‘Have nothing in your houses that you do not know to be useful, or believe to be beautiful.’ William Morris

The Round Building Factory

This is the latest fully comprehensive catalogue from David Mellor. It collects together our whole extensive range of sophisticated modern tableware and kitchenware, including the world famous David Mellor Cutlery.

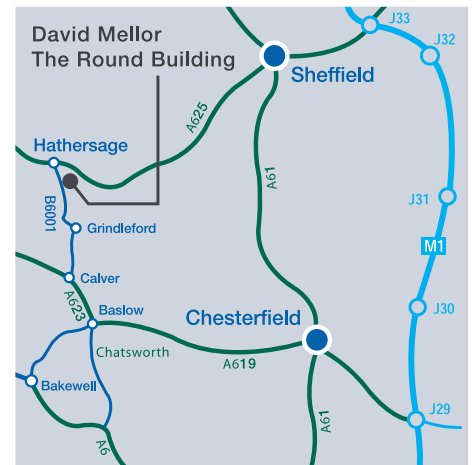

Our products are made in our own factory or carefully selected from the best specialist manufacturers. Many are exclusive to the David Mellor shops. We are convinced they represent good value in terms of design, style and quality.

The Round Building at Hathersage

The purpose built cutlery factory designed for David Mellor by Sir Michael Hopkins has been described as a minor masterpiece of modern architecture.

Built in local gritstone with a spectacular stainless steel roof, this highly functional industrial building is set discreetly in a rural area of outstanding natural beauty. The Round Building has received many important architectural and environmental awards.

Factory tours on Saturdays and Sundays give visitors an insight into how David Mellor cutlery is made.

The David Mellor Country Shop

The new cutlery showroom at the David Mellor Country Shop in Hathersage

David Mellor Marylebone

David Mellor Marylebone

Our latest shop at 14 New Cavendish Street off Marylebone High Street is the largest David Mellor shop to date, giving us new scope for displaying the unique David Mellor collection of tableware and kitchenware.

The atmospheric Arts & Crafts building has a special architectural quality, having opened as a dairy in 1901. It is now a Historic England listed building. Our careful restoration brings out the craftsmanship of the fine period detailing: woodwork, carved lettering, decorative stonework.

The design of the interior by Corin Mellor includes a spectacular new staircase assembled in our own factory in Derbyshire.

David Mellor Country Shop

Our Country Shop is at Hathersage in Derbyshire, near Chatsworth, in the dramatic High Peak landscape. Although the stock is more or less identical this shop has a more rural feel than the David Mellor London shops. A new showroom displays the superb modern cutlery and knives made in the Round Building factory alongside the shop.

The David Mellor Design Museum opened in 2006 in a purpose designed Michael Hopkins building. The Museum, Country Shop and Café provide a stimulating day out in Derbyshire in a beautiful, unusual design environment. For further information on the Design Museum see page 8.

Special products

We run our own design office within the company and so the David Mellor collection is constantly evolving. We have recently introduced a new edition of David Mellor's classic 'Pride' carving set and new 'Embassy' glassware.

We have built up close links with many small workshop producers. Our shops draw their special character from the fine collection of British crafts, products handmade in often local natural materials. We ourselves continue making cutlery and knives at a time when British craft-based manufacturing is undergoing a revival.

Personal service

We pride ourselves on our staff expertise, built up over the years. Because we are manufacturers as well as retailers we can draw on unique resources of technical knowledge and we are always glad to answer your specific queries either in the shops, by email or over the phone.

A wedding list service is available at David Mellor shops and our expert staff will give you all the help you need in compiling your ideal personal list.

For details of our gift voucher and gift wrap services see page 135.

The Marylebone shop interior

DAVID MELLOR

David Mellor (1930-2009) was one of the most famous of 20th century designers. He was born in Sheffield and trained originally as a silversmith. In the course of his hugely distinguished career he designed a great variety of products including the national traffic light system. David Mellor is best known for his cutlery which won numerous design awards and which is in many international collections. The David Mellor Design Museum at Hathersage in Derbyshire shows the whole historic spectrum of his work.

CORIN MELLOR

Succeeded his father as Creative Director of David Mellor Design in 2006. He is responsible for product development within the company, expanding our unique and well-known collection of specialist tableware and kitchenware.

Corin trained in product design and architecture. He designed the interior of the Design Museum and Café at Hathersage. Recent special commissions include spectacular metalwork for Sheffield Cathedral. A large scale sculptural seat for the gardens at Chatsworth was commissioned by the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire. A 25-foot bridge was commissioned for Sheffield Hallam University and Corin recently appeared on several TV films on British design and craftsmanship.

50 years of David Mellor Sloane Square

The first and most famous David Mellor shop opened on 7 October 1969. Originally called 'David Mellor Ironmonger', the shop celebrates its 50th anniversary this year – an increasingly rare milestone in British retail.

The young David Mellor was at the time already one of the best-known designers of his generation, having recently redesigned the UK's traffic lights. Inspired by the eclectic Ironmonger shops of his Sheffield childhood, Mellor's vision was to open a shop stocking 'the most carefully-chosen tools in London'.

David Mellor Sloane Square soon became a focal point of Swinging Sixties Chelsea. Janet Street-Porter wrote in the Daily Mail that David Mellor 'does for scrubbing brushes and kitchen equipment what the uplift bra did for Brigitte Bardot'. Regular customers from the start included royalty, top chefs and Hollywood stars. Jackie Kennedy Onassis came to make a purchase, served by David himself who failed to recognise the then most famous woman in the world.

Over the years the selection has gradually been expanded and refined. We now have one of the most impressive collections of kitchen and tableware to be found on the international scene.

50th Anniversary Limited Edition Rosewood cutlery

To celebrate the anniversary David Mellor has produced a limited, numbered edition of 'Provençal' Rosewood cutlery, a design only available in the early years of the Sloane Square shop. Each piece of this highly collectable 50th anniversary edition has been expertly handmade using sustainably sourced rosewood. Only 300 place settings of 'Provençal' Rosewood have been produced with each item individually edition marked.

Six-piece Place Setting £125.

'Pride' Cutlery

David Mellor's mid-century modern cutlery, first designed in 1953, is now in numerous international collections. We have just added a new Butter Knife, Cake Fork and Fruit Spoon in silver plate or mirror-polished stainless steel.

For full details see page 12.

'Pride' Carving Set

New edition of David Mellor's famous 'Pride' carving set of 1956. Expertly hand finished with ivory coloured handles. Super-sharp high carbon stainless steel blade. Comes in solid ash case with hinged lid and clasp.

'Embassy' Glassware

For full details see page 26.

'Pride' Tea Set

The now classic 'Pride' tea set was designed by David Mellor in 1958 and manufactured by Walker & Hall, Sheffield, both in silver and in silver plate.

We sometimes manage to acquire examples of this much sought-after vintage set. After restoration in our own workshops 'Pride' silver plate tea sets cost around £500-£900.

For availability enquire at our shops.

The Mellor collection at Hathersage, Derbyshire

The Design Museum, like the Round Building, has been purpose designed by the architect Sir Michael Hopkins. It shows the whole historic collection, privately owned by the Mellor family, of David Mellor's designs from the 1950s onwards and includes more recent work of his son, Corin Mellor. The designs on display cover a broad spectrum, from teaspoons to traffic lights. The architecture of the Museum building has received a Countryside Award.

David Mellor, one of the best known 20th century British designers, was born in Sheffield in 1930 and died in 2009. His expertise as a cutlery designer developed to the extent that he has often been called 'the cutlery king'. His great sequence of cutlery designs, from 1953 onwards, takes up a central area of the museum and might almost be regarded as a history of modern cutlery design.

More of a surprise is Mellor's major contribution to the street scene. A new outdoor extension to the Design Museum shows how his bus shelters and street lights and especially his redesign of the national traffic signal system have affected innumerable people's lives.

The David Mellor Design Museum is open every day from 10am until 5pm Monday – Saturday and 11am until 5pm on Sundays. Guided tours 3pm Saturday and Sunday. Admission is free. Limited spaces available. Please call 01433 650220 to book. See map on page 4.

Handmade sterling silver cutlery

David Mellor was born in Sheffield, for centuries a centre for metalworking skills. His training as a silversmith gave him a particular affinity for metalwork design and his silver is in many international collections.

Two of his finest cutlery designs – ‘Pride’ and ‘English’ – are available in sterling silver to special order. They are expertly handmade in our own workshops. Each piece is individually hallmarked by the Sheffield Assay Office.

For ‘Embassy’ cutlery in sterling silver see page 11.

‘PRIDE’ SILVER CUTLERY

Mellor’s now classic ‘Pride’ cutlery was designed in 1953, when he was still a student at the Royal College of Art. This supremely elegant cutlery, included in the first of the Design Centre Awards in 1957, has been in continuous production ever since. It is on display in numerous museums worldwide as a prime example of 20th century modernist design. For details see page 12

Six-piece Place Setting 4994274 £840.00

‘ENGLISH’ SILVER CUTLERY

‘English’ silver cutlery was originally commissioned in 1992 for the Prime Minister’s ceremonial dining at 10 Downing Street. This deceptively simple design has great sophistication and subtlety, drawing on David Mellor’s long appreciation of the qualities of early Georgian silver to arrive at cutlery of beautiful modernity.

For details see page 13

Six-piece Place Setting 4994250 £890.00

Special handmade silver

We have recently revived four superb examples of David Mellor metalwork of the 1960s. These designs are classics of their time.

A David Mellor 'Embassy' Silver Tea Pot

First designed for British embassies in 1963. This solid sterling silver tea pot with black fibre handle has come to be regarded as quintessential Mellor in its beautiful simplicity and fluency of form.

A new limited edition is being made to special order by the same expert craftsman who made them for the embassies.

Each 'Embassy' tea pot is individually hallmarked at the Sheffield Assay Office and the edition is limited to 9. Made to special order.

1.5lt capacity £8,500.00

B David Mellor 'Embassy' Toast Rack

Solid sterling silver. Originally designed in 1963. Individually handmade by the craftsman who originally made these lovely toast racks for British embassies. Each hallmarked by the Sheffield Assay Office and packed in a David Mellor gift box.

10.5 x 7.5cm 2542096 £780.00

C Handmade Mikana and Silver Bowl

Designed by Corin Mellor in collaboration with Mikana Innovations and Sheffield Hallam University using a newly invented decorative material created from a blend of coloured metals and alloys. Each bowl is individually hallmarked at the Sheffield Assay Office.

Limited edition of 20, supplied in gift box.

25cm 2542085 £1,900.00

D David Mellor Silver Bowls

Designed in 1969, these marvellous hand-spun silver bowls are again being made in Sheffield by Russell Rimes, the virtuoso craftsman who made them originally, using the same techniques and original patterns.

Silverplated.

Available in two sizes, each in a gift box.

26.5cm 2542063 £360.00

34cm 2542071 £490.00

E David Mellor 'Embassy' Silver Candlesticks

Designed in 1963 when they were commissioned for the British embassies in Warsaw and Mexico City. These spectacularly elegant tall candlesticks are now being handmade in the Round Building by our own skilled craftsmen.

Silverplated.

Available in three sizes. Each in gift box with candle.

30cm 2542030 £310.00

35cm 2542048 £345.00

40cm 2542055 £380.00

DAVID MELLOR'S 'EMBASSY' TABLEWARE

In the early 1960s the British government commissioned a full range of contemporary tableware for British embassies abroad. Their aim was to demonstrate that Britain was now a forward-looking country with the highest standards of modern design and craftsmanship.

David Mellor, then a rising young silversmith, was commissioned to design an extensive range of sterling silver tableware, handmade in Mellor's own workshops in Sheffield.

We have now reintroduced some of the key pieces from this famous collection of modern metalwork.

'EMBASSY' GLASS

A recent range of hand blown table glass by Corin Mellor designed to be used in conjunction with 'Embassy' cutlery. The lovely flowing forms echo the fluent lines of the original silver collection. For details see page 26

'EMBASSY' SILVER / STAINLESS STEEL

David Mellor's most magnificent cutlery, a 20th century design classic, was originally commissioned for use in British embassies. It shows Mellor's characteristic flair in the highly original shaping of the knife handle and the supreme elegance of the 3-prong fork.

'Embassy' is still being made in sterling silver by specialist Sheffield maker Fletcher Robinson and in mirror polished stainless steel. Each piece is hand finished and individually marked DM.

David Mellor Cutlery

This is a unique collection of modern cutlery designed by David Mellor, Royal Designer for Industry. Our own purpose-built factory is situated in the Peak District National Park at Hathersage, near Sheffield. David Mellor trained originally as a silversmith and his cutlery has an international reputation for its qualities of design and manufacture.

All the cutlery illustrated is available singly. Some David Mellor ranges include extra pieces which can be seen on our website at davidmellordesign.co.uk or phone for a David Mellor cutlery brochure.

'PRIDE' SILVER / STAINLESS STEEL

An acknowledged modern classic. David Mellor's first cutlery, designed in 1953, is in many international collections. Originally in silver plate, 'Pride' is now also made in stainless steel. Knife handles are metal, or black or ivory acetal resin. Sterling silver available to special order, see page 9.

'PRIDE' SILVER / STAINLESS STEEL

The simple elegance of 'Pride' encapsulates the modern design ethos of the Festival of Britain on the South Bank in 1951. Mellor's iconic cutlery was the obvious choice for the Skylon Restaurant in the recently restored Royal Festival Hall. It featured in the V&A's major exhibition of British Design.

'ENGLISH' SILVER / STAINLESS STEEL

A quintessential David Mellor design based on his original commission for sterling silver cutlery for ceremonial dining at 10 Downing Street. 'English' is expertly made at our Derbyshire factory in both silver plate and stainless steel. Sterling silver available to special order, see page 9.

David Mellor cast iron

David Mellor's cast iron candleholders were originally designed in 1969, the year when our shop in Sloane Square first opened. We recently located a specialist manufacturer with the traditional skills to make these now classic Swinging Sixties designs.

David Mellor Round Candleholders

The matt black bowls have removable ridged inserts and are manufactured in two versions, low and tall. Low candleholder is supplied in a gift box. Candles, imported from Finland in a lovely range of solid colours, supplied separately (see page 25 for details).

- A Low Candleholder
16.5 x 4cm 4741014 £35.00
- B Tall Candleholder
16.5cm x 12cm 4741022 £85.00

David Mellor Serpentine Candleholders

3-light and 5-light, designed to be used singly or assembled in different permutations to form a spectacular table setting. Made in matt black and bright red. Underside of each candleholder is stamped 1972, the year of its design (see detail below right). Ivory church and coloured candles supplied separately.

David Mellor Cast Iron Candelabrum

Striking new design by Corin Mellor introduced this year. 5-light with pivoting arms which form alternative configurations. Each candelabrum is stamped David Mellor. A magnificent centrepiece for any table setting. Ivory church candles supplied separately.

David Mellor 'Rummer' glass

The newest range of David Mellor wine glasses and goblets, designed by Corin Mellor, has something of the lovely robust character of English 18th century glassware. This is a craft-made collection, hand blown in a small specialist European workshop. Each 'Rummer' glass is individually blown from molten glass and finished by hand. Glasses are lead free crystal. Slight variations in the shapes and sizes are part of their individuality and charm.

'Kastehelmi' Finnish glass

A glittering collection of pressed glass plates and bowls from Iittala. This is a revival of Oiva Toikka's design of 1964. 'Kastehelmi' is the Finnish word for 'dewdrop'. Clear and sea blue glass to mix and match. Tea and dinner plates are slightly curved, underplate/serving platter flat.

'Kastehelmi' sparkling candleholders are especially covetable. The beautiful dewdrop stemmed glass is a new addition this year.

David Mellor fine bone china

The David Mellor collection of classic white china has been specially developed to complement the famous David Mellor cutlery. Fine bone china, with its unique combination of translucence and strength (due to the 50% of bone ash in the body), was the obvious choice of material for pure white tableware of lasting quality.

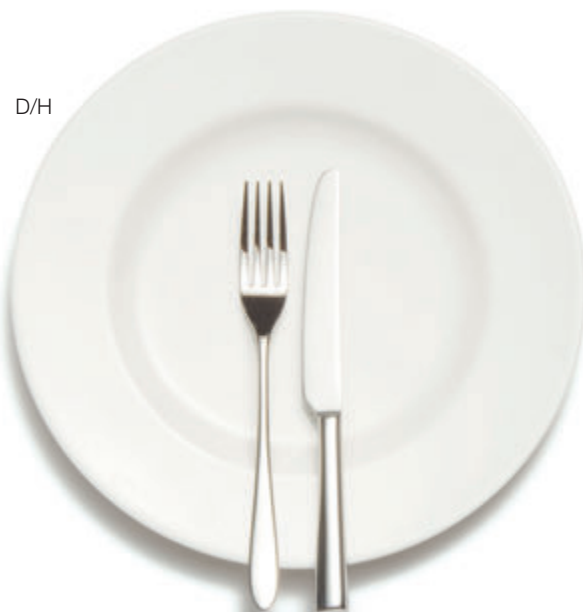

Corin Mellor's design has a beautiful modernity, appealing to those who enjoy entertaining. The range is comprehensive, including a tea set of classical simplicity and two large serving platters. Each piece is back-stamped David Mellor in a subtle shade of grey, see illustration right.

Suitable for microwaves and dishwashers.

David Mellor stoneware

Corin Mellor's most recent tableware collection designed to suit today's informal eating patterns, taking you through from breakfast time to supper. Our versatile new range of stoneware, immaculately detailed and hand finished, has a beautifully natural feel.

Its special visual quality lies in the subtle contrast between the finely textured unglazed stoneware and the smooth gloss glaze. Each piece is back-stamped David Mellor. The understated elegance of this new pottery means that it fits perfectly with any range of David Mellor cutlery.

Suitable for microwaves and dishwashers.

David Mellor British Standard mugs

The British Colour Council was founded in 1931 in an attempt to standardise colours in use by government and industry throughout the UK. Official indexes of British Standard colours, each given its own colour name and number, began to be produced.

We have gone back to the 1950s British Standard colours, with their wonderfully evocative period colour names, for our own contemporary collection of fine bone china mugs. The mug itself, designed by Corin Mellor, is exclusive to David Mellor Design. Each mug has a special colour-coded back stamp 'Designed using the British Standard Colour system' with the relevant colour name and number appearing on the mug as part of the design. Suitable for microwaves and dishwashers.

David Mellor Children's Tableware

David Mellor's phenomenally popular children's cutlery was introduced in 1975. Now at last we have designed children's tableware to go with it: a 3-piece set in the same vibrant colours made in robustly child-sized porcelain.

Each piece has been carefully worked out to function well for children just beginning to eat independently and will last them through their early years. The plate has a deep rim to help the child control food. The multi-purpose bowl is nicely sized. The beaker is shaped to be easy for a child to hold.

Even the packaging has been designed with children in mind. The inner boxes are colour-coded in red, blue and yellow to match the contents. The three smaller boxes are packed in a bright yellow outer box. Children will find their tableware fun to unpack.

The three pieces are individually back stamped David Mellor.

Suitable for microwaves and dishwashers.

Thomas 'Loft' porcelain

This is a brilliant concept in tableware by the well known British designer Martin Hunt, manufactured in Germany by Thomas. Plates are round, oval and square, specifically shaped to suit our increasingly variable eating habits and influenced by the current interest in oriental food. The range is characterised by its subtle surface texturing. The 3-tier cake stand is a recent addition. Suitable for microwaves and dishwashers.

Walter Gropius's 'TAC' porcelain by Rosenthal

Superb streamlined porcelain from one of the great figures of modern architecture and design. Walter Gropius, founder of the legendary Bauhaus, designed this beautiful and highly original tea service in 1969. The tea set is available in either white or black.

'TAC' dinnerware is made in very high quality porcelain. The glaze is almost translucent in its sheen. This is a really spectacular example of 20th century classic design.

Suitable for microwaves and dishwashers.

Montefeltro pottery

Superb modern tableware by the Italian designer Franco Bucci. White or black glaze pottery with a fine terracotta rim. Montefeltro is specially imported for the David Mellor shops and is one of our most popular ranges of pottery. It includes robust square and oblong oven dishes and particularly beautiful black and white ridged bowls.

Whole range suitable for microwaves and dishwashers. All plates and dishes can be warmed safely in the oven using a moderate heat. Oven dishes have been specially developed for cooking use in ovens up to approx 180°C.

Kashima handthrown porcelain from Japan

Kashima fine Japanese porcelain, hand thrown and immaculately detailed, is imported specially for David Mellor. The lovely fluid shapes and unusual coloured glazes make it perfect for today's easy-going entertaining.

Suitable for microwaves and dishwashers.

'Gozan' Collection

The broad rims have the beauty of slight irregularity. Glazes are rich chestnut brown and vivid lime green.

Jars 'Tourron' French glazed stoneware

A recent addition to the David Mellor shops. Jars is a pottery in the south of France, on the borders of Provence, founded in the late 19th century by Pierre Jars. The stoneware body is particularly durable and the deep blue glaze of the 'Tourron' range we have selected has a beautiful lustrous shimmer. It includes a capacious French-style breakfast cup and saucer.

Suitable for microwaves and dishwashers.

Soendergaard handmade porcelain

Lars P. Soendergaard Gregersen was born and trained in Denmark. He moved to England in 1993, establishing his own pottery, Soendergaard Design, at Fressingfield in Suffolk.

Lars Gregersen works in the Scandinavian tradition of design and function. All his designs are hand thrown in porcelain and finished in glazes using only natural pigments. We have collaborated with him in developing this special range of tableware for David Mellor. The denim blue pottery is matt glazed, white pottery and blue-and-white stripe is gloss glazed.

Leach Pottery from St. Ives

This superb collection of reduction fired stoneware comes from the famous pottery established in Cornwall in the 1920s by Bernard Leach. The concept of a range of functional and beautiful everyday tableware made with local clay was central to Leach's philosophy. We stocked Leach pottery when David Mellor opened in 1969 and we are now delighted to welcome back a classic of craft history.

Expect slight variations in glaze. Suitable for microwaves and dishwashers.

John Jelfs potter

John Jelfs's marvellous collection of domestic stoneware, recently introduced to David Mellor, is handmade at the pottery in Bourton-in-the-Water in the Cotswolds, founded in 1973 by Jelfs and his wife Jude. This is a great addition to our range of English crafts.

Jelfs has been influenced by Leach, Shōji Hamada and the Eastern school of potters. 'The strength of their pots lies in their quietness', he says. His own hand thrown stoneware with its mainly local wood ash and clay glazes has a similar understated beauty.

Because these are individual pieces shapes and glazes may vary and supplies may fluctuate. A fuller selection will be found at the David Mellor shops.

Michael Taylor potter

Michael Taylor works in rural North Devon in his purpose built workshop, Lone Ash Pottery, just outside the village of Ashwater. He studied ceramics at Bath Academy of Art. His domestic stoneware is all hand thrown and decorated in particularly beautiful glazes in colours inspired by the West Country landscape around his studio. Michael Taylor's work has proved so popular that he has now worked with us to develop more comprehensive ranges of his unique handmade tableware.

Because these are individual pieces shapes and glazes may vary and supplies may fluctuate.

Liam O'Neill woodturner

Liam O'Neill is one of the leading Irish woodturners. His workshop is at Spiddal, Co. Galway. Alongside this marvellous collection of wooden bowls for everyday use O'Neill makes one-off sculptural pieces which are in many international collections. He uses only timber from trees felled through old age or natural disaster. The quality of his bowls lies in their subtle detailing as well as the intrinsic beauty of the wood, usually ash, elm, Irish yew, cherry or beech.

Svend Bayer potter

Svend Bayer makes his wood-fired stoneware pots in rural seclusion near Okehampton in Devon. Of Danish extraction, Bayer worked with Michael Cardew who described him as 'easily my best pupil'. He likes to work on a large scale and even his domestic pots have a quality of grandeur, influenced by his admiration for traditional pottery of the Far East. All of Bayer's highly original jugs, jars, mixing bowls and cooking pots are glazed inside. Glazes vary according to firing.

Because these are individual pieces shapes and glazes may vary and supplies may fluctuate. A fuller selection will be found at the David Mellor shops.

John Leach potter

The eldest grandson of the world-famous potter Bernard Leach continues the family tradition by hand throwing and wood firing a large collection of wonderfully usable stoneware pots. John Leach works at Muchelney, Somerset, in workshops he established in 1965, restoring the original 15th century village pottery. Leach's own work shows the influence of English mediaeval pottery; his favourite shapes are substantial and rotund. Pots unglazed externally have green or deep brown glaze inside.

Because these are individual pieces shapes and glazes may vary and supplies may fluctuate. A fuller selection will be found at the David Mellor shops.

Will Elworthy woodturner

The craftsman Will Elworthy, originally a television producer, made the dramatic move to study fine furniture making, setting up his own woodturning and joinery workshop in 2013. For the David Mellor shops he turns these beautifully tactile sycamore boards, made to Ray Key's original designs. Excellent to use for both chopping and serving.

Abbeyhorn tableware

These exceptionally beautiful ox-horn bowls, beakers, salad servers and spoons come from Abbeyhorn in Kendal in the Lake District. This is one of the last remaining British horn works, founded more than two centuries ago. Traditional methods of making are still used.

Natural ox-horn is non-absorbent, unaffected by oils and vinegars, and makes a perfect egg spoon.

Bérard Frères woodware

We have been stocking Bérard Frères ever since the first David Mellor shop opened in 1969. This specialist firm is based in the mountain area of Royans to the north of Provence.

Immaculately finished salad servers, scoops and spoons are made in cherrywood and olivewood and we have recently introduced a spectacular collection of olivewood bowls and serving platters made to our specifications.

The ash kitchen scoop is handmade by English craftsman Don White.

David Mellor birch plywood table mats

Really nice table mats are extremely hard to find. Hence this range specially developed by Corin Mellor and made for us by a small specialist manufacturer. These versatile modern table mats – round or rectangular – are made in birch plywood. Available in natural lacquered birch or alternatively in blue or grey-black laminate. Underside of each mat has non-slip pads.

Felicity Irons rush weaver

Felicity Irons has given new life to the ancient craft of rush weaving. Working at Colesden, near Bedford, she harvests her own bulrushes from the Great Ouse river. British fresh water rushes are softer, slimmer and more vivid in colour than rushes grown elsewhere, and the table mats she weaves from them have much more life and variation than imported equivalents.

David Mellor Cafetières

An exclusive collection of stainless steel cafetières specially developed for our shops by Corin Mellor. Drawing on the company's fine tradition of metalwork design, these press-filter coffee pots are superbly made in stainless steel with a high polish finish.

David Mellor cafetières have a purist design quality. Die-cast stainless steel handles and knobs come in two alternative finishes: stainless steel or titanium coated grey. These elegant cafetières pour beautifully.

Each cafetière is marked David Mellor on the base and supplied boxed.

David Mellor 'Rosewood' kitchen knives

Our top of the range knives, designed by Corin Mellor and recently introduced after three years' development. The sinuously curving handles are made in Indian rosewood, the traditional material favoured by culinary experts. These are carefully hand finished and wonderful to use.

Knife blades exploit the latest techniques in steel casting to arrive at the beautifully curved bolster. Blades are precision ground and glazed to give a specially bright finish. Drawing on the David Mellor expertise in metalwork these are amongst the world's finest knives.

David Mellor 'Rosewood' knives are exceptionally sharp, the result of combining a high carbon stainless steel blade with the latest heat treatment process of ice-hardening to minus 80°C. This stabilizes the metallurgical structure of the steel, creating a hard and durable cutting edge. The knives are taper ground at a 45° angle. Each knife handle incorporates three traditional rivets in stainless steel.

All knives are supplied in individual David Mellor boxes.

David Mellor 'Black Handle' kitchen knives

Corin Mellor's 'Black Handle' stainless steel kitchen knives, specially developed for the David Mellor shops, have proved enormously popular since they were first introduced.

The collection has a very distinctive modern look and high levels of performance, using the latest innovative manufacturing techniques. Ice hardening processes make the blades exceptionally sharp. These are really professional kitchen knives, superb in quality and beautiful to use.

These are razor sharp knives. The high carbon stainless steel blades exploit the latest techniques of steel casting and are then ice hardened to minus 80°c. This innovative process stabilizes the metallurgical structure of the steel, creating an extremely hard and durable cutting edge. The knives are taper ground with the forging running down the full length of the handle. Each knife handle incorporates an internal back weight, giving an excellent balance and grip.

All knives are supplied in individual David Mellor boxes.

David Mellor 'Provençal' kitchen knives

Designer Corin Mellor's new interpretation of the traditional fully forged professional chef's knife, appealing to those who take good cooking seriously.

High carbon stainless steel blades are hot drop forged and then ice hardened to minus 80°C, producing an exceptionally sharp, hard and durable cutting edge. Blades are then taper ground. Handles are acetal resin.

All knives are supplied in individual David Mellor boxes.

Mauviel M' Cook stainless steel

Our collection of super quality stainless steel pans comes from the well known Mauviel factory in France. We have chosen these pans for their durability and functional efficiency. These are quite exceptionally handsome pans with their heavy, almost sculptural cast stainless steel handles. They are made of a very high quality stainless steel layered with aluminium, which distributes heat evenly and quickly through the whole body of the pan. A layer of magnetic stainless steel makes them suitable for induction cooking. Frying pans have a hardwearing non-stick lining. Mauviel M'Cook stainless steel can be co-ordinated with Mauviel M'Stone non-stick aluminium pans shown opposite.

Suitable for all types of cooker including induction. Lids are supplied separately unless stated and are interchangeable throughout the two ranges.

Mauviel M'150c French professional copper

Copper is the traditional material for cooking, used in the great kitchens of the past and still a valid choice for modern cooks. We have selected the superb M'150c range of pans by Mauviel, one of the longest established French manufacturers. These are inevitably expensive but will give a lifetime's pleasure.

Mauviel pans are made of 1.5mm gauge copper with curving die cast stainless steel handles. The pans are lined with 18/10 stainless steel. The frying pan, with gently curving sides, is designed to produce the perfect omelette. Classic French sauté pans are ideal for sealing and frying poultry and meat. Mauviel also supply our unlined copper egg beating bowl, as used by the best professional chefs.

Suitable for all types of cooker, except induction. Lids are supplied separately.

littala 'Tools' stainless steel

These are arguably the world's finest pans. Both visually and functionally this highly professional range in multi-layer stainless steel, by the Swedish designer Björn Dahlström, cannot be faulted. The unique multi-layered structure – stainless steel with an aluminium core – gives instant heat distribution through the whole body of the pans, not just the base. They are pans for real cooks, superbly well engineered.

Suitable for all types of cooker including induction.

‘Le Pentole’ stainless steel

‘Le Pentole’ stainless steel, made in Italy, has been our most consistently popular collection of pans over the past decade. This classic modern cooking system was designed by Niki Sala. The stainless steel pans have tightly fitting lids and solid 3mm 3-layer bases – aluminium, steel and alloy – which allows food to be steam-cooked without fats or oils. For maximum heat efficiency pans and steamers can be built up in tiers. Evaporation is prevented with the weight of the lid which nestles closely into the pan rim.

Lids are interchangeable for pans throughout the range and are supplied separately, unless otherwise indicated. Suitable for all types of cooker including induction.

Eva Trio stainless steel and non-stick aluminium

The Eva Trio range was developed by the Danish designer Olé Palsby. It is a superb choice for the modern working kitchen: smart, practical and versatile. The 6mm sandwich base – stainless steel, thick aluminium, stainless steel – gives a good even spread of heat.

Palsby's high quality stainless steel pans co-ordinate with hard anodised aluminium pans with 'Slip-Let' non-stick finish. Eva Trio's winning design feature is the elegant long-handled stainless steel or glass lid, with flanged rim to provide a good tight fit. It enables the pans to be stacked up for storage.

Lids are interchangeable for pans throughout the range and are supplied separately. Suitable for all types of cooker including induction.

Note that anodised aluminium is not recommended for dishwashers.

Eva Solo 'Nordic' non-stick aluminium

A beautiful new range of pans in premium die-cast aluminium from the well known Danish design company. Oiled European oak handles contribute to the authentic Nordic look. These pans are superbly well detailed with a 4-layer 'Slip-Let' non-stick coating and a thick machined base for even distribution of heat.

The range includes three sizes of casserole. Casserole lids are interchangeable for use on frying and sauté pans. A really well designed collection which will give lasting pleasure in use. Suitable for all types of cooker including induction.

Silga 'Teknika' stainless steel

'Teknika', made in Italy by Silga, is one of the most practical and beautiful ranges of stainless steel pans in Europe. Its functional pre-eminence lies in the 'Teknotherm' heat-diffusing base: a thick layer of aluminium sealed in by a protective casing of stainless steel. This ensures even cooking on all types of heat source and cuts down energy consumption. The construction of the walls gives instant heat right through the body of the pan. Lids fit closely to facilitate minimum-fat cooking and pan rims are gently curved, preventing liquids boiling over. These are superb pans which will give a lifetime's use.

Unless otherwise stated lids are supplied separately and are interchangeable. Suitable for all types of cooker including induction.

Risoli cast aluminium

The Risoli range from Italy is a really useful collection of heavy weight cast aluminium cookware with a hard wearing non-stick Silverstone lining. This would be a great choice for people setting up a first-time kitchen. It is cleverly designed for maximum versatility. Handles are high grade oven-proof Bakelite black plastic or stainless steel. Glass lids with oven-proof knobs are interchangeable for frying pans and casseroles. Alternatively, casseroles can be used with cast aluminium lids, reversible to make excellent frying pans / sauté pans.

Unless otherwise indicated, all lids are supplied separately. Not suitable for induction hobs; not recommended for dishwashers.

Heavy duty machined base for excellent heat transfer.
