Falconry Services

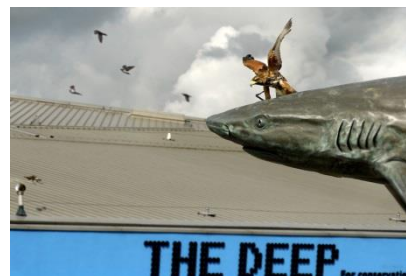

All animals have their natural predators - even urban birds that have had no first-hand experience of predators still carry the genetic memory. The site of a bird of prey is enough to cause a disturbance, and when hawks/falcons are flown in a specific routine it will alter the targets roosting and nesting patterns.

PLEASE REMEMBER - None of our birds are trained to hunt; they are only used as a deterrent and a scare factor. They do not kill any of the target pest species.

Falconry Children Talks

A visit includes an hour with the birds and where one of our highly trained falconers will involve the children in discussions about birds of prey. The children have the opportunity to hold and stroke the birds and maybe even fly them.
