

1. Unique Products

Our wide range of standard and adapted products has been developed over many years of working alongside our clients. We have absorbed a stream of continuous feedback which has enabled us to develop the sophisticated product we offer today. The result is a range of extremely high quality products, specified by experts, to precisely fit your requirements. Tight control of manufacturing - all carried out in our state of the art manufacturing facility - ensures a consistent level of superior quality can be maintained

2. Close Attention to detail

Unparalleled levels of space planning and CAD drawing detail enable us to ensure successful solutions time after time. We know the fine detail is the most important element for a project to be a complete success. Our attention to detail ensures the rack layout will meet international safety standards and store exactly what is required. And that also means budget isn't wasted supplying too much equipment to do the job.

3. Long Experience and Satisfied Clients

No other weapon storage company has such a depth of experience supplying clients from many of the world's most important military and police forces. Although our focus is in US, Europe and Middle East, we have carried out supply and installation projects for government customers right across the world in widely varying locations and climatic conditions.
