

Call for entries:

We are now organising the Pewter Now exhibition for 2019.

The exhibition will open at Kelham Island Industrial Museum, Sheffield during the 2019 Pewter Conference (29th to 31st March 2019) and continue for a few weeks prior to, all being well, moving on to other venues throughout the UK and possibly into Europe

The theme is 'Past, Present and Future'. The show will include selected historic pieces from public and private collections that highlight important innovations and developments in Pewter and we will also invite submissions of pieces from recent design graduates and current students to fulfil the future aspect of the theme.

From current makers we are looking for submissions on the theme itself

Each artist/maker may exhibit up to 3 pieces. Items must be made predominately of pewter and not exceeding 20cm in any one direction.

Works will be selected on their originality, technical skills and creative response to the theme.

If you would like to exhibit please send up to 3 high resolution images of recent work which is either the work itself or work representative of what you intend to exhibit. A CV and supporting statement (max 100 words) describing the work and its relation to the theme is also required.

Please ensure you include all contact details.

- Please forward applications to Hannah Goldingay-Jordan via email at hannah@britishpewter.co.uk

Deadline for applications: 21st December 2018.

Applicants will be notified if they are successful or not week ending 11th January 2019. If you have any enquiries contact Hannah
