PROTECTING YOU

Helping you meet your Duty of Care

We can help you to meet your duty of care by ensuring the safety of every electrical appliance with a mains voltage plug attached in your working environment or property. We also provide an asset register of all your appliances.

Ensuring your Regulatory Compliance

Offering a comprehensive and cost-effective PAT testing solution, our fully trained dedicated engineers will ensure that your business meets its mandatory compliance with the Electricity at Work Regulations.

Minimising legal and insurance problems

By implementing a programme of scheduled PAT testing, we help to minimise potentially costly and damaging legal and insurance problems that can seriously impact upon your business.

All plugs and fuses checked ✓

Team ability to test up to 4,500 tests in 1 day ✓

PROTECTING YOUR PEOPLE

Protecting public and private employees

By testing your portable appliances on a regular basis, we can ensure their functionality, safety and fitness for use as required by law for any company with more than 5 employees.

Protecting customers and tenants

We help employers, landlords and letting agents meet their legal obligation to prevent harm to employees, customers or tenants from electrical equipment provided for their convenience.

Preventing injury, death and fires

As specialists in PAT testing, we can help to prevent shock, burns, injuries and fatalities as well as the accidental fires that arise each year from faulty electrical appliances and leads.

PROTECTING YOUR INTERESTS

Helping to protect a host of end-users across the UK ranging from a small hair salon with 20 appliances to a huge multi-site complex with many thousands of individual appliances, we at Kitchener 2000 are justly proud of our well-respected reputation for service, integrity and value.

Giving you confidence

As a trusted independent tester, we offer an efficient and reliable service that enables you to keep your operation running safely and gives you the freedom and confidence to get on with your business.

Giving you peace of mind

With many years' experience and £10 million public liability insurance, our Engineers are professional, fully qualified and hold enhanced disclosure checks. Using the latest bluetooth test equipment we provide our clients with a full asset register and certificate of testing. A timely re-test reminder will continue to give you peace of mind.

Giving you best value for money

Offering you sensible and sustainable prices and bespoke quotations as required, our services are provided with no extra charge for out of hours weekends or nights and with no hidden expenses.

PROTECTING BUSINESS

Preventing damage to productivity

Helping to minimise disruption to staff productivity, we can conduct testing outside normal hours or at weekends to ensure that your appliances are safe and ready for use.

Protecting your employee relations

By helping to minimise accidents in the workplace, we protect you against industrial unrest and the possibility of costly and damaging compensation claims in the Employment Tribunal.

Protecting your business reputation

By implementing a regular and scheduled programme of PAT testing you will be seen as a caring and responsible employer both within the business environment and the local community.
