Events and Event Directors

Nations Baseball is an organization that sanctions teams, provides a web-site for team registration and providing information for teams and individuals and provides insurance. Each tournament Director is an independent contractor and each tournament, while a "Nations Baseball" event, is nonetheless a local tournament under the control of each individual tournament Director. As such, when your team schedules a tournament, your financial obligation is to the tournament Director and the obligation to provide sites, officials, schedules and other offered amenities to you is that of the tournament Director. The Nations Baseball does not guarantee that any tournament will be held or conducted apart from those tournaments that are advertised as Nations Baseball national events such as the "World Series" or National Championship tournaments. Any refunds for tournaments canceled or games not played or credits for future tournaments are exclusively a matter for the tournament Director and not the national office of Nations Baseball.
