

WIT Press with over 30 years experience in science and technology publishing can help to bringing your publishing projects to successful fruition. We can offer the following wide range of publishing services...

Editorial and Production Services

- Providing manuscript instructions, templates and technical support to authors
- Sub-editing and proofing chapters or papers for basic continuity, English grammar and spelling.
- Ensuring the quality of individual files e.g. replacing incorrect fonts, missing figures, misplaced headings, etc.
- Helping to organise and format prelims and end matter including preface, table of contents, acknowledgements and author index
- Producing hard-back volumes using digital and conventional printing methods offering quality monochrome or full colour book production.

Marketing and Distribution

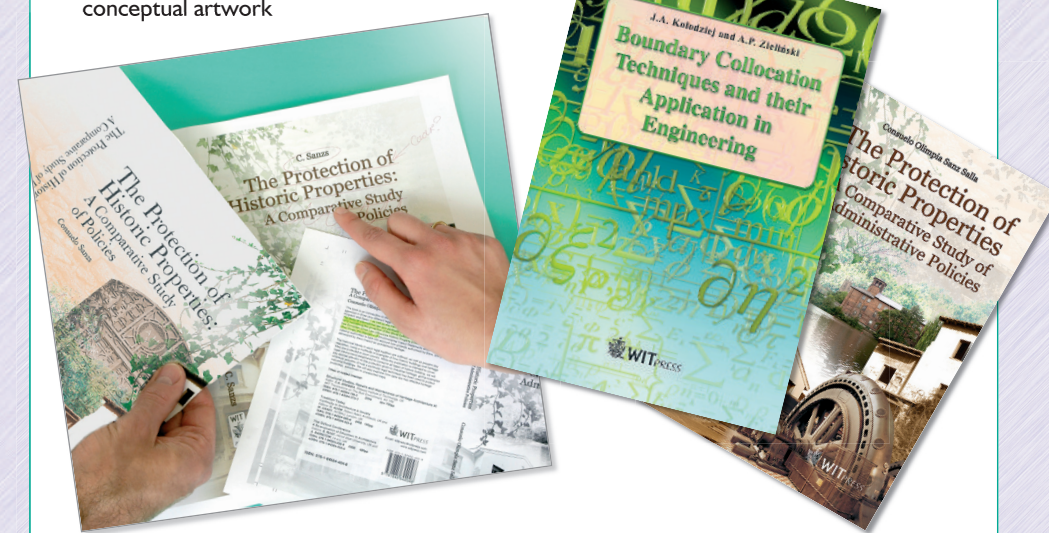

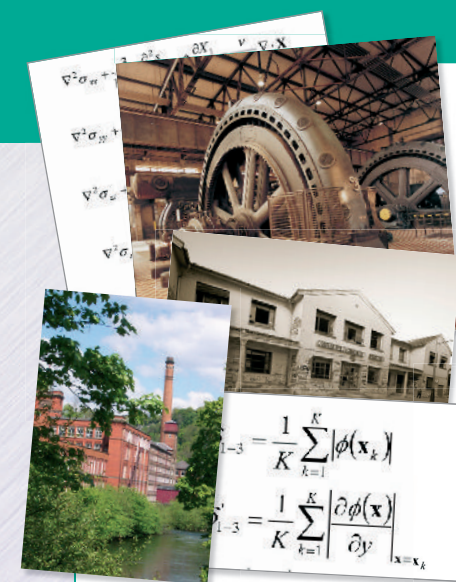

- Guaranteed global distribution in both print and electronic formats via international library suppliers, eBook vendors, wholesalers and online bookshops
- Enhanced individual title information on all major international bibliographic databases
- Vibrant new web site witpress.com – with detailed book descriptions, table-of-contents, etc.
- Browsing facilities via Amazon Search Inside™ and Google Book Search™
- Print and email promotion to academic, industrial, governmental libraries and targeted end-user groups

Book Cover and Graphic Design

Author supplied artwork or ideas can be incorporated into the design process of creating book covers. We can carry out page-by-page design for the book's content, or even design and produce your promotional materials.

We can offer...

- In House Graphic Design Studio
- Bespoke designed book covers
- Innovative interpretations of even the most challenging/complex subject matter
- Able to work from author supplied imagery or create original conceptual artwork

Our Open Access Option make your work freely and permanently available online

WIT Press is committed to Open Access. We strongly believe that removing barriers to research published online will greatly aid progress in many scientific and technical disciplines.

When presenting a paper at a prestigious international conference, we are offering you the opportunity to make your work freely and permanently available online through the Transactions of the Wessex Institute collection.

This online archive contains papers presented at major peer-reviewed conferences.

Bringing together over 20,000 papers the collection is accessible to the international scientific community from the WIT Press Website – www.witpress.com

What happens when I choose the WIT Press Open Access option...

- Enable your work to be permanently available for anyone, anywhere to read and download free of charge.
- Ensure your work will achieve even wider dissemination as well as being published in the hardback conference proceedings book.
