41 derives from equality between you and the government in the eyes of REAL law in court. See Requirement for 42 Equal Protection and Equal Treatment, Form #05.033.

43 The GOVERNMENT crimes documented on this website fall within the ambit of 18 U.S.C. §2381: Treason. The 44 penalty mandated by law for these crimes is DEATH. We demand that actors in the Department of Justice for 45 both the states and the federal government responsible for prosecuting these crimes of Treason do so as required
46 by law. A FAILURE to do so is ALSO an act of Treason punishable by death. Since murder is not only a crime,
47 but a violent crime, pursuant to 18 U.S.C. §1111, then the government itself can also be classified as terrorist. It
48 is also ludicrous to call people who demand the enforcement of the death penalty for the crimes documented as 49 terrorists. If that were true, every jurist who sat on a murder trial in which the death penalty applied would also 50 have to be classified as and prosecuted as a terrorist. Hypocrites.

51 For those members seeking to prosecute government actors practicing hate speech or hate crime against them,
52 see the following resource:

53 [SEDM Disclaimer, Section 9;
54 SOURCE: <http://sedm.org/disclaimer.htm>]

1 The moral of the story is that the main difference between Christ and Satan was how they handled “privileges” and
2 “franchises” and whether they tried to use them as a means to create inequality or usury or slavery or servitude between them
3 and others while they were on the earth.

4 As we say repeatedly throughout this document, franchises are the main method used to destroy and undermine equality of
5 all under the law. Any attempt to implement them in any governmental system is SATANIC and emulates Satan’s greatest
6 sin. Those in government who institute or enforce franchises will therefore get the same punishment as Satan did for exactly
7 the same reasons.

12 _____

13 QUESTION 1: Where do you live?

14 ANSWER 1: In my body.

15 QUESTION 2: Where does your body sleep at night?

16 ANSWER 2: In a bed.

17 QUESTION 3: Where is the bed?

18 ANSWER 3: On the floor.

19 QUESTION 4: Where is the floor?

20 ANSWER 4: On the ground.

21 QUESTION 5: And where is the ground?

22 ANSWER 5: On the territory of my ONLY Sovereign, who is God. The Bible says in Gen. 1:1, Psalm 24:1, Psalm 89:11-
23 13, Isaiah 45:12, and Deut. 10:14 that God and NOT Caesar owns the Heaven and the Earth.

24 *“The earth is the LORD’s, and all its fullness,
25 The world and those who dwell therein.”
26 [Psalm 24:1, Bible, NKJV]*

27 _____

28 *The heavens are Yours [God’s], the earth also is Yours;
29 The world and all its fullness, You have founded them.
30 The north and the south, You have created them;
31 Tabor and Hermon rejoice in Your name.
32 You have a mighty arm;
33 Strong is Your hand, and high is Your right hand.”
34 [Psalm 89:11-13, Bible, NKJV]*

35 _____

36 *“I have made the earth,
37 And created man on it.
38 I—My hands—stretched out the heavens,
39 And all their host I have commanded.”
40 [Isaiah 45:12, Bible, NKJV]*

41 _____

42 *“Indeed heaven and the highest heavens belong to the Lord your God, also the earth with all that is in it.”
43 [Deuteronomy 10:14, Bible, NKJV]*

1 God is therefore the only one who can make laws or “rules” for that Earth, just like Caesar is the only one who can make
2 “rules” for his property under Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2 of the Constitution. The Earth is under HOSTILE temporary
3 foreign possession to the injury of its real owner, who is God. Caesar is renting out STOLEN property. Everything he earns
4 from renting that property is criminally laundered money.

5 For the upright will dwell in the land,
6 And the blameless will remain in it;
7 But the wicked [covetous public servants, Form #11.401] will be cut off from the earth,
8 And the unfaithful will be uprooted from it.
9 [Prov. 2:21-22, Bible, NKJV]

10 As God’s full-time ambassador on a temporary mission to this Earth, all property in my name is really held by God under the 11 authority of my delegation of authority order, which is the Holy Bible trust indenture. The corpus of that trust is the entire 12 Heavens and the Earth. This is EXACTLY the same way as how the Constitution and the government it created works, but
13 it has a different Sovereign to serve and a different set of property to manage. I am a mere agent, but God is the Principal
14 under the laws of agency. This is because He owns the NAME I use. My delegation of authority order is documented in:

Delegation of Authority from God to Christians, Form #13.007
<https://sedm.org/Forms/13-SelfFamilyChurchGovnce/DelOfAuthority.pdf>

15 If you want to interfere with the above delegation of authority order, you are violating the First Amendment. THAT, in fact,
16 is WHY its the FIRST Amendment: Because violating it breaks down the separation between the CIVIL statutory law, which
17 is CONSENSUAL, and the CRIMINAL statutory law, which is NOT.

18 Jesus said in Matt. 22:21 “Render to Caesar that which is Caesar’s”. A tax collector and the FIRST person called to repentance
19 by Jesus wrote that. Now that we know that EVERYTHING belongs to God, we know what Jesus REALLY meant when 20 He said that. There is NOTHING to Render to Caesar! By saying this, Jesus ALSO clarified where the authority to tax
21 CAME from, which is that the OWNER of the property is the ONLY one who can tax or regulate it or control it or write rules
22 or laws for it.

23 If my property is in fact PRIVATE and absolutely owned by me, you can’t tax it and I can make ANY rule or condition I
24 want on the use of that property, including the right to exclude YOU from using or benefitting from or taxing it. The 25 protection of absolute ownership of PRIVATE property is the ONLY purpose for establishing government! By trying to 26 interfere with absolute ownership in these legal proceedings, you are PROVING that you are NOT in fact a “government” as 27 the Declaration of Independence defines it, because you REFUSE to even acknowledge the existence of the origin of your 28 authority to even EXIST as a “government”, which is PRIVATE, absolutely owned property:

29 “[It is an] essential, unalterable right in nature, engrafted into the British constitution as a fundamental law,
30 and ever held sacred and irrevocable by the subjects within the realm, that what a man has honestly acquired
31 is absolutely his own, which he may freely give, but cannot be taken from him without his consent.”

34
35 “For the principal aim of society is to protect individuals in the enjoyment of those absolute rights [meaning
36 ABSOLUTE OWNERSHIP of PRIVATE property], which were vested in them by the immutable laws of 37 nature; but which could not be preserved in peace without the mutual assistance and intercourse, which is 38 gained by the institution of friendly and social communities. Hence it follows, that the first and primary end
39 of human laws is to maintain and regulate these absolute rights of individuals.”

40 “By the absolute rights [such as ABSOLUTE ownership of property] of individuals we mean those which are so
41 in their primary and strictest sense; such as would belong to their persons merely in a state of nature, and which 42 every man is entitled to enjoy whether out of society [as a non-resident non-person, Form #05.020] or in it [as a 43 STATUTORY or CONSTITUTIONAL citizen, Form #05.006].” - Ibid.

10 United States v. Lutz, 295 F.2d. 736, 740 (CA5 1961). As stated by Mr. Justice Brandeis, “[a]n essential element
11 of individual property is the legal right to exclude others from enjoying it.” International News Service v.
12 Associated Press, 248 U.S. 215, 250 (1918) (dissenting opinion).

13 If I can’t exclude you but you can exclude me, then I’m not the real owner and there is NO “government” as classically
14 defined. Furthermore, you are committing FRAUD to call yourself a government. You are a criminal PROTECTION
15 RACKET with a monopoly on protection who should be in jail!

17 God COMMANDS me to have my domicile and my STATUTORY citizenship, which are both synonymous, in the Kingdom
18 of Heaven and not within the man-made jurisdiction.

19 “For our citizenship [and DOMICILE] is in heaven [and NOT Earth], from which we also eagerly wait for the 20 Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ”
21 [Philippians 3:20, Bible, NKJV]

22 “Now, therefore, you are no longer strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints and members of 23 the household of God.”
24 [Ephesians 2:19, Bible, NKJV]

25 “These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off were assured of them,
26 embraced them and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims [transient foreigners] on the earth.”
27 [Hebrews 11:13, Bible, NKJV]

28 “Beloved, I beg you as sojourners and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts which war against the soul...”
29 [1 Peter 2:11, Bible, NKJV]

30 That is the ONLY way He can be my judge and lawgiver as His delegation order commands and requires.

31 “For the Lord is our Judge, the Lord is our Lawgiver, The Lord is our King; He will save [and CIVILLY protect]
32 us.”
33 [Isaiah 33:22, Bible, NKJV]

34 President Obama furthermore acknowledged that churches and ministries are the FOUNDATION of freedom and that all 35 good Christians are “foreigners and strangers” on the Earth. Watch for yourself:

- 36 1. President Obama admits that Christian Churches are the Foundation of Justice and Liberty for All
37 <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ZvtgIUESv3o&list=PLin1scINPTOvaVMZUINcbab1r0z61UzGg>
38 2. President Obama Admits that People of Faith are foreigners and strangers in their Own Society
39 <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=UeKbkAkASX4&list=PLin1scINPTOvaVMZUINcbab1r0z61UzGg>

40 What MAKES the above true is PRECISELY the fact that the First Commandment of the Ten Commandments in Exodus 20
41 states that Christians CANNOT place any man-made god, political ruler, or government ABOVE God in importance. That 42 means that all political rulers and Governments MUST be BELOW them and serve them, rather than ABOVE them, as Jesus
43 commanded:

44 “You know that the rulers of the Gentiles lord it over [ABOVE] them, and those who are great exercise authority
45 over them. Yet it shall not be so among you; but whoever desires to become great among you, let him be your 46 servant. And whoever desires to be first among you, let him be your slave— just as the Son of Man did not come 47 to be served, but to serve, and to give His life a ransom for many.”

1 [Matt. 20: 25-28, Bible, NKJV. See also Mark 10:42-45]

2 To allow any political ruler to be my civil lawgiver would be to DEFEAT and undermine the above command and violate
3 not only the First Commandment, but the First Amendment as well.

4 QUESTION: Are you a public SERVANT, or a public MASTER. And if the answer is SERVANT, who are you here to 5 serve today? Am I a CUSTOMER of OPTIONAL civil protection, or a statutory public EMPLOYEE who is presumed to 6 take orders from you within a DULOCRACY?

7 13.12 People with either no domicile or a domicile outside the government at the place they live

8 13.12.1 Divorcing the “state”: Persons with no domicile, who create their own “state”, or a domicile in the Kingdom 9 of Heaven

10 If we divorce the society where we were born, do not abandon our nationality and allegiance to the state of our birth, but then 11 choose a domicile in a place other than where we physically live and which is outside of any government that might have 12 jurisdiction in the place where we live, then we become "transient foreigners" and "de facto stateless persons" in relation to 13 the government of the place we occupy.

14 "Transient foreigner. One who visits the country, without the intention of remaining."
15 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1498]

16 A "de facto stateless person" is anyone who is not entitled to claim the protection or aid of the government in the place where 17 they live:

18 Social Security Program Operations Manual System (P.O.M.S.)
19 RS 02640.040 Stateless Persons

20 A. DEFINITIONS

21 [. . .]

22 DE FACTO—Persons who have left the country of which they were nationals and no longer enjoy its protection
23 and assistance. They are usually political refugees. They are legally citizens of a country because its laws do not 24 permit denaturalization or only permit it with the country's approval.

25 [. . .]

26 2. De Facto Status

27 Assume an individual is de facto stateless if he/she:

28 a. says he/she is stateless but cannot establish he/she is de jure stateless; and

29 b. establishes that:

- 30 • he/she has taken up residence [chosen a legal domicile] outside the country of his/her nationality;
- 31 • there has been an event which is hostile to him/her, such as a sudden or radical change in the 32 government, in the country of nationality; and

33 NOTE: In determining whether an event was hostile to the individual, it is sufficient to show the 34 individual had reason to believe it would be hostile to him/her.

- 35 • he/she renounces, in a sworn statement, the protection and assistance of the government of the country
36 of which he/she is a national and declares he/she is stateless. The statement must be sworn to before 37 an individual legally authorized to administer oaths and the original statement must be submitted to 38 SSA.

39 De facto [stateless] status stays in effect only as long as the conditions in b. continue to exist. If, for example, the 40 individual returns [changes their domicile back] to his/her country of nationality, de facto statelessness ends.

1 [SOURCE: Social Security Program Operations Manual System (P.O.M.S.), Section RS 02650.040 entitled
2 "Stateless Persons"

4 Notice the key attribute of a "de facto stateless person" is that they have abandoned the protection of their government because
5 they believe it is hostile to him or her and is not only not protective, but is even injurious. Below is how the Supreme Court
6 describes such persons:

7 The writers upon the law of nations distinguish between a temporary residence in a foreign country for a special
8 purpose and a residence accompanied with an intention to make it a permanent place of abode. The latter is 9 styled by Vattel [in his book The Law of Nations as] "domicile," which he defines to be "a habitation fixed in any
10 *place, with an intention of always staying there." Such a person, says this author, becomes a member of the new
11 society at least as a permanent inhabitant, and is a kind of citizen of the inferior order from the native citizens,
12 *but is, nevertheless, united and subject to the society, without participating in all its advantages. This right of 13 domicile, he continues, is not established unless the person makes sufficiently known his intention of fixing
14 there, either tacitly or by an express declaration. Vatt. Law Nat. pp. 92, 93. Grotius nowhere uses the word
15 "domicile," but he also distinguishes between those who stay in a foreign country by the necessity of their
16 *affairs, or from any other temporary cause, and those who reside there from a permanent cause. The former
17 he denominates "strangers," and the latter, "subjects." The rule is thus laid down by Sir Robert Phillimore:

18 There is a class of persons which cannot be, strictly speaking, included in either of these denominations of 19 naturalized or native citizens, namely, the class of those who have ceased to reside [maintain a domicile] in their 20 *native country, and have taken up a permanent abode in another. These are domiciled inhabitants. They have
21 *not put on a new citizenship through some formal mode enjoined by the law or the new country. They are de
22 facto, though not de jure, citizens of the country of their [new chosen] domicile.
23 [Fong Yue Ting v. United States, 149 U.S. 698 (1893)]

24 We must remember that in America, the People, and not our public servants, are the Sovereigns. We The People, who are 25 the Sovereigns, choose our associations and govern ourselves through our elected representatives.

26 "The words 'people of the United States' and 'citizens,' are synonymous terms, and mean the same thing. They
27 both describe the political body who, according to our republican institutions, form the sovereignty, and who*
28 hold the power and conduct the government through their representatives. They are what we familiarly call
29 the 'sovereign people,' and every citizen is one of this people, and a constituent member of this sovereignty. ..."
30 [Boyd v. State of Nebraska, 143 U.S. 135 (1892)]

31 When those representatives cease to have our best interests or protection in mind, then we have not only a moral right, but a
32 duty, according to our Declaration of Independence, 1776, to alter our form of self-government by whatever means necessary
33 to guarantee our future security.

34 "But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce 35 *them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide 36 new Guards for their future security."
37 [Declaration of Independence]

38 The lawful and most peaceful means of altering that form of government is simply to do one of the following:

- 39 1. Form our own self-government based on the de jure constitution and change our domicile to it. See:
- Self Government Federation: Articles of Confederation*, Form #13.002
<http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm>
- 40 2. Choose an existing government or country that is already available elsewhere on the planet as our protector.
41 3. Choose a domicile in a place that doesn't have a government. For instance, choose a domicile somewhere you have been 42 in the past that doesn't have a government. For example, if you have legal evidence that you took a cruise, then choose 43 your domicile in the middle of the ocean somewhere where the ship went.
44 4. Use God's laws as the basis for your own self-government and protection, as suggested in this book.

45 By doing one of the above, we are "firing" our local servants in government because they are not doing their job of protection
46 adequately, and when we do this, we cease to have any obligation to pay for their services through taxation and they cease to 47 have any obligation to provide any services. If we choose God and His laws as our form of government, then we choose 48 Heaven as our domicile and our place of primary allegiance and protection. We then become:

- 49 1. "citizens of Heaven".
50 2. "nationals but not citizens" of the country in which we live.

- 1 3. Transient foreigners.
- 2 4. Ambassadors and ministers of a foreign state called Heaven.

3 Below is how one early state court described the absolute right to "divorce the state" by choosing a domicile in a place other
4 than where we physically are at the time:

5 "When a change of government takes place, from a monarchial to a republican government, the old form is
6 dissolved. Those who lived under it, and did not choose to become members of the new, had a right to refuse their
7 allegiance to it, and to retire elsewhere. By being a part of the society subject to the old government, they had not
8 entered into any engagement to become subject to any new form the majority might think proper to adopt. That
9 the majority shall prevail is a rule posterior to the formation of government, and results from it. It is not a rule
10 upon mankind in their natural state. There, every man is independent of all laws, except those prescribed by 11 nature. He is not bound by any institutions formed by his fellowmen without his consent"
12 [Cruden v. Neale, 2 N.C., 2 S.E. 70 (1796)]

13 How do we officially and formally notify the "state" that we have made a conscious decision to legally divorce it by moving
14 our domicile outside its jurisdiction? That process is documented in the references below:

- 23 4. After accomplishing either of the above items, which are the same, making sure that all future government forms we fill
24 out properly and accurately describe both our domicile and our citizenship status, in accordance with section 13.12.3
25 later.
- 26 5. By making sure that at all times, we use the proper words to describe our status so that we don't create false presumptions
27 that might cause the government to believe we are "residents" with a domicile in the "United States" (federal territory):
 - 28 5.1. Do not describe ourselves with the following words:
 - 29 5.1.1. "individual" as defined in 5 U.S.C. §552a(a)(2) and 26 C.F.R. §1.1441-1(c)(3).
 - 30 5.1.2. "taxpayer" as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(14\).
 - 31 5.1.3. "U.S. person" as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(30\).
 - 32 5.1.4. "resident" as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(b\)\(1\)\(A\).
 - 33 5.1.5. "alien"
 - 34 5.2. Describe ourselves with the following words and phrases:
 - 35 5.2.1. "nontaxpayer" not subject to the Internal Revenue Code. See:
 - 36 5.2.1.1. "Taxpayer" v. "Nontaxpayer", Which One Are You?:

 - 38 5.2.2. "nonresident alien" as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701(b)(1)(B) IF AND ONLY IF you are engaged in a public 39 office.
 - 40 5.2.3. "non-resident non-person" or "transient foreigner" if not engaged in a public office.
 - 41 5.2.4. The type of "nonresident alien" defined in 26 C.F.R. §1.871-1(b)(1)(i) ONLY IF YOU ARE ENGAGED IN 42 A PUBLIC OFFICE. Otherwise, there is no regulation that describes your status.
 - 43 5.2.5. "national" under 8 U.S.C. §1101\(a\)\(21\), but not statutory "citizen" as defined in 8 U.S.C. §1401. This person 44 is also described in 8 U.S.C. §1452 if they were born in in a U.S. possession.
 - 45 5.2.6. Not engaged in a "trade or business" as defined in 26 U.S.C. §7701\(a\)\(26\).
 - 46 5.2.7. Have not made any "elections" under 26 U.S.C. §7701\(b\)\(4\)\(B\), 26 U.S.C. §6013\(g\) or (h), or 26 C.F.R.
47 §1.871-1(a).
 - 48 5.2.8. A "stateless person" who does not satisfy any of the criteria for diversity of citizenship described in 28 U.S.C.
49 §1332 and who therefore cannot be sued in federal court. See Newman-Green v. Alfonso Larrain, 490 U.S.
50 826 \(1989\);

1 "In order to be a citizen of a State within the meaning of the diversity statute, a natural person must both be a
2 citizen of the United States and be domiciled within the State. See Robertson v. Cease, 97 U.S. 646, 648-649
3 (1878); Brown v. Keene, 8 Pet. 112, 115 (1834). The problem in this case is that Bettison, although a United
4 States citizen, has no domicile in any State. He is therefore "stateless" for purposes of § 1332(a)(3). Subsection
5 1332(a)(2), which confers jurisdiction in the District Court when a citizen of a State sues aliens only, also could
6 not be satisfied because Bettison is a United States citizen."
