

Safety Systems

Weatherproofing Advisors are an approved installer of the Latchways range of fall protection and safety products. Weatherproofing Advisors pride themselves in working with the world's leading suppliers and manufacturers of systems, and it is safe to say that Latchways comfortably fall into this bracket.

The Latchways brand was founded in 1974 and is acknowledged as the first range of engineered cable-based fall arrest systems.

Over the years MSA has continuously researched new ways of improving worker safety at height while aligning its product range to the evolving needs of the marketplace and the legislation governing it.

An integral part of maintaining the needs of your roofing fabric is the on-going and sometimes rigorous maintenance it may need to ensure that it lasts at the very least the lifetime of the guarantee. Gaining safe access to the roof area to carry out these works is a key fundamental requirement.

Please contact your local Weatherproofing Advisors office for further advice and/or a quotation for your specific safety requirements.
